PREFACE.

HERE is only this Justice due to the Reader, to give a plain Account of the first Author, and of the present Improvements of this Work.

The first Anthor was Dr. John Cowel, born in Devonshire, (a) and bred at Eaton School, where by good Parts and agreeable Industry, he distinguished himself from other Boys, and appeared worthy to be elected a Scholar of King's College in Cambridge, 1570. possibly committed to the Tuition of his Name-sake and Relation John Cowel, Fellow of that House, who had been one of the University Proctors in the Year 1561. (b) Our Author seems here to have applied himself heartily to Books, and a good Digestion of them. By which studions and virtuous Course of Life, he grew up to so much Reputation and Interest in the University, that he had the Honour to be chose one of the Proctors for the Year 1585. And having past the two Degrees in Arts, he applied himself to the Study of the Civil Law, by the Advice and Importunity of that eminent and active Prelate Richard Bancroft, then Bishop of London; (c) who had Judgment to find the Genius of our Author, and knew the great Necessity our Church was in, to have Men of Abilities and Integrity in that Profession. Being regularly admitted to the Degree of Doctor of Laws in his own University; he made a Visit to Oxford in the Year 1600, where he was incorporated by the same honourable Title LL. D. (d) His Reputation was now so established, that the Government thought it Justice to prefer him: He was made the King's Majesty's Professor of the Civil Law in the University of Cambridge; and near the same Time Master of Trinity-Hall; which two Stations in that Place of Residence, had as much Honour and Prosit, as were possible to be there bestowed on a Man of that Profession. He executed the Office of Vice-Chanceller of Cambridge 1603, 1604.

His chief Patron Bishop Bancrost was advanced to the See of Canterbury in Decemb. 1604. where projecting many Things for the Interest and Honour of the Church and State, he knew the greatest Art in promoting publick Service, was to employ Men in their own Way. Upon this Motive, he solicited Dr. Cowel (e) to shew himself an Antiquary, and an useful Man, by giving the Interpretation of such Words and Terms, as created most Difficulty to the Students of our Ecclefiaftical, Civil, and Common Laws.

The Doctor would not dispute the Archbishop's Authority, nor excuse himself from serving the Publick: And therefore sell upon the Work with so much Edge and Application, that in proper Time he put his Collections into sit Method, and published them in Quarto at Cambridge under this Title:

The Interpreter, or Book containing the Signification of Words: Wherein is fet forth the true Meaning of all, or the most Part of such Words and Terms, as are mentioned in the Law Writers, or Statutes of this Victorious and Renowned Kingdom, requiring any Exposition or Interpretation. A Work not A 2 only Profitable, but Necessary for such as desire throughly to be instructed in the Knowledge of our Laws, Statutes, or other Antiquities. Collected by John Cowel, Doctor, and the King's Majesties Professor of the Civil Law in the University of Cambridge. In legum obscuritate captio. At Cambridge, printed by John Legate, Anno 1607.

The Author thought it Justice and Gratitude to commend his Book to that Patron, by whose Advice and Encouragement he wrote it: And therefore prefixed this modest Dedication.

To the most Reverend Father in God, his especial good Lord, the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, Primate and Metropolitan of all England, and one of his Majesty's most Honourable Privy Council.

AFTER long Deliberation, I hardly induced my felf to crave your crace gracious Protection toward this simple Work: Valuing it at so low a Price, as I think it hardly worth the Respect of any grave Man, much less the favourable Aspect of so honourable a Personage. Yet the Remembrance of those your honourable Provocations, whereby, at my coming to your Grace from the University, you first put me upon these Studies, at the last by a Kind of Necessity inforced me to this Attempt; because I could not see how well to avoid it, but by adventuring the hateful Note of Unthankfulness. For I cannot without Dissimulation, but confess my felf persuaded, that this poor Pamphlet may prove profitable to the young Students of both Laws, to whose Advancement that Way, I have of late addicted mine Endeavours; else were I more than mad, to offer it to the World, and offer it without Mention of him, that by occasioning of this good, more or less, deserveth the prime Thanks, were to prove my felf unworthy of so grave Advice.

"And therefore howfoever I account this too much Boldness in respect of the Subject, yet could I be exceedingly glad, it might please your Grace to ascribe mine Intention to the Integrity of my Duty. For he that meaneth truly well, and cannot perform much, must needs rejoice at the good Accep" tance of that little which he performeth.

"All I crave for this at your Grace's Hands, is Patience and Pardon for this Enterprize, with the Continuance of those your many Favours, that hitherto to my great Comfort I have enjoyed. And so my long Observation of your judicious Disposition, having taught me, what small Delight you take in affected Complements, and verbal Commendation, without more Words, in all true humbleness, I beeseech the Almighty long to continue your Grace in Health and Prosperity, to his Glory, and the good of his Church.

Your Grace's at all Commandment,

John Cowel.

He prefixed likewise to this First Edition, a Preface to the Readers, which being omitted in later Editions, is the more proper to be now inserted. Any Reader, that has a Relish in these Matters, will be content that first Draughts and Originals, should be recovered and preserved.

To the READERS.

Entle Readers, I here offer my self to your Censures, with no other Desire, than by you to be admonished of my Faults. For though I do prosess the Amplifying of their Works, that have gone before me in this Kind, and have both gathered at home, and brought from Abroad some Ornaments for the better Embellishing of our English Laws; yet I am neither so vain, as to deny my Impersections, nor so passionate, as to be offended at your Charitable Reformation. Nay, my true End is the Advancement of Knowledge; and therefore have I published this poor Work, not only to impart the Good thereof to those young Ones that want it; but also to draw from the Learned the Supply of my Desects: And so by Degrees, if not my self to finish this Model, yet at the least by the Heat of Emulation to incense some skilfuller Architect thereunto. Yea, I shall think my Pains sufficiently recompensed, if they may be found but worthy to stir up one learned Man to amend mine Errors.

The Civilians of other Nations have by their mutual Industries raised this kind of Work in their Profession, to an unexpected Excellency. I have seen many of them that have bestowed very profitable and commendable Pains therein: And lastly one Calvinus a Doctor of Heidelberge, like a laborious Bee, hath gathered from all the Former, the best Juice of their Flowers, and made up a Hive sull of delectable Honey. And by this Example would I gladly incite the Learned in our Common Laws and Antiquities of England, yet to lend their Advice, to the gaining of some comfortable Lights and Prospects toward the beautifying of this ancient Palace, that hitherto hath been accompted (howsoever substantial) yet but dark and melancholy.

Whosoever will charge these my Travels with many Oversights, he shall need no solemn Pains to prove them, for I will easily confess them. And upon my View taken of this Book sithence the Impression, I dare assure them that shall observe most Faults therein, that I by gleaning after him, will gather as many omitted by him, as he shall shew committed by me. But I learned long sithence out of samous Tulley, that as no Man's Errors ought to be followed, because he saith some Things well: So that which a Man saith well, is not to be rejected because he hath some Errors. No Man, no Book is void of Impersections. And therefore reprehend who will in God's Name, that is with Sweetness and without Reproach. So shall he reap hearty Thanks at my Hands; and by true Imitation of the most judicious that ever wrote, more soundly help on this Point of Learning to Persection in a few Months, than I by tossing and tumbling my Books at home, could possibly have done in many Years. Experience hath taught me in this my Institutes lately set forth, by publishing whereof I have gained the judicious Observations of divers Learned Gentlemen upon them; which by keeping them private I could never have procured. By which means I hope one Day to commend them to you again in a more exact Purity, and so leave them to suture Times for such Acceptance as it shall please God to give them.

I have in some Towardness a Tract (De Regulis Juris) whereinmy Intent is, by collating the Cases of both Laws, to shew, that they both be raised of one Foundation, and differ more in Language and Terms than in Substance, and therefore were they reduced to one Method, (as they easily might) to be attained (in a Manner) with all one Pains. But my Time imparted to these Studies being but stolen from mine Employments of greater Necessity, I cannot make the Haste I desire, or perhaps that the Discourse may deserve. Wherefore until my Leisure may serve to perform that, I intreat you lovingly to accept this.

One thing I have done in this Book, whereof, because it may seem strange to some, I think to yield my Reason, and that is the inserting not only of Words belonging to the Art of the Law, but of any other also, that I thought obscure, of what sort soever: As Fish, Cloath, Spices, Drugs, Furs, and such like. For in this I follow the Example of our Civilians, that have thought it their Part to expound any Thing they could meet with in their Walk. And indeed a Lawyer professeth true Philosophy, and therefore should not be ignorant (if it were possible) of either Beasts, Fowls, or creeping Things, nor of the Trees, from the Cedar of Lebanon, to the Hyssop that springeth out of the Wall. And therefore if I have either omitted any hard Word within my Circuit, or set it down not expounded, I give you good Leave to impute the one to my Negligence, the other to mine Ignorance, and so commend these my Pains to your best Profit, and you unto God. Nov. 3. 1607.

Fohn Cowel.

PREFACE. The

At the Publication of this Book, the World was Satisfied that nothing could more facilitate the Studies of the Law, than such a familiar Exposition of the obsolete Words and ambigu-And that no Method could be more proper to make it useful and serviceable, than to throw the Words into an Alphabet, and so make it a standing Glossary or Dictionary to confult upon all occasional Readings.

I know of no Offence, that was immediately taken at this first Edition: Tho' it was infinitely hard to speak of Prerogative, Property, Government, Laws, and mutual Rights, with that Caution and Regard, as not to make some to murmur, and others to infult; especially where Parties and their Passions were even then prevailing.

This Performance Satisfied his Patron Archbishop Bancroft, that he was a Man of Parts, Industry and Courage, truly capable of Trust and Office. And therefore in the following Tear. upon the Death of Sir Edward Stanhop, Vicar-General to the Archbishop, departing this Life on the 16th March, 1608. His Grace conferred that Honourable Place on our Dr. Cowel, (a) Contin. Hatchers who had practised before as an Advocate in the Arches. (a) In this Station he carried himself with that Fairness and Integrity, that Equity and Honour, as raised him no Enemies, and lost him no Friends. And if he was afterwards Invidious as a Writer, he was still blameless as a Judge: For when the warmest Objections were made against some Expressions of his Book, there was not a Word to be objected against his Administration of Justice.

The greatest Offence and Provocation given by his Book was indeed this. He had spoke with too much Liberty and too sharp Expressions of the Common Law, and some eminent Professors of it. At this, the Gentlemen of that Robe thought themselves and their whole Faculty affronted. He had not spared the Oracle of the Law, Littleton. He had recited Hottoman's Reflections on his Treatise of Tenures, and by so reciting them was thought to make them Reflections on his Treatise of Tenures, and by so reciting them was thought to make them his own. This especially gave fire to Sir Edward Coke then Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, who was more particularly concerned for the Honour of Littleton, and valued himself for the Chief Advocate of his own Profession. There seems to have been another Reason that brought Dr. Cowel out of Favour with this Judge; within Two Years after the Publication of his Interpreter, Archbishop Bancrost grew sensible, that the Jurisdiction of the Spiritual Courts was perpetually obstructed by the Grant of Prohibitions from Westminster-hall. He thought the Discipline of the Church could not be effectually executed without redressing this Grievance. He found the ancient Practise of the Clergy of England, when called to attend in Parliament, was to draw up a modest Remonstrance of such Grievances, and to present them to the King, with Petition for Relief. And the King with Advice and Consent of his Council in Parliament, the Barons or House of Lords, did answer the Complaints and Requests in such Manner, as was most lawful and reasonable. Very many of these Precedents remain upon Record, and were commonly called Articuli Cleri. The Spiritual Commonalty, or Parliamentary Convocation, having in this respect a like Privilege with the Commonalty, or Parliamentary Convocation, having in this respect a like Privilege with the Temporal Commons, to grant or refuse their Subsidies and Taxes, according as the King was pleased to oblige or deny their Petitions of Right. The Archbishop thought it proper to take a like Method in the present Case, and seems to have employed his Right Hand, Dr. Cowel, in drawing up those Reasons and Exceptions against the too frequent Grant of Prohibitions, which were delivered to the King in Time of Parliament, under the same Title of Articuli Cleri; the King ordered these Articles to be argued by the Judges, and their Arguments against them are printed by Judge Coke in his XII. Report, who had the chief Hand in them; and was now more and more incensed against Dr. Cowel, whom he took for a profest Enemy to the Westminster Courts, and therefore directly or obliquely reslects upon him in several Pages of his less accurate Works.

But Paper Reproofs were too little Satisfaction; Sir Edward Coke was of Some Authority with the King, and had good Interest in the House of Commons: By these Advantages, he represents Dr. Cowel as an Enemy to both. He knew nothing would excite the King's Jealoufy so much as to touch upon the Question of Prerogative, and therefore he suggests, that this Author had disputed too nicely upon the Mysteries of this his Monarchy, nay in some Points very derogatory to the supream Power of his Crown. (a) It was further represented to his Majesty, That this bold Writer had afferted, that his Royal Prerogative was in some Cases limited, (b) as if this could be any Offence to an English Monarch. And I suppose it passed for a common Report what a severe Author has delivered in his Court and Character of that Prince, that in the Interpreter it is faid, That King took not the usual Oath all Kings are bound unto at their Coronation. (c) His thus incurring the Royal Displeasure, might have mark'd him out for Disgrace and Ruin. But I believe the King was wise, and the Archbishop faithful; and so this Plot miscarried.

Upon this Disappointment, his Adversaries (who knew how to bring in a Man guilty of Felony, when he was acquitted of Treason) turn the Tables, and resolve to make him a Betrayer of the Rights and Liberties of the People, thinking this Accusation would do more with the Parliament, than the other had done with the King. It is natural enough to imagine, that by giving Offence to both Parties, he meant no harm to either. Nothing can displease Two opposite Sides, but Moderation.

However the Design against him was carried on in the House of Commons by Men of Parts and Interest; and it came to this Issue, that the Author was committed to Custody, and his Books were publickly burnt. I want Opportunity to consult the Journal of the Two Houses, but a Report from them is thus given by the Learned Mr. Petyt in his Miscellanea Parliamentaria, pag. 64.

Anno 7 Jacobi, 1609. Dr. Cowel Professor of the Civil Law at Cambridge, writ a Book called the Interpreter, Rashly, Dangerously, and Perniciously afferting certain Heads to the Overthrow and Destruction of Parliaments, and the Fundamental Laws and Government of the Kingdom.

He was complained of by the Commons to the Lords, as equally wounded, who resolved to censure his Errors and Boldness: But upon the Interposition of the King, who declared that the Man had mistaken the Fundamental Points and Constitutions of Parliaments, promised to condemn the Doctrines of the Book as absurd, and him that maintained the Positions; they proceeded no further. His Principles with the evident Inserences from them were these.

- 1. That the King was folutus a Legibus, and not bound by his Coronation-Oath.
- 2. That it was not ex necessitate, that the King should call a Parliament to make Laws, but might do that by his absolute Power; for voluntas Regis (with him) was Lex populi.
 - 3. That it was a Favour to admit the Consent of his Subjects in giving of Subsidies.
- 4. The Doctor draws his Arguments from the Imperial Laws of the Roman Emperors; an Argument which may be urged with as great Reason and upon as good Authority, for the Reduction of the State of the Clergy of England to the Polity and Laws in the Time of those Emperors; as also to make the Laws and Customs of Rome and Constantinople to be binding and obligatory to the Cities of London and Tork.

I have no Authority, nor indeed Inclination, to contradict this Report of Mr. Petyt. And I must confess these Positions are so gross and intolerable, that no English Man would defend them or excuse them. I mean if they are as gross and positive in the Author, as they are in this Relation. But I think I have run over most Part of the First Edition 4to. 1607. and find no such abominable Assertions in Words at length; there be many Things too unadvisedly exprest, which a wise Author would have omitted, and a wise Government might have despised. But alas, when a suspected Book is brought to the Torture, it often confesseth all, and more than all it knows.

However the King afted with Prudence and Honour in Isuing out his Royal Proclamation for suppressing the Book, and censuring the Writer. And because it is the best Light of History in this Matter, and but rarely seen, I shall here give the Whole.

A Proclamation touching Dr. Cowel's Book, called the Interpreter.

This later Age and Times of the Mold wherein we are fallen, is to much given to verbal Profession, as well of Religion, as of all commendable Horal Airtnes, but wanting the Actions and Deeds agreeable to so specious a Profession, as it hath bred such an unsatiable Curiosity in many Mens Spirits, and such an itching in the Congues and Pens of most Den, as nothing is left unsearched to the Bottom both in Talking and Mriting. For from the very highest Hysteries in the Godhead and the most inscrutable Counsels in the Trinity, to the very lowest pit of well, and the consuled Asions of the Devils there, there is nothing now unsearched into by the Curiosity of Bens Brains. Den not being contented with the Knowledge of lo much of the will of God as it hath pleased him to reveal: But they will needs sit with him in his most private Closet and become privy of his most inscrutable Counsels. therefore it is no wonder, that Hen in these our Days do not spare to wave in all the deepest Hysteries that belong to the Persons or State of Lings and Princes, that are Gods upon Earth: Since we see (as we have already faid) that they spare not God himself. And this Licence that every Talker of Writer now assumeth to himself, is come to this Abuse, that many Phormios will give Counsel to Hannibal, and many Wen that never went of the Compals of Cloysters of Colleges will freely wade by their Writings in the deepest Pysteries of Monarchy and Politick Sobernment: Whereupon it cannot otherwife fall out, but that when Den go out of their Glement, and meddle with Things above their Capacity; themselves shall not only go affray and sumble in Darkness. but will missead also divers others with themselves into many Histakings and Errozs; the Pzoof whereof we have lately had by a Book watten by Dr. Cowel, called The Interpreter: For he being only a Civilian by Profession, and upon that large Ground of a kind of Diatonary (as it were) following the Alphabet, having all kind of Purpoles belonging to Government and Monarchy in his way, by medling in Matters a. bobe his reach, he hath fallen in many Things to mistake and deceive himself: In some Things disputing so nicely upon the Hysteries of this our Monarchy, that it may receive doubtful Anterpretations: Dea in some Points very derogatory to the supreme Power of this Crown: In other Cases missaking the true State of the Parliament of this Kingdom, and the Fundamental Constitutions and Privileges thereof: And in fome other Points speaking unreverently of the Common Law of England. and the Works of some of the most famous and ancient Judges therein: It being a Thing utterly unlawful to any Subject, to speak or write a. gainst that Law under which he liveth, and which we are swozn and are resolved to maintain. Wherefore upon just Considerations moving us hereunto, for preventing of the said Errors and Inconveniencies in all Cimes to come, we do hereby not only prohibit the Buying, Actering, or Reading of the faid Book, but do also Will and straitly Command all and fingular Persons whatsoever, who have or shall have any of them in their hands og Custody, that upon Pain of our high Displeasure, and the Confequence thereof, they do deliver the same presently upon this Publication to the Lord Mayor of London, if they or any of them be dwelling in or near the law City, or otherwise to the Sheriff of the County where they or any of them thall relide; and in the Two Universities to the Chancelloz or Aice: Chancelloz there, to the Intent that further Ozder may be given foz the utter Suppzesting thereof. And be-cause there hall be better Overlight of Books of all Sozts befoze they come to the Pzels, we have refolved to make Choice of Commissioners, that thall look more narrowly into the Mature of all those Things that that be put to the Prefs, either concerning our Authority Royal, or concerning our Government, or the Laws of our Kingdom, from whom a more strik Account shall be yielded unto us, than hath been used heretofore.

Given at our Palace of Westminster the 25th Day of March, in the Eighth Year of Our Reign, of Great Britain, France and Ireland. Anno Dom. 1610.

It is one of the Detections of Roger Coke, Esq; that this Proclamation could not call in those Books, but only seemed to make them more taken Notice of. The only Truth that drops from that Gentleman in his Relation of this Matter: For how can he prove that Dr. Cowel published his Interpreter the next Year after the 7th of the King, when it was indeed the 5th of the King? How can he tell the Dostor wrote the Book to supply the King's Necessities? How does he know that he was no Doubt set upon it by Baucroft, and those called the Church? Where does he find the Proclamation published during the Session of Parliament, and that it had not the desired Essect of getting more Money, when there was no such Proclamation till three Months after the Dissolution? Secret History should be wrote with a very good Memory. Roger Coke Esq; was descended from the Lord Chief Justice, and so by Right of Inheritance had a Feud against Dr. Cowel, and by the same Hereditary Right was to be no good Historian; for that Oracle of the Law, was at least no Oracle in Matters of Fast. His Opinions may be excellent, but his Stories are most of them Trisses and Falshood.

To return to our Author Dr. Cowel, when he had thus felt the Displeasure of the King, and the Indignation of the People; like a wise Man he took his Leave of the Press, and retired to his College and his private Studies, and lived inoffensive and in good Repute, not averse to serve the Publick, when he was called to any Advice or proper Service. Soon after he died upon the Operation of being cut for the Stone.

A considerable Benefactor to the College of which he had been Fellow, to the Hall of which he had been Master, and to the University of which he had been Governour. He lies buried under the Altar in the Chapel of Trinity-Hall, with this Inscription, as I receive it with some other Notices from the Honoured Master, and a worthy Fellow of that House.

Johannes Cowel LL. D. Custos hujus Collegii, Juris Civilis, in hac Academia Cantab. Professor Regius, Vicarius Generalis Cantuariensis Provincia sub Domino Richardo Bancrost Archiepiscopo Cantuariensi, hic expectat Resurrectionem. Obiit undecimo die mensis Octob. Anno Dom. 1611.

This condemned Book was known to be very useful, and therefore has been often reprinted, in the Reign of Ch. I. under the Administration of Cromwel, and after the Restauration. But in all the later Editions, those Passages that were dubious or offensive have been corrected or omitted.

Archbishop Laud, who was to bear the Blame of every invidious Thing, was charged with giving Countenance or Connivance to an Impression of this Work. Of which Ast and Effort of Malice, his own Account is the best that can be given. Hist. Troub. and Trial of Archb. Laud. p. 235.

Cap. XXIII. 2d. Day Art. IX. Then was charged upon me the printing of Books, which afferted the King's Prerogative above Law, &c. The Instance was in Dr. Cowel's Book Verbo (a) Rex. That this Book was decryed by Proclamation; that Complaint was made to me, that this Book was printing in a close House without License, and by Hodgkinson, who was my Printer; that I referred them to Sir John Lamb; that they came to me again, and a third Time, and I still continued my Reservence; which Sir John Lamb slighting, the Book came forth; the Witnesses to this were Hunt and Wallye, if I mistook not their Names.

1. For this Book of Dr. Cowel's, I never knew of it till it was printed, or so far gone on in Printing, that I could not stay it: And the Witnesses say, it was in a close House and without License, so neither I nor my Chaplains could take Notice of it.

2. They

(a) No such Word there, sure, it should be Prerogativa Regis. W. S. A. C. (i.e.) a Note of William Sancrost Archb. of Cant.

2. They say, they informed me of it, but name no Time, but only the Year 1638. But they confess I was then at Croydon; so being out of Town, (as were almost all the high Commissioners) I required Sir John Lamb, who being a High Commissioner, had in that Business as ruch Power as my self, to look to it carefully, that the Book proceeded not, or if it were already printed, that it came not forth. If Sir John slighted his own Duty and my Command (as themselves say) he is living and may answer for himself; and I hope your Lordships will not put his Neglett on my Account.

3. As for Hodgkinson, he was never my Printer, but Badger was the Man I employed; as is well known to all the Stationers; nor was Hodgkinson ever employed by me in that Kind or any other; upon just Complaint, I turned him out of a Place, but never put him into any: And therefore those Terms which were put upon me of my Hodgkinson and my Sir John Lamb, might have been spared; Sir John was indeed Dean of the Arches, and I employed him as other Archbishops did the Deans which were in their Time, otherwise no Way mine: And Hodgkinson had his whole Dependance on Sir Henry Martin, and was a meer Stranger to me. And this Answer I gave to Mr. Brown, when he summed up the Charge. Nor could any Danger be in the Printing of that Book to mislead any Man: Because it was generally made known by Proclamation, that it was a Book condemned, and in such particulars: But for other Things the Book very useful.

As to the Additions and Improvements in this present Volume, all I pretend to is to augment the Work by the easy Addition of many Thousand Words, which neither Author nor Editors had before observed. And indeed a Work of this Nature is no more to be raised up in one Impression, than Rome in one Day. What have all Sorts of Glossaries and Distinaries been at the first projecting of them, but rude and modelling Draughts; but meer Scassolding to carry up Materials, to build higher in due Time and Order.

Tet I think I have not done, as many other Alphabet Writers, who have traded purely in transferring of Stock, and have picked out the Words of one Dictionary to insert into another. I have indeed thrown in from Du Fresne, &c. most of those Words that bear Relation to English Laws and Customs; but then I have explained them with more Familiarity, and confirmed them with more Authority: And have often adjusted the Mistakes of that very Learned Writer, who was a Foreigner in this Cause, and wrote sometimes of English Matters with a French Air, loose and at large. But a very great Number of the Terms here interpos'd are new to the present Age, and were occasionally gathered up from many Manuscripts and old Records, more to satisfy my own private Curiosity, than with any Design upon the Publick.

But fince the Proprietors of the old Copy called upon me, to lend them some Additions and Improvements for a new Edition, I communicate the Heap of Collections to them and the World; and dare say, they will be serviceable to the Antiquary, to the Historian, to the Lawyer, to any Scholar, nay to every English Reader.

Thus far the Prefacer to the last Edition, concerning the first Author, and the Improvements he himself made to this Work: It remains to say something in Behalf of this present Volume. In the first Place, the Text of the last Edition is left entire and whole. But the Faults of that Impression, the literal, (which are almost innumerable) and the many wrong Quotations and References are corrected with the greatest Care. The Etymologies of Words, where they seemed to be mistaken, are not altered; but the true Derivations added; and these I am not ashamed to own were chiefly taken from Dr. Wilkins's Glossary to his Saxon Laws. As for the Additions now made they are very large, consisting of many Thousand Words; of which there needs no other Proof than the additional Number of Sheets, this Impression containing above thirty more than the last.

IS the first Letter of the Alphabet with the Hebrews, Greeks, Latins, and other Nations, and called by the Heb. Alepb; the Arab. Aliph; Chaldee and Syriac, Olaph; Armenians, Alp; Æthiopians Alph; and Greeks, Alpha. A prefix'd to Words, in English stands equivalent with un in French; as a Man, un homme. But A prefix'd according to the Greek Acceptation becomes privative, and signifies as much as without v. g. in Greek svoua, a Name, by prefixing A it becomes 'Arbruus, sine namine, without a Name, or that will not own his Name.

Alb. When the Name of a Place begins with Ab it denotes, that either the Place belonged to fome Abbey, or that an Abbey was founded there Thus, Abingdon in Berksbiretook that Name soon after Cissa King of the West-Saxons had founded the Abbey there; for before, it was called Cloveshoe.

Abbey there; for before, it was called Cloveshoe.

Abactols, (Abactores) Drivers away, or indeed stealers of Cattle or Beasts, not by one and one, but in great Numbers at once; and therefore by M. S. thus distinguished from fur, qui unam ovem surripuerit, ut sur coercetur, qui gregrem, ut Abactor. Tis derived from the Verb Abigere. For when Herds of Cattle are stoln, they are certainly driven away:

Nocte miser quadam somno graviore sepultus, Amisit taciti surto pradonis abactos.

Abarnare, To detect or discover any secret Crime. Sax. Abarian, to uncover, disclose or make bare. — Siquis Francigena occidatur, & Interfestor ignoretur — Si parentes secundum legem repetentes, vel probantes non babeant, sint illius qui abarnaverit. Leges Henrici I. Angl. cap. 91. — Si Homo furtivum aliquid in domo sua occultaverit, & ita suerit abarnatus, restum est ut inde babeat qued quessivit. Leges Canuti Reg. cap. 104. Dr. Wilkins in his Glossary on the Saxon Laws thus explains this Word Abarnare: Rem clam & occulte gestam probationibus manifestare: Unde Murdrum abarnatum idem est ac Murdrum probatum.

Abartstick, Insatiable; from a Privative, and the Saxon, Berston, Disrumpi, who has so large a Belly, that the full, it will not burst.

Abate, May be derived from the French Word

Abate, May be derived from the French Word Abatre, destruere, prosternere, to break down or destroy; in the vulgar Sense, it signifies to diminish, or take away, as to abate the Courage of a Man; it is in the Writers of the Common Law used both actively and passively, as to abate a Castle or Fortlet, Old Nat. Brev. fol. 45. Which in West. 1. cap. 17. is plainly interpreted to beat it down: And to abate a Writ, is by some Error or Exception to deseat, or overthrow it. Britton, cap. 48. And in this active Voice, it has two Significations, one general, another special; general, as in the former Examples; and again, in Kitchin, fol. 175. Abater Maison, is to ruin or cast down a House; special; as in the Old Nat. Brev. fol. 115. A Stranger abateth, that is, entreth upon a House or Land, void by the Death of him that last possessed.

it, before the Heir takes his Possession, and so keeps him out; wherefore as he that putteth him out of Possession, is said to disseise; so he that steppeth in between the former Possessor and his Heir is said to abate. And in the Statute De conjunctim Feoffatis, 34 Ed. 1. Stat. 2. The Writ of the Demandant shall be abated, that is, shall be disabled, frustrated, or overthrown. So in Staundford's Pleas of the Crown, fol. 148. the Appeal abateth by Cousinage, that is, the Accusation is defeated by Deceit. Anno 11 H. 6. cap. 2. The Justices shall cause to be abated the said Writ, and hence cometh a Word of Art Abatamentum. Vide Intrusion.

Anatement, Derived from the French Abatement, sometimes signifies the Act of the Abator, as in the Abatement of the Heir into the Land before he hath agreed with the Lord. Old Nat. Brev. 91. Sometimes the Affection or Passing of the Thing abated, as Abatement of the Writ. Kitch. fol. 214. And in this Signification, it is as much as exception distance in the Signification of the Writer with the Civil Significant of the Writer with the Civil Significant of the Writer with t dilatoria with the Civilians, (Brit. cap.51.) or rather an Effect of it; for the Exception alledged, and made good, works the Abatement. And this Exception may be taken either to the Insufficiency of the Matter, or to the Incertainty of the Allegation, by the Misnaming of the Plaintiff, Defendant, or Place; to the Variance between the Writ and the Specialty, or Record; to the Incertainty of the Writ, Count or Declaration; or to the Death of the Plaintiff or Defendant before Judgment had, and for divers other Causes: Up-Judgment had, and for divers other Caules: Upon which Defaults the Defendant may pray that the Writ or Plaint may abate, l. e. the Plaintiff's Sute against him may cease for that Time. New Terms of the Law, Verb. Abatement of a Writ, &c. To prevent Abatement of Writs of Error. See the Stat. 16. Car. 2. cap. 2. Co. Entries, fol. 63. c. & 205. d. & 519. c. Abatement is called in Latin Intrusio, but it may rather be called Interpositio, or intratio per interpositionem, to distinguish it from Intrusion after the Death of Tenant for Life 1 And in his Com. on Lit. fol. 277, he shews the Difference in his Com. on Lit. fol. 277. he shews the Difference between Abatement, Disseisin, Intrusion, Desorcement, Usurpation, and Purpressure. He that will read more of this, may read the New Book of Entries, verb. Brief. See also Writ, Misnomer and Variance, and the Book called, The Digests of Writs.

Abatoz, Is he that abateth, that is, intrudeth into a House or Land, void by the Death of the former Possessor, and not yet entred, or taken up by his Heir. Old Nat. Brev. fol. 115. Perkins, fol.

Abbacy, In Latin Abbatia, or Abbathia, is the Government of a religious House, with the Revenues and Persons, subject to an Abbat, as a Bishoprick is to a Bishop. The Word is used Anno 34 & 35 H. 8. cap. 17, 18. Sciant, &c. quod ego Isabella Comitissa Pembrook pro salute anima mea, &c. Dedi Deo & Abbathia de N. totam wicham juxta pradictam Abbathiam, &c.

Abballaba, Apubly, a Town in Westmorland.

Abbat or Abbot, Abbas in Latin, in French Abbe, Sax. Abbud, a Spiritual Lord having the Rule of a religious House, according to our Common Law: Skilful Linguists derive it from the Syriack Abba, Pater; Justinian's Novel Constitut. 115. Seft. υπόλειπι, terms him Archimandrina; others Comobiarcha, or Archimonachus. Hotoman in verb. Feuda. Of these, some here in England were Mitered, some not. Stow's Annals, pag. 442. 'Such as were Mitered, were exempted from the Jurisdi-dion of the Diocesan, having themselves Episcipal Authority within their Limits, and were also Lords of the Parliament. Of this Kind, thus saith Corafius, Aliqui Abbates habent jurisdictionem Episcopalem, ad quos cum Ecclesia pleno jure pertineat, in eo-rum Monasteriis Episcopus nibil exercet. Cap. Ea qua. And these were called Abbots Sovereign, 9 R. 2. cap. 4. And Abbots Generals, as Mr. Ferne Noteth in his Glory of Generofity, pag. 126. The other Sort were subject to the Diocesan in all spiritual Government. Cap. Monasteria 18. Quast. cap. Abbas & ca. visstandi, cum quatuor sequentibus ibid. Omnes 16. Quast. 7. & ca. cum venerabilis, extra de religiosis domibus. And as Abbots, so were there Lords Priors also, who both had exempt Jurisdiction, and were Lords of Parliament, as Sir Edw. Coke makes out, De jure Eccles. fol. 28. a. Of which Lords Abbots and Priors that sat in Parliament, some reckon but twenty-fix, but Sir Edw. Coke says, they were twenty-seven Abbots and two Priors, Co. Super Lit. fol. 97. In the Parliament 20 R. 2. there were but twenty-five Abbots and two Priors: But in the Summons to the Parliament at Winton, Anno 4 Ed. 3. (in Dorso clauso ejustem An. Membran. 41.) I find more named, to which I have added the Founders out of the Monasticon Anglicanum.

32 Abbot of Bardeney. Rex Ethelredus, 712. 33 Prior de Sempling-Sanctus Gilbertus, 1131. bam.

To these also Henry the Eighth added the Abbot of Tavisto k. And in the Teste to Mag. Charta, the Names of some other Abbots are inserted, among the great Men of the Realm. An Abbot with the Monks of the same House, being called The Covent, made a Corporation; but such Abbot was not chargeable by his Predecessors Act, but by their common Seal, or for such Things as came to the Use of his House; neither for the Debt of his Monk before his Entry in Religion, though the Creditor had a Specialty. See for this the Abridgment under the same Title.

The Bishops complained that the Monks invaded their Rights and Privileges, I mean at the Time when the Abbots were first mitred; and they were very much offended, because in Synods and Councils there was no Distinction between them in their Habits, for both were mitred and alike; there-upon Pope Clement the Fourth ordered, that the Abbots should wear their Mitres embroidered with Gold, but without Jewels; but those of the Order of Premonstratenses wore no Miters, because they would not feem to be elevated with those Things which were worn by Popes and great Prelates.

Abbathy, An. 31 H.S. cap. 13. See Abbacy. Abbatis, An Avener or Steward of the Stables; the Word was sometimes used for a common Hostler, pronoune'd short in the middle Syllable, which diffinguishes it from the genitive of Abbas, an Abbat. As in this old Line, Abbatis ad canam dat equis Abbatls avenam. Spelman in voce.

Abbettoz. See Abet.

Abbrochment, (Abbrocamentum) is a Forestalling of a Market or Fair, by buying up the Wares before they are exposed to Sale in the Market or Fair, and then vending them again by Retail. M. S. de Placit. coram Rege Ed. 3. Penes J. Trcvor Mil.

Abbundun. Sec Abingdon.

Abhus aftuarium. Humber in Yorksbire.

Abbuttais, (From the French Abutter, that is, to limit or bound) are the Buttings and Boundings of Landeither to the East, Wast, North or South, shewing on what other Lands, Rivers, Highways, or other Places it does abut: As in Croke's Reports, Part 2. Fol. 184. The Plaintiff bath fail'd in his Abuttals, that is in setting forth how the Land is abutted and bounded. Latera autem nunquam aiunt Abbuttare, sed terram Proximum adjacere. And Cambden fays, Limits were distinguished by Hillocks raised on purpose, which were called Botentines; whence we may guess our Butting to spring. The Word Abuttare to Abut or to Bound End-ways, from the Saxon Onbutan, Butan, prater, ultra. In a Terrier, or Description of the Site of Land, the Sides on the Breadth are properly adjacentes, lying or hordering, and the Ends only in Length are abuttantes, abutting or bounding: Which in old Surveys, they sometimes express dry capitare, to Head, whence Abuttals are now by capitare, to Head, whence Abuttals are now called Had-Lands, i. e. Head-Lands. As in the Rental of Wye in Kent belonging to the Abbey of Battle in Suffex. Tenent ofto acras juxta Gores wall. capitantes ad pradictum wallum.

Abditorium, An Abditory or Place to hide and preserve Goods, Plate, or Money, or a Chest in which Relicks were kept. As in the Inventory of the Church of York. Mon. Angl. Tom. 3. p. 173. Item unum cosseur, & una pixis de abore ornata cum argento deaurato. Item tria Abditoria & tres pixides de ebore ornata cum cupro deaurato.

Abeched. Is an old Word, and fignifics to be fatisfied; from the French abecher, to feed.

Aberemurder, Aberemurdrum, Plain or Right down Murder; as distinguished from the less helmous Crimes of Manslaughter and Chancemedly. From the Saran Films apparent, potorious, and Mord. the Saxon, Ebere, apparent, notorious, and Mord, Murder. So Ebere Theof. a bare, evident, notorious Thief. This Aberemurder was declared a capital Offence, without Fine or Commutation the Laws of Canute, cap. 93. Hoc ex scelerum genere suit, nullo pretio, etiam apud Saxones nostros, expiabilium, cum alia licuit pecuniis commutare, says Spelman, in voce. And in the Laws of Hen. 1. c. 12. Ex bis placitis quedam emendantur centum solid, quedam Wera, quedam Wita, quedam non possunt emendari, que sunt Husbreck, & Bernet, & Openthisthe, & Eberemorth, &c.

Abergabenny, See Gebanium.

Abessed, i. e. humbled; from the Fr. abaisser, to depress; and hence the English Words Base, and

. abet, (Abettare) May be said to proceed from the French Bouter, impellere or excitare (rather from the Saxon a, an energetical Article, and Bedan to flir up, or excite; from whence the Phrase of beeting or beating the Fire, i. e. supplying it with more Fuel:) In our Common Law, it signifies as much as to Encourage, or set on. Abetment (abettum) the Substantive implies the same. Staunds. Pl. Cor. 105. As in the Pleas of Parliament, 21 Ed. 1. Jurati quasiti per cujus abettum appellum pradictum factum suit, & prosecutum, dicunt quod per abettum Hugonis de Evere. And Abettor (Abettator) for him that encourageth, or setteth on. Old Nat. Brev. fol. 21. but both Verband Noun are always taken in the worst Sense. As Abettors of Murder, are such as command, procure, or counsel others to commit a Murder; and in some Cases such Abettors shall be taken as Principals, in other but as Accessories; and their Presence or Absence at the Doing of the Fast, differences the Case. There are also Abettors in Treason, but they are as Principals; for there are no Accessories in Treason. See Fleta, lib. 1. cap. 34. Sett. 13. cap. 52. Sett. 35. Coke on Lit. Sett. 475. Staundford's Pleas of the Crown. Rastal's Exposition, &c.

Abettatoz, An Abettor. See Abet.
Abeyance, Hath by some been derived from the French Aboyer, that is, allatrare, to bark at, as Dogs do at a Stranger; but I rather suppose it may come from the French word Bayer, to gape after, or to expect: So Children are faid Bayer a la B 2 mamme

B A B

Discontinuance, we find thus used, The Right of Fee-simple lieth in Abeyance, that is, according to his own Interpretation, only in the Remembrance, Intendment and Consideration of the Law. Sir Edw. Coke calls it in gremio legis. The Frank-tenement of the Glebe of a Parsonage is in no Man, so long as the Parsonage remains void, but is in Abeyance. And it is a Maxim in Law, That of every Land there is Fee-simple in some Man, or else it lies in Abeyance. Considering and comparing these Places with the Signification of the French Word Bayer, it seems more than probable, that our ancient Law-Looks would signifie hereby a Kind of Hope, or longing Expectation, because Things in Abeyance, tho' at present in no Man, yet in Hope and Expectation they belong to him that is next to enjoy them. And also in French, a Man that earnestly gazes at any Thing, is termed un Bayard, a greedy Be-holder. This Abeyance cannot be better compar'd, than to that which the Civilians call Hereditatem jacentem. For as Bratton faith, lib. 1. c. 12. num. 10. Hereditas jacens nullius est hominis ante additio-nem, &c. So that (as the Civilians say) Lands and Goods do jacere; so the common Lawyers say, That Things in like Estate are in Abeyance as the Logicians term in posse, or in Understanding; and as we say, in nubibus, in the Clouds, that is, in Consideration of the Law. Read more of this in the New Terms of the Law, fol. 6. & Plow. Rep. Walfingham's Case. See also lib. 3. cap. 11. fol. 145. & Perkins, fol. 12. Co. on Lit. fel. 342. b.

Abnatoria, Abgetorium, The Alphabet, or A, B, C, as Mat. Westm. reports of St. Patric-- Abgetoria quoque 345. Se eo amplius scripsit, totidem Episcopos or-dinavit. So Warenus de script. Hibern. lib. 1. Baptiza-vit quotidie homines si illis literas legebat, Abgatorias. The Irish still call the Alphabet Abghittin.

Bhigebus, for Abigenus, signifies a Thief who hath stoln many Cattle: Si quis suem surripuit, sur erit, & si quis gregem, Abigevus. Bracton, Aluingdon, anciently Abbundun, a Town in Berkhire, so called soon after Cissa, King of the West-Saxons, had built an Abbey there; for before that Time it was called Clovesham alias Cloveshoe, where the famous Council was held. The old Book of that Abbey tells us, Hic fedes regia, bic cum de regni pracipuis & arduis traffaretur negotiis, concursus fiebat populi.

Abishersing, (As Rastal in his Abridgment expounds it,) Is to be quit of Amerciaments before whomsoever of Transgression proved. It is cal-led in the New Terms of the Law, Mishersing; It signifies originally a Forseiture, but much miswritten by the Ignorance of Clerks, fince more properly it should be Mishersing, Mishering or Miskering, according to the learned Spelman, in his Glossary. Old Authors have termed it a Freedom or Liberty, because whoever hath this Word inferted in a Charter or Grant, hath not only the Forfeitures and Amerciaments of all others within his Fee for Transgressions, but also is himself free from the Controul of any within that Compass.

Abjuration, (Abjuratio) is a Renouncing by Oath; and fignifieth in our Law a sworn Banishment, or Forswearing of the Realm; Staundf. Pl.

mamme, who seeing the Dug, they strivingly great was the Devotion towards the Church expect it: So also bayer a l'argent, qui spe atq; animo pecunia incumbunt. This Word in Littleton, cap. H. 8. that if a Man having committed Felony, could get into the Church or Church-yard, be-fore he was appreliended, he might not be taken thence to the usual Trial at Law; but confessing his Fault to the Justices at their Coming, or to the Coroner, might be admitted to his Oath, to abjure or forlake the Realm, Anno 7 H. 7. cap. 7. The Form and Effect of this you have in the Old Abridgment of Statutes; an ancient Tract, De Officio Coronatorum, Crompton's Office of Coroner, fol. 260. b. New Book of Entries, verb. Abjuration. Horne's Mirror of Justices, lib. 1. cap. Del Office del Coroner. Quando aliquis abjuravit Regnum, Crux ei liberata fuit in manu sua portanda in itinere suo per femitas Regias, & vocabatur vexillum Santa Ecclesia. Essex, Plac. Hil. 26 Ed. 3. This Part of our Law was in some Sort practised by the Saxons, as appeareth by the Laws of King Edward, set out by Mr. Lambard, num. 10. but more directly by the Normans; evidenced by the Grand Customary, cap. 24. where the Form of the Oath is likewise fet down with the Rest of the Proceedings therein, very agreeable with Ours. This Clemency something resembles that of the Roman Emperors towards such as fled to the Church, Lib. 1. Co. tit. 12. or to the Images themselves Eod. tit. 25. And also that of the Cities of Refuge mentioned by Moses, Exod. 21. 13. Numb. 15. 6, 11, 12. Deut. 19. 2. Fosh. 20. 2. Of all the Circumstances belonging to this Abjuration, read the New Terms of the Law, and Staundf. ubi supra. But this grew at last to be but a perpetual Confining of the Offender to some Sanctuary, wherein upon Abjuration of his Liberty and free Habitatiupon Abjuration of his Liberty and free Habitations, he would chuse to spend his Life; as appears Anno 22 H. 8. cap. 14. And by 21 Fac. 1. cap. 28. this Benefit is wholly taken away, and consequently Abjuration, 2 Inst. fol. 629. See Sanstuary. Abzidue, (Abbreviare) Cometh of the French Abreger, to make shorter in Words, yet still retains the Sense and Substance; but in the Common Law it feems more particularly used for making a Declaration or Count shorter, by substracting or severing some of the Substance. As for Example, A Man is said to abridge his Plaint in Assize, or a Woman her Demand in an Action of Dower, that hath put into the Plaint, or Demand, any Land not in the Tenure of the Tenant or Defendant, if the Tenant pleads Non-tenure, Joint-tenancy, or the like, in Abatement of the Writ, the Demandant may abridge his Plaint, that is, he may leave out that Part, and pray that the Tenant may answer to the Rest, to which he hath not yet pleaded; and the Reason is, because the Certainty is not set down in such Writs: And tho' the Demandant hath abridged Cor. lib. 2. cap. 40. faith out of Polyd. Vigil 1. So his Plaint in Part, yet the Writ remains good still for the Rest: So that here Abridger is not contrabere, but rather subtrabere. Bro. Abridgment, & Anno 21 H. 8. cap. 3. Of this the Civilians have no Use, by Reason of certain cautelous Clauses they ordinarily affix to the End of every Article in their Libel or Declaration.

Ac. Some Words which begin with Ac, are derived from the Saxon Ac, which signifies an Oak. Accapitum and Accapitare, the same with Re-lief; thus capitali Domino accapitare, is to pay a Accedas ad Curiam, Is a Writ that lies for him who has received false Judgment or fears Partiality in a Court-Baron, or Hundred-Court, being directed to the Sheriff, as appeareth by Dyer, fol. 169. num. 20. Like as the Writ de falso Fudicio lies for him that hath received false Judgment in the County-Court: The Form you may fee in F. N. B. fol. 18. d. And in the Register, fol. 9. b. where it is said, This Writ lies as well for Justice delayed, as Judgment falsly given: It is a Species of the Writ Recordare. Reg. Orig. fol. 56. & F. N. B. ubi supra.

Accedas ad Mice-Comitem, Is a Writ directed to the Coroner, commanding him to deliver a Writ to the Sheriff; who having a Pone delivered him, suppresses it. Reg. Orig. 83.

Acceptance, Is a Taking in good Part, and as it were a Kind of Agreeing to some Act done before by another, which might have been undone and avoided, if such Acceptance had not been: For Example, If a Bishop before the Stat. I El. lease Part of the Possessions of his Bishoprick for Term of Years, reserving Rent, and dies, and after another is made Bishop; who accepts, that is, takes or receives the Rent when it is due, and ought to be paid; by this Acceptance the Lease is made good, which else the new Bishop might have avoided: The like is, if Baron and Feme feized of Land in Right of the Feme, joyn and make a Lease or Feostment by Deed, Reserving Rent; the Baron dies, the Feme receives or accepts the Rent; by this the Feoffment or Lease is confirmed, and shall bar her of bringing a Cui in vita. Co. on Lit. fol. 211. b.

Accessory or Accessory. (Accessorius vel Accessorium) Particeps criminis, Is used in our common Law otherwise than among the Civilians; for whereas with them it is generally taken for any Thing depending upon another, here tho' it be so likewise, yet most commonly and notoriously it signifies a Man guilty of a Felonious Offence, not principally; but by Participation, as by Command, Advice or Concealment. And a Man may be Accessory to the Offence of another after two Sorts; by the Common Law, or by Statute; and by the Common Law two Ways also, viz. either before or after the Fact; before the Fact, as where one commandeth or adviseth another to commit a Felony, and is not present at the Execution thereof; for his Presence maketh him also a Principal; wherefore there cannot be an Accessory before the Fact in Manslaughter, because Manslaughter is fudden; and not premeditated. Co. Lib. 4. fol. 44. 2. Accessory after the Fact, is, when one receives, assists or comforts him whom he knoweth to have committed a Murder or Felony. He who counsels or commands any Evil, shall be judged Accessory to all that follows upon it, but not to another distinct Thing. As, I command one to beat another, and he beats him so that the other dies of it, I shall be Accessory to his Murder. But if I command one to steal a white Horse, and he steals a black one; or to burn such a House, which he well knows, and he burns another, I shall not be Accessory. Where the Principal is pardoned or hath his Clergy, the Accessory cannot be arraigned; there being a Maxim in the Law, Ubi non est principalis, non potest esse accessorius: For it appears not by the Judgment of Law, that he was Principal; but if the Principal, after Attainder, be pardoned, or hath his Clergy allowed him, there the Accessory shall be arraigned. See Sir Edw. Coke's Institutes, Part 2. fol. 183. In the lowest and highest Offences, there are no Accessories, but all are Principals; as in Riots, Forcible Entries, and other Transgressions vi & armis, which are the lowest Offences; so in the highest, which is Treason, crimen lasa Majestatis, there are no Accessories; but in Felony there are, both before and after. Accessory by Statute, is, he that abetteth, counselleth or concealeth, committing or having committed an Offence made Felony by Statute; for the statute make no Mention of Abettors, yet they are by Interpretation included. Of all these consult, Staunds. tation included. Of all these consult, Staunds. Pl. Cor. lib. 1. eap. 45, 46, 47, 48. There is also an Accessory of an Accessory, as he that wittingly receive than Accessory to a Felony; but a Woman in such Case shall not be an Accessory for helping her Husband. Lib. As 26. Pl. 51. Coron. Fitz. 197. Staunds. Pl. Cor. lib. 1. eap. 48. Of this Subject, read more in Cromp. Fust. sol. 37. b. 38, 39. If a Man counsel a Woman to murder the Child she hath in her Womb. and afterward the Child is hath in her Womb, and afterward the Child is born, and then murdered by the Woman in the Absence of him that so gave the Counsel; yet he is Accessory by his Counselling before the Birth of the Infant, and not countermanding it. Accompt. (Computus) Is in the Common Law ta-ken for a Writ or Action, which lies against a Man, that by Means of Office or Business undertaken, is to render an Accompt to another, and refuseth; as a Bailist towards his Master, or Guardian in Soccage towards his Ward, and the like; as you shall find particularized in Fitz. Nat. Brev. fol. 116. And by the Statute of Westim. 2. cap. 1. If the Accomptant be found in Arrear, the

Auditors

Auditors that are affigned to him, have Power to award him to Prison, there to remain, till he makes Agreement with the Party. But if an Accomptant be not allowed reasonable Expence and Costs, or charged with more Receipts than he ought, his next Friend may sue a Writ of Ex par-te talis out of the Chancery, directed to the Sheriff, to take four Mainpernors, to bring his Body before the Barons of the Exchequer at a certain Day, and to warn the Lord to appear there the fame Day. See F. N. B. fol. 116.

Acquictandis Dlegiis, This Writ we find in the Register of Writs, fol. 158. being in Truth a fuscicies, and lies for a Surety against a Creditor, that refuseth to acquit him after the Debt is paid.

Acquietare. This fays Dr. Wilkins in his Gloffary is a Law-Word, and fignifics quietum reddere. de etiam Spelman Glossar. in voce. It also sometimes fignifics to pay, as in Monasticon, Tom. 1. fol. 199.
Tenentur baredes testamenta patrum & aliorum pradecessorum suorum servare, & debita eorum acqui-etare.

Acquittal, Is derived from the French Acquitas that from the Latin Compound Acquietare, and fignifies in Law to discharge, or keep in quiet, and that the Tenant be safely kept from any Entries or Molestations for any Manner of Service issuing out of the Land to any Lord, that is above the Mesne; hereof we say, Et quietus est, that is, he is discharged. Co. on Lit. lib. 2. Sett. 184. It fignifieth also ordinarily a Deliverance, and Setting free from the Suspicion or Guilt of an Offence, as he that is discharged of a Felony by Judgment, is said to be acquietatus de felonia, and if it be drawn in Question again, he may plead, auter foits acquit. This is Two-fold, Acquittal in Law, and Aquittal in Fatt; Acquittal in Law is, when Two are indicted, the one as Principal, the other as Accessory; the Principal being discharged, the Accessory by Consequence is also acquitted, and in this Case, as the Accessory is acquitted by Law, so is the Principal in Fact. Staundf. Pl. Cor. 168. Acquittal in Fact is either by Verdiet, or by Battell; By Verdiet, when by a Jury he is found Not Guilty of the Offence whereof he is charged; By Battel, as when in Appeal, the Plaintiff yieldeth himself Creant, or vanquisht in the Field; the Judgment shall be, that the Appellor shall go quit, and that he shall recover his Damages. Co. 2 Inft. 385. Acquittal is also where there is Lord, Tenant and Mesne, and the Tenant holds Lands of the Mesne, and the Mesne holds over of the Lord paramount. Now the Mesne ought to acquit the Tenant of all Services claimed by any other for the same Lands; for the Tenant must do his Service to the Mesne only, and not to divers Lords for one Parcel of Land See Co. Litt. fol. 100.

Acquittance, Acquietantia, cometh from the French Quiter, that is, accepto ferre, and fignifieth a Release or Discharge in Writing of a Sum of Money, or other Duty which ought to be paid or done. Also the Verb (acquit) the Participle (acquitted) and the Noun (Acquittal) signifie a Discharge or Clearing from an Offence objected, as acquitted by Proclamation. Smith de Rep. Ang. pag. 76. Staundf. Pl. Cor. 168. Brook, Tit. Acquittal. This Word differs from that which in the Civil Law is called Acceptitatio, because that may be by Word without Writing, and is nothing but a fained Payment and Discharge, where no real Payment is had. Nor can it be said to be Apocha, which is a Witnessing the Payment or Delivery of Money, which discharges not, unless the Money be paid, Terms de Ley, verb. Acquittance. It was the common Form in Deeds of Sale, Gift or other Conveyance—Nos autem—Warrantizabi-mus acquietabimus & defendemus in perpetuum. Pro bac autem warrantia, acquietantia & defensione— Hence to quit any Claim or Pretention, To get quit of any Danger or Trouble. Quite, i.e. perfectly or entirely, as quite discharged quite Dead, &c. to quite or quot, to fatisfy or to quiet, His Stomach is quite quotted.

Acre, From the Germain Acker, that is, Ager, is a Quantity of Land containing in Length forty Perches, and four in Breadth, or according to that Proportion; be the Length more or less; and if a Man creet any new Cottage, he must lay four Acres of Land to it after this Mcasure, Anno 31 El. cap. 7. With this Measure agrees Crompton, in his furifdiction of Courts, fol. 222. tho he faith also, That according to the Customs of divers Countries the Perch differeth, being in some Places, and most ordinarily, but fixteen Foot and a Half, but in Staff. twenty-four Foot, as was adjudged in the Exchequer in the Case between Sir Ed. Afton and Sir Fob. B. In the Statute made concerning sowing Flax, 34 H. S. c. 4. eight-score Perches make an Acre, which is forty multiplied by four. Also the Ordinance of Measuring Land 35 Ed. 1. agrees with this Account. The word Acre at first signified not a determined Quantity of Land, but any open Ground, especially a wide Campaign from the Saxon Æcer, a Field, and this antique Sense of it seems preserv'd in the Names of Places; Cafile-Acre, West-Acre, &c. in Com. Norf. When the Word was applied to the Measure of Ground, the Quantity was still various, but determined by the Stat, of 31 Ed. 35 Ed. 1, 24 H. 8. For the different Computation of Acres, observe this Note in a Terrier of the Estate belonging to the Prior and Convent of Burcester Com. Oxon. A. D. 1339. 1 H. 4. Qualibet Acra continet du-as seliones cum omnibus Furlongiis — Exceptis virgis & buttis quarum quatuor virga faciunt unam Acram, & aliquando plures. Similiter aliquando quatuor buttes, aliquando quinque, aliquando fex, aliquando fep-tem, aliquando Octo faciunt unam Acram, &c. Pa-rock Antig. p. 534. Note at the great Dooms-day Inquisition, the common Pasture seems measured by Hides, the Arable-Land by carucates, and the Meadow by Acres.

Acre, An old Sort of Duel fought by fingle

Combatants, English and Scotch, between the Frontiers of their Kingdom with Sword and Lance. Ex abusu obtento de voluntate & mandato Domini Regis Anglia & Scotia, non solum simplices Clerici, sed & Abbates & Priores in Diazesi Karleoli, si appellati suerint ab aliquo de Regno Scotia de re aliqua, & e converso compelluntur cum Lanceis & Gla-diis alias incrmes duellum, quod dicitur Acram committere inter fores utrinfque regni - Moneatis igitur utrumque Regens — Quod tam detestabilis abusio quoad personas Ecclesiasticas non servetur. Annal. Burton, Sub. An. 1237. Hence I conjecture, as this Sort of judicial Duelling was call'd Camp-fight, and the Combatants Champions from the open Field that was the Stage of Trial; fo Æcer among the Saxons being the same with Campus, the Borderers on Scotland, who best retained the Saxon Dialett, called fuch Camp-fight, Æcer-Feoht, Acre-

Fight; and sometimes simply Acre.

Action, Actio, is defined by Bracton, lib. 3. c. 1. & 3, in the same Manner as by Justinian lib. 4. Instit. titulo de Actionibus, viz. Actio mibil alind est quam jus prosequendi in judicio quod alicui debesur, and is divided into personalem, realem, & mixtam, Co. Inft. 2. fol. 40. A personal Action is that which one Man may have against another, by Reason of any Contract for Money or Goods, or for any Offence done by him, or some other, for whose Fact he is answerable. Braff. lib. 3. cap. 3. nn. 2. A real Aftion is defined to be, whereby a Desendant claims Title to have a Freehold in any Lands or Tenements, Rents or Comons, in Fee-fimple, Fee-tail, or for Life. Braff. ibid nu. 3. And every Action real is either Possessory, that is, of his own Possession and Seisin, or Auncestrel of the Scifin or Possession of his Ancestor. Co. lib. 6. fol. 3. Writs of Right, Writs of Entry, &c. and their several Appendixes, as Grand cape, Petit-cape, Receipt, View, Ayd-Prayer, Voucher, Counter-plea of Voucher, Counter-plea of Warranty, and Recovery of Value, being real Actions, took Place, and swell'd the Titles of our Year-Books heretofore, but now grown much out of Use.

Action mirt, Is that which lieth as well against or for the Thing which we seek, as against the Person that hath it, and is called Mixt, as having a Respect, both to the Thing and the Person, Bratt. lib. 3. ca. nu. 5. For Example, The Division of an Inheritance between Go-heirs, or Copartners, called in the Civil Law (Adlo familia exciscunde:) Secondly, The Division of any particular Thing being common to more, called alfo (Actio de communi dividendo) which Bracton, Cujacius, Wesenbachius, allowed to be mixt: Of which Britton discourseth at large in his 71 Chap. In the Terms of the Law, verb. Action mixt, it is said to be a Suit by the Law, to recover the Thing demanded, and Damages for the Wrong done; as in Affize of No. Diff. which Writ, if the Difscisor make a Feossment to another, the Disseissee shall have against the Disseisor, and the Fcossee, or other Tenant, and thereby shall recover Scisins of his Land, and Damages for the mean Profits, and the Wrong done; and so is an Astion of Waste, and Quare Imp

Mition, Is also divided by the Civilians into Civilem & Pratoriam, whereof one ariseth out of the Civil Law in general, the other from some Pretorian Edict. And a Division not unlike this may be made in the Common Law of England, one Part growing from the ancient Customs, the other from the Statute. Bro. Tit. Action fur. le

Attinns, Also are divided into Civil, Penal and Mixt. 6 Co. fol. 61. a. Action Civil is that which tends only to the Recovery of that which by Reason of any Contract, or other like Cause, is due to us: As if a Man by Action seek to recover a Sum of Money formerly lent, &c. an attion penal, Aims at some Penalty or Punishment in the Party sued, be it Corporal or Pecuniary: As in the Action Legis Aquilia, in the Civil Law; and in the Common Law, the next Friends of a Man feloniously slain or wounded, shall pursue the Law against the Offender, and bring him to condign Punishment. Br. 1.3.

Action mirt, Seeks both the Thing whereof we are deprived, and a Penalty for the unjust Detention. As in an Action for Tithes upon the Stat. of 2 & 3 E. 6. cap. 13. Item est alia Actio mixta, qua dicitur Actio Hirciscunda, & locum habet inter ecs qui communem habent bareditatem, &c. See Co. on Lit. fol. 262. b.

Action, Is also (according to the Form of the Writ) divided into such as are conceived to recover either the simple Value of the Thing challenged, or the Double, Treble, or Quadruple. Bratt. lib. 3. cap. 3. nu. 6. So doth a Decies tantum lie against Embraceors. F. N. B. fol. 171. And against Jurors that take Money for their Verdict of eight ther or both Parties: And any other Aftion upon a Statute that punishes any Offence by Restitution, or Fine proportionable to the Trans-

Altion, Also is Prejudicial, (otherwise called Preparatory) or Principal. Prejudicial, is that which grows from some Doubt in the Principal: As if a Man sue his younger Brother for Land descended from his Father, and it is objected, that he is a Bastard. Brast. lib. 3. cap. 4. num. 6. For this Point of Barstardy must be tried, before the Cause can further proceed, and therefore termed prajudicialis, quia prius judicanda.

Action, Is either Auncestrel or Personal, Staunds. Pl. Com. 59. Auncefirel seems to be that which we have by some right descending from our Ancestor: And that Personal, which has beginning in and from our selves. There is also Ation Auncestrel Droiturel, and Ation Auncestrel Possessy, which see in Co. 2. Inft. f. 291.

Anion upon the Case, Actio super casum, Is a general Action given for Redress of Wrongs done without Force against any Man, and by Law not especially provided for; for when you have any Occasion of Suit, that neither hath a fit nor certain Form prescribed; then the Clerks of the Chancery in ancient Time conceived a fit Form of Affion for the Fact in Question, which the Civilians call Attionem in fattum, and the Common Lawyers, Attionem super casum. And whereas in the Civil Law, there are two Sorts of these Attions; one termed Attio in factum prascriptis verbis; the other, Actio in factum pratoria; the Former grounded upon Words passed in Contract; the other more generally upon any Fact touching either Contract, or Offence, formerly not provided against: This Assion upon the Case seemeth more to resemble the Astio Pratoria in sastum, than the other; because in the Perusal of the Book of Entries, & Bro. Abridgment, I find that an Astion upon the Case lieth as well against Offences, as Breach of Contract. See more of this in Trespass.

Action upon the Statute, Attio fuper Statutum, Is brought upon the Breach of a Statute, whereby an Adion is given that lay not before; as where one commits Perjury, to the Prejudice of another, he who is endamaged, shall have a Writ upon the Stat. that is, where the Stat. gives the Suit or Attion to the Party grieved, or otherwise to one Person certain: And this Attion seems to be like any Action in the Law Imperial, either up-on Edictum Pratoris, Plebiscitum, or Senatus consul-tum; for as the Prator, so the common People in Comitiis, and the Senators or Nobility, in Curia or Senatu, had Power to make Laws, whereupon the Prætor, or other Judges permitted Attion: So our High Court of Parliament make Stat. against fuch Offences as are either newly grown, or more and more encreased, and the Judges are obliged to entertain their Pleas that commence Affions against the Breakers of them.

Action, Is perpetual or temporal (perpetua vel temporalis) and that is called perpetual, whose Force cannot be determined by Time; of which fort were all civil Actions among the Romans, viz.

Such as grew from Laws, Decrees of the Senate or Constitutions of the Emperors, whereas Attions granted by the Prætor, fell within the Year. ons granted by the frætor, lell within the rear-So we have in England perpetual and temporary Aftions: And indeed all Aftions may be called perpetual, that are not expresly limited. As divers Statutes give Aftion, so they be pursued within the Time by them prescribed: As for Example, the Statute of 1 Ed. 6. cap. 1. gives Aftion for 3 Years after the Offences committed, and no longer. And the Statute 7 H. 8. cap. 3. doth the like for four Years; and that of 31 El. cap. 5. for one Year and no more; and the A& for Uniformity, 14 Car. 2. cap. 4. limits some Things to two, some to three Months, and some to more. But as by the Civil Law, no Actions were at last so perpetual, but that by Time they might be prescribed against; so in our Common Law, tho Affions may be called perpetual, in Comparison of those that be expressly limited by Statute, yet there is a Means to prescribe against real Affions within five Years, by a Fine levied, or a Recovery suffered; as you may see further in the Words Fine and Recovery, and also Limitation of Assize.

action popular, Is given upon the Breach of fome Penal Statute, which every Man that will, may sue for himself and the King, by Information, or otherwise: And because this Action is not given to one especially but generally to any of the King's People that will sue, it is called an Attion popular; but in this Case, when one hath begun to pursue an Attion, no other may sue it; and in this as it seems, it varies from an Attion popular by the Civil Law. Terms de Ley.

Administrator, (Administrator in Lat.) Is in the Sense of our Common Law taken for one that hath the Goods of a Man dying intestate, committed to his Charge by the Ordinary, and is accountable for the same, whenever it shall please the Ordinary to call him thereto. In this peculiar Sense, this Word is not used in all the Civil or Canon Law, but more generally for those that have the Government of any Thing. However the Signification came to be restrained among us, it matters not. But there is a Statute Cause depending in the King's Court for the better Execution of Justice; as of Bastardy, Bondmen, and such like; whereof see great Diversity in and to authorize them as fully as Executors, to gather

Against such an Admini-firator, and for him, an Action will lye as for an Executor, and he shall be charged to the Value of the Goods and no farther, unless by his own false Plea or by wasting the Goods of the deceased. If the Administrator die, his Executors are not If the Administrator die, his Executors are not Administrators; but it behoves the Ordinary to commit a new Administration. And if a Stranger, that is not Administrator or Executor, take the Goods of the Deceased, and administer of his own Wrong, he shall be charged and sued as an Executor, and not as Administrator; but if the Ordinary make a Letter, Ad colligendum bona defuncti, he that hath such a Letter, is not Administrator; but the Action lies against the Ordinary, as if he had the Goods in his own Hand. This Magistrate among the Romans was called Prafettus classis, as appeareth by Tully, in Verrem. 7. Mr. Guin, in his Preface to bis Reading, believes this Office was first created in the Time of Ed. 3. his Reason is this, because Britton that wrote in Ed. the First's Time, in the Beginning of his Book, taking upon him to name all the Courts of Justice, makes no Mention of this Court, or Magistrate; and Richard the Second in the Tenth Year of his Reign, limited his Jurisdiction to the Power he'had in his Grandfather Ed. 3. his Days. But contrary to this, it appears by some antient Records, that not only in the Days of Edward the First, but also of King John, all Causes of Merchants and Mari-King John, all Causes of Merchants and Mariners, and Things happening within the main Sea, were ever tried before the Lord Admiral. To this Purpose he hath his Court call'd The Admirals: He hath Cognizance of the Death or Mayhem of a Man committed in any great Ship riding in great Rivers, beneath the Bridges of the same ners, and Things happening within the main Sea, were ever tried before the Lord Admiral. Novent, Is a Time comprising a Month, or thereabouts, and begins upon the Sunday, that falls either upon St. Andrew's Day, being the 30th of November, or next after it, and continues till the Feaft of the Nativity of our Lord, common ly call'd Christmas. Durandus tells us it was instituted by St. Peter. The first Week in Advent is that which is farthest from the Feast of the Nativity; and that which is nearest, is that which is the last, as appears by this Distich;

This is also one of the Times from the Beginning whereof to the Fig. whereof to the End of the Octaves of the Epi-phany, the Solemnizing of Marriage was forbid-den, by reason of certain Spiritual Joy that the Church ought to conceive in the Remembrance of her Spouse, Christ Jesus, and was not without special Licence to be entertained, according to the old Verses,

2 Doocate, The Ecclesiastical or Church Advocate was of two Sorts. Either 1. Bouch, Alias Avow, advocare, cometh of the French Word Advouer, alias Avouer, and fignifieth as much as to justify or maintain an Act formerly done: For Example, One takes a Distress for Rent, or other Thing, and he that is distrained sucth a Replevin; now he that took the Distress, or to whose Use the Distress was taken by another, justifying or maintaining the A&, is said to avow, Termes de Ley 73. Burg. pag. 1210. uses advocare in the same Signification. And pag. 1213. the Substantive desavobamentum, for a Disavowing, or Refusal to avow. The Signification of the Word is to bring forth any Thing, viz. when stoln Goods were brought by one, and sold to another, it was lawful for the right Owner to take them where ever they were found, and he in whose Possession they were found, was bound advocare, i. e. to produce the Seller to justify the Sale; and so on faciet Adulterium, babet Rex vel Dominus superiorem, they were found, was bound advocare, i. e. to Episcopus inferiorem. Dobowsen, Or Advowson, Advocatio signifieth in our Common Law a Right to present to a Benefice, and is as much as jus Patronatus in the Canon Law: The Reason why it is so termed, proceedeth from this, because they that originally obtained the Right of Presenting to any Church, were Maintainers of, or great Benefactors to that Church, either by Building, or increasing it; and are therefore sometimes termed Patroni, sometimes Advocati, and sometimes De-Patroni, sometimes Advocati, and sometimes Defensores, cap. 4. © 2. de jure Patronatus in Decretal. And Advowson being an old Bastard French Word, is used for the Right of Presenting, as appeareth by the Statute of West. 2. 13 Ed. 1. c. 5. And Advowry is used in the same Sense, in the Statute of Provisors, 25 Ed. 3. Now Advowson is of two Sorts: First, Advouson in gross; that is, sole or principal, not belonging to any Manor, as a Parcel of its Right; and secondly, Advowson appearant, which depends upon a Manor, as appurpendant, which depends upon a Manor, as appurtenant to it; termed therefore by Kitchin an Incident, that it may be separated from the Subject. Of this Mr. John Skene, de verbor. Sign. hath these Words, Dicitur Advocatio Ecclesia, vel quia Patronus alicujus Ecclesia ratione sui juris advocat se ad eandem Ecclesiam & asserit se in eadem habere jus Patronatus, eamque esse sui quasi clientis loco; vel potius cum aliquis (nempe Patronus) advocat alium jure suo ad Ecclesiam vacantem, eumque loco alterius (veluti defuncti) prasentat, & quasi exhibet. No Church could be canonically confecrated, without an Allotment of Manse and Glebe, made generally by the Lord of the Manor, who thereby became Advocate or Patron of that Church; so as the Lordthip of the Manor, and Patronage of the Church were rarely in different Hands, till Advowsfons were unhappily given to Religious Houses. It had been more to the Honour of this Church and Nation, if Advowsons had all continued appendant to the Manor. For then the Patrons had been (as they first were) Parochial Barons, and so Men of Reputation and Interest in each re-

If a free Election were lest to the Religious, yet a Conge d'eslire, or License of Electing was first to be obtain'd of the Patron; and the Elect was confirm'd by him. The Patronage of a Convent lapsed to the Lord of the Honour, if the Family of the Founder were extinct: So Edmund Earl of Cornwall became Patron of the Nunnery of Goring, Com. Oxon. by no other Title, than as that House was situate within the Honour of Wallingford. See Mr. Kennet's Paroch. Antiq. p. 147, 163.

Aerie, Or, Ayry of Goshawks (Aeria accipitrum,) Is the proper Term for Hawks, for that which of other Birds we call a Nest. Thus it is used, 9 H. 3. cap. 12. in the Charter of the Forest, and divers other Places. Aerie comes from the French Aire, the proper Term for a Hawk's Neit. So is Airg said to signify in Irish. But Spelman derives it from Saxon Eghe, which the Germans and Normans melted into Eye, an Egg; whence Eyerie was a common Name for a Bird's Nest, i.e. the Place or Repository of Eggs. Hence too the Eye, or Brood of Pheasants. The Liberty of keeping these Ayeries of Hawks, was granted as a Privilege to some greater Persons, as in a Charter of Henry 3. to the Church of York——In ne-more de Blideward habebat Archiepiscopus & Canonici de Ebor. proprios Forestarios suos, & mel, & areas accipitrum onossorum. —— Registr. Affecters, (Afferatores, alias Affidati) May pro-bably be derived from the French (Affier) that is, affirmare, confirmare; and fignifies in the Common Law such as are appointed in Court-Leets, upon Oath, to set the Fines on such as have committed Faults arbitrarily punishable, and have no express Penalty appointed by the Statute. The Form of their Oath you may see in Kitchin, fol. 46. The Reason of this Denomination may seem to the beause they that he are tion may feem to be, because they that be appointed to that Office, do affirm upon their Oaths, what Penalty they think in Conscience the Offender hath deserved: Another probable Derivation may be from (feere) an old English Word fignifying a Companion, as (Gefera) doth among the Saxons, by Mr. Lambard's Testimony (verb. contubernalis,) in his Explication of Saxon Words; and so it may be gathered that Kitchin takes it cap. Amercements, fol. 78. in these Words, takes it cap. Amercements, fol. 78. in these Words, Mes tiel amerciament soit affire per pares; where (pares) is affeerers; and the Reason hereof may be, for that in this Business they are made Companions, or Equals. We find this Word used, 25 Ed. 3. Stat. 7. viz. The same fusices before their Rising in every Sessions, shall cause to be affected the Amercements; and also to the same Effect, 26 H. 6. c. 6. And Kitchin, fol. 78. joins these three Words together, as Synonima's, viz. Affidati, Amerciatores, Assions Afficors; Assions the Canon Law is used for Fidem dare, ca. sina. de cognation. spirit in used for Fidem dare, ca. fina. de cognation. spirit. in Decretal. & ca. super eo de testibus. Bracton hath Affidare mulieren, to be betrothed to a Woman, lib. 2. cap. 12. But in the Custumary of Normandy, cap. 20. this Word (Affeurer,) the Latin Interpreter expresses by (Taxare,) that is, to set the Value of a Thing, and the same with estimare, &c. which seems indeed the best Etymology. See Go. lib. 8. fol. 40. b.

Afferi. See Averia.

Mance, Is the plighting of Troth betwixt a Man and a Woman, upon agreement of Marriage to be had between them; the Latin Word (affidare) from whence this is derived, is as much, as fidem ad alium dare, and this Word Affiance is used by Littleton, c. Dower, secl. 39.

Affrap, Cometh of the French Word (Effrayer) terrere, to affright, and therefore may be without Word or Blow given, and so is the Word used in the Statute of Northampton, 2 E. 3. cap. 3. It is commonly taken for a Skirmish, or Fighting between two or more: In our Books it is many Times confounded with an Assault, as appears by Lambard, in his Eirenarcha, lib. 2. cap. 3. & lib. 1. cap. 17. yet as it is there faid, they differ in this, that where an Affault is but a Wrong to the Party, an Affray is a Wrong to the Commonwealth, and therefore both inquirable and punishable in a Leet. It may be faid likewife, that an Affault is but of one fide, but an Affay is the Affidiari, se Centification and Arma, To be muster- righting of many together: Bendes this organization and enrolled for Soldiers, upon an Oath of cation already mentioned, it may be taken for ed and enrolled for Soldiers, upon an Oath of cation already mentioned, it may be taken for eating allegers.

Age, Ætas, French aage, and signifieth in the Language of the Vulgar a Man's Life, from his Birth to the Day of his Death; but in the Common Law it is particularly used for those special Times, which enable Men and Women to do that, which before for want of Age, and consequently of Judgment, they might not do: And these Times in a Man are two, at source Years he is at the Age of Discretion, twenty-one Years he is of full Age. Littleton lib. 2. cap. 4. The Law takes Notice of him at several other Ages, as at twelve Years, to take the Oath of Allegiance in a Leet; at fourteen to consent to Marriage, and in Socage to chuse his Guardian. Dyer, fol. 162. at fif-teen for the Lord to have Aid pur fair Fitz Chivalier, F. N. B. in brevi de rationabili quxilio. In a Woman they were fix. Bro. Gard. 7. Thirdly, at twelve Years she is able to ratify and confirm at twelve Years she is able to ratify and confirm her former Consent given to Matrimony. Fourthly, at fourteen Years she is enabled to receive her Lands into her own Hands, and shall be out of Ward, if she be at that Age at her Ancestor's Death. Fifthly, at fixteen Years she shall be out of Ward, though at the Death of her Ancestor, she was under fourteen: The Reason is, because then she may take a Husband able to perform Knight-Service. Sixthly, at twenty-one Years the is able to alienate her Lands and Tenements; hesides, as to a Man we may add, that at fifteen Years he shall be sworn to keep the King's Peace, Anno 34 E. 1. Stat. 3. The Age of twenty-one did heretofore compel a Man to be a Knight that had twenty Pounds Lands per ann. in Fee, and that by 1 E. 2. Stat. 1. which is finee repealed by 17 Car. 1. cap. 20. That Age also enables him to contract and deal by himself in the Management of his Estates, which until that Time he cannot do with Security of those that deal with him. Igiliarius. A Hey-ward, i. e. a Herd-ward or Keeper of the Herd of Cattle in a Common Field, sworn at the Lord's Court, by folemn Outh, of which the Form is delivered by Kitchen of Courts f. 46. The Office of Agillarius was of two Sorts; First the common Hey-ward of a Town or Village, to supervise and guard the greater Cattle, or common Herd of Kine and Oxen, to keep them within their due Bounds: He was otherwise called Bubulcus, the Cow-ward (now turned into a Name of Contempt and Reproach, a pitiful Coward) who, if he was a Cottager, or other fervile Tenant, he was exempted from all customary Works and manual Services to the Lord; because he was presumed to be alway attending on his Herd, as a Shephard on his Flock, who had therefore the like Privilege. —— Sunt ibi xoi Cotari, quorum alii sunt Bubulci, alii sunt Pastores, qui si non essent, deberet quilibet unum opus singulis septimanis per annum. Agist, From the French (Gift) a Bed or Restagilt, From the French (Gift) a Bed of Retting-place, or gifer, jacere, or gifter, stabulari, a Word proper to a Deer, cum sub mensem Maium e locis abditis in quibus delituit emigrans in loco deletto stabulari incipit: Unde commoda & propinqua sit pabulatio. Budeus in Posterior. lib. Philosogie. It signifies in our Common Law to take in and feed the Cattle of Strangers in the King's Forest, and to Cattle of Strangers in the King's Forest, and to gather the Money due for the same to the King's Use. Charta de Foresta. an. 9 H. 3, cap. 9. The Osheers that do this, are called Agistors, in English Guest-takers. Cromp. jur. fol. 146. These are made by the King's Letters Patent, under the Great Seal of England, of whom the King hath four in every Forest, where he taketh any Pawnage. Manwood's Forest-Law, cap. 11. fol. 80. In what their Oshee consists, see the same Manwood, what their Office consists, see the same Manwood, part t. p. 336: Their Function is termed Agistment, as Agistment upon the Sea-banks, an. 6 H. 6. c. 5. This Agist is also used for the Taking in of other Men's Cattle into any Ground at a certain Rate per Week. See 4 part, Inst. fol. 293. The Word Agist is also taken for a Charge or Burden on a Thing; as terread custodiam Maris agistate, (Selden, Mar. Claus, p. 19.) are Lands charged with a Tri-Mar. Claus. p. 19.) are Lands charged with a Tribute to keep out the Sca; or whose Owners are bound to keep out the Sea, of whole owners are bound to keep up the Sea-Banks.

Agistatoz, The Agistor or Forest-Officer, who was to take Account of the Cattle there agisted, whether they belong'd to Tenants within the Forest, who had free Agistment, or to Foreigners who paid a common Rate. These Agistatores in an old Version of Charta de Foresta, are called Gyst-takers, or Walkers. Hence our Grasiers now call the Foreign Cattle which they take in to keep by the Week, Gisements, or Juicements (pronounced like the Joices in Building, corrupted from the French Adjoustment, the Cross-pieces of Timber that are adjusted or fitted, to make the Frame of the Floor.) And to eife or juice the Ground, is when the Occupier feeds it not with his own proper Stock, but takes in other Cattle to agift, or paflure in it. All Glossographers agree to derive this Word from the French Gifter, to lie, Gift a Bed, &c. But I rather think Agistamentum bears Relation to Ager the Field, or Feeding-place of Cattle, and might be the same as Agrarium, Agerium, Agrotium, the Profit of Feeding Cattle on such a Ground and Field Unless it were so, I can hardly imagine, why the Duty or Tax levied for repairing the Bank and Walls in Romney Marsh, was call'd Agistamentum; and the laying such a Proportion of this Duty upon the several Lands, was called Agistatio; and he who was the Collector and Expenditer of it, was termed Agistator. See Glossary to Paroch. Antiq. in voce Agifator.

Agreement, (Agreamentum which is according to Plowden, aggregatio mentium;) Is a joining to-gether of two or more Minds in any Thing done, or to be done, and this is threefold: 1. An Agreement executed already at the Beginning, and greement executed already at the Beginning, and of which Mention is made, 25 E. 3. eap. 3. of Cloaths, which faith, That the Goods bought by Forestallers, being thereof attainted, shall be forfeit to the King, if the Buyer have made Gree with the Seller: Where the Word (Gree) which otherwise is Agreement executed, signifies Payment for the Thing, or Satisfaction. 2. An Agreement after an A& done, by another, and is executed also; this is where one does an A& and another agrees to is where one does an Act, and another agrees to it afterwards. 3. An "Agreement executory, or to be done in future, and this is where both Parties at one Time are agreed that such a Thing shall. be done in Time to come; which is executory in Regard the Thing is to be done afterwards; for which see 26 H. S. cap. 3. And this may be divided into two Parts, one which is certain at the Beginning, the other when the Certainty doth not appear at first, and the Parties agree that the Thing shall be performed or paid upon the Certainty known.

Tipe, Auxilium, Is all one in Signification with the French (Aide) and differs only in Pronunciation: But in our Law it is applied to divers Significations, as sometimes it signifies a subsidy, as 14 E. 3. Stat. 2. eap. 1. sometimes a Prestation due from Tenants to their Lords, as towards the Relief due to the Lord Paramount. Glanvile, lib. 9. c. 8. This the King or other Lord, might of old lay on their Tenants for Knighting his eldest Son at the Age of fifteen Years, or marrying his Daughter at seven, Reg. Orig. fol. 87. a. and that at what Rate themselves listed: But the Stat. of Westm. t. an 3 E. 1. ordained a Restraint for so unlimited a Demand; and 25 E. 3. Stat. 5. cap. 11. provides, That the Rate set down by the former Statute, should hold in the King as well as other Lords; of which Mention is made 27 H. S.c. 10. This Imposition seems to have descended to us from Normandy (or rather from a more ancient Original, The Feodal Laws,) for in the Grand Cu-flomary, cap. 35. you have a Tractate intituled, Des aides Chevelz, i. e. auxiliis capitalibus; whereof the first is, a faire l'eyne fitz de son Seigneur Chava-lier; to make his eldest Son Knight: The Second, pur eine fille marier; to marry the eldest Daughter; both these, and all Charges incident thereunto, are taken away, and discharged by Stat. 12. Car. 2. cap. 24. But the Word Aid differs from Tax in Signification: For Taxes were formerly levied at the Will of the Lord upon any Occasion what-foever; but Aids could not be levied, but where it was lawful and customary so to do; as to make the eldest Son a Knight, to marry the eldest Daughter, or to redeem the Lord from Prison. Du Cange in verbo auxilium. This Word is also particularly used in Matter of Pleading, for a Petition made in Court for the Calling in of Help from another that hath an Interest in the Cause in Question, and is likely both to give Strength to the Party that prayeth in Aid of him, and also to avoid a Prejudice growing toward his own Right, except it be prevented; as when Tenant for Term of Life, by Curtefy, Tenant in Tail after Possibility of Issue extinct, for Term of Years, at touching his Estate, may petere auxilium, that is, shire. It signifies also the River Alne in Northum-pray in Aid of him in the Reversion; that is, defire the Court that he may be called in by Writ, to alledge what he thinks good for the Mainte-page both of his Birth and his areas. Will, or by Statute Merchant, being impleaded nance both of his Right, and his own; Termes de la Ley: But this Course has been much disused. Fitzherbert mentions both Prier in Aide, and Prier Aide de Patron, &c. auxilium petere a Patrono. Nat. Brev. f. 50. d. And the new Book of Entries, verbo Aide de parcener, f. 411. col. 4. This Word verbo Aide de parcener, f. 411. col. 4. This Word is also found in 13 R. 2. cap. 17. This Aide prier is sometimes also used in the King's Behoof, that there may be no Proceeding against him, until the King's Counsel be called and heard, to say what they think fit for avoiding the King's Prejudice or Loss; as if the King's Tenant holding in Chief, be demanded a Rent of a common Perfon, he may pray in Aid of the King: Also a City or Borough that has a Fee-Farm of the King, any Thing being demanded against them which belongs thereunto, may pray Aid of the King, &c. Termes de la Ley, 35, 36. Of this you may read the Statute De Bigamis, an. 4 E. 1. cap. 1, 2, 3. & an. 14 E. 3. Stat. 1. cap. 14. The Civil 13. So an. 14 E. 3. Stat. 1. cap. 14. Alderman was one of the three Degrees of Nobility amongst the Saxons: Ætheling was the first, and Thane the lowest; but Alderman was the same as our Earl. The Word was disused in the later Ages of the Saxons, and in its Place the Word Earl was introduced. 'Tis certain that it was used in King Athelstane's Reign.

'Tis true, it literally imports no more than Elder; but amongst the Saxons it signified a Duke, an Earl, a Nobleman, and sometimes a General; but then he was called Heretoga, (viz.) Mercna Heretoga, Alderman of Mercland; which Title he had in Relation to his Military Power: But the Title Alderman shewed his Civil Jurisdiction: which Title afterwards was applied to a Judge; as in the Reign of King Edgar, Alwin, the Son of Ethelstane, is called Aldermannus totius Anglia i. e. as Spelman tells us, Justiciarius Anglia.

There was likewise Aldermannus Hundredi:

Which Dignity was first introduced in the Reign of H. 1. Among his Laws, cap. 8. we read, Prasit autem singulis hominum novenis decimus, & toti simul hundredo unus de melioribus, & vocetur Alder-mannus, qui Dei leges & hominum jura vigilantistu-deat observantia pronovere. Du Cange. See Senator.

At this Day we call them Aldermen who are Associates to the Civil Magistrate of a City or Town Corporate. 24 H. S. eap. 13. See Spelman's Glossavium at large on this Word.

1330. Alnage, French Aulnage; the Measuring with an Ell, or the Mcasure of an Ell. 17 E. 4. cap. 5.

Sec Alnager. Inageoz, Aulnager, Ineger. In Lavin Ulniger or Ulnator; that is, a Measurer by the Ell: It may be derived from the French word Aulne, an Ell, and fignifies a publick sworn Officers of the King's, who by himself, or his Deputy, looks to the Assize of Woollen Cloth made thro' the Land, and to the Seals for that purpose ordained, 25 E. 3. Stat. 4 cap. 1. and 3 R. 2. c. 2. who is accountable to the King, for every Cloth fo scaled in a Fee or Custom thereunto belonging. anno 17 R. 2. cap. 2. There are now three Officers belonging to the Regulation of Clothing, all which were anciently comprised in one Person. These bear the distinct Names of Searcher, Measurer, and Alneger; which last, though in a several Language, it be the same with Measurer; yet long Usage and Custom have brought them to distinct Offices, and that which was anciently called Alnager, is now become Collector of the Subsidy granted to the King, by the fore-mentioned Statutes, still holding the same Name; because the Collection of that Subside was her Electrical to the Collection of that Subfidy was by Edw. III. committed to the Alneger, and he nevertheless not abridged of meafuring, till by his own Neglect separated: Insomuch as there is now a peculiar Measurer to every particular Cloth made in England and Wales: And to prevent Abuses, an Officer of Searching is established by an Act of Parliament, who ought by peculiar Seal, to denote the Defects which each Cloth contains. All these were anciently under the Cognisance of the Alneger, as you may read at large in a Treatise, entitled The Golden Fleece, Printed an. 1556. Sec 4 Inft. fol. 31.

astarase. Altarasium; This Word includes not only the Offerings made upon the Altar, but also all the Profit that arises to the Prick by Reason of the Altar, Obventio Altaris, as appears by an Order made in the Term of St. Michael 2t Elizuiz. in the Exchequer, between Turner Vicar of Westbaddon in Com. Northamp. and Andrews, whereby it is declared, That by Altaragium is mean Tithes of Wool, Lamb, Colt, Calf, Pigs, Goslings, Chickens, Butter, Cheese, Hemp, Flax, Honey, Fruits, Herbs, and other such small Tithes, with Offerings that shall be due in the Parish of West. Offerings that shall be due in the Parish of West-This Order is as follows, viz. haddon.

Northampton, st. Inter ordines sive decreta de Termi-. no Sansti Mich. Anno 21 Eliz. in Scaccario remanentes, & in custodia Rememoratoris Regis inter alia continetur sic.

Jovis, 12 Die Nov.

U Pon the hearing of the Matter betwixt Ralph Turner, Vicar of West Haddon, and Edward Andrews, it is ordered, that the faid Vicar shall have, by Reason of the Words (Altaragium cum manso competenti) contained in the Composition of the Profits assigned for the Vicar's Maintenance, all such Things as he ought to have by these Words, according to the Desinition thereof made by the Reverend Father in God, John, Bishop of London, upon Conference with the Civilians, viz. David Hewes, Judge of the Admiralty, Bartholomev Clark, Dean of the Arches, John Gibson, Henry Jones, Lawrence Hewes and Edward Stanhope, all Doctors of the Civil Law, that is to fay, By Altaragium, Tithes of Wool, Lamb, Colt, Calf, Piggs, Gollings, Chickens, Butter, Cheefe, Hemp, Flax, Honey, Fruits, Herbs, and such other small Tythes, with Offerings, that shall be due within the Parish of Woshhaddon.

And the like Case was for Norton in Northamp-tonshire, of a later Date, Oblationes sive nummorum sive panum tali vel tali Altari, vel ex devotione, vel ex consuetudine, aut a Parochianis, aut ab extraneis fatta, Altaragii nomine cersebantur. Gloss. in Mat. Paris. The Word Altarage could signific at first no more, than the casual Profits arising to the Priest, from the Peoples voluntary Oblations at the Altar. Out of these Customary Ducs, the Religious assigned a Portion to the Vicar; but in such different Quantity and Method, that since the Reformation, several Disputes have arose, what Dues were comprehended under the Title of Altaragium; which was remarkably determined to comprize all Offerings and small Tithes, in a Trial in the Exchequer, in Mi.b. Term. 21 Eliz. Which Judgment, I presume, might be grounded on this and other Authorities: The Ordination of the Vicarage of Tickhill by Walter Grey, Archbishop of York, Anno Dom. 1249, & Anno Pontificat. 33. Vicarius ad sustentationem sui-babeat totum Altaragium, ita qued nomine Altaragii contine-antur onnes obventiones, Decima & proventus ipsius Ecelesia de Tickhill, exceptis Decimis bladi, leguminis, & fæni, & terris ad dictam Ecclesiam pertinentibus, salvo competente manso Vicario assignando. Mon. Ang. Tom. 3. p. 158. b. Hence, though it seems to be certain, That the Religious when they first allotted the Altaragium in Part or Whole, to the Ca-pellane or Vicar, they meant only the arbitrary or accustomed Offerings at the Altar, and not any Share of the standing Tithe, whether Predial or Mixt. Yet it being usual for the Religious to content themselves with the greater Profits of Glebe and Tenths of Corn and Hay, and to leave the inconsiderable small Tithes to the Official Corn. ciating Priests: Hence Altaragium by Degrees was supposed to include all Dues, except as before excepted. Oblationes sive nummorum, sive pa-num tali vel tali Altari, vel ex devotione vel ex consuetudine, aut a Parochianis, aut ab extraneis saste, Altaragii nomine censebantur. Gloss. in Mac. Parif.

Misericordia) Signifies the pecuniary Punishment of an Offender against the King, or other Lord, in his Court, that is found to be in Misericordia; that is, to have offended, and to stand at the Mercy of the King or Lord. There seems to be a Disference between Americament and Fines. Kitchin, fol. 214. For Fines, as they are taken for Punishments, be certain, and grow expresly from some Statute, but Americaments are fuch as be arbitrarily impos'd by Affeerors, which Kitebin, fol. 78. in some Manner consirms in these Words L'amerciament est affire per pares. Manwood in his Forest Laws, part 1. fol. 166. saith, An Amerciament is a more easy, more merciful Penalty, and a Fine more sharp or grievous: His Words are these, If the Pledges for such a Trespass do appear by common Summons, but not the Defendant himself, then the Pledges shall be imprisoned for that Default of the Defendant. But otherwise it is, if the Defendant himself do appear and he ready in Court he-fore the Lord Fusice in Eyre, to receive his Judg-ment, and pay his Fine: But if such Pledges do make ment, and pay his Fine: But if Jush Pledges do make Default, in that Case the Pledges shall be amerced, but not fined. So that an Amercement is for a small Fault, and a Fine for a great One. The Author of the New Terms of Law, saith, That Amerciament is properly a Penalty assessed by the Peers or Equals of the Party amerced, for an Offence done; for the which he putteth himself upon the Mercy of the Lord: Who also makes Mention of an Americament Rayal and defines it to be a of an Amerciament Royal, and defines it to be a pecuniary Punishment laid upon a Sheriff, Coroner, or such like Officer of the King, by Justices, for fome Offence. Rateliff Baron of the Exche uer. 2 H. 7. fol. 7. See Misericordia. If the Americanent were too grievous, i.e. disproportioned to the Nature of the Offence, or the Abilities of the Offender, there were a Rales for the Offender. of the Offender, there was a Release to be sued by a Writ called Moderata M. sericordia. Americamenta illevabilia were such Americanas as thro Poverty, or Escape of the Americal, became desperate Debts, and were deducted in the Accounts of the Bayliff, or Steward, or Collectors of Rents and other Dues. Ancient, Ansbent, The Flag or Streamer in the Stern of a Ship. The Scamen are the greatest Corrupters of Words; Thus from the Portugal Word Allagerto a Crocodile, our Mariners call that Beaft or Fish an Allegator. And from the Portuguez Logusta, they call the prickly Lobster, that wants Legs, common in the Southern Sea, a Long Oyster. So probably from End sheet (for Sca-men call their Sails Sheets) a proper Name for the Flag in the Stern, they corruptly speak Anshent.

Yearly the Principal or Treasurer.

Ancient Demain or Demerie, (Vetus Patrimo-nium Domini) Is a certain Tenure, whereby all Manors belonging to the Crown in the Days of Saint Edward, or William the Conqueror, were held. The Numbers and Names of which Manors, as of all others belonging to common Persons, after a Survey made of them, he caused to be written in a Book, now remaining in the Exchequer, and call'd Doomflay And those, which by that Book appear to have at that Time belonged to the Crown, and are contained under the Title Terra Regis, are called Ancient Demessive Kitchin, fol. 98. Of these Tenants were two Sorts; one that held their Lands frankly by Charter, the other by Copy of Court-Roll, or by the Verge at the Will of the Lord, according to the Custom of the Manor. Britton, cap. 66. num. 8. The Benefit of this Tenure consists in these Points: 1. The Tenants holding by Charter, cannot be impleaded out of their Manor; or if they be, they may abate the Writ by Pleading their Tenure, before or after Answer made. 2. They are free from Toll for all Things concerning their Livelihood and Husbandry. They may not be converselled upon any Frances. F. N. B. 61.14. empanelled upon any Enquest. F. N. B. fol. 14. d. & fol. 228. &c. By whom it appears, these Tenants held originally by Ploughing the King's Lands, plashing his Hedges, or such like, towards the Maintenance of his Houshold; for which Cause they are a proid Disturbances. They may them: And to avoid Disturbances, they may have Writs to such as take Duties of Toll, as also Immunity of Portage, Passage and such like. No Lands ought to be esteemed Antient Demes, but such as are held in Soccage. See Monstraverunt

Budates Lucus, (Anderida). Mr. Camden was of Opinion, that Newenden in Kent, situated near the Wood called Ander, was the Place where a famous Castle was built by the Romans, to defend the Sea-Coasts from the Saxon Pirates; which Town was called Brittenden by the Saxons. And being decayed, but rebuilt; foon after a Monastery was founded by the Carmelite Friers, in the Reign of Ed. 1. it was called Newenden. Angelica Mestis was a Monkish Garment, which Laymen put on a little before their Death, that they might have the Benefit of the Prayers of the Monks. It was from them called Angelicus, because they were called Angeli, who by these Prayers Anima Saluti sucurrebant. And therefore where we read the Words ad fu currendum in our old Books, it must be understood of one who had put on the Habit, and was near Death. Si quis ad succurrendum metu mortis se l'eco prenominaro dederit, illic re itetur. Monasticon, 1 Tom. pag. 632. 2 mniberfary Days, (Dies Anniversarii) Were in former Times solemn Days appointed in Commemoration of the Deaths or Martyrdoms of Saints, and once every Year celebrated: Alfo Days whereon, at the Return of every Year, Men were wont to pray for the Souls of their deceased Friends, mentioned in the Statute 1 Ed. 6. cap. 14. and 12 Car. 2. cap. 13. This was in Use among our Ancestors the Saxons, as may be seen, Lib. Rames, Sest. 134. Anniversaria dies ideo repetitur defunctis, quia nescimus qualiter eorum Causa habeatur in alia vita. This was the Reason given by Alcuinus in his Divine Offices. The Anniversary or yearly Return of the Day of Death of any Person, which the Religious registred in their Obitual or Martyrology, and annually ob-ferved in Gratitude to their Founders and Benefactors, was by our Fore-fathers called a Year-Day, and a Mind-Day, i.e. a Memorial Day. This was one of the trading Arts of the Religious, who got many a Pitance and Legacy for thus recording and continuing the Memorials of their Friends. Yet abating the Superfition, we must needs confess this Practice of theirs has been a great Advantage to the History of Men and Times, by fixing the Obits of Great and Good Men.

Anno Domini, Is the Computation of Time from the Incarnation of our Lord FESUS, and is used in publick Writings; sometimes with, and sometimes without the Year of the King's Reign. Annuitp, Annus redditus, Signifies a yearly Rent to be paid for the Term of Life, or Years, or in Fee; and is also used for the Writ that lies against a Man for the Recovery of such a Rent, if it be not fatisfied every Year according to the Grant. Reg. Orig. fol. 158. F. N. B. fol. 152. The Author of the New Terms of Law, defineth Annuity, to be a certain Sum of Money granted to another in Fee-simple, Fee-sail, for Term of Life or Years, to receive of the Grantor or his Heirs, fo that no Freehold be charged therewith, whereof a Man shall never have Assize, or other Action, but a Writ of Annuity. Saint Germain, in his Book stiled Doctor and Student, Dial. 1. cap. 3. sheweth divers Differences between a Rent and an Annuity; whereof the first is, That every Rent, be it Rent-Charge, Rent-Service, or Rent-Seck, is going out of Land, but an Annuity goeth not out of any Land, but chargeth only the Person; that is to fay, the Grantor, or his Heirs, that have Assets by descent: Or the House, if it be granted by a House of Religion. Lit. Sect. 220.2. A second Difference is, That for the Recovery of an Annuity, no Action lieth, but only a Writ of Annuity against the Grantor, his Heirs or Successors.

Fitz. Nat. Brev. 152. But of a Rent, the same
Actions lie as do of Land, as the Case requireth. 3. The third Difference is, That an Annuity is never taken for Assets, because it is no Freehold in Law, neither shall it be put in Execution upon a Statute-Merchant, Statute-Staple, or Elegit as a Rent may. Doct. and Stud. cap. 30. So also Dyer fol. 345. Pl. 2. Also an Annuity cannot be severed. Co. lib. S. fol. 52. b. See more Leigh's Comment. verbo Annuity.

Appeal, Appellum, Cometh from the French word Appeller, that is, Active: It fignifies in our Common Law as much as Accusatio, with the Civilians; for as in the Civil Law, Cognisance of Criminal Causes is taken either upon Inquisition and Denunciation or Accufation; so in Ours, upon Indistment or Appeal; Indistment comprehending both Inquisition and Denunciation : And Accusation is a lawful Declaration of another Man's Crime (which by Bratton must be Felony at the least) before a competent Judge, by one that fetteth his Name to the Declaration, and undertakes to prove it upon the Penalty that may ensue of the contrary. To declare the whole Course of an Appeal, is not proper for this Place; I refer you to Bratton, lib. 3. Traff. 2. cap. 18. cum fequent. Britton, cap. 22, 23, 24, 25. Smith, sib. 3. de Repub. Angl. cap. 3. And Staundf. Pl. Cor. lib. 2. cap. 6, 7, &cc. ufque 17. An Appeal is commenced two Ways; either by Writ, or by Bill, Staundf. ubi supra; and it may be gathered by him, fol. 148. that an Appeal by Writ is, when a Writ is purchased out of Chancery by one to another, to this End, that he appeal a Third of some Felony committed by him, finding Pledges that he shall do it, and deliver the Writ to the Sheriff or Coroner, offering to undergo the Burden of the appealing another therein named. Appeal by Bill is when a Man of himself gives his Accusation in Writing to the Sheriff or Coroner, offering to undergo the Burden of appealing the Person therein named. This Point of our Law, among others, is taken from the Normans, as appears plainly by the Grand Customary, cap. 68. where there is a solemn Discourse both of the Effects of this Appeal, viz. The Order of Combat, and of the Trial by Inquest; of either of which it is in the Defendant's Power to make Choice. See New Bock of Entries, verbo Appell, Lib. Aff. fol. 78. 8 3. part. that cites Offenders to appear in the Spiritual Inft. fol. 131. Appeals to Rome were so great an Inter_ for appearing at the next Parliament.

Appeal of Baphem, Appellum Mahemii, Is an Accusing one that hath maimed another. But that being no Felony, the Appeal is but a kind of Action of Trespass, because there is nothing recover'd but Damages. Braffon calls this Appellum de pla-gis & Mahemio, and writes a whole Chapter about it. Lib. 3. traff. a. cap. 24. See Coke, vol. 4. fol. 49. a. In King John's Time, there is an Appeal re-corded against a few. Qui fecit ementulari quendam nepotem suum.

So; St. Paul appealed from Fessus to Cafar. But more commonly for a private Accu-fation of a Murderer, by a Person who had Interest in the Party murdered, or of any Felou, by one of his Complices with him. And those that are so appealed, are called Appellees. 28 E. 1. See Approver.

Appendant, Appendens, Is an Inheritance be-longing to another that is more worthy; as Accessorium Principali, with the Civilians, or Adjunctum Subjecto, with the Logicians. Appennage, or Apennage, French, A Child's Part, properly the Portion of the King's younger Children in France, where they have a Law which they call, The Law of Apenages, whereby the King's younger Sons have Dutchies, Countries or Paropies granted to them and their ties, or Baronies granted to them, and their Heirs, or Heirs Males of their Bodies, the Reversion reserved to the Crown, and all Matters of Regality; as Coinage, levying Taxes, and the like. It is derived an appendicular or from the Gerlike: It is derived ab appendendo, or from the German word Apanage, which fignifies a Portion. Apportionment, Apportionamentum, Is a Dividing of a Rent into Parts, according as the Land, whence the whole Rent issueth, is divided among two, or more. As if a Man hath a Rent-Service issuing out of Land, and he purchases Parcel of the Land, the Rent shall be apportioned, according to the Value of the Land. So if a Man hold his Land of another by Homage, Fealty, Escuage and Rent, if the Lord, of whom the Land is holden, purchase Parcel of the Land, the Rent shall be apportioned. And if a Man let Lands for Years, reserving Rent, and after a Stranger recovers Part of the Land, then the Rent shall be apportioned, and the Lessee shall pay, having respect to that which is recovered, and to that which remains in his Hands, according to the Value. But a Rent-charge cannot be apportioned, nor Things that are entire: As if one hold Land by Service, to pay his Lord yearly at such a Feast, a Horse, a Hawk, a Rose, or a Cherry, &c. There if the Lord purchase Part of the Land, the Service is totally extinct; because such Things cannot be divided or apportioned, without Damage to the Entirety: In some Cases, a Rent-charge shall be apportioned; as if a Man has a Rent-charge issuing out of Land, and his Father purchases Parcel of the Lands charged in Fee, and dies, and this Parcel descends to his Son, who hath the Rent-charge; there this Charge shall be apportioned, according to the Value of the Land: Because such Portion of Land purchased by the Father, comes not to the Son by his own Act, but by Descent, and Course of Law. Common Appendant is of Common Right, and severable; and though the Commoner purchase Parcel of the Land, whereto the Common is appendant, yet the Common shall be apportioned. But in this Case, Common Appurtenant, and not Appendant, by such Purchase is ex-

Appoztum. —— Ita quod proficua manerii pradicti nomine Apporti quolibet anno prafato A. in subventionem sustentationis sua solverentur, an. 22 Ed. 1. It seems to be deduced from the French Apport, which beside the Common, signifies the Revenue, Gain or Profit, which a Thing brings in to its Owner. And in the Place cited, it is used for an Augmentation given to any Abbot, for his better Support out of the Profits of a Manor. The Word was commonly used for a Corrody or Pension: - Nicolaus Gwyn Prior de Andover, debet xx Marcas de quodam Apporto, ad capitalem Dominum ejuschem Prioris, in partibus transmarinis, in tempore pacis debito. Ex Registro evidentiarum Colleg. Wickham juxta Winton. MS. —— Rex Edwardus III. resituit terras Prioratuum Alienigenarum salvo no-bis Apporto, quod prasatus Procurator alicui domni superiori solvere tenetur. Claus. 14 E. 3. Spreentice, Apprentitius, (French Apprentfi, and that from apprendre, to learn; whence the Fr. Apprentisfage, and our Apprenticeship) signifies with us one that is bound in Word or Writing, to serve another Man of Trade for certain Years, upon Condition, That the Artificer, or Master shall in that mean Time endeavour to instruct him in his Art or Mystery. Smith de Rep. Ang. lib. 3. cap. 8. saith, They are a kind of Bondmen, differing only, that they be Servants by Covenant, and for a Time. Baristers at Law were heretofore called Apprentices of the Law, in Latin; Apprentitii juris nobiliores: So saith Mr. Selden in his Notes upon Fortescue, p. 3. And so the learned Mr. Plow-den stiled himself. Sir Henry Finch, in his Nomo-technia, gives himself the same Title. And Sir Edw. Goke. 2 Part, Inst. fol. 564. holds, That Apprentitii Legis are called Homines Consiliarii, & in Lege periti. And in another Place — Apprentices and other Counsellors of Law. Of the Word Apprentitius, as it fignifies a young Person, bound by Indentures to a Master, who upon such Covenants, is to teach him his Mystery or Trade; I think the oldest Authority is from a Charter, dated 12 Ed. 3. recited in Mr. Kennet's Parochial Antiquities, p. 449. At least I have met with no Mention of them, till the Beginning of the next Reign, when Henry de Knighton, sub an. 1381. Apprentitii quoque relictis Magistris suis illuc accurrebant. And Tho. Appropriation, Appropriatio, proceedeth from the French Arpreprier, i. e. Aptare, accomodare; and properly fignificath in the Law of England, a Severing of a Benefice Ecclefiastical, which originally, and in Nature is, Juris divini & in patrimonio nullius, to the proper and perpetual Use of some religious Houses, or Dean and Chapter, Bishop or College: And the Reason of the Name may be this; because, that whereas Parsons ordinarily be not accounted Domini, but Ufufructuarii, having no Right of Fee-simple. Lit. Tit. Discontinuance. These, by reason of their Perpetuity, are accounted Owners of the Fee-simple, and there-fore are called Proprietarii. And before the Time of Richard II. it was lawful (as it seems) to appropriate the whole Fruits of a Benefice to an Abbey or Priory, they finding one to serve the

Cure. But that King redressed that Evil by a good Law, whereby he ordained, That in every Licence of Appropriation made in Chancery, it should be exprestly contained, That the Diocesan of the Place should provide a convenient Sum of Money, yearly to be paid out of the Fruits, to-wards the Sustenance of the Poor of that Parish, and that the Vicar should be well and sufficiently endowed. 15 R. 2. cap. 6. Touching the first Institution, and other Things worth the Learning about Appropriations, read Plowd. in Grendon's Case, fol. 496. b. & feq. As also Termes de Ley verbo Appropriation. To an Appropriation, after the Licence obtained of the King in Chancery, the Consent of the Diocesan, and the Patron and Incumbent are necessary, if the Church be sull; but if It be void, the Diocesan and Patron may conclude it. Plowd. ubi supra. To dissolve an Appropriation, it is enough to present a Clerk to the Bishop, and he to institute and indust him : For that once done, the Benefice returns to the former Nature. Fitz. Nat. Brev. fol. 35. & Co. l. 7. fol. 13. See the Methods of Appropriation, and the fatal Abuse of thus robbing Church and Clergy, and the landable Ways and Means of restoring Impropriations to the better Maintenance of Parish Priests, &c. discoursed at large, in Mr. Kennet's Paroch. Approver, Approbator, Cometh of the French Approver, Approbare; It fignifies one that confessing Felony of himself, appealeth or accuse than other, one or more to be guilty of the same; and he is called so, because he must prove that which he hath alledged in his Appeals. Staundf. Pl. Cor. fol. 142. And that Proof is by Battle, or by the Country, at his Election that is appealed. The Form of this Accusation you may in Part gather by Crom. Just. of Peace, fol. 250, & 351, That it is done before the Coroner, either assigned unto the Felon by the Court, to take and record what he saith, or else called by the Felon himself, and required for the good of the Prince and Common-wealth, to record that which he saith, &c. Archidescon, Archilevita, Archidiaconus. In the Primitive Church, the Archdeacon was employ'd by the Bishop in more scrvile Duties of collecting and distributing Alms and Offerings, and seems to have been subservient to the Arch-Presbyters, the Urban or Rural Deans of Christianity, to whom they were originally as much inferior, as their Order of Deacon was to that of Priests: Till by the Advantages of a Personal Attendance on the Bishop, and a Delegation to examine and re-port some Causes, and Commission to visit some remoter Parts of the Diocese, they became in Effect Eyes to the Overseers of the Church; and by degrees advanc'd into confiderable Dignity and Power. Lanfranc Archbishop of Canterbury, was the first Prelate in England, who instituted an Archdeacon in his own Diocesc about the Year 1075, when upon the Death of Godwyn, the Suffragan Bishop of St. Martin's, he would not confectate any other assisting Bishop, but ordain'd Valerius Archdeacon, to execute the like Jurisdiction tion within his Diocese of Canterbury. Which Example gave Occasion to the Establishing of Archdeacons, and Allotting their Districts in every other Diocese, within few Years after Lanfranc.

and most ancient Consistory that belongeth to the Archbishop of Canterbury, for the debating of Spiritual Causes; and is so call'd from the Church in London, dedicated to the Blessed Virgin, commonly called the Church of St. Mary le Bow, where it is held; and the Church is named

AR AR

Bow-Church, from the Fashion of the Steeple, whose top raised of Stone Pillars, is builded Archwise, like so many bent Bows. The Judge of this Court, is termed The Dean of the Arches, or The Official of the Arches Court. Dean of the Arches, because with this Officiality, is commonly joined a peculiar Jurisdiction of thirteen Parishes in London, termed a Deanery, being exempt from the Authority of the Bishop of London, and belonging to the Archbishop of Canterbury; of which the Parish of Bow is one, and the Principal, because the Court is there kept. Others conceive that he was first called Dean of the Arches, because the Official to the Archbishop being many Times employ'd abroad in Embassies for the King and Realm; the Dean of the Arches was his Substitute in this Court, and by that Means the Names became confounded. The Jurisdiction of this Judge is ordinary, and extendeth it self through the whole Province of Canterbury. So that upon any Appeal made, he forthwith, and without any further Examination of the Cause, sends out his Citation to the Appellee, and his Inhibition to the Judge from whom the Appeal was made. Of this you may read more in Hist. de Antiquit. Eccles. Britan. And 4 Part, Inft. fol. 337.

Arpen, or Arpent, (Fr.) an Acre or Furlong of Ground: The most ordinary one, called L'Arpent de France, is one hundred Perches square, after eighteen Foot to the Perch; some account it but half an Acre, This Word is often found in Domesday, Quatuor Arpenni vinea noviter plantata. Tit. Middlesex.—Septem acras terra & unum Arpentum que me contingebant per Eschaietam. Ex Reg. Priorat. de Wormsley, fol. 7. b. where Arpen seems to be some Quantity less than an Acre. Hence Arpentator is used for a Measurer of Lands.

Arraistic Peditum, the Arraying of Foot Soldiers. Pat. 1 Ed. 2. p. 1. m. 3.

Arrain or Arraign. (from the French Arranger, i. e. To fet a Thing in Order, or in its Place,) hath the same Signification in Law: For he is said to arraign a Writ of Novel Diffeisin, who prepares and fits it for Trial before the Justices of the Circuit. Old Nat. Br. fol. 109. Littleton (bag. 78.) useth the Word in the same Sense, viz. The Lessee arraigneth an Assis of Novel Disseis. To arraign the Assis is to cause the Tenant to be called, to make the Plaint, and to fet the Caufe in such Order, as the Tenant may be forced to answer thereto. Coke on Littl. fol. 262. b. Also a Prisoner is said to be arraigned, when he is indicted and brought forth to his Trial. Arraigned within the Verge upon Murder. Staunds. Pl. Cor. fol. 150. The Manner of this Arraignment you may read in Sir Thomas Smith de Rep. Angl. lib. 2. cap. 23. — The Learned Spelman is of Opinion it should be written Arrame, from Arramare, and that from the old French Arramir, i. e. Jurare, promittere, foleniniter profiteri. But this must be a Mistake: For in the Register we find no such viz. To call a Man to answer in Form of Law. And this comes from the barbarous Lat. Adrationare. i. e. Placitare: So that when a Criminal is arraigned, 'tis ponere eum ad rationem.

Array. Arrayed in barbarous Latin is Arrai-Array. Arrayed in barbarous Latin is Arrai-atus, i. e. Well appointed or provided; and that comes from the old French Word Arraye, or Ar-roye. Thus we read in Thorn's Chron. Gentes sufficienter munitas & arraiatas : And in Knighton, Lib. 3. Rediit tota fortitudo, &c. distincta & bene arraiata. So that it signifies, in a particular Manner, Military Order; but now a Ranking or Setting forth a Jury of Men empanelled upon a Cause. 18 Hen. 6. cap. 14. Hence the Verb to Array a Panel. Anno 3 H. 5. cap. 5. and Old Nat. Br. 157. That is, To fet forth the Men empanelled one by another. The Array shall be quashed. Ibidem. By the Statute every Array in Assis ought to be made four Days before. Brook, Tit. Pannel. Numb. 10. To challenge the Array. Kithen, fol. 92. See Challenge. To lead and conduct Persons arm-

Budens (says Lambard Eirenarch. lib. 2. cap. 2. pag. 94) in his Greek Commentaries, thinks that the French Word Arrest, which with them (as we said) fignifies the Decree or Judgment of the Court, took Beginning from the Greek 27550. i. e. Placitum, as we may say the Pleasure of the Court, yet I helieve rather that we receive the same from the Normans Law, because we use it in the same Sense with them: For commonly with us an Arrest is taken for the Execution of the Commandment of some Court, or of some Officer of Justice: But howsoever the Name began, an Arrest is a certain Restraint of a Man's Person, depriving him of his own Will, and binding him to become obedient to the Will of the Law: Precepts and Writs of the Highest Courts of Law, do use to express it by two several Words, Capias and Attachies, to take or catch Hold of: And it feems that this Word is spread farther than France, for Gale, a German Writer, shews by his Trattate, De Arrestis Imperis, that it is used in the Imperial Treaties, in the same Signification. cap. 1. n. 1.

Mart, Affartum; In the Opinion of Manwood, Part 2. ca. 9. nu. 5. Of the Forest-Laws, comes from the French assartir, fignifying to make plain, Assartum est quod redactum est ad culturam, Fleta lib. 4. cap. 21. Item respondere: It is, saith the same Manwood, ca. 9. nu. 1. an Offence committed in the Forest, by pulling up by the Roots the Woods, that are Thickets and Covert for the Deer, and by making them as plain as arable Land. This is reputed the greatest Offence or Trespass, that can be done in the Forest to Vert or Venison, containing in it Waste, or more; for whereas Waste of the Forest, is but the felling and cutting down of the Coverts, which may grow up in Time again; an Asart is a plucking them up by the Roots, and utterly destroying them, that they can never grow again. And this is confirmed out of the Red Book in the Exchequer, in these Words, Affarta vero, occasiones nominantur, quando, &c. Foresta nemora vel dumeta, pascuis & latibulis ferarum opportuna succiduntur; quibus succists & ra-dicibus avulsis terra subvertitur & excolitur. And again, out of the Reg. To this also may Bratton be added, lib. 4. cap. 38. nu. 11. where he saith, That the Words Bessus efficitur assartum, signify as much as redactus in culturam. Of this you may read more in Cremp. Fur. fol. 203. And in Charta de Foresta, 9 H. 3. ca. 4. where the English Word is not written affart, but affert. And in Manwood, Part 1. p. 171.

Et quibusdam Satis qua sartaverunt homines ejusdem foresta, &c. Assart was also anciently used for a Parcel of Land assarta, as appears by a Charter of Roger Earl of Morti-mer, without Date, which is in the Custody of Mr. Thomas Bridgwater: Sciant, quod ego Rogerus de Mortuo marc Dedi Adi Pistori pro servitio suo decem acras terra super Mughedone inter pratum quod fuit Petri Budelli & viam qua vadit per medium Mughedone. The Word Assartum or Effartum, is by Spelman deriv'd from Exertum, as if Wood were thence pull'd or rooted up. derive it a sarriendo, from weeding or cleaning Fields. Skinner runs into more fanciful Conjectures, à Lat. Exarturare, i. e. artus seu ramos arboris descindere, arborem detruncare, vel si mavis à Lat. Exaltuare, i. e. saltum in agrum cultum transmutare. Mr. Somner is much more rational and happy, who thinks Exartum to be a Contraction of Exaratum; to which Opinion the learned Du Fresne inclines. Alii denique ab Exaro unde Exaratum, Ager exaratus, prascissus; & per contractionem Exartum, uti scribi passim in vetustioribus Chartis observare est. MIRES, From the French Affez, i. e. Satis. Beatt. lib. 5. tratt. 3. ca. 8. nu. 2. And altho this Word wear the Vizard of a Substantive, yet is it in Truth but an Adverb, and signifies Goods enough to discharge that Burthen, which is cast upon the Executor or Heir, in satisfying the Testator's or Ancestor's Debts and Legacies. See Bro. Tit. Assets per descent, that whosever insists upon Ascharge the Thing in Demand. The Author of the New Terms of Law, maketh two Sorts of Affects per descent, and Assets enter mayns: Assets; Assets per descent, and Assets enter mayns: Assets per descent is where a Man is bound in an Obligation, and dies seized of Land in Fee-simple, which descend to his Heir, then his Land shall be called Assets, that is, enoughor sufficient to pay the same Debt, and hy that Meansthe Heir shall be charged as far as the Lands fo to him descended will extend. But if he have alienated before the Obligation be put in Suit, he is discharged. Also when a Man seized of Lands in Tail, or in the Right of his Wise, aliens the same with Warranty, and hath in Value as much Lands in Feesimple, which descends to his Heir, who is also Heir in Tail, or Heir to the Woman; now if the Heir after the Decease of his Ancestor, bring a Writ of Formedon, or Sur cui in vita, for the Land fo alicnated; then he shall be barred, by Reason of the Warranty; and the Land so descended, which is as much in Value as that which was fold, and so thereby he hath received no Prejudice; therefore this Land is called Afets per defeet. 2. Affets enter mayns is when a Man indebted makes Executors, and leaves them futhcient to pay his Debts and Legacies; or some Commodity or Profit is come to them in Right of their Testator; this is called Affets in their Hands.

Islam, Assignare, has two Significations, one general, as to appoint a Deputy, or set over a Right unto another; in which Sense Britton saith (fol. 122.) This Word was first brought into Use for the Favour of Bastards, because they cannot pass under the Name of Heirs, therefore were and are comprised under the Name of Assignees. The other Signification is special, as to point at, or fet forth; so we may say to assign Errors, Old N. B. fol. 19. that is, to shew where the Error is comfol. 19. that is, to show where the Error is committed. To assign false Judgment, Id. sol. 17. that is, to declare how and where the Judgment is unjust. To assign a false Verdist. Id. sol. 112. And to assign a Perjusy. Ann. 9. R. 2. cap. 3. To assign the Cessor. Old Nat. Brev. sol. 1341. To show how the Plaintist had cessed or given over. To assign Waste, is to show wherein especially the Waste is committed. Reg. Orig. sol. 72. Assign in a general Signification is used 20 E. 1. and 11 H. 6. ca. 2. in these Words, Justices assigned to take Assizes. And the Substantive Assignment hath the same Signification, West. Symbol. par. 1. lib. 2. the same Signification, West. Symbol. par. 1. lib. 2. set. 496. As the Assignment of a Lease, is the setting over the Interest of the Lessee to another. In which Manner is used also the Word Assignee, assignatus, for one that is appointed or deputed by another, to do any Act, or perform any Business, or enjoy any Commodity. And such an Assignee may be either by Deed, or in Law: Assignee by Deed, is he that is appointed by a Person; as when a Lessee of a Term Assigns the same to another, he is his Assignee by Deed: An Assignee in Law, is he whom the Law so makes, without any Appointment of the Person. And of this, see Brast. lib. 4. tract. 5. cap. 1. Brit. cap. 95. The Reason why these Writs be called Assis, may be divers. First, because they settle the Possession, and so an outward Right in him that obtaineth by them. Secondly, they were originally executed at a certain Time and Place formerly appointed. For by the Norman Law, the Time and Place must be known 40 Days before the Justice sate upon them:

And by our Laws likewise there must be 15 Days of per totum, Britton, cap. 70. & feq. Reg. Orig. fol. Preparation, except they be tried in the standing

Courts of the King at Westminster, as appeareth by F. N. B. sol. 177. Lastly, They may be called Assistant, because they are tried most commonly by special Courts, set and appointed for that Purpose special Courts, set and appointed for that Purpose special Courts, set and appointed for the Purpose special Courts and Purpose special Courts a pose, as may well be proved, not only out of the Custumary of Normandy, but our Books also; which shew, that in ancient Times, Justices were appointed by special Commission to dispatch Controversies of Possession one or more, in this or that only County, as Occasions fell out, or Difscisins were offered, and that as well in Term-time as out of Term: Whereas, of later Days we see that all these Commissions of Assistes, of Eyre, of Oyer and Terminer, of Gaol-delivery, and of Nisserius, are dispatcht all at one Time, by two several Circuits in the Year, out of Term, and by such as have the greatest Sway of Justice, being all of them either the King's Ordinary Justices of his Benches, Barons of the Exchequer, Serjeants of the Law, and such like; concerning which, hear the Learned Lord Verulam in his Use of the Law, fol. 13. ad. 21. All the Counties of this Realm (says he) are divided into fix Circuits, and two Men learned in the Law are affigned by the King's Commission in every Circuit, who ride twice a Year thro' those Shires allotted to that Circuit; these we call Justices, or Judges of Assice, who have sive several Commissions, by which they sit. The have five several Commissions, by which they sit. The first is a Commission of Oyer and Terminer directed to them, and many others of the best Account in their Circuits. But in this Commission the Judges of the Affife are of the Quorum, so as without them, there can be no Proceedings. This Commission gives them Power to deal with Treafons, Murders, and all Manner of Felonies and Misdemeanors, and this is their largest Commission. The 2d is of Gaol-delivery, and that only to the Judges themselves, and the Judges of the Assise associate; by this Commission they are to deal with every Prisoner in Gaol, for what Offence soever he be there: The third Commission is directed to themselves only, and the Clerk of the Asse of the Asses of Asses; by which they are called fusives of Asses; and the Office of these Justices, is to do Right upon Writs called Asses, brought before them by such as are wrongfully thrust out of their Lands. The fourth Commission is to take Nisi prius, directed to none but the Judges themselves and their Clerks of Assigns, by which they are called Justices of Nisi prius. The fifth is a Commission of Peace in every County of their Circuit: And all the Justices of Peace, having no lawful Impediment, are bound to be present as the Assifes, to attend the Judges, as Occasion shall fall out; if any make Default, the Judges may set a Fine upon him at their Pleasure and Discretions: The Sherist of every Shire, is also to attend in Person, or by a sufficient Deputy, allowed by the Judges, who may fine him, if he fail, &c. See more in Sir Francis Bacon's Use of the Law, fol. 13 to 21. This excellent Constitution of the Judges Circuits and Affifes was begun by Hen. 2. anno 1176, though somewhat different from what they now are.

Milf, in the second Signification, according to Littleton, is used for a Jury; for (to use his own Example) it is set down in the Beginning of de vicineto, &c. videre tenementum illud, & nomina eorum imbreviari, & quod summoneat eos per bonas sammonitiones, quod sint coram Fusticiarils, & per parati inde sacre recognitionem, &c. This is (16 speak shorter) Metonymia essetti, for they are called the Assis, because they are summoned by Virtue of the Writ so called. And yet the Jury summoned the Writ so called. And yet the Jury summoned the Writ of Right, is likewise called the upon a Writ of Right, is likewise called the Affife; though it be not an Affife, but is so termed and xoncinos, or abusively. Affife in this Signification, is divided into Magnam, & Parvam, Glanv. lib. 2. cap. 6, 7, &c. & Brit. cap. 12. where it appeareth, wherein the Great Affize differeth from the Petit Assize. The former four Kinds of Assifes used in Actions only Possessory, are called Petit Affifes, in respect of the Grand Affifes For the Law of Fees is grounded upon two Rights; one of Possession, the other of Property. And as the Grand Affife serveth for the Right of Property; so the Petit Affife serveth for the Right of Profession. Horn's Mirror of Just lib. 2. cap. de Novel Dissission. Assiste in the third Signification, according to the same Littleton, is an Ordinance on Statute, as the Statute of Bread and Ale, made 51 H. 3. is termed The Affife of Bread and Ale, Afsifa Panis & Cervifia. Reg. Orig. fol. 279. The Affife of Clarendon, Affisa de Clarendon, whereby those that be accused of any heinous Crime, and not able to purge themselves by Fire and Water (perhaps Ordeal, Ordalium) but must abjure the Realm, had Liberty of 40 Days to stay, and try what Succour they could get of their Friends, towards their Sustenance in Exile. Of Assise, in this Signification, Glanvile speaks. Lib. 3. cap. 10. in fine. Generaliter verum est quod de quolibet placito quod in comitata deducitur & terminatur, misericordia qua inde procenit, vicecomiti debetur: Qua quanta sit, per nullam Assisam generalem determinandum est: And thus much touching Littleton's Division. But if we mark much touching Littleton's Division. But if we mark well the Writers of the Law, we shall find this Word Assignment diversly used, than he (Littleton) hath noted. For it is sometimes used for the Mcasure or Quantity it self, (and that per Metonymiam effetti) because it is the very Scantling described or commanded by the Ordinance; as we say, when Wheat, &c. is of such Price, then the Bread, &c. shall be of such Assis. This word is further taken for the whole Process in Court, up-on the Writ of Affife, or for some Part thereof, as the Issue or Verdict of the Jury: For Exama ple, Asses of Novel Dissessin, &c. thall not be taken, but in their Shires, and after this Manner, &c. And in this Signification Glanvile calleth it Magnam Assisam Domini Regis, que ex duodecim ad minus legalium hominum Sacramentis consistit, lib. 2. cap. 7. Bratt. useth it in like Sort, as Assisa cadit in trans-gressionem. Id. c. 30. & assissa cadit in perambulationem. Id. c. 31. num. 2. Fleta defineth an Asise in this Signification, thus, Asis in jure possession, est quadam recognitio duodecim hominum juratorum, per quam fustitiarii certiorantur de articulis in brevi con-tentis. And Assize also thus signifying, is said fometimes to pass, per modum assista, and sometimes in modum jurata: In manner of an Assize, when only the Dississin Question, is put to the Trial of the Twelve; in manner of a Jury, when any Exception is objected, to disable the Interest of the Diffeisee, and is put to be tried hy the Twelve, before the Assis can pass: As for Example, Quastio status, causa successionis, causa donationis, pactum sive conditio vel conventio, voluntas & dissimulatio, transactio vel quieta clamati, vel remissio, confirmatio sive consensus, propria usurpatio rei propria, disficultas judicii, justum Judicium, sinis, Chirographum, intrusio in rem alienam vel disseisna, si incontinenter rejiciatur, negligentia qua per transitum temporis excludit actionem. Item vertitur affifa. And note, That Affife in this Signification is taken four Ways. Fitz. Old Nat. Brev. fol. 105. The first is Affife at large, which is taken as well upon other Points, as upon the Diffeish, v. g. where an Infant bringeth an Affife, and the Deed of his Ancestor is pleaded, where-by he claimeth his Right, or founded his Title, then the Asses that is, the Jury shall enquire not only whether the Plaintist were diffeised or not by the Tenant, but also of these two Points, viz. Whether his Ancestor were of full Age, of good Memory, and out of Prison, when he made the Deed pleaded. Anther the Prison, when he made the Deed pleaded. Anther the Prison when he made the Deed pleaded. other Example out of Kitch. fol. 66. The Tenant pleaded a Foreign Release in Bar to an Assis, whereupon the Cause was adjourned: At the Day the Tenant maketh Default, therefore the Affife was taken at large, that is, not only whether the Plaintiff was diffeifed, but also whether there be any Foreign Release. A third Example you may read in Littleton, cap. Estates upon Condition. The second manner of Assis in Point of Assis, (Assis in modum Assis) which is, when the Tenant, as it were, setting Foot to Foot with the Demandant, without farther Circumstance, pleaded directly to the Writ, no Wrong, no Disseisin. The third Manner is, Assis out of the Point of Assis (Assis extra Assisam, vel in modum jurata,) viz. when the Tenant alledgeth some by Exceptiviz. when the Tenant alledgeth some by Exception, that must be tried by a Jury, before the principal Cause can proceed; as if he plead a Foreign Release, or Foreign Matter triable in a Foreign County. For in this Case, the Justices refer the Record to the Court of Common Pleas, for the Trial of the Foreign Plea, before the Disseis can come to be discussed. Of this Sort, read divers Examples in Brast. lib. 4. part. 1. cap. 34. En Britt. ca. 52. The Fourth and last Manner is, Assis of Right of Damages; and that is, when the Tenant confesset an Ousser, and refering it to a Demurrer in Law, whether it were rightly done or not, is adjudged to have done

Affife be handled or taken. And in this Signification Assis is general; as when the Justices go their several Circuits, every Couple with their Commission, to take all Assis twice in the Year, which is called the General Assies, for he that speaketh of any Thing done at that Time, and in that Place, will commonly say, It was done at the General Assiss. It may likewise be special in this Signification, (as if a Special Commission should be granted to certain Persons as in ancient Times they often were, Bratt. lib. 3. cap. 11. in fine) for taking an Assife upon one Disselin or two; any Thing done in the Court before them, a Man will say was done at such Special Assis. And in this Signification Glanvile useth it, Lib. 9. cap. 12. in these Words, Si contra Dominum suum, & non infra assisam, tunc distringitur ipse occupator, &c. And lib. 13. cap. 32. M. Skene, de verbor. Sig. Tit. Assis, saith, That in Scotland this Word hath five Significations; touching the Fifth, he hath these Words, An Assise is called a certain Number of Men, lawfully summoned, received, sworn, and admitted, to judge and discern in divers Civil Causes, &c. whereof there be two Kinds; one ordinarily in Use, which may be called a Little Assife, of the Number of thirteen or fifteen Persons; the other, a Great Assiste, consisting of twenty-five Persons, &c.

Allfisors, Assistant qui assisas condunt, aut taxationes imponunt, saith Spelman. In Scotland, according to Skene, they are the same with our Jurors, and their Oath is this:

We shall leil fuith fay, And na suith conceal, far na thing we may, So far as we are charg'd upon this Assise, Be God himself, and be our Part in Paradise. And as we will answer to God, upon The dreadful Day of Dome.

This word included any verbal Promise made upon Consideration, which the Civilians express by divers Words, according to the Nature of the Promise; calling it sometimes Pastum, sometimes Sponfionem, fometimes Promissionem, Pollicitationem, Constitutum. The Word is derived from the Latin Verb assumpsit, and bears the Sense of, He hath assumed upon, or undertaken.

Atrium, signifies a Court before a House, and sometimes a Church-yard.

Attache, Attachiare Cometh from the French attacher; that is, figere, neffere, alligare: In the Common Law, it signifies to take or apprehend by Commandment of a Writ or Precept; Lamb. in his Eirenarch lib. 1. c. 16. makes this Difference between an Arrest, and an Attachment, that Arrest proceedeth out of lower Courts, by Precept; and an Attachment out of higher Courts, by Precept or Writ; and that a Precept to arrest hath these formal Words, (Duci facias,) and a Writ of Attachment these Words, (Pracipimus tibi quod attachies talem & babeas eum coram nobis, &c.) Whereby it appears, That he which arresteth, carrieth (or ought to carry) the Party arrested to a Person of Higher Power to be disposed of forthwith; he that attacheth, keepeth the Party attached, and presents him in Court at the Day assigned. Yet we may take Notice, That an Attachment issued out of a Court-Baron, which is an Inferior Court. Kitchin, Attachment in Court-Baron, fol. 79. Another Difference there is, that an Arrest only lies upon the Body of a Man, but an Attachment chiefly upon his Goods: And this also makes it differ from a Capias, which lays hold only of a Body, whereas a Man may be attached by an hundred Sheep. Other Differences between a Capias and Attachment, and a Distress, may be these. First, an Attachment differs from a Capias; that in a Court Baron, a Man may be attached by his Goods, but a Capias shall not go out thence. Secondly, a Capias (be it the Grand Cape, or the Pe-tit Cape) taketh hold of immoveable Things, as Lands or Tenements, and properly belongs to Actions real, as may be gathered from their Forms, F. N. B. whereas Attachment hath Place rather rather in personal Actions. Bratt. lib. 4. tratt. 4. cap. 5. num. 5. See Skene, de verbor. Sign. Tit. Attachiamentum. In the next Place, an Attachment differs from a Distress. Kitch. fol. 78. holds, That the Process in a Court-Baron, is Summons, Attachment and Distress. Old. Nat. Brev. fol. 27. That the Process in a Quare Impedit, is Summons, Attachment, and one Distress. And fol. 28. speaking of the Writ Ne admittas, saith, The Process is one Prohibition, and upon that Attachment and Distress. And fol. 32. in a Writ of Indicavit, after the Attachment returned the Distress shall go out the Attachment returned, the Diffres shall go out of the Rolls of the Justices. Braston on the other Side. Lib. 5. trast. 3. cap. 4. num. 2. thinks, that Attachiamentum & magnum Cape, funt Districtiones; wherewith agrees Fleta, lib. 5. rap. 24. but with this Distinction, that Attachiamentum eft di-Arittio personalis, & Cape magnum distrittio realis. So that upon the whole Matter, there are but two Differences between an Attachment and a Distress, viz. That an Attachment reacheth not to Lands, as a Diffress doth; and a Diffress toucheth not the Body (being properly taken) as an Attachment doth. Yet are they divers Times confounded, as appears by the fore-mentioned Places; and Glanv. lib. 10. cap. 3. and Fleta, lib. 2. cap. 66. But to conclude; In common Acceptation of Law, an Attachment is an Apprehension of a Man by his Body, to bring him to answer the Action of the Plaintiff. A Diffress is the Taking Goods, for some real Cause, as Rent, &c. whereby to force him to Replevy, and so become Plaintist in an Action of Trespass against him that distrained him. There is also an Attachment out of Chancery, and may be had of Course upon Affidavit made of the Service of a Subpæna, and the Defendant's not appearing, or else it issues upon not performing some Order or Decree: And they are of two Sorts; one Simple, Decree: And they are of two Sorts; one Simple, which is before-mentioned, originally sent out for Apprehension of the Party: The other, after Return made by the Sherist, Quod Defendens non estimates in Balliva sua, with Proclamation made through the whole County, that the Party appear by a Day assigned, and that he be attached nevertheles, if he may be found. This second Kind hath an Assinity with the Canonists, (viis & modis) at which if the Party appear not, he is excommunicate; and with the Civilians, Viis modis, una cum intimatione; for if in the Chancery he come not in upon this Attachment, with Proclamation, a Writ of Rebellion issues forthwith. West. 2. Part, a Writ of Rebellion issues forthwith. West. 2. Part, Symboleog. Tit. Proceedings in Chancery.

As to the Word Attacher, to attach or take into Custody, the Learned Du Fresne supposes it derived from the old Gallic Tascu, Taschia, the Rent of Land or Tenement; from the Brittish Tase, Tribute; Taseyd, Collector of the Tribute, (whence our Tasque or imposed Duty, a Tasquer, or Day-Labourer, a Tasque-master, &c.) So as attacher was no more at first than to gather Rent, or collect Tribute, and upon Refusal, to take it by Force, as a Debt and Forfeiture, &c.

Attachiamenta bonozum, A Distress taken upon the Goods or Chattels of any, sued for perfonal Estate or Debt, by the legal Attachiatores or Bailiffs, as a Security to answer the Action. It was a Privilege granted to the Abbat and Convent of Ofeney, to have the Attachments of the Goods of their Tenants quit-claimed or released,

Attachment of Parbilege, Is by Virtue of a Man's Privilege, to call another into that Court whereunto himself belongeth, and in respect whereof he is privileged, to answer some Action. New Book of Entries, verb. Privilege, fol. 431.

There is also a Foreign Attachment, which is of a Foreigner's Goods or Money found in some Liberty or City, to satisfy some Creditor of his within such Liberty or City. And by the Custom of London, a Man may attach Money or Goods in the Hand of a Stranger, while he is within their Liberty. As if A. owes B. ten Pounds. B. may attach this ten Pounds in the Hands of C. to satisfy the country of the country of Castify the country of the country fy himself for the Debt due from A. Calthorp's

Rep. p. 66. There is also an Attachment of the Forest, which is one of the three Courts there held. Manwood, p. 90, & 99. The lower Court is called the Attachment; the Middle one, the Swainmote; the Highest, the Justice in Eyre's Seat. The Court of Attachment seemeth to be so called, because the Verderors of the Forest have therein no other Authority, but to receive the Attachments of Offenders against Vert and Venison, taken by the rest of the Officers, and to enroll them, that they may be presented and punished at the next Justice Seat. Manwood, Part 1. pag. 93. And this Attaching is by three Means; 1. By Goods and Chattels. 2. By the Body, Pledges and Mainprife. 3. By the Body only. This Court is kept every forty Days. See Crompton in his Court of the Forest. For the Diversity of Attachments, see Reg. Orig. verbo Attachments. tachiamentum, in Indice.

Attaint, Attineta, Is used for a Writ that lieth after Judgment, against a Jury, that hath given a false Verdist in any Court of Record, be the Action real or personal, if the Debt or Damages amount to above the Sum of forty Shillings. For the Form and Use of it, see F.N. B. fol. 105. and the New Eook of Entries, fol. 84. Col. 1. The Rea-fon why it is so called, scemeth to be, because the Party that sueth it out, endeavoureth thereby to stain the Jury with Perjury, by whose Ver-dict he is grieved, whose Punishment by the Common Law consisteth in these Particulars: 1. Quod amittat liberam Legem in perpetuum, He shall never be received as Witness, or admitted a Juror, &c. 2. Quod forisfaciat omnia bona sua & catalla. 3. Quod terra & tenementa in manus Domini Regis capiantur. 4. Quod uxores & liberi extra domus suas ejicerentur.
5. Quod domus sua prosternentur.
6. Quod arbores sua prosternentur.
7. Quod prata sua arentur.

Attindus, Is used in our Common Attainted, Law, particularly for fuch as are found Guilty of some Crime or Osfence, especially Felony or Treason: Howbeit a Man is said to be attainted of Disseisin. West. 1. cap. 24, & 26. an. 3 Ed. 1. and so the French use it, as, Estre attaint & vayneu en ascun case; that is, to be cast in any Cause. A Man is attainted by two Means; by Appearance, or by Process. Staunds. Pl. Cor. sol. 44. Attainder by Appearance, is by Confession, by Battle, or by Verdict. Id. fol. 122. Confession, whereof Attaint groweth, is double: One at the Bar before the Judges, when the Prisoner upon his Indiament read, being asked whether Guilty or Not guilty, answers, Guilty, never putting him-felf upon his Country; the other is, before the Coroner in Sanctuary, where he was in former Times upon his Confession, constrained to abjure the Realm; and therefore this Kind of Attaint was called Attainder by Abjuration. Id. fol. 182. Attainted by Battle, is, when the Party appealed by another, and chusing to try the Truth by Combat, rather than by Jury, is vanquished. Id. fol. 44. Attainder by Verditt, is, when the Prisoner at the Bar, answering to the Indictment, Not guilty, had an Enquest of Life and Death passing upon him, and is by their Verdict found Guilty. Id. fol. 108, & 192. Attainder by Process, otherwise called Attainder by Default, or Utlary, is, where a Party flieth, and is not found, until he have been five Times publickly called in the County, and at last Outlawed upon his Default, pronounced or returned Outlawed. 33. And Staundf. fol. 66. saith, a Man by our ancient Laws, was said to be convicted presently upon the Verdict (Guilty) but not to be attainted, till it appeared he was no Clerk; or being a Clerk, and demanded of his Ordinary, could not purge himself; whereby it appeareth, That Attainder is larger than Convittion, Conviction being only by the Jury: And Attainder is not before Judgment. Perkins, Grants, nu. 27, 29. Yet it appears by Staundford, fol. 9. That Conviction is fometimes called Attainder; for there he fays, The Verdict of the Jury does either acquit or attaint a Man: And so it is in Westm. 1. c. 14 and likewise in many ancient Writers. Et si quis aliter quam sic fecerit, & de boc convictus suerit & attaintus, ponatur in carcere. Du Fresne. Briton fol. 75. uses the Participle attaint in the Sense we say attainted unto. This ancient Law touching the Purgation and Conviction of Clerks, is altered by 23 Eliz. cap. 2. as you may read further in

How far the Tenure of Gavel-kind salves in such Case, we will not dispute, only set down what Tenants in that kind have among themselves as a Maxim, viz.

Attendant, Attendens, Signifies one that oweth a Duty or Service to another, or after a Sort dependeth on another. For Example; There is a Lord, Mesne, and Tenant; the Tenant holdeth of the Mesne by a Penny, the Mesne holdeth over by two Pence: The Mesne releaseth to the Tenant all the Right he hath in the Land, and the Tenant dieth; his Wife shall be endowed of the Land, and she shall be Attendant to the Heir of the third Part of the Penny, not of the third Part of the two Pence; for she shall be endowed of the best Possession of her Husband. And Kitchin, fol. 109. faith, That where the Wife is endowed by the Guardian, she shall be Attendant to the Guardian, and to the Heir at his full Age; with whom agrees Perkins in Dower, 424.

Attermining, — Also such as will purchase Attermining of their Debts, shall be sent into the Exchequer. Ordinatio de libertatibus perquirendis. Anno 27 Ed. 1. It comes from the French attermine, i. e. that hath a Time or Term granted for the Payment of a Debt. So in this Statute, it seems to fignify the Purchasing or Gaining a longer Time for Payment of a Debt. Atterminent querentes usq; in proximum Parliamentum. Westm. 2. cap 24.

Bittoiney, Atturnatus, Cometh of the French Word Tourner, vertere. Thence cometh the Par ticiple (tourne) versus, conversus, and the Substantive (tour) vie; as Chascun a son tour, Quilibet sua vice. It signifies in a legal Acceptation, one appointed by another Man to do any Thing in his stead, and is as much as Procurator or Syndicus in the Civil Law: West. Symb. Part. 1. lib. 2. sect. 559. defines them thus, Attornies be such Persons, as by the Consent, Commandment or Request of another, do take heed, see to and take upon them the Charge of other Men's Business in their Absence. And it seemeth that in ancient Time, those of Authority in Courts, had it in their Power, whether they would suffer Men to appear, or fue by any other than themselves; as it is evident by F. N. B. fol. 25. in the Writ Dedimus Potestatem de Atturnato faciendo, where it appears, that Men were forced to procure the Kings Writs, or Letters Patent, to appoint Attornies for them; but fince that, it is provided by feveral Statutes, that it should be lawful so to do without any fuch Matter, as 20 H. 3. cap. 10. 6 E. 1. cap. 8. 27 E. 1. Stat. 2. 12 E. 2. 1. 15 E. 2. cap. Unico, 7 R. 2. cap. 14. 7 H. 4. 13. 3 H. 5. 2. 15 H. 6. 7. & 17 H. 7. 2. Attorney, is either General or Special. Attorney General is he, that by general Authority is appointed to manage all our Affairs or Suits: As the Atterney General of the King, which is much as Procurator Casaris was in the Roman Empire. Attorney General of the Duke. Cromp. Furifd. 105. Attorney Special or Particular, is he that is imployed in one or more Causes particularly specified.
Attornies General be made after two Sorts, either by the King's Letters Patent, or by Appointment before Justices in Eyre in open Court. Glanville, lib. 11. cap. 1. Britton, cap. 126. There be also in respect of the divers Courts, Attornies at large, or Attornies Special, belonging to this or that Court only. The Name is borrowed of the that Court only. The Name is borrowed of the Normans, as appears by the Custumary, cap. 65. And the Word Attornati, or as some read it Turnati, is found in the same Signification, in the T. R. E. in Arcenefeld. lib. Doomsday. Title De statu regularium, cap. unico, sett. porro in fexto, where the Gloss saith, That Atturnati dicuntur Procuratores, apud acta constituti: Our old Latin Word for it, seems to be Responsalis Bract. Latin Word for it, icems to be Responsalis Brast. lib. 4. 31. Tib. 5. part. 2. cap. 8. And so it is in Scotland at this Day, but especially for the Desendant's Attorney. Skene de verb. signif. Attorney of the Court of Wards and Liveries, Atturnatus Regis in Curia Wardorum & Liberaturarum, was the third Officer in that Court; at his Admission into the Office, he took an Oath before the Master of the said Court, well and truly to serve the King, &c. But the Court of Wards and Liveries, being it self taken away by the Stat. 12 Car. 2. cap. 24. this Office is gone, and therefore we will fay no more of it.

Attorney of the Court of the Dutchy of Lancaster, Atturnatus Curia Ducatus Lancastrix, Is the second Officer in that Court, and seemeth for his Skill in Law, to be there placed as Affessor to the Chancellor of that Court, being for the most Part fome Honourable Person, and chosen rather for fome special Trust reposed in him, to deal be-tween the King and his Tenants, than for any great Learning; as was usual with Emperors of Rome, in the Choice of their Magistrates.

Attornment, Attornamentum, Signifies the Tenants Acknowledgment of a new Lord; as when one is Tenant for Life, and he in Reversion grants his Right to another, it is necessary that the Tenant for Life agree thereto, which is called Attornment; without which nothing passes by the Grants; for otherwise, he that buyeth any Lands or Tenements which are in the Occupation of a Third, cannot get the Possession. Yet see 27 H. 8. cap. 16. The Words used in Attornment, are set down by Littleton, lib. 3. cap. Attornment, 10, viz. I agree to the Grant made to you, &c. or, more usually, Sir, I attorn to you by Force of the fame Grant, or, I become your Tenant, or else deliver unto the Grantee a Penny by way of Attornment: You may in the same Place see divers other Cases, whereunto Attornment appertainest, and that it is the Transposing those Duties the vision for referaining them was requisite. Wherefore anno 4H. 4. ca. 18. it was ordained, That also is Voluntary or Compulsory, by the Writ termed, Per que servitia, Old. Nat. Brev. fol. 155. Norfolk and Suffolk. In what Cases at this Day ally, Attornment may be made to the Lord himself, Man may have an Attorney, and in what not, or to his Steward in Court. Kitchin, fol. 70. There is also Attornment in Deed, and Attornment in Law. Co. vol. 6. fo. 113. a Attornment in Law is an Act, which tho' it be no express Attornment, yet in Intendment of Law is all alone.

Audience Court, Curia Audientia Cantuariensis, Is a Court belonging to the Archbishop of Canterbury, of equal Authority with the Arches Court, though inferior both in Dignity and Antiquity: The Original of this Court was, because the Archbishop of Canterbury heard many Causes extrajudicially at Home in his own Palace, in which, before he would finally determine any Thing, he did usually commit them to be discust by certain Men learned in the Civil and Canon Laws, whom thereupon he termed his Auditors; and so in Time it grew to one special Man, who at this Day is called (Causarum negotiorumque audientia Cantuariensis auditor officialis.) And with this Office was joined heretofore the Chancery of the Archbishop, which medleth not with any Point of contentious Jurisdiction; that is, deciding of Causes between Party and Party, (except such as are ventilated pro forma only, as the Confirmation of Bishops Elections, or such like) but only of Office, and especially such as are Voluntaria furifdifficing, as the Granting the Custody of Spiritual-ties, during the Vacation of Bishopricks, Institutions to Benefices, Dispensing with Banes of Matrimony, &c. But this is now distinguished from the Audience. Of this Audience Court, you may read more in the Book De Antiquit. Ecclef. Brit. Hift. & 4 Inft. fol. 337.

Audiendo & terminando, Is a Writ, but more properly a Commission, directed to certain Per-sons, when any riotous Assembly, Insurrection, or heinous Missement or Trespass is committed against any Place, for the Appeasing and Punishment thereof; which you may read at large in

F. N. B. f. 110. See Oyer and Terminer.

Audita querela, Is a Writ that lieth against him, who having taken a Statute-Merchant, or a Recognisance, in the Nature of Statute-Staple, or a Judgment or Recognisance of another, and craving, or having obtained Execution of the same from the Mayor and Bailiffs, before whom it was entred, at the Complaint of the Party, who entred the fame, upon Suggestion of some just Cause, why Execution should not be granted; as a Release, or other Exception. This Writ is granted by the Lord Chancellor of England, upon View of the Exception suggested, to the Justices of either Bench, willing them. of either Bench, willing them to grant Summons to the Sheriff of the County where the Creditor is, for his Appearance at a certain Day before them. Old. Nat. Brev. fol. 66. & Fitz. Nat. Brev. fol. 102.

Andito, (Auditor) According to our Law, is in Officer of the King, or some other great Perton, which yearly, by examining the Accounts of all Under-Officers accountable, makes up a General Book; which shews the Difference between their Receipts and Charge, and their Allowances, commonly termed Allocationes : As namely, the Auditors of the Exchequer take the Accounts of those Receivers, who collect the Revenues of the Augmentation, as also of the Sheriffs, Escheators, Collectors and Customers, and fet them down, and perfect them; concerning which, see the Stat. 33 H. 8. eap. 33. & 4 Infl.

fol. 106.

Auditozs, Conventual, Collegiate, &c. The Religious had their Auditors, or stated Officers appointed to examine and pass the House-Accounts. Hence the Auditory, Audit-bouse, Audit-time, in Cathedral and Collegiate Bodies.

Audito2s of the Press or Impress, Are also Officers of the Exchequer, who take and make up the great Accounts of Ireland, Berwick, the Mint, and of any Money impressed to any Man for the King's Service. See Prassice of the Exchequer, pag. $3.

Auditoz of the Receits, Is also an Officer of the Exchequer, that files the Tellers Bills, and makes an Entry of them, and gives the Lord Treasurer a Certificate of the Money received the Week bofore. He makes Debentures to every Teller, before they pay any Money, and taketh their Accounts: He keeps the Black Book of Receits, and the Treasurer's Key of the Treasury, and seeth every Teller's Money lock dup in the New Treasury.

Buditozes Is the same with Audientes, i. e. the Catachumens, or those who were newly instructed in the Mystery of the Christian Religion before they were admitted to Baptism; and Auditorium is the Place in the Church were they stood to learn and be instructed; and this it is which we now call Navis Ecclesia: And in the Primitive Times the Church was so strict in keeping the People together in that Place, that the Person who went from thence in the Time of Divine Service was excommunicated: It was fo declared by the fourth Council of Carthage, cap. 24. in these Words; Sacerdote verbum faciente in Ecclesia, qui egressus de auditorio fuerit, excommunicetur, Erc.

Avenage, (From the Latin Avena, Oats) Signifies a certain Quantity of Oats paid to a Landlord in lieu of some other Duties, or, as a Rent from the Tenant.

Whenoz, Avenarius, Is an Officer belonging to the King's Stables, and provides Oats for his Horses: He is mentioned 13 Car. 2. cap. 8. Ouvrage, velut Operagium) In Domesday, Grent-briesse. Rex Fordbam, sed tamen semper inveniat A-veram, vel 8 d. in Servitio Regis. That is a Day's Work of the Plough, or 8 d. 4 Inst. fol. 269.

Abcrage, (Averagium) By Mr. Skene's Opinion, is derived from the Word Averia, Cattle, and confequently fignifies Service, which the Tenant owes to the King or other Lord, by Horse or Ox, or by Carriage with either: For in ancient Charters of Privilege we find Opinion of Angelow Charters of Privilege we find, Quietum effe de Averagiis. Others probably derive it from the Fr. Ouvrage, i. e. opus. In the Register of the Abbey of Peterborough (in Bibl. Cotton) it is thus explained: Averagium, hoc est, quod Nativi deberent ex an-tiqua servitute ducere bladum annuatim per unum diem de Pikesgate apud Burgum, vel carriare turbas in Ma-riscos ad Maner. de Pikesgate, cum carrestis & equis suis. Anno 32 Hen. 8. cap. 4. and 1 Jac. cap. 32. It seemeth with us to have two Significations: First, Rastal. Tit. Exposition of Words, maketh Mention of the King's Averages, which I take to be the King's Carriages by Horse or Cart. Then, anno 32 H. 8. c. 14. and i fac. c. 32. it is used for a certain Contribution that Merchants and others, do make proportionably towards their Losfes, who have their Goods cast into the Sea, for the Safeguard of the Ship, or of the other Goods, and Lives of them in the Ship, in the Time of a Tempest. And this Contribution seemeth to be so called, because it is proportioned after the Rate of every Man's Average, or Goods carried. In this last Sense it is also used in the Statute 14 Car. 2. c. 27. Average, is also a little Duty, which those Merchants, who send Goods in another Man's Ship, do pay the Master of it for his Care, over and besides the Freight: For in the Bills of Lading, they usually say, — Paying so much Freight for the said Goods, with Primage and Average accustomed.

Average of Corn-Fields. In the North they ule this Word Average, for what in Kent they call the Gratten, in other Parts the Eddish, in Wales the Adlugh, in some Counties the Roughings; i. e. the Stubble or Remainder of Straw and Grass left in the Corn-Fields, after the Harvest is carried in,

Aberare. This Spelman interprets to carry Goods in a Waggon, or upon loaded Horses; a Duty required of some customary Tenants. But I question whether it did not sometime fignify to drive Averia, Cattle, to some Fair or Market. Omnes homines, (i. e. de Kyngston) debent ter averare ad Bristolium. Cartular. Glaston. MS. f. 4.

Aberrare, To the like Purposeges Domini metere, prata falcare, & carriare & averrare;—Cartular. ib. p. 39.

3ver-Cozn, A reserved Rent in Corn, paid to Religious Houses, by their Farmers or Tenants; which Mr. Somner deduces from the Fr. Ouvre, or Ouvrage; as if Corn drawn to the Lord's Granary by the working Cattle of the Tenant. But it feems more natural (like Averia from Avoir,) to have or receive such a Quantity of Corn. Nuppose the Custom owing to the Saxon Cyriac-Sceat, Church-Seed, a Measure of Corn brought to the Priest on St. Martin's Day, as an Oblation for the First-Fruits of the Earth. Under which Title the Religious had Corn-Rent paid yearly, as in an Inquisition of the Estate of the Abbey of Glassenbury, A. D. 1201. - Waltone reddit in gubulo af-Mura (quasi Overa from the Fr. Oeuvre and siso vib. xvi sol. ——de Church-Seed, vel dua sum-uvrage, velut Operagium) In Domesday, Grent-ingspe. That is a Day's ork of the Plough, or 8 d. 4 Inst. sol. 269. of Menftre, were to pay to the Abbot and Convent of St. Austins, their Aver-Corn in a certain and determined Measure, A. D. 1263.——Noverint universi, quod cum temporibus renovatis quidam Tenentes Abbatis Sancti Augustini, in manerio de Menstre, quoddam servitium annuum quod Aver-Corn vocatur, sub mensura minus certa, &c. Vid. Chron. W. Thorn. inter X Scriptores, col. 1912. Aver-Corn is also such Corn as by Custom is brought by the Tenants Carts or Carriages to the Lord's Granary or Barn.

aberdupois. See Avoirdupoiers. Aberia properly fignifies Oxen or Horses used for the Plough, but in a general Sense any Cattle. Homines per averia sua, viz. equos & boves, & Affros graviter distrinxit: W. Thorn in Ed. 2. 'Tis used in the same Sense in W. 2. cap. 88. Let the Sheriff deliver all the Cattle of the Debtor exceptis bobus & affris caruce. Sir Henry Spelman deduces the Word from the French Ouvre, Work, as if chiefly working Cattle. But more probably from Avoir, to have or posses; the Word sometimes including all Personal Estate, as Catalla did all Goods and Chattels. In Northumberland they now fay, a Falfe-aver, for a fluggish Horse, or lazy Beast. Yet Spelman rather derives it from the Lat. Affri or Affra, Country-Horses, and cites the said Northern Proyerb, A False Aver or Afer. I think the Word Heifer, to have been only a Cor-ruption of Aver, and to have fignified at first any Beast, though now restrained to the younger Kind.

Averrer, i. e. Testari, signifies commonly an Offer of the Defendant, to make good or justify an Exception pleaded in Abatement, or Bar of the Plaintiff's Action; and there is Reason, why it would rather fignify the Act, than the Offer of justifying the Exception. For, anno 34 Ed. 1. Stat. 2. And the Demandant will offer to aver by the Assize or Jury, &c. where to offer to avere, and to aver must needs differ: And again in the same Statute, and the Demandant will offer to aver by the County, &c. Augmentation, Augmentatio, Was the Name of a Court, erected 27 H. 8. as appeareth by the 27th Chap. of that Year's Parliament: And the End thereof was, That the King might be justly dealt with, touching the Profit of such Religious Houses, and their Lands, as were given to him by A& of Parliament the same Year, not Printed: For the dissolving of which Court, Authority was given to Queen Mary, by the Parliament held the first Year of her Reign, Seff. 2. cap. 10. which she afterward put in Execution by her Letters Patent. The Name of the Court sprung from hence, That the Revenues of the Crown were augmented so much by the Suppression of the said Houses, as the King reserved unto the Crown, and neither gave nor sold away to others. But the Office of Augmentation remains to this Day, wherein there are many Records of great Use and Importance.

Byoir du poins, It is true French, Avoir due poids, that is, Habere pondus, or justi esse ponderis. In Law it fignifies two Things: First, a Kind of Weight diverse from that which is called Troyweight, containing twelve Ounces to the Pound, whereas this containeth fixteen. And in this respect it may probably be conjectured, That it is so called, because it contains a greater Weight than the other. Secondly, it signifiest such Merchandise as are weighed by this Weight, and not by Troy-weight, as in the Statute of York, 9 F. 2. in Programs 22 F. 2. Ausculture. Because the reading of Prayers Auscultare. with a graceful Tone or Accent made some Impresfion on the Hearers, there was a Person appointed in the Monasteries to hear the Monks read, who directed them how and in what Manner they should do it, before they were admitted to read publickly in the Church before the People; and this was called auscultare, viz. to read or recite a Lesson: Quicunque lessurus vel cantaturus est aliquid in Monasterio, si necesse habeat, ab eo, (viz. cantore) priusquam incipiat, debet auscultare. Mail, (Ballium, plevina, manucaptio) Cometh of the French (bailler, tradere.) It is used in our Common Law properly for the Freeing or Setting at Liberty of one arrested or imprison'd upon Action, either Civil or Criminal, under Surety taken for his Appearance at a Day and Place certainly affigned. Brast. lib. 3. trast. 2. cap. 8. num. 8 & 9. The Reason why it is called Bail, is, because by this Means the Party restrained is delivered into the Hands of those that bind themselves for his Forth-coming: There is both Common and Special Bail; Common Bail, is in Actions of small Concernment; and is called Common, because any Sureties in that Case are taken: Whereas upon Causes of greater Weight, or apparent Specialty, Special Bail or Surety must be taken, as Subsidy-men at the least, and that to the Value. Manwood in his Forest-Laws, Part 1. p. 167. maketh a great Difference between Bail and Mainprize, saying, He that is mainprifed, is always said to be at large, and to go at his own Liberty out of Ward, after that he is let to Mainprise, until the Day of his Appearance, by Reason of the said Common Summons, or otherwise; but it is not so, where a Man is let to Bail, by four or two Men, by the Lord Chief Justice in Eyre of the Forest, until a certain Day; for there he is always accounted by the Law, to be in their Ward and Custody for the Time: And they may, if they will, keep him in Prison, or Ward during that Time. So that he who is so bailed, shall not be said by the Law to be at large, or at his own Liberty. See Lam. Eiren. lib. 3. cap. 2. pag. 330. Bail is also a certain Limit within the Forest, according as the Forest is discovered by the same of several Forest. vided into the particular Charges of several Foresters, Cromp. in the Oath of Bow-bearer, fol. 201.

See Mainprife, and 4 Inst. fol. 178.

Ballist, (Ballivus) Cometh from the French Word Baylist, that is Prasettus Provincia, and as the Name, so the Office it self in ancient Time was answerable to that of France and Normandy: For as in France there be several Parliaments, which being Courts, from which lies no Appeal, and within the Precincts of the several Parts of that Kingdom, that belong'd to each Parliament, there be feveral Provinces, unto which, within themselves, Justice is ministred by certain Officers called Bailiffs. So in England, we see many several Counties or Shires, within which Justice hath been ministred to the Inhabitants of. each County, by the Officer whom we call Sheriff or Viscount: The one of which Names descends from the Saxons, the other from the Normans. . And though I cannot expressly prove, that this Sheriff was ever called a Bailiff; yet it is propable, that might have been one of his Names, because the County is many Times called Balliva, a Bailiwick: As in Return of a Writ, where the Person is not arrested, he saith, Infranominatus A. B. non est inventus in Balliva mea. Kitchen Ret. Brev. f. 287. And again, in Braffon, lib. 3. traft. 2. cap. 33.

Mailment, Is a Delivery of Things, whether num. 3. and 5 Eliz. 23. and 14 E. 3. Stat. 1. c. 6.

And in the Sheriffs Oath the County is called his be delivered back to the Bailor; that is, to him Eailiwick. And, I think the Word Bailiff used that so delivered it; sometimes to the Use of the cap. 28. of Magna, Charta, comprise has well Bailee, that is of him to whom it is delivered;

Sheriffs as Bailiffs of Hundreds, whom the Saxons called Seyrmans. So 14 E. 3. Stat. 1. cap. 9. But as the Realm is divided into Counties, io every County is again divided into Hundreds, within which it is manifest, That formerly the King's Subjects had Justice ministred to them by the several Officers of every Hundred, which were called Bailiffs. See Lupanus de Magistrat. were called Bailiffs. See Lupanus de Magytrat. Francor. lib. 2. cap. Ballivi. And the Grand Cuftumary of Normandy, cap. 1. And the Truth hereof Bratton attests, lib. 3. traft. 2. cap. 34. num. 5. Where it appeareth, That Bailiffs of Hundreds might hold Plea of Appeal and Approvers. But since that Time, these Hundred-Courts, (certain Examples of the Appeal and Approvers.) Franchises excepted) are by the Statute of 14. E.3. Stat. 1. c. 9. dissolv'd in the County-Courts, as you read in County and Hundred. And the Bailiffs Name and Office is grown into fuch Contempt, that now they are only Officers to ferve Writs, and do such base Offices within their Liberties. Cromp. Just of Peace, sol. 49. a. Yet is the Name still in good Esteem otherwise, for the chief Magistrates in divers Towns be called Bailiffs; as in Ipswich, Yarmouth, Colchester, and other Places:

Influich, Iarmouth, Colchester, and other Places: And there be others, to whom the King gives the Custody of his Castles, which are called Bailiffs, as the Bailiff of Dover Castle.

These ordinary Bailiffs are of two Sorts; Bailiffs Errants, and Bailiffs of Franchises: Bailiffs Errants, Ballivi Itinerantes, be those which the Sheriff maketh and appointed to go hither and thither in the County to serve Writs. to summon thither in the County to serve Writs, to summon the County, Sessions, Assizes, and such like. Bailists of Franchies, Ballivi Franchesiarum aut Libertatum, be those that be appointed by every Lord within his Liberty, to do such Offices within his Precincts, as the Bailiff Errant doth at large in the County. Of these, read Sir Thomas Smith, De Rep. Angl. lib. 2. cap. 16. There be al-There be likewise Bailiffs of Husbandry, belonging to private Men of great Substance, who seem to be so called, because they dispose of the Under Saventa and American Saventa and Saventa Sav der-Servants, every Man to his Labour and Task, check them for misdoing their Business, gather the Profits to their Lord and Master, and deliver an Account for the same at the Year's End, or otherwise, as it shall be called for. The Office or Duty of a Bailiff of a Manor, or Houshold, (which in ancient Time seemeth to have been all one) Fleta well describeth, lib. 2. cap. 72, 73. This Word is also used in the Canon Law, cap. Dilecto de sent. Excom. in sexto, &c. 1 de panis in Clement. where the Glossographer saith, it is a French Word, fignifying as much as Prapositus; and Balliva and Ballivatus is used among our Interpreters of the Civil and Canon Law for Provincia, as Balliva here with us in England, is taken for a County or Shire. The Word Ballous is derived from Baal, i.e. Dominus; quia Balivi domi-nantur suis subditis, quasi eorum Magistri & Domini.

Bailiff of a Commote (in Wales Balivus Commoti) seems to have some Power of Judicature within the Precincts of the Commote. For thus we read in Stat. Wallia, Balivi autem Commotorum de catero teneant Commotos suos, & justiciam faciant & exerceant inter litigantes.

Hottoman verbo Bannus, in verbis Feudalibus, saith, That there is both Bannus and Bannum, and that they signify two divers Things. But in England we use this Word Bans, especially in publishing matrimonial Contracts in the Church, before Marriage, That if a Man can fay ought against the Intention of the Parties, either in respect of Kindred, Precontract, or otherwise, they may take their Exception in Time. And in the Cannon Law, Banne funt Proclamationes Sponsi & Sponsa, in Ecclesis sieri solita, cap. 27. Extra desponse. &c. Yct our Word Bauning seems to come from thence, being an Exclamation against, or Curling of another. Braston in one Place mentions Bannus Regis, for a Proclamation, or Silence made in Court by the Cryer, before the Meeting of Champions to a Combate, Lib. 3. trast. 2. cap. 21. Baneret, Bannerettus, Miles Vexillarius, in Mr. Skene's Opinion seemeth to be compounded of Banner and Rent. But Cambden in his Britannia, pag. 109. derives it from the German Bannerheyres. Sir Tho. Smith, lib. de Rep. Angl. cap. 18. saith, That a Baneret is a Knight made in the Field, with the Ceremony of cutting off the Point of his Standard, and making it as it were, a Banner: And accounted so honourable, that they are allowed to display their Arms in a Banner in the Field in the King's Army as Barons do. Others add, that Blood must be first drawn in the Field. These are Camden's Words, loco supra citato; Banneretti, cum Vassalorum nomen jam desterat, à Baronibus secundi erant; quibus inditum nomen a Vexillo: Concessum illis erat Militaris virtutis ergo quadrato Vexillo (perinde ac Barones) uti, unde Er Equites Vexillarii a nonnullis vocantur, Erc. Of creating a Knight Baneret, read Mr. Segar Norroy his Book, lib. 2. cap. 10. That they be next to Barons in Dignity, appears by the Statute, 14 R. 2. 11. and by 5 R. 2. Stat. 2. cap. 4. It may be conjectured, That they were anciently called by Summons to the Court of Parliament. And 13 R. 2. Stat. 2. cap. 1. we find, That a Baneret for praying a Pardon for a Murderer, contrary to the Statute, is subject to all one Punishment with a Baron. Henry the Seventh made divers Banerets upon the Cornish Commotion, Anno 1495. And William de la Pole was created a Banneret by Edward 3. by Letters Patent Anno regni fui 13. Memb. 13. French Word Banissement, and hath a Signification known to every Man: But there be two Kinds of Banishment in England; one voluntary, and upon Oath, whereof you may read Abjura-tion; the other upon Compulsion, for some Of-fence or Crime. As if a Lay-man succour him that having taken Sanctuary for an Offence, obstinately refuseth to abjure the Realm, he shall lose his Life and Member. If a Clerk do so, he shall be banished, Staunds. Pl. Cor. fol. 117. This Punishment is also of our modern Civilians called Bannimentum, which was anciently termed (deportatio) if it were perpetual, or (relegatio in infulam) if for a Time. Bank, Bancus, Cometh of the French Banque, i. e. Mensa. In our Common Law, it is most usually taken for a Seat or Beneh of Judgment; as Bank le Roy, the King's Bench; Bank de Common Pleas, the Bench of Common Pleas; Kitchin, fol. 102. called also in Latin Bancus Regis, & Bancus communium Placitorum, Cromp. Cambden also in his Brit. calls them Bancum Regium, & Bancum There is another Sort of Bank, Communem: which signifies a Place where a great Sum of Money is let out to Use, returned by Exchange, or otherwise disposed to Prosit. Bankers. 'The Usurers and mony'd Goldsmiths first got the Name of Bankers, in the Reign of Cb. 2. as by the Words of an Act of Parliament, Anno 22, 23 Car. 2. Whereas several Persons, being Goldsmiths, and others, by taking or borrowing great Sums of Money and lending out the same again, for extraordinary Hire and Pross, have gained and acquired to themselves the Reputation and Name of Bankers, &c.

Bankrupt, Quasi Bancus ruptus, or Bankrupt; because when the Bank or Stock is broken, or exhausted, the Owner is said to be a Bankrupt. The Composition of the French Word, I take to be this; Banque, that is, Menfa, and Route, that is, Vestigium, metaphorically taken for the Sign left in the Earth, of a Table once fattened into it, and now taken away. So that the Original feemeth to be drawn from those Roman Mensarii, which, as appeareth by many ancient Writers, had their Tabernas & Mensas in certain publick Places, where they fled, and deceived Men that had put them in Trust with their Money, they left but the Signs or Carcasses behind them. But Bankrupt with us signifies his or her Act, that having gotten other Mens Goods into his Hands, hideth himself in Places unknown, or in his own private House, not minding to restore to his Creditors what is due to them. In the Statute made 34 H. 8. c. 4. the French Word Banque Route fair, is literally translated to make Bankrupt. And by 1 Fac. c. 15. a Bankrupt is thus described: And by I fac. c. 15. a Bankrupt is thus described: All and every such Person using, or that soall use the Trade of Merchandise, by Way of Bargaining, Exchange, Bartery, Chevisance, or otherwise in Gross, or by seeking his, her, or their Trade of living, by Buying and Selling; and being a Subject born within this Realm, or any of the King's Dominions, or Denizen, who at any Time since the first Day of this present Parliament, or at any time hereaster shall depart the Realm, or begin to here his her or their Husse or Realm, or begin to keep his, her, or their House or Houses, or otherwise to absent him, or her self, or take Sanctuary, or suffer him or her self willingly to be arrested for any Debt or other Thing not grown or due, for Money delivered, Wares sold, or any other just or lawful Cause, or good Consideration or Purpose, or bath or will suffer him or her self to be outlawed, or yield him or her felf to Prison, or willingly or fraudulently hath, or shall procure him or her self to be arrested, or his, or her Goods, Money, or Chattels to be attached or sequestred, or depart from his or her Dwelling-house, or make, or cause to be made any fraudu-lent Grant, or Conveyance of his, her, or their Lands, Tenement, Goods or Chattels, to the Intent, or whereby his, her or their Creditors, being Subjects born, as aforesaid, shall, or may be defeated, or delayed for the Recovery of their just and due Debts; or being arrested for Debt, shall after his or her Arrest, lye in Prison six Months, or more, upon that Arrest, or any other Arrest or Detention in Prison for Debt, and lye in Prison six Months upon such Arrest or Detention, shall be accounted and adjudged a Bankrupt, to all Intents and Purposes. But the later Act, 14 Car. 2. cap. 23. hath provided, That no Person whatsoever, who shall adventure in the East-India, or Guinea Company, or in the Royal Fishery Trade, shall be esteemed a Morchant or Trader within any Statute of Bankrupt, or liable to the same. Baron, (Baro) Is a French Word, and hath divers Significations here in England. First, It is taken for a Degree of Nobility next unto a Viscount. Bract. lib. 1. cap. 8. num. 4. saith, Sunt & alii Proceres sub Rege, qui dicuntur Barones, quasi robor Belli. And in this Signification it is borrowed from other Nations, with whom Baronia be as much as Provincia. Petr. Belluga in specul. Princip. fol. 119. So that Barons seem to be such, as have the Government of Provinces, as their Fee holden of the King; fome having greater, fome lesser Authority within their Territories: Yet it may be probably thought, that of old Times here in England, they were called Barons that had such Signiories, as we call Court-Barons, as they be at this Day in France called Seigneurs, that have any such Manor or Lordship. And the Learned in Antiquities have affirmed, That soon after the Conquest, all such came to the Parliament, and sate as Peers in the Upper-House. But when by Experience it appeared, That the Parliament was two much thronged by fuch Multitudes, it was in the Reign of King John ordain'd, that none should come, but such as the King for their extraordinary Wisdom, Interest, or Quali-ty, thought good to call by Writ; which Writ also then ran (hac vice tantum.) But then Men seeing this Estate of Nobility to be but casual, and to depend meerly upon the Prince's Pleasure, they obtained of the King Letters Patent, to fettle fuch Honour upon them, and their Heirs Male, and these were intitled Barons by Patent, or Creation, whose Posterity be now by Inheritance, and true Descent of Nobility, those Barons that be called Lords of the Parliament, of whom the King may create at his Pleasure. Yet nevertheless, there are Barons by Writ, as well as by Letters Patent, and they may be discerned by their Titles; hecause the Barons by Writ are those that to the Title of Lord, have their own Surname annexed, whereas Barons by Letters Patent are BA BA Ragget by Tanyong and those he the ling them Barons by Tenures; and those be the Bishops of the Land; all which, by Virtue of Baronies annexed to their Bishopricks, have always had Place in the Upper-House of Parliament, and are termed Lords Spiritual. But in former Days all Men were called Barons: 'Tis certain the King's Tenants were so called: Si quis Baronum meorum, vel comitum, vel aliorum, qui de me tenuit, mortuus est. Mat. Paris. an. 1110. Du Fresne: Where tis plain that Barones and Primores have the same Signification.

Baron in the next Signification, is an Officer, as Barons of the Exchequer, of whom the Principal is called Lord Chief Baron (Capitalis Baro) and the three other (for so many there be) are his Assistants in Causes of Justice, between the King and his Subjects, touching Matters appertaining to the Exchequer and the King's Revenue. The Lord Chief Baron is the Chief Judge of the Court, and in Matter of Law, Information and Plca, answereth the Bar, and giveth Order for Judgment thereupon. He alone in the Term-Time sits upon Nisi prius, that come out of the King's Remembrancer's Office, or out of the Office of the Clerk of the Pleas, which cannot be dispatcht in the Mornings for want of Time. He taketh Recognizances for the King's Debts, for Appearances and observing of Orders. He taketh the Presentation of all Officers in Court under himself, and of the Mayor of Lordon, and sees the King's Remembrancer give them their Oaths: He taketh the Declaration of certain Receivers Accounts of the Lands of the late Augmentation made before him by the Auditors of the Shires; and gives two Parcel-makers Places by Virtue of his Office. The Second Baron, in the Absence of the Lord Chief Baron, answers the Bar in Matters aforesaid. He also taketh Recognizances for the King's Debts, Appearances and observing of Orders: He giveth yearly the Oath of the late Mayor and Escheator of London, for the true Account of the true Profits of his Office: He taketh a Declaration of certain Receivers Accounts. He also examineth the Letters and Sums of such Sheriffs foreign Accounts, as also the Accounts of Escheators and Collectors of Subfidies and Fifteenths, as are brought unto him by the Auditors of the Court. The Third Baron, in the Absence of the named by their Earonies. These Barons which other two, answereth the Bar in Matters afore-were first made by Writ, may now justly be cal- said, and taketh Recognizances as the Former. trances in their Books. He apposeth all Sheriffs upon their Summons in open Court: He informeth the Rest of the Barons of the Course of the Court in any Matters concerning the King's Pre-rogative: He likewife, as the other Barons, ta-keth the Declaration of certain Receivers Accounts, and examineth the Letters and Sums of such of the former Accountants as are brought unto him.

These Barons of the Exchequer are ancient Officers, for I find them named, Westm. 2. cap. It an. 13 E. I. and they be called Barons, because Barons of the Realm were wont to be employed in that Office. Fleta, lib. 2. cap. 24. Sir Tho. Smith saith of them, That their Office is to look to the Accounts of the Prince, and to that End they Accounts of the Prince, and to that End they have Auditors under them, as also to decide all Causes appertaining to the King's Profits, coming into the Exchequer by any Means. This is proved in Part by the Statutes of 20 E. 3. cap. 2. 27 E. 3. Stat. 2. cap. 18. 5 R. 2. Stat. 1. cap. 9, P. 12, P. 14 R. 2. 11. There are also Barons of the Cinque-Ports; 31 E. 2. 3. 2. 8 33 H. 8. eap. 10. which are two of every the seven Towns of Hastings, Winchelsea, Rye, Rumney, Hithe, Dover, Sandwich, that have Places in the Lower House of Parliament. Cromp. Jus. sol. 28.

Baron in the Third Signification, is used for the Husband in Relation to his Wife, which is so or-dinary in all Law Books written in French, that it would be vain to mention any one.

The Chief Magistrates of London were also called Barons, before they had a Lord Mayor, as will appear by the City-Scal, as also by several ancient Charters, particularly one of H. 3. in these Words, Henricus Rex. Sciatis nos concessisse & hac prasenti Charta nostra confirmasse Baronibus nostris de Civitate London, quod eligant sibi Mayor de seipsis singulis annis, &c. Sec Spelman's Gloss. at large upon this Word.

Barones regis were either of the King's Family, or those who held their Lands immediately of him.

Baronet, Baronettus, Is a Dignity or Degree of Honour, and hath Precedency before Banerets, Knights of the Bath, and Knights Batchelors, excepting only such Banerets as are made sub Vexillis Regiis in aperto Bello, & ipso Rege personaliter prasente. This Order was erected by King James, 1611. as may appear in Rot. Part. 10. Jac. Par 10. m. 8. & 14 Jac. Part. 2. m. 24. with an Habendum fibi & Haredibus masculis. Therefore we may believe, that where the Word Baronets is mentioned in our Old Statutes, and ancient Authors, it is Mi-flaken for Banerets. Inft. fol. 667. And Selden's Titles of Honour, fol. 736.

Baroni, (Baronia, Baronagium,) Is that Honour that gives Title to a Baron, under which Notion that gives Title to a Baron, under which Notion are contained not only the Fees and Lands of Temporal Barons, but of Bishops, who have two Estates, one as they are Spiritual Men, by Reason of their Spiritual Revenues and Promotions, as was the Tribe of Levi among the Israelites, being sustained only by the First-Fruits and Tenths of the other Tribes. Josh. cap. 13. ver. 14. The other grew from the Bounty of our English Kings, whereby they have Baronies at the least, and by that are Lords of Parliament. In ancient Times thirteen Knights Fees and a Quarter made Times thirteen Knights Fees and a Quarter made up a Tenure per Baroniam, which amounted to 400 Marks per annum. This Barony (according to Bratt. lib. 2. cap. 34.) is a Right invisible, and therefore if an Inheritance be to be divided among coparceners, though some capital Messuages may be divided, yet, Si capitale Messuagium sit caput Comitatus, vel caput Baronia; he saith, They may not be parcelled. The Reason is, Ne sic caput per plures particulas dividatur, & plura Jura Comitatuum & Baroniarum deveniant ad nibilum, per quod deficiat regnum, quod ex Comitatibus & Baroniis dicitur effe constitutum. There are other Barons which bear that Title to this Day, but are no Barons of Parliament. Such were those constituted by Hugh Lupus Earl of Chester, in the County Palatine there; as the Baron of Malpas, the Baron of Kinderton, &c. The Manor of Bursord in the County of Salon was found by Inquisition cant. 40 Ed. 2. ty of Salop was found by Inquisition capt. 40 Ed. 3. teneri de Rege ad inveniendos 5 bonnines pro Exercitu Wallia, & per fervitium Baronix, and the Lord thereof (Sir Gilbert Cornwall) is called Baron of Bursord; but is no Baron of Parliament.

Barr, Barra, Cometh of the French (Barre) or Barriere, that is, Repagulum, Obex, Vettis. In the Legal Sense it denotes a peremptory Exception against a Demandor Plaint, and is by the Author of the Terms of the Law said to be such a Plea, as is sufficient to destroy the Action of the Plaintiff for ever: And is divided into a Barr to common Intendment, and a Barr Special, A Barr common Intendment, and a Barr special, A Barr to common Intendment, is an Ordinary or General Barr that ordinarily disableth the Declaration or Plea of the Plaintiff. A Barr Special, is that which is more than Ordinary, and falleth out in the Case in Hand, upon some Special Circumstance of the Fact. Plow. Com. Colthirst's Case, fol. 26. a.b. As for Example, Au Executor being sued for his Testator's Debt, pleaded, That he had no Goods lest in his Hands at the Day the Writ was taken out against him: This is a good Writ was taken out against him: This is a good Barr to common Intendment, or (prima facie). But yet the Case may so fall out, that more Goods might fall to his Hands since that Time;

which if the Plaintiff can thew by way of Replication, then except he have a more especial Plea or Barr to be alledged, he is to be condemned in the Action. See also Plow in casu supra citate fol. 28. and Bro. Tit. Barr, num. 101. and Kitchin,

fol. 215.

Barr also in the same Signification, is divided into Barr Material, and Barr at large. Kitchin, fol. 68. A Barr Material, and Barr at large. Kitchin, fol. 68. A Barr Material, as it seemeth, may be otherwise called a Barr Special: As when one in Stop of the Plaintiff's Action, pleadeth some particular Matter, as a Descent from him that was the undoubted Owner, a Feofment made by the Ancestor of the Plaintiff, or such like. A Barrat large is, when the Tenant or Defendant, by way of Exception, doth not traverse the Plaintiff's Title, by Pleading Not guilty, nor confess or a-void it, but only making to himself a Title in his Barr. As if in an Assize of Novel Dissels, the Tenant plead a Feossment of a Stranger unto him. and gives but a Colour only to the Plaintiff; of this, there may be an Example found, 5 H. 7. fol. 29. Barr is also in regard of the Essex, divided into Barr perpetual, and Barr pro tempore: Perpetual is that, which overthroweth the Action for ever. Barr pro tempore is that, which is good for the Present, and may fail hereafter. See Brook, Tit. Barr, nu. 23. where he saith, That to plead Plene administravit is good, until it may appear, that more Goods came to the Executor's Hands afterwards: Which also holdeth for an Heir, that in an Action of his Ancestor's Debts, pleadeth Riens per descent. This Word is also us'd for a Material Barr, as the Place where Scricants at Law or Counfellors stand to plead Causes in Court, or Prisoners to answer to their Indiament; whence our Lawyers, who are called to the Bare or licensed to plead (in other Countries called Licentiati) are termed Barrasters. 24 Hen. 8. c. 24. Barrato, or Barreto, (Barellator, French Barateur, a Deceiver;) is a common Mover or Maintainer of Suits, Quarrels or Parts either in Courts, or elsewhere in the Country; and is himself never quiet, but at Brawl with one or other, Qui cum Terentiano Davo omnia perturbat: To this Effect you may read Lamb. Eiren, p. 342. who saith also, That Barator may seem to be derived from the Latin Barator, or Balatro, that is, a vile Knave, or Unthrist; and by a Metaphor a Spot in a Common-wealth. See the Statute of a Spot in a Common-wealth. See the Statute of Champerty, 33 Ed. 1. Stat. 2. cap. unico, and West. 1. c. 32. An. 3 E. 1. Mr. Skene de verb. signif. Tit. Barratry, saith, That Barrators be Symonists, so called of the Italian Word Barrataria, signifying Corruption or Bribery in a Judge, giving a false Sentence for Money; whom you may read more at large, as also Hortensius Cavalcanus in his Tratt. de Prachio Regio, p. 5. nu. 66. Barriers, Cometh of the French Word Barres, and fignificth with us that which the Frenchmen call feu de Barres, i.e. Palastra, a Martial Sport of Exercisc of Men armed, and fighting together with short Swords, within certain Ears or Lists, whereby they are separated from the Spectators: It is well grown out of Use here in England.

Warrow, A large Hillock or Mount of Earth, raised or east up in many, especially the Western Parts of England, which may seem to have been a Mark of the Roman Tumuli, or Sepulchres of the Dead. From the Saxon Boerg, a raised heap of Earth: Or rather from Bearu, Beora, which was commonly taken for a Grove or Toft of Trees on the Top of a Hill. See Mr. Kennet's Glossary to Paroch. Antiq. in the Word Barrow.

Barter, May probably be derived from the French Barater, Circumv. nire. It signification our Books, Exchange of Wares for Wares. An. 1 R. 3. cap. 9. And so the Substantive Bartry, 13 Eliz. cap. 7. The Reason may be, because they that chop and change in this Manner, do endeavour for the most Part, one to over-reach and circumvent the other.

Batton, Is a Term used in Devenshire, and other Parts, for the Demesne Lands of a Manor; sometimes for the Manor-House it self; and in some Places for Out-houses and Fold-Yards. In the Stat. 2. and 3 E. 6. cap. 12. Barton Lands and Demesne Lands, are used as Synonyma's. See

Bas Chevaliers, which in all Likelihood gave Name to the Academical Degree of Bachelors, as a Quality lower than that of Masters and Doctors. So in France they call the Suburbs the basse Ville, or the inferior Town. See Mr. Kennet's Glossary to Paroch. Antiq. in Base Court, Is any inferior Court, that is not of Record, as the Court-Baron, &c. Of this read Kitchin, fol. 95, 96, &c.

Bale fee. Vide Bas Estate.

Bale Estate, Is in true French Bas Estat. fignifies that Estate which Base Tenants have in their Land. Now Base Tenants, be they (according to Lambard, in his Explication of Saxon Words, verb. Paganus,) which perform to their Lords Services in Villenage. The Author of the Terms of the Law, saith, That to hold in Fee Base, is to hold at the Will of the Lord. Kitchin, fol. 41. makes Base Tenure and Franck Tenure, to be Contraries, and puts Copyholders in the Number of Base Tenants; whence it may probably be conjectured, that every Base Tenant holdeth at the Will of the Lord, but yet that there is a Difference between a Base Estate, and Villenage; which Fitzh. in his Nat. Brev. fol. 12. scemeth to intermingle. For to hold in Villenage, is to do all that the Lord will command. So that a Copyholder hath but a Base Estate; not holding by do-ing every Commandment of his Lord, he cannot be said to hold in Villenage. And I will not undertake to determine, whether Copyholders by Custom, and Continuance of Time, have shaken off that extream Servitude, wherein they were at first created, altho' Fitz. loco citato, saith, Tenure by Copy hath grown but of late Years.

Bestard, Bastardus, From the British Bastard, that is Nothus or Spurius; Is one that is born of any Woman not married; so that his Father is not known by Order of Law, and therefore is called Filius Populi, the Child of the People.

Cui pater est populus, pater est sibi nullus & omnis: Cui pater est populus, non habet ipse patrem.

The Learned Spelman very rationally derives the opprobrious Name of Bastard, from the Norman bar, and Saxon Steort, Rise or Original; as a Person of a base and vile Extract. The like Termination and Sense remain in Upstart, a Fellow of a new and late Rise. Such Bastard cannot inherit Land, as Heir to his Father, nor can any but the Heir of his Body take Land as his Heir. Littleton, self. 401. If a Child be begotten by him that marries the Mother after the Child's Birth, yet it is in the Judgment of Law a Bastard, tho the Church holds it legitimate. Stat. 20 H. 3. 9. and 1 H. 6. 3. Co. on Lit. 244. If a Man take a Wise who is great with Child by another, who was not her Husband; yet the Child, tho born but one Day after the Marriage, shall be Heir to the Husband. So if one marry a Woman, and never bed her, but die before Night, and she have a Child after, yet it seems he shall be accounted his Child, and legitimate. See the English Lawyer, 117. If a Man or Woman marry a second Wise or Husband, the first Living, and by that second have Issue, such listue is a Bastard. 39 E. 3. 14. 7 H. 4. 49. 18 E. 4. 26. Bastardy, (Barstardia) Cometh of the French Bastaro, (Barstardia) Cometh of the French Word Bastard, and signifies a Defect of Birth, objected to one begotten out of Wedlock. Brast. lib. 5. cap. 19. How Bastardy is to be proved, or enquired into, if it be pleaded; see Rastal's Entries, Tit. Bastardy, 104. and Kitchin, fol. 64. who mentions Barstardy Special, and Bastardy General: Bastardy General is a Certificate from the Bishop of the Diocese to the King's Justices, after just Enquiry made, that the Party enquired of is a Bastard, or not a Bastard, upon some Queof is a Baftard, or not a Baftard, upon some Que-ficen of Inheritance. Baftardy Special is a Suit commenced in the King's Court, against him that calleth another Baftard; so termed, because Ba-ftardy is the principal and Special Case in Trial, and no Inheritance contended for. And by this it appeareth, that in both these Significations Bastardy is rather taken for Examination or Trial, whether a Man's Birth be legitimate or not, than for Bastardy it self. See Bro. Tit. Bastardy, n. 29. and Dr. Ridly's Book pag. 203, 204.

Baston, Is a French Word signifying a Staff or Club, and by the Statutes of our Realm, denotes one of the Wardens of the Flee's Servants or Officers, that attendeth the King's Court with a painted Staff, for the taking into Custody such as are committed by the Court; and so it is used in I. R. 2. 12. 5 Eliz. cap. 23. See Trayle Baston, and Tipstaff.

Battery, (from the French Batre, to strike, or the Saxon Batte, a Club,) is a violent Striking or Beating any Man; for which, in regard it tends to the Breach of the Peace, the Party injur'd may either indict the other at the Sessions, or have his Action of Trespass of Assault and Battery against him, and recover what the Jury will give him; which Action will lie as well before as after the Indiament. But if the Plaintiff made the first Assault, the Defendant shall be quit, and the Plaintiff shall be amerced to the King for his salse Suit. vulgarly the Boson of a Ship. It is a very frivolous Conjecture of Dr. Skinner, -- Nescio an nofrum Boat ortum sit a Teutonico Bott, Nuncius, q. d. Cymba internuntia classis. It is more certain the Latin Batus, Hisp. Batel, Ital. Batello, came from the Saxon Bat. and that from the old Brit. Bad, which in present Welsh and Irish is a Boat. Hence a Bottom, which is still a common Word for a marine Vessel: Whence Bottomry, when the Master of a Ship borrows Money upon the Credit of his Bottom.

Meneficium was an Estate in Land at first granted for Life; and it was called Beneficium, because it was held ex mero Beneficio of the Donor. These Tenants were bound to swear Fealty to the Donor, and to serve him in the Wars: They were only Usufructuaries at first, and no more; and most commonly such Estates were given to military Men, that they might be more firm-ly bound to perform Military Services. At length, by the Consent of the Donor or his Heirs, these Estates were continued to the Posterity of the Donce, subject to the same Services as before. And those which were given by Kings, were called Regalia Beneficia. But sometimes such Benefices were given to Bishops and Abbots, subject also to the like Services, viz. to provide Men to serve in the Wars; and when they, as well as the Laity, had obtained a Property in these Lands, they were called Regalia, which upon the Death of a Bishop returned to the King till another was chosen. Thus we read in Randulphus de Diceto, Anno 1093. viz. That W. 2. commanded that the City of Canterbury, which Archbishop Lanfranck held of him in Beneficio, and that the Abbey of St. Albans, which was enjoyed by him and his Predecessors, should for the Future be held by Archbishop Anselme in Alodium Ecclesia Cantuaria perpetuo jure. And thus began Feodatary Estates, which we now call Fee-simple.

Beria, Berra, Berre, Berry. Most of our Glof-fographers in the Names of Places, have con-founded the Termination of Berie, with that of Bury, and Borough, as if the Appellative of anci-ent Towns. Whereas the true Sense of the mention'd by Mat. Parif. fub. an. 1174 is not to be taken for the Town, but for the adjoining Plain. To these and other his Remarks on that Word, may be added, That many flat and wide Meads, and other open Grounds, are still called by the Name of Beries, and Berie-fields. So the spacious Mead between Oxford and Istey, was in the Reign of King Athelstan called Bery. B. Twine, MS. c. 2. pag. 253. As now the largest Pasture-Ground in Quarendon, Com. Buck. is known by the Name Bey-Field. And fuch indeed were the Berie Meadows, which the Sir Henry Spelman interprets to be the Demesne-Meadows, or Manor-Meadows, yet were they truly any flat open Meadows, that lay adjoining to any Vill or Firm. The same with Berras, in that Plea between the Bishop and Prior of Carlisle, 18 E. 1. & quod Rex in foresta sua pradicta, (scil. de Inglewood) potest Villas adisticare, Ecclesias construere, Borras assartare, & Ecclesias illas cum decimis terrarum illarum pro voluntate sua cui-cunque voluerit conferre; where berras assartare, must be to assart or plough up the plain open Heaths, or Downs. Hence the Termination of many Places, situate in a more open Campagne; as Mixberie, Cornberie, &c.

Busamp, Bigamia, Signifies a double Marriage, being a compound Greek Word; it is used in Common Law, for an Impediment that hindresh a Man to be a Clerk, by reason he hath been twice married, 4 E. 1. 5. which seems to be grounded upon the Words of St. Paul to Timothy, Epist. 1. c. 5. vers. 2. Oportet ergo Episcopum irreprebensibilem esse, & unius uxoris virum. The Canonists have founded their Doctrine upon this, That he that hath been twice married may not be a Clerk: that hath been twice married a Widow they reckon It is all one with an Obligation, faving that it is to have been twice married. Bloodwir, or Bloodwitt, Is a Compound from the Saxon Blod, Sanguis, and Wite, an old English Word fignifying Misericordia. It is often used in ancient Charters, and intends an Amerciament for Blood/bed. Skene de verbor. signif. writes Bluidveit. Which says he, is in English as much as Injuria, or Misericordia. It being as the Scotchmen call it, an Unlaw for Wrong or Injury, as is the Effusion of Blood. For he that hath Bloodwit granted him, hath free Liberty to take all Amerciaments of Courts for shedding of Blood. Fleta ciaments of Courts for shedding of Blood. Fleta saith, Quod signifi at quietantiam misericordia pro effusione Janguinis, lib. 1. cap. 47. Si aliqui pugnantes ad invicem in Rudbam, & extraxerint sanguinem, Prior habebit Bloodwit, i. c. Amerciamentum inde in Curia sua Ex Reg. Priorat. de Cockesford. Bolting, Is a Term of Art used in Grays-Inn, whereby they intend private arguing of Cases; the Manner of it is this, An Ancient and two Barrasters sit as Judges; three Students bring each a Case, out of which the Judges chuse one to be argued, which done, the Students first begin and argue, and after them the Barrasters. Bolting hath argue, and after them the Barranters. Boiling hath also a more common Acception, which Country Housewives say is the Sisting of the Meal or Flour thro' a Bag, to make it finer; which Bag they call a Bolter: And why may not the Law Term be drawn hence? Because the Bolting of Cases is the thorough listing and debating of em. It is inferior to Mooting, and may be derived from the Sax. Bolt, an House; because done privately in the House for Instruction. Bords, the Limits or extreme Parts of any Extent: As the Borders of a Country, and the Borderers, Inhabitants in those Parts; whence the Border of a Garment, and to Imborwhich we corrupt to Imbroider. old Bordarii, Bordmen, were rather so called from Sax. Bord, a House. The Bordarii often mentioned in the Domesday Inquisition, were distinct from the Servi and Villari, and seem to be those of a less servile Condition, who had a Bord, or Cottage, with a small Parcel of Land allowed to them, on Condition they should supply the Lord with Poultry and Eggs, and other small Provisions for his Bord, or Entertainment.

Bogoel, Lat. Bordellum. At first it fignified any small Cottage, which growing infamous for a licentious Ale-house, and the common Habitation of Prostitutes; thence by Degrees a Bordel, or by Metathesis a B200el; Brothel and Brothel-house came to signify a lewd Place, a Stews. From which Femme-bordelier, a common Whore. Hence in Chaucer, a Borl-man, Contraction of Brothelman, a loose idle Fellow; and Borel-folks, Drunkards, and Epicures, which the Scotch now call Buriel-Folk. Bozolode, The Firm, or Quantity of Food, or Provision, which the Bordarii, or Bord-men payed for their Bord-Lands. The old Scots had the Term of Burd, and Meet-Burd, for Victuals and Provisions; and Burden-Sack, for a Sack full of Provender. From whence probably comes our English Burden at first; only a Load of Meat

English Burden at first; only a Load of Meat and Drink: Which we seem still to retain in the Proverb, He has got his Burden, i. e. as much Drink as he can bear, or earry off. Bordlode was also a Service required of the Tenant to earry Timber out of the Woods of the Lord to his House.

Bord-Service is a Tenure of Bord-lands; by which some Lands in the Manor of Fulham, in Com. Middlefex, and elsewhere, are held of the Bishop of London, and the Tenants do now pay six Pence per Acre in Lieu of sinding Provisions anciently for their Lord's Board or Table.

Boly blitch, or Burgh-Brych. The Breach or Violation of Suretyship, or Pledge or mutual Fidelity among the Same

Britton, Was a famous Lawyer, that lived in the Days of King Edward the First, at whose Command, and by whose Authority, he Writ a Learned Book of the Law of this Realm: The Pence, where the Debt is forty Pounds and ten Shillings, where the Debt is 1001. and so upwards, in Suits of Money due upon Bond.

Mr. Guin, in his Preface, to his Reading, mentioneth, That this John Britton was Bishop of Hereford. Brocage, Is commonly taken for the Wages, reprets it a Wood. I have not elsewhere met with the Word, nor know I whence to derive it. (So. Blount). The Word did properly fignify a Thicket or Covert of Bushes, and Brush-wood, from the obsolete Lat. bruscia, brusca, terra brusco-fa, brocia; French broce, brocelle. Hence our brouce, or brouse of Wood, and brousing of Cattle.

Bioths, An Awl, or large packing Needle, carried as a necessary Implement to mend Sacks, Saddles, and other Horse-geer. From the French Broche, a Spit, which in some Parts of England is called a Broche. Whence to broach or pierce a Barrel: Lat. Brocha, Brochia, Gall. Broches Armouri Broccen, were sharp wooden Stakes, which, as us'd upon the Sea-banks in Romney-Marsh, are called Needles. It is true the Learned Spelman did conjecture the Word Brochia, or Brocha, to be a Sort of Can or Pitcher, to hold liquid Things, as Sacens to carry dry Things; as it is rendred in the following Word Brochia. But it seems much rather to fignify, as I have before explained it, an Awl, or a Needle. It was certainly an Iron Instrument, as in this Authority, —— Henricus de Havering tenet manerium de Morton, Com. Essex, per Serjantiam inveniendi unum bominem, cum uno equo, pret. x. s. en quatuor ferris equorum, en uno facco de corio, en una brochia ferrea. —— Anno 13 Ed. 1

Brochia, (From the French Broc, quod lagenam majorem aut Cantharum significat) A great Can or Pitcher. Braston, lib. 2. trast. t. c. 6. hath these Words, Si quis teneat per servitium inveniendi Domino Regi, certis locis & temporibus, unum bominem unum equum, & saccum cum brochia, pro aliqua necessitate vel utilitate exercitum suum contingente. By which it seems that he intends Saccus to carry dry, and Brochia liquid Things. See Saccus, and Brocha.

15,000rs. This may take its Derivation from the French Brodeur, and that of Bordure, Fimbria, the Edge or Hem of a Garment, which we yet call Border, and that because it is usually distin-

call Border, and that because it is usually distinguished from the Rest by some conceited or costily Work: He that worketh it, is known amongst us by the Name of an Embroiderer.

Broothalpeny, In some Copies Broad-half-peny, and in others Bordhal-peny. It signifies a small Toll by Custom paid to the Lord of the Town, for setting up of Tables, Booths, or Boards in Fairs or Markets: And those that were freed by the King's Charter of this Custom, had this Word put in their Letters Patent; by Reason whereof at this Day, the Freedom it self, for Brevity of Speech, is called Broad-balspeny. It seems to be derived of three Saxon Words, bret or bred, that is, a Board, and balve, that is in the behalf of, as is, a Board, and balve, that is in the behalf of, as we say in Larin (crisus rei gratia), and penning, a Toll, which in all makes a Toll in behalf of, or for a Board.

Brokers, (Broccatores, Broccarii & Auxionarti) are of two Sorts; the one an Exchange-Broker, whose Trade is to deal in Matters of Money and Merchandise between Englishmen and Stranger-Merchants, by drawing the Bargain to particulars, and the Parties to Conclusion; for which they have a Fee or Reward. These are called Broggers, Anno 10 R. 2. c. 1. and in Scotland Broccaris, that is (according to Skene) Mediators or Intercoffers in any Trans Stion. Patting, or Concarii, that is (according to Skene) Mediators or Intercessors in any Transaction, Paction, or Contract, as in Buying, Selling, or Contracts of Marriage. Broggers of Corn is used in a Proclamation of Queen Elizabeth for Badgers. Baker's Chron. fol. 4tt. He that would know what these Brokers were wont, and ought to be, let him read the Statute I Fac. cap. 2t. The other is the Pawn-Broker, who commonly keeps a Shop, and lets out Money to poor and necessitous People upon Pawns, and not without Extortion for the most out Money to poor and necessitious People upon Pawns, and not without Extortion for the most Part: These are more properly called Friperers or Pawn-takers, and are not of that Antiquity or Credit as the Former; nor does the said Statute allow them to be Brokers, though now commonly so called. The Original of the Word is Sax. viz. from Breacan, to break, and from thence comes Brocod, i. e. a Trader broken, or a Bankrupt, and that from Broc, which signifies Missortune, which is often the true Reason of a Man's breaking; so that Broker came from one who was a broken Trader by Missortune, and none but such were forder by Misfortune, and none but such were formerly admitted to that Employment, and they were to be Freemen of the City of London, and allowed and approved by the Lord Mayor and Aldermen for their Ability and Honesty, and they took an Oath to behave themselves faith-

Bull, (Bulla, Ital. Bolla) was a Gold Ornament or Jewel for Children, hollow within, and made in Fashion of a Heart, to hang about their Necks; but now it is most usually taken for a Brief or Mandate of the Pope, or Bishop of Rome, from the Lead or sometimes golden Scal affixed thereto; which Matthew Paris, Anno 1237, thus deseribes. In Bulla Domini Papa stat imago Pauli a dextris Crucis in medio Bullæ figurata, & Petri a si-nistris. The Word is often used in our Statutes, as 28 H. 8. c. 16. 1 & 2 Ph. & Mar. cap. 8. and 13 Eliz. cap. 2. Non solum sigillum significat impri-mens & impressum, sed ipsas etiam literas bullatas & interdum sibedulam seu bullam. andlemas day, (Sax. Candelmærre) The Feast of the Purification of the blessed Virgin Mary (2 Feb.) instituted in Memory and Honour, both of the Presentation of our blessed Lord, and the Purisication of the blessed Virgin in the Temple of Ferusalem, the fortieth Day after her happy Child-birth, performed according to the Law of Moses, Levit. 12. 6. It is called Candlemas, or a Majs of Candles, because, before Majs was said that Day, the Church blessed, that is, deputed or set apart for sacred Use, Candles for the whole Year, and made a Procession with hallowed Candles in the Hands of the Faithful, in Memory of the Divine Light, wherewith Christ illuminated the whole Church at his Presentation, when old Simeon stiled him, A Light to the Revelation of the Gentiles, and the Glory of his People Israel. St. Luke 2. 32. This Festival Day is no Day in Court, and is the Grand Day of Candlemas Term in the Inns of Court.

And this is divided into Cape Magnum, and Cape Partum, both which (as is before said in Attachment) take hold of Things immoveable, and seem to differ between themselves in these Points: First, Because Cape Magnum, or the Grand Cape, lieth before Appearance, and Cape Partum afterwards. Secondly, The Cape Magnum. Summoneth the Tenant to answer to the Default, and over to the Demandant. Cape Partum summoneth the Tenant to answer the Default only; and there-2. cap. 18. The Difference between the for the King, &c. The Difference between the Grand Cape and Petit Cape, (which in Effect or Confequence are alike) is that the Grand Cape is awarded upon the Defendant or Tenant's not appearing or demanding the View in such real Actions, where the original Writ does not mention the Parcels or Particulars demanded; and the Petit Cape after Appearance or View is granted. Capias, Is a Writ of two Sorts, one before Judgment, called Capias ad respondendum, in an Action Personal, where the Sheriff upon the first Writ of Distress in Personal Actions returns Nibil habet in ballica nostra, and the other is a Writ of Execution after Judgment, being of divers Kinds, viz. Capias ad satisfaciendum, Capias pro fine, Capias Utlagatum, Capias Utlagatum & Inquiras de bonis & catallis, &c.

Capias ad fatisfaciendum, Is a Writ of Execution after Judgment, lying where a Man re-covers in an Action perional, as for Debt or Daniages, or Detinue in the King's Court; and he against whom the Debt is recovered, and hatls no Lands nor Tenements, nor sufficient Goods, whereof the Debt may he levied. For in this Case, he that recovereth, shall have this Writ to the Sheriff, commanding him, that he take the Body of him, against whom the Debt is recovered, and he shall be put in Prison, until Satisfaction made.

Capitis conductos ad proficifcendum is an Original Writ, which lies by the Common Law against any Soldier that hath covenanted to ferve the King in his Wars, and appears not at the Time and Place appointed, directed to two of the King's Serjeants at Arms, to arrest and take him wherefoever he may be found, and to bring him

Capias Utlagatum is a Writ which lies against him who is outlawed upon any Action Perfonal or Criminal; by which the Sheriff apprehends the Party outlawed, for not appearing upon the Exigent, and keeps him in fafe Custody till the Day of Return, and then presents him to the Court, there farther to be ordered for his Con-

ter of Pardon, and appeared to the Action. At present, in the King's Bench, the Outhawry cannot be reversed, unless the Defendant appear in Person, and by a Present of Gloves to the Judges obtain their Favour to reverse it. And in the to remain till he had fued out the King's Char-Common Pleas the Defendant (not being an Executor or Administrator) is now to give good Bail (which he is allowed to do by Attorney) to an-iwer the Action, if the Debt or Damage demand-ed be 20 l. or above, and to pay the Plaintiff's Charges, before the Outlawry be reversed. And by a special Capias Utlagatum in the same Writ, the Sheriff is commanded, and may seize all the Defendant's Lands, Goods, and Chattels, for the Contempt to the King; and the Plaintiff may (after an Inquisition taken thereupon, and returned into the Exchequer) obtain a Leafe of the Lands extended, and a Grant of the Goods, whereby to compel the Defendant to appear; which, when he shall so do, and reverse the Outlewer are to be reflected to him. lawry, are to be restored to him. Capite, From Caput, the Head; and so Tenure in Capite, is to hold of the King, the Head of the Commonwealth. It is a Tenure that holds immediately of the King, as of his Crown, be it by Knights Service or Soccage, and not of any fici curtillum debet effe clausum estate simul & bye-Honour, Castle, or Manor; and for this it is called a Tenure, which holds merely of the King: For as the Crown is a Corporation, a Signiory in gross, so the King, who possesses the Crown, is in the Eye of the Law perpetually King, never in his Minority. F. N. B. fol. 5. Yet a Man may hold of the King, and not in Capite; that is, not immediately of the Crown in gross, but by Means of some Honour, Castle, or Manor belonging to the Crown: Of this Kitchin, fol 129. faith well, That a Man may hold of the King by Knight-Service, and not in Capite; because it may be he holds of some Honour by Knight-Service, that is in the King's Hands, by Descent from his Ancestors, and not immediately of the King, as of his Crown. And this Tenure in Capite is otherwise called, Tenure holding of the Person of the King. Dyer, fol. 44. Broke, Tit. Tenure, nu. 65, 99. But this Tenure is now abolished, and by 12 Car. 2. cap. 24. all turned into free and common Socage. The ancient Tenure in Capite was of two Sorts: The one Principal and General, which is of the King: as Capite Remi General, which is of the King; as Caput Regni, & Caput Generalissimum omnium Feodorum, the Fountain whence all Feuds and Tenures have their main Original: The other Special and Subaltern, which was of a particular Subject; as Caput Feudi, fen terra illius; so called, because he was the first, that created and granted that Feud or Land in such Manner of Tenure: Who was thereupon called Capitalis Dominus, & Caput terra illius; among the Feudists, Capitaneus Feudi illius.

Carucata, A Plough-land, Domesday, Mr. Agar. It is a certain Quantity of Land, by which the Subjects have been sometimes taxed; whereupon the Tribute levied upon a Carue of Land, was called Carugagium. Bratton, lib. 2. cap. 26. n. 8. & cap. 17. It may contain Houses, Mills, Pasture, Meadow, Wood, &c. Co. on Littl. sett. 119. It is sometimes used for a Cart-load, as Una carucata ligni in foresta nostra. Mon. Angl. 2 par. f. 311. Littleton cap. Tenure in Socage saith, That Soca idem est quod Caruca: Yet Stow in his Annals, pag. 271. makes me doubt, where he saith, The same King Henry took Caruage; that is to say, Two Marks of Silver of every Knight's Fee towards the Marriage of his Sister Makel Fee towards the Marriage of his Sister Ifabella to the Emperor, where Carnage cannot be taken for a Plough-Land, except there were some other further Division, whereby to raise of every Plough-land so much, and so consequently of every Knight's Fec, that is, of every 680 Acres, two Marks of Silver. Raftal, in his Exposition of Words, saith, That Caruage is to be quit, if the King shall tax all the Land by Carues; that is, a Privilege, whereby a Man is exempted from Caruage. Skene de verb. signif. verb. Carucata terra, deriveth it from the French Charrow (more truly Charrue) a Plough, and faith, That it contains as great a Portion of Land as may be tilled and laboured in a Year and a Day, with one Plough; which also is called Hilda, or Hida terra, a Word very frequently used in the Britain Laws. Lambard among his Precedents, towards the End of his Eireuarcha, translates carucatam terra, a Ploughland. The Word Carvo is mentioned in the Statute of Wards and Reliefs, made 28 E. I. and in Magna Charta, cap. 5. See Co. on Littl. fol. 69. a. See Mr. Kennet's Glossary, in voce Carucata.

Carucata Boum, A Team or Draught of Oxen, for drawing or ploughing, which in some Western Parts of England is still called a Plough of Oxen. Gilbert Basset, Founder of Burcester Priory, grants to it - Pasturam in mea Dominica pastura ad tres Carucatas Boum trahentium una cum bobus meis trabentibus. Paroch. Antiquit. p. 135. They are called Boves de caruca, in a Charter of Aubery de Vere, to the Abbey of Noteley. ibid. p. 155.

Casu consimul, Is a Writ of Entry granted where the Tenant by Curtesy, or Tenant for Term of Life, or for the Life of another, doth alien in Fee, or in Tail, or for Term of another's Life. And it hath the Name of this; for that the Clerks of the Chancery did, by their common Consent, frame it to the Likeness of the Writ, called In casu proviso, according to the Authority given them by the Stat. West. 2. cap. 24. which, as often as there chanceth any new Case, and yet not especially fitted by any Writ, licenseth them to frame a new Form answerable to the new Case, and as like some former Case; as they may. And this Writ is granted to him in the Reversion against the Party to whom the said Tenant so alienateth to his Prejudice, and in the Life-time of the said Tenant. The Form and Effect whereof, read more at large in F. N. B. fol. 206.

Catale, alias Chattelle, Cataka, Cometh from the Normans; for in the Eighty-seventh Chapter of the Grand Custumary, you shall find that all moveable Goods with them are called Chattels; the contrary whereof is Fief. ibid. which we call Fee. But as it is used in our Common Law, it comprehends not all Goods moveable and immoveable, but such as are in the Nature of Freehold. or Parcel thereof, as may be gathered out of Staundf. Prarog. cap. 16. And Anno I Eliz. cap. 2. Howbeit Kitchin, in his Chapter Catalla, fol. 32. faith, That ready Money is not accounted any Goods or Chattels, nor Hawks nor Hounds; the Reason for Hawks and Hounds he gives, is because they are Fere nature; but why Money is not, tho he set not down the Cause, yet it may be gathered to be, for that Money of it self is not of Worth, but as by Consent of Men for their easier Traffick, or Permutation of Things necessary for Life. It is reckoned a Thing rather consisting in Imagination, than in Deed. And here Note, That Chattels be either personal, or real: Personal may be so called in two Respects; one because they belong immediately to the Perfon of a Man; as a Bow, a Horse, &c. the other, for that being any way with-held injuriously from us, we have no Means to recover them but by personal Action: Chanes real be luch, as elther do not appertain to the Person, but to some other Thing by way of Dependency, as a Box

Challenge, Calumnia, Cometh of the French Word Chalenger, that is, Sibi afferere; and in a legal Sense signifies an Exception, taken either against Persons or Things: Persons, as in Assise to the Jurors, or any one or more of them; or in a Case of Felony, by a Prisoner at the Bar. Smith, de Rep. Angl. lib. 2. cap. 11. Britton, ca. 52. Baston, lib. 2. teast. 2. cap. 22. Against Things, as a Declaration. Old Nat. Brev. f. 76. Challenge made to the Jurors, is either made to the Array, or to the Polls: Challenge to the Array, is when the whole Number is excepted against as partially empanelled; Challenge to or by the Polls, is when some one or more are excepted against, not indiffent. Termes de la Ley. Challenge to the Inrors is also divided into Challenge Principal, and Challenge pur cause; that is, upon Cause or Reason. Challenge Principal, (otherwise by Staunds plac. Cor. sol. 157, 158. called Peremptory,) is that which the Law allows without Cause alledged, or farther Examination, Lamb. Eiren. lib. 4. cap. 14. as a Prisoner at the Bar, arraigned upon Felony, may peremptorily Challenge to the Number of twenty, one after another, of the Jury empan-nelled upon him, alledging no Cause but his own Dislike, and they shall be still put off, and new ta-ken in their Places. But in Case of High Trea-

Law was abridged by 25 H. 8. c. 3. And here observe, That there is some Difference between Challenge Principal, and Challenge Peremptory; Peremptory being used only in Matters Criminal, and alledged without other Cause than barely the Prisoner's Fancy. Staunds. pl. cor. fol. 124. But Principal, in Civil Actions for the most Part, and with affigning some such Cause of Exception, as being found true, the Law alloweth, without far-ther Scanning: For Example, If either Party say, That one of the Jurors is the Son, Brother, Cousin, or Tenant to the other, or espoused his Daughter; this Exception is good, and strong e-nough, if it be true, without farther Examination of the Party's Credit: And how far this Challenge upon Kindred reacheth, you have a notable Example in Plowden, in the Case of Vernon against Manors, fol. 425. Also in the Plea of the Death of a Man, and in every Action real, as every Action Personal, where the Debt or Damages amount to 40 Marks, it is a good Challenge to any Man, that he cannot dispend forty Shillings by the Year of Freehold. 11 H. 7. c. 21. The Ground of this Challenge you may see farther in Fleta, lib. 4. cap. 8. Challenge upon Reason or Cause, is when the Party doth alledge some such Exception against one or more of the Jurors, as is not forth-with sufficient upon Acknowledgment of the Truth thereof, but rather arbitrable and confiderable by the rest of the Jurors: As for Example, If the Son of a Juror have married or espoused the Daughter of the adverse Party. Termes de la Ley, verbo Challenge. This Challenge pur cause, seems by Kitchin, fol. 92. to be termed Challenge feems by Kitchin, fol. 92. to be termed Challenge for favor; or rather, Challenge for favor is said there to be one Species of Challenge for favor is said there to be one Species of Challenge for cause, where you may read what Challenges be commonly only accounted Principal, and what not. See the New Book of Entries, verbo Challenge, and the Old Nat. Brev. fol. 158, 159. That this Word Challenge is turned into Lat. by the Word Calumnia, appeareth by Brason, lib. 3. trast. 2. cap. 18. It lib. 4. trast. 3. cap. 6. So lib. 5. cap. 6. See farther Fleta, lib. 1. cap. 32. Co. on Lit. 156, 157, Oc. and Caranejum.

Onuphrius de interpret. voc. Eccles. It seemeth to be borrowed from the Feudists, who define the Word Camera thus: Camera est locus in quem thesaurus colligitur, vel con-clave in quo pecunia reservatur: Zasius de Feudis. par. 4. num. 7. And Peregrinus de jure Fisci, lib. 6. Tit. 3. saith, That Camerarius, vel Chamberlingus (quem Quastorem antiqui appellarunt) in rebus sisci primum locum tenet, quia Thesaurarius & custos est publica pecunia. There be two Officers of this Name in the King's Exchequer, who were wont to keep a Controulment of the Pells of Receit, and Exits, and certain Keys of the Treasury and Records: They kept also the Keys of that Treasury, where the Leagues of the King's Predecessors, and divers ancient Books, as Domesday, Black-Book of the Exchequer, remain. There is Mention of this Officer in the Stat. 34 & 35 H. 8. cap. 16. There be also Under-Chamberlains of the Exchequer, for which see in Under-Chamberlain.

(hambert, (Cambi-partia) al' Champert, Seemeth to come from the French Champert, Vestigal; and fignifieth in our Common Law a Maintenance of any Man in his Suit depending, upon Condition to have Part of the Things (be it Lands or Goods) when it is recovered. F. N. B. fol. 171. This seems to have been an ancient Grievance in our Realm; for notwithstanding the Statutes of 3 E. 1. 25. 13 E. 1. 49. 28 E. 1. 11. 32 E. 1. Stat. 2 & 3. and 1 R. 2. cap. 4. and a Form of a Writ framed unto them; yet Anno 4 E. 3. 11. it was again enacted, That whereas the former Statute provided Redress for this in the King's Bench only, (which at the Time followed the Court) from thenceforth it should be lawful for the Justices of the Common Pleas likewise, and Justices of Assiss, in their Circuits, to enquire, hear and determine this, and such like Cases, as well at the Suit of the King, as of the Party. How far this Writ extendeth, and the divers Forms thereof applied to several Cases, see in Forms thereof applied to leveral Cales, lee in F. N. B. f. 171. Reg. Orig. f. 183. and the New Book of Entries, verbo Champerty. Every Champerty implieth Maintenance. Cromp. Jur. fol. 39. See also Cromp. Justice of Peace, fol. 155. 2. par. Inst. fol. 208. But every Maintenance is not tenance, which is the Genus. The Word Cham-perty seems very significantly to derive it self from Campus, a Field, and Partitio, a Dividing; because the Parties in Champerty agree to divide the Thing in dispute.

Champertoga, Vel campi Participes, funt qui per se, vel per alios placita movent, vel moveri faciunt, es ea suis sumptibus prosequuntur ad campi partem, vel proparte lucri babenda. 33 E. I. Stat. 2. Artic. super Chart. cap. 11. Also it was ordained by the Stat. 33 H. 1. confirmed by 37 H. 8. 7. The Ju-flices of Peace, at their Quarter-Sellions, should have Authority as well by Oaths of twelve Men. as by the Information of any other Person, to enquire of the Offendors and Offences against the Laws and Statutes made and provided touching Champerty, Maintenance, &c. Termes de la Ley, fol. 114, 115.

Champion, (Campio) is taken not only for him that fights the Combat in his own Cafe, but for him also that does it in the Place or Quarrel of another. Bratton, lib. 3. tratt. 2. c. 21. numb. 24. who also seems to use this Word for such as held of another by some Services; as, Campiones faciunt Homagium Domino suo, lib. 2. cap. 35. Hottoman, de verbis seudalibus, defines it thus, Campio est Certator pro alio datus in duello, a Campo distus, qui circus erat decertantibus definitus. And therefore it is called Camfight. See Combat, and Sir Edward Byffhe's Notes upon Upton, where fol. 36, you will find, that Henricus de Fernbureg, for 30 Marks Fee, did by a Charter under the Seal covenant to be Champion for Roger, Abbot of Glassonbury. Anno 42 H. 3. Sec 3 Inst. f. 221.

And here it may not be improper to mention a few Things concerning Champions, which I find in our Law Books and Histories, viz. they were usually hired, and therefore they were accounted infamous Persons. Braston, Lib. 3. c. 18.

Nunc caput in mortem vendunt, & funus arena.

Monks, Ecclefiasticks, and generally any Perfon might hire them, except Parricides, and those who were accused of very great Offences; but Churchmen were first to have Leave of the Bishop.

Before the Champion came into the Field, he was to shave his Head, and make Oath that he believed the Person who hired him was in the Right, and that he would defend the Cause to the utmost of his Power; which was always done on Foot, and with no other Weapon but with a Stick or Club, and a Shield. And before he engaged with his Adversary he always made an Offering to the Church, that God might affift him in the Battle.

The Punishment of a Champion overcome in Battle, and likewise of the Person for whom he fought, was various: If it was the Champion of a Woman, she was burnt, and the Champion hanged: If it was of a Man, and not for a capital Crime, he not only made Satisfaction, but had his Right Hand cut off; and the Man was to be close confined in Prison till the Battle was over.

Champion of the King, (Campio Regis), whose Office is at the Coronation of our Kings to ride into Westminster-ball, armed Cap-a-pe, when the King is at Dinner there, and throw down his Gauntlet by Way of Challenge, pronounced by a Herald, That if any Man shall deny or gain.

fay the King's Title to the Crown, he is there fore there might, and hath been. Yet see Keeper. ready to defend it in fingle Combat, &c. Which being done, the King drinks to him, and fends him a gilt Cup, with a Cover, full of Wine, which the Champion drinks, and hath the Cup for his Fee.

Chancello, Cancellarius, Cometh of the French bancelier. Vincent Lupanus de Magistratibus Francorum, faith, That Cancellarius is no Latin Word, though he citeth Lat. Writers that use it: With him agreeth Petrus Pithaus. lib. 2. Adversariorum, cap. 12. And whereas Lupanus would derive it from the Verb Cancello, Pithaus thinks he hath some (though not sufficient) Colour for his Opinion; and therefore derives it from Cancelli, for letting the Lands that came to the Crown by an inclosed or separated Place, a Chancel; or Place encompassed with Bars, to defend the Judges and other Officers from the Press of the People. Cancellarius at first, as Lupanus thinks, fignified the Registers in Court; Grapharios, scil. qui conscribendis & excipiendis judicum actis dant operam. But this Officer in late Times is greatly advanced, not only in our, but in other Kingdoms; for he is the chief Administrator of Justice, next to the Sovereign. All other Justices in this Kingdom are tied to the Law, but the Chancellor hath the King's absolute Power to moderate the written Law, governing his Judgment by the Law of Nature and Conscience, and ordering all Things juxta equum & bonum. Wherefore Staundford (in his Prarog. c. 20. fol. 65.) says, The Chancellor hath two Powers; one absolute, the other ordinary; meaning, that though by his ordinary Power, in some Cases, he must observe the Form of Proceeding as other inferior Judges, yet in his ab-folute Power he is not limited by the written Law but by Conscience and Equity, according to the Circumstances of Matter. And though Polydore Virgil, an Alien, undertaking to write the History of England, supposed he did not mistake when he makes our William the Conqueror, the Founder of our Chancellors ; yet our industrious Antiquary, Mr. Dugdale, can shew us his Error in the many Chancellors of England long before that Time, which are mentioned in his Origines Juridiciales, and Catalogue of Chancellors, whose great Authorities under their Kings were, in all Probability, drawn from the reasonable Customs of Neighbour

Nations, and the Civil Law.

He that hears this Magistracy is called The Lord Chancellor of England, (which is the highest Honour of the Long Robe,) being made so Per traditionem magni Sigilli sibi per Dominum Regem, and by taking his Oath. And by the Statute 5 El. c. 18. the Lord Chancellor and Keeper have one and the same Power; and therefore since that Statute, there cannot be a Lord Chancellor and Lord Keeper at one and the same Time; but be-

He is always in Commission with the Lord Treasurer the Dissolution of Abbies, or otherwise; and hath, by the Stat. of 33 H. 8. c. 39. Power with others to compound for the Forseitures upon Penal Statutes, Bonds, and Recognizances, entered into to the King; he hath also a great Authority and Jurisdiction in the Manage and Dispose of the Royal Revenue, and concerning the First-Fruits, as appears by the Ads for uniting them to the Crown.

Chance-medicy, Signifies the casual Killing of a Man, not altogether without the Killer's Fault, though without an evil Intent. Staundf. pl. cor. lib. 1. cap. 8. calls it Homicide by Misadventure, West. Symb. par. 2. Tit. Indicaments, sect. 5. calls it Homicide mixt. It is also called Manslaughter by Misadventure, for which the Offender shall have his Pardon of Course as appears by the Statute of 6 E. 1. 9. But here is to be considered whether he that commits this Manslaughter by Chance-medley, was doing a lawful Thing: For if the Act were unlawful, it is Felony. As if two were fighting together, and a third Man comes to part them, and is killed by one of the two without any Malice fore-thought, or evil Intent in him that killed the Man; wet this is Murder in him that killed the Man; yer this is Murder in him, and not Manslaughter by Chance-medley, or Misadventure; because they two that fought together were doing an unlawful A&: And if they were met with prepenfed Malice, the one intend-ing to kill the other, then it is Murder in them both. See Skene, de verb. signif. verb. Melletum, where he says this in Scotland is called Chaudmelle.

Chapel, Capella, Cometh from the French Chapelle, that is, Ædicula; and is of two Sorts, either adjoining to a Church, as a Parcel of the same, which Men of Quality build, ut ibidem Familiaria Sepulchra sibi constituant; or else separate from the Mother-Church, where the Parish is wide, and commonly called A Chapel of Ease, because it is built for the Ease of one or more Parishioners that dwell too far from the Church, and served by some inferior Curate, provided at the Charge of the Rector, or of them that have Benefit by it, as the Composition or Custom is. Whence the Word is derived, the Canonifis differ in Opinion, neither will we trouble our lelves abour it, since it makes not much to our Purpose. Charta, The Word was taken not only for a Charter or Deed in Writing, but any Signal or Token by which an Estate was held. As— Willielmus filius Nigelli tenuit custodiam foresta de Bernwode, de Domino Rege per unum cornu quod est charta pradicta soresta. Paroch. Antiq. p. 73. Charta Bayna contains several Privileges and Liberties which were granted to the Church and State by Edward the Confessor, and some which were granted by Henry I. but those were only relating to the feudal Laws which were imposed on the People by William I. so that nothing new was added by him.

King Stephen and King Henry II. confirmed the Magna Charta of Henry I. and Richard I. took an Oath at his Coronation to abolish all evil Cuftoms, and to observe all just Laws; which was an implicite Confirmation of the Charter it self.

King John took the like Oath: But a Difference arising between him and Pope Innocent III. concerning the Election of an Archbishop of Canterbury, he was for the most Part of his Reign embroiled in Wars both at Home and Abroad; 'till at length at Roningmede (a Place between Windfor and Stanes) he confirmed the Charter; and foon after broke it; and thereupon the Barons took up Arms again; so that his Reign ended in Wars, and Henry III. an Infant, succeeded; in whose Reign it was several Times confirmed, and as often abrogated, even after the most solemn Engagement to observe it. As for Instance: In the 37th Year of his Reign he came to Westminster-Hall, and (there in the Presence of the Nobility, and of the Archbishop and Bishops in their Pontifical Habits, with lighted Candles in their Hands) the Charter was read, the King all that while laying his Hand on his Breast; and when it was read, the Bishops extinguished the Candles, and threw them on the Ground; and every one said, Thus let him be extinguished, and stink in Hell, who violates this Charter. Then the Bells rung, as a Sign that every one rejoiced, and approved what was done. And the King himself said, So help me God; I will faithfully and inviolably observe all these Things, as I am a Man, a Christian, a Soldier, and a King. And yet the next Year he invaded the Rights of the People. And at length the Barons took up Arms, and beat his Army at the Battle of Lewes in Sufand beat his Arniy at the Battle of Lewes in Suffex, and took him and his Son, Edward I. Pritoners. But the Prince escaping, he beat the Barons in a Battle at Evestam, and restored his Father to his Royal Dignity. And then the King, though Conqueror, confirmed this Charter, and the Charter of the Forest, in the Parliament of Marlbridge, in the 52d Year of his Reign, and died afterwards in Peace. And his Son Edward I. not only confirmed these Charter. Son Edward I. not only confirmed these Charters, but in the 25th Year of his Reign he made an Explanation of the Liberties and Privileges therein granted to the People; and added some which were new, and are called Articuli Super Chartas. And thus Magna Charta was then confirmed, and more than thirty Times fince. See Magna Charta.

And a little after, num. 12. Et sciendum quod chartarum, alia Regia, alia privatorum, & regiarum alia privata, alia communis & alia universalis. Item, privatorem alia de recognitione pura vel conditionalis. Item alia de quiete-clamantia; Item alia de confirmatione, &c. and so through the whole Chapter. Britton likewise in his Thirty-ninth Chapter, divideth Charters into the Charters of the King, and Charters of private Persons: Charters of the King, are those whereby the King passeth any Grant to any Person or more, or to any Body Politick, as a Charter of Exception, that a Man shall not be empanelled upon any Jury. Chasser, that is, Sestari Belluas: It signifies in the Common Law two Things, First, As much as Assus in the Civil Law, that is, a Driving of Cattle to or from any Place, as to chase a Distress to a Fortlet. Old Nat. Brev. fol. 45. Secondly, It is used for a Place of Receipt for Deer, and wild Beasts, of a middle Nature, between a Forest and a Park, being commonly less than a Forest and not having so many Liberties: than a Forest, and not having so many Liberties; as the Courts of Attachment, Swainemote, and fusice-seat; and yet of a larger Compass, and flored with greater Diversity both of Keepers and wild Beasts or Game than a Park. And Cropmton in his Jurisdictions, f. 148. saith, That a Forest cannot be in the Hands of a Subject, but it forthwith loseth the Name, and becometh a Chase; yet fol. 197. he saith, That a Subject may be Lord and Owner of a Forest, which, though it feems a Contrariety, yet are both his Sayings in fome fort true; for a King may give or alienate a Forest to a Subject, yet so, as when it is once in a Subject, it loseth the true Property of a Forest, because that the Courts, called a Justice-seat, the Swainemote, and Attachment forthwith the vanish; pope being able to pake a Lord Chief Institute. none being able to make a Lord Chief Justice in Eyre of the Forest but the King, as Manwood well sheweth in his Forest Laws, ca. 3 & 4. and yet it may be granted it olarge a Manner, that there may be Attachment and Swainemote, and a Court equivalent to a Justice-seat, as appearethby him in the same Chapter, num. 3. Chimin, French Chemin, Signifies in Law Phrase a Way: It is divided into two Sorts, The King's Highway, and a private Way. Kitchin, fol. 35. The King's Highway, Chiminus Regius, is that by which the King's Subjects, and all under his Protection, have free Liberty to pass, though the Property of the Soil on each side, where the Way lieth, may perhaps belong to fome private Man. A Way private is that, by which one Man or more have Liberty to pass, either by Prescription or by Charter, through another Man's Ground. And this is divided into Chimin in Gross, and Chimin Appendant. Kitchin, fol. 117. Chimin in Gross is that Way which a Man holderth principally and solely in it self: Chimin Appendant is that which a Man hath adjoined to some other Thing or Appurtenant thereto. For Example, If a Man hire a Close or Pasture, and covenant for Ingress and Egress to and from the faid Close, through some other Ground, by which otherwise, through tonse pass: Or Chimin in Gross may be that, which the Civilians call Personal; as when one covenanteth for a Way through another Man's Ground for himself and his Heirs: Chimin appendant, on the other Side, may be that which they call real; as when a Man purchaseth a Way through another Man's Ground, for such as do or shall dwell in this or that House, for ever, or be owners of fuch a Manor. Chirograph (Chirographum, or Scriptum Chirographatum) fignifies any publick Instrument of Gift or Conveyance, attested by the Subscription and Crosses of the present Witnesses, and was in the Saxon Times called Chirographum, which being fomewhat changed in Form and Manner by the Normans, was by them stiled Charta. Of which ___ Chirographo-Ingulph gives this good Account rum confectionem Anglicanam, que antea usque ad Ed-wardi Regis tempora Fidelium presentium subscriptionibus cum crucibus aureis aliifque facris signaculis firma fuerant, Normanni condemnantes Chirographa Chartas vocabant, & Chartarum firmitateni cum cerea in-pressione per uniuscujusque speciale sigillum sub instillatione trium vel quatuor testium adstantium conficere constituebant. Hist. Ingulph. edit. Gale, pag. 901. Anciently, when they made a Chirograph, or Deed, which required a Counter-part, as we call it, they engrossed it twice upon one Piece of Parchment contrary-wife, leaving a Space between, in which they wrote in great Letters the Word CHIRO-GRAPH; and then cut the Parchment in two, fometimes even, fometimes with Indenture, thro'the Midst of the Word, concluding the Deed with,-Incujus rei Testimonium utraq; pars mutuo scriptis prafentibus, fide media sigillum suum fecit apponi. This was afterwards called Dividenda, because the Parchment was so divided or cut. And the sirst Use of these Chirographs was in Henry the Third's Time. See Indenture. Chirograph was also of old used for a Fine. -- Promittens fideliter fide media sub juramento prastiti, quod in adventu Fusticiario-rum prox. errantium levari saciam Chirographum de pradicta Remissione, &c. Charta Nostæ de Stanley sine dat. in Registro de Wormley. And the Manner of Engrosling the Fines, and cutting the Parchment in two Pieces, is still observed in that Office, which is called the Chirographer's Office. But as to Deeds, that was anciently called a Chirograph, which was described by the proper Hand-writing of the Vendor or Debtor, and delivered to the Buyer or Creditor; and it differed from Syngraphus, which was in this Manner; viz. Both Parties, as well the Creditor or Debtor, wrote their Names, and the Names of the Witnesses, and the Sum of Money borrowed, either in Paper, or on a Piece of Wood, and the Word Syngraphus in Capital Letters in the Middle; which Letters were cut in the Middle, and one Part delivered to each Party, that upon comparing them (if any Dispute should arise) they might tally, and so put an End to the Disserence. When this prudent Custom had for some Time prevailed, then the Word Chirographum was appropriated to fuch bipartite Writings or Indentures. Et in hujus rei testimonium buic scripto in modum

Chibalte, See Chevage.

Chibalte, (Servitium militare) Cometh of the French Chevalier, and fignifieth in our Common Law a Tenure of Land by Knight's Service: For the better Understanding whereof, it is to be known, That there is no Land, but is holden mediately or immediately of the Crown by some Service, and therefore all our Free-holds that are to us and our Heirs are called Feuda or Feoda, Fees; as proceeding from the Beneficence of the King, for some small yearly Rent, and the Performance of fuch Services as originally were laid upon the Land at the Donation thereof; for as the King gave to the great Nobles, his immediate Tenants, large Possessions, for ever, to hold of him for this or that Service or Rent; And they again in Time parcelled out to such others as they liked the fame Lands, for Rents and Services, as they thought good. And these Services are by Littleton divided into two Sorts, Chivalry and Soccage: The former is marrial and military, the other clownish and rustical; Chivalry there-fore is a Tenure of Service, whereby the Tenant is bound to perform some noble or military Office unto his Lord; and is of two Sorts, either Regal, that is, such as may hold only of the King, or such as may hold only of a common Person: That which may hold only of the King is properly called Servitium or Serjeantia, and is again divided into Grand or Petit, great or finall; Great, commonly called Grand Serjeanty, is that where one holdeth Lands of the King by Service, which he ought to do in his own Person; as to bear the King's Banner or his Spear, or to lead his Hoste, or to find a Man at Arms to fight within the four Seas, & Littl. Tit. Serjeanty. Petit Serjeanty is where a Man holdeth Land of the King, to yield him annually some small Thing towards his Wars, as a Sword, Dagger, Bow, &c. Littl. Tit. Petit Serjeanty. Chivalry that may hold of a common Person, is called Scutagium, Escuage, that is, Service of the Shield, and this is either uncertain or certain. Escuage uncertain is likewise two-fold, First, Where the Tenant is bound to follow his Lord, going in Person, to the King's Wars against his Enemies, either himself, or to send a sufficient Man in his Place, there to be maintained at his Cost so many Days, as were agreed upon between the Lord and his first Tenant at the granting of the Fee. And the Days of such Service seem to have been rated by the Quantity of the Land so holden; as if it extended to a whole Knight's Fee, then the Tenant was bound to follow his Lord forty Days, and a Knight's Fee was so much Land, as in those Days was accounted a sufficient Living for a Knight, and that was 680 Acres as fome hold, or as others 800, or 15 Pounds per Annum. Camb. Brit. p. 110. Sir Thomas Smith saith, Census equestris is forty Pounds Revenue in free Lands. But if it extend to half a Knight's Fee, then the Tenant is bound to follow his Lord but twenty Days; If ro a fourth Part, then ten Days. F. N. B. fol. 83, 84. The other Kind of this Escuage uncertain is called Castleward, where the Tenant by his Land is bound either by himself or some other, to defend a Castle as often as it shall come to his Course. Escuage certain, is where the Tenant is fer at a certain Sum of Money to be paid in lieu of such uncertain Service; as that a Man shall pay yearly for every Knight's Fee twenty Shillings. Stow Annal. pag. 238. for half a Knight's Fee ten, or some like Rate: And this Service, because it is drawn to a certain Page. because it is drawn to a certain Rent, groweth to be of a mixt Nature; not meerly Socage, for that it smelleth not of the Plough, and yet Socage in Esset, being now neither personal Service nor uncertain. Lit. Tit. Socage. This Tenure called Chivalry, hath other Conditions annext to it, as Homage, Fealty, Wardship, Relief and Marriage, as Homage, Fealty, Wardship, Relief and Marriage, Brack. lib. 2. c. 35. which, what they signify look in their Places: Chivalry is either general or special. Dyer, f. 161. num. 47. General seemeth to be where it is only said in the Feossment, That the Tenant holdeth per servitium militare, without any Specification of Serjeanty, Escuage, &c. Special, That which is declared particularly, what kind of Knight's Service he holdeth by. But there is a great Alteration made in these Things by the Statute. made 12 Car. 2. cab. 24. which saith. Statute, made 12 Car. 2. cap. 24. which faith, All Denures by knight's Gerbice of the King 02 of any other Person, knight's Service in Capite of Socage; in Capite of the King, and the Fruits and Consequences thereof happed, 02 which shall oz may happen oz arise thereupon, oz thereby, are taken away and discharged: And all Tenures of Kouses, Mands, Lands, &c. Chall be construed and adjudged to be turnsed into free and common Socage, &c.

Chopschirch (Ecclesiarium permutatio) is a Word used 9 H. 6. cap. 65. a. By the Sense of which Book it was in those Days a Kind of Trade; for

for the Judges say it was a lawful Occupation, and a good Addition: Yet Brook in his Abridgment calls it not an Occupation, but a Thing permissible by Law. It was (without Doubt) a Nickname given to those that used to change Benefices; for to chop and change is an usual Expression to this Day. I have also read Church-Chopper, for him that used to make such Changes, Alii vero quorundam fatorum zizania, subversorum Justitia, & inaudita abusionis inventorum, ut illis verbis utamur Choppe-Churches, communiter appellati, mediatione dolosa interveniente, execrabili ardore avaritia, quandoque in subdolis permutationibus, hos nimia inaqualitate Benesticiorum, ac illis quandoque obtentis Beneficiis, fucatis coloribus totaliter destituunt & defraudant. Thorals, Choralis, Is such a Person of whom Mr. Dugdale in his Hist. of St. Paul's Church, pa. 172. says, There were six, whom he calls Vicars Chorals, belonging to that Church, and signifies one that by Virtue of any of the Orders of Clergy, was in ancient Time admitted to fit and serve God in the Quire, which in Latin is termed Chozespiscopi, Suffragan or Rural Bishops, delegated by the Prime Diocesan; their Authority was restrained by some Councils, and their Office by Degrees abolished. After whom the Rural Deans were fo commissioned to exercise Episcopal Jurisdiction, till inhibited by P. Alexander III. and the Council of Tours. See Mr. Ken-

Choft, Fr. Thing: It is used with divers Epithets; as Chofe Local is such a Thing as is annexed to a Place. For Example; a Mill is Chofe Local. Chose Transitory seems to be that Thing which is moveable, and may be taken away or carried from Place to Place. Kitchin, f. 18. Chofe in Aftion is a Thing incorporeal, and only a Right; as an Annuity, Obligation for Debt, a Covenant, Voucher by Warranty, and generally all Causes of Suit for any Debt or Duty, Trespass or Wrong, are to be accounted Choses in Action. And it seems Chose in Aftion may be also called Chose in Suspence; because it hath no real Existence or Being, nor can properly be said to be in our Possession. Brook, Tit. Chose in Assion.

Chaism, A Confession of Oil and Balsam confecrated by the Bishop, and used in the Popish Ceremonies of Baptism, Confirmation, and some-

Chainstia denarii, Chrisom-Pence, Moncy paid to the Diocesan, or his Suffragan, by the parochial Clergy, for the Chrism consecrated by rhem about Easter, for the Holy Uses of the Year ensuing. This customary Payment being made in Lent near Easter, was therefore in some Places called Quadracosimals, and in other Passkale and called Quadragesimals, and in other Paschals and Easter-Pence. The Bishops Exaction of it was condemned by Pope Pius III. for Simony and vile Extortion: And therefore the Custom was released and quit-claimed by some of our English
Bishops. CH

Church-reve, Is the same with Churchwarden; Reve in the Saxon being as much as Guardian in the French, and fignifies the Guardian or Overseer of the Church, as Shire-Reeve is the Gardein of Shire or County, and Port-Reeve of the Port or Haven, though afterwards it became a Name of Office. The Word is now out of Use, but used by Chaucer, speaking of the Jurisdiction of Archdeacons. See Churchwardens.

Churchwardens, Ecclesiarium Gardiani, be Officers yearly chosen, by the Consent of the Minister and Parishioners, according to the Custom of every several Place, to look to the Church, Churchyard, and such Things as belong to both, and to observe the Behaviours of their Parishioners for such Faults as appertain to the Jurisdiction or Cenfure of the Court-Ecclesiastical. These be a Kind of Corporation, enabled by Law to sue for any Thing belonging to their Church, or Poor of their Parish. See Lamb. Duty of Churchwardens.

Fleta calls it Circsed, lib. 1. cap. 47. and thereof writes thus, It fignifies a certain Measure of Wheat, which in Times past every Man on St. Martin's Day gave to the Holy Church, as well in Times of the Britains as of the English; yet many great Persons after the Coming of the Romans gave that Contribution, according to the ancient Law of Moses, in the Name of First-fruits; as in the Writ of King Canutus shape to the Pope is contained, in which they call that Contribution, Chirch-sed, as one would say Church-seed. Circuity of Action, (Circuitus Actionis) Is when an Action is rightfully brought for a Duty, but yet about the Bush, as it were, for that it might have been as well otherwise answered and determined, and the Suit saved; and because the same Assion is more than needful, it is called Circuity of Assion; as if a Man grant a Rent-charge of ten Pounds out of his Manor of Dale, and after the Grantce disseizes the Grantor of the same Manor, and he brings an Assis, and recovers the Land and twenty Pounds Damages, which twenty Pounds being paid, the Grantee of the Rent sues his Assion for ten Pounds of the Rent due during the Time of his Disseisin, which if no Disseisin had been, he must have had. This is called Circuity of Attion, because it might have been more shortly answer'd; for whereas the Grantor shall receive 201i. Damages, and pay 10 li. Rent, he might have received but the 10 li. only for the Damages, and the Grantee might have cut off, and kept back

But this is the general Definition of a Common-wealth, and not of a City, at least as we now a days take it. City is a Word which hath obtained fince the Conquest: For in the Time of the Saxons there were no Cities, but all great Towns were called Burghs; and even London was then called Lunden Burgh, i. e. London Borough. And long after the Conquest the Word City is us'd promiseuously with Burgh, as in the Charter of Leicester 'tis called both Civitas and Burgus; which shews that my Lord Coke was mistaken, when he tells us that every City was or is a Bishop's See: Nor liad Gloucester then any Bishop, tho' it is called a City in Domesday. And he himself ob-ferves in another Place that Cambridge was a City by ancient Record, viz. Mich. 7 R. 1. Rot. 1. tho' it never had a Bishop. And in the Stat. 11 H. 7. c. 4. 'tis called Cambridge Town.

Clergy Clerus is diversly taken; sometimes for the whole Number of those who are De Clero Domini, of our Lord's Lot or Share, as the Tribe of Levi was in Juden; sometimes for a Plea to an Indistment or an Appeal, and is by Staundford (Pl. Cor. lib. 2. c. 41). thus defined : an ancient Liberty of the Church, which hath been confirmed by divers Parliaments, and is when a Priest, or one in Orders, is arraigned of Felony before a secular Judge, he may pray his Clergy; which is as much as if he prayed to be delivered to his Ordinary, to purge himself of the Offence objected. And this might be done in Case of Murder. Coke, lib. 4. f. 46. a. This Liberty is mentioned in Articulis Cleri, An. 9 E. 2. c. 26. And what Persons might have their Clergy, and what not, see Staunds. Pl. Cor. lib. 2. c. 42, 29 43. Yet there are many Statutes made since he wrote that Book, whereby the Benefit of the Clergy is a-bridged; as Anno 8 El.c. 4.—14 ejusdem, cap. 5. -18 ejusdem, c. 4, 6, 7.--An. 23 ejusdem, c. 2. -29 ejusdem, c. 2. 31 ejusdem, ca. 12. and 39 e-jusdem, c. 9, & 15. Of this see Crompton's Fustice of Peace, f. 102, & 105. and Lambard's Eiren. lib. 4. c. 14. And note, That the ancient Course of Law in this Point is much altered : For by the Statute of 18 El. ca. 7. Clerks are no more delivered to their Ordinaries to be purged; but now every Man to whom this Benefit is granted, tho' not in Orders, is put to read at the Bar after he is found guilty and convicted of fuch Felony, and so burnt in the Hand, and set free for the first Time, if the Ordinary's Commissioner or Deputy standing by do say, — Legit ut Clericus; or otherwise he suffers Death for his Transgression.

As to the Clergy in general, though they claim an Exemption from all secular Jurisdiction, yet Matthew Paris tells us, That soon after William the First had conquered Harold, he subjected the Bishopricks and Abbeys who held per Baroniam, (and who till then were exempted from all fecular Service,) that they should be no longer free from military Services; and for that Purpose he in an arbitrary Manner registered how many Soldiers every Bishoprick and Abbey should provide, and fend to him and his Successors in Time of War; and having placed these Registers of Ecclesiasti-cal Servitude in his Treasury, those who were ag-grieved, departed out of the Realm.

But the Clergy were not till then exempted from all fecular Service; because by the Laws of King Edgar they were bound to obey the secular Magistrate in three Cases, viz. Upon any Expedition to the Wars, and to contribute to the building and repairing Bridges and Castles for the Defence of the Kingdom.

'Tis probable that by Expedition to the Wars, it was not intended that they should personally serve, but contribute towards the Charge. One they must do; as appears by the Petition to the King Anno 1267, viz. Ut omnes Clerici tenentes per Baroniam vel feudum laicum, personaliter armati procederent contra Regios adversarios; vel tantum Servitium in expeditione Regis invenirent, quantum pertineret ad tantam terram vel tenementum. Their Answer was, That they ought not to fight with the Military, but with the Spiritual Sword, that is, with Prayers and Tears; that they ought to maintain Prayers and Tears; that they ought to maintain Peace, and not War, and that their Baronies were founded in Charity, for which Reason they ought not to perform any military Service.

Clericus. The Word was used for a secular Priest, in Opposition to a Religious or Regular. King John in the Time of the Interdict, committed to William de Cornbull, and Gerard de Camvill,-Omnes terras & res Abbatum & Priorum, & omni-um Religiosorum, & etiam Clericorum de Episcopatu

Line. Paroch. Antiq. p. 171.

Clericus Sacervotis, A Parish-Clerk, or in-ferior Assistant to the Parochial Priest, who usually took an Oath of Fidelity from this Scrvant. Before the Reformation, the Rector was some-times obliged to provide and maintain his own Clerk; and sometimes the religious Appropriators were bound to find and support a Clerk, as a menial Servant to the Vicar. So in the Churches appropriated to the Abbey of Oseney, — Canonici wero Clericum Vicario, & Ecclesia ministerio, & ejus abliquio devictum in ministerio. obsequio devotum invenient, qui juramentum fidelitatis ipsi Vicario prastabit, —— Ubi autem non fuerint Canonici residentes, Clericus, qui, ut supra dictum est, expensis eorum procurabitur, clavem eorum deseret in domo eorum, &c. Paroch. Antiq. p. 304. The Parish-Clerks were formerly to be Men of Letters, and to teach a School in the Parish, and were sometimes elected by the Parishioners, two for each Aors. So John Peckbam Archbishop of Canterbury Anno 1280. ordained the Church of Banquel, and the Chapels annext to it, --Volumus insuper ibidem esse duos Clericos Scholasticos per Parochianorum, de quorum habeant vivere eleemosynis, industriam eligendos, qui Aquam benedictam circumferent in Parochiam, ac Lapellis diebus Dominicis & Festivis, in Divinis ministrantes officiis, & professis diebus disciplinis Scholasticis indulgentes. Mon. Angl. Tom. 3. p. 227. Parish-Clerks were to be School-Masters in Country Villages, by the Constitutions of Alexander Bishop of Coventry, Anno 1237, & Hence the School-House, or Place of Teaching was often in the Belfrey, in the Church-Porch, or some contiguous Building: And hence the profaner Use of ffill teaching in the Chancels. It would however be of good Service to the Church and Nation, to restore this ancient Practice, especially in remote Country Villages, where the Clerk would do more to the Service of God, and the Benefit of the People, if he were able to instruct the Children in Reading and Writing, and understand the Church Catechism; thus they might be bred to some Sense of Christianity and good Manners.

Clerk, Clericus, hath two Significations; one as it is the Title of him that belongeth to the holy Ministry of the Church, that is (as we reckon) either Minister or Deacon, or what other Degree or Dignity soever; though according to former Times, not only Sacerdotes & Diaconi, but almost a solution of the second of so Subdiaconi, Lectores, Acholythi, Exorcifta, & Oftiarii, were within this Account, as they be at this Day, where the Canon Law hath full Power. And in this Signification a Clerk is either Religious (otherwise called Regular) or Secular. An. 4H.4. c. 12. This Word Clericus comprehends all Sorts of Priests, Deacons, and others in Holy Orders, either Secular or Regular; but more properly a Minister or Priest, or one who is more peculiarly called in fortem Domini. Poor Vicar's Plea, fol. 13. Yet Johannes Sawel Clericus Domini Regis, (fcil. E. 1.) was supposed to signify Secretary or Clerk of his Council. Antiq. of Nottinghamshire, fol 317. The other Signification of this Word noteth those that by their Function, or Course of Life, practice their Pen in any Courts, or otherwise; as namely the Clerk of the Rolls of Parliament; Clerks of the Chancery, and such like, whose peculiar Offices shall be set in Order.

4 100 re, A Prisoner, or Dungeon; I believe of some British Original, which might give Name to the old Latin Cloeria, which Du Fresne unapily conjectures to have been a Corruption of Clauseria, a close Place of Restraint. The Dungeon, or inner Prison in Wallingford-Castle, temp. H. II. was called Cloere Brien, i. c. Carcer Brieni, Fil. Com. Domini de Wallingford. Hence seems to come the Lat. Cloaca, which was originally the closest Ward, the nastiest Part of a Prison. The old Cloacarius is interpreted in a MS. Glossary, Carceris Custos. The present Cloacarius, or Keeper of a Jakes, is an Office in some Religious Houses, imposed on an offending Brother, or voluntarily chosen by him as an Exercise of Humility and Mortification; and in some of our English Convents beyond the Seas, this sweet Officer is call'd Count of Holt.

Toggle. Upon some of the Sca-coasts in Yorkshire, a small Fishing-Boat is called a Coggle, i. e.
a little Cogge; and in some Places by Corruption a Cobble. From the old Tcuton, Kogge, a Ship: Whence the Lat. Coggo, Cogga, &c. Anno 1066. Venit ad hoc in Angliam (Rex Noricorum) trecentis Coggonibus advectus. Mat. West. sub ann. Praparatis cogonibus, galleis & aliis navibus onerariis

Par. sub ann. 1218. Hence our old Sax. Cockede, a Scaman; called in the Laws of King H. 1. c. 29. Cocfeti, and cap. 81. Cothfeti. The old Glossary to these Laws, made in the Reign of Edward III. interprets Cocfade, by Cocarius, which Du Fresne seems to missinderstand for Coquus, a Cook: Whereas Cocarius is indeed a Coker, or Boat-man, from Coca, Coquia, a Boat: As with little Variation, a Coggefuane, a Cock-swain, now a Coggeson, or Coxon, is an Officer in a Ship. Hence the old Lat. Cogcio, Coccio, a wandring and begging Seaman; which Sir Henry Spelman (who rarely trifles) believes to have been so called, from the Greek κωκύω Lugeo, Ploro. But the true Name and Original was Cogeiones, Cog-men, or Boat-men, who after Shipwreck or Losses by Sea, travelled about to defraud the People, by begging and stealing, till they were restrained by many civil and good - ut isti Mangones & Cogciones, qui sine omni lege vagabundi vadunt per istam terram, non si-nantur vagari, & deceptiones hominibus agere. ommennam, (Ecclesia commendata, vel custodia Ecclefic alicui commissa) Is a Benefice, or Church-Living, that being void, is commended to the Care of some sufficient Clerk, to be supplied, till it may be conveniently provided of a Pastor: And that this was the true Original of this Practice, may be read at large in Durandus de Sacri Eccle-fie Ministeriis & Beneficiis, lib 5. cap. 7. He to whom the Church is commended hath the Fruits and Profits thereof only for a certain Time, and the Nature of the Church is not changed there-by, but is as a Thing deposited in the Hands of him to whom it is commended, who hath nothing but the Custody thereof, which may be revoked. When a Person is made a Bishop, there is a Cession of his Benefice by the Promotion; Lut if the King gives him Power to retain his Benefice, he shall continue Parson, and is said to hold it in Commendam. Commendatory Letters are such which are writ by one Bishop to another, in behalf of any of his Clergy, or other of his Diocese, travelling thither, that they may be received among the Faithful, or that the Clerk made be promoted, or that Necessaries may be administered to both. Several Forms of these Letters may be seen in our Historians, as in Bede. Lib. 2. ca. 18. Simeon of Durbam, Anno 1125, &c.

Commendati Domines, Persons who by voluntary Homage, put themselves under the Protestion of any superior Lord. For ancient Horection of any superior Lord. For ancient Homage was either Predial, due for some Tenure; or Personal, which was either by Compulsion, as a Sign of necessary Subjection; or Voluntary, with a Desire of Protection. And those who by doing voluntary Homage put themselves under the Protection of any Man of Power, were said Commendare se in manus ejus, and were therefore sometimes called Homines eins commendation and some times called Homines ejus commendati; and fometimes simply Commendati, as often in Domesday-Book. Tho' we have lost the Meaning of the Phrase, yet we use it in this Complement, Commend me to such a Friend, which is no less than, Let him know I am his humble Servant. ciat. Du Cange.

Comminalty, or rather Communalty, or Commonalty; Signifies the middle Sort of the King's Subjects, 2 Inst. fol. 539. Tout le Commune d'Engle-terre, are such of the Commons as raised beyond the ordinary Peasants, come to have the managing of Offices, and by that Means are one Degree under Burgesses, which are superior to them both in Order and Authority, as in Companies incorporated, they are said to consist of Master, Wardens and Commonalty; the first two being the Chief, the middle Sort such as are usually called Of the Livery. See Communitas Regni. Blount says that this Word Commonalty includes all the King's Subjects. As in Articul. super Chart. 28 Ed. 1. cap. 1. Tout le Commune d'Engleterre signifies all the People of England.

Commiffarp, Commiffarius, Is a Title of Ecclefiastical Jurisdiction, appertaining to such a one as exerciseth Spiritual Jurisdiction (at the least so far as his Commission permitteth) in Places of the Diocese so far distant from the chief City, as the Chancellor cannot call the Subjects to the Bishop's principal Consistory, without their too great Molestation. This Commissary is by the Canonists termed Commissarius, or Officialis forane us. Lyndewode's Provin. c. 1. de Accusat. &c. And he is ordained to this especial End, That he supply the Bishop's Jurisdiction and Office, in the Out-Places of his Diocese, or else in such Parishes as be peculiar to the Bishop and exempted from the Jurisdiction of the Archdeacon; for where either by Prescription or Composition, there be Archdeacons that have Jurisdiction within their Archdeaconries, as in most Places they there have, this Commissary is superfluous, and most commonly doth rather vex and disturb the Country for his Lucre, than of Conscience seek to redress the Lives of Offenders. And therefore the Bishop taking Protestation-money of his Archdeacons yearly pro exteriori Jurisdictione, as it is ordinarily called, doth by superonerating their Circuit with a Commissary, not only wrong the Archdeacons, but the poorer Sort of Subjects much more, as common Practice too frequent teacheth.

Commission. Commissio, Is for the most Part in the Understanding of the Law, as much as Delegatio with the Civilians. (See Broke, Tit. Commission) and is taken for the Warrant, or Letters Patent, that all Men exercising Jurisdiction either ordinary or extraordinary, have for their Power to hear, or determine any Cause or Action. Of these, see divers in the Table of the Judgment; as the Commission of Purveyors. tt H. 4. cap. 28. But with the Epithet (High) is used for the Honourable Commission-Court, instituted and founded upon the Statute 1 Eliz. cap. 1. but for divers Reasons utterly abolished and taken away by the Statute made 16, 17 Car. 1. cap. 10 and that again explained by another A&, 13 Car. 2. cap. 2.

Commission of Association, Mentioned 18 El. cap. 9. Is a Commission under the Great Scal, to associate two or more learned Persons, with the feveral Justices in the feveral Circuits and Counties in Wales.

Committion of Inticipation, Was a Commis Commerciones, Commarciones, those who fion under the Great Seal, to collect a Sub-live in the Confines or utmost Limits of a Place. fidy before the Day, Anno 5 H. 8. Co. 12. Rep.

Commission of Rebellion, Commission Rebellionis, Is otherwise called A Writ of Rebellion, Breve Rebellionis, and issues when a Man (after Proclamation issued out of the Chancery or Exchequer, and made by the Sheriff, to present himself under Pain of his Allegiance to the Court by a certain Day) appears not. And this Commission is directed by the way of Command to certain Persons, to the End, that they, three, two, or one of them do apprehend, or cause to be apprehended the Party as a Rebel and Contemner of the King's Laws, wherefoever they find him within the Kingdom, and bring him, or cause him to be brought to the Court, upon a Day therein assigned. The true Copy of this Commission or Writ, you have in Cromp. Furifd. Court de Star-Chamber, as also in West. touching Proceedings in Chancery,

Commissioner, Commissionarius, Is he that hath Commission, as Letters Patent, or other lawful Warrant, to execute any publick Office, as Commissioners of the Office of Fines, and Licences; West. Part. 2. Symbol Tit. Fines, sett. 106. Com-missioners in Eyre, Anno 3 E. 1. c. 26. Commissioners of Sewers, 23 H. 8. 5. 12 Car. 2. ca. 6. with infi-

Committee, Is he or they to whom the Consderation, or Ordering of any Matter is referred, either by some Court, or Consent of Parties to whom it belongeth. As in Parliament, a Bill being read, is either consented unto and passed, or denied; or neither of both, but referred to the Consideration of some discreet Men appointed by the House farther to examine it, who thereupon are called Committees: Committee of the King. West. Par. 2. Symb. Tit. Chancery, sett. 144. This Word seemeth to be something ftrangely used in Kitchin, fol. 160. where the Widow of the King's Tenant being dead, is called The Committee of the King; that is, one committed by the ancient Law of the Land to the King's Care and Protection.

Tommoigne, Fr. a Fellow-Monk, that lives in the same Convent. 3 Part. Inst. f. 15.

Inumon (Commune, i.e. Quod ad omnes pertinet) signifies that Soil or Water whereof the Use is Common to this or that Town or Lordship; as Common of Passure, (Commune Passure). Brasson, lib. 4. cap. 19, & 40. Common of Fishing, (Commune Piscariz). Idem, lib. 2. c. 34. Common of Turbary, (Commune Turbariz, i. e. of digging Turves). Idem, lib. 4. c. 41. Common of Estover, (Commune Estoveriorum). Kitchin, f. 94, &c. Common is divided into Common in Gross, Common Appendant, Common Appendant, and Common Appendant, and Common Appendant, and Common Appendant, and Common Appendant. Register Original, verbo Commissio; yet this Word Common Appurtenant, and Common pur Cause de Vicissemetimes is extended further than to Matters of nage.

Common in Grofs is a Liberty to have Common alone, that is, without any Land or Tenement, in another Man's Land, to himself for Life, or to him and his Heirs; and it is commonly passed by Deed of Grant or Specialty. Old. Nat. Br. f. 31,

Common Appendant and Common Appurtenant are in a Manner confounded, as appears by Fitz. Nat. Br. fol. 180. and are defined to be a Liberty of Common appertaining to, or depending on, such and such a Freehold; which Common must be taken with Beafts commonable, as Horses, Oxen, Kine, and Sheep, being accounted fittest for the Ploughman; and not of Goats, Geese, and Hogs. But some make this Difference, That Common appurtenant may be severed from the Land whereunto it appertains, but not Common Appendant; which (according to Sir Edward Coke, lib. 4. f. 37.) had this Beginning:

When a Lord enfeoffed another in arable Lands, to hold of him in Soccage, the Feossee, to maintain the Service of his Plough, had at first, by the Courtesy or Permission of his Lord, Common in his Wastes for necession. fary Beasts, to car and compost his Land; and that for two Causes: One, for that it was tacitly implied in the Feoffment, by reason the Feoffee could not till or compost his Land without Cattle, and Cattle could not be sustained without Pasture; so by Consequence the Feosfee had, as a Thing necessary and incident, Common in the Wastes and Land of the Lord. And this appears by the ancient Books, Temp. Ed. 1. Tit. Common 24. and 17 Ed. 2. Tit. Common 23. and 20 Ed. 3. Tit. Admeasurement 8. and by the Statute of Merton, cap. 4. The second Reason was, for Maintenance and Advancement of Tillage, which is much regarded and savoured by the Law.

Common pur cause de Vicinage, (i. e. Common by reason of Neighbourhood) is a Liberty that the Tenants of one Lord in one Town have to Common with the Tenants of another Lord in another Town. Those that challenge this Kind of Common, (which is usually called Intercommoning) may not put their Cattle in the Common of the other Town; for then they are distrainable; but turning them into their own Fields, if they stray into the Neighbour Common, they must be suffered. Common of Pasture the Civilians call Jus com-pascendi.

Common Bench, (Banens Communis, from the Sax. Banc. i. e. a Bank or Hillock, and metaphorically a Bench, High Seat, or Tribunal.) The Court of Common Pleas was anciently fo called, An. 2. Ed. 3. ca. 11. because (saith Camden in his Britain. pag. 113.) Communia Placita inter subditos ex jure nostro, quod Commune vocant, in boc disceptantur, that is, The Pleas or Controversies between common Persons are there tried. And the Justices of that Court in legal Records are term'd Justiciarii de Banco. Coke on Littl. f. 71. b. See Common Pleas.

Common Day in Plea of Land (Anno 13)
Ric. 2 Stat. 1. cap. 17.) fignifies an ordinary
Day in Court, as Octabis Hillarii, Quindena Pafeba, &c. which you may fee in the Statute of 51 Hen. 3. concerning general Days in the Bench.

Common Fine is a certain Sum of Money which the Resiants, within the View of some Leets, pay to the Lord thereof, called in divers Places Head-Silver, in others Cert-Money, or Certum Leta, and Head-Pence; and was first granted to the Lord towards the Charge of his Purchase of the Court-Leet, whereby the Resiants had now the Ease to do their Suit Royal nearer Home, and not to be compelled to go to the Sheriff's Turn : As in the Manor of Sheapshead, in Com. Leic. every Resiant pays 1 d. per Poll to the Lord at the Court held after Michaelmas, which is there called Common Fine. There is also Common Fine of the County; for which see Fleta, lib. 7. c. 48. and the Statute of 3 Ed. 1. cap. 18. But the Clerk of the Market shall take no Common Fine, Anno 13 R. 2. cap. 4. For Common Fine the Lord cannot distrain without a Prescription. Godfrey's Case, Coke's 11 Reports. Sec Cert-

Commen Law. After the Decay of the Roman Empire, three Sorts of the German People invaded the Britons, viz. the Saxons, the Angles, who were a neighbouring People, and the Jutes: From the last came the Kentish Men, and the Inhabitants of the Isle of Wight; from the Saxons came the People called East, South, and West Saxons; and from the Angles came the East Angles, Mercians, and Northumbrians. As these People had different Customs, so they inclined to the different Laws by which their Ancestors were governed; but the Customs of the West Saxons and Mercians, who dwelt in the Midland Counties, being preferred before the Rest, were for that Reason called fus Anglorum; but the particular Names were West Saxonlage, and Merchenlage; and by these Laws those People were governed for many Ages. But the East Saxons being afterwards subdued by the Danes, their Customs were introduced, and a third Law was substituted, which was called Dane-Lage.

The Danes being overcome by the Normans, Henry Bishop of Winchester, who was nearly related to the Conqueror, told our Historian Gervas of Tilbury, That upon due Consideration of all those Laws and Customs the Conqueror abrogated some, and established others; to which he added fome of his Country Laws, which he adjudged most to conduce to the Preservation of the Peace, and the Quiet and Exfe of the People.

this is what we now call the Common Law.

Not that this was the Original of the Common

he called to his Assistance, which continue to this Day. 'Tis true, King Alfred, who lived 300 Years afterwards, is called Magnus juris Anglicani Conditor: Not because he first made that Law, but because, being the first sole Monarch after the Heptarchy, he collected all the Saxon Laws (which were made in the Space of 300 Years) into one Book, that is, he collected the best, and rejected the rest, and commanding them to be observed through the whole Kingdom, which before affected only several Parts thereof, it was therefore properly called the Common Law, because it was common to the whole Nation; and foon after it was called the Fole Right, i. e. the People's Right. The Word Common Law bath three Significations: First, It is taken for the Laws of this Realm simply, without any other Law joined to it; as when it is disputed what ought of Right to be determined hy the Common Law, and what by the Spiritual Law, or Admiral's Gourt, or the like. Secondly, For the King's Court, as the Izing's Bench or Common Pleas, only to shew a Difference between them and the base Courts, as Customary Courts, Court-Barons, County-Courts, Pipowders, and such like; as when a Plea of Land is removed out of ancient Demesn because the Land is Frank-fee, and pleadable at the Common Law, that is, in the King's Court, and not in ancient Demesin, or any other base Court. Thirdly, and most usually, by the Common Law, is understood such Laws as were generally taken and holden for Law, before any Statute was made to alter the same; as, neither Tenant for Life, nor for Years, were punishable by the Common Law for doing Waste till the Statute of Glouc. cap. 5: was made, which gives Action of Waste against them: But Tenant by Courtesy, and Tenant in Dower, were punishable for it before the said Statute. See Law, and Merchenlage.

Common Pleas, Communia Placita, Is the King's Court now held in Westminster-Hall, but in Ring's Court now need in Westminster-Hau, but in ancient Time moveable; as appears by Magna Charta, cap. 11. and also 2 E. 3. cap. 11. & Pupilla oculi, Part 5. cap. 22. But Mr. Gwin in the Preface to his Reading saith, That until the Time that Henry the Third granted the Great Charter, there were but two Courts in all, called The King's Courts; whereof one was the Exchequer, the other the King's Bench, which was then called Curia Domini Regis, and Aula Regia, because it followed the King and Court: And that upon the Grant of that Charter, the Court of Common Pleas was creeted, and settled in one certain Place, viz. Westminster. And because this Court was settled at Westminster, therefore after that, all Writs ran, Quod sit coram Justiciariis no-firis apud Westmonasterium; whoreas before it was, Coram me el Justiciariis meis, simply without Addition of Place, as he well observeth out of Glan-vile and Braffon: The one writing in Henry the Second's Time, before the Court was creeted; the other in the later Time of Henry the Third, who erected this Court. All Civil Causes, both Real and Personal, are or were in former Times tried in this Court according to the strict Law of the Realm. And by Fortescue, cap. 50. it seemeth to have been the only Court for real Causes: The Chief Judge of that Court is called The Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, affisted with three or four Associates, which are created by Letters Patent from the King, and, as it were, installed or placed upon the Bench by the Lord Chanceller installed and Lord Chief Justice of the Court; as appeareth by Fortescue, cap. 51. who expresses all the Cir-cumstances of this Admission. The rest of the Officers belonging to this Court, are, The Custar Brevium, three Prothonotaries, Chirographer, fourteen Filacers, four Exigenters, Clerk of the Warrants, Clerk of the Juries, or Jurata Writs, Clerk of the King's Silver, Clerk of the Treasury, Clerk of the Essoins, Clerk of the Outlawries: whose distinct Functions look in their proper Places. See Common Bench, and 4 Inst. fol. 99.

Commote, (Br. Cwmmwo, i. e. Provincia,) in Wales, is half a Cantred or Hundred, containing fifry Villages. Stat. Wallie, 12 Ed. 1. and 21 H. 8. c. 26. Wales was anciently divided into three Provinces, North Wales, South Wales, and West Wales, otherwise called Powysland; and each of these were again subdivided into Cantreds, and every Cantred into Commotes. Sir Jo. Dodridge's History of Wales, fol. 2. So Brecknocksbire is found to have three Cantreds, and eight Commotes. History of Wales. It fignifies also a great Seigniory, and may include one or divers Manors. Coke on Litt. may include one or divers Manors. Coke on Litt. fol. 5. 'Tis Sir Henry Spelman's Opinion, that a Commote is half an Hundred; but Sylvefter Giraldus, in his Itinerary of Wales, tell us 'tis but a Quarter of an Hundred, viz. Gruffino filio Refunius Commoti folum, id est, quarta partis Cantredi, Sec. Itinerar. lib. 1. c. 2.

Communitas Regni. Tota terra communitas, Regni totius communitas. These Phrases have been of late Years thought to fignify the ordinary Peo-ple, and Freeholders; or at belt Knights and Gentlemen, under the Degree of Barons, as if they were the Community of the Land, and had been always so esteemed. But anciently the Barrons only, and Tenants in Capite, or Military Men, were the Community of the Kingdom, and those only meant, taken and reputed as such in our most ancient Historians and Records. Compromise, Compromission. We usually say Compromise, is a mutual Promise of two or more Parties at Difference, to refer the Ending of their Controversies to the Arbitrement and Equity of one or more Arbitrators. West. par. 2. Symb. Tit. Compromise, sett. 1. defines it thus, A Compromise or Submission, is the Faculty or Power of pronouncing Sentence between Parties at Controversy, given to Arbitrators by the Parties mutual private Consent, without publick Authority.

Computation, Is used in the Common Law for the true and indifferent Construction of Time, so that neither the one Party nor the other shall do Wrong, nor the Determination of Times referr'd at large, be taken one way or other, but com-puted according to the just Censure of the Law, makes a Warranty. Co. on Lit. fol. 384. As if Indentures of Demise are ingrossed, bearing

Date the eleventh Day of May 1669. To Have and to Hold the Land in S. for three Years from henceforth, and the Indentures are delivered the fourth Day of June, in the Year aforesaid: In this Case, From honesforth shall be accounted from the Day of the Delivery of the Indentures, and not by any Computation from the Date: And if the laid Indenture be delivered at four of the Clock in the Afternoon of the said fourth Day, this Lease shall End the third Day of June, in the third Year; for the Law in this Computation rejects all Fractions, or Divisions of the Day, for the Incertainty, which always is the Mother of Contention; so where the Statute of Incolments made Anno 27 H. S. c. 16. is, That the Writings shall be inrolled within fix Months after the Date of the same Writings indented; if such Writings have Date, the fix Months shall be accounted from the Date, and not from the Delivery; but if it want Date, then shall it be accounted from the Delivery. Co. lib. 5. fol. t. If any Deed be shewed to a Court at Westminster, the Deed, by Judgment of the Law, shall remain in Court all the Term in which it is shewed, for all the Term in Law is but as one Day. Co. lib. 5. fol. t. If a Church be void, and the true Patron doth not present within six Months, then the Bishop of the Diocese may collate his Chaplain; but these six Months shall not be computed according to the twenty-eight Days to the Month, bur according to the Calendar: And there is great Diversity in our common Speech in the fingular Number, as a Twelve-Month, which includes all the Year, according to the Calendar; and Twelve Months, which shall be computed according to 28 Days to every Month. Co. lib. 6. fol. 61. b.
Computo, Is a Writ so called of the Effect, because it compelleth a Bailiff, Receiver, or Chamberlain, to yield his Account. Old Nat. Brev. fol. 58. It is founded upon the Statute of West. 2. cap. 2. Concealers (Concelatores) are such as find out concealed Lands, that is, such Lands as are privily kept from the King by common Persons, having nothing to shew for their Title or Estate therein. Anno 39 Eliz. cap. 22. and 21 Jac. cap. 2. They are so called from Concelando, as Mons from Movendo, per Antiphrasin. See 3 Part. Inst. sol. 188. where the Author calls them Turbidum hominum genus.

Concessi, A Word of frequent Use in Conveyances, creating a Covenant in Law; as Dedi

Concionatoz, A Common Council-Man, a Mt-Worthy, a Freeman called to the Hall, or Assem-- Quodam tempore cum convenissent Concionatores Anglix apud Londoniam, &. Hister. Elien.

Edit. Gale, cap. 46.

Conclution, Conclusio, Is when a Man by his own A& upon Record, hath charged himself with a Duty, or other Thing. As if a Freeman confess himself to be the Villain of A. upon Record, and afterward A. takes his Goods, he shall be concluded to say in any Action or Plea afterwards, that he is free, by Reason of his own Confession. So if the Sheritt upon a Capias to him directed, returns that he hath taken the Body, and yet hath not the Body in Court at the Day of the Return; he shall be amerced, and if it were upon a Capias ad Satisfac. the Plaintiff may have his Action against the Sherist for the Escape; for by such Returns the Sheriff hath concluded himfelf. And this Word Conclusion is taken in another Sense, as for the End or later Part of any Declaration, Bar, Replication, &c. As where to the Bar there ought to be a Replication, the Conclusion of his Plea shall be, Et hoc paratus est verisicare. If in Dower, the Tenant pleads, That he was never seised to render Dower, the Conclusion shall be, Et de hoe ponit se super Patriam. And in what manner the Conclusion shall be, according to the Nature of several Actions, see Kitchin, sol. 219, Concord, Concordia, Is in the Common Law, by a peculiar Signification, defined to be the very Agreement between Parties, that intend the Levying of a Fine of Lands one to the other, how, and in what Manner the Land shall pass: In the Form whereof, many Things are to be considered. West. part. 2. Symb. Tit. Fines and Concords, fett. 30. whom read at large. Concord is also an Agreement inade upon any Trespass committed between two or more, and is divided into a Confol. 5 & 6. Reniger and Fogaffa's Case, where it appeareth by some Opinions, That the one bindeth not, as being imperfect; the other absolute, and ties the Parties: And yet by some other O-pinions in the same Case, it is affirmed, That Agreements executory be perfect, and no less bind than Agreements executed, f. 8. b.

Concubitis, A Fold, a Pen, or Place where Cattle lie together. — Willielmus de Putot concedit Hospitali de Thelesford unam dimidiam virgata terra in Essora - quiete & integre in viis, semitis, terris, pratis, concubatiis & pasturis, cum om-nibus aysiamentis. ——— Cartular. de Thelisnibus aysiamentis. — ford. Concubinage Fr. signifies properly the keeping a Wnore for one's own filthy Use: But it is us'd as an Exception against her who sues for Dower, alledging thereby that she was not Wife lawfully married to the Party, in whose Lands she seeks to be endowed, but his Concubine. Briton, e. 107. Braston, lib. 4. trast. 6. cap. 8. who tells us, That Concubinage may be lawful, Quoad bareden & hadden to the concubination of the conc veditatis Successionem; but not Quoad dotem, Lib 3. e. 28. By which it must not be intended such a Concubinage which tends to Fornication; but such as was allowed in Scripture to the Patriarchs, viz. Secundum legem Matrimonii, infra dignitatem samen uxoris ducitur.

Condate. Congleton in Cheshire. Condercum, Chefter upon the Street, in the Bishoprick of Durham.

Conders, May seem to proceed from the French Conduire, i. c. Gubernare; they be such as stand upon high Places near the Sca-Coasts, at the Time of Herring-fishing, to make signs with Boughs, &c. in their Hands unto the Fishers, which way the Shole of Herrings passeth; for that doth appear hetter to such as stand upon some high Cliff on the Shore, by a Kind of blue Colour that the said Fish causeth in the Water, than to those that be in the Ships. These be only from the French therwise called Hewers, (probably from the French Huyer, exclamare) and Balkers, Directors, and Guiders, as appeareth by the Statute Anno 1 Jacobi, cap. 23.

Tonnition, Conditio, Is a Restraint or Bridle annexed to a Thing, so that by the not Performance, the Party to it shall receive Prejudice and Loss, and by the Performance, Commodity and Advantage. West. part. 1. Symb. lib. 2. sest. 156. and Co. lib. 3. Pennant's Case, s. 64. Of these Conditions there are divers Kinds, Condition collateral, Condition in Fast, Condition in Law, Condition express, and Condition imply'd, Sec. Condition collateral. is that which is approved to any collateral. collateral, is that which is annexed to any collateral Act, as that the Lessee shall not go to Canterbury. Co. lib. 3. fol. 65. Condition in Fast, is that which is express in plain Words in any Febsffment, Lease or Grant : Condition in Law is imply'd, though not at all express in the Grant. Also Conditions are either precedent, and going before the Estate, and are executed, or else subsequent and executory. Condition precedent, doth get and gain the Thing or Estate made upon that Condition, by the Performance of it. Condition subsequent, keeps and continues the Thing or Estate made upon Condition, by the Performance of it. Condition precedent is, when a Lease is made for Life to one upon Condition, That if the Lessee will pay to the Lessor 20 li. at such a Day, then he shall have Fee-simple: Here the Condition preccdes the Estate in Fee-simple, and upon Performance of the Condition, gains the Fee-simple. Condition subsequent is, when one grants to J. S. his Manor of Dale in Fee-simple, upon Condition, That the Grantee shall pay to him at such a Day 20 li. or else that his Estate shall cease; here the Condition is fubsequent, and following the Estate in Fee, and upon the Performance thereof continues the Estate. See more of this in Co. lib. 3.

Confederati (Confæderatio) is when two or more confederate or combine themselves to do any Damage to another, or to commit any unlawful A&. And the a Writ of Conspiracy decs not lie, if the Party be not indiced, and in lawful Manner acquitted, for so are the Words of the Writ; yet false Confederacy between divers Persons shall be punished, the nothing be put in Execution; which appears by the Book of 27 Assis.

each to maintain other, whether their Matter were true or false; and the nothing were supposed to be put in Practice, the Parties were enjoined to answer, since the Thing is forbidden by Law. So in the next Article, in the same Book, Enquiry shall be made of Conspirators and Confederators, which bind themselves together, &c. This Confederacy, punishable by Law before it be executed, ought to have four Incidents: First, Ir must be declared by some Matter of Prosecution, as by making of Bonds or Promises the one to the other. Secondly, Malicious, as for unjust Revenge. Thirdly, It ought to be false, against an Innocent. Lastly, To be out of Court, voluntarily. Terms de la Ley.

Consission of Ditence, Is, when a Prisoner is appealed or indicated of Treason or Felony, and heaven to the Part to be agreeized and his Inc.

brought to the Bar to be arraigned, and his Indistinent is read unto him: And the Court demands what he can say thereto, then either he confesses the Offence, and the Indictment to be true, or estranging him from the Offence, pleads Not guilty, or else gives an indirect Answer, and so in Effect stands Mute. Confession may be made in two Sorts, and to two several Ends. The one two Sorts, and to two several Ends. The one is, He may confess the Offence whereof he is indicaed openly in the Court, before the Judge, and submit himself to the Censure and Judgment of the Law, which Confession is the most certain Answer, and best Satisfaction that may be given to the Judge to condemn the Offender; so that it proceeds freely of his own accord, without any Threats, Force, or Extremity used: For if the Confession arise from any of these Causes, it ought not to be recorded. As if a Woman was indicted for the selonious Taking of Bread, to the Value for the felonious Taking of Bread, to the Value Affif. pl. 50. The other Kind of Confession is, when the Prisoner confesses the Indiament to be true, and that he committed the Offence whereof he is indicted, and then become and that he committed the Offence whereof he is indicted, and then becomes an Approver, that is, an Accuser of others, who have committed the same Offence whereof he is indicted, or other Offences with him; and then prays the Judge to have a Coroner assigned him, to whom he may make Relation of those Offences, and the full Circumstances thereof. There is also a third Kind of Confession made by an Offender in Felony, which is not in Court before the Judge as the which is not in Court before the Judge, as the other two are; but before a Coroner in a Church, or other privileged Place, upon which the Offender, by the ancient Law of the Realm, was to

Though improperly; for he is rather the Confesse, being the Person passive, to whom the Confession is made, or at least the Confessary, who receives the Confession, or the Confessionar. This receiving the Confession of a Penitent, was in the old Engl. to shreve, or to shrive, Sax. Scrifan; whence the Party confessed was Beforisen; whence our Engl. Bestriev'd, or looking like a confessed or shriev'd Person, imposed some uneasy Penance; Hence to besbrew, is to imprecate,

Confirmation, Confirmatio, Cometh of the Verb Confirmare, quod est sirmum facere; and therefore it is said, That Confirmatio omnes supplet defectus, licet id quod actum est, ab initio non valuit. Co. on Lit. lib. 3. cap. 9. sett. 515. It is a Conveyance of an Estate or Right in esse, whereby a voidable Estate is made sure and unavoidable, or whereby a particular Estate is increased. Nay, it is a threngthening of an Estate formerly, and yet voidable, though not presently void. For Example, a Bishop granteth his Chancellorship by Patent, for the Term of the Patentee's Life; this is no void Grant but voidable by the Pictor's Darch void Grant, but voidable by the Bishop's Death, except it be strengthened by the Confirmation of the Dean and Chapter. Qualibet Confirmatio aut est persiciens, crescens aut diminuens. 1. Consistate, Consistants, May be derived either from the Lat. Consistants, or the French Consistants; in publicum aducere: All these Words are drawn from Essate which (see Minsters Science 1) ori from the Lat. Configure, or the French Configure; of two Shillings, and being thereof arraigned, she configure the Felony, and said, That she did it by the Commandment of her Husband; and the Judges, in Pity, would not record her Confession, but caused her to plead Not guilty to the Felony; whereupon the Jury sound, That she stole the Bread by Compulsion of her Husband, against her Will, for which Cause she was discharged. 27

Allie, pl. 50. The other Kind of Confession is when the shadow of the Fench Confisquer; that is, in publicum aducere: All these Words are drawn from Fiscus, which (as Minstew saith) originally significant a Hamper or Basket, but Metony-mically, the Emperor's Treasure; because it was anciently kept in such Hampers. And the our king doth not put his Treasure in such Goods as are forfeited to the Emperor, were Bona Confiscation. ta; in like Manner do we say of such Goods as are forfeited to the King's Exchequer. And the Title to have these Goods is given to the King by such Law, when they are not claimed by some other. As if a Man be indicted, That he feloniously stole the Goods of another Man, when, in Truth they are the proper Goods of him indicted; and they are brought in Court against him as the Manner is, and he then asked, what he fays to the said Goods, to which he disclaims; by this Disclaimer he shall lose the Goods, although that afterwards he be acquitted of the Felony, and the King shall have them as confifcated: But o-therwise it is, if he do not disclaim them. The same Law is, where Goods are found in the Felon's Possession, which he disavow's, and after-wards is attainted of other Goods, and not of them, there the Goods which he disayows are confifeate to the King; but had he been attainted of the same Goods, they should have been said to be forfeited and not confiscate, notwithstanding his Disavowment. So if an Appeal of Robbery be brought, and the Plaintiff leaves out some of his Goods, he shall not be received to enlarge his Appeal, and forasmuch as there is none to have the Goods so left out, the King shall have them as confiscate, according to the old Rule, Quod non capit Christus, capit Fiscus. And as in the Case aforesaid, the Law punishes the Owner for his Negli- panes cum pertinentibus pulmentariis. gence, and Connivency; so also the Law abhors mundi Regis de Anno 946. See Sextary. Conjuration, Conjuratio, Is a Compound of con and juro, and so it significth a Plot or Compact made by Men, combining themselves together by Oath or Promise, to do any publick Harm: But in our Common Law it is specially used for fuch as have personal Conference with the Devil, or evil Spirits, to know any Secret, or to effect any Purpose. Anno 5 Eliz. cap. 16. And the Difference between Conjuration and Witchcraft seems to be this; That the one by Prayers and Invocations of God's powerful Names, compels the Devil to say or do what he commandeth him; the other dealeth rather by a friendly and voluntary Conference and Agreement between Him or Her and the Devil, or Familiar, to have Her or His Desires, or Turns served, in lieu of Blood or other Gift offered unto him, especially of His or Her Soul. And both these differ from Enchantments or Sorceries, because they are perfonal Conferences with the Devil, as is already said; but these are bur Medicines, and ceremonial Forms of Words, called commonly Charms; without Apparition:

Conferbator of the Truce and Balescondutts, Conservator Indu iarum & salvorum Regis conductuum, was an Officer appointed in every Port of the Sea by the King's Letters Patent, and had 40 l. for his yearly Stipend at the least. Conservator of the Meace, Conservator vel Custos Pacis, Is he that hath an especial Charge, by Virtue of his Office, to fee the King's Peace kept; which Peace Lambard in Effect defineth to be a With-holding or Abstinence from that injurious Force and Violence, which boisterous and unruly Persons are in their Natures prone to use towards others, were they not restrained by Laws, wards others, were they not rettrained by Laws, and Fear of Punishment. Of these Conservators he farther saith thus, That before the Time of King Edward the Third, who first erected Justices of Peace, there were sundry Persons, that by the Common Law had Interest in keeping the Peace: Of those some had that Charge, as incident to their Offices which they did bear, and fo included within the same, that they were nevertheless called by the Name of their Office only: Some others had it simply, as of it self, and were there-fore named Custodes Pacis, Wardens, or Conserva-tors of the Peace. The former and later Sort he again subdivideth, which read in his Eirenarcha, lib. 1. cap. 3. The Corporation of the great Leagain individent, which read in this Extendent, lib. 1. cap. 3. Consideratio Cucia. 'Tis often mentioned in Law Pleadings; Ideo Consideratum est per Curiam, i. e. 'Tis adjudged by the Court; for Consideratio Curia is the Judgment of the Court, viz. as in Matt. Paris. Addit. pa. 97. Semper paratus est stare ad Considerationem parium suorum; and in the 2 Mon. pa. 221. Abstulit ei dictam terram per Considerationem Curiz sua, &c.

Consideration, Consideratio, Is that with us which the Greeks called ou dalayuz, that is the material Cause of a Contract, without which it would not be effectual or binding. This Confideration is either exprest, as if a Man bargain to give twenty Shillings for a Horse; or else implied, as when the Law it self enforceth a Consideration; as if a Man come into a common Inn, and there staying some Time, taking both Meat and Lodging for himself and his Horse, the Law prefumeth that he intends to pay for both, though nothing be farther covenanted between him and his Host. And therefore if he discharge not the House, the Host may stay his Horse. Fulbeck's Párall. trast. Contrasts, fol. 6. Also there is a Consideration of Nature and Blood, and valuable Consideration: And there are a Man be indebted to divers others, and yet in Confideration of natural Affection, gives all his Goods to his Son or Coufin, this shall be construed a fraudulent Gift, within the A& of 13 El. c. 5. because this A& intends a valuable Consideration.

Confittoz, a Magistrate so called; as, Testibus Rogero de Gant, Willielmo Consistore Cestria, Confistozy (Confistorium) fignifies as much as Pratorium, or Tribunal. It is commonly used for a Council-House of Ecclesiastical Persons, or the Place of Justice in the Court-Christian; Session or Assembly of Prelates. Every Archbishop and Bishop of every Diocese, hath a Consistory Court held before his Chancellor or Commissions. fary in his Cathedral Church, or other convenient Place of his Diocese, for Ecclesiastical Canses. See 3 Inst fol. 338. —— Sciatis vos omnes & cateri Dei fideles, qui in Anglia manent, quod Episcopales Leges, que non bene secundum Santtorum Canonum præcepta, usque ad mea tempora, in Regno Anglorum suerunt, communi Concilio Archiepis-coporum meorum & caterorum Episcoporum & Abbatum & omnium Principum Regni mei, emendendas judicavi. This Law, made by the Conqueror, seems to give the Original of the Bishop's Confistory, as it sits with us divided from the Hundred or County Court, wherewith in the Saxon Time it was joined. And, in the same Law of his, is further added, Hoc etiam defendo, ut nullus laicus bomo de Legibus qua ad Episcopum pertinent, se intromittat, &c. Selden's Hist. of Tithes, p. 413, 414.

Contentation, Confolidatio, It is used for uniting two Benefices in one. Broke, Tit. Union, and Anno 37 H. S. c. 21. This is taken from the Civil Law, where it signifies properly an Uniting of the Pofsellion or Profit with the Property. For Example, if a Man have by Legacy Usum fruttum fundi, and afterward buy the Property or Fee-simple of the Heir, Hoe casu consolidatio fieri dicitur. See Union and Unity of Possession, and the Stat. 22 Car. 2.

Conspiracy, Conspiratio, Though both in Latin and French it is used for an Agreement of Men, to do any Thing either good or bad; yet in Common Law it is always taken in pejorem partem. It is defined Anno 33 E. 1. Stat. 2. to be an A-greement of such as do conseder, and bind themselves by Oath, Covenant, or other Alliance, That every one of them shall bear and aid the other, falfly and maliciously to indict, or falfly to move or maintain Pleas, and also such as cause Children within Age, to appeal Men of Felony, whereby they are imprisoned, and fo grieved; and such as retain Men in the Countries with Liveries or Fees, to maintain their malicious Enterprises. And this extendeth as well to the Takers, as to the Givers. And Stewards and Bailiffs of great Lords, which by their Seigniory, Office, or Power, undertake to bear or maintain Quarels, Pleas or Debates, that concern other Par-ties, than such as touch the Estate of their Lords, or themselves. See 4 E. 3. cap. 11. 3 H. 7. c. 13. and also 1 H. 5. c. 3. and 18 H. 6. c. 12. and the New Book of Entries, werh. Conspiracy. In the Places before-mentioned, Conspiracy is taken more general rally

Champerty: But in a more special Signification, it is taken for a Confederacy of two at the least, falfly to indict one, or to procure one to he indicted of Felony. And the Punishment of Conspiracy, upon an Indiament of Felony, at the King's Suit, is that the Party attainted, lose his Frank-Law, to the Intent that he be not empannelled upon Juries of Affises, or such like Employments, for the tellifying of Truth. And if he have to do with the King's Court, that he make his Attorney, and that his Lands, Goods and Chattels be seised into the King's Hands, his and Chattels be lelled into the King's Hands, his Lands estreated, his Trees rosed, and his Body committed to Prison. 27 Ass. 59. Constable (Constabularius) is a Saxon Word compounded of Cyning, or Cyng, and Staple, which signify the Stay and Hold of the King. Lamb. Duty of Constables, num. 4. But I have seen it derived from Comes Stabuli, which seems more probable; because we had this Officer, and many others, from the Cafarean Laws and Customs of the Empire, as well as from the Saxons. But this Dignity, which originally was to take Care of the King's Stables, was afterwards made military; and the Comes Stabuli was then the chief General, called by our Saxon Ancestors Heretochii.

The Word is diverfly used: First, for the Constable of England; of whose great Dignity and Authority we find many Proofs in our Statutes and Chronicles. His Function confifts in the Care of the common Peace of the Land, in Deeds of Arms, and Matters of War. Lamb. ubi supra. With whom agrees the Statute of 13 R. 2. cap. 2. Stat. 1. which says, To the Court of the Constant ble and Marshal it appertains to have the Conu-sance of Contracts and Deeds of Arms and of War out of the Realm, and also of Thin's that touch War within, as Combats, Blasonry of Arms, &c.
But it may not meddle with Battle in Appeals, taining the Rites and Forms of Divine Offic nor generally with any other Thing that may be the Customs of Abbies and Monasteries.

rally, and is confounded with Maintenance and tried by the Laws of the Land. See Fortefine, cap. 32. and 4 Inst. fol. 123. and especially Pryn's Animad. on 4 Inst. fol. 71. Auciently he was called Princeps Militia Domus Regis.

The Constable of England was first created by William the Conqueror, and continued till the 13 H. 8. It was an Hereditary Dignity, and descended to Females; and the Constable held several Manors of the King, as being Constable of England. But it being so powerful a Dignity, it became troublesome to the Crown, and there-fore was laid aside by Henry VIII. and not created fince, but upon particular Occasions.

Out of this High Magistracy of Constable of England, (says Lambard,) were drawn those inferior Constables, which we call Constables of Hundreds and Franchises; and first ordained by the Statute of Winchester, 13 Ed. 1. which appoints, for Conservation of the Peace, and View of Armour, two Constables in every Hundred and Franchise, who in Latin are called Constabularii Capitales, High Constables; because Continuance of Time, and Increase both of People and Offences, hath under these made others in every Town called Petit Conftables, in Latin Sub-Conftabularii, which are of like Nature, but of inferior Authority to the other. The making a Petty Confiable belongs to the Lords of divers Manors, Jure Feudi. Of these read Smith de Rep. Angl. lib. 2. c. 22. Besides, these, there are Officers of particular Places, called by this Name, as Constable of the Tower. Staunds. Pl. Cor. fol. 152. Anno 1 H. 4. c. 13. Constat, Lat. is the Name of a Certificate, which the Clerk of the Pipe, and Auditors of the Exchequer, make at the Request of any Person who intends to plead or move in that Court, for Discharge of any Thing. Anno 3 & 4 E. 6. c. 4. and 13 Eliz. c. 6. The Effect of a Constat is the Certifying what does constare upon Record, touching the Matter in Question; and the Auditor's

Fee for it is 13s. 4d.

A Constat is held to be superior to a Certificate; because this may err or fail in its Contents, that cannot; as certifying nothing but what is evident upon Recerd. Also the Exemplifica-tion under the Great Scal of the Infolment of any Letters Patent is called a Constat. Coke on Littl. fol. 225. b. Consultation, Consultatio, Is a Writ whereby a Cause being formerly removed by Prohibition from the Ecclesiastical Court, or Court Christian, to the King's Court, is returned thither again; for the Judges of the King's Court, if upon comparing the Libel with the Suggestion of the Party, they do find the Suggestion false, or not proved, and therefore the Cause to be wrongfully called from Court Christian, then upon this Confultation or Deliberation, they decree it to be returned again: Whereupon the Writ in this Case obtained, is called a Confultation. Of this you may read the Reg. Orig. 44, 45. usque ad 58. Old Nat. Brev. fol. 32. F. N. B. f. 50. See also the Statute of the Writ of Consultation, Anno 24 Ed. I. and I Inft. fol. 105.

Contenement (Contenementum, as, contenemento suo) signifies his Countenance, Credit, or Reputation, which he hath, together with and by reason of his Freehold. And in this Sense does the Statute of 1 E. 3. and 34 E. 3. c. 7. and Old Nat. Br. use it, where Countenance is used for Contenement. The Armour of a Soldier is his Countenance; the Books of a Scholar, his Countenance, and the like. Coke, 2 Part. Inft. fcl. 28. Bratton, lib. 3. Tratt. 2. cap. 1. num. 3. And Sir Herry Spelman says, Contenementum est assimatio & conditions forma, qua quis in Repub. Substistit. But I rather think that Contenement lignifies that which is necessary for the Support and Maintenance of Men according to their several Quali-ties, Conditions, or State of Life: For in Magna Charta, cap. 14. you have these Words, A Freeman shall not be amerced for a small Fault, but after the Quantity of the Fault, and for a great Fault after the Manner thereof, saving to him his Contenement, or Freehold. And a Merchant likewise shall be amerced, saving to him his Merchandises; and a Villain, saving to him his Waynage. And Bratton, lib. 3. tratt. 2. cap. 1. nu. 3. hath these Words, Et sciendum quod miles & liber bomo non amerciabitur nist secundum mo-

Continual Claim, It is a Claim made from

Time to Time within every Year and Day, to Land or other Thing, which, in some respect, we cannot attain without Danger. As if I be diffeised of Land, into which, though I have Right unto it, I dare not enter, for fear of Death or Beating. It behoveth me to hold on my Right of Entry at the best Opportunity of me and mine Heir, by approaching as near it as I can once every Year, as long as I live; and so I save the Right of Entry to my Heir. Termes de la Ley. Again, If I have a Slave or Villain broken from me, and remaining any where within the ancient Demesne of the King, being in the Hands of the King, I cannot maintain the Writ De Nativo Habendo, as long as he continueth there; but if I claim him within the Year and Day, and so continue my Claim, until I can find him without that Compais, I may lawfully lay hold of him as mine own. F. N. B. fol. 7. 9. See more in Lit. verb. Continual Claim. And the New Bo.k of Entries, | Tit. Eodem; and Fleta, lib. 6. cap. 53. See Littl. lib. 3. cap. 7. and Stat. 32 Hen. 8.

Continuance is as Prorogatio in the Civil Law: Example; Continuance until the next Assis. Nat. Br. fol. 154. F. and 244. D. in both which Places it is faid, If a Record in the Treasury be alledged by the one Party, and denied by the other, a Certiorari thall be sued to the Treasurer. and the Chamberlain of the Exchequer; who, if they certify not in the Chancery that such a Record is there, or that it is likely to be in the Tower, the King shall fend to the Justices, repeating the Certificate, and will them to continue the Assise. In this Signification it is likewise used by Kitchin, fol. 202, and 199. and an. 11 H. 6. ca. 4. And Continuance of a Writ or Attion is from one Term to another, in Case where the Sheriff hath not returned or executed a former Writ, issued out in the faid Action.

Continuando is a Word used in a special Declaration of Trespass, when the Plaintiff would recover Damages for several Trespasses in the same Action: For, to avoid Multiplicity of Suits, a Man may in one Action of Trespass recover Damages for forty or more Trespasses; laying the first to be done with a Continuance to the whole Time in which the rest of the Trespasses were done; and is in this Form, Continuando transgrefsionem pradictam, &c. a pradicto die, &c. usque such another Day, including the last Trespass.

Contract

Contract, Is a Covenant, or Agreement with a lawful Confideration or Cause. West. Symbopart. 1. lib. t. sett. 10. or else one Thing must be given for another, which is called Quid pro Quo; as if I sell my Horse for Money, or covenant to make you a Lease of my Manor of Date, in Consideration of twenty Pounds; these are Good Contracts, because one Thing is given for another. But if a Man make Promise to me, That I shall have twenty Shillings, and that he will be Debtor to me thereof. and after Iask the twenty Shillings, and he will not deliver it; yet I shall never have an Assion to recover, because the Promise was no Contract, but a bare Promise; and, ex nudo Pasto non oritur Assio. But if any Thing were given for the twenty Shillings, tho it were but to the Value of a Penny, then had it been a Good Contract. Usurious Contract is a Contract to pay more Interest for Money than the Laws and Statutes of this Realm allow. It is a Devasavit in an Executor to pay a Debt upon an Usurious Contract. contra formam Collations, Is a Writ that lies, where a Man hath given Lands in perpetual Alms to any late Houses of Religion, as to an Abbot and Covent, or to the Warden or Master of any Hopital, and his Covent, to find certain poor Men, and do other Divine Service; if they alien the Land, then the Donor or his Heirs shall have the said Writ to recover the Lands. But this Writ shall be always brought against the Abbot, or his Successor, and not against the Abbot, or his Successor, and not against the Actions, where a Man demands Freehold, the Writ shall be brought against the Tenant of the Land. This is founded upon the Stat. of Westm. 2. c. 1. And of this see Reg. Orig. f. 238. and F. N. B. fol. 210.

Contra formant Frossamenti, Is a Writ that lies for the Heir of a Tenant, infeosfed of certain Lands or Tenements, by Charter of Feossament of a Lord, to make certain Services and Suits to his Court, and is afterwards distrained for more than is contained in the said Charter. Brev. fol. 162. bringeth these Examples, If Joint-Tenants, or Tenants in Common, hold a Mill pro indiviso, and equally take the Profits thereof, the Mill falling to decay, and one or more of them refusing to contribute towards the Reparation, the rest shall have this Writ to compel them. And if there be three Coparceners of Land that owe Suit to the Lord's Court, and the Eldest perform the Whole, then may she have this Writ to compel the other two to a Contribution of the Charge, or to one of them, if one only refuse. The Old Nat. Brev. frameth this Writ to a Case, where one only Suit is required for Land, and that Land being sold to divers, Suit is required of them all, or some of them by distress, as intirely as if all were still in one, sol. 103. Conberfozs. The Jews here in England were formerly called Conversos, viz. because they were converted to the Christian Religion. Henry III. built an House for them in London, and allowed them a competent Provision or Sublistance for their Lives; and this House was called Domus Conversorum. Tis mentioned by our Historians Matt. Parif. and Matt. Westm. Anno 1244. But by Reason of the vast Expences of the Wars, and the Increase of these Converts, they became a Burthen to the Crown; and therefore they were placed in Abbies and Monasteries for their Support and Maintenance. But the Jews being af-

Monarceners, Participes, are otherwise called Parcerners, and in Common Law are such as have equal Portion in the Inheritance of their Ancestor; and as Littleton in the Beginning of his third Book faith, Parceners be either by Law, or by Custom: Parceners by Law, are the Issue Female, which (no Heir Male being) come in Equality to the Lands of their Ancestors. Cope, By Domesday-Book, as Mr. Agar hath interpreted it, signifies a Hill. It denotes also, according to Mr. Manlove, in his Treatise of the Liberty and Customs of Mints, &c. printed 1653. a Cultom or Tribute due to the Lord of the Soil, or else to the King, out of the Lead-Mines, in some Part of Devonshire: His Words are thefe, -

Copps, A Cock of Grass, Hay, or Corn, so divided into tithable Portions. This is the true Sense of the Word in that Passage of Will. Thorn, inter X Script. col 1820. An. 1177. P Homines de Halmoto de Menstre in Thaneto--Pacti funt ges omnes suas coppare extunc & deinceps, (i. e. to set out their Hay and Corn into Copps or Cocks) & sic per coppas omnes decimas suas ipsi & baredes sui a modo, & in aternum legitime dare; i. e. by a just and equal Proportion of Tithing to pay the tenth Oock. This Authority the Learned Du Fresne cites in voce coppa; but seems to understand it only of cutting down their Corn; whereas it strictly denotes the Gathering or Laying up the Corn in Copes or Heaps, (as they do Barley, Oats, &c. not bound up) that it might be the more fairly and justly tithed. In Kent they still retain the Word A Cap of Hay, A Cap of Peafe, A Cap of Straw.

Copyloid, Tenura per Copiam Rotuli Curic, Is a Tenure for which the Tenant hath nothing to shew but the Copy of the Rolls made by the Steward of his Lord's Court; for the Steward, as he inrolleth and maketh Remembrances of all other Things done in the Lord's Court; fo he doth also of such Tenants as be admitted in the Court, to any Parcel of Land or Tenement be-longing to the Manor; and the Transcript of this is called The Copy of the Court-Roll, which is all the Tenant taketh from him, and keeps as his only Evidence. Co. lib. 4, f. 25. b. This Tenure is called A Base Tenure, because he holdeth at the Will of the Lord, Kitchin, f. 80. cap. Copybolds, F. N. B. f. 12. where 'tis faid, That it is wont to be called Tenure in Villenage, and that of Carbold is but a new Name: yet it is not simply Copyhold is but a new Name: yet it is not simply at the Will of the Lord, but according to the Custom of the Manor: So that if a Copyholder break not the Custom of the Manor, and thereby for-feit his Tenure, he seemeth not so much to stand at the Lord's Courtesy for his Right, that he may be displaced at his Pleasure. These Customs of Manors be infinite, varying in one Point or other almost in every several Manor: First, Some Copybolds are fineable at Will, and some certain: That which is fineable at Will, the Lord taketh at his Pleature; but if it exceed two Years Revenue, the Chancery, King's Bench, Common Pleas, or Exchequer, may reduce them to Reason. That which is certain is a Kind of Inheritance and which is certain, is a Kind of Inheritance, and called in many Places Customary, because the Tenant dying, and the Hold being void, the next of Blood, paying the Customary Fine, as two Shillings for an Acre, or such like, may not be deny'd his Admission. Secondly, Some Copybolders have by Custom, the Wood growing upon their own Land, which by Law they could not have. Kitchin, ubi fupra. Thirdly, Copybolders, some be such as hold by the Verge in ancient Demesses, and althos they hold by Copy, yet are they in Account a Kind of Freeholders; for if such a one commit Felorus the Kinebeck for the Police of the Commit Felorus the Kinebeck for the Police of the Commit Felorus the Kinebeck for the Police of the Committee of the C mit Felony, the King hath Annum, Diem & Vastum, as in case of Freebold. Some other hold by Common Tenure, called Meer Copyhold, and they committing Felony, their Land escheateth to the Lord of the Manor. Kitchin, f. 81. chap. Tenant per verge in ancient Demessee. Saxon Words, verbo Terra ex scripto. West. Color, Corodium, Signifies in the Common Law a Sum of Money, or Allowance of Meat, Drink and Cloathing, due to the King from an Abbey, or other House of Religion, whereof he is the Founder, towards the reasonable Sustenance of such a one of his Servants, being put to his Pension, as he thinketh good to bestow it on. And the Difference between a Corody and a Pension. on seemeth to be, That a Corody is allowed towards the Maintenance of any of the King's Servants that liveth in the Abbey; a Pension is given to one of the King's Chaplains, for his better Mainone of the King's Chaptains, for his better main-tenance in the King's Service, until he may be better provided of a Benefice. Of both these, read F. N. B. f. 230, 231, 233, who there setteth down all the Corodies and Pensions certain, that a-ny Abbey, when they stood, was, bound to per-form unto the King. There is Mention also of a form unto the King. There is Mention also of a Corody, in Staunds. Prarog. 44. And this appears an ancient Law; for in West. 2. cap. 25. it was ordained, That an Assis shall lie for a Corody: It is also apparent in the Statute 34 & 35 H. 8. cap. 26. That Corodies belonged sometimes to Bishops from Monasteries. And by the New Terms of the Law, That a Corody may be due to a Common Person, by Grant from one to another, or of Common Right, to him that is a Founder of a Religious House, not holden in Frank-Almoine, for that Tenure was discharged of all Corodies in it self: By which Book it appeareth also, That a Corody is either certain, or uncertain, and that it may be for Life, for Years, in 'Tail, or in Fee. See Termes de la Ley.

Corody seems to be ancient in our Laws; for in Westm. 2. c. 5. it is ordained that an Assis shall lie for a Corody. It is also apparent by the Statute 34 & 35 H. 8. c. 26. that Corodies belonged sometimes to Bishops and Noblemen from Monaster. Tenure in Frankalmoin was a Discharge of all Corodies in it self. Cozoner, (Coronator, a Corona) is an antient Officer of this Land, (for Mention is made of his Office, in King Athelftan's Charter to Beverley, an. 925). and is so called, because he deals wholly for the King and Crown. There are four of them commonly in every County, in some fewer, and in some Counties but one: They are chosen by the Frecholders of the same by the King's Writ, and not made by Letters Patent. Crompt. Jurisd. f. 126. This Officer, by the Statute of Westm. c. 10. ought to be a sufficient Person, that is, the most wise and discreet Knight that best would and might attend upon fuch an Office. There is a Writ in the Regist. Composation, (Corporatio,) a Body Politick, or a Body Incorporate; fo called, because the Per fons are made into a Body, and of Capacity to take and grant, &c. And this Body Politick or Incorporate may commence and he established three Manner of Ways, viz. by Prescription, by Letters Patent, or by Ast of Parliament. Every Body Politick or Corporate is either Ecclesiastical or Lay: Exclesiastical is either Regular, as Abbots Priors, & or Secular, as Bishops, Deans, Arch deacons, Parsons, Vicars, & Lay, as Mayor, Commonalty, Bailiff, and Burgesses, & c. Also every Body Politick or Corporate is either ele-Rive, presentative, collative, or donative. And again, it is either sole or aggregate of many, which last is by the Civilians called Collegium or Universitas. Coke on Litt. f. 250. and 3 Inft. f. 202.

the King and the Pope, when he had to do here; Corporation Spiritual, and of able Persons in Law, is where it consists of a Dean and Chapter, a Master of a College or Hospital; and this had Beginning from the King only.

Cozpozation Tempozal by the King, is where there is a Mayor and Commonalty. Corporation Temporal by Authority of the Common Law, is the Parliament, confitting of the King the Head; the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, the Body.

If Land be given to a Mayor and Commonalty for their Lives, they have an Estate by Intendment, not determinable: So it is, if a Feoffment be made of Land to a Dean and Chapter, with-out Mention of Successors. Release of a Mayor for any Sum of Money due to the Corporation in his own Name, is not good in Law, in case of a sole Corporation, as Bishop, Parson, Vicar, Master of Hospital, &c. No Chattel either in Action or Possession shall go in Succession; but the Executors or Administrators of the Bishop, Parson, &c. shall have them; but otherwise it is in case of a Corporation aggregate, as a Dean and Chapter, Mayor and Commonalty, and fuch like; for they, in Judgment of the Law, never die. Yet the Cafe of the Chamberlain of London, differs from all these; for his Successor may, in his own Name, have Execution of a Recognisance acknowledged to his Predecessor, for Orphanage-money; and the Reason is, because in this Case the Corporation of the Chamberlain is by Custom, which hath enabled the Successor to take such Recognisances, Obligations, &c. that are made to his Predecessor. And this Custom is founded upon great Reason; for the Executors or Administrators of the Chamberlain, ought not to intermeddle with such Recognisances, &c. which by the said Custom are taken in the Corporate Capacity of the Chamberlain, and not in his private.

Carined Biead (from the Sax. Cors, Execuatio and Nedde, compulsus) was a Kind of superstitious Trial used by our Saxons, by a Piece of Barley-Bread, first executed by the Priest, and then offered to the suspected guilty Person, to be swallowed in Way of Purgation: For they believed a Person, if guilty, could not possibly swallow a Morsel so accursed; or if he did, it would choak The Form was thus: We befeech thee, O Lord, that he who is guilty of this Theft, when the exorcifed Bread is offered to him in order to discover the Truth, that his Jaws may be shut, his Throat so narrow that he may not swallow, and that he may cast it out of his Mouth, and not eat it. Du Cange. These Pieces of Bread were consecrated or devoted by the Priest, to such religious Uses, of which the old Form, or Exorcismis panus hordeacei vel casei ad Probationem veri, is extant in Lindenbro gius, p. 107. In the Laws of King Canute, c. 6. Si quis altari ministrantium accusetur, & amicis dostitutus sit. cum Sacramentales non habeat, vadat ad Judicium quod Anglice dicitur Corsned, & fiat sint Deus velit, nist super sanctum Corpus Domini permitta-tur, ut se purget. From which, and some other Authorities, I am apt to think that this Corsned was at first the very Sacramental Bread, conse-crated and received with solemn Adjuration, and with devout Expectance it would prove mortal to those who had dared to swallow it with a Lie in their Mouth: Presuming on the continued Judgment of Sickness and Death to unworthy Receivers, mentioned by the Apostle, 1 Cor. 11. 29, 30. till possibly the Bishops and Clergy, vere afraid to prostitute the Communion Bread (especially when Transubstantiation required the more pro-found Respect) to such rash and conceited Uses: But however to indulge the People to their superstitious Fancies, and beloved Customs, they did allow them to practife the same judicial Rite, in eating some other Morsels of Bread, or Cheese, blest or curst to the like Uses. There is a famous Story of the perfidious Godwyn Earl of Kent, in the Time of Edw. Confess. who abjuring the Death or Murder of the King's Brother, did appeal at last to his Corfned, or imprecated Bread, which as a just Judgment of his solemn Perjury, stuck in his Throat, and choaked him. This Purgation Story is thus in short told by a con-- Cum Godwinus leth it: And Pliny, lib. 3. c. 10. says, Nullum ani-i fratris impeteretur, mal invidet homini fraudulentius. temporary Writer, Ingulph. -Comes in mensa Regis de nece sui fratris impeteretur, ille post multa Sacramenta, tandem per buccellam deglutiendans abjuravit & buccella gustata continuo suffocatus interist. — This among other rude and barbarous Ways of Purgation, was often condemned and by Degrees abolished. And yet we have still some Remembrance of this horrid Custom, in some of our usual Phrases of Adjuration; as I will take the Sacrament upon it,this Bread be my Poyson, - May this Bit be my last, &c.

Covenant, (Fadus,) the late folemn League and Covenant, first hatched in Scotland, was a seditious Conspiracy too well known to need any Explication. It was voted illegal and irreligious by Parliament in May 1661. and Provision is made against it by the Statute 14 Car. 2. c. 4. where it is declared to have been imposed on the Subjects of this Realm against the known Laws and Liberties of the same.

Couine, Covina, Is a deceitful Assent or Agreement between two, or more, to the Prejudice of another. As if a Tenant for Term of Life, or Tenant in Tail will fecretly conspire with another, that the other shall recover against the Tenant for Life, the Land which he holds, &c. in Prejudice of him in the Reversion. It cometh from the French Verb Covenancer, that is depacifci, or rather convenir, id est, convenire. Dr. Skinner takes it to be a Corruption of the Lat. Conventum, and therefore writes it Coven.

Count, Signifieth as much as the original Declaration in a Process, the more used in real than personal Actions, as a Declaration is more applied to personal than real. F. N. B. a. 60. d. 71. a. 191. e. 217. a. Libel with the Civilians comprehends both. And yet Count and Declaration be sometimes consounded, as Count in Debt. Kit. bin, f. 28t. Count or Declaration in Appeal. Pl. cor. 78. Count in Trespass. Briton, c. 26. Count in an Action upon the Case for a Slander. Kitch. 252. The Word seemeth to come from France and Normandy, for in the Grand Custumary, c. 64. Contours are taken for such as a Man retains to speak for him in any Court as Advocates; and c. 63. Pledeurs, he makes another Sort of Spokesmen in the Nature of Attornies, for one that is himself present, but suffereth another to speak in his behalf. But Contours by Horn's Mir. of Just. lib. 2. cap. Des Loyers, are such Serjeants, skilful in the Law, which serve the Common People to defend their Actions in Judicature for their Fee, whose Duty, if it be as is there described, and were observed, Men might have much more Comfort of the Law than they have.

Countee (Fr. Comté, a Comitando, because they accompany the King) was next to the Duke, the most eminent Dignity of a Subject before, as well as fince, the Conquest: And those who in ancient Time were created Countees, were Men of great Estate and Dignity: For which Cause the Law gives them great Privileges; as, their Persons may not be arrested for Debt, Trespass, &c. (because the Law intends that they affist the King with their Counsel for the publick Good, and preserve the Realm by their Prowess and Valour); they may not be put upon Juries. If Isfue be taken, whether the Plaintiff or Defendant be a Countee, or not, this shall not be tried by the Courtture, Is a French Word lignifying any Country, but by the King's Writ. Also the De-Thing that covers, as Apparel, a Coverlet, Sec. fendant shall not have a Day of Grace against a and deduced from Couorir, that is, tegere: In Lord of the Parliament, hecause it is intended he Law, it is particularly applied to the Estate and attends the Publick. And of old the Countee was Condition of a married Woman, who (by the Laws Prefettus, or Prepositus Comitatus, and had the of our Realm) is fub potestate vivi, and therefore Charge and Custody of the County, whose disabled to make Bargain with any, to the Pre- Authority the Sheriff now hath. flippeth, is like to account 'ere he can get out.

Countermand, Is where a Thing formerly executed, is afterwards by some Acts or Ceremony, made void by the Party that had first done it. As if a Man has made his last Will whereby he devises his Land to J. S. and then he enfeoffs another of the same Land; there this Feosiment is a Countermand to the Will, and the Will, as to the Disposition of the Land, is void. If a Woman, seised of Land in Fee, makes a Will in Writing, and devises, that if A. of B. survives her, then she devises and bequeaths to him and his Heirs her Land, and afterward she intermarries with the faid A. of B. there by taking him to Husband and Coverture, at the Time of her Death, the Will is countermanded.

Counterplea Is compounded of two French Words, Contre, i. e. contra, adversus; and Pleder. Causam agere; it fignifieth properly in our Common Law, a Replication to Ayde Prier; for when the Tenant by Curtefy, or in Dower, prayeth in Aid of the King, or him in the Reversion for his better Defence; or else if a Stranger to the Action begun, desire to be received, to say what he can for the Saseguard of his Estate; that which the Demandant alledgeth against this Request, why it should not be admitted, is call'd a Counterplea. And in this Signification it is used 25 E. 3. Stat. 3. cap. 7. See also the Terms of the Law, f. 172. and the Statute 3 E. 1. сар. 39.

Country, (Comitatus,)-Quod modo vocatur Comitatus olim apud Britones temporibus Romanorum vocabatur Consulatus; & qui modo vocantur Vicecomites tune temporis Viceconsules vocabantur. Leg. Edw. Confess, ca. 2. And even in the Confessor's Time a County was called Confultaus, viz. Fecit summo-niri per universos Anglia Confultaus nobiles sapientes Of sua Lege eruditos. Leg. Edw. Confessor, cap. 1. It signifies the same with Shire, the one coming from the French, the other from the Saxon; both containing a Circuit or Portion of the Realm, into which the whole Land is divided, for the better Government of it, and more easy Administration of Justice: So that there is no Part of this Nation that lies not within some County; and every County is governed by a yearly Officer, whom we call a Sheriff. Fortescue, cap. 24. Of these Counties there are four of special Mark, which therefore are termed Counties Palatine, as Lancaster, Chester, Durham, and Ely. An. 5 Eliz. cap. 23. We read also anciently of the Counties Palatine of Pembroke and Hexam, An. 33 H. 8. ca. 10. (which last did belong to the Archbishop ly called the Counters; whereinto, he that once tine of Hexam, within the County of Northumberland, no to the County Palatine of Ely, with-in the County of Cambridge, &c. But by the Statute 14 Eliz. cap. 15. this County Palatine of Hexam was stripped of its Privileges, and redu-ced to a Part of the County of Northumberland. The chief Governors of these Counties Palatine, by special Charter from the King, did heretofore fend out all Writs in their own Names, and did-all Things touching Justice as absolutely as the Prince himself in other Counties, only acknow-ledging him their Superior and Sovereign. Bratt. lib. 3. c. 7. & lib. 3. tratt. 2 cap. 12. Of these Counties, there are reckoned in England forty, besides twelve in Wales, making in all fifty-two. The Word Comitatus, is also used for a Jurisdiction, or Territory among the Feudists. See Comitatus.

Counting House of the King's Woushold, Domus Computus Hospitii Regis, Is commonly called The Green-cloth, because the Table stands always covered with a Green Cloth: Here sit the Lord Steward, Treasurer of the King's House, Controller, Master of the Houshold, Cofferer, two Clerks of the Green-cloth, and two Clerks Controllers, for daily taking the Accounts of all Expences of the Houfbold, making Provisions, and ordering Payment for the same; for the good Government of the King's Servants, and paying the Wages of those below Stairs. County Court, Curia Comitatus, by Lamburd is otherwise called Conventus, in his Explication of Saxon Words, and divided into two Sorts; one retaining the general Name, as the County-Court held every Month by the Sheriff, or his Deputy the Under-Sheriff, whereof you may read in Cromp. Furif. f. 231. The other called The Turn, held twice every Year; of which fee more in its proper Place. And Cromp. Furif. ibid. This County-Court had in ancient Times the Cognizance of Court Matters as may appear by Charile 12. Court had in ancient Times the Cognizance of great Matters, as may appear by Glanvile, lib. 1. cap. 2, 3, 4. by Bratton and Britton in divers Places, and by Fleta, lib. 2. cap. 62. but was abridg'd by the Statute of Magna Charta, c. 17. and much more by 1 E. 4. cap. 1. mong the Romans, had divers Significations; and with us also hath Diversity of Senses: As the House where the King remainerh with his ordinary Retinue, and also the Place where Justice is judicially administred, of which you find thirty-two several Sorts in Crompton's Book of Furisdictions well described, and of them most are Courts of Record, some be not; and therefore are accounted Base Courts, in Comparison of the Rest. Besides these, there are also Courts Christian, Smith de Rep. Angl. lib. 3. cap. 6. which are so called, because they handle Matters especially appertaining to Christianity, and such as, without good Knowledge in Divinity, cannot be well judged of, being held heretofore by Archbishops and Bishops, as from the Pope, because he chal-lenged the Superiority in all Causes Spiritual; but since his Rejection, they hold them by the King's Authority, virtute magistratus sui, as the Admiral of England holds his; whereupon it proceedeth, that they send out their Precepts in their own Names, and not in the King's, as the Justices of the King's Courts do. And therefore as the Appeal from these Courts did lie to Rome; now by the Stat. 25 H. S. c. 19. it lieth to the King in his Chancery.

ftitute. Court-Baron, (Curia Baronis) is a Court which every Lord of a Manor, (who in ancient Times were called Barons) hath within his own Precincs. Barons, in other Nations, have great Territories and Jurisdiction from their Sovereigns; but here in England, what they are and have been hereto-fore, see in Baron. Of this Court, and Court-Leet, read Kitchin. Sir Edward Coke, lib. 4. among his Copyhold Cases, fol. 26. b. says, That this Court is Twofold after a Sort; and therefore, if a Man, having a Manor, grant the Inheritance of the Copyholders to another, the Grantee may keep a Court for the customary Tenants, and accept Surrenders to the Use of others, and make both Admittances and Grants; the other Court is of Freeholders, which is properly called the Court-Baron, wherein the Suitors, that is, the Freeholders, are Judges; whereas of the other, the Lord or his Steward is Judge. > Court Chaistian, (Curia Christianitatis,) so called, because, as in secular Courts, the King's Laws do sway and decide Causes; so in Ecclesia-stical Courts, the Laws of Christ should rule and direct; for which Cause, the Judges in those Courts are Divines, as Archbishops, Bishops, Archdeacons, &c. Lyndewode's Words are these: In curia Christianitatis, i. e. Ecclesia, in qua servantur Leges Christi, cum tamen in foro regio serventur Leges mundi. 2 Part Inst. f. 488. Sec before in Court.

But under the specious Pretence of judging according to the Laws of Christ, there was a Complaint made against the Bishops long before the Reformation, That they had extended their Jurisdiction so far, that they had lest very little Business for the secular Judges; for they assure the County and program and the Ladice was a county and the secular secula the Judicature over the Clergy, and every one who had Tonsure; and for that Purpose they would cause a great Number of Boys to be shaved: And though they had no legal Jurisdiction in criminal Cases, of the Clergy, but only in the Execution of the Sentence, which was Degradation; yet they judged likewise in those Cases, and in all spiritual Causes whatsoever; in Cases of Tithes and other Profits arising to the Church; in Cases relating to the Faith and Sacraments; in Cases of Heresies; of any Violence done to the Church or to the Clergy; of Fornication and Adultery; of the Privileges of those who had taken upon themselves the Sign of the Cross; of all mutrimonial Causes; of Bastardy and Legitimation; of last Wills and Testaments, and of Lands and Tenements which were given in Alms; of Usury, &c. drocium. This perhaps is the only Word that exercised, and cscaped the Sagacity of the very acute Sir Henry Spelman; who in his Gloffary, expresses it to this Ested: I bear there is in Ireland a Charter of King Henry II. wherein he grants very ample Privileges to a certain Bishop, tis Forestallis, thesauro invento, crociis, &c. What is meant here by croclis, I have endeavoured to find, but can make no Answer; if it be any Thing else than the Cro in the Scotish Law, that is, the Worngild, or Composition for Manslaughter. For though that Prince had taken away the Customs of Weregild from his Subjects, yet be left them entire among the Irish.

This Miltaken Sense of a Word, is yet rare in Spelman; but it is not so much a Wonder, that Du Fresne should not find the true Meaning of it, which yet seems very obvious. For Crocia was no more than the Crosser, or Pastoral Staff, which Bishops and Abbats had the Privilege to carry, as the common Enfign of their religious Office; as being invested in their Prelacies, by the Delivery of fuch a Crosser. Hence the Word Crocium and Crocia, did sometimes denote the Colletion or Dispofal of Archbishopricks and Abbies, by the Donation of such Pastoral Staff. So as when the King granted large Jurisdiction, &c. exceptis Cro ciis, it is meant, except the Collation or Investiture of Episcopal Sees and Abbies.

In some ancient Deeds Crusta occurs, as the Latin Word for a Crost; but cum Tostis & Crostis is most frequent. Crost is translated by Abbo Floriacensis, by Pradium, a Farm. It seems to come of the old Fraish. Word Crosts, which signifies thanks by Predium, a Farm. It seems to come of the old English Word Crease, which signify'd Handicrast, because such Grounds are for the most part

Mulphit is compounded of two Words, i. e. Cul and Prit, viz. Cul, which is the Abbreviation of Culpabilis, and is a Reply of a proper Officer in the Behalf of the King, affirming the Party to be guilty after he hath pleaded Nor guilty, with-out which the Issue is not joined: The other Word Prit is derived from the French Word Prest, i.e. ready; and 'tis as much as to fay, That he is ready to prove the Party guilty: And this we find to be often the Form of Pleading in civil Causes; as in Trespass, the Desendant pleaded Not guilty, the Plaintiff replied by his Counsel

Euldertage, Culvertagium, May be interpreted Cowardice, as Omnes cum equis & armis; justi sub nomine Culvertagii convenire. Mat. Paris fol. 233. Culvertagium dictum puto a Columbina timiditate, nam Culver idem est quod Columba. Spelm. in voce Niderling. Others fancy it a Culum vertendo, i.e. Running away. These are the Opinions of some Men, but without any Foundation; it rather signifies some base Slavery, or the Confiscation of Estate, viz. Rex Johannes brevi suo ad vicecomites. jussit, ut nullus remaneat qui arma portare possit sub nomine Culvertagii & perpetua servitutis: And in another Place, Nibil magis quam opprobrium Culvertagii metuentes. Matt. Paris. Anno 1212. It feems therefore to be the same with Couvrir le feu, for when a Lord scizes his Vassal's Estate as forfeited, he is said Couvrir le feu, to cover or put out his Fire. Du Cange. Therefore the true Sense of the Word is not Cowardice, but Confiscation, or Forfaiture of Lands and Goods: It was a Norman Feudal Term for Lands of the Vaffal escheating to the Lord: And fub nomine culver-tagii was under Pain of Confiscation.

Curia, It was usual for the Kings of England to affemble the Bishops, Peers, and great Men of the Kingdom to some particular Place, at the chief Festivals in the Year, and this Assembly is chief rettivals in the Year, and this Atlembly is called by our Historians, Curia; because there they consulted about the weighty Affairs of the Nation, and therefore it was sometimes called Solennis Curia, generalis Curia, augustalis Curia, and Curia publica, &c. This Word was sometimes taken for the Persons, or seudatary and other customary Tenants, who did their Suit and Service at the Court of the Lord: So in a Charter of Barnard de St. Walery Anna 20 H. 2, we find of Bernard de St. Walery, Anno 30 H. 3. we find, Hiis testibus, &c. & omni curia mea. Austom, Consuetudo, Has all one Signification with our common Lawyers and Civilians, being by both accounted a Part of the Law: Consuetudo defined, Custom is a Law or Right not written, which being established by long Use, and the Consent of our Ancestors, hath been, and is daily practised. Our Ancestors, that is, Majores; and those of our Kindred that are ultra tritavum. than the Son, as Pubertas, or the Years of Gene-neration do require; the Grand-father so much elder than him, and so usque ad tritavum; we cannot say. That this or that is a Custom, unless we can justify it hath continued so at least one Hundred Years. For Tritavus must be so much elder than the Party that pleaded it; yet because that is hard to prove, it is enough for the Proof of a Custom, if two or more Witnesses can depose, That they heard their Fathers say, That it was a Custom all their Time, and that their Fathers heard their Fathers also say, That it was likewise a Custom in their Time. If it is to be rathers neard their Fathers also say, That it was likewise a Custom in their Time. If it is to be protonotaries get of the Court a Peremptory Day, proved by Record, the Court and Hundred Years will serve. Davie's Rep. fol. 32. Custom in Arrest of Judgment, which Day being past, is either General, or Particular. General, I call that which is allowed through all England, where-of you may read divers in Dost. and Stud. lib. 1 call the Roll of the Court: And that done here up as Custom doth, but is pleadable in a far shorter Time, viz. five Years, one Year, or less: Example of five Years Prescription you have in the levying of a Fine; for if a Fine duly levied of Lands and Tenements be not impugned within five Years, it excludeth all Claim for ever. And if a Man omit his continual Claim for ever. if a Man omit his continual Claim for a Year and a Day, then the Tenant in Possession preferibeth an Immunity against the Entry of the Demandant, and his Heir. De Usucap. Er long. temp. prescript. So that Brissens in his 14. lib. de verb. signif. saith truly; That Prescription is an Exception founded upon so long Time past, as the Law limiteth for the Pursuit of any Action. An Example may be taken from the Statute, I. H. 8. cap. 4. which enacteth, That in all Actions popular, Information shall be made within three Years after the Offence committed. or else ons popular, Information shall be made within three Years after the Offence committed, or else be of no Force. Of like Nature is the Statute 7 H. 8. cap. 13. which in some Cases makes one Years Prescription sufficient against Informations. Custom is also used for the Tribute, or Toll that Merchants pay to the King, for the Carrying in and out of Merchandise. 14 E. 3. Stat. 1. cap. 21. But when the Plaintiff declares the Wrong done to him, to the Damage of such a Sum, this is to be taken relatively, for the Wrong which is passed before the Writ brought, and are assessed by Reason of the Trespass aforesaid, and cannot extend to Costs of Suit, which are future, and of another Nature. mages are incertain, which the Plaintiff must pay to the Prothonotary, or Chief Officer of that Court, wherein they are recovered, before he shall have Execution for them. This was no other originally than a Gratuity given to the Prothonotaries and their Clerks, for drawing special Writs and Pleadings, which afterwards grew to a Certainty; and was, as some have fancied, of old, a tenth Part of the Damages recovered: For it appears by ancient Records, that it hath been incertain, fometimes a Sixth, and at other Times a Third Part. Days: Man, In some Northern Parts of Eng-observes, in his Annotations on Heb. 10. 25. That the Word Day, in all Idioms, doth lignify Judgment. So i Cor. 3. 13. Arlponim nuieg, is fluman Judgment. And on this Oceasion, it may not be improper to observe, (because no Notice has been yet taken of so small a Matter) that the Addition of Dey or Day, to the Doom-book, or Liber Fudicialis, the General Survey, in Time of Will. Conq. was not meant with any Allusion to the Final Day of Judgment, as most Persons have conceited: For Day does not augment the Sense of the Word, but only doubles, and confirms the same Meaning: I say, The Syllable dey or day, in that Composition, does not really signify the Measure of Time, but the Administration of Judice. stice. So as Domesday-Book is but more emphatically, the judicial decisive Record, the Book of dooming Judgment, and decreeing Justice.

Daveris, The Dayrie, Dairy, It is derived by Dr. Skinner from the Fr. Derriere, as if the Dairy were on the back Part, or behind the rest of the House. The learned Fr. Junius is no more happy, when he refers it to the Greek, Dailes, & per Syncopen, δαίεσ. Hesychio exponitur Δωήειων έμπεις , gnara, perita. Non enim cujusois est curare lacticinia, sed a lacticiniis edulie concinnatarum singulari rusticarum rerum experientia imbutam esse oportet. Omnino interim buc pertinet, quod Gallis Dariole dicitur cibi genus, quod iisdem Gallis alias nuncupatur, Laicteron, vel Flan de Laict. Ac fortasse quoque Darnis ab eadem origine; Darcre dictum est jentacu-lum, quod Septentrionales lasticiniis jentare sunt soliti. Both these Conceits of Skinner and Junius, are trifling Conjectures. And indeed nothing has more exposed the noble Studies of Etymology, than numbred among the Spices and Drugs to be gar-bled. I fac. 19.

Dative, or Datife, That may be given, or have made such odd and far fetcht Allusions, as nothing but a like Heat of Fancy, could imagine or believe. But to return, the Word Deirie or Dairy is originally English, from Day, Deie, Sax. Dag; and fignified at first the daily Yield of Mileb-Cows, or the daily Profit made of them. As a Day-were of Land, was one Day's ploughing, which the French called Journal, Lat. Fornale; and our Mid-land Farmers still call a Fourny. So in Lorrain and Champaigne, they now use the Work, and receive the Wages of it. Hence any young Artificer, who affifts a Master Workman, is still called a Journey-man. As a Thresher, Hedger, &c. who works by the Day, is termed a Days-man. And I am apt to think, that the Wo-man hired by the Day, to help in the Kitchin, &c. usually called a Chair-woman, is no more than a four woman, or fourne-woman. A Dairy in the North, is called The Milkness; as the Dairy-maid, is in all Parts a Milk-maid: She is cal-led Androchia by Fleta, lib. 2. cap. 87. Androchia pudica esse debet, & laboriosa dacria — Compotus Henrici Deye, & Johanna uxoris sua, de omnibus you may read the Statutes 51 H. 3. cap. 1, 2.

Deadly seud (Feuda & Faida) is a Prosession of an irreconcileable Enmity, till we are revenged even by the Death of our Enemy. It is deduced from the German Word (Feed) which, as Hottoman, (in verbis Feudalibus) faith, Modo bellum, modo capitales inimicitias fignificat. It is used Anno 43 Eliz. 12. And such Enmity and Revenge was allowed by our ancient Laws in the Time of the Saxons, viz. where any Man was killed, if a pecuniary Satisfaction was not made to the Kindred, it was lawful for them to take up Arms and revenge themselves on the Murderer, and this is called Deadly Feud, and probably this was the Original of an Appeal.

Dean, (Gr. Dianor a d'éno, decem) is an Ecclesiastical Magistrate or Dignitary, so called, because he presides over Ten Canons or Prebendaries at the least. We call him a Dean that is under the Bishop, and Chief of the Chapter, or-dinarily in a Cathedral-Church; and the Rest of the Society or Corporation we call Capitulum, the Chapter. But how diversly this Word is used, read Lyndewode. Tit. De Constitut. cap. 1. verbo, Decani Rurales; where Rural Deans are said to be certain Persons that have Jurisdiction Ecclesiastical over other Ministers and Parishes near adjoining, assigned them by the Bishop and Archdeacon, being placed and displaced by them: Such are the Dean of Croyden in Surrey, Dean of Battel in Sussex, &c.

As there are two Foundations of Cathedral-Churches in England, the old and the new, (the new are those which Henry the Eighth upon Suppression of Abbies transformed from Abbot, or Prior and Convent, to Dean and Chapter) so there are two Means of creating these Deans: For those of the old Foundation were exalted to their Dignity much like Bishops; the King sirst fending out his Conge d'Eslire to the Chapter, the Chapter then chusing, the King yielding His Royal Assent, and the Bishop confirming him, and giving his Mandate to instal him. Those of the new Foundation are by a shorter Course installed, by Virtue of the King's Letters Patent, without either Election or Confirmation. This Word is also applied to divers that are the Chief of certain peculiar Churches or Chapels, as the Dean of the King's Chapel, the Dean of the Arches, the Dean of St. George's Chapel at Windsor. &c. Are common Latin Words, but their Meaning is something more dark: As thus, To take or do a Thing de bene esse, is to allow or accept for the present, till it comes to be more fully examined, and then to stand or fall, according to the Merit of the Thing, in its own Nature, so that valeat quantum valere potest. So in Chancery, upon Motion for one of the less principal Defendants to be examined, the Court some-rimes will order it de bene esse, that is, he may be examined, but so, that upon Hearing, and fully examining the Case, his Deposition may be allowed, or suppressed, as the Court shall think sit. See Langham's Case, Cro. 3 par. fol. 68. So also at Common Law, the Judges frequently take Bail de bene esse, that is, to be allowed or disallowed upon the Exception, or Approbation of the Plaintiff's Attorney; however in the Interim, they have a Well-being, or conditional Allowance.

Debenture was by a Rump-Att in 1649, ordained to be in the Nature of a Bond or Bill, to charge the Commonwealth (forfooth) to pay the Soldier-Creditor, or his Assigns, the Sum due upon auditing the Account of his Arrears. The Form of which Debenture, as then used, you may see in Scobel's Rump-AAs, Anno 1649, cap. 63. The Word is also mentioned in the Act of Oblivion, 12 Car. 2. cap. 8. Sect. 7. and is used in the Exchequer. Sec Auditor of the Receipts. In the King's House, Debentures are given usually to the King's Servants, for the Payment of their Wages, Board-Wages, and the like.

Debet & folet, Are Words frequently used by the Writers of the Common Law. For Example, it is said in the Old Nat. Brev. fol. 98. This Writ de festa Molendini, being in the debet & folet, is a Writ of Right, &c. And again, fol. 69. a Writ of Quod permittat, may be pleaded in the County before the Sheriff, and it may be in the debet & folet, or in the Debet without the Solet, according as the Demandant claimeth; wherefore Note, That those Writs that be in this Sort brought, have these Words in them, as formal Words, not to be omitted: And according to the Diversity of the Case, both debet and folet, or debet alone: That is, if a Man sue to recover any Right by Writ, whereof his Ancestor was disseised by the Tenant, or his Ancestor, then he useth only the Word debet in his Writ; because folet is not fit, by reason his Ancestor was disseised, and the Custom discontinued: But if he sue for any Thing that is now first of all denied, then he useth both these Words, debet & folet; because his Ancestors before him, and he himself usually enjoyed the Thing sued for, as Suit to a Mill, or Common of Pasture, until the present Refusal of the Tenant. The Like may be said of Debet & Detinet: As appeareth by the Reg. Orig. in the Writ De debito, fol. 140.

Devito, or De debito, Is a Writ which lieth, where a Man oweth to another a certain Sum of Money, upon an Obligation, or other Bargain, for any Thing fold unto him. F. N. B. fol. 119. This Writ is sometimes made in the Detinet, and not in the Debet, which properly falleth out, where a Man oweth an Annuity, or a Quantity of Wheat, Barley, or such like, which he re-fuseth to pay. This Writ is either Original, or Judicial; as appeared by the Old. Nat. Brev. fol. 50. where you may read the Use of both: For some Satisfaction, take the Words of that Book; This Writ of De-ceit, when it is Original, lieth in Case where De-cett is used by one Man to another, by which Deceit he may be disherted, or otherwise evilintreated, as appeareth by the Register, &c. And when it is Fudicial, then it lieth out of the Rolls of Record; as in Case where a Scire facias is sent to the Sheriff, that he warn a Man to be before the Justices at a certain Day, and the Sheriff returns the Writ served, whereas the said Man was not warned, by which the Party that fued out the Scire facias recovereth; then the Party which ought to have been warned, shall have the faid Writ against the Sheriff. In the Terms of the Law, verbo Deceit, it is said, That the Original Writ of Deceit lieth, where any Deceit is done by a Man to another, so that he hath not sufficiently performed his Bargain, or Promise: In the Writ Judicial, he concurreth with the former Book. See Reg. Orig. fol. 112. and the Regist. Judicial, in the Table, verbs Deceptione.

bo, Decies tantum.

Decime, Tithes: 'Tis well known what is meant by Tithes in the Old Testament, but 'tis not so plain in the New Law, when Tithes were first given to the Priests: Some are of Opinion that it was not long before the Time of Charles the Great; and particularly Father Paul, in his Italian Treatise Di materie beneficiali. But this must be a Mistake; because we find that in the second Council of Matiscon, Anno 585. cap. 5. it was long before that Time, viz. Leges divina consulentes sacerdotibus Ecclesiarum pro bareditatis portione omni po-pulo praceperunt, Decimas fructuum suarum, &c. Unde Statuimus ut mos antiquus a fidelibus reparetur, & Decimas Ecclesiasticis samulantibus ceremoniis populus omnis inferat. &c.

Decimation, Decimatio, The Punishing every tenth Soldier by Lot, was termed Decimatio Legionis: It may be stretched to signify Tithing, or paying the tenth Part. There was another Sort of Decimation in the late Times of Usurpation, which too many of his Majesty's Loyal Subjects

It signifieth in the ancient Monuments of our Law, such as were wont to have the Overlight and Check of Ten Friburghs, for the Maintenance of the King's Peace; and the Limits or Compass of their Jurisdiction was called Decenna. Brast. lib. 3. trast. 2. cap. 15. Of whom you may also read Fleta, lib. 1. cap. 27. and Reg. Orig. fol. 98. b. These seemed to have large Authority in the Saxons Time, taking Cognisance of Causes within their Circuit, and redressing Wrongs by Way of Judgment, as you may read in the Laws of King Edward, fet out by Lamb. numb. 32. In later Times Mention is made of these, as in Britton, cap. 12. who saith in the King's Person (as he writeth his whole Book in that Manner) 'We will that all those that be fourteen Years old, shall make Oath, that they will be fufficient and loyal unto Us, and that they will neither be Felons, or affenting to Felons; and We will that all be en dozeine & pleuis per dozeners, that is, profess themselves of this or that dozeine, and make or offer Surety of their Behaviour, by these or those Dozeniers, except religious Persons, Clerks, Knights, and their eldest Sons, and Women. Yer the same Author in his 29 Chapter, towards the End, doth fay, That all of twelve Years old, and upwards, are punishable for not coming to the Turn of the Sheriff, except Earls, Prelates, Barons, Religious Persons, and Women. Staunds plac. cer. f. 47. out of Fitzherbert hath these Words, 'The fame Law is, where the Dazeniers make Pre-fentment, that a Felon is taken for Felony, and delivered to the Sheriff, &c. And Kitchin, out of the Register, and Britton saith thus, Religious Persons, Clerks, Knights, or Women, shall not be Deciniers, fol. 33. From all which Premisses may be gathered, That of late Times, this Word fignifieth nothing but such a one as by Outh of Loyalty to his Prince, is settled in the Combination or Society of a Dozein. And a Dozeine seemeth to extend so far as every Leet extendeth; because in Leets only this Oath is ministred by the Steward, and taken by such as are twelve Years old, and upwards, dwelling within the Compass of the Leet, where they are sworn. F. N. B. fol. 161. a. The particular of this Oath you may read in Bratton, lib. 3. tratt. 2. cap. 1. num. 1. where he fetterh down Fifteen Years for the Age of those that are sworn to the King's Peace; but lib. 3. trast. 2. cap. 11. num. 5. he nameth Twelve Years. See Inlaughe. From hence we may note the Diversities between the ancient and present Times, in this Point of Law and Government, as well for the Age of those that are to be sworn, as also that Decennier is not now used for the Chief Man of a Dozen, but him that is sworn to the King's Peace: And lastly, That now there are no other Dozeins, but Leet; and that no Man ordinarily giveth other Security for the Keeping of the King's Peace, but his own Oath. And that therefore none answereth for another's Trangression, but every Man for himhave so much sad Cause to remember, that I need self. See Frank pledge, and 2 par. Inst. fol. 37 not renew the Memory of it.

Regino, Burchardus, Anselmus Bishop of Luca, and Ivo Bishop of Chartres; and afterwards by Gratian, who lived in the Pontificate of Eugenius the Third: And because his Compilation was generally received and approved by the Church, it was called The First Collection of the Decretals; of which you may read at large in Baluzius, in his Preface to the Dialogues of Anthony Augustine, &c. In this were contained the Decrees of Alexander the Third, to the Time of Celestine the Third.

The Second Collection of the Decretals was performed by Gilbertus and Alanus, and came out under the Name of Volateran; who Twelve Years after the First Collection published this Second, containing not only the Decretals of former Popes, but those of Celestine the Third.

The Third Collection was begun by James Ma-jor Archdeacon of Compostella, and collected out of the Registers of Innocent the Third: It was called Romana Compilatio: But because there were many Things in it not generally received, therefore that Pope was prevailed on that by his Authority some Person might be appointed to make another Collection; and accordingly Petrus Beneventanus, a Notary, was appointed for that Work, which was the first Collection that was published by Authority.

The Council of Lateran, held under the same Pope Innocent, was the Occasion of publishing the fourth Collection: In which Council there were several Canonsmade, and reduced under Seventyone Chapters. That Pope having, in the Space of five Years after the Publishing the third Collection, made many more Decrees himself, there were two Editions printed; one of the Canons of that Council, and another of his own Constitutions. And this was called The fourth Collection.

The fifth Collection consists of the Constitutions of Honorius the Third, collected by Tancred, Archdeacon of Bologna, and published by Innocentius Cyronus under the Name of that Pope. Du

Deed, (Factum) is an Instrument written in Parchment or Paper, confisting of three Things, viz. Writing, Sealing, and Delivery, and compre-hending a Contract or Bargain between Party and Party. Of which there are two Sorts, Deeds indented and Deeds Poll; which Names arise from the Form or Fashion of them, the one being cut in and out in the Top or Side, which we call Indented, the other being plain. A Deed indented is a Deed confishing of two Parts, or more, (for there are Tripartite, Quadrupartite, and Semptempartite Deeds; as that of Henry 7. concerning his Royal Chapel at Westminster,) in which it is expressed, That the Parties thereto have to every Part there-of interchangeably set their several Scals. The Cause of their Indenting is, that it may appear they belong to one Business or Contract. A Deed Poll, or polled (anciently called Charta de una parte, or Charta simplex,) is a plain Deed without Indenting; and is used, when the Vendor for Example only scals, and there is no Need of the Vendee's Sealing a Counterpart, by Reason the Nature of the Contract is such, as it re-quires no Covenant from the Vendee; unless in nabiliter de eo, quod de Regis agitur Praposito, (viz.)

Demain or Demesne, (Dominicum, Gallis Domanium, Italis Demanium) Is a French Word otherwise written Domaine, and signifieth Patrimonium Domini, as Hottoman saith in verbis feudalibus, verbo Domini. cum, where by divers Authorities he proveth those Lands to be Dominicum, which a Man holdeth originally of himself, and those to be feedum which he holdeth of a superior Lord. And by the Word Domanium as Demanium, are properly signified the King's Lands in France, appertaining to him in Property. In like Manner do we use it in England, although we have no Land (that of the Crown only excepted) which holdeth not of a Superior, for all dependeth either mediately or immedi ately of the Crown, wherefore no common Person hath any Demains simply understood; for when a Man in pleading, would signify his Land to be his own, he saith, That he is or was seised thereof in his Demain, as of Fee, Litt. lib. 1. cap. 1. whereby he meaneth, that although his Land be to him and his Heirs for ever, yer it is not true Demain, but depending upon a superior Lord, and holding by Service, or Rent in lieu of Service, and by both Service and Rent; yet these Words have been used in the King's Right. 37 H. 8. cap. 16. and 39 Eliz. 22. But the Application of this Speech to the King and Crown-Land is crept by Error and Ignorance of the Word Fee. Britton, cap. 78. sheweth, That this Word Demain is diversly taken, sometimes more largely, as of Lands and Tenements held for Life, &c. and sometimes more strictly, as for such only as are generally held in Fee. This Word sometime is used for a Distinction between those Lands, that the Lord of a Manor hath in his Hands, or in the Hands of his Lessee, demised upon a Rent, for Term of Years or Life, and such other Land appertaing to the said Manor, which belongeth to Free or Copy Holders. How-beit, the Copyhold belonging to any Manor, is also in the Opinion of many good Lawyers accounted Demains. Bracton, lib. 4. tract. 3. ca. 9. num. 5. saith, Est autem Dominicum, quod quis habet ad mensam suam & proprie, sicut sunt Bordlands Anglice. Item dicitur Dominicum Villenagium, quod traditur villanis quod quis tempestive & intempestive sumere possit pro voluntate sua & revocare. Of this Fleta also writeth much after the same Manner. Lib. 5. cap. 5. fett. Dominicum autem. And the Reason why Copyhold is accounted Demains, is because they that be Tenants to it, are judged in Law to have no other Right, but at the Will of the Lord; so that it is reputed still after a Sort to be in the Lord's Hands. And yet in the common Speech, that is ordinarily called Demeans, that is neither Free nor Copy. And here note, That Demain is fometimes used in a more special Signification, and is opposite to Frank-Fee. For Example, those Lands which were in the Possession of Edward the Confessor, are called ancient Demain, and others be called Frank-Fee. Kitchin, fol. 98. And the Tenants which hold any of those Lands be called Tenants in ancient Demain, the other Tenants in Frank-Fee. Kitchin, ubi supra. And also Tenants of the Common Law. West. Symbol. part. 2. Tit. Fines, set. 25. The Reason is, because Tenants in ancient Demain cannot be sued out of the Lord's Court. Termes de la Ley, verbo Ancient Demaine. Demand (Fr. Demande, i. e. Postulatio) significs a Calling upon a Man for any Thing duc. It hath also a proper Signification, distinguished from Plaint: For all Civil Actions are pursued either by Demands or Plaints; and the Pursuer is called Demandant or Plaintiff, viz. Demandant in Actions Real, and Plaintiff in Personal. And where the Party pursuing is called Demandant, the Party pursued is called Tenant; where Plaintiff, there Defendant. If a Man release to another all Demands, this is the best Release the Releasee can have, and shall enure most to his Advantage. Littl. fol. 117. a. There are two Manner of Demands; the one in Deed, the other in Law: In Deed, as in every Precipe, there is express Demand: In Law, as in every Entry in Land, Distress for Rent, Taking or Seising of Goods, and such like Asts, which may be done without any Words, are Demands in Law.

As a Release of Suits is more large than of Ouarrels or Astions: So a Release of Demands in Quarrels or Actions; so a Release of Demands is more large and beneficial than either of them. By a Release of all Demands, all Executions and all Freeholds and Inheritances executory are released: By a Release of all Demands to the Disseifor, the Right of Entry in the Land, and all that is contained therein, is released. And he that releaseth all Demands, excludes himself from all Actions, Entries, and Scisures; but a Release of all Demands is no Bar in a Writ of Error to reverse an Outlawry. Coke, lib. 8. s. 153, 154.

Demurrer (from the Fr. Demeurer, i.c. Manere in aliquo loco, vel morari,) is a Kind of Pause or Stop put to the Proceedings of any Action upon a Point of Difficulty, which must be determined by the Court, before any further Proceedings can be had therein: For in every Action the Controverfy consists either in Fact or in Law; if in Fact, that is tried by the Jury; if in Law, the Case is plain to the Judge, or so hard and rare, as it breeds just Doubt. We call that plain to the Judge wherein he is affured of the Law, though perhaps the Party and his Counsel yield not to it. And in such Case, the Judge with his Associates proceeds to Judgment without more a-do; but when it is doubtful, then Stay is made, and a Time taken, either for the Court to consider further of it, and agree if they can, or else for all the Judges to meet together in the Exchequer-Chamber, and upon Hearing what Counsel can say on both Sides to determine what is Law. And whatsoever they conclude stands firm, without any farther Appeal. Smith de Repub. Angl. lib. 2. cap. 13. This Demurrer is in our Records expressed in Latin by Moratur in Lege. At the Common Law, the Defendant sometimes demurreth to the Plaintiff's Count or Declaration; and fometimes the Plaintiff demurs to the Defendant's Plea, by averring that it is not a sufficient Plea in Law, Plaintiff's Bill, averring it is defective in such or fuch a Point, and demands the Judgment of the Court thereupon, whether he shall be compelled to make any further or other Answer thereunto, Sec. Denelage, or Danelage, Denelagia, Is the Law that the Danes made here in England, out of which, and Merchenlage and West Saxon-lage, the Conqueror compounded certain Ordinances for his Subjects. Cambd. Brit. p. 94, & 183. Denizen, From the French Donaison, i. Donatio, fignifies in Law an Alien that is enfranchifed by the King's Charter, and inabled in all respects almost to do as the King's native Subjects do, viz. to purchase and to possess Lands, and to be capable of any Osses or Dignity; yet it is short of Naturalization, because a Stranger naturalized, may inherit Lands by Descent, which a Man made only a Denizen cannot. And in the Charter, whereby a Man is made Denizen, there is commonly contained some one Clause or other, that abridgeth him of that full Benefit which natural Subjects do enjoy. And when a Man is thus infranchifed, he is faid to be under the King's Protection, or esse ad fidem Regis Anglia, before which Time he can enjoy nothing in England. Decorand, Decodandum, Is a Thing given or rather forfeited, as it were, to God, for the Pacification of his Wrath, in case of Misadventure, whereby any Christian Man comet to a violent End, without the Fault of any reasonable Creature. For Example, If a Horse should strike his Keeper, and so kill him: If a Man in driving a Cart, and seeking to redress any Thing about it, should so fall as the Cart-wheel running over him, should kill him: If one should be felling a Tree, and giving warning to Company by, when the Tree was near falling, to look to themselves, and any of them should be slain nevertheless by the Fall of the Tree: In the first of these Cases, the Horse; in the second, the Cart-wheel, Cart and Horses; and in the third, the Tree, is a Deodard, and to be given to God; that is, to be sold and distributed to the Poor, by the King's Almoner, for an Expiation of that dreadful Event, though effected by unreasonable, yea senseless and inanimate Creatures. Staundf. pl. cor. lib. 1. cap. 2. Braff. lib. 3. traft. 2. cap. 5. Britton, cap. 17. and West. Symbol. Tit. Indistments, [ett. 49.

What moves to Death, or kills him dead, Is Deodand, and forfeired.

Fleta says, this Deodand is to be fold, and the Price distributed to the Poor, for the Soul of the King, his Ancestors, and all faithful People departed this Life. Lib. 1. cap. 25. De Submersis. Which Law seems to bear an Initation of that in Exodus, c. 21. Si cornu petierit bos virum vel mulierem, ita ut moriatur, lapidabitur bos neque comedetur caro ejus, ac Dominus ejus erit innocens. This Word is mentioned in the Stat. De Officio Coronatoris, Anno 4 Ed. 1. See 3 Part. Inft. fol. 57. Since therefore by the Mofaical Law the Ox was to be stoned to Death, it seems reasonable that the Price of the Ox should be bestowed in pious and charitable Uses.

De deoneranda poo rata postionis, Is a Writ that lieth where one is distrained for a Rent that ought to be paid by others proportionably with him. For example, a Man holds Ten Ox-gangs of Land by Fealty, and 105. Rent of the King, and alienateth one Ox-gang to one, another to anther to other in Fee; afterwards the Sheriff, or other Officer, cometh and distraineth only one of them for the Rent; he that is distrained may have this Writ for his Relief. Departer, or Departure, From a Plea, or Matter, is where a Man pleads a Plea in Bar of an Action, and being replied thereunto, doth in his Rejoinder shew another Matter contrary to his first Plea, that is called a Departure from his Bar, Plowd. Com. fo. 7, 8. Reniger and Fogassa's Case. It may also be applied to a Plaintist, who in his Replication shews new Matter from his Declaration. Co. 2. par. f. 147. Bagshawe's Case. So if a Man plead a general Agreement in Bar, and in his Rejoinder alledge a special one; this shall be adjudged a Detactive in place. be adjudged a Departure in pleading. So in Trespass, if the Defendant will plead a Discent, and the Plaintiss, that after this the Defendant enseofed him; and the Defendant saith, this Feothment was upon Condition, for the Breach whereof he entred: This is a Departure, for it is new Matter. Of this, see divers Examples in Broke,

Tit. Departer de son plea.

Departure in Despight of the Court, Is, when a Tenant or Desendant appears to an Action and hath a Day over in the same Term, or is called after, though he had no Day given him, so that it be in the same Term; if he do not appear, but make Default, it is a Departure in Despight of the Court, and therefore he shall be condemned. And here observe, That Departure in Despight of the Court, is always on the Part of the Tenant or Defendant, aud the Entry thereof is, Quod pra-dictus A. licet solenniter exactus non revenit sed, in con-temptum curia recessit & defaltam secit: And this is when in Judgment of the Law he is present in Court, and being demanded, departs in Despight of the Court. This amounts to a Bar in respect of the Despight and Comtempt of the Court. See Co. lib. 8. fol. 62.

Bishop in a solemn Manner.

Deputy, Is he that exercises in another Man's Right, either Office or other Things; and his Forfeiture or Misdemeanor shall cause the Oss. cer, or him whose Deputy he is, to lose his Office: But a Man cannot make his Deputy in all Cases, except the Grant so be; as if it be with these, or fuch like Words, To exercise and use by himself, or his sufficient Deputy; or if the Words go farther, To himself, or his Deputy, or the Deputy of his Deputy; then he may make a Deputy, or else not. As if the Office of a Parkership be granted to one, he cannot grant this over to another, because it is an Office of Trust and Confidence, and shall not be forscited. And there is great Difference between a Deputy and Assignee of an Office; for an Assignee hath an Interest in the Office it self, and doth all Things in his own Name; for whom his Grantor shall not answer, unless in special Cases. But a Deputy hath not any Interest in the Office, but is only the Shadow of the Officer, in whose Name he doth all Things. And where an Officer hath Power to make Affigns, he may implicitly make Deputies, for cui lices quod majus est, non debet quod minus est non licere. And a Sheriff may make a Deputy, or Under-Sheriff, although he have not such express Words in his Patent.

Deraign or Dereyn, Difrationare vel diratio-nare, may seem to come of the French Disarroyer, id est, confundere, to consound or disorder, or dis-ranger, to put in Disorder; or of the Norman word Desrene, which signifies nothing but a Proof of the Denial of a Man's own Fact. In our Common Lawit is used diversly. First generally, To prove, as Dirationabit jus suum hares propinquior. Glanvile, lib. 2. cap. 6. And babeo probos bomines, qui bo: viderunt & audierunt & parati sunt boc dira-tionare. Id. lib. 4. cap. 6. And dirationavit terram illam in curia mea. And to deraign the Warranty Paramount. 31 H. 8. cap. 1. And dereigner le Warranty in Plowden, Basset's Case, in fine 2. partis sol. 6, 7, 8. hath the same Signification. So it is used, Westm. 2 cap. 5. 13 E. 1. in these Words.

And when the Parson of any Church is disturbed, to demand Tithes in the next Parish by a Writ of Indicavit; the Patron of the Parson so disturbed, shall have a Writ to demand the Advowson of the Tithes, being in Demand; when it is de-raigned, then shall the Plea pass in the Court-Christian as far as the same is deraigned in the King's Court. Brast. also 3. Lib. trast. 2. c. 3. num. I. speaking of him that appealeth another for any Treason or Felony, hath these Words, Proponat accusans appellum suum in hunc modum, se. debet dicere se interfuisse & vidise certo loco, certo die, certa hora, & scivisse insum accusatum prasocutum suisse mortem Regis vel seditionem suam, vel exercitus sui, vel consensitio, vel auxilium & consilium impendisse, vel ad boc authoritatem prastitisse, & hoc ego juxta consi-derationem curia disrationare paratus sum. He useth it likewise as the Normans use Difraisniam, for him that offereth to justify his Denial, as Lib. 3. tract. 2. cap. 28. num. 1. in these Words, Rex consilio Episcoporum & bonorum misit propter comitem, ut statuto die veniret ad curiam, ad distationandum vel defendendum se se possit. Lastly, in some Places the Substantive Deraignment is found used in the very literal Signification of the French Derayer or Difranger, that is, turning out of Course, as Deraignment or Departure out of Religion, 31 H. 8. cap. 6. and Deraignment or Discharge of their Profession, 33 II 8. 29. which is spoken of those religious Men which forsook their Orders, or Profession; as also 5 & 6 E. 6. cap. 13. So doth Kitchin use the Word, fol. 152. saying. The Lefsee entreth into Religion, and afterwards is de-reigned. And Britton hath these Words, Semounse difrenable, for a Summons that may be challenged as defective, or not lawfully made, cap. 21. Of this you may read more in Skene de verb. fignif. verbo Difrationare, where he confoundeth it with our waging and making of Law.

Debastaberunt bona Testatoris is a Writ lying against Executors for paying Legacies and Debts without Specialties, to the Prejudice of the Creditors that have Specialties, before the Debts on the said Specialties are due: For in this Case the Executors are as liable to Action; as if they had wasted the Goods of the Testator riotously, or converted them to their own Use; and are compellable to pay such Debts by Specialty out of their own Goods, to the Value of what they so paid illegally. This Word is properly attributed in the Common Law, to him that hequeaths his Lands and Goods by his last Will and Testament in Writing, and he is called the Devisor, and he to whom the Devise is made, the Devisee. And here we are to observe, That the Laws of the Realm, and the Judges thereof, favour Wills and Tostaments, and Devisions fes, in yielding to them such a reasonable Con-struction as they think might best agree with the Mind of the Deccased, and are more favourably interpreted in Wills than in Deeds: We will fer down some few Examples; as if one devise to J. Disability, Disabilitas, Is, when a Man is dif-Bliantity, Difabilitas, Is, when a Man is difabled of, or made incapable to inherit or take a Benefit which otherwise he might have done, which may happen four Ways, by the Act of the Ancestor, by the Act of the Party, by the Act of Law, and by the Act of God. 1. Difability by the Act of the Ancestor; as if a Man be attainted of Treason or Felony; by this Attainder his Blood is corrupt, and thereby himself and his Children disabled to inherit. 2. Disability by the Act of the disabled to inherit. 2. Disability by the Act of the Party himself; as if one Man make a Feoffment to another that then is sole, upon Condition, that he shall enfcotf a Third before Marriage, and before the Feoffment made, the Feoffee takes a Wife;

he hath by that disabled himself to perform the Condition according to the Trust in him reposed, and therefore the Feosffor may enter, and outh him. Lit. sett. 357. So if I bind my self, that upon Surrender of a Lease, I will grant a new Estate to the Lessee, and afterwards I grant over my Reversion: In this Case, though I afterwards purchase the Reversion, yet I have forseited my Obligation, because I was once disabled to perform it. Co. lib. 5. fol. 21. Also if a Man be excommunicated, he cannot during that Time sue any Action, but shall be thereby dis Time sue any Action, but shall be thereby disabled. Co. lib. 8. fol. 69. and so in other Cases. 3. Disability by Act of Law, is properly when a Man by the sole Act of the Law is disabled, and so is an Alien born. And therefore if a Man born out of the King's Ligeance, will sue an Action, the Tenant or Defendant may say. The harman Tenant or Defendant may fay, That he was born in such a Country, out of the King's Ligeance, and demand Judgment if he shall be answered; for the Law is our Birth-right, to which an Alien for the Law is our Birth-right, to which an Alien is a Stranger, and therefore difabled to take any Benefit thereby. 4. Difability, by the Act of God, as to be Non compos mentis, or non fare memorie, which so difables him, that in all Cases where he gives or passes any Thing or Estate out of him, after his Death it may be disannulled and avoided. And here observe, That it is a Maxim in our Law, That a Man of full Age shall never be received to disable himself, as to some, is perfonal, extending only to the Party himself; but as to others it is not personal, yet shall bind as to others it is not personal, yet shall bind them as Privies. Now there are four manner of Privities, viz. Privity in Blood, as Heir. Privity in Representation, as Executors or Administrators. Privites in Estate, as Donce in Tail, the Reversion or Remainder in Fee, &c. And Privies in Tenure, as Lord and Tenant. Two of these may disable the Person of the Dead, which was Non sana Memeric, or, &c. and shall avoid his Grants or Feoffments, viz. Privies in Blood may shew the Disability of the Ancestor, and Privies in Representation the Infirmity of their Testator or Intestate. Co. lib. 4. f. 123, 124. See Lit. sect. 405. and Co. lib. Disclaimer (from the Fr. Clamer, with the Privative Dis) is a Plea containing an express Denial, Renouncing or Disclaiming; as, If the Tenant sue a Replevin upon a Distress taken by the Lord, and the Lord avow, saying, That he holds of him as of his Lord, and that he distrained for Rent not paid, or Service not performed; then the Tenant, denying to hold of fuch Lord, is faid to disclaim; and the Lord proving the Tenant to hold of him, the Tenant loseth his Land. Also a Man denying himself to be of the Blood or Kindred of another in his Plca, is said to disclaim his Blood. See Coke on Littl. fol. 102. and Fitz. Nat. Brev. fol. 197. If a Man arraigned of Felony disclaim Goods, being cleared, he loseththem. See Broke and New Book of Entries, Tit. Disclaimer, and Standard. Pl. Cor. f. 186. In Chancery, if a Decorded by his Answer disclaims the hearing any Infendant by his Answer disclaim the having any Interest in the Thing in Question, this is also cal-

Icd a Disclaimer.

Biscontinuance, Discontinuatio, Cometh of the French Discontinuer, that is, cessare, and signifieth in the Common Law nothing else but an Interruption, or breaking off, and is twofold, Discontinuance of Possession, and Discontinuance of Process:

The Effect of Discontinuance of Possession is this,
That a Man may not enter upon his own Land or Tenements alienated, whatfoever his Right be unto them, of his own felf, or by his own Authority; but must bring his Writ, and seek to recover Possession by Law; as, If a Man alien the Lands he hath in Right of his Wife; or if Te-nant in Tail make any Fcoffment, or Lease for Life, not warranted by the Stat. 32 H. S. by Fine or Livery of Seifin; fuch Alienations are ealled Discontinuances : Which are indeed Impediments to an Entry, whereby the true Owner is left only to his Action. Disgrading, or Degrading, (Degradatio,) is the Punishment of a Clerk, who, being delivered to his Ordinary, cannot purge himself of the Of-fence, whereof he was convict by the Jury; and it is the Privation or Devesting him of the Holy Orders which he had, as Priesthood, Deaconship, &c. William Lord Monson, Sir Henry Mildmay, and others therein named, were de-graded from all Titles of Honour, Dignities, and Preheminencies, and none of them to bear or use the Title of Lord, Knight, Esquire, or Gentleman, or any Coat of Arms, for ever after, &c. By the Canon Law there are two Sorts of Degrading; one fummary, by Word only; the other folemn, by develting the Party degraded of those Ornaments and Rights which are the Ensigns of his Order or Degree. See Selden's Titles of Honours,

In former Times the Degrading a Clerk was no more than a Displacing or Suspension from his Office: But the Canonits have since distinguished between a Deposition and a Degradation; the last being a greater Punishment, because the Bishop takes from the Criminal all the Badges of his Order, and afterwards delivers him to the secular Judge, who deprives him of the Title of a Clerk. There are many Forms of Degradation, too long to enumerate here. Du Cangel

Districts, Signifies a Compulsion incertain real Actions, whereby to bring a Man to appear in Court, or to pay a Debt or Duty deny'd: The Effect whereof most commonly is to drive the Party distrained to replevy the Distress, and so to take his Action of Trespass against the Distrainer, or else to compound neighbourly with him for the Debt or Duty for which the Distress was made. In what Case a Distress lawful, see New Terms of the Law. The Civilians call it Pignorum captionem: There are divers Things not distrainable, as another Man's Gown in the House of a Tailor, or Cloth in the House of a Fuller, Sheerman, or Weaver: For they, being common Artificers, it is presumed such Things belong not to themselves, but to others. Vistual is not distrainable, nor Corn in Sheaves, unless they be in a Cart: For a Distress ought to be of such Things whereof the Sheriss may make Replevin, and deliver again in as good Case as they were at the Time of the Taking. A Man may distrain for Homage of his Tenant, or Fealty, Escuage, and other Services, and for Fines, and Amerciaments, assessed in a Leet, (but not in a Court-Baron,) and for Damage-seasant, &c. but not for Rent due for any Land, except upon the same Land charged therewith, &c. When one hath taken a Distress, it behoves him to bring it to the Common Pound, or he may keep it in an open Place, so that he gives Notice to the Party, that he (if the Distress be a Quick Beast,) may give it Food. See the Stat. De districtione Scacca-

Diffres is by Briton, cap. 71. divided into Personal and Real. Diffres Personal is made by distraining a Man's moveable Goods, and seising all the Profits of his Lands and Tenemeuts, from the Teste or Date of the Writ, for the Desendant's Contempt, in not appearing to an Action brought against him, after he was summoned or attached; and the Issues so returned by the Sherists are forseited to the King, and estreated into the Ex. bequer.

Distress Real is made upon immoveable Goods. This disters from an Attachment; for that it cannot be taken by any common Person without the Compass of his own Fee; except it be presently after the Cattle, or other Thing, are driven or born off the Ground, purposely to avoid the Distress. Fitz. Nat. Br. fol. 904. See Attach, and the Statute 17 Car. 2. c. 7.

Distress is also divided into Finite and Infinite:
Finite is that which is limited by Law, how often it shall be made to bring the Party to Trial of the Astion, as once, twice, &c. Old Nat. Br. fol. 43. Distress Infinite is without Limitation, until the Party come; as against a Jury, which resuse the to appear upon Certificate of Assis, he Process is Venire facias, Habeas corpora, and Distress Infinite. Old Nat. Br f. 113. Then it is divided into a Grand Distress, (An. 52. H. 3. c. 7.) which Fitzberbert calls Magnam Distritionem, and an Ordinary Distress. A Grand Distress is that which is made of all the Goods and Chattels that the Party hath within the County. Briton, cap. 26. fol. 52. But see whether it be not sometimes all one with a Distress Infinite. Idem, fol. 80. with whom also the Statute of Marlbridge seems to agree. An. 52. H. 3.

Divel on the Reck. A tormenting Engine formerly in use among the prosecuting Papists, to extort Confession and Apostacy from the Poor Lollards. It is thus described by Mr. Fox in his Acts & Mon. sub R. H. 8. Certain strait Irons called the Divel on his Neck being after an borrible fort devised, straitning and winching the Neck of a Man with bis Legs together, in such sort as the more he stirreth in it, the straiter it present him, so that within three or four Hours, it breaketh and erusheth a Man's Back and Body in Pieces.

Divisa fignifies a Devise of Goods by a last Will, and sometimes a Will it self. Gervas. Dorob. writing of the Will of Henry II. Anno 1182. tells us, Notum facio quod apud Waltbam feci divisam meam de quadem parte pecunia mea in hunc mo-dum, &c. Sometimes 'tis taken for a Charity given by a last Will; as in Eadmerus, lib. 1. p. 8. Huic quadem vice solidi quinque de illis (nam Divisa per temporum vices conferebantur) ex pracepto ejus dati funt, &c. Sometimes it signifies a Parcel or Portion of Land devised by a last Will, or set apart, Divisis Limitibus. Leg. Inx, cap. 44. Ceor-li habeant herbagium in Communi, vel aliam compascualem terram vel Divisam claudendam. Sometimes 'tis taken for the Bounds of a Place or Farm, as in Leg. H. t. c. 57. Si inter compares vicinos utrinque sint querela, conveniant ad divisas terrarum. And sometimes it signifies an Award, as in Leg. H. 2. c. 9. Omnis causa terminetur vel in Comitatu vel divisis parium.

Divorce (Divortium, a divertendo) is a Separation of two de facto married together; of which there are two Kinds; one a Vinculo Matrimonii; the other a Mensa & Thoro. The Woman divorced a Vinculo Matrimonii, receives all again that she brought with her. This only arises upon a Nullity of the Marriage, through fome effential Impediment, as Confanguinity or Affinity within the Degrees forbidden, Precontract, Impotency, &c. Of which Impediments the Canon Law allows fourteen, comprehended in these Verses:

Error, Conditio, Votum, Cognatio, Crimen, Cultus, Disparitas, Vis, Ordo, Ligamen, Honestas, Si sis affinis, Si forte coire nequibis, Si Paro bi & duplicis desit prasentia testis, Raptave sit mulier, nec parti reddita tuta.

Divorce is a Judgment Spiritual; wherefore, if there be Occasion, it ought to be reversed in the Spiritual Court. See Coke, lib. 7. Kenne's Case. Iden, lib. 5. f. 98. and on Littl. f. 235. In the old Law, the Woman divorced was to have of her Husband a Writing (as St. Ferome and Fosephus testify) to this Effect, I promise, that bereafter I will lay no Claim to thee; which was called, A Bill of Divorce.

In le Suthmede (i. e. prate australi) habet Prior per fortem istam qua vocatur Crumdprest, tres Dolas, sicut sors ista cadit. Regis Edwardi. Dome, and by my Trowthe. See Doom.

Domesday, (Liber Judiciarius, vel Censualis Anglia, from the Saxon Dom, i.e. Census vel Æstimatio, not Domesdei, nor Domus Dei, as some Authors write it,) is a most ancient Record, made in William the Conqueror's Time, and now remaining in the Exchequer sair and legible, consisting of two Volumes, a greater and a less; the greater comprehending all the Counties of England, except Northumberland, Cumberland, Westmorland, Durham, and Part of Lancashire, which were never survey'd; and except Esex, Suffolk, and Norfolk, which three are comprehended in the lesser Volume, which concludes with these Words; Anno Millesimo Octogesimo Sexto ab Incarnatione Domini, vigesimo vero Regni Willielmi, sacta est ista descriptio, non solum per los tres Comitatus, sed etiam alios. It is called Liber Judiciarius, quia in eo totius Regni descriptio diligens continetur fingulorunque fundorum valentia exprimitur. And Domesday, (as Gerv. Tilbur. says,) Non quod in eo de prepositis aliquibus dubiis scratur sententia, sed quod a predicto Judicio non liceat ulla ratione discedere. It was begun by sive Justices, assigned for the Purpose in each County, in the Year 1081, and sinished 1086. Cambden calls it Gulielmi Librum Consultant. Censualem, the Tax-book of King William. See more of it in Spelm. Gloss. and 4 Inst. fol. 269. The Dean and Chapter of York have a Register called also Domesday; so has the Bishop of Worcester: And there is an ancient Roll in Chester-Castle called Domesday-Roll.

Our Ancestors had many Dome-Books: We are told by Ingulphus, pag. 870. and 908. that King Alfred made Talem Rotulum qualem Gulielmus nothus, which he called Domesday; and sometimes the Winchester-Roll, because it was kept there.

The Domesday book made by Will. 1. referred to the Time of Edward the Consessor, as that of King Alfred did to the Time of Ethelred: For the Foreign and the Consessor that the Cons the Entries are thus made, C. tenet Rex Williel-mus in dominico & valet, Sec. ibi carucate, Sec. T.R.E. valebat, &c. i. e. It was worth so much, tempore and in Folio, but this lesser, and in Quarto; it seems to be the more ancient of the two. 'Tis fairer written, and hath very few Rasures. See Monasti-

Tis prohable Ingulphus, though he lived near those Days, never saw these Books; for he writes of incorporating these Rolls, as if at that Time they had not been made up in two Volumes: Of both which the Honourable Sir John Trevor, Master of the Rolls, hath a very fine and exact Copy.

There is a fourth Book kept in the Exchequer, which is called Domesday; and though a great Volume, is only an Abridgment of the other two. It hath many Pictures and gilt Letters in the Beginning, which refer to the Time of Edward the Confessor. And this led him, who made Notes on Fitzberbert's Register, into a Mistake, who, in fol. 14. tells us, that Liber Domesday factus fuit tempore Regis Edwardi.
There is a fifth Book kept in the Remembrancer's

Office, which is the very same with the Fourth beforementioned.

'Tis generally known that the Question, whether Lands are ancient Demesne, or not, is to be decided by the Domesday of Will. 1. from whence there is no Appeal; nor is there any Averment to be made against it: And its a Book of that Authority, that even the Conqueror himfelf fubmitted fome Cases, wherein he was concerned, to be decided by it. What is contained in this Book appears by these eld Verses.

In this Act (says Sir Edward Coke, 4 Inft. fol. 37.) the said Thomas could not be called Esquire, and therefore had the Addition Domicello, which (says he) signifies a young Soldier not yet Knighted, or nobly born, &c. which is a Mistake: For there is no such French Word as Domoicel, but Demoisel. Nor can Domicellus properly be derived from thence, but is an obsolete Latin Word, anciently given as an Appellation or Addition to the King's (Natural') Sons in France, and infecto. sometimes to the eldest Sons of Noblemen there; whence, doubtless, we borrow the Words. Double plea; (Duplex Placitum) Is that wherein the Defendant alledgeth for himself two several Matters in Bar of the Plaintiff's Action, whereof either is sufficient to effect his Desire, which shall not be admitted for a Plea. Kitchin, fol. 223. See Brook, boe tit. And Sir Tho. Smith gives this Reason why such Double Plea is not admitted by our Law; because the Trial is by twelverude Men, whose Heads are not to be troubled with over many Things at once. Lib. 2. de Rep. Touble Duarrel, Duplex Querela, Is a Complaint made by any Clerk, or other, to the Archbishop of the Province against an inserior Ordinary, for delaying of Justice in some Cause Ecclesiastical, as to give Sentence, to institute a

Clerk presented, or the like: The Effect whereof is, that the said Archbishop taking Knowledge of such Delay, directeth his Letters under his authentick Seal, to all and singular Clerks of his Province, thereby commanding and authorising them; and every of them, to admonish the said Ordinary, within a certain Number of Days, namely, nine Days, to do the Justice required, or otherwise to cite him to appear before him or his Official at a Day, in the said Letters him or his Official at a Day, in the said Letters prefixed, and there to alledge the Cause of his Delay. And lastly, to intimate to the Ordinary, that if he neither perform the Thing enjoined, nor appear at the Day assigned, he himself will without further Delay proceed to perform the Justice required: And this seemeth to be termed a double Quarrel, because it is most commonly made against both the Judge, and him at whose Perition Justice is delayed.

Dower, (Dos and Dotarium) The first (Dos) properly signifies that which the Wife brings her Husband in Marriage, otherwise called Maritagium, Marriage-Goods: The other, Detarium or Dearium) that Portion of Lands or Tenements which she hath for Term of her Life from her Husband, if she out-live him. Glanvile, lib. 7. cap. 1. Bratton, lib. 2. cap. 28. Briton, cap. 101. in Princip. Some Authors have for Distinction, called the First a Dowry, and the others a Dower, but they are often confounded. Of the former our Law-Books speak little, this only may be noted; That whereas by the Civil Law, Instruments are made before Marriage, which contain the Quantity of the Wife's Dowry, or Substance brought to her Husband, that he, having the Use of it during Marriage, may, after certain Deductions, restore it again to the Wife's Heirs or Friends, after the Marriage dissolved. The Common Law of England, whatfoever Chattels, Moveable or Immoveable, or ready Money she brings, makes them forthwith her Husband's own, to be disposed of as he will, leaving her at his Curtefy, to bestow any Thing or Nothing upon her at his Death: Only if she be an Inheritrix, the Husband holds her Land but during her Life, except he have Issue by her; and then he holds it except he have Issue by her; and then he holds it by the Curtefy of England, during his own Life. See Curtefy. Of the later, there are five Kinds,

- 1. Dower per Legem Communem.
- 2. Dower per Consuetudinem. 3. Dower ex Affensu Patris.
- Dower ad Offium Ecclesia.
- 5. Dower de la plus Belle.

Dower by the Common Law is a third Part of such Lands, as the Husband was sole seised of in Fee, during the Marriage, which the Wife is to enjoy during her Life; for which there lies a Writ of Dower. Dower by Custom gives the Wife, in some Places, half her Husband's Lands, so long as she lives sole, as in Gavelkind: And as Custom may enlarge, so may it abridge Dower, and restrain it to a fourth Part: Ex Assense Patris, ad Ostium Ecclesia, the Wife may have so much Dower, as fhall be so assigned or agreed upon, but it ought not to exceed a third Part of the Husband's Lands. Glanv. lib. 6. cap. 1. And if it be done before Marriage, it is called a fointure. Dower de la plus Belle is when the Wife is endowed of the fairest or best Part of her Husband's Estate. See Coke on Littl. fol. 33. b. Romanis non in usu suit uxoribus Dotes retribuere, ideo verbo genuino carent quo boc dignoscitur; & rem ipsam in Germanorum moribus miratur Tacitus, Dotem (inquit) non uxor marito, sed uxori maritus affert. By which Grant, when she demanded her Dower in the Manor of Torpell, Part of the Possessions of Sir John Camois, her first Husband, then deceased, there grew a memorable Suit in Law, but wherein the was overthrown, and Judgment pronounced (in Parliament 30 Edw. 1.) Dutchp Court Is a Court wherein all Matters | & Abbatem illius ordinis fecerat nominari, & pro tali appertaining to the Dutchy or County Palatine of fe gessit, & quamplurimos tam Clericos quam Laicos Lancaster are decided by the Decree of the Chan-apud Ripon illo ludo noxio & damnoso informavit.—cellor of that Court: The Original of it was in Dat. 16 Kal. Nov. 1311. Collettan. Matth. Ilut-Henry the Fourth's Days, who, obtaining the Crown by Deposing Richard the Second, and having the Dutchy of Lancaster by Descent, in Right of his Mother, was scised thereof as King, and not as Duke; So that all the Liberties, Franchises and Invictioning of the Gid Duke. Duke; So that all the Liberties, Franchies and Jurisdictions of the said Dukky, passed from the King by his Great Scal, and not by Livery or Attornment as the Possessions of Everwick, the Earldom of March, and such others did, which had descended to the King by other Ancestors than the King's; but, at last, Henry the Fourth, by Authority of Parliament, passed a Charter, whereby the Possessions, Liberties, &c. of the said Dutchy were severed from the Crown; yet Henry the Seventh reduced it to its former Nature, as it was in Henry the Fifth's Days. Crom. Jur. fol. 136.
The Officers belonging to this Court, are, the Chancellor, Attorney, Receiver General, Clerk of the Court, Messenger: Besides which, there are certain Assistants, as one Attorney in the Exchequer, one Attorney of the Dutchy in Chancery, sour Persons learned in the Law retained of Counsel with the King in the faid Court; whereof Gwin, (in the Preface to his Readings) speaks thus; It grew out of the Grant of King Edward the Third, who gave that Dutchy to his Son John of Gaunt, and endowed it with fuch Royal Rights, as the County Palatine of Chefter had. And forasinuch as it was afterward extinct in the Person of King Henry the Fourth, by reason of the Union of it with the Crown, the same King, (suspecting himself to be more rightfully Duke of Lancaster than King of England) determined to save his Right in the Dutchy, whatever should befal the Kingdom; and therefore he separated the Dutchy from the and therefore he separated the Dutchy from the Crown, and fettled it so in the natural Persons of himself and his Heirs, as if he had been no King or Politick Body at all; in which Condition it continued during the Reign of Henry the Fifth, and Herry the Sixth, that descended/from him; but when Henry the Fourth had (by Recovery of the Crown) recontinued the Right of the House of York, he feared not to appropriate that Dut by to the Crown again; yet so, that he suffered the Court and Officers to remain as he found them; in which Manner it came, together with the Crown, to Henry the Seventh, who, liking well of Henry the Fourth's Policy, (by whose Right also he obtained the Kingdom) made a like Separation of the Dutchy, and so left it to his Posterity, who still enjoy it.

Tabalus, From the Saxon Eale, cervifia, and Hus domus, now called an Ale-House; a Word which we often find in the Laws of King Alfred. Walitann, In the Saxon Laws of King Ethelred, cap. 6 .- Et fi Eahtayn occidatur, pertineat infractio Pacis intra curiam, vel adjacentias ejus, Eahtayn perfolvatur plena wera. Mr. Somner interprets Eabtayn to be eight Men, or such a Number, slain; but I suppose the Word is rather meant Heab-Tain, a High Thane or superior Lord, the Penalty on whose Murder was augmented in Proportion to his Quality.

Calderman or Caldozman, Aldermanus, Among the Saxons was as much as Earl among the Danes, Cambd. Brit. pag. 107. It is as much as an Elder or Statesman, called by the Romans Senator, who were rather Counsellors at large, than befowed upon any particular Office, as Comites were See Countee. And that Signification we retain at this Day almost in all our Cities and Boroughs, calling those Aldermen that are Associates to the Chief Officer in the Common Council of the Town. 24 H. 8. cap. 13. Earle, Sax. Eorle, Lat. Comes and Conful: This was a great Title among the Saxons, and is the most ancient of any of the Peerage, there being no other Title of Honour used among the present Nobility, which was likewise in Use among the Saxons, except this Title of Earl. The Titles of Honour among the Saxons were originally three, viz. Ætheling, Ealderman, and Defen or Dane; the first comes from the Word Æthel, which fignifies Noble, and was usually applied to the first of the Royal Line; the other two Words were applied to the rest of the Nobility; only the Thani were afterwards distinguished into Majores and Minores; the former were equal to our Peers, and the later to our Knights: But the Title Earl, in Lat. Comes, in ancient Times was given to those who were Associates to the King in his Councils and Martial Assions. And the Manner of their Investiture into that Dignity was, Per cintturam gladii Comitatus; without any formal Charter of Creation. See Dugdale's WarsvickWarwicksbire, fol. 302. But the Conqueror (as Cambden notes) gave this Dignity in Fee to his Nobles, annexing it to this or that County or Province; and allotted them for their Mainte-nance, a certain Proportion of Money arising from the Prince's Profits, for the Pleadings and Forfeitures of the Provinces: For Example, he brings an ancient Record in these Words; Henricus 2. Rex Anglia his verbis Comitem creavit; Sciatis nos fecisse Hugonem Bigot Comitem de Norf. Sec. de tertio denario de Norwic. & Northfolk; sicut aliquis Comes Anglia liberius Comitatum suum tenet. About the Reign of King John, and ever since, our Kings have made Earls by their Charter, of this or that County, Province or City; but of late, giving them no Authority over the County, nor any Part of the Profits arising by it; only some annual Fee out of the Exchequer, & The Manner of their Creation is by girding them with a Sword. Cam. p. 107. but fee the Solemnity described more at large in Stow's Annals, p. 1121. Their Place is next to a Marquess, and before a Viscount. Comitatus a Comite dicitur, aut vice versa. Ecclesia (Lat.) Is most used for that Place where Almighty God is served, commonly called a Church. But Fitzherbert says, By this Word Ecclesia is meant only a Parsonage; and therefore if a Presentment be made to a Chapel, as to a Church, by the Name Ecclesia, this does change the Nature of it, and make it presently a Church. Nat. Brev. 32. When the Question was, Whether it were Ecclesia aut Cappella pertinens ad matricem Ecclesiam? The Issue was, whether it had Baptisterium & Sepulturam? For if it had the Admini-Aration of the Sacraments and Sepulture, it was in Law judged a Church. Trin. 20 Edw. 1. in Banco, Rot. 177. 2 Inft. fol. 363. Ecclesia is also sometimes taken for the Image or Sculpture of a Church, which was often cut out or east in Plate or other Metal, and preserved as a religious Treasure or Relick. As in the Visitation of the Treasury of the Church of St. Paul, anno 1295.

Entry, (Fr. Entree, i. c. Introitus, Ingressus,) properly signifies the Taking Possession of Lands or Tenements. See Plowden, Affife of Fresh Force in London, f. 93. b. It is also used for a Writ of Possession; for which see Ingressus. And read West. pa. 2. Symbol. Tit. Recoveries, feet. 2, 3. who there shews for what it lies, and for what not. Of this Briton, in his 114th Chapter, writes to this Essect: The Writs of Entry savour much of the Right of Property; As for Example: Some are to recover Customs and Services, in which are contained these two Words (Soles & debet,) as the Writs Quo Jure, Rationabilibus Divisis, Rationabili Estoverio, with such like. And in this Plea of Entry there are three Degrees: The first is where a Man demands Lands or Tenements of his own Seisin after the Term expired: The Second is where one demands Lands or Tenements, let by another, after the Term expired: The Third, where one demands Lands or Tenements of that Tenant who had Entry by one, to whom some Ancestor of the Plaintist did let it for a Term now expired. According to which Degrees the Writs are varied. And there is yet a fourth Form, which is without Degrees, and in Case of a more remote Seisin, whereunto the other three Degrees do not extend. The Writ in the second Degree is called a Writ of Entry In le Per: in the third Degree a Writ of Entry In le per & cui; and in the fourth Form, without these Degrees, it is called a Writ of Entry In le post, that is, after Disseisin, which such a one made to such a one. And if any Wtit of Entry be conceived out of the right Case, so that one Form be brought for another, it is abatable. In these four the said Land. Degrees are comprehended all manner of Writs of Entry, which are without Certainty and Number. Thus far Briton, by whom you may perceive that these Words, Solet & debet, and these other, In le per, In le per & cui, and In le post, which we meet with many Times in Books shortly and obsurely mentioned, signify nothing but divers Forms of this Writ applied to the Case whereupon it is Hedge, and Brice, Ruptura. It signifies Hedgebrought; and each Form taking its Name from breaking. 'Tis mentioned in the Laws of King the Words contained in the Writ. Of this read

Fitz. Nat. Brev. fol. 193.

This Writ of Entry differs from an Affife, because it lies for the most Part against him who entered lawfully, but holds against Law, whereas an Assis lies against him that unlawfully disseissed: Yet sometimes a Writ of Entry lies upon an Entrusion. Reg. of Writs, f. 233. lies upon an Entrution. Reg. of Writs, f. 233. ruuni quos iui Eorias joient nominare, Geb. b. See the New Book of Entries, verbs Entre Brevis, fol. 254. col. 3. There is also a Writ of Entry in the Nature of an Assis. Of this Writ in all its Degrees, see Fleta, lib. 5. ca. 34. Seg. viz. Item queruntur non assistance sibility of the Things which put the Writ of Entry out of the Degrees, viz. Intrusion, Succession, Succession, Prince and Toleral an Entry out of the Degrees, viz. Intrusion, Succession, Disseisin upon Disseisin, Judgment and Escheat.

Intrusion is where the Disseisor dies seised, and a Diocesan Bishop; which Dues were formerly Stranger abates.

2. Succession is when the Disseid mitted to the Rural Deans, and by them transfer in the Charter of Wal-

Equity, Equitas, Is of two Sorts, and those of contrary Effects, for the one doth abridge, and take from the Letter of the Law, the other doth inlarge, and add thereto. The first is thus defined, Equitas est correctio legis generatim lata, qua parte desicit. Equity is the Correction of the Law generally made in that Part wherein it fails, which Correction is much used in our Law: As for Example, when an Act of Parliament is made, that whosoever doth such a Thing shall be a Felon, and suffer Death; yet if a Madman, or an Infant that hath no Discretion, do the same, they shall not be Felons, nor suffer Death for it. Breaking of Prison is Felony in the Prisoner himsclf, by the Statute De Frangentibus Prisonam; yet if the Prison be on Fire, and they within break Prison to save their Lives, this shall be excused by the Law of Reason. So to save my Life, I may kill another that affaults me. The other Equity is defined to be an Extension of the Words of the Law to Cases unexpressed, yet having the same Reason; so that when one Thing is enacted,

Equity to Administrators; for such of them as shall appear first by Distress, shall answer by Equity of the said Act, quia sunt in equali ge-Distress, shall answer

The same Staundford in his Pleas of the Crown, lib. 1. cap. 26, 27. nameth two Kinds of Escape, the one Voluntary, the other Negligent: Voluntary is, when one arresteth another for Felony, or any other Crime, and afterwards letteth him go whither he lifteth. In which Escape, the Party that permits it, is by Law guilty of the Fault committed by him that escapes, be it Felony, Treason or Trespass. Negligent Escape is, when one is arrested, and afterwards escapeth against his Will that arrested him, and is not pursued by fresh Suit, and taken again before the Party pursuing hath lost the Sight of him. Elcheat, (Eschaeta, from the Fr. Escheoir, i. e. cadere, accidere) fignifies any Lands or other Profits, that cashally fall to a Lord within his Manor, by way of Forsciture, or by the Death of his Tenant, leaving no Heir general or special; Magna Charta, cap. 31. Fitz. Nat. Br. fol. 143. T. Efcheat is also used sometimes for the Place or Circuit, in which the King or other Lord hath Escheats of his Tenants. Brack. lib. 3. track. 2. ca. 2. Pupilla oculi par. 2. cap. 22. Efibeat (thirdly) is used for a Writ, which lies, where the Tenant having Estate of Fec-simple in any Lands or Tenements holden of a Superior Lord, dies seised without Heir general or special. In which Case the Lord brings this Writ against him that possesseth the Lands after the Death of his Tenant, and shall thereby recover the same in lieu of his Services. Fitz. Nat. Br. fol. 144. In the same Sense as we say, The Fee is Escheated, the Feudists use Feudum Aperitur. See Coke on Littl. fol. 92. b. and the Civilians call these Forfeitures Bona Caduea. Sometimes the Word Eschaeta signifies a lawful Inheritance descending on the Heir, but then the Adjective Retta is usually added; as Retta Eschaeta, i. e. Legitima, or such as is cast on another by Law: Thus in Leg. H. 1. cap. 1. Salvo sibi & beredibus suis recto cadu o, sive recta Eschacta: Gervas of Tilbury, Lib. 2. writes, Eschaeta cum barede, viz. cum paterfamilias, Gc. de rege tenens in capite, fata debita solveret, relictis tamen liberis quorum primogenitus minor est annis, redditus quidem ejus ad fiscum redeunt, sed hujusmodi non simpliciter Eschaeta dicitur, sed Eschaeta cum hærede, de ipsa hæreditate per officiales Regios tam hares quam cateri liberi neces-faria percipiunt. What we call Escheats are in the Kingdom of Naples called excadentia, or Bona excadentia; as, Baro locat Excadentias eo modo quo locata fuerint ab antiquo, ita quod nulla debita servitia minuantur, & non remittit Gallinam debitani: Jacob. de Franchiis in preludiis ad feudorum usum.

Eschequer, Scaccarium, May be derived from the French Word Eschequier, i. abacus, tabula Luforia, and signifieth the Place or Court of all Receits belonging to the Crown. Polyd. Virg. lib. 9. His. Aug. faith, That the true Word in Latin is Statarium; but it may with more Probability be taken from the German Word Schatz, denoting as much as Thefaurus or Fiscus. Cambden in his Brittannia, pag. 113. saith, That this Court or Office took the Name from tabula ad quam assidebant, proving it out of Gervasius Tilburiensis, the Cloth which covered it being party-coloured or chequered. By the Grand Custumary, it is brought from the Normans, cap. 56. where you may find it thus described, The Eschequer is called An Assembly of High Fusticiers, to whom it appertained the Partition of the Partit to amend that which the Bailiffs and other meaner Justiciers have evil done, and unadvisedly judged, and to do Right to all Men without delay, as from the Prince's Mouth. Skene de verbor. signif. verb. Scaccarium, hath out of Paulus Æmilius these Words, Scaccarium dicitur quasi statarium, quod bo-mines ibi in jure sistantur, vel quod sit stataria & perennis curia cum catera curia essent indictiva, nec loco nec tempore stata. Also he addeth surther, that it might be called Scaccarium a similitudine Ludi scaccorum, from the Resemblance it has to the Game at Chefs; many Persons meeting and pleading their Causes there, as if they were fighting in an arrayed Battel. And Smith deduces it from an old Saxon Word Scata, fignifying Treasure, whereof Account is made in the Chequer. This Court confifteth, as it were, of two Parts, whereof one dealeth especially in the judicial Hearing and Deciding of all Causes appertaining to the Princes Coffers, anciently called Scaccarium computorum, as Ockham testifies in his Lucubrations. The other is called The Receipt of the Exchequer, which is properly imployed in the receiving and paying Money. Cromp. Fur. fol. 105. says, It is a Court of Record, wherein all Causes touching the Revenucs of the Crown are handled: The Officers belonging to both these, you may read in Comb-den's Brit. cap. Tribunalia Anglia, to whom I refer you. The King's Exchequer now settled at Westminster, was in divers Counties of Wales. Sce 27 H. 8. cap. 5. but especially 26. and 4. par. Inft. fol. 103.

Estuage, Scutagium, Cometh of the French
Escu, clypeus, a Shield. In Law it signifieth a Kind of Knight's Service, called Service of the Shield, whereby the Tenant is bound to follow his Lord into the Scotch or Welsh Wars at his own Charge; for which fee Chivalry. He who held a whole Knight's Fee, was bound to ferve with Horse and Arms forty Days at his own Charge; and he who held Half a Knight's Fee was to serve twenty Days. But Note, that Estuage is either uncertain or certain: Escuage uncertain is properly Escuage and Knight's Service, being subject to Homage, Fealty, and (formerly) Ward and Marriage; and so called, because it is uncertain how often a Man shall be called to follow his Lord into those Wars, and what his Charge will be in each Journey. Escuage certain is, when a certain Rent is paid yearly in lieu of all Services, being no further bound than to pay his Rent, called a Knight's Fee, or the fourth Part of a Knight's Fee, according to his Land; and this loseth the Nature of Knight's Service, though it hold the Name of Escuage, being in Effect but Socage. F. N. B. fol. 8. But see the Stat. 12 Car. 2. cap. 24. for taking away the Court of Wards and Liveries, and turning all Tenures into Free and Common So-See Littleton, lib. 2. cap. 3. and fee Ca-

Escuage is sometimes called a reasonable Aid which was demanded by the Lord of his Tenants, who held Lands in Knight's Service, viz. Esquise, from the Fr. Esce, which signifies a Shield, from the Lat. Soutum, from the Greek Exurac, which fignifies an Hide, of which Shields were anciently made, and afterwards covered; and here in the Time of the Saxons the Shields were covered with Leather, so that an Esquire was originally he who attending a Knight in Time of War, did carry his Shield, whence he was called Escuier in French, and Scutifer or Armiger in Latin: Howbeit this Addition hath not of long Time had any respect at all to the Office or Employment of the Person to whom it hath been attributed, but been merely a Title of Dignity, and next in Degree below a Knight. Those to whom this Title is now of right due, are, All the Younger Sons of Noblemen, and the eldest Sons of such younger Sons; the eldest Sons of Knights, and their eldest Sons successively: The Four Esquires of the King's Body: Those that serve the King in any Worshipful Calling, (to use Cambden's Words) as the Serjeans Chirurgeon, Serjeant of the Eury, Master Cook, &c. Such as are created Esquires by the King with a Collar of SS. of Silver, as the Heralds and Serjeants at Arms. The Chief The Chief of some ancient Families are likewise Esquires by Prescription; those that bear any superior Office in the Commonwealth, as High Sheriff of any County, who (as some hold) retains the Title of Equire during his Life, in respect of the great Trust he has had, of the Posse Comitatus; he who is a fusive of Pea.e, has it, during the Time he is in Commission, and no longer, if not otherwise qualified to bear it. Barristers at Law in the late Acts of Parliament for Poll-Money, were ranked among Esquires, and so many wealthy Men, (by reason they were commonly reputed to he such) and paid accordingly. In Wal-singham's History of Richard the Second, we read of one John Blake, who is said to be Juris Aprenticius, and has the Addition of Scutifer there given him; but, whether intitled thereto by reason of his Profession or otherwise, does not appear. See Cambd. Brit. f. 111. and 2 Inst. f.

Efforium, Cometh of the French Essonie or Exonnie, i. causarius miles, he that hath his Presence forborn, or excused upon any just Cause, as Sickness or other Impediment. It significth in the Common Law, the Allegation of an Excuse for him that is summoned, or sought for to appear, and answer to an Action real, or to perform Suit to a Court-Baron, upon just Cause of Absence: It is as much as excusatio with the Civilians. The Causes that serve to effoin any Man fummoned, are divers, yet drawn chiefly to five Heads; whereof the first is, Ultra mare, whereby the Defendant shall have forty Days. The Second, De terra Sansta, where the Defendant shall have a Year and a Day, and these must be laid in the Beginning of the Plea. The Third, De malo veniendi, which is also called, The common Essoin. The Fourth is, De malo letti. And the Fifth, De fervitio Regis. For further Knowledge of these, I refer you to Glanvile, in his whole first Book, and

Of these Essoins you may read further in Fleta, lib. 6. cap. 8. & feq. And that these came to us from the Normans, is well shewed by the Grand Custumary, where you may in a Manner find all said that our Lawyers have spoken of this Matter. Estoin de malo beniendi is when the Defendant is infirm in Body and not able to come.

Effon per servitium Regis is when the Defen-

Estoin de mato billæ is when the Defendant appears in Court the first Day, but departed without Pleading, and being afterwards furpriz'd by Sickness or any other Infirmity, cannot attend the Court, but sends two Essiners, who openly protest in Court that he is detained by Sickness in such a Village that he cannot come, pro lu rari & pro perdere; and this must be admitted for full Proof, without any further Surety, for 'tis Iucumbent on the Plaintist to prove whether the Essin is true or not.

Estache, Ceste endenture tesmoigne que cum il y avoir debate entre eux du soule ou dit A. ad facit planter une Estacho de pere o de merymo en Selby water, Ex Regist de Selby, fol. 51. It seems here to be used for a Bridge or Stank of Stone and Timber, from the French Estandard, or Stankard, Cometh of the French

Estendart, i. signum, vexillum. It signifies an En-sign in War as well with us as with them. But it is also used for the standing Measure of the King, to the Scantling whereof all the Measures in the Land, are, or ought to be framed by the Clerk of the Market, Alneger, or other Officer, according to their Functions; for it was established by the Statute of Magna Charta, Anno 9 Hen. 3. cap. 9. That there should be but one Scanting of Weights and Measures through the whote Realm, which is since confirmed by 14 E. 3. c. 12. and many other Statutes; (one especially made 17 Car. 1. c. 29. which says, from henceforth there shall be one Weight, one Measure, and one Yard, according to the Standard of the Exchequer throughour all the Realm:) It is not with out great Reason called a Standard, because it standeth constant and immoveable, and hath all Measures coming towards it for their Conformity: Even as Soldiers in the Field have their Standard or Colours, for their Direction in their March ES E ards and Mensures, read Britton, cap. 30.

Standard of Money. The Standard and Allay of old Esterling, and the old right Standard of England, are to be understood thus: A Pound-Weight Troy of Gold was divided into Twentyfour Carats, and every Carat into four Grains of Gold. And a Pound-Weight of the old Sterling, or right Standard Gold of England confifted of Twenty-three Carats, and three Grains and a Half of fine Gold, and half a Grain of Allay; which Allay might be Silver or Copper. Again, a Pound-Weight Troy of Silver was then (as it has been ever fince) divided into twelve Ounces, every Ounce into twenty Penny Weight, and every Penny-Weight into Twenty-four Grains; and every Pound-Weight of old Sterling, or right Standard Silver of England, confifted then (as it does now) of eleven Ounces and two Penny Weight of fine Silver, and eighteen Penny Weight Allay. Vid. Lownde's Essay upon Coins, pag. 18. For the Standard of Plate and Silver Manufactures, see the Stat. 6 Georg. cap. 11.

Cstate May be deduced from the French Word

Estat, i. Conditio, and significant that Title or Interest which a Man hath in Lands or Tenements; as Estate-simple, otherwise called Fee-simple; and Estate conditional, or upon Condition, which is as Littleton saith, lib. 3. cap. 5. either upon Condition in Deed, or upon Condition in Law: Estate upon Condition in Deed is, where a Man by Deed indented infeoffeth another in Fee, reserving to him and to his Heirs yearly a certain Rent payable at one Feast, or at divers, upon Condition, that if the Rent be behind, &c. that it shall be lawful to the Feoffor, and to his Heirs, to enter into the Lands or Tenements, &c. Estate upon Condition in Law, is such as hath a Consideration in Law annexed to ir, though not specified in Writing: For Example, If a Man grant to another by his Deed the Office of a Parkership for Term of his Life, this Eftate is upon Condition in the Law, or implyed by Law, viz. if the Parker shall so long well and truly keep his Park. I read also of an Estate particular, which is an Estate for Life, or for Term of Years. Perkin's

Esterling. See Sterling. Estouper, oppilare, obstipare, denotes as much as an Impediment, or Bar of an Action, growing from his own Fact that hath, or otherwise might have had his Action. For Example, a Tenant maketh a Fcoffment by Collusion to one, the Lord accepterh the Services of the Feoffee; by this he debarreth himself of the Wardship of his Tenant's Heir. F. N. B. fol. Divers other Examples might be shewed out of him, and Broke boc titulo. Co. lib. 2. fol. 4. Goddard's Case, defineth an Essoppel to be a Bar or Hindrance unto one to plead the Truth, and restraineth it not to the Impediment given to a Man by his own At only, but by another's also. Lib. 3. the Case of Fines, fol. 88. There are three Kinds of Estoppel, viz. By Matter of Record, by Matter in Writing, and by Matter in Pails; of which see Co. on Littl. fol. 352.

Estouris, Estourium according to Spelman is derived from the Fr. Estosse, i. c. Materia, and that from the Verb Estosse, which is to supply with Necessaries; and in Law properly fignifieth Nonrishment or Maintenance. For Example: Bratton, lib. 3. tratt. 2. cap. 18. num. 2. useth it for that Sustenance, which a Man committed for Felony, is to have out of his Lands or Goods for himself and his Family, during his Imprisonment. And the Statute made 6 E. 1. cap. 3, usfeth it for an Allowance in Meat or Cloth. It is also used for certain Allowances of Wood, to be taken out of another Man's Woods. So it is used Westm. 2. cap. 25. Anno 13 E. t. West. Symb. part. 2. Tit. Fines, sett. 26. saith, That the Name of Estovers containeth House bote. Hay bote, and Plough bote; as if he have in his Grant these general Words, De rationabili Estoverio in boscis, Se. he may thereby claim these three. In some Manors the Tenants have Common of Estovers out of the Lord's Woods, and pay a certain small annual Rent for the same. Rationabile Estoverium, vide antea, Alimony.

Estrangers Are sometimes taken for those that are not Privies or Parties to the Levying a Fine, or making of a Deed. Sometimes for those that are born beyond Sea.

Estrap, (from the old French Estrayeur, Lat. Extrahura, Pecus quod elapsum e custodia campos perer-rat ignoto Domino) significs any Beast not wild, found within any Lordship, and not owned by any Man; for in this Case, it being cried, according to Law, in the Market-Towns adjoining, if it be not claimed by the Owner in a Year and a Day, it is the Lord's of the Soil. See Britton, cap. 17. Vide etiam Estrays in the Forest, 27 H. 8. cap. 7. and New Book of Entries, verbo Trespass concernant Estray. The ancient Law of King Ina was, Diximus de ignotis pecoribus, ut nemo babeat sine tessimonio Hundredi, sive hominum Decenna, that is, the Suiters at a Court-Lect. Spel.

Estrest, Extrastum, Is used for the true Copy, or Duplicate, of an original Writing. For Example, Of Amerciaments or Penalties set down in the Rolls of a Court, to be levied by the Bailiss, or other Officer, of every Man for his Offence. See F. N. B. f. 57, & 76. and so also it is used, West. 2. c. 8.

Estrepe, French Estropier, i. Mutilare: To make Spoil by a Tenant for Life in Lands or Woods, to the Prejudice of him in the Re-

Ellrepement or Elfrepament, Eftrepamentum, from the French Word Estropier, mutilare: It signifies the Spoil made by Tenant for Life upon any Lands or Woods, to the Prejudice of the Reversioner, as namely in the Statute made Anno 6 E. t. c. 13. and it may seem by the Derivation, that Estrepement is properly the unmea. surable Soaking or Drawing out of the Heart of the Land by plowing or sowing it continually, without manuring, or other such Usage as is Y 2 requifite requisite in good Husbandry: And yet Estropier signifying mutilare, may not improperly be applied to those that cut down Trees, or lop them, farther than the Law will bear. This signifies also a Writ, which lieth in two Manners; the one is, when a Man having an Action depending, (as a Formedon, or Dum fuit infra atatem, or Writ of Right, or any other) wherein the Demandant is not to recover Damages, fueth to inhibit the Tenant for making Waste during the Suit. The other Sort is for the Demandant, that is adjuged to recover Seisin of the Land in Question, and before Execution sued by the Writ Habere facial seisinam, for fear of Waste to be made before he can get Possession, such out this Writ. See more in F. N. B. fol. 60, 61. Reg. Orig. fol. 76. and Reg. Jud. fol. 33. In antient Records we often find Vasum & extrepamentum facere; and Spelman thinks Estrepamentum Gravis vasti genus designare.

Eraction Is a Wrong done by an Officer, or one pretending to have Authority, in taking a Reward or Fee for that which the Law allows not. The Difference between Exaction and Extortion is this, Extortion is, where an Officer extorts more than his due. Exaction is, where he wrests a Fee or Reward, where none is due. See Extortion.

Execution, Executio, In the Common Law fig-nifies the last Performance of an Act, as of a Fine or a Judgment. And the Execution of a Fine, is the obtaining Possession actually of the Things contained in the same by Virtue thereof, which is either by Entry into the Lands, or by Writ; whereof see at large West. part. 2. Symbol. Tit, Fines, seet. 136, 137, 138. Executing of Judgments and Statutes, and such like, see F. N. B. in indice 2. verbo Execution. Co. in his 6 Rep. Blomfield's Case, f. 87. maketh two Sorts of Executions, one final, another with a quantum tend. cutions, one final, another with a quousque tending to an End: An Execution final is that which maketh Money of the Defendant's Goods, or exmaketh Money of the Defendant's Goods, or extendeth his Lands, and delivereth them to the Plaintiff: for this the Party accepteth in Satisfaction, and this is the End of the Suit, and all that the King's Writ commandeth to be done. The other Sort with a Quoufque is tending to an End, and not final; as in the Case of a Capias ad fatisfaciendum, &c. This is not final, but the Body of the Party is to be taken, to the Intent and Purpose to satisfy the Demandant, and his and Purpose to satisfy the Demandant, and his Imprisonment is not absolute, but until the Defendant do satisfy. Executione facienda is a Writ commanding Execution of a Judgment; the divers Uses where of see in the Table of the Register Judicial.

Grecutione facienda in Mithernamium is a Writ that lies for taking his Cuttel, who formerly had conveyed out of the County the Cattel of another: So that the Bailiff, having Authority from the Sheriff to replevy the Cattel fo conveyed away, could not execute his Charge. Reg. of Writs, f. 82. b.

Elecutor, Executor, is he that is appointed by any Man in his last Will and Testament, to have the Disposing of all his Substance, according to the Contents of the said Will. This lar, as if this or that Thing only be committed to his Charge: Unviversal, if all. And this is in the Place of him whom the Civilians call Haredem designatum, or Testamentarium; and the Law accounteth him one Person with the Party whose Executor he is, as having all the Advantage of A-&ion against Men that he had, so likewise being fubject to every Man's Action as himself was. This Executor had his Beginning in the Civil Law, by the Constitutions of the Emperors, who Wills to befrow any Thing upon godly and charitable Uses, to appoint whom they please to see the same performed: And if they appointed none, then they ordained, That the Bishop of the Place should have Authority of course to effect the same performed. fe& it. Lib. 28. cap. de Eifcopis & Clericis. And hence probably grew the Use of Universal Executors, and also brought the Administration of their Goods, that die intestate, unto the Bishop.

Executor of his own

wrong, Is he that takes upon him the Office of an Executor by Intrusion, not being so constituted by the Testator; nor for want thereof, appointed by the Ordinary to administer: How far he shall be liable to Creditors. See 43 El. ca. 8. Dyer, 166. and vide etiam libellum vocat. The Duty of Execu-

Exigendary of the Common Bench, Exigendarius de Banco Communi, Is otherwise called Exigenter, 10 H. 6. c. 4. and is an Officer belonging to that Court, for which see Exigenter.

Erigent, Exigenda, Is a Writ that lieth where the Defendant in an Action personal cannot be found, nor any Thing within that County, whereby he may be attached or distrained; and is directed to the Sheriff, to proclaim and call him five County-Days one after another, charging him to appear under the Pain of Outlawry. Termes de la Ley. This Writ lieth also in an Indiament of Felony, where the Party indicated cannot be found. Smith de Rep. Ang. lib. 2. c. 19. It feemeth to be called an Exigent, because it exactes the Party, that is, required his Appearance, to answer the Law: for if he come not at the last Day's Proclamation, he is said to be Quinquies exactus, and then is outlawed. Crom. Furifd. fol. 188. And this Manwood also setteth down for the Law of the Forest, c. 18. See the New Book of Entries, verbo Exigent.

Erigenter, Exigendarius, 18 H. 6. cap. 9. Is an Officer of the Court of Common Pleas, of whom there be four in Number: They make all Exigents and Proclamations in all Actions, where Process of Outlawry doth lie, and Writs of Supersedeas, as well as the Protonotaries, upon such Exigents as were made in their Offices. But the making Writs of Supersedeas is since taken from them by an Officer in the same Court, erected by King Fames by Letters Patent, towards the later End of his Reign.

cap. 71. Extinguishment, In our Laws signifies, an Esfect of Consolidation: For Example, If a Man have due to him a yearly Rent out of any Lands, and afterwards purchase the same Lands, now both the Property and Rent are confolidated or united in one Possessor; and therefore the Rent is said to be extinguished. In like Manner it is, where a Man hath a Lease for Years, and afterwards buyeth the Property; this is a Confolidation of the Property and the Fruits, and is an Extinguishment of the Lease. See Terms de la Ley. So if a Man have an Highway appendant, and after purchase the Land wherein the Highway is; then the Way is extint: And so it is of Common appendant. But if a Man have an Estate in Land but for Life or Years, and hath Feefimple in the Rent; then the Rent is not extin-guished, but in Suspence for the Time; and after the Term, the Rent shall be revived. And if there be Lord, Mesne, and Tenant, and the Lord purchase the Tenancy, then the Mesnalty is extinst; but the Mesne shall have the Surplusage of the Rent, if there be any, as Rent-seck. Terms committeth this Offence, and is indictable for it. To this (faith Mr. West) may be referred the Exaction of unlawful Usury, Winning by unlawful Games; and in one Word, all taking of more than is due, by Colour or Pretence of Right, as excessive Toll in Millers, excessive Prices of Ale, Bread, Victuals, Wares, &c. West. Symbol. part. 2. Tit. Indictments, sett. 65. Manwood saith, That Extortion is colore Officii, and not virtute Officii. Crompton in his Justice of Peace, fol. 8. hath these Words, Wrong done by any Man, is properly a Trespass, but excessive Wrong by any Man is called Extortion; and this is most properly in Officers, as Sheriss, Mayors, Bailiss, Escheators, and the like, that by Colour of their Office do great Oppression, and excessive Wrong committeth this Offence, and is indictable for it. Office do great Oppression, and excessive Wrong unto the People, in taking excessive Rewards or Fees, for the Execution of their Office: Great Diversity of Cases touching Extortion, you may read in Crom. R. 3. cap. 6.

Matt, In Latin Fastum, A Deed, which is a Writing sealed and delivered to prove and testify the Agreement of the Parties, whose Deed it is, and consists of three principal Points, Writing, Sealing and Delivery. By Writing is shewed the Parties Name to the Deed, their Dwelling-places, Degrees, Thing granted, upon what Confideration, the Estate limited, the Time when granted, and whether simply, or upon Condition, &c. 2. Sealing is a farther Testimony of their Consents, as appears by these Words, In Witness whereof, &c. In cujus rei testimonium, &c. without which the Deed is insufficient. In the Time of the Saxons our Antestors they only subscribed their Names, commonly adding the Sign of the Cross, and in the End set down a great Number of Witnesses, not using any Kind of Seal, which Fashion continued until the Norman Conquest; whose Custom by little and little prevailing, brought in the Use of Seals. The first sealed Charter in England, is supposed to be that of Edward the Consessor to the Abbey of Westminster, which he being educated in Normandy brought thence: This Change is mentioned by Ingulphus, who came in with the Conqueror, in these Words,

Normanni

Normanni Chirographerum confectionem (cum crucibus aureis & aliis signaculis sacris in Anglia firmari solitam) in ceram impressam mutant, modum; scribendi Anglicum rejiciunt; but this Custom was at first used only by the Nobility, as appears in the History of Battel Abbey, where Richard Lucy Chief Justice of England, in the Time of Henry the Second is reported to have blamed a moon Parson. cond, is reported to have blamed a mean Person for using a Scal, which (he said) pertained only to the Nobility; yet, in Edward the Third's Time Scals became very common, according to every Man's Fancy. 3. Delivery, though it be fet last, is not the least; for after a Deed is written and scaled, if it be not delivered, it is to no Purpose: And therefore in all Deeds, Care must be taken that the Delivery be well proved.

ffaitours (a French Word antiquated; for the modern French is Faifour, i. e. Faitor) is used in the Stat. 7 R. 2. cap. 5. in the evil Part, fignifying a bad Doer; or it may not improbably be interpreted an idle Liver, taken from Faitardife, which fignifies a Kind of sleepy Discase, proceeding of too much Sluggishness, which the Latins call Veternus: For in the said Statute it seems to

Kalmotum, Kalchesmota, Folkmote, From Sax. folk, People, and mote or gemote, a Convention or Assembly; so as a Falkmote was a general Word for a common Meeting or general Affembly of the People, and did extend to three feveral Kinds of popular Concourse. 1. It fignified a Common Council of all the Inhabitants of a City, Town, or Borough, and was then other-wife called the Burgmote or Portmote, conven'd often by Sound of Bell, called Mote-ball, to the Mote-ball or Mote-house. Or, 2. It was applied to a larger Congress of all the Free Tenants within a County, called the Shire-mote, where formerly all Knights and Military Tenants did their Fealty to the King, and elected the annual Sheriff on OHob. 1. 'till this popular Election, to avoid tumultuary Riots, was devolved to the King's Nomination, Anno 1315. 3 Edw. 2. After which the City Folkmote was swallowed up in a felect Committee or Common Council, and the County Folkmote in the Sheriff's Turn and Affiscs. But 3. The Word Folkmote was sometimes of a less Extent, and denoted any Kind of populous and publick Meeting, as of all Tenants at the Court-Leet or Baron of their Lord. So as to a Charter of Wido de Meriton, about 10 Hen. 2. Testes donationis sunt Falco Sacerdos de Meriton, Luvellus de Hospath, & totum falmorum meorum hominum & suorum. Paroch. Antiq. p. 120. Smith de Repub. Angl. lib. 3. cap. 8. For Fidelitas is de substantia seudi, as Duarenus saith, de Feud. cap. 2. num. 4. And Mattheus de afflittis descis, 320. num. 4. pag 465. saith, That Fidelitas est substantiale seudi, non servitium: The Particulars of his Oath, as it susce among the Feudists, you may read well exprest by Zasius, in his Trastate de feudis, part 7. num. 15, 16. which is worth the Comparing with the usual Oath taken here in England. This Fealty is also used in other Nations, as the Lombards and Burgundians. Cassaneus de consuet. Burgund. pag. 419, 420. And indeed the very Creation of this Tenure, as it grew from the Love of the Lord toward his Followers, so did it bind the Tenant to Fidelity, as appeared by the whole Course of the Feods; and the Breach thereof is the Loss of the Fee. Hotoman in his Commentaries de verbis seudalibus, sheweth a double Fealty, one general, to be performed by every Subject to his Prince; the other special, required only of several Owners or Proprietors do claim Estates such as in respect of their Fee are tied by this of Inheritance and Burgess-ship. It is usually mentioned with Homage, but it dif-fers from it; for Homage consists in the Taking an Oath when the Tenant comes to his Land, and is done but once, and so is the Oath of Fealty, but that is an Obligation which is permanent, and binds for ever. These differ also in Manner of binds for ever. These differ also in Manner of the Solemnity, for the Oath of Homage is taken by the Tenant kneeling, but that of Fealty is taken standing, and includes six Things, which are comprised in these Words, Incolume, tutum, utile, bonestum, facile, possibile; Incolume, that he do no bodily Injury to the Lord; Tutum, that he do him no secret Injury in any Thing which is for his Defence, as in his House or Cattle; Honestum, that he do him no Injury in his Reputa-tion; Utile, that he do not damage him in his Possessions; Facile & possibile, that he make it easy and not difficult for the Lord to do any good, which otherwise he might do, nor make that impossible to be done which before was in his Power to do: All which is likewise comprised in Leg. H. 1. cap. 5. Omnis homo fidem det Domino suo de vita & membris suis & terreno honore & observatione confilii sui per bonestum & utile, fide dei salva & terra principis salva.

Fee, Feudum vel feodum, Cometh of the French Word Fief, i. predium beneficiarium, vel res clientelaris, and is used in our Common Law to signify divers Things: As first, all those Lands which we hold by perpetual Right, as Hotoman well noteth verbo Feodum, de verbis feudalibus. Our ancient Lawyers have not expressed what they fully meant by it, but only say, that by this Name go all Lands and Tenements that are held by any Acknowledgment of Superiority to a higher Lord. They that write of this Subject, divide all Lands and Tenements where a Man hath a perpetual Estate to him and his Heirs, &c. into Allodium, & feudum. 1. Allodium they define to be every Man's own Land, &c. which he possesses the merely in his own Right, without Acknowledgment of any Service, or Payment of any Rent to another; and this is a Property in the highest De-

Money; yet is the Land of such a Nature, that it cannot come to any either by Descent or Purchase, but with the Burthen that was laid upon him, who had Novel Fee, or first of all received it as a Benefit from his Lord to him and to all fuch to whom it might descend, or any Way be conveyed from him. So that in Truth no Man hath directum Dominium, the very Property or Demain in any Land, but only the Prince in the Right of his Crown. Camb. Brit. pag. 93. For though he that hath Fee, hath jus perpetuum & utile Dominium, yet he oweth a Duty for it, and therefore it is not fimply his own; which Thing, I take those Words, that we use for the expres-sing of our deepest Rights in any Lands or Tenements, to import: For he that can fay most of his Estate, says thus, I am seised of this or that Land or Tenement in my Demain as of Fec, Seisitus inde in Dominio meo ut de feudo, and that is as much as if he said, it is my Demain or proper Land after a Sort, hecause it is to me and my Heirs for ever; yet not simply mine, because I hold it in the Nature of a Benefit from another. Yet the Statute of 37 H. 8. 16. useth these Words of Lands invested in the Crown; but it proceedeth from the not knowing the Nature of this Word Fee; for Fee cannot be without Fealty sworn to a Superior, as you may read partly in the Word Fealty, but more at large in those that write de feudis, and in particular Hotoman both in his Commentaries and Disputations. And Note, that Land, &c. with us is termed Fee in two Re-spects, one as it belongeth to us and our Heirs for ever, the other as it holdeth of another. Britton, cap. 23. defineth it thus; Fee is a Right con-lifting in the Person of the true Heir, or of some other that by just Title hath purchased it. Fleta saith, Feudum est quod quis tenet ex quacunque causa sibi & baredibus suis, sive sit tenementum sive redditus qui non proveniunt ex camera, & alio modo dicitur feudum, ficut ejus qui feoffant, & quod quis tenet ab alio ficut dicitur, talis tenet de tali tot feuda per servitium militare. Lib. 5. cap. 5. sect. feudum autem. And all that write de feudis, hold, that feudatarius hath not an intire Property in his Fee. But the Definition of Sir Human Stelman is most intelligible. nition of Sir Henry Spelman is most intelligible. A Feud is a Right which the Vassal hath in Land or some immoveable Thing of his Lord's, to use the same, and take the Profits thereof hereditarily, rendring unto his Lord such feudal Duties and Services as belong to military Tenure, the mere Propriety of the Soil always remaining to the Lord. Spelman of Feuds, cap. 1. The Divisions of Fee in divers Respects are many, and worthy to be known; but we divide them only into Fee absolute, otherwise termed Fee-simple; and Fee conditional, otherwise called Fee-tail. Fee-simple, feodum simplex, is that of which we are seised in these general Words, To Us and Our Heirs for ever. Fee-tail, feedum taliatum, is that whereof we are seised to Us and our Heirs, with Limitation, that is, the Heirs of our Body, &c. And this Fee-tail is either general or special: General is, gree. 2. Feudum is that which we hold by the where Land is given to a Man and the Heirs of Benefit of another, and in the Name whereof his Body; the Reason whereof is given by Litwe owe Service, or pay Rent, or both, to a su-perior Lord: And all our Land here in England (the Crown-Lands being in the King's own Hands, in the Right of his Crown excepted) is in the another by whom he hath Issue; this Issue shall Nature of Feudum or Fee; for though many have inherit the Land. Fee-tail special, is that, where Land by Descent from their Ancestors, and o- a Man and his Wife be seised of Lands to them thers have dearly purchased Land with their and the Heirs of their two Bodies. The Reason

fue, and he marrying another by whom he hath Issue; this Issue cannot inherit the Land, being specially given to such Heirs, &c. This Fee-tail hath the Original from the Statute of Wessen. 2. cap. 1. made 13 E. 1. Yet see Bracton, lib. 2. cap. 5. num. 3. in his verbis, Item quadam absoluta & larga, & quadam stricta & coarctata scut certis haredibus. To whom add Plowden, fol. 235. Willion's Case; for before that Statute, all Land given to redibus. a Man and his Heirs, either general or special, was accounted in the Nature of a Fee; and therefore held to be fo firmly in him to whom it was given, that any Limitation notwithstanding, he might alien, and sell it at his Pleasure, much like that which the Civilians call Nudum praceptum, binding rather by Counsel and Advice, than Compulsion or Restraint. But this seeming unreasonable to the Wisdom of our Realm, that a Man meaning well to this or that Posterity of himself, or his Friends, might be forthwith deceived of his Intention; the faid Statute was made for Redress of that Inconvenience, whereby it is ordained, That if a Man give Lands in Fee, limiting the Heir, to whom it shall descend, with a Reversion to himself or his Heirs, for Default, &c. that the Form and true Meaning of his Gift shall be observed: He then that hath Fee, holdeth of another by fome Duty or another, which is called Service; and of this Service, and the Diversity thereof, see Chivalry and Service. Secondly, This Word Fee is sometimes used with us for the Compass or Circuit of a Manor or Lordship. Bratton, lib. 2. cap. 5. In eadem villa & de eodem feodo. Thirdly, It is used for a perpetual Right incorporcal, as to have the Keeping of Prisons in Fee. Old Nat. Brev. fol. 41. Foster in Fee, eod. fol. 6. Rent granted in Fee, eod. fol. 8. Sheriff in Fee, 28 E. 1. Stat. 3. cap. 8. Lastly, It is taken for a Reward or Wages given to one for the Execution of his Office, as the Fee of a Forester, of a Keeper of a Park, or of a Sheriff for serving an Execution, limited by 20 Eliz. cap. 4. And also for that Consideration given a Serjeant at Law or Counsellor, or a Physician, for their Counsel and Advice in their Profession, which, as it is well observed by Sir John Davis, in his Preface to his Reports, is not properly Merces, but Honorarium; yet in the Law Language it is called a Expectant. Fee-farm, Feudi firma, Is a compound of Fee, and ferme, pradium, and fignificth in a legal Sense Land held of another in Fee, that is, in Perpetuity to himself and his Heir, for so much yearly Rent as it is reasonably worth, more or less, so it be the fourth Part of the Worth, (Old Tenures. See Exposition of the Statute of Glouce-ter, Anno 6 E. 1.) without Homage, Fealty, or other Services, other than be specially comprised in the Feossment; but by Fitzberbert in his Nat. Brev. fol. 210. it seemeth, that the third Part of the Value may be appointed for the Rent, or the Finding of a Chaplain to sing Divine Service, &c. And the Nature of it is thus, that if the Rent be behind and unpaid for the Space of two Years, then the Fcotfor, or his Heirs, have an Action to recover the Lands as is given likewise by Littleton in the same Place, his Demesnes. Britton, cap. 66. num. 4. But obbecause in this Case the Wife dying without Is- ferve, that West in his Symbol, part 1. lib. 2. sect. 463. says that the Feoffment may contain Services and Suit of Court, as well as Rent. And in Terms de la Ley, that Fee-farm oweth Fealty, tho' not expressed in the Feotoment, for that Fealty belongeth to all Kind of Tenures; this is near the Nature of that which, among the Civilians, is called Ager Vectigalis, qui in perpetuum licetur i. hac lege, ut quamdiu pro eo Vestigal pendatur, tam-diu neque ipsis qui conduxerunt, neque iis qui in locum eorum successerunt, auferri eum liceat. The Fee-farm Rents remaining to the Kings of England from their ancient Demesnes, were many of them alienated from the Crown in the Reign of King Charles II. But how doubtful Men are of the Title to Alienations of any Nature, is evident from this, that whilst these Rents were exposed to Sale for Ready Money, scarce any would deal for them, and they remained unfold, till the Method of doubling Orders did a little help; but that which made Men carnell indeed to buy them, was the Stop upon some of his Majesties other Payments, which made Men to resort to this as the most eligible in that Conjuncture. Theft, killing of a Man's Self, Sodomy, Rape, wilful burning of Houses, and such like, which are to be collected out of the Statutes, which have made many Offences Felony that before were not. Felony is differenced from lighter Offences in this, that the Punishment thereof is Death, yet not in all Cases: For Petit Larceny, which is the Straling of any Thing under the Value of twelve Pence, is Felony, as appeareth by Broke Tit. Coron. num. 2. his reason is, because the Indiament against such a one must have these Words, Felonice Cepit; and yet this is not punish-Words, Felonice Cepit; and yet this is not punished by Death, though it be Loss of Goods. Any other Exception I know not, but that a Man may call that Felony, which is under Petit Treason, and punished by Death. Before the Reign of H. 1. Felonies were punished by pecuniary Fines; but he was the first that ordered Felons to be hang'd, viz. about the Year 1108. Of Felonies there may be reckoned two Sorts, one lighter, that for the first Time may have the Benefit of the Clergy, another that may not. And these that for the first Time may have the Benefit of the Clergy, another that may not. And these you may learn to know from the Statutes; for Clergy is allowed, where it is not expressly taken away. Of this read Staunds pl. cor. lib. 1. from the End of the second Chapter to the thirty-ninth, and the Statutes. See also Lambard's fusice of Peace, lib. 2. cap. 7. in a Table drawn for that Purpose. And also lib. 4. cap. 4. pag. 404. And Cromp. Justice of Peace, sol. 32, &c. Felony is also punisht by Loss of Lands not entailed, and Goods and Chattels as well real as personal; and yet by the 27 H. 8. cap. 6. a Difference is made Goods and Chattels as well real as personal; and yet by the 37 H. 8. cap. 6. a Difference is made in some Cases touching Land. This Offence ordinarily worketh Corruption of Blood, unless expressly provided against by Statute, as 39 Eliz. cap. 17. feoffment, Feoffamentum, By the Opinion of Sir Thomas Smith de Repub. Anglor. lib. 3. cap. 8. and West. part. 1. Symb. lib. 2. sett. 280. is descended from the Gothish Word Feudum, which we interpret Fce, and fignifieth donationem feudi : But (as the same West addeth) it signifieth in our Common Law any Gift or Grant of any Honours, Castles, Manors, Messuages, Lands or other corporeal and immoveable Things of like Nature unto another in Fee-simple, that is, to him and his Heirs for ever, by the Delivery of Seisin, and the Possession of the Thing given, whether the Gift be made by Deed or Writing: And when it is in Writing, it is called a Deed of Feoffment, and in every Feoffment the Giver is called the Feoffor, Feoffator, and he that receiveth by Virtue of the same, Feoffee, Feoffatus. And Little-ton saith, That the proper Difference between a Feoffor and a Donor is, that the Feoffor giveth in Fee-simple, and the Donor in in Fee-tail. Lib. 1. c. 6. It is the ancient and most necessary Conveyance, because solemn and publick; and also because it cleareth all Disseisins, Abatements, Intrusions, and other descasible Estates, where the Entry of the Feoffor is lawful, which neither Fine, Recovery, nor Bargain or Sale by Deed indented and inrolled doth. Fisteents, Decima quinta, Is a Tribute or Imposition of Money laid upon a City, Borough, or other Town, through the Realm; not by the Pole, or upon this or that Man, but in general upon the whole City or Town, and so called, because it amounted to a Fifteenth Part of that which the City or Town hath been valued at of old; or to a Fifteenth Part of every Man's Goods and perfonal Estate, according to a reasonable Valuation. This is now imposed by Parliament, and every Town through the Realm knoweth what a Fifteenth for themselves doth amount to, because it is perpetually the same. Whereas the Subsidy, which is raifed of every particular Man's Lands or Goods, must needs be uncertain, because the Estate of several Men is uncertain. And in that regard, a Fifteenth feems to be a Rate anciently laid upon every Town, according to the Landor Circuit belonging to it: Whereof Cambden in his Circuit belonging to it: Whereof Cambden in his Brit. makes frequent Mention, particularly pag. 168. of Wells in Somersetsbire, thus, Quo tempore ut testatur censualis Anglia liber, Episcopus issum oppidum tenuit, quod pro quinquaginta hidis geldavit. And these Rates were taken out of Domesday-Book in the Exchequer. Filacer, Filazarius, Possibly derived from the Latin filum, a Thread, is an Officer in the Common Pleas (so called) because he files those Writs whereupon he makes Process. There are Fourteen of them in their several Divisions and Counties, they make out all original Process, as well real as personal and mixt; and in Actions meerly personal, where the Defendants be returned or fummoned, there goeth out the Distress infinite until Appearance; if he be returned Nibil, there Process of Capias infinite, if the Plaintist will; or after the third Capias, the Plaintiff may go to the Exigenter of the Shire, where his Original is grounded, and have an Exigent or Proclamation made. Also the Filacer maketh all Sorts of Writs of View, in Causes where the View is pray'd; and upon all Replevins or Recordare's, Writs of returno habendo, Second Deliverance, and Withernam. They enter all Appearances and special Bails upon any Process made by them. They make the first Scire facias upon special Bails; Writs of Habeas Corpus, Distringas Nuper vicecomitem vel Ballivum and Duces tecum, and all Supersedeas upon special Bail, or otherwise; Writs of Habeas corpus cum causa upon the Sherist's Return, that the Defendant is detained with other A&ions; Writs of Adjournment of a Term, in case of Pestilence, War, or publick Disturbance, and (until fine, Finis, Hath divers Applications in the Common Law, fometimes being used for a formal or ceremonious Conveyance of Lands or Tenements: Or as West saith, Tit. Fines, sett. 25. of any Thing inheritable, being in essential tempore finis, to the End to cut off all Controversics. The same West in his 2 par. Symbol. sett. It thus defines it, To be a Covenant made before Justices, and entred of Record. But Glanvile more nobly thus, lib. 8. cap. 1. Finis est amicabilis compositio that Hundred. It was prohibited in the Days of gis vel justiciariorum. And lib. 9. cap. 3. Talis con-Braston, lib. 3. fol. 117. According to Sir Edward cordia that is dicitur, eo quod finem imponit negotio, Coke's 4 Inst. fol. 307. an Extortion Colore Compo-tationis. The true Word is Fild-ale, Quod Compo-fine idea to the true was a first and the second control of the s adeo ut neutra pars litigantium ab eo de catero poterit recedere. And Bracton, lib. 5. cap. 28. num. 7. thus, Finis ideo dicitur finalis concordia, quia imponit finem litibus & eft exceptio peremptoria. The Author of the New Terms of the Law defineth it to be a final Agreement, had between Persons concerning any Lands or Rent or other Things where of ny Lands or Rent, or other Things whereof any Suit or Writ is between them hanging in any Court. See the New Book of Entries, verbo Fines, and 27 E. 1. Stat. 1. cap. 1. This Fine is of so high a Nature, that Bracton, lib. cap. 7. num. 3. saith of it thus, Item immediate pertinet ad Regem querela finis facti in curia Domini Regis & non observations. vati, & est ratio, quia nemo potest finem interpretare nisi ipst Rex, in cujus curia fines siunt. The Civilians would call this solemn Contract, Transactionem judicialem de re immobili, because it hath all the Properties of a Transaction, if it be considered in the original Use. Wesemb. parat. Tit. de Transatt. For it appeareth by the Writers of the Common Law before recited, that it is nothing but a Composition or Concord acknowledged, and recorded before a competent Judge, touching fome Hereditament, or Thing immoveable, that before was in Controversy between the Parties to the same Concord: And that for the better Credit of the Transaction, being, by Imputa-tion, made in the Presence of the King, because it is levied in his Court; and therefore doth it bind Women covert being Parties, and others, whom ordinarily the Law disableth to transact, only for this Reason, that all Presumption of Deceit or evil Meaning is excluded, where the King and his Court of Justice are supposed to be privy to the Act. Originally the Use of this final Concord was instituted and allowed, in regard that by the Law, and ancient Proceedings, no Plaintiff (giving real Security de clamore suo prosequendo,) could agree without Licence of the Court: So as Fines have been anciently levied in personal Actions, and for no greater a Sum of Money than 11 l. But Subtilty of Wit and Reason hath in Time wrought other Uses of this Concord, which in the Beginning was but one, viz. to secure the Title that any Man hath in his Possession against all Men; to cut off Entails, and with more Cer-Fimitium, (i. c. Tempus quo agri fimantur.) tainty to pass the Interest or Title of any Land Tis mentioned in the Monasticon, 1 Tom. pa. 256. or Tenement, though not controverted, to whom Aa2

we think good, either for Years or in Fee: Info-much, that the Passing of a Fine, in some Cases, now is but mera fittio Juris, alluding to the Use for which it was invented, and supposing a Doubt or Controversy, where in Truth none is; and so not only to work a present Prescription against the Parties to the Concord or Fine, and their Heirs, but within five Years against all others, not expressly excepted (if it be levied upon good Confideration, and without Covin) as Women covert, Persons under one and twenty Years of Age, Prisoners, or such as be out of the Realm at the Time when it was acknowledged. Touching this Matter, see the Statutes, 1 R. 3. cap. 7. 4 H. 7. cap. 24. 32 H. 8. 36. and 31 El. 1. This Fine hath in the effential Parts; 1. The Original Writ taken out against the Conusor. 2. The King's Licence, giving the Parties Liberty to accord, for which he hath a Fine called The King's Silver, being accounted a Part of the Revenue of the Crown. 3. The Concord it felf which thus beginneth, Et est concordia talis, &c. 4. The Note of the Fine, which is an Abstract of the Original Concord, and beginneth in this Manner, sc. Inter R. Querentem & S. & E. uxorem eigns deforcientes, &c. (where instead of Deforcientes, anciently, Interdiantes, was need) rem ejus deforcientes, &c. (Where inited of Defor-cientes, anciently Impedientes was used.) 5. The Foot of the Fine, which beginneth thus, Hac est similar concordia sassa in curia Domini Regis, apud Westm. a die Pascha in quindecim dies, anno, &c. So as the Foot of the Fine includeth all contain-ing the Day, Year, and Place, and before what Justice the Concord was made. Co. vol. 6. sol. 38, 39. Teye's Case. This Fine is either fingle or double. A fingle Fine is that by which nothing is granted or rendred back again by the Conusers to the Conusors, or any of them. A double Fine containeth a Grant or Render back again, either of fome Rent, Common, or other Thing out of the Land, or of the Land it felf to all, or some of the Conusors for some Estate, limiting thereby many Times Remainders to Strangers, which be not named in the Writ of Covenant. West. ubi Supra, Sett. 21. Again a Fine is of the Effect divided into a Fine executed, and a Fine executory. A Fine executed is such a Fine, as of its own Force giveth a present Possession (at the least in Law) unto the Conusec, so that he needeth no Writ of Habere facias seisinam for the Execution of the same, but may enter; of which Sort is a Fine Sur cognizance de droit come ceo qui il ad de son done, that is upon Acknowledgment that the Thing mentioned in the Concord be Jus issius Cognizati ut illa qua idem babet de dono Cognitoris. West. sect. 51. And the Reason of this seemeth to be, because this Fine passeth by way of Release of that Thing, which the Conusee hath already (at least by Supposition) by Virtue of a former Gift of the Conusor. Co. Rep. lib. 3. fol. 89. Case of Fines, which is in very Deed the surest Fine of all. Fines executory are fuch as of their own Force do not execute the Possession in the Conusees, as Fines sur Conusance de droit tantum, Fines sur dones, Grant, Release, Confirmation, or Render; for if such Fines be not levied, or such Render made unto them that be in Possession at the Time of the Fines levied, the Conusees must needs sue Writs of Habere facias seismam, according to their several Cases, for the Obtaining of their Possessions except at the Levying such executory Fines, the Parties unto whom the Estate is by them limit ed, be in Possession of the Lands passed thereby:

Extinguishment of Right, not altering the Estate of Possession of the Conuse, but perchance bettering it. West, ubi supra, sett. 20. Touching the Form of these Fines, we must consider, upon what Writ or Action the Concord is to be made, and tliat is most commonly upon a Writ of Covenant; and then first there must pass a Pair of Indentures between the Conusor and Conusce, whereby the Conusor covenanteth with the Conufee, to pass a Fine unto him of such or such Things, by a Day set down: And these Indentures, as they are first in this Proceeding, so they are said to lead the Fine; upon this Cove-nant, the Writ of Covenant is brought by the Conusce against the Conusor, who hereupon yieldeth to pass the Fine before a Judge; and so the Acknowledgment being recorded, the Conufor and his Heirs are presently concluded, and all, Strangers not excepted, after five Years once passed. If the Writ whereupon the Fine is grounded be not a Writ of Covenant, but of Warrantia Charta, or Writ of Right, or a Writ of Mesne, or a Writ of Customs and Services; for all these Fines may also be found, West (ubi supra, sed. 23.) then this Form is observed, the Writ is served upon the Party that is to acknowledge the Fine, and then he appearing, doth accordingly. See Dyer, fol. 179. num. 46. Fines are now only levied in the Court of Common Pleas at Westminster, in regard of the Solemnity thereof, ordained by the Statute of 18 E. 1. Before which Time they were fometimes levied in the County-Courts, Court-Barons, and in the Exchequer, as may be seen in Origines Juridiciales & alibi. Plowden says there were Fines levied before the Conquest: Fulbec says he has seen the Exemplification of one of Henry the First's Time; Dugdale, none till Henry the Second. See Impediens. This Word Fine, sometimes also signifieth a Sum of Money paid for an Income to Lands or Tenements let by Leafe, anciently called Gersuma; sometimes an Amends, pecuniary Punishment or Recom-pence upon an Offence committed against the King and his Laws, or against the Lord of a Manor: In which Case a Man is said Finem facere de transgressione cum Rege, &c. Reg. Jud. f. 25. a. And of the Diversity of these Fine, with other Matter worth the Learning, see Crompton's Justice of Peace, fol. 141, 143, 144. and Lambard's Eiren. lib. 4. cap. 16. pag. 555. But in all these Diversities of Uses it hath but one Signification, and that is a final Conclusion, or End of Differences between Parties. And in this last Sense, wherein it is used for the Ending and Remission of an Offence, Braston hath it, lib. 2. cap. 15. num. 8. speaking of a common Fine, that the County payeth to the King for false Judgments, or other Trespasses to be assessed by the Justices in Eire before their Departure, by the Oath of Knights, and other good Men, upon such as ought to pay it, with whom agreeth the Statute 3 E. 1. c. 18. There is also a Common Fine in Leets. See Kitchin, f. 13. Vide Common Fine. Fleta, lib. 1. c. 48. and Co. on Lit. f. 126.

But Manwood says in his Forest-Laws, Folke is the Court holden in London, wherein all the Folk and People of the City did complain of the Mayor and Aldermen, for Misgovernment within the City. Sommer in his Saxon Distionary fays, It is a general Affembly of the People, to consider and order Matters of the Conimon-wealth. As to the Folc mote or Folc Gemot, Sir Hen. Spelman tells us it was a Sort of annual Parliament or Convention of the Bishops, Thanes, Aldermen, and Freemen, upon every May-Day yearly; where the Laymon were fworn to defend one another; sware realty to the King, and to preserve the Laws of the Kingdom, and then to consult of Common Safety, Peace and War, and publick Weal. But Dr. Brady from the Laws of our Saxon Kings, does infer that the Fole-Mote, was an inferior Court, before the King's Reve, or Steward; held rather every Month to do Fole-Right, or to compose smaller Squabbles, from whence Appeal should lie to the superior Courts of Justice. See Dr. Brady's Glosfary, p. 48. When this great Assembly is made in a City, it may be called a Burgemote, when in the County a Shiregemot. Force is an Offence by which Violence is used to Persons or Things; where also he divideth it thus, Force is either Simple or Compound; Simple Force is that which is so committed, that it hath no other Crime adjoined to it; as if one by Force do enter into another Man's Possession, without doing any other unlawful Act.

Mixt or Compound Force is that Violence which is committed with such a Fact, as of it self only is criminal: As if any by Force do enter into another Man's Possession, and kill a Man, or ravish a Woman there, &c. He farther divideth it into true Force, and Force after a Sort, and so proceedeth to divers other Branches worth the Reading, as forcible Entry, forcible Detaining, unlawful Assembly, Routs, Riots, Rebellions, &c.

forest, Foresta, Signifies a great or vast Wood, in French Lieu Forestier & Sauvage, in Locus sylveftris & saltuosus. Such as have written upon the Common Law, define it thus, Foresta est locus ubi fera inbabitant vel includuntur, with whom agree several others. Some do say it is called Foreste quasi ferarum statio vel tuta Mansio ferarum. Manwood in his Forest-Laws, cap. 1. num. 1. thus definate in the Forest in a contain Townstown of another the second in the second eth it. A Forest is a certain Territory of woody Grounds, and fruitful Pastures, privileged for wild Beasts and Fowls of Forest, Chase, and Warren, to rest and abide in the safe Protection of the King, for his Princely Delight and Pleasure; which Territory of Ground so trivileged, is meered and bounded with unremoveable Marks, Meers and Boundaries, either known by Matter of Record, or elfe by Prescription, and also replenish d with wild Beasts of Venery or Chase. and with great Coverts of Vert, for the Succour of the faid wild Beasts to have their abode in; for the Preservation and Continuance of which said Place, together with the Vert and Venision, there are certain particular Laws, Privileges and Officers belonging only to the same. The Manner of making Forests, as the same Author well setteth down, cap. 2. num. 2. is this, The King sends out his Commission under the Great Seal of England, directed to certain discreet Persons, for the View, Perambulation, meering and bounding of the Place he mindeth to be a Freest which being returned into the Chancery. be a Forest; which being returned into the Chancery, Proclamation is made throughout all the Shire where the Ground lieth, That none shall hunt or chase any manner of wild Beasts in that Precinct, without the King's special Licence; after which, he appointeth Ordinances, Laws, and Officers fit for the Preservation of the Vert and Venison; and so it becometh a Forest by Matter of Record. The Properties of a Forest are these in especial; First, a Forest, as it is truly and strictly taken, cannot be in the Hands of any but the King; the Reason is given by Manwood, because none thath Power to grant Commission to be a Justice in Eyre or the Forest but the King, cap. 24. num. I. The second Property be the Courts, as the fuffice-Seat every three Years; the Swainemote thrice every Year; and the Attachment one every forty Days. Idem, cap. 21. num. 1. The Third their Duties, in Manwood, cap. 21. num. 1, 2, 3, 2. Cromwell's Case, sol. 71. Waterdown Forest, 4. But the chief Property of a Forest both by Manwood, cap. 23. and Cromp. pag. 146. is the several others. See 17 Car. 1. cap. 16. For the Swainemote, which, as they both agree, is no less Ascertaining the Meers and Bounds of Forests. incident to it, than a Court of Pye-powders to a

He examines the straight Raure of a Chase. See Chase. jects, because they be not truly Forests. But if this fail, there remains nothing of a Forest, but it is turned into the Nature of a Chase. See Chase. The Norman Kings not only inclosed Forests, but punished those who hunted and killed any of the Beafts, with the greatest Severity. Brompton tells us, That William, called the Conqueror, caused the Eyes of the Man to be pulled out, who took either a Buck: or Boar; and Knighton tells us, That his Son William Rufus would hang a Man for taking a Doc, and for a Hare he made him pay twenty Shillings, and ten Shillings for a Cony. Eadmerus, lib. 2: p. 48. mentions, That the same Rusus, caused fifty rich Men to be apprehended, and accused them of taking and killing his Bucks, which they denying, they were to clear themselves by the Fire Ordeal, &c. and Hen. 1. made no. Distinction between him who killed a Man or a Buck, and punished those who destroyed the Game, (though not in the Forest) either by Forseiture of their Goods, or Loss of Limbs: But Hen. 2. made it only Imprisonment for a Time: His Son, R. 1. revived the old Laws for punishing those who were convided of Hunting in the Forest, (viz.) That they should be gelt, and have their Eyes pulled out; but that King afterwards abolished this Punishment, and appointed such Convicts to abjure the Realm, or be committed, or to pay a Fine. Ed. 1. appointed the same Punishment, but that they should be free both of Life and Limb.

The Historians of those Times tell us, That New Forest was raised by the Destruction of Twenty-two Parish-Churches, and many Villages, Chapels and Manors, for the Space of thirty Miles together; that this was fo displeasing to God, that several of those Princes came to untimely Ends in that very Forest, and particularly that Rusus was there shot by Tyrrell; and before him, Richard, the Brother of Hen. 1. was there killed by a Soldier; and Henry, who was Ne-phew to Robert, the eldest Son of the Con-queror, did hang like Absolom in the Boughs of the Forest.

Besides New Forest, there are Sixty-eight Forests in England, Thirteen Chases, and more than Seven hundred eighty-one Parks. The Forests that I have read of in England are these, The Forest of Windsor in Berkshire, Cam. Brit. pag. 213. Of Pickering, Cromp. 190. Of Shirwood, Id. fol. 202. Rozetudger, Forisjudicatio, Signifies a Judgment, whereby a Man is deprived, or put by the Thing in Question: It seemeth to be compounded of in Queltion: It seemeth to be compounded of Fors, 1. prater and judger, judicare. Bracton, lib. 4. tract. 3. cap. 5. hath these Words, Et non permittas quod A. capitalis Dominus feudi illius baberet custodiam haredi, &c. quia in curia nostra forisjudicatur de custodia, &c. So doth Kitchin use it, f. 29 and Old Nat. Brev. fol. 44. & 81. And the Stat. 5 E. 3. c. 9. and 21 R. 2. cap. 12. Forjudicatus, with Authors of other Nations, signifieth as much as Bapished. Or as Departatus in the ancient Roman. as Banished, or as Deportatus in the ancient Roman Law, as appeareth by Vincentius de Franchis, descis 101. Mathaus de affistis, Lib. 3. Feub. Rub. 31. p. 625.

Fozejudged the Court Is, when an Officer of any Court is expelled the same for some Offence, or for not appearing to an Action by Bill filed against him; and in the later he is not to be readmitted, till he shall appear. 2 H. 4. 8. He shall lose his Osfice, and be fore-judged the Court. Spelman says, Forjudicare interdum of male judi-foreschoke (Direlistum) signifies originally as much as forfaken in our modern Language. It is fpecially used in one of our Statutes, for Land or Tenements seised by the Lord, for want of Services due from the Tenant, and so quietly held and possessed beyond the Year and Day. As if we should say, That the Tenant, who seeing his Lands or Tenements taken into the Lord's Hand, and possessed for long, takes not the Course ap-pointed by Law to recover them, does in due Presumption of Law disayow or forsake all the Right he has to them: And then such Lands shall be called Foreschoke, says the Stat. 10 Ed. 2. cap. unico.

Formedon, Breve de forma Donationis, is a Writ that lies for him that hath Right to any Lands or Tenements, by Virtue of any Entail, growing from the Statute of Westm. 2, cap. 1. It lieth in three Sorts, and accordingly is termed Forma donationis, or Formedon in the Descender, Formedon in the Reverter, and Formedon in the Remainder: Formedon in Descender, lieth for the Recovery of Lands, Fc. given to one and the Heirs of his Body, or to a Man and his Wife, and the Heirs of their two Bodies, or to a Man and his Wife, being Coufen to the Donor, in Frank-Marriage, and afterwards alienated by the Donee; for after his Decease, his Heirs shall have this Writ against the Tenant or Alience. F. B. B. fol. 221. He maketh three Sorts of this Formedon in Defcender. The first is the Manner now exprest. The Second is for the Heir of a Coparcener that aliens and dies, fo. 241. The Third he calls (insimul tenuit) fol. 216. which lyeth for a Coparcener or Heir in Gavel-kind before Partition, against him to whom the o-ther Coparcener or Heir hath alienated, and is Dead. Formedon in the Reventer lieth for the Donor or his Heirs, where Lands entailed to certain and their Issue, with Condition, for want of such Issue, to revert to the Donor and his Heirs, against him to whom the Donee alienateth, after the Issue extinct to which it was intailed. F. N. B. fol. 219. Formedon in the Remainder lieth, where a Man giveth Lands in Tail, the Remainder to another in Tail, and afterwards the former Tenant in Tail dieth without Issue of his Body, and a Stranger abateth, then he in the Remainder shall have this Writ. Fitzh. Nat. Brev. fol. 217. See Reg. Orig. f. 238, 242. 243. Of this also see the New Book of Entries, verbo Formedon, and Co. on Lit. f. 326.

fragum, A Right of making Faggots in a

Wood. Concessi eistem Fragium, focalia, &c. Mon. Tom. 1. pag. 813.
Frampole Fences Are such Fences as any Tenant in the Manor of Writtle in Essen hath against the Lord's Demeans; whereby he hath the Wood growing on the Fence, and as many Trees or Poles as he can reach from the Top of the Ditch with the Helve of his Ax, towards the Repair of his Fence. I have heard the late Chief Justice Brampton, whilst he was a Practifer and Steward of this Court, acknowledge he could not find out the Reason why these Fences were called France. were called Frampole. It may come from the Sax. Fremful, Profitable, or may be a Corruption of Franc-pole, because the Poles are free for the Tenant to take.

Franchilanus, (from the Fr. Franchl, i. e. Free) a Freeman. Sciatis me dedisse, cum villanis & Franchilano, nomine Hamonc, & cum tenuris eorum, &c. Charta Hen. 4. 2. in m. Mon. Angl. I par. fol. 442. b. And in Domefday we find Francus bomo used for a Freeman.

Franchise, Franchesia, Libertas, Is taken with us for a Privilege or Exemption from ordinary Jurisdiction, and sometimes an Immunity from Tribute: It is either personal or real, (Cromp. Jurisd. fol. 141.) that is, belonging to a Person immediataly, or else by Means of this or that Place, or Court of Immunity, whereof he is either Chief or a Member. In what particular Things a Franchife commonly consists, see Britton, things a Franchife Royal, 15 R. 2. cap. 4. and 2. H. 5. cap. 7. in fine, seemeth to be that where the King's Writ runs not, as Chester, Durbam, Orc. which are called Seigniories Royal, Anno 28 H. 6. cap. 4. and formerly Tyndal and Examshire in Northumberland. The Author of the New Terms of the Law saith, That a Franchise Royal is, where the King granteth to one and his Hairs. where the King granteth to one and his Heirs, that they shall be quit of Toll, or such like. See Franchife in the New Book of Entries. Braston, lib. 2. cap. 5. See Sac. See also Old Nat. Brev. fol. 4.

Francigenz Was the general Appellation of all Forcigners, unless they could prove themselves to be Englishmen. See Englescery.

twenty Pence in our Money.

Frank-asmoin, Libera Eleemosyna, In French-Frank-ausmone, signifies a Tenure or Title of Land or Tenements bestowed upon God, that is, given to fuch People as devote themselves to the Service of God, for pure and perpetual Alms; whence the Feoffors or Givers cannot demand any terrestrial Service, so long as the Lands, &c. remain in the Hands of the Feosfees. With this ditate. And to be quit of Footgeld is a Privilege agreeth the Grand Custumary of Normandy, cap. 32. to keep Dogs within the Forest, unlawed, with-Out Punishment or Controll. Crompton's Jurifd. fol. cap. 5 & 10. See F. N. B. fol. 211. and the New 197. Manwood, part 1. pag 86. in such Case the Abbot ought to do Fealty to the Lord; and therefore it shall not be said a Tenure in Frank almoine, but a Tenure by Divine Service; for it eannot be Frank-almoine, if any certain Service be expressed.

frank Bank. See Free-bench.

frank Chafe, Libera Chafea, Is a Liberty of free Chafe, whereby all Men having Ground within that Compass, are prohibited to cut down Wood, &c. without the View of the Forester, tho it be in his own Demesses. Crom. Jur. fol.

Franksfee, Liberum feudam, Is by Broke, Tit. Demesne, num. 32. thus expressed, That which is in the Hands of the King or Lord of any Manor, being ancient Demcsne of the Crown, (viz. the Demesnes) is called Frank-fee, and that which is in the Hands of the Tenant is ancient Demesne only. See Reg. Orig. fol. 12. whereby that seemeth to be Frank fee which a Man holds at the Common Law to himself and his Heirs, and not by such Service as is required in ancient Demesne, according to the Custom of the Manor. And again, in the same Book, fol. 14. there is a Note to this Effect, That the Lands which were in the Hands of King Edward the Confessor at the Making of Domesday-Book, is ancient Demesne, and that all the Rest of the Realm is called Frank-see, wherewith Fitzberbert agrees in his Nat. Brev. fol. 161. So that by this Rule all the Land in the Realm is either ancient Demesne or Frank-fee. The Author of the Terms of Law defines Frankfee to be a Tenure in Fee-simple of Lands pleadable at the Common Law, and not in ancient Demesne. Fachineus, lib. 7. cap. 39. makes Feudum francum effe pro quo nullum servitium prastatur Domino, with whom agrees Zasius de feudis, part 12. saying, That therefore it is Feudum improprium, quia ab omni feroitio liberum. These Lands which were held in Frank-fee, were exempted from all Services, but not from Homage.

Frank ferm, Firma Libera, Is Land or Tenement, wherein the Nature of Fee is changed by Feoffment out of Knights-service for several yearly Services; and whence neither Homage, Worship, Marriage, nor Relief may be demanded, nor any other Service not contained in the Feoffment. Britton, cap. 66. num. 3. See Fee-frankfold Is where the Lord hath the Benefit of folding his Tenants Sheep within his Manor, for the manuring his Land. Keil. Rep. fol. 198. a. Quod Vassallis olim & Usufructuariis denegatum, Maneriorum & prediorum Dominis solum competebat, says Mr. Somner. It is compounded of the Fr. Franc, i. e. Free, and the Sax. Fald, i. e. a Fold. See

Frank-law, Libera Lex. See Crompt. Just. fol. 156. where you shall find what it is by the Contrary; for he that for an Offence, as Confpiracy, &c. loseth his Frank law, is said to fall into these Mischiefs; First, That he may never be impanelled upon any Jury or Assis, or otherwise used in testifying any Truth. Next, If he have any Thing to do in the King's Court, he must not approach this here in Person, but appoint his Atapproach thither in Person, but appoint his Attorney. Thirdly, His Lands, Goods, and Chattels must be seised into the King's Hands; and his Lands must be estreaped, his Trees rooted up, and his Body committed to Prison; for this the said Author eiteth Lib. Assis. fol. 59. Conspiracy, 24 E. 3. fol. 34. See Conspiracy.

Frank-marriage, Liberum maritagium, Is a Tenure in Tail special, growing from these Words in the Gift comprised, Sciant, Ge. me M. H. de W. dedisse & concsisse & prasenti Charta mea confirmasse J. A. filio meo & Margeria uxori ejus, filia vera T. N. in liberum maritagium unum Messuagium, &c. West. Symbol. part 1. lib. 2. sect. 303. The Effect of which Words is, That they shall have the Land to them and the Heirs of their Bodies, and shall do no Fealty to the Donor till the fourth Degree. See Terms de la Ley. Glanoil, lib. 7. cap. 18. and Brast. lib. 2. cap. 7. num. 4. divideth Maritagium in liberum & servitio obligatum. See Marriage. Fleta gives this Reason why the Heirs do no Service until the fourth Dewhy the Heirs do no Service until the fourth Descent. Ne donatores vel eorum baredes, per bomagii receptionem, a reversione repellantur. And why in the fourth Descent, and downward, they shall do Service to the Donor, Quia in quarto gradu velementer prasumitur, quod terra non est pro desectu baredum Donatoriorum reversura, lib. 3. cap. 11. All this appears very plain in Bratton's Words, who tells us, That Maritagium liberum est ubi donator vult quod terra sic data erit quieta & libera ab omni seculari servitio quod ad dominium feedo tossi per tirbre seculari servitio quod ad dominium fecdo possit pertinere, E ita quod ille cui data sit nullum omnino inde faciat servitium usque ad tertium baredem, E usque ad quartum gradum. And then he mentions how the Degrees shall be computed, viz. The Donee himself shall be in the first Degree, his Heir in the Second, his Heir in Third, and his Heir in the fourth Degree; and afterwards the Land was subject to all the former Services, because it was supposed then to revert to the Lord for Want of Heirs. So that it was exempted only usque ad quartum gradum.

The Lands which were given in Marriage & fervitio obligata, were, with a Reservation of the Services, due to the Lord, which the Donce and his Heirs were bound to perform for ever; but neither he, or the next two Heirs were bound to do Homage; that was to be done when it came to the fourth Degree, and not before; and then both Services and Homage were to be performed.

Frank pledge, Franci plegium, From the French Frank, liber, and pledge, i. fidejusfor, fignifies a Pledge or Surety for Freemen: For the ancient Custom of Freemen of England, for the Preservation of the publick Peace, was, That every Free-born Man at sourteen Years of Age, (Relicions Person, Clarks, Knights, and their ald of gious Person, Clerks, Knights, and their eldest Sons excepted) should find Surety for his Truth towards the King and his Subjects, or else be kept in Prison; whereupon a certain Number of Neighbours became customably bound one for another, to see each Man of their Pledge forthanother, to lee each Man of their Pledge forth-coming at all Times, or to answer the Trans-gression committed by any gone away: So that whosover offended, it was forthwith inquired in what Pledge he was, and then they of that Pledge either brought him forth within 31 Days to his Answer, or satisfied for his Offence. This was called Frank-pledge, and the Circuit thereof Decenna, because it commonly consisted of ten Housholds, and every particular Person, thus mutually bound for himself and his Neighbours, was called Decennier, because he was of one De-cenna or another. This Custom was so kept, that the Sheriffs at every County-Court did, from Time to Time, take the Oaths of young Ones, as they attained the Age of fourteen Years, and see that they were comprised in some Dozen; where-

upon this Branch of the Sheriffs Authority was stiled Visus Franci Plegii, View of Frank-pledge.

Frank-pledge, and Friborgh. That we borrowed this Custom of the Lombards, manifestly appears in the second Book of Feuds, cap. 53. upon which read Hitoman, &c. What Articles were wont to be enquired of in this Court, see in Horn's Mirror of Justices, lib. 1. cap. de la veue des Frankpledges; and what these Articles were in former Times, see in Fleta, lib. 2. cap. 52. and 4 par. Inst. fol. 73. In an ancient Charge of the Quest of Wardmote, in every Ward in London, it is said, And if there be any Person within the Ward that is not under Frank-pledge, that is to say, under Love and Law, &c. This may also be seen in Bratton, lib. 3. traft. de corona, cap. 10. viz. Magister Navis Santi dominici de Placentia, & alii scen in Bratton, lib. 3. traft. de corona, cap. 10. viz. As at Orleton in the County of Hereford, the Relia of a Copyhold Tenant is admitted to her Free-bench, that is, to all her Husbands Copyhold Lands, during her Life, at the next Court after her Husband's Death. Brason, lib. 4. tract. 6. cap. 12. num. 3. hath these Words, Consuetudo est in partibus illis, quod uxores maritorum defunctorum babeant francum bancum suum de terris fockmannorum, & tenent nomine dotis. Fitzherbert calls it a Custom, whereby in certain Cities, the Wife shall have her Husband's whole Lands, &c. for her Dower. Nat. Brev. fol. 150. See Plowden, fol. 411. In the Case of Newis. Of the Free-bench, several Manors have several Customs, as at East and West Enborne in the County of Berks, if a cu-stomary Tenant die, the Widow, shall have her Free-bench in all his Copyhold Lands, dum sola & casta fuerit; but if she commit Incontinency, she forfeits her Estate: Yet if she will come into the Court riding backward on a black Ram, with his Tail in her Hand, and fay the Words following, the Steward is bound by the Custom to re admit her to her Free-bench.

Here I am Riding upon a black Ram, Like a Whore as I am And for my Crincum Crancum, Have lost my Binkum Bankum; And for my Tail's Game, Have done this worldly Shame, Therefore I pray you, Mr. Steward, let me have my Land again.

free Chapel, Libera Capella, In the Opinion of some is a Chapel founded within a Parish, for the Service of God, by the Devotion and Liberality of some good Man, over and above the Mother-Church, to which it was free for the Parishioners to come, or not to come, and endowed with Maintenance by the Founder, and thereupon called Free. Others with more Probability say, That those only are Free Chapels that are of the King's Foundation, and by him exempted from the Jurisdiction of the Ordinary; but the King may licence a Subject to found such a Chapel, may licence a Subject to found such a Chapel, and by his Charter exempt it from the Diosesan's Jurisdiction. That it is called Free in Respect of its Exemption from the Diocesan's Jurisdiction, appears by the Register of Writs, fol. 40, 41. Freehold, Frank-tenement, Liberum tenementum,
Is that Land or Tenement which a Man holdeth in Fee, Fee-tail, or at the least for Term of Life. Braft. lib. 2. cap. 9. In the Terms of the Law 'tis said, That Freebold is of two Sorts, Freebold in Deed, and Freehold in Law: Freehold in Deed is the real Possession of Land or Tenements in Fec, Feetail, or for Life. Freehold in Law is the Right that a Man hath to such Land or Tenements before his Entry or Seisure. It hath likewise been extended to those Offices which a Man holdeth either in Fee, or for Term of Life. Briton defines it to this Effect, Frank tenement is a Possession of the Soil, or Services issuing out of the Soil, which a Freeman holdeth in Fee to him and his Heirs, or at the least for Term of his Life, though the Soil be charged with free Services or other, cap. 32. Freehold is fometimes taken in Opposition to Villenage. Braft. lib. 4. 38. Lambard in his Explication of Saxon Words, verb. Terra ex scripto saith, That Land in the Saxons Time was called either Bock-land, that is, holden by Book or Writing; or Folc-land, that is, holden without Writing. The former he reports was held with far better Condition, and by the better Sort of Tenants, as Noblemen and Gentlemen, being such as now we call Freehold. The later was commonly in the Possession of Clowns, being that we now call Advoluntatem Domini, At the Will of the Lord. The Register Judicial, fol. 68. and in divers other Places saith, That he which holds Lands upon an Execution of a Statute-Merchant, until he be satisfied the Debt, Tenet ut liberum tenementum sibi & assignatis suis. And fol. 73. the same may be read of a Tenant by Elegit, where the Meaning is not, that they be Freeholders, but as Freeholders for their Time, that is, until they have gathered Profits to the Value of their Debt. Freeholders in the ancient Law of Scotland were called Milites. Skene de verbor. signif. verb. Milites. Dostor and Student, that the Possession of Land after the Law of England, is called Frank-tenement, or Freehold, fol. 97. a.

Frell) force, Frisca fortia, Is a Force done within forty Days, as feems by F. N. B. fol. 7. For if a Man be difficied of any Lands or Tenements within any City or Borough, or deforced from them after the Death of his Ancestor, to whom he is Heir, or after the Death of his Tenant for Life, or in Tail; he may within forty Days after his Title accrued, have a Bill out of the Chancery, to the Mayor, &c. Fresh Sunt, Recens insecutio, Is such a present and earnest following of an Offender, as never ceaseth from the Time of the Offence committed or discovered, until he be apprehended And the Effect of this in the Parsuit of a Felon is, that the Party pursuing shall have his Goods again, whereas otherwise they are the King's. Of this see Staunds. pl. cor. lib. 3. cap. 10 & 12. where you shall find handled at large what Suit is to be accounted fresh, and what not. And the same Author in his first Book, cap. 27. saith, That Fresh Suit may continue for seven Years. See Coke's Rep. lib. 3. Ridgeway's Case. Fresh Suit seemeth to be either within the View or without; For Manwood saith, That upon Fresh Suit within the View, Trespassers in the Forest may be attached by the Others purfaing them, though without the Limits and Bounds of the Forest. cap. 19. per totum.

They be called Observants because they are not combined together in any Cloister, Convent or Corporation, as the Conventuals are; but only tie themselves to observe the Rites of their Order more friely than the Conventuals do; and upon a Singularity of Zeal, separate themselves from them, living in certain Places, and Companies of their own chusing: And of these you may read Hospinian de Orig. & Progress. friturgh alias frithbow, (from the Saxon Frith, i. c. Pax, and Borge, i. e. Fidejussor) is the same with Francpledge, the one being in the Saxons Time, the other fince the Conquest; wherefore, for the Understanding this, read Irank-pledge, and the Laws of King Edward, set out by Lambard, fol. 143. in these Words; Praterea est quadam summa & maxima securitas, per quam omnes statu sirmissimo sustinentur, viz. ut unus uisque stabiliat se sub sidejussionis securitate, quam Angti vocant, (Freoborghes) soli tamen Eboracenses dicunt eandem (Ticnmannatalc) quod fonat latine decem hominum numerum, &c. Every Man in this King-dom was affociated in a Decennary, that is, in a Company of ten Families, who were pledged or bound for each other to keep the Peace and observe the Laws, and if any Offence was done by onc, the other nine were to answer it; that is, if the Criminal fled from Justice, they had thirty Days allowed to apprehend him; if he was not taken in that Time, then he who was the Friburgh, (that is, the principal Pledge) of the Ten, should take two of his own Number, and the chief Pledges of three neighbouring Friburghs, with two others out of each of those Friburghs, in all twelve Men, whereof four were to be the Chief, and the other eight were to be of the better Sort, and those were to purge themselves and their Friburgh, of the Forseiture and Flight of the Criminal, which if they could not do, then the principal Pledge, with the other eight to whom he did belong, was to make full Satisfaction; but afterwards it became difficult to get the three neighbouring Friburghs to join with the other, and therefore those other nine made Oath that they were not Guilty, and that they would bring the Criminal to Justice as soon as he should be taken. Eraston mentions Fridburgum, lib. 3. Traft. 2. cap. 10. in these Words, Archiepiscopi, Episcopi, Comites & Barrones & omnes qui babent Soc & Sac, Tol & Team, & hujusucdi libertates, milites suos & proprios servien-tes, Armigeros, &c. Dapiseros, & pincernas, camerarios, coquos, pistores, sub suo Fridhurgo habere debent. Lucernes is the Skin of a Beast fo called, being near the Bigness of a Wolf, of Colour between red and brown, something mailed like a Cat, and mingled with black Spots; bred in Musicoia and Russia, and is a very rich Furr. Genet is the Skin of a Beast so called, of Bigness between a Cat and a Weezle, mailed like a Cat, and of the Nature of a Cat; bred in Spain, whereof there be two Kinds, black and grey, black Spots upon it hardly to be seen. Fornes is of Fashion like the Sable, bred in France for the most part; the Top of the Fur is black, and the Ground and the black the more precious Furr, having Ground whitish. Marterne is a Beast very like other Lord. But that Gablum did as well'extend the Sable, the Skin something courser; it liveth in all Countries that be not too cold, as England, Ireland, &c. the best be in Ireland. Gardia, or Guardia, Is a Word used among the Fendists for the Latin Custodia; & Guardianus, seu guardio, dicitur ille, cui custodia commissa est.

Lib. Feudor. 1. Tit. 2, & 11.

Gardiene or Garcian, Cuffes, Cometh of the French Gardien, and yet the German Word Warden is nearer to it. It fignifies generally him that hath the Gharge or Cullody of any Person or Thing; but more notoriously him that hath the Education or Protection of fuch People, as are not of fufficient Discretion to guide themselves and their own Affairs, as Children and Ideots, being indeed as largely extended as Tutor and Curator, among the Civilians; for whereas Tutor is he that hath the Government of a Youth, until he come to fourteen Years of Age; and Curator he that hath the Disposition and Ordering of his Estate afterwards, until he attain to the Age of five and twenty Years, or he that hath the Charge of a frantick Person during his Lunacy; we use only Gardian for both these: And for the better Understanding of the Law in this Point, we are to observe, That a Tutor is either Testamentarius, or a Pratore datus ex lege Atilia; or last-ly, Legitimus. So we have three Sorts of Gardians in England; one ordained by the Father in his last Will, another appointed by the Judge, the Third cast upon the Minor by the Law and Custom of the Land: Touching the First, a Man having Goods or Chattels, may appoint a Gardian to the Body or Person of his Child, by his last Will and Testament, until he come to the Age of fourteen Years, and so the Disposing and Ordering his Estate so long as he thinks meet, which is commonly to one and twenty Years of Age. The same he may do of Lands not holden in Capite, or by Knights-Service. But the ancient Law in this Case is very much altered by the Statute of 13-Car. 2. cap. 24c which ordains, that, "Where a-ing Person hath, or shall have any Child or "Children under the Age of twenty-one Years, " and not married at the Time of his Death, it if shall be lawful for the Father of such Child or "Children, whether born at the Time of the De-"cease of the Father, or at that Time in ventre "sa Mere, or whether such Father be within the "Age of twenty one Years, or of full Age, by "Deed executed in his Life-Time, or by his last Will and Testament in Writing, in the Pre-" dispose of the Custody and Tuition of such Child or Children, for and during the Time, he, or "they, shall remain under Age, or any lesser Time, to any Person or Persons in Possession or "Remainder, other than Popish Recusants; " and fuch Disposition shall be good against all order no Gardian to his Child, the Ordinary may appoint one to manage his Goods and Chattels, till the Age of fourteen Years, at which Time he may choose him another Gardian, accordingly as by the Civil Law he may his Curator; for we all hold one Rule with the Civilians in this Case, and that is Invito Curator non datur. And for his Lands the next of Kin on that Side; by which the Land cometh not, shall be Gardian, and was heretofore called Gardian in Socage. See more of the old Law in this Case. 28 E. 1. Stat. Bardian, or rather Warden of the Cinque= Magistrate that hath the Jurisdiction of those Havens in the East Part of England, which are commonly called The Cinque-Ports, that is, the five Ports or Havens; who there hath all that Jurisdi-&ion that the Lord High Admiral of England hath in Places not exempt. And the Reason why one Magistrate was assigned to so few Havens, was, because they, in respect of their Situation, anciently required a more vigilant Care than other Havens, being nearer, and more obvious to Enemies, by the Narrowness of the Sea in those Parts. Cambden in his Brit. pag. 238. saith, That the Romans, after they had settled themselves and their Empire here in England, appointed a Ma-gistrate or Governor over those Eastern Parts, whom they called Comitem litoris Saxonici per Britanniam, having another that did bear the same Title on the opposite Part of the Sea, whose Office was to fortify and furnish the Sea-Coasts with Munition against the Incursions and Robberies of the Barbarians; and farther signifieth his Opinion, That our Warden of the Cinque-Ports was first erected among us, in Imitation of that Roman Polity. Barnish, As to Garnish the Heir, that is, to warn the Heir. 27 El. c. 3.

Barnishee Is taken for the Party in whose Hands Money is attached, within the Liberties of the City of London, so used in the Sheriff of London's Court, because he has had Garnishment or Warning not to pay the Money, but to appear and answer to the Plaintiff-Creditor's Suit.

Barnishment Cometh of the French Garnir, i. instruere, and in a legal Sense intends a Warning given to one for his Appearance, for the better furnishing of the Caufe and Court. For Example, One is sued for the Detinue of certain Evidences and Charters, and saith, That the Evidences were delivered to him not only by the Plaintiff, but another also, and therefore prayeth, that that other may be warned to plead eth, that that other may be warned to plead with the Plaintiff, whether the Conditions be performed, yea or no; and in this Petition he is said to pray Garnishment. New Book of Entries, fol. 212. col. 3. and Termes de la Ley, Cromp. Fur. fol. 211. Which may be interpreted either warning of that other, or else furnishing of the Court with Parties inflicient throughly to determine the Cause, because until he appear and join, the Defendant is, as it were, out of the Court, F. N. B. fol. 106. and the Court is not provided of all Parties to the Action. With this agrees Britton, cap. 28. where he faith, That Contracts, fome be naked and fans Garnment, and some furnish'd, or (to use the literal Signification of the Word) apparelled, but a naked Contract, Nudum Pastum, giveth no Action. And therefore it is necessary or needful, that every Obligation be apparelled, which ought to be with these five Sorts of Garnements, &c. Howbeit it is generally used for a Warning in many Places, particularly in Kitchin, fol. 6. Garnisher le Court, is to warn the Court; and reasonable Garnishment in the fame Place intends reasonable Warning, and again, fol. 283. and many other Authors. And in the Stat. 27 El. cap. 2. upon a Garnishment, or two Nichills returned, &c. But this may well be thought a Metonymy of the Effect, because by the Warning of Parties, the Court is furnished and adorned furnished and adorned.

Barfummune, A Fine or Amerciament. See Domesday; 'tis written in Spelman Gloff. Gersu-

Batter, Garterium, In French Fartier, i. Periscelis; signifies with us, both in divers Statutes and otherwise, one especial Garter, being the honourable Ensign of a great and noble Society honourable Ensign of a great and noble Society of Knights, called Knights of the Garser, and this is na.' efolds, as being of all others the most excellent. This high Order, as appeareth by Mr. Cambden 211. and many others, was first instituted by the samous King Edward the Third, in the 23d Year of his Reign, upon good Success in a Skirmish, wherein the King's Garter (as it is said) was used for a Token: Tis true, Polydore Virg. gives it a more slight Original, but his Grounds, by his own Confession, grew from the vulgar Opinion; however take it as it is. Edward the Third, King of England (says he) after he liad obtained many great Victories, the Kings of France and Scotland being both Prisoners in the Tower of London at one Time: King Henry of Cassille, the Bastard expulsed, and Don Pedro restored file, the Bastard expussed, and Don Pedro restored by the Prince of Wales, did, upon no weighty Occasion, first erect this Order in 1350. viz. He dancing with the Queen, and other Ladies of the Court, took up a Garter that happened to fall from one of them, whereat some of the Lords smiling, the King said, That ere it were long he would make that Garter to be of high Reputation, and shortly after instituted this Order of the Blue Garter, which every Companion of the Order is bound daily to wear, being richly decked with Gold and precious Stones, and having these Words fixt on it, HONISOIT QUIMAL Y PENSE, which is commonly thus interpreted, Evil to him that Evil thinketh; or rather thus, To him be it that Evil thinketh. Ferne in his Glory of Generosity, fol. 120. agrees with Cambden, and more particularly sets down the Victories by which this Order was occasioned. We will not (it being none of our Work) infift upon the Cause of its Beginning, [but leave you for the Search thereof to an ingenious and most laborious Piece of Work concerning this Matter, given to the World by Elias Asomole Esquire,] but how or whatever the Beginning was, the Order is inferior to none in the World, confifting of twenty-fix Martial and Heroical Nobles, whereof the King of England is the Sovereign, and the rest be either Nobles of the Realm, or Princes of other Countries, Friends and Allies of this Kingdom: The Honour being such, as Emperors and Kings of other Nations have desired, and thankfully accepted. Babelet Is a special and ancient Kind of Cessavit used in Kent, where the Custom of Gavelkind continueth, whereby the Tenant shall forfeit his Lands and Tenements to the Lord, of whom he holdeth, if he withdraw from him his due Rent and Services, which is due after this Manner. If any Tenant in Gavel-kind with-hold his Rents and Services, let the Lord feek by the Award of his Court from three Weeks to three Weeks, to find some Distress upon the Tenement until the fourth Courr, always with Witnesses; and if within that Time he can find no Distresson that Tenement, whereby he may have Justice of his Tenant, then at the fourth Court let it be awarded, that he take that Tenement into his of ploughing so much Earth, or Ground Hand in the Name of a Distress, as if it were an Ox by the cultomary Tenant for his Lord. or a Cow; and let him keep it a Year and a Day in his Hand without manuring: In which Time, if the Tenant come and pay his Arrearages, and make him reasonable Amends, let him re-enjoy it; but if he come not in that Time, then let the Lord go to the next County-Court, with his Witnesses of his own Court, and pronounce there his Process; and by the Award of his Court (after the Country-Court holden) he shall enter, and manure those Lands and Tcuements as his own; and if the Tenant come afterwards, and will rehave his Tenements, and hold them as he did before, let him make Agreement with the Lord according as it is anciently said.

See hereof to H. 3. Fitz. cessavit 60. and the Statute of Gavelet, where it appeareth to be a Writ used in the Hussings at London. And Fleta says, It is used in other Liberties, lib. 3. c. 55. In the Collection of Statutes, London 2. is Matter much tending to this Purpose, That by this Word Gamelet, the Lord shall have the Land for the Gavelet, the Lord shall have the Land for the ceasing of the Tenant. Mr. S. in his 31 page Of the History of Gavel-kind, hath these Words, Et pestea per quandant consuetudinem que vocatur Gavelate, usitatam in comitatu isto, (viz. Kanc.) de ter-ris & tenementis de Gavel-kind, pro redditibus & servitiis qua aretro fuerint de eisdem, per plures annos, devenerunt eadem terra in manus cujusdam Abbatis, &c. Now this Consuetudo de Gavelet (as he further adds) was not a Rent or Service, but betokeneth a Rent or Service with-held, denied, or detained, causing the Forfeiture of the Tenement to the Lord; with which agrees the Lord Coke, where he says, Gaveletum is as much as to say, to cease, or to let to pay the Rent. Erevi de gaveleto in London, est breve de Cessavit in Bienni-um, &c. pro redditu ibidem, quia tenementa fuerunt in-distringibilia. So that this Writ lay in London as well as Kent.

Babil kind Is by Mr. Lambard in his Exposition of Saxon Words, verbo Terra de scripto, com-pounded of three Saxon Words, Gyfe, Eal, Cyn; Omnibus cognatione proximis data. But Verstegan in his Restitution of decayed Intelligence, c. 3. Calls it Gavel-kind, quasi, give all Kind, that is, give to each Child his Part. But Taylor in his History of Gavel-kind, would derive it from the British Gafacl, a Hold or Tenure, and Cennee or Cennedb, Generatio aut familia, and so Gavel-cenedh might fignify Tenura generationis, pag. 92, 8° 132. But whatever is the true Etymology, it fignifies in Law a Custom, whereby the Land of the Father is equally divided at his Death among all his Sons or the Land of the Preshow careful divided. Sons, or the Land of the Brother equally divided at his Death among all his Brethren, if he have no Issue of his own. Kitchin, f. 107.

This Custom is still in Force in divers Places of England, but especially in Kent, Urchenfield in Herefordsbire, and elsewhere, though with some Disterence; but by the Statute of 35 H. S. c. 26. All Gavel-kind Land in Wales are made descendible to the Heirs, according to the Course of the Common Law. Cambden in his Britannia, pa. 239. saith in express Words, Cantiani ea lege Gulielmo Normanno se dediderunt, ut patrias consuetudines illasas retinerent, illamque imprimis quam Gavel-kind nominant. Ha terra qua eo nomine censentur, liberis masculis ex aquis portionibus dividuntur, vel faminis, si mas-culi non fuerint, adding withal worth the Noting, viz. Hanc bareditatem cum quintumdecimum annum attigerint, adeunt, & fine Domini confensu, cuilibet vel dando vel vendendo, alienare licet. Hac filii parentibus furti damnatis in id genus fundi, &c. It appears by 18 H. 6. c. 3. that in those Days there were not above thirty or forty Persons in Kent that held by any other Tenure, but it was altered afterwards in much Land in that County, upon the Petition of several Gentlemen there, by a Statute made 31 H. Bentleman, Generofus, Is an irregular Compound of two Languages, the one from the French Gentil, that is, Honestus, vel honesto loco natus; the other from the Saxon Mon, as if you fay, a Man well born. The Italian followeth the very Word, ealling those Gentilhuomini, whom we call Gentlemen. The Spaniard keepeth the Meaning, calling him Hidalgo or Hijo d'algo, that is, the Son of some Man, or of a Man of Reckning. The French also call him Government. oning: The French also call him Gentilbomme. So that Gentlemen be those, whom their Blood and Race doth make noble and known: In Greek they are Eugener, in Latin Nobiles. Smith de Rep. Ang. lib. 1. cap. 10. Under this Name are comprised all above Yeomen, so that Noblemen be truly called Gentlemen; but by the Course and Custom of England, Nobility is either Major or Minor; the greater contains all the Degrees from Knights upward, the Lesser, all from Barons downwards. Smith ubi supra, cap. 21. The Reafon of the Name may grow from this, that they observe gentilitatem fuam, that is, the Race and Propagation of their Blood, by giving of Arms, which the common Sort neither doth, nor may do; for by the Coat that a Gentleman giveth, he is known to be, or not to be descended from those of his Name, that lived many Hundred Years since. Gentiles homines, see in Tiraquel de Nobilitate, cap. 2. pag. 53. Cicero in his Topicks of this Matter, speaks thus, Gentiles sunt qui inter se eodem sunt nomine ab ingenuis oriundi, quorum majorum nemo servitutem servivit, qui capite non sunt diminuti. And in the first Book of his Tusc. Quast. he calleth Tullus Hostilius, one of the Kings of Rome, Gentilem suum. These Words, gentilis homo, for a Gentleman, was adjudged a good Addition. Bilo, in Saxon, fignifies a Fraternity or Company, and comes from the Saxon Word Gildan, which is To pay; because every one was gildare, it's to pay something towards the Charge and Support of the Company. And from thence come Guild-balls, that is, the Halls of the Society or Fraternity, where they meet and make Orders and Laws among themselves. The Original was thus, oiz. It was a Law amongst the Saxons that every Freeman of fourteen Years old thould find Sureties to keep the Peace, or be committed; whereupon certain Neighbours entered into an Affociation, and became bound for each other, to produce him who committed an Offence, or to make Satisfaction to the injured Party; which that they might the better do, they raised a Sum of Money among themselves, which they put in-to a common Stock; and when one of their Pledges had committed an Offence, and was fled, then the other nine made Satisfaction out of this Stock by the Payment of Money, according to the Quality of the Offence. And because this Affociation confifted of ten Familes it was called a Decennary: And from hence came our Fraternities. But as to the direct Time, when these Gilds had their Origine in England, there is nothing of Certainty to be found, fince they were in Use long before any formal Licences were granted to them for such Meetings. Edward the Third, in the Fourteenth of his Reign, granted Licence to the Men of Coventry to erect a Merchant's Gild, and a Fraternity of Brethren and Sisters, with a Master or Warden, and that they Sisters, with a Master or Warden, and that they might make Chantries, bestow Alms, do other Works of Picty, and constitute Ordinances touching the same, &c. So Henry the Fourth, in the fourth Year of his Reign, granted Licence to found a Gild of the Holy Cross at Stratford upon Avon. See Antiquities of Warwickshire, fol. 119, & 522. Gild or Geld (according to Cambden) signifies also a Tribute or Tax, and the Statutes of 27 Ed. 3. Stat. 2. cap. 13. and 11 H. 7. cap. 9. used Gildable in the same Sense with Taxable. Gild (according to Crompton in his Jurisdistion, fol. 197. he interprets it to be a Prestation within the Forest in these Words, To be quit of all manner of Gilds is to be discharged of all manner of Prestations, to be made for gathering Sheafs of Corn, Lamb, and Wool, to the Use of Foresters. The Word is also mentioned in the Statute 15 Hen. 6. cap. 6. and 15 Car. 2. to the Use of Foresters. The Word is also mentioned in the Statute 15 Hen. 6. cap. 6. and 15 Car. 2, Gild is also a Compensation or Mulct for a Fault, Quicquid in amore in alterum furstum babent in duos Geldos componere faciat. From lience Weregeld is the Price of a Man, Orfgeld the Price of Cattel, Angild the fingle Value of a Thing, Twigild the double Value. There are likewise many Words which End with geld, and which shews the several Kinds of Payments, as Danegeld, Vadegeld Senegeld, Hornegeld, Sotgeld, Penigeld, and many more.

Case of Mines) is the very Day of St. Peter ad vincula, which was wont to be, and is still celebrated upon the first of August. And in Probability called The Gule of August, from gula a Throat. The Reason we have in Durand's Rationale Divinorum, lib. 7. cap. de facto sancti Petri ad vincula, where he saith, That one Quirinus a Tribune having a Daughter that had a Discase in her Throat, went to Alexander, then Pope of Rome, the Sixth from St. Peter, and desired of him to borrow, or see the Chains that St. Peter was chained with under Nero; which Request obtained, his said Daughter kissing the said Chain, was cured of her Discase, and Quirinus with his Family baptized. Tunc dictus Alexander Papa, saith Durand, hoc festum in Calendis Augusti celebrandum instituit, & in honorem beati Petri Ecclesiam in urbe fabricavit, ubi ipsa vincula reposuit, & ad vincula nominavit, & Calendis Augusti dedicavit. In qua festivitate populus ille ipsa vincula hodie osculatur. So that this Day that before was only called The Calends of August, was upon this Occasion termed indifferently either of the Instrument that wrought the Miracle, St. Peter's Day ad vincula; or of that Part of the Maid whereon the Miracle was wrought, the Gule of August. Halymote.

halmote or halmote, (From the Sax. Heale; i. c. aula, and Gemot, i. c. conventus) is that we now call a Court-Baron; and the Etymology is the Meeting of the Tenants of one Hall or Manor. Omnis causa terminetur vel Hundredo, vel Comitatu vel Halimote, socam babentium, vel dominorum Curia. LL. Hen. 1. cap. 10. The Names is still retained at Luston, and other Places in Herefordfire.

Hereford ? Palatium & Ad Halimot ibidem tent. 11 die Oct. Anno Regni Regis Hen. 6. 24. venit Johan-nes Garneston & Juliana Uxor ejus in plena Curia,

It is sometimes taken for a Convention of Citizens in their Publick Hall, which was also called Folkmot and Halmot. As in London every Company hath a Hall, wherein they keep their Courts. 4 Inst. fol. 249. This Halmote and Hallmote are often confounded, though originally they were two distinct Courts.

But the Word Halimote rather fignifies the Lord's Court, or a Court-Baron held in the Manor, in which the Differences between the Tenants were determined : From the Sax. Heal, atrium, and Gemot, conventus. Omnis causa terminetur vel Hundredo vel Comitatu vel Halimoto socam babentium: Leg. H. 1. cap. 9. So in W. Thorn, Anno 1176. Hamfare Is by some taken to be the same with Hamsoene, i. e. the Freedom of a Man's House: From the Sax. Ham, Donus, and Frith, pax, and Hamsoene is from the Sax. Ham, Donus, and Soene, immunitas, but I rather think that Hamfare is derived from the Sax. Ham, Domus, and Fare, iter vel progressio. So that Hamfare is a Breach of the Peace in a House; and this appears by Brompton, in legibus H. 1. cap. 80. Si quis alium in sua vel alterius domo, &c. sagittet vel lapidet, vel colpem ostensibilem undequaq; faciat, Homsocne est vel Hamfare, i. e. he is either guilty of a violent Entry into the House of another, or of the Breach of the Peace in his own House; For by the Defini-tion it appears that the Offences are not the

Mariot alias Veriot, Heriotum Is in the Saxon

Tongue Heregate, which is derived from Hare, exercitus, and Geat a Beast, and in the Saxons Time signified a Tribute given to the Lord for his better Preparation towards War. Lambard in his Explication of Saxon Words, verbo Hercotum: Erat enim Hercotum militaris supellectilis prastatio, quam, obeunte vassallo, Dominus reportavit in sui ipsius munitionem, says, Spelman. And, by the Laws of Canutus, Tit. de Hereotis, it appears, that at the Death of the great Men of this Nation, so many Horses and Arms were to be paid as they were in their respective Life-times obliged to keep for the King's Service. It is now taken for the best Beast a Tenant hath at the Hour of his Death, due to the Lord by Custom, be it Horse, Ox, &c. and in some Manors, the best Plece of Plate, Jewel. or the best Good. The Name is still retained, but the Use is altered; for whereas by Lambard's Opinion, it did signify so much as Relief doth now with us: Now it is taken for the best Cattle that a Tenant hath at the Hour of his Death, due to the Lord by Custom. Kitchin, fol. 133, 134, makes Heriot-Service and Heriot-Custom; for Interpretation whereof, you shall find these Words in Broke, Tit. Hariot, nu. 5. Hariot after the Death of the Tenant for Life is Hariot-Custom. Hariot-Service is after the Death of Tenant in Fee-simple. In the Book called Les Terms de la Ley, 'tis said, that Hariot-Service is often expressed in the Grant of a Man, that he often expressed in the Grant of a Man, that he holds by such Service to pay Hariot at the Time of his Death, that holdeth in Fee-simple. Hariot-Custom is, when Hariots have been paid Time out of Mind by Custom, and this may be after the Death of Tenant for Life. And for this the Lord may distrain or seise. See Plovod. fol. 95, 96. Bratton, lib. 2. cap. 36. Dott. and Stud. cap. 9. But of Right neither the Lord nor Officer should take Hariot, before it he presented at cer should take Hariot, before it be presented at the next Court holden after the Tenant is dead, that such a Beast is due for a Hariot. If the Lord purchase Part of the Tenancy, Hariot-Service is extinguished, but it is not so in Hariot-Custom. Co. 8 Rep. Talbot's Case. If the Lord ought to have a Hariot when his Tenant dieth, and the Tenant devisesh away all the Goods; yet the Lord shall have his Hariot, for the Law preferreth the Custom'before the Devise. Co. on Lit. lib. 3. cap. 3. pag. 185. See Dyer, fol. 199. num. 58. This in Scotland is called Herrezelda, compounded of Here in Dutch, in Latin Herus, that is, a Lord or Master; and Zeild a Gift, Tribute or Taxation. Skene de verb. signif. verbo Tribute or Taxation. Beintineum. Salvo fervitio quatuor hominum, quolibet tertio Anno per sex dies ad meum Heimineum faciendum, apud Dodlesson. Charta Hugonis de Boy-del. temp. H. 2. It signifies an Hayment, or Hedge-fence. F f 2

Membare. Sec Hinefare. their, Hares, Though the Word be borrowed of the Latin, yet it hath not altogether the same Signification with us that it hath with the Civilians; for whereas they call Haredem, qui ex testa-mento succedit in universum jus Testatoris; the Common Law calls him Heir, that succeeds by Right of Blood in any Man's Lands or Tenements in Fee, for by the Common Law nothing passeth fure bereditatis, but only Fee; Moveables, or Chattels immovable, are given by Testament to whom the Testator listeth, or else are at the Dispersion of the Collinson, or else are at the Dispersion of the Collinson, or else are at the Dispersion of the Collinson, or else are at the Dispersion of the Collinson, or else are at the Dispersion of the Collinson, or else are at the Dispersion of the Collinson of the C polition of the Ordinary, to be distributed as he in Conscience thinketh meet. Cassanaus in consuetud. Burg. pag. 909. hath a Distinction of Hares, which, in some Sort, accordeth well with our Law; for he saith, There is Hares sanguinis & hareditatis. And a Man may be Hares sanguinis with us, that is, Heir apparent to his Father or Ancestor; and yet may, upon Displeasure, be descated of his Inheritance, or at least the greatest Part of it. Every Heir having Lands by Descent, is bound by the binding Acts of his Ancestors, if he be named: For Qui sentit commodum, sentire debet & onus. Co. on Lit. f. 7, 8.

Deir loom, (of the Saxon Heier, i. c. Hares, and Leome, i. c. Membrum) The Word by Time hath a more general Signification than at first it did bear, comprehending all Implements of Houfhold, as Tables, Presses, Cupboards, Bedsteads, Wainscot, and such like; which, by the Custom of some Countries, having belonged to a House certain Descents, are never inventoried after the Decease of the Owner, as Chattels, but accrue to the Heir with the House it self by Custom. Spel-man says of it, Omne utensile robustius quod ab edibus non facile revellitur, ideoque ex more quo-rundam loccrum ad baredem transit, tanquam mem-brum bareditatis. And Co. on Lit. sci. 18. says, Consuetudo Hundredi de Stretsord in Com. Oxon. est qued heredes tenementorum infra Hundredam prædiet-am existen. post mortem antecessorum suorum habebunt, &c. Herault, quasi herus altus. Verstegan thinks it may be derived from two Dutch Words, viz. Here, exercitus, and Healt, pugil magnanimus: As if he be called, The Champion of the Army. With us it signifieth an Officer at Arms, whose Business is to denounce War, to proclaim Peace, or otherwise be employed by the King in martial Messages, or other Business: The Romans called them plurally Feciales. Polydore, lib. 19. describes them From Saxon Helan, to cover or heal, whence a or other Business: The Romans called them plu-Thatcher, Slater, or Tiler, who covers the rally Feciales. Polydore, lib. 19. describes them thus.

thus, Habent insuper Apparitores ministros, quos Hc-raldos dicunt, quorum præsectus Armorum Rex vocita-tur; hii belli & pacis nuntii; ducibus, Comitibusque a Rege factis insignia aptant, ac corum sunera curant. Nay more, They are the Judges and Examiners of Gentlemens Arms, marshal all the Solemnities at the Coronations of Princes, manage Combates, and such like: There is one and the same Use of them with us and the French, whence we have their Name; and what their Office is with them, see Lupanus, lib. t. de Magist. Francor. cap. Heraldi. There be divers of them with us, whereof three being the Chief, are called Kings at Arms. And of them Garter is the Principal, instituted and created by Henry the Fifth, Stow's Annals, p. 584. whose Office is to attend Knights of the Garter at their Solemnities, and to mar-thal the Funerals of all the greater Nobility; as Princes, Dukes, Marquesses, Earls, Viscounts and Barons. And in Plowden, in Reniger and Fogassa's Case, we read that Edward the Fourth granted the Office of King of Heralds to one Garter, Cum seudis & proficuis ab antiquo, &c. sol. 12. The next is Clarentius, ordained by Edward the Fourth, for he attaining the Dukedom of Clarence, by the Death of his Brother George, whom he beheaded for aspiring to the Crown, made the Herald, which properly belonged to the Duke of Clarence, a King at Arms, and called him Clarentius; his proper Office is to marshal and dispose the Funerals of all the lesser Nobility, as Knights and Esquires, through the Realm, on the South Side of Trent. The third is Norroy, or North-roy, whose Office is the same on the North-side of Trent that Clarentius hath on this Side, as may well appear by his Name, fignifying the northern King, or King of the North-parts. Befides these, there be fix other properly called Heralds, according to their Original, as they were created to attend Dukes, &c. in martial Expeditions, viz. York, Lancafter, Somerset, Richmond, Chefter and Windfor. Lastly, there be four other called Marshals, or Pursuyvants at Arms, reckoned after a Sort in the Number of Heralds, and do commonly succeed in the Place of the Heralds, when they die, or be preferred; And those he Blue-mantle, Rouge-cross, Rouge-dragon and Perteullis. These Heralds are by some Authors called Nuncii sacri, and by the ancient Romans Feciales, who were Priests. Nam Numa Pompilius divini cultus institutionem in oTo partes divisit, 🔄 ita etiam sacerdotum octo ordines constituit, &c. Septimam partem sacra constitutionis collegio eorum adjecit, qui Feciales vocantur: Erant autem ex optimis domihus viri electi, Sec. quorum partes in eo versabantur, ut sidei Oc. quorum partes in eo versabantur, ut sidei publica inter populos praessent, neque justum aliquod bellum sore censebatur, nis id per Feciales esset indictum. Corasius Miscel, juris civilis, lib. t cap. 16. num. 12. Kings at Arms are mentioned in Stat. 14 Car. 2. 33. Of these, see more in Spelman's Gloffary.

Octbage, Harbagium, Signifies the Fruit of the arth, produced by Nature for the Bite or Earth, produced Mouth of the Cattle; but is most commonly used for a Liberty that a Man hath to feed his Cattle in another Man's Ground, as in the Foreit, &c. Momage, Homagium, Probably derived from bomo, because when the Tenant does this Service to his Lord, he says, I become your Man; It is also called Marbood. Co. on Litt. fol. 64. The French Word imports as much as Fides clientelaris; for in the original Grants of Lands and Tenements by way of Fee, the Lord did not only tie his Te-especially the Northern Parts of England, Sheep nants to certain Services, but also took a Submisafter they lose the Name of Lambs, are called sion, with Promise and Oath, to be true and loyal to him as their Lord and Benefactor. This Sub-Hogshead Is a Measure of Wine, Oil, &c. mission was and is called Homage, the Form wherecontaining Half a Pipe, the fourth Part of a Tun, of you have in the Second Statute 17 E. 2. in these Words, "When a Freeman shall do His-"mage to his Lord, of whom he holdeth in chief, " he shall hold his Hands together between the " Hands of his Lord, and shall fay thus", I become your Man, from this Day forth for Life, for Member, and for worldly Honour, and shall owe you my Faith, for the Land I hold of you, saving the Faith that I owe unto our Sovereign Lord the King, and to mine other Lords. And in this Manner the Lord of the Fee, for which Homago is due, taketh Homage of every Tenant as he cometh to the Land or Fee, Glanvil, lib. 9. cap. 1. except they be Women, who perform not Homage, but by their Husbands: Yet Fitzerbert in his Nat. Brev. fo. 157. faith the Contrary. The Reason of this, Skene giveth de verb. fignif. verbo Homagium, because Homage specially concerneth Service in War. He saith also, That consecrated Bishops do no Homage, but only Fealty; and yet we find the Archbishop of Canterbury do Homage on his Knees to our Kings at their Coronation, and it hath been held, that the Bishop of Sodor, in the Isle of been held, that the Bishop of Sodor, in the Isle of Man, is Homager to the Earl of Derby. And in b., And in the Accounts of Maganen-Conege in Oxford there is yearly an Allowance pro Mulieribus Hockantibus, in some Manors of theirs in Hampshire, where the Men bock the Women on Monday, and econtra on Tuesday. See Hock-Tuesday-Money. The Meaning of it is, that on that Day the Women in Merriment stop the Ways with Ropes, and pull Passengers to them, homo vesses, and pull Passengers to them, homo vesses he hat professed himself to be only God's Man; but he may fay, I do unto you Homage, and to you shall be Faithful and Loyal. See of this Britton, cap. 68. Homage is also taken in some Cases to signify the particular Place or District where the Services are to be performed, as thus, viz. Henricus Rex, &c. si Abbas de Ramsey poterit monstrare quod nullus antecessorum operasset ad Hominium de Brampton. Bracton, lib. 2. cap. 35. par. 12. Fleta, lib. 3. cap. 16, 17. Homage is either new with the Fee, or Ancestrel, that is, where a Man and his Ancestors, Time out of Mind, have held their Lands by Homage to their Lord, whereby the Lord is tied to warrant the Land unto his Tenant. This Homage is used in other Countries as well as Ours, and waswont to be called Hominium. See Hotoman de verbis feuda-libus, verbo Homo. Skene divides it into Ligeum & non ligeum, de verbo signif. verbo Homage, for which see Liege; and Hotoman, disputatione de feudis tertia. Homage is sometimes used for the Jury in a Court-Baron. Smith de Rep. Ang. lib. 2. cap. 27. The Reason is because it consisteth most commonly of such as owe Homage unto the Lord of the Fee; and these, by the Fendists, are called Pares Curia. Of this Homage you may read in the 29th Chapter of the Grand Custumary of Normands and cubarra not need to be considered. mandy, and others not used by us. See further in Hotoman Disputat. de seudis, p. 861. Of Homage in Scotland read Skene de verb signif. Tit. Homagium, to whom you may also add a large Discourse in speculo Durandi, commonly called Speculator among the Civilians, Tit. De feudis. The Steward of the Lord may take Fealty, but not Homage. See the Stat. 12 Car. 2. cap. 24.

acquit the Tenant against all other Lords above him of every manner of Service, and if the Terant hath done Homage to his Lord, and is impleaded, and vouches the Lord to Warranty, the Lord is bound to warrant him; and if the Tenant lofe, he shall recover in Value against the Lord so much of the Lands as he had at that Time of the Voucher, or any Time after. To this Effect Littleton; upon which Coke says, In his Example here put, There must be a double Prescription both in the Blood of the Lord and the Tenant; and therefore I think, there is little or no Land at all at this Day holden by Homage Ancestrel. Yet (as one avers) in the Manor of Whitney in Herefordshire, whose Lord is of the same Name, and the Family has continued there many Ages, is one West a Tenant, who can prescribe to hold his Land of Thomas Whitney Esq; the present Lord, by Homage Ancestrel.

Homefoken is the Privilege or Freedom which every Man hath in his House; and he who invades that Freedom is properly said facere Homesoken. This I take to be what we now call Burglary, which is a Crime of a very heinous Nature, because 'tis not only a Breach of the King's Peace, but a Breach of that Liberty which a Man hath in his House, which, as we commonly say, should be his Castle, and therefore ought not to be invaded. Dunged (Hundredum, Centuria) is a Part of a Shire so called, either because of old each Hundred found 100 Fidejussors of the King's Peace, or 100 able Men for his Wars. But I rather think tis so called, because it was composed of an Hun-dred Families. 'Tis true, Brompton tells us that an Hundred contains Centum Villas; and Giraldus Cambrensis writes that the Isle of Man hath 343 Villas. But in these Places the Word Villa must be taken for a Country Family; for it cannot mean a Village, because there are not above 40 Villages in that Island. So where Mr. Lambard tells us that an Hundred is so called, a numero Centum hominum, it must be understood of an Hundred Men, who are Heads or Chiefs of so many Families. These were first ordained by King Alfred, the 29th These were first ordained by King Alfred, the 29th King of the West-Saxons: Aluredus Rex, (says Lambard, verbo Centuria,) ubi cum Guthruno Daw seedus inicrat, prudentissimum illud olim a Fethrone Moist datum secutius consilium, Angliam primus in Satrapias, Centurias, & decurias, partitus est. Satrapium, Shyre, a Seyrian, (quod partiri significat,) nominavit Centuriam, Hundred, & Decuriam, Toothing sive Tienmantale, i. e. Decemvirale Collegium, appellagiit: atuue iisdem nominibus vel hodie gas legium appellavit; atque iisdem neminibus vel hodie vo-cantur, &c. This Dividing Counties into Hundreds, for better Government, King Alfred brought from Germany: For there Centa, or Centena, is a Jurissidiction over an Hundred Towns. This is the Original of Hundreds, which still retain the Name, but their Jurisdiction is devolved to the County-Court, some few excepted, which have been by Privilege annexed to the Crown, or granted to some great Subject, and so remain still in the Nature of a Franchise. This has been ever since the Stat. 14 E. 3. Stat. 1. cap. 9. whereby these Hundred-Courts, formerly farmed out by the Sheriff to other Men, were all, or the most Part, reduced to the County-Court, and so remain at present. So that where you read now of any Hundred-Courts, you must know they are several Franchises, wherein the Sheriff has not to do by his ordinary Authority, except they of the Hundred refuse to do their Office. Bustings, (Hustingum, from the Sax. Hus, Domus, and Thing, Causa, quast Domus causarum.)
This was my Lord Coke's Opinion of the Derivation of this Word. But it comes from the Sax. Hustinge, which significs Concilium, or Curia. And so 'tis called in Sax. Chron. An. 1012. viz. They took the Bishop, and led him to their Hufling, i. e. to the Council. But Hustinga est antiquissima & celeberrima Londoniorum Civitatis Curia suprema, the principal and highest Court in London, 11 H. 7. cap. 21. and 9 Ed. 1. cap. unico. Of Indoctement, Indorsamentum, Is any Thing written on the Back of a Deed, as a Condition written on the Back of an Obligation is commonly called An Indersement. West. Symbol. part 2. sett. 157. The Sealed and Delivered, &c. on the Back of an Indenture is called the Indersement.

Induction, Inductio, A leading into: It is most commonly taken for the giving Possession to an Incumbent of his Church, by leading him into it, and delivering him the Keys, by the Commisfary, or Bishop's Deputy, and by his ringing one of the Bells. Croke, Rep. 3 part. fol. 258.

In esse, 21 fac. cap. 2. In Being: The Learned make this Difference between Things in effe, and Things in posse; as a Thing that is not, but may be, they say, Is in Posse, or Potentia; but a Thing apparent and visible, they say, Is in esse, that is, has a real Being eo instanti, whereas the other is casual, and but a Possibility. As, a Child before he is born, or even conceived, is a Thing in Posse, or which may be: After he is born, he is said to be in ese, or actual Being.

—Lib. Domesday. Herefordshire. Anfalistatus: This Word occurs only in Ralph de Hengham, summa parva, cap. 3. vir commist feloniam ob quam suit suspensus, utlagatus, vel alio modo morti damnatus, vel apud Southampton submersus, vel apud Winton demembratus, vel decapitatus, vel apud Northampton: vel in mari superundatus, sicut in aliis partibus portuum.—— Mr. Selden in his Notes on that Author, says thus, "I tappears" that several Customs of Places made in those that several Punishmente soveral But what is Days capital Punishments several. But what is "infalifiatus? In Regard of its being a Custom used in a Port-Town, I suppose it was made out of the French Word Falize, which is fine Sand by the Water Side, or a Bank of the Sea. In this Sand or Bank it seems their Execution at Dover was". The elaborate Du-Fresne does condemn this Derivation and this Sense of the Word, but yet gives no better. And therefore till we have more Authority, we may conclude that infalistatus did imply some capital Punishment inflicted on the Sands or Sea-Shore: Perhaps Infalifiatio was Exposing the Malefactor to be laid bound upon the Sands, till the next full Tide carried him away; of which Custom if I forget not, there is some dark Tradition. However I believe the Penalty took Name from the Norman Fals. the Norman Falefe, Falefia, which signified not only the Sands, but rather the Rocks and Cliffs adjoining or impending on the Sea-Shore. See the like Use of Falefia in Mon. Angl. tom. 2. pag.

Infangethefe, ihmeangthefe or Infangtheof, Is compounded of three Saxon Words; the Preposition In, fang or fung, to take or catch, and thefe, a Robber: It significth a Privilege or Liberty granted unto Lords of certain Manors to judge any Thief taken within their Fee. Bracton, lib. 3. tract. 2. cap. 35. saith, Dicitur Infangthef latro captus in terra alicujus de hominibus suis propriis, seisitus Latrocinio. Utsangthefe vero dicitus latro extrazeus sunione aliunde de terra alicuna. dicitur latro extraneus, veniens aliunde de terra aliena EP qui captus suit in terra ipstus, qui tales babet libertates, &c. In the Laws of King Edward the Confessor, set out by Mr. Lambard, cap. 26. you have it thus described. Infangthese, justifia cognoscentis latronis sua est, de homine suo, si captus sue vit subre terram suam: Illi suera qui non habent has rit super terram suam: Illi vero qui non habent has consuetudines corani justitia Regia restum faciant in Hundredis, &c. Infangthes, i. e. Quod latrones capti in Dominio vel feodo Prioris, & de latrocinio convisti in Curia Domini Prioris judicentur, & ad furcas ejus suspendentur. Ex Reg. Priorat. de Cokesford. So that it was necessary the Thief should be taken in his Lordship, and with the Goods stolen, otherwise the Lord had not Jurisdiction to try him in his Court; but by the Laws of Edward the Confessor, he was not restrained to his own People or Tenants, but he might try any Man who was thus taken in his Manor: The Definition hereof see also in Britton, fol. 90. and Rog. Hovenden, part. pofter. Suor. annal. fol.

Inhor, This Word was neither interpreted nor mentioned in any Glossary before the Edition of Mr. Kennet's Parochial Antiquities. It properly fignifies, any Corner or Out-part of a common Field ploughed up and fowed (commonly with Oats or Tares) and fometimes fenced off with a dry foot Hedge, within that Year wherein the Rest of the same Field lies fallow and common. It is now called in the North an Intock, and in Oxfordshire a Hitchinne, or Hitching. It seems derived from Saxon Inge, a Field or Meadow, or rather from inne within, and boke a Corner or Nook. The Making of fuch Inboke, or separate Inclosure by any one Lord or Tenant, was a Prejudice to all who had a Right of Common. Gloffary. Injunction, Injunctio, Is a Writ grounded upon an interlocutory Order in Chancery; fometimes to give Possession to the Plaintiff, for want of the Defendant's Appearance; sometimes to the King's ordinary Court, and sometimes to the Court-Christian, to stay Proceedings in a Cause upon Suggestion made, that the Rigour of the Law, if it take Place, is against Equity and Conscience in that Case. This Word is often found in Domesday. The Saxon Thanes, who possessed Beeland or hereditary Lands divided them according to the Proportion of their Estates into two Sorts, Inland and Outland. The Inland was that which lay next or most convenient for the Lord's Mansion-House, as within the View thereof, and therefore they kept that Part in their own Hands for Supportation of their Family, and Hospitality. The Normans afterwards called these Lands terras Dominicales, the Demains or Lord's Lands: The Germans terras indoninicatas: The Feudists terras curias ac intra curtem, Lands appropriated to the Court or House of the Lord. Juns of Court, Hospitii Curia, Are so called, because the Students therein do study the Law, to enable them to practise in the Courts of West-minster, or elsewhere; and also because they use all other gentile Exercises, as may make them more serviceable to the King in his Court. Fortes ue, cap. 49. Of these there are four well known, viz. The Middle Temple, Inner Temple, Lincolns-Inn and Grays-Inn, which with the two Ser-jeants-Inns, and eight Inns of Chancery (as Sir Ed-ward Coke says) make the most famous University for the Profession of Law only, or of any one human Science in the World; concerning which,

see Dugdale's Origines Judiciales.

Intestates, Intestati, There are two Kinds of Intestates, one that makes no Will at all; another that makes a Will, and nominates Executors, but they refuse; in which Case he dies as an Intestate, and the Ordinary commits Administration. 2 par.

Inft. fol. 397. See the Stat. 22 & 23 Car. 2. cap. 5.
In former Times, he who died Intestate was accounted damned, because (as Matt. Paris tells 11s) he was obliged by the Canons, to leave at least a tenth Part of his Goods to pious Uses, for the Redemption of his Soul, and therefore, who neglected so to do, took no Care of his own Salvation; they made no Difference between a Suicide and an Intestate, for as in the one Case, the Goods were forfeited to the King, so in the other they were forseited to the Chief Lord.

But because it was accounted a very wicked Thing to die without making any Distribution of his Goods to pious Uses, and such Cases often happened by sudden Deaths, therefore by subsequent Constitutions, the Bishops had Power to make such Distribution as the Intestate himself was bound to do, and this was called Eleemosyna rationabilis. Thus in Matt. Paris, Anno 1190. we "God, of St. Feter, the Chief of the Apolites, vationabilis. I has in Matt. Investitura proprie distur quanto hasta vel aliquod corporeum traditur a domino. We use likewise to invest the Tenants, by delivering them a Verge or Rod in their Hands, and ministring them an Oath, which is called Inthe Value, Custom and Charges of any Goods vessing. Others define it thus, Investitura est in sent by a Merchant in another Man's Ship, and fuum jus alicujus introductio, a giving Livery of Seisin or Possession. In the Church it was the Custom of old for Princes to promote such as they liked to Ecclesiastical Benefices, and declare their Choice, and the Promotion of the Persons chosen, by Delivery of a Pastoral Staff and Ring, which was termed In esting; after which they were confecrated by Ecclefiastical Persons.

At first Investitures were made by a Form of Words, afterwards by such Things which had most Resemblance to what was to be transferred; as Land passed by the Delivery of a Turf; and that the Trees and all which did grow on the Land might likewise be transferred at the same Time, it was usual to cut a Bough, which was delivered by the Grantor, to the Person to whom the Land was granted.

But in after Ages, the Things by which Investitures were made, were not so exactly observed: This appears by Ingulphus, pag. 901. viz. Conferebantur etiam primo multa predia nudo verbo, absque scripto vel Charta, tantum cum Domini gladio, ga-lea vel cornu vel cratera, & plurima tenementa cum calcari, cum frigili, cum arca, & nonnulla cum Sagitta.

Walfingham also mentions, That John Duke of Lancaster was made Duke of Acquitain, per virgam & pileum. pag. 343. And Simeon of Durham. lib. 3. De Ecclesia Dunelm. cap. 14. writes, viz. Mus, Exitus, Cometh of the French Muer, i. emanare: It hath divers Applications in the Common Law, fometimes being used for the Children begotten between a Man and his Wife; sometimes for Profit growing from Americaments or Fines; and sometimes for Profits of Lands or Tenements. West. 2. 13 Ed. 1. cap. 39. Sometimes for that Point of Matter depending in Suit, whereupon the Parties join, and put their Cause to the Trial of the Jury: And yet in all these it hath but one Signification, which is an Effect of a Cause preceding, as the Children be the Effect of the Marriage between the Parents; the Profits growing to the King or Lord, from the Punishment of any Man's Offence, is the Effect of his Transgression; the Point referred to the Trial of Twelve Men, is the Ested of Pleading or Process. Issue in this Signification is either general or special; General Issue seemeth to be that whereby it is referred to the Jury, to bring in their Verdick, whether the Desendant have done any such Thing, as the Plaintiff layeth to his Charge. For Example, If it be an Offence against any Statute, and the Defendant plead Not guilty; this being put to the Jury, is called The general Isue. And if a Man complain of a private Wrong, which the Defendant denieth, and pleads no Wrong nor Disseisin; and this be referred to the Jury, it is likewise the general Issue. Kitchin, sol. 225. See Dost. and Stud. fol. 158. The special Iffue then must be that, where special Matter being alledged by the Defendant for his Defence, both Parties join thereupon, and so go either to a Demurrer, if it be quastio juris, or to Trial by the Jury, if it be quastio fatti, 4 H. Itumn, The River Eden in Cumberland. Jubilee Was first instituted by Boniface VIII. in the Year 1300, who granted a Plenary Indulgence and Remission of Sins to all those who should visit the Churches of St. Peter and St. Paul at Rome in that Year, and stay there fifteen Days: And this he ordered to be observed once in every Hundred Years, which Clement VI. reduced to fifty Years in the Year 1350. and to be held upon the Day of the Circumcifion of our Saviour. Urban the IVth, in the Year 1389, reduced it to every thirty-three Years, that being the Age of our Saviour. And that every Age might partake of this Benefit, Sixtus VI. Anno 1475. reduced it to every twentyfive Years.

One of our Kings, viz. Edward II. caused his Birth-Day to be observed in the Nature of a Jubilee, when he was fifty Years old, and not before or after: And this he did by releasing Prisoners; by pardoning all Offences, except Treasons; and by making good Laws, and granting many Privileges to the People. And because when a Jubilee was first instituted, it was ordered to be observed every Hundred Years;

Jubilaus signified afterwards a Man One hundred Years old, and likewise a Possession or Prescription for Fifty Years. Si ager non invenietur in scriptione inquiratur de senioribus, &c. & si sub certo Jubilæo mansit, sine vituperatione maneat in aternum.

Here in England, in former Times, the Jews and all their Goods belonged to the chief Lord where they lived; and he had fuch an absolute Property in them, that he might fell them; for they had not Liberty to remove to another Lord without Leave. This appears in Mat. Parif. pag. 521, 606. where we read that Henry III. fold the Jews to Earl Richard his Brother for a certain Term of Years, that quos Rex excoriaverat, Comes evisceraret.

They were distinguished from the Christians

both living and dying; for they had proper Judges and Courts, wherein their Causes were decided; and they wore a Badge on their outward Garments upon the Breast in the Shape of a Table, and were fined if they went abroad without such Badge. They were never buried in the Country, but brought up to London, and there buried without the Walls. But Henry I. gave Leave that they might be buried without the Walls of any other City.

Judaismus is also taken for the Mansion or

Dwelling-place of the Jews in any Town; as Wigorniam cepit & intravit, & Judaismum evertit. Rishangor, pag. 668. And it sometimes significes Usury: as, Empta fuit grangia, &c. & Domus obligata in magnis debitis in Judaismo. Mon. 1 Tom. p. 834.

Juoge and Judges, Judex & judices, All their Commissions are bounded with this express Limitation, Fasturi quod ad justitiam pertinet secundum legem & consuetudinem Anglia. The Judge at his Creation takes an Oath, That he shall indisserently minister Justice to all them that shall have any Suit or Plea before him, and this he shall not forbear to do, though the King by his Letters, or by express Word of Mouth, should command the Contrary, &c. It is a Maxim in the Law, Aliquis non debet effe Judex in propria causa. King Harry the Fourth when his elder son the King Henry the Fourth, when his eldest Son the Prince was by the Lord Chief Justice, for some great Misdemeanors, committed to Prison, thanked God that he had a Son of that Ohedience, and a Judge so impartial, and of such undaunted Courage; the Story is well known, and may be read at large both in Stow and Daniel, in may be read at large both in Stow and Daniel, in vita H. 5. Fortescue in his Book de Laudibus legum Anglia 53. speaketh of a Judge, complaining of a Judgment given against a Gentlewoman of Salisbury, who being accused by her own Man, without any other Proof, for murdering her Husband, was thereupon condemned and burnt: The Man, who accused her, being within a Year after convicted for the same Offence, confest, That his Mistress was altogether Innocent of that cruel Fact. But this Judge (as the same Author Adds) sapius mibi fassus est, quod nunquam in vita sua animum ejus de boc satto purgaret. In septimo H. 4. the King demanded of Gassoigne Justice, If he saw one in his Presence kill J. S. and another (which was not culpable) should be indicated. en of this before him, what he would do in this Case? To which he answered, That he ought to respite the Judgment against him, and to relate the Matter fully to the King to procure him a Pardon; for there he cannot acquir him, and give Judgment according to his private Knowledge. But where they have a judicial Knowledge, there they may and ought to give Judgment according to that. See the like Case determined by King James, in his Disputations at Oxford. Jurification (Jurificatio) Is an Authority or Power which a Man hath to do Justice in Causes of Complaint made before him. Of which there are two Kinds: The one which a Man hath by Reason of his Fee, and by Virtue thereof does Right in all Plaints concerning the Lands of his Fee: The other is a Jurification given by the Prince to a Bailiss. Which Division I have in the Custumary of Normandy, cap. 2. which is not unthe Custumary of Normandy, cap. 2. which is not unapt for the Practice of our Commonwealth; for by him whom they call a Bailiff, we may under-flaud all that have Commission from the Prince to give Judgment in any Cause. This Jury is not only used in Circuits of Justices Errant, but also in other Courts and Matters of Office, as if the Escheator make Inquisition in any Thing touching his Office, he doth it by Jury or Inquest. If the Coroner enquire how a Subject found dead, came to his End, he useth an Enquest. The Justices of Peace in their Quarter-Sessions, The Sherist in his County and Turn, the Bailist of a Hundred, the Steward of a Court-Leet or Court-Baron, if they enquire of any Offence, or decide any Cause between Party and Party, they do it in the same Manner: So that where it is said, All Things be triable by Parliament, Battel or Affife, Assise in this Place is taken for a Jury or Enquest, empanelled upon any Cause in a Court where this Kind of Trial is used; and though it be commonly supposed that this Custom of ending and deciding Causes proceeded from the Saxons and Britains, and was of Favour permitted to us by the Conqueror; yet I find by the Grand Custumary of Normandy, cap. 24. that this Course was likewise used in that Country; for Assis is in that Chapter, defined to be an Assembly of wise Men, with the Bailiff, in a Place certain, at a Time assigned Forty Days before, whereby Jufice may be done in Causes heard in the Court: Of this Custom also, and those Knights of Normandy, Johannes Faber maketh Mention in the Rubrick of the Title demilitari testamento, in Institut. This Jury though it appertains to most Courts of the Common Law, yet it is most notorious in the half Year Courts of the Institute Errants. the half Year Courts of the Justices Errants commonly called the Great Affices; and in the Quarter-Sessions, and in them it is most ordinarily called a Jury, and that in civil Causes; whereas in other Courts it is termed oftner an Enquest and in the Court-Baron, a Jury of the Homage: In the General Assis, there are usually many Juries, because there be Store of Causes both civil and criminal, commonly to be tried; whereof one is called The Grand Jury, and the rest Petis Juries, whereof it seemeth there should be one for every Hundred. Lamb. Eirenarch. lib. 4. cap. 3. pag. 384. The Grand Jury consists ordinarily of Twenty-sour grave and substantial Gentlemen, or some of the better Sort of Yeomen, chosen indifferently by the Sheriff out of the whole Shire, to consider of all Bills of Indiament preferred to the Court, which they do either approve by Writing upon them Billa vera, or disallow by indorfing Ignoramus: Such as they do approve, if they touch Life and Death, are farther referred to another Jury to be considered of, because the Case is of such Importance; but others of lighter Moment are, upon their Allowance, without more Work, fined by the Bench, except the Party traverse the Indistment, or challenge it for Insufficiency, or remove the Cause to a higher Court by Certiorari; in which two former Cases it is referred to another Jury, and in the later transmitted to a higher Court. Lamb. Eir. lib. 4. cap. 7. and presently upon the Allowance of this Bill by the Grand Inquest, a Man is said to be indisted; such as they disallow, are delivered to the Bench, by whom they are forthwith cancel-led or torn. The Petit Jury consists of Twelve their Verdict either Guilty, or Not guilty, whereupon the Prisoner, if he be found guilty, is said to be convicted, and so afterwards receiveth his Judgment and Condemnation, or otherwise is acquitted, and set free: Of this read Fortescue, cap.

47. Those that pass upon civil Causes real, are all, or so many as can conveniently be had, of factura omnium qua forisfactura possint, quod non the same Hundred, where the Land or Tenement Tonneant, Bordeant, Adventuras Quarant, Justas in Question doth lie, being four at the least, and faciant seu ad arma prasumant sine Licentia Regist they upon due Examination bring in their Ver- Pas. 29 Edw. 1. Essex 101. See Tournament. dict either for the Demandant or Tenant. Of this also see Fortescue, cap. 25, 26. according to which, Judgment passeth afterward in the Court, where the Cause began: And the Reason here of is, because these Justices of Assis are in this of is, because these Justices of Assise are in this case, for the Ease of the Country, only to take the Verdist of the Fury by Virtue of the Writ called Nist prins, and so return it to the Court ment; the Reason why he is called Justice and where the Cause is depending. See Nist prius; and Lambard in his Explication of Saxon Words, verbo Centuria; His Words are these, In singulis centuriis Comitia sunto, atque libera conditionis viri duodeni atate superiores, una cum Praposito sacra tenentes, juranto, se adeo virum aliquem innocentem baud condemnatures, sontenue absolutures. See also the Cu-fumary of Normandy, cap. 69. Vide etiam Enquest. See Twelve Men, and Lambard's Eiren. lib. 4. c. 3. pag. 384. Mr. Sheringham, in his De Anglorum gentis origine, derives the Origine of our Jury from a great Antiquity: Quod autem Wodenus (Afgardia Rex) dicitur duodecim regni proceres siòi assumpsisse, iifdemque jurisdicendi in populum provinciam dedisse, binc forte illa nunquam apud nos satis laudanda confuetudo invaluit, qua duodecim juratis viris, quos pa-trio fermone a Jury idcirco vocamus, tota juris decer-nendi & litium expediendi potestas concessa est, P. 272. This Trial by Jury was anciently called Duodecim virale Judicium.
We read it likewise in the Laws of King Æthelred, made by him at Wantage, a Town in Berk-shire, viz. Habeantur plucita in singulis Wapentakiis ut exeunt seniores duodecim Thayni & prapositus cum eis jurent super sanctuarium quod eis dabatur in manus, quod neminem innocentem velint accusare vel noxium concelare. 'Tis true, this may seem to intend the Number of the Judges, and not of the Jury: But the Jury themselves in some Cases are Judges, that is, they are Judges of the Fact, and the Judge is bound to give Sentence according to their Verdict of the Fact.

not Judex, is, because in ancient Times the Latin Word for him was Justicia, and not Justiciarius, as appeareth by Glanvile, lib. 2. cap. 6. and Rog. Hovenden, part. poster. suor. annal. so. 413. Another Reason why they are called Justiciarii, and not Judices, is, because they have their Authority by Deputation, as Delegates to the King, and not jure Magistratus, and therefore cannot depute others in their stead, the Justice of the Forest only excepted, who hath that Liberty especially given him by 32 H. 8. 35. for the Chancellor, Marshal, Admiral, and such like, are not called Justiciarii, but Judices: Of these Justices there are divers Sorts in England, of the Manner of whose Creation with other Appurtenances, read Fortes-cue, c. 51. Stat 4. and in Origines Juridiciales, a Catalogue of all the Lords Chief Justices of England. See King's

He had formerly that Power alone, which afterwards was distributed to three other great Magistrates, that is, he had the Power of the Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, of the Chief Baron of the Exchequer, and of the Master of the Court of Wards. He usually sate in the King's Palace, and there executed that Office which was formerly performed per Comitem Palacii: He determined in that Place all Differences which happened between the Barons and other great Men of the Kingdom, and likewise Causes both Criminal and Civil between other Men. And this he did till the 9th Year of Henry III. or rather till the 17th of King John, when, at the Request of the Nobility, the King granted that Communia placita non sequerentur Curiam suam, sed in loco certo tenerentur.

He had that Prerogative to be Vicegerent of the Kingdom when any of our Kings went beyond Sea, and was usually chosen to this Office out of the greatest of the Nobility: But his Power was first diminished by Richard I. who made two Law, and not before; and the Chief Justice was no longer stiled Capitalis Anglia Justiciarius, but Capitalis Justiciarius ad placita coram Rege tenenda, &c.

Juffice or Chief Juffice of the Common Pleas, Hath also the Title of Lord whilst he enjoys his Office, and is called Dominus Justiciarius Communium Placitorum, vel Dominus Justiciarius de Banco, who with his Assistants did originally, and do yet, hear and determine all Causes at the Common Law, that is, all Civil Causes, as well Personal as Real, between common Persons; wherefore it was called The Court of Common Pleas, in Distinction from The Pleas of the Crown, or the King's Pleas, which are special and appertaining to him only. This Court was appointed to be in a settled Place, and not as other Courts to follow on led Place, and not as other Courts, to follow or attend the King's Court or Palace, as appears by the Stat. 9 H. 3. c. 11. Of its Jurisdiction, see 4 Inst. f. 99. The Fustice's Oath, see 18 E.3. Stat. 4. Thus Bradon, lib. 3. cap. 7. tells us, that Justiciariorum alii sunt perpetui certo loco babitantes sicut in Banco loquelas omnes, &c. terminantes, Erc.

Tustice of the Forth, Justiciarius Foresta, Is also a Lord by his Office, and hears and determines all Offences within the Forest, committed against Vert or Venison: Of these there be two, whereof one hath Jurisdiction over all Forests on this side

Trent, the other of all beyond. The chief Point of their Jurisdiction consisterly upon the Articles of their Jurisdiction consisters upon the Articles of the King's Charter, called Charta de Foresta, made Anno 9 H. 3. concerning which, see Cambd. Brit. pag. 214. See Protosorestavius. The Court where this Justice sits and determines, is called The Justice-Seat of the Forest, held once every three Years, as you may read in Manazood's Forest Laws, cap. 24. He is also called Justice in Eyre of the Forest; and is the only Justice that may appoint a Deputy, by the Statute of 32 H. 8.

35. Justice of the Bundred, (Fusticiarius Hundredi.) Erat ipse Hundredi Dominus, qui & Centurio & Centenarius, Hundredique Aldermannus appellatus eft. Pracrat omnibus Hundredi Friborgis, cognovitque de causis majusculis, que in eisdem siniri non potuerunt.

Juffices of Affife, Fufticiarii ad capiendas Affifas, Are such as were wont by special Commission to be sent (as Occasion was offered) into this or that County, to take Assess for the Ease of the Subjects; for whereas these Actions pass always by Jury, so many Men could not, without great Damage and Charge, be brought up to London, and therefore Justices for this Purpose, by Commission particularly authorised, were sent down to them. For it seems, that the Justices of the Common Pleas had no Power to take Assistes till the Stat. of other Justices, and configned to each a distinct 8 R. 2. cap. 2. for by that they were enabled to Jurisdiction, viz. to one the North Parts of Engit, and to the other the South. And thus it continued till the Beginning of the Reign of Edward I. who reduced them to one Court. And Years before. These Commissions ad capiendas Africa ward I. who reduced them to one Court. And that wife King considering that some former Chief star, have of late Years been settled and executed Fusities made use of their Power in Prejudice to the start of the long Vacation, when the Fuhis Father and Grandfather, did farther diminish stiers, and the long Vacation, may be at leitheir Authority, both as the Diminish start of their faces, and the Control of the latest and the Control of the latest and the Control of the latest and t their Authority, both as to the Dignity of their fure to attend those Controversies; whereupon Persons, and Extent of their Jurisdiction; for it also falls out, that the Matters that were wont no more were chosen out of the Nobility as for- to be heard by more general Commissions of Jumerly, but out of the Common People, who stices in Eyre, are heard all at one Time with these were Men of good Morals, and skilful in the Assistant was not so of old, as appears by Laws. And now began the Study of the Common Braston, lib. 3. cap. 7. num. 2. And by this Means the Justices of both Benches being worthily accounted the fittest of all others, and their Affistants, were employed in these Affairs. But no fustice of either Bench, or any other, may be fustices of Assis in his own County, Anno 8 R. 2. 2. and 33 H. 8. 24. And those who now are called fustices of Assis, and twice every Year go the Circuit, by two and two through all England, dispatch their several Businesses by several Com-missions. Cromp. Jur. fol. 210. For they have one missions. Cromp. Jur. fol. 210. For they have one Commission to take Assifes, another to deliver Gaols, another of Oyer and Terminer, &c. That Justices of Assife, and Justices in Eyre did anciently dister, appeareth by 27 E. 3. cap. 5. And that Justices of Assife, and Justices of Gaol-Delivery were divers, is evident by 4 E. 3. 3. The Oath taken by Justices of Assife is all one with that taken by the Justices of the King's Bench. Old Abridgement of Statutes, Tit. Sacramentum justiciarismum. See Oath. See Oath.

And because the Occasion of granting this Commission should be maturely weighed, it is provided by the Statute made 2 E. 3. cap. 2. That no fuch Commission ought to be granted, but that they shall be dispatched before the fusices of the one Bench or other, or fusices Errant, except for horrible Trespasses, and that by the special Favour of the King. The Form of this Commission see E. N. B. f. 110. fion, see F. N. B. f. 110.

Justices in Evze, Justiciarii itinerantes, Arc so termed of the old French Word, Erre, Iter, as (a grand Erre, i. magnis itineribus,) proverbially spoken. These in ancient Time, were sent with Commission into divers Countries to hear such Causes especially, as were termed Pleas of the Crown. And this was done for the Ease of the People, who must else have been hurried to the King's Bench, if the Case were too high for the County-Court: They differed from the Justices of Oyer and Terminer, because they (as we said before) were sent upon one or few special Causes, and to one Place, whereas the Justices in Eyre were sent through the Provinces and Counties of the Land, with more indefinite and general Commission, as appeareth by Bration, lib. 3. c. 11, 12, 13. and Britton, cap. 2. And again, because the Justices of Oyer and Terminer were sent uncertainly upon any Uproar, or other Occasion in the Country; but these in Eyre (as Mr. Gwin sets down in the Preface to his Reading,) were fent but every feven Years once, with whom agrees Horne in his Mirror of Fusices, lib. 2. cap. queux poient estre attours, &c. Et lib. 2. cap. des peches criminals, &c. al suit del Roy, &c. And lib. 3. cap. de fusices in Eyre: Where he also declares what belongs to their Office. their Office. (But there is a Book intituled Orig. juridiciales, which says, They went oftner.] These were instituted by King Henry the Second, as Cambd. in his Brit. witnesseth, pag. 104. and Hoveden par. post. suor. annal. fol. 313. hath of them these Words, Fusticiarii itinerantes, constituti per Henricum Secundum, qui divisit Regnum suum in sex partes, per quarum singulas tres justiciarios itineran-tes constituit, &c. In some respect they resembled Co. on Lit. f. 293.

Justices of Baol-Delivery, Justiciarii ad Gaolas deliberandas, Are such as are sent with Commission to hear and determine all Causes appertaining to such as for any Offence are cast into the Gaol: Part of his Authority is to punish such as let to Mainprise those Prisoners that be not bailable by Law, nor by the Statute de finibus, cap. 3. F. N. B. fol. 151. These seem in ancient Time to have been sent into the Country upon this several Occasion; but afterwards fusices of Assife were likewise authorised to this. Anno 4 E. 3. cap. 3. Justices of Laborers Were Justices heretofore appointed to redress the Frowardness of Labouring Men, that would either be idle, or have unreasonable Wages. See 21 E. 3. c. 1. 25. E. 3. c. 8. and 31 E. 3. c. 6.

Justices of Miss Pring Are all one at this Time with Justices of Assign, for it is a common Adjournment of a Cause in the Common Pleas, to put it off to such a Day, Nisi prius justiciarii venerint ad eas partes ad capiendas Assisas; and upon this Clause of Adjournment they are called Justices of Niss prius, as well as Justices of Assis, by reason of the Writ or Action that they have to deal in Their Commission you may see in Cromp. Fur. fol. 204. yet with this Difference between them, that Justices of Assis have Power to give Judgment in a Cause, but Justices of Nist prius only to take the Verdict. But in the Nature of both their Functions, this seems to be the greatest Distorece, that fustices of Nist prius have to deal in Causes personal as well as real; whereas fustices of Assis, in strict Acceptation, meddle only with the pos sessory Writs called Assife.

Justices of the Bapilion (Fusticiarii Pavilonis)

Justices of the Peace (Justiciarii ad Pacem)
Are those who are appointed by the King's Commission to attend the Peace of the County where our fustices of Assis at present, though their Authey dwell; of whom some, for special Respect, thority and Manner of Proceeding much differ. are made of the Quorum, because Business of Importance may not be dispatched without the Presence or Assent of them, or one of them. See Quorum. The Office and Power of these is various, and grounded upon several Statutes, too the Peace till the Thirty-fixth Year of Edward the Thirty, where they are called fuffices. Lamb. Eiren. lib. 4. c. 19. pag. 578. See Shepherd's Sure Guide for Justices of Peace. Justices of Peace within Liberties (Justiciarii ad Pacem infra Libertates) Are such in Cities, and other corporate Towns, as those others of the Counties; and their Authority or Power is all one within their feveral Precincts. Anno 27

Justices of Craile-vastan Were a Kind of Fusices appointed by King Edward the First, upon Occasion of great Disorders grown in the Realm, during his Absence in the Scotch and French Wars. In the Old N. B. fol. 52. Holinshed and Stow, Traile-baston, so called (say they) of trailing, or drawing the Staff of Fusice: Or according to re noscimur excludendo. Co. 12. Rep. fol. 25. for their summary Proceedings, who says also, They were, in a Manner, Fusices in Eyre, and their Authority sounded on the Statute of Ragman. Their Office was to make in a Forest, and is always to the statute of Ragman. They office was to make the Real of the Statute of Ragman. Inquisition through the Realm, by the Verdict of substantial Juries, upon all Officers, as Mayors, Sherists, Bailists, Escheators, and others, touching Extortion, Bribery, and other such Grievances; as Intrusions into other Mens Lands, Barretors, and Breakers of the Peace, with divers other Offenders; by Means of which Inquifitions, many were punished by Death, many by Ransom, and the Rest style style Realm; the Land was quieted, and the King goined great Riches towards the Support of his Wars. See Mat. Westm. in Anno 1305. In the Hist. Roffent fol. 200, sub anno 1305, which may be said to be co-canous with these fusitions, he gives the following Account of their Office. Circa hee tempora processit in publicum nova inquisitionis breve, quod anglice dicitur Trail-baston, contra Intrusores, Conductitios hominum vapulatores, conductitios seisina captores, pacis infractores, raptores, incendiarios, murderatores, pugnatores. Multi hoc perenipti, multi redempti, multi noxii, pauci innoxii sunt inventi. Adeo quidem rigide processit kujus coertionis justitia, quod pater pro-prio silio non par erct, &c. dira multa. As to the Name Traile-baston, there are divers Opinions; some think that Baston signifies the Beam of a Pair of Scales, and so is metaphorically applied to the just poising of Recompence for Offences committed. Others think it may be derived from the French (Treilles, i. Cancelli) Bars or Lattices, a Grate with cross Bars: Others from the Word Treille, i. Pargula, a Frame or Rail, such as Vines use to run upon; and Baston, a Staff or Pole, inferring, that the Justices imployed in this Commission, had Authority to proceed without any folemn Judgment-Seat, but might with-out more work proceed wherever they could apprehend the Malefactors they fought for. If I may be admitted to give my Thoughts, I suppose, it may be derived from the Fren h Word Trayl, i. to draw; and Baston, a Staff; and the Reason of this my Supposition, is, that the Kings of England having in those Times many Occasions in France, by Reason of their frequent Wars there; and observing that the Marshals of France had a large Power, with which they were invested by the Delivery of a Baston, (or as we call it a Battoon) the Ensign of their Office and Authority; when they returned and found strange Disorders grown here, in Imitation of that, created these fusices, who (as they say) had a Baston delivered them as the Badge of their Office, so that whoever was brought before them was Traille al Basson, traditus ad Ba-culum; whereupon with Submission, may their Name easily be deduced, and they called Justices de Trail-Basson, or Justiciarii ad trabendum of-fendentes ad baculum vel baston. We find a Com-mission of Trail-baston, coram Rogero de Grey & So-ciis suis Justic. apud S. Albanum, Anno Regni Regiz E. 3. post conquestum, 5. Sec Spelman's Gloss. verbo Trail-baston.

Kitchin, fol. 74. says, That by this Writ of Justicies, the Sheriff may hold Plea of a great Sum, whereas, of his ordinary Authority, he can hold no Pleas, but of Sums under Forty Shillings, with whom agrees Crompton, fol. 231. It is called a Justicies, because it is a Commission to the Sherist ad justiciandum aliquem, to do a Man Justice, and requires no Return, or any Certificate of what he hath done. Eraft. lib. 4. traft. 6. cap. 13. num. 2. mentions a fusicies to the Sheriff of London, in a Case of Dower. See the New Book of Entries, verbo, Justicies.

King's Swanherd, (Magister deductus Cignorum.) is a common Error, that Rom. 1. 1. is translated. Paul a Knave of Jesus Christ: It was occasioned by a Bible in the Duke of Lauderdale's Library, where the Word Kneaws was writ in lesser Chawhere the Word Kneave was Writ in letter Characters than the other, and a Razure might casily be discerned; but in the Earl of Oxford's Library, Rev. 1. 1. 'tis said, to him Cnight fohn. Fortest. 42. See Strumpet. The Word is now perverted to the hardest Meaning, a saise and deceitful Fellow. But it had a Sense of Simplicity and Innocence; it first fignified a Child or Boy, Sax. Cnapa, whence a Knave Child, i. c. a Boy diffinguished from a Girl in several old Writers.

Runnit, (Sax. Cnyt. Lat. Miles, and Eques auratus, from the gilt Spurs he usually wore, and appointly Knights of the Spur: The thence called anciently Knights of the Spur: The stalians term them Cavalieri, the French Chevaliers, the Germans Ruyters, the Spaniards Cavallaro's, &c.) Knight in its Original properly signified a Servant; but there is now but one Instance where 'tis taken in that Sense, and that is Knight of a Shire, who properly serves in Parliament for such a County; but in all other Instances it signifies one that bears Arms, who, for his Virtue and martial Prowefs, is by the King, or one having his Authority, exalted above the Rank of Gentleman to a higher Account or Step of Dignity. The Manner of making them, Cambal. in his Britan. thus shortly expresseth: Nostris vero temporibus, qui Equestrem dignitatem suscipit, flexis genibus leviter in humero percutitur, Princeps his verbis Gallice affatur; Sus vel sois Chevalier au nom de Dien, i. e. Surge aut sis Eques in nonline Dei. This is meant of Knight Bachelors, which is the Lowest, but most ancient Degrees of Knighthood with us. By the Stat. I Ed. 2. cap. I. all Gentlemen having a full Knight's Fee, and holding their Land by Knight's Service, might be compelled to be made Krights: But that is repealed by 17 Car. 1. ca. 20. Unights of the Garter, Equites Garterii, or Perifeelidis, Are an Order of Knights first created by King Edw. the Third, after he had obtained many notable Victories, who, for furnishing of this Honourable Order, made a Choice out of his Realm, and all Christendom, of the best and most excellently renowned Knights in Virtue and Honour, bestowing this Dignity upon them, and giving them a blue Garter, decked with Gold, Pearl, and precious Stones, and a Buckle of Gold, to wear daily on the left Leg only, a Kirtle, Crown, Cloak, Chaperon, a Collar, and other stately and magnificent Apparel, both of Stuff and Fashion; exquisite and heroical to wear at high Feasts, as to so high and princely an Order was meet. Of which he and his Succession fors, Kings of England, were ordained Sovereigns, and the rest Fellows and Brethren, to the Number of Twenty-six. Smith de Rep. Anglor. lib. 1. ca. 20. This Honourable Society is a College or Corporation, having a common Seal belonging to it, and confisting of a Sovereign Guardian, which is the King of England, that always governs this Order by himself, or his Deputy; of Twenty-five Companions called Knights of the Garter, of Fourteen secular Canons that be Priests, or must be within one Year after their Admission; Thirteen Vicars, also Priests, and Twenty-six poor Knights, that have no other Sustenance, or Means of Living, but the Allowance of this House, which is given them in respect to their daily Prayer to the Honour of God and St. George. There be also certain Officers and St. George. There be also certain Officers belonging to this Order, viz. The Prelate of the Garter, which Office is inherent to the Bishop of Winchester for the Time being; the Chancellor of Ninchester for the Register, who is always Dean of the Garter; the Register, who is always Dean of Windsor; the Principal King at Arms, called Garter, whose chief Business is to manage and marshal their Solemnities at their yearly Feasts and Installations. Lastly, The Usher of the Garter, who is also the Usher of the Black-Rod. The Site of this College is the Castle of Windsor, with the Chapel of St. George, erected by Edward the Third, and the Chapter-House in the said Castle, and their Solemnity upon St. George's Day. Cambden saith, This Order received great Ornament from Edward the Fourth. Ferne's Glory of Generosity, pag. 120. And that most pious Prince Charles the First, as an Addition to their Splendor, ordered all the Companions of the Order to wear on the left Side of their upper Garment, the Cross of England encircled with the Garter and Motto, from whence round about are cast Beams of Silver like the Rays of the Sun in full Lustre. See Garter. I hear of a large Tract concerning this Order, written by Elias Ashmole Esq; which see for further Satisfaction.

knights of the Dider of St. John of Jerusa-lem. Milites Santi Johannis Hierosolymitani, were an Order of Knighthood, that began about the Year of Our Lord 1120. Honorius being Pope. They had their Denomination from John the charitable Patriarch of Alexandria, though vowed to St. John the Baptist their Patron; Fern's Glory of Angl, 2. pag. fol. 825. a. Of this, you may read Generosity, pag. 127. They had their Primary

Since which Time their chief Scat is in the Isle of Malta, where they have done great Exploits against the Instelle, but specially in the Year 1595. They live after the Order of Friers, under the Rule of St. Augustine. Of whom Mention is made in the Statute 25 H. 8. cap. 2. and 26 H. 8. cap. 2. They had in England one general Prior they had the Course general Prior that had the Government of the whole Order within England and Scotland, Reg. Orig. fol. 20. and was the first Prior of England, and fate in the Lord's House of Parliament. But to-wards the End of Henry the Eighth's Days, they in England and Ireland being found over-much to adhere to the Pope against the King, were suppressed, and their Lands and Goods given to the King, by 32 H. 8. 24. The Occasion and Propagation of this Order more especially described, you may read in the Treatise, entitled, The Book of Honour and Arms, lib. 5. cap. 18. written by Mr. Ri. hard Jones.

Enights of the Temple, Templeii, Otherwise called Templars, was an Order of Knighthood instituted by Pope Gelasius, about the Year of our Lord 1117. and so called, because they dwelt in a Part of the Building belonging to the Temple at Ferusalem, not far from the Sepulchre of our Lord. They entertained Christian Strangers and Lord. They entertained Christian Strangers and Pilgrims charitably, and in their Armour led them through the Holy Land, to view the facred Monuments of Christianity, without fear of Infidels. This Order increasing and continuing by the Space of 200 Years, was far spread in Christian C stendom, and namely here in England; but in Process of Time, some of them at Ferusalem being (as some Report) found to fall away to the Saracens from Christianity, or rather, because they grew too potent, the whole Order was suppressed by Clemens Quintus, 1309. and by the Council of Vienna, 1312. and their Substance will in the Year 1450.— Furst, I Gysse My Sawle to God my Lord and my Redemptor, and my were supported.

Lada, A Purgation by Trial, from Sax. Ladian, to purge by Submission to any legal Method of Acquitment. Hence the Lada simplex, and the Lada triplex, or I ada plena, among our Saxon Ancestors, mentioned in the Laws of King Ethelred, and of Hen. 1. See Spelman's Glosfary.

Lada, A Lade, Load, or Course of Water.

Ex parte scilicet orientali navigii vel Ladæ usq; ad locum qui dicitur Gangestede. Histor. Rames. Edit. Gale, cap. 113. Where Navigium is properly Navigerium, and has the like Sense of a navigable River. And Spelman tells us, that Lada is a Canal to carry Water from wet Grounds, but it fometimes fignifies a broad Way, viz. Unde placitum fuit inter eos, &c. viz. quod omnes Ladæ quas monachi fecerint in illo marifco obstupantur, excepta illa magna Lada que vadit ad Wittlesmare, &c. per quam mona bi adducunt Lapides ad constructionem Monasterii. Lagan, At first, was that Right which the Chief Lord of the Fee had to take Goods which were cast on the Shore by the Violence of the Sea; but afterwards it fignified a Right which any one had to Goods which were Ship-wreeked, and floating in the Sea. Thus Bracton, viz. Qua si in mare longius a littore inveniantur, ita ut constare non possit ad quam terram essent applicanda, tune quicquid ita inventum fuerit, erit inventoris, adeo quod in nullius bonis esse dicantur, & dicitur a nantibus Lagan. A ageman, or Lahman, (Lagamannus) Homo legalis seu legitimus; Such as we call now Good Men of the Fury. I find the Word in Donessay, and in the Laws of Edward the Consessor, cap. 38. thus, Postea inquisiffet Fusitia per Lagamannos, & per meliores homines de Burgo, & But in Libro Albo de Suthwel, Ulvet the Son of Forno is said to have been Lagaman of the City of York. Where doubtless it signified some Chief Officer, as Judge or less it fignified some Chief Officer, as Judge or Recorder. My Lord Coke in his Comment on Littleton, Sett. 73. was of Opinion, that a Lageman was he who had for am & facum super homines suos, i. e. who had a Jurisdiction over their Persons and Estates, and those were the Thaines or Barons of that Age; so that this Ulvet the Son of For-no might be one of the Barons who lived in York.

Somner and Lambard were of the same Opinion, that the Word fignified the Thaines, called afterwards Barons, who sate as Judges to determine Mens Rights in Courts of Justice; as, in Senatus consult. de Monticolis Wallie, cap. 3. 'tis said, let 12 Lahmen, which Lambard renders Men of Law, viz. fix English and fix Welsh, do Right and Ju-flice, &c.

Sir Peter Leycester, in his Antiquities of Cheshire interprets Lagena Vini, a Bottle of Wine. See Minstrel.

Lagon, or Lagan, Is such a Parcel of Goods as the Mariners in Danger of Ship-wreek cast out of the Ship, and because they know they are heavy and fink, they fasten to them a Buoy or Cork, that so they may find and have them again. If the Ship be drowned, or otherwise

Larceny (Fr. Larrecin, Lat. Latrocinium) Is a
Thest of personal Goods or Chattels in the Owner's Absence; and in respect of the Thing stolen, it is either great or small. Great Larceny is when the Things stolen, though severally, exceed the Value of xii d. Petit Larceny is when the Goods stolen award not that Value. Of this the Goods stolen exceed not that Value. Of this, see more in Staundf. Pl. Cr. lib. 1. cap. 15, 16, 17. Anthretie or Leidgrebe, or Thritbingreve. An Officer under the Saxon Government, who had Authority over the third Part of the Country, or three or more Hundreds or Wapentakes: Whose Territory was thereupon called a Tithing, otherwise a Leid or Leithen, in which Manner the County of Kent is yet divided, and the Rapes in Suffex feem to answer the same; and perhaps the Ridings in Yorkshire being now corruptly so called for Tridings or Tithings. Those Matters that could not be determined in the Hundred-Court, were thence brought to the Trithring where all the principal Men of three or more Hundreds, being assembled by the Authority of the Lathreve or Trithingreve, did debate and decide it; or if they could not, did then send it up unto the County-Court to be there finally determined. Vid. Spelman's Antient Government of England.

Latimer Seems to be used by Sir Edward Coke for an Interpreter. 2 Par. Inft. fol. 515. I suppose the Word is mistaken, and should be Latiner, because heretofore he that understood Latin, which, in the Time of the Romans, was the prevailing Language, might be a good Interpreter. Camden agrees, that it signifies a Truchman, or Interpreter, and says the Word and may be derived or corrupted from the Fr.

Latinier. q. d. Latiner.

Latinarius, An Interpreter of Latin; Godewinus accipitrarius, Hugo Latinarius. In Domes-

Latin. False Latin shall not quash an Indictment, nor abate any Declaration; for although the original Writ shall abate for false Latin, yet judicial Writs, or a Fine, shall not be impeached for false Latin. See Co. 5. Rep. Long's Case. But if the Word be not Latin, nor a Word al-Last hense, Ultimus heres, Is he to whom Land lowed by the Law, as Vocabulum artis, (as every glariter, murdrum, felonice, and the like, be Terms of Art well known in the Law; and therefore if these Words, or the like, be mistaken in an Indiament, so that in a material Place there is an infensible Word, which is not Latin, nor any Word known in the Law, this will make the Indiament vicious and insusseient.

Latitat Is the Name of a Writ, whereby all Men in personal Actions are called originally to 2527. and Laudator signifies an Arbitrator. Knighthe King's Bench. F. N. B. fol. 78. And it hath the ton, 2526. Name, as supposing that the Defendant doth lurk and lie hid; and therefore being served with this Writ, he must put in Security for his Appearance at the Day, for Latitare est se malitiose occultare, animo fraudandi creditores suos agere volentes. But singhum, pag. 60. And in Cartular. Glaston. MS. the true Original of this Writ, was this; In anti-fol. 83. B. Arbitrationi, Laudo, seu ditto venerabilis ent Time, while the King's Beneth was moveable, Patris Dominier. and followed the King's Court, the Cuttom was, upon commencing of a Suit, to fend forth a Writ to the Sheriff of the County where the Court lay, for the Calling him in, and if the Sheriff returned, Non est inventus in Balliva mea, &c. then was there a second Writ sued forth, that had these Words, cum testatum est quod Latitat, &c. and thereby the Sheriff commanded to attach him in another Place where he may be found. Now when the Tribunal of the King's Bench came to be settled at Westminster, the former Course of Writ was held for a long Time, first sending to the Sheriff of Middlesex to summon the Party, and if he could not be found there, then to apprehend him wheresoever; but afterwards upon Pretence of easing the Subject, and expediting Justice, it was contrived to put both these Writs into one, and so to attach the Party complained of, upon a Supposal or Fistion, that he was not within the County of Middlesen, but lurking elsewhere; and that therefore he was to be apprehended in any Place else, where he was presumed to lie hid, by a Writ directed to the Sheriff of the County where he is suspected to be. And by this Writ a Man being brought in, is committed to the Marshal of the King's Latre, (Latrocinium,) He who had the sole Jurissidiation in a particular Place de Latrone. 'Tis mentioned in Leg. W. 1. viz. Sciatis quod Abbati Ailist socam, teloneum & Latronem babere concedo. Legatr, Legatum, Is a particular Thing given by a last Will and Testament, and he to whom fuch Legacy is given, is called the Legatee. If a Man transfer his whole Right or Estate upon another, that the Civilians call Hareditas, and him to whom it is so transferred, they term Heres; but we call him Heir only, to whom all a Man's Lands and Hereditaments descend by Right of Blood. See Heir. See more in Devise.

Legatary, (Legatarius,) He or she to whom any Thing is bequeathed; a Legatee. Spelman says, it is sometimes used pro Legato vel Nun-

Legate, An Embassador, or other Representative of a Prince, especially of the Popes of Rome, who in England had the Archbishops of Canterbury for their Legatos natos; and upon extra-ordinary Occasions sent over Legates a latere. These Legates are often mentioned in our old Historians. The Difference between them is thus: Legatus a Latere was usually one of the Pope's Family, who was vested with the greatest Authority in all Ecclefiastical Affairs over the whole Kingdom where he was fent; and during the Time of his Legation, he might determine even those Appeals which had been made from thence to Rome. Legatus natus had a more limited Jurisdiction. 'Tis true, he was exempted from the Authority of the Legate a Latere; but he could exercise even his Jurisdiction in his own Province.

Liv. z at fæ penfatæ a ad numerum: A Phrase which often occurs in the Domesday-Register and some other Memorials of that and the next Age. As Ailesbury in Buckinghamshire, the King's Manor.
——in totis valentiis reddit Lvi libr. arsas & pensatas, & de Thelonio X libr. ad numerum, i. e. in the whole Value it pays Fifty-fix Pounds burnt and weighed; and for Toll Ten Pounds by Tale. For they sometimes took their Money ad numerum by Tale in the current Coin upon content: But sometimes they rejected the common Coin by Tale, and would melt it down to take it by Weight when purified from the Drofs and too great Allay; for which Purpose they had in great Allay; for which Purpose they had in those Times alway a Fire ready in the Exchequer to burn the Money, and then weigh it.

Libra Pensa, A Pound of Money in Weight; for it was usual in former Days, not only to tell the Money, but to weigh it; for several Cities, Bishops, and Noblemen, had their Mints and coined Money, and often very bad, and therefore though the Pound consisted of 20 s. they weighed it. Thus in Domesday, we read, reddit nune 30 libras arsas & pensatas. Gale's Hist. of Brit. fol. 26 s.

Albertate probands Is a Writ that lay for such as were challenged for Slaves, and offer'd to Order of Knighthood. See Fardingdeal. Some that had quindecim libras terra, was to receive the Order of Knighthood. See Fardingdeal. Some are of Opinion, that as Money is divided into Pounds, Shillings, Pence, Half-pence and Farthings, the same Degrees are to be observed in the Division of Lands; and therefore as quadrans signifies a Farthing, so quadrantata is the fourth Part of an Acre, oblata is half, and denariata is a whole Acre, folidata is Twelve Acres, and librata is Twenty Times Twelve Acres, i. e. Two hundred and forty. Sulman is of enother Outside dred and forty. Spelman is of another Op nion, who compares an Acre to a Mark in Money; and as in one there are One hundred and fixty Pence, so in the other there are One hundred and fixty Perches, which they divide into Halfs and Quarters: So that an Acre contains Three hundred and fixty Denarios; but some say, that Librata terra is so much Ground as is worth yearly 20s. of current Money.

Licence to arise, Licentia surgendi, Is a Liberty given by the Court to a Tenant that is essoined de malo lesti, in a real Action: For the Law is, that in this Case he may not arise out of his Bed, or at least go out of his Chamber, until he have been viewed by Knights thereto appointed, and have a Day assigned him to appear: And the Reason of this is, that it may appear whether he caused himself to be essoined deceitfully or not; and therefore if the Demandant can prove that he was seen abroad before the View, or Licence of the Court, he shall be adjudged to be deceitfully essoined, and to have made Desault. Of this, see Brasson, lib. 5. trast. 2. cap. 7, to & 12, and Fleta, lib. 6. cap. 10. and Horne's Mirrour of Justices, lib. 2. cap. des Essoynes.

Lieferenant or Lieutenant, Locumtenens, Is compounded of lieu, locus & tenir, tenere, and fignifies him that occupieth the King's, or any other Person's Place, or representeth his Person, as the Lieutenant of Ireland, 4 H. 4. 6. So also it is used 2 & 3 E. 6. cap. 2. whence that Officer seems to take his Beginning.

Liege Lord, as 34 & 35 H. 8. cap. 1. and 25 H. 8. 3. and sometimes for Liege-man, as 10 R. 2. 1. and 11 R. 2. cap. 1. Liege Lord is he that acknow ledgeth no Superior. Duaremus in Commentar. de consuetud. feudorum, cap. 4. num. 3. Liege-man is he that oweth Allegiance to his Liege Lord. Skene de verbo Signif. verb. Lighters, from the City of London.

Cum foret Anglorum feodali jure ligati.

But others more probably derive it from Litis, which is a Man wholly at the Service of the Lord, whose Service is called Litgium fervitium, who had such an absolute Dependance on him, that he was his Vassal, so that Litgius or Ligius is one wholly under his Power. This appears where the Word is nsed on other Occasions, viz. Leg. Edw. cap. 29. Judai sub tutela Regis ligea de-bent esse, that is, wholly under the King's Protection: So in the Monastic. 2. Tom. pag. 10. Ego Juliana quondam uxor W. Brett in ligia potestate & viduitate, that is, in my absolute Power and Widowhood.

Ligeance, Ligeantia, Is a true and faithful Obedience of the Subject to his Sovereign; sometimes it fignifies the Dominions or Territory of the Liege Lord, as 25 E. 3. Stat. 2. Children born out of the Ligeance of the King: Also the same with Ligeancy. See Co. on Lit. fol. 129. and 7 Rep. Calvin's Case.

Ligeancy, Ligeantia, Is thus defined in the Grand Custumary of Normandy, cap. 13. Ligeantia est, ex qua Domino tenentur Vassalli sui contra omnes homines qui mori possunt & vivere, proprii corporis prabere consilii & auxilii juvamentum, & ei se in omnibus innounis exhibere, nec ei adversantium partem in aliquo consovere, &c. This is otherwise called Legietas. Cassan de consuetud Burgund. pag. 420, 421. This Word is often used in our Statutes, as 14 H. 6. cap. 2. and several others. It seems to be derived to the statute of ved from the Ital. Liga, a League or Bond; Vin-culum artlius inter subditum & Regen utrosque invi-cem connectens; bunc ad protectionem of justum regimen, illos ad tributa & debitam subjectionem; and is fuch a Duty or Fealty, as no Man may owe or bear to more than one Lord; and therefore it is most commonly used for that Duty and Allegiance, which every good Subject owes to his Liege-Lord the King.

Sovereigne Lord, I Henry Percy become your Subgette and Liege Man, and promit to God and you, that hereafter I Faith and Trouth shall bear to you, as to my Sovereign Liege Lord, and to your Heirs, Kings of England, of life and limme, and of erthly worshippe, for to live and die ayeinst all erthly People, and to You, and to Your Commandments I shall be obeysant, as God me help, and his Holy Evangelists. 27 Oct. 9 Edw. 4. Livery, Liberatura, Is derived from the French Livre, that is, infigne, gestamen, or else from Liverer, id est, tradere, and accordingly hath Three Significations. In one it is used for a Suit of Cloth or Stuff that a Gentleman giveth in Coats, Cloaks, Hats or Gowns, with Cognifance or without, to his Servants or Followers; and is mentioned in 1 R.2. 7. 20 R. 2. 1, 2. 7 H. 4. 14. 8 E. 4. 2. 13 E. 4. 3. 8 H. 6. 4. 3 H. 7. 1. 12. 11 H. 7. 7. 19 H. 7. 14. 3 Car. 1. cap. 4. In the other Signification, it betokened a Delivery of Possession of the Viscolius Carines Services for the Viscolius Carines Services of the Viscolius Carine King in Capite, or Knights-Service; for the King, by his Prerogative, hath primer Seisin of all Lands and Tenements so holden of him. Staundf. Prirog. fol. 12. & cap. 3. Livery, in the third Signification, is the Writ which lies for the Heir, to obtain the Possession or Seisin of his Land at the King's Hands, which see in F. N. B. fol. 155. But by the Statute 12 Car. 2. cap. 24. All Wardships, Liveries, &c. are utterly taken away, and absolutely discharged. Formerly great Men gave Liveries to several who were not of their Family or Servants, to engage them in their Quarrels for that Year: This was prohibited by the Statute I Hen. 4. viz. That no Man of what soever Condition, hould give any Livery but to his Domesticks, to his Officers, or to his Counsel learned in either Law.

Livery of Land. See Vadlat.

Livery of Seisin, (Deliberatio Seisina) Is a Delivery of Possession of Lands, Tenements, or other corporeal Thing, (for, of Things incorporeal no Livery of Seisin may be) to one that has Right, or a Probability of Right therennto. For, (as Bracton says, lib. 2. cap. 18. num. 3) Traditio debet Bracton says, lib. 2. cap. 18. num. 3) Traditio debet esse vestita, & non nuda. It is a Ceremony used in Conveyance of Lands or Tenements, where an Estate in Fee-simple, Fee-tail, or a Freehold passeth: And it is a Testimonial of the willing Departure of him, who makes the Livery from the Thing whereof Livery is made. And the Receiving of the Livery, is a willing Acceptance by the other Party of all that whereof the other hath devested himself. The common Manner of Delivery of Seisn, is thus. If it he in the open Delivery of Seisin, is thus: If it be in the open Field, where is no House nor Building, and if the Estate pass by Deed, one openly reads it, or declares the Effect of it, and after that is sealed, the Vendor takes it in his Hands, with a Clod of Earth upon a Twig or Bough, which he delivers to the Vendee, in the Name of Possession or Seisin, according to the Effect of the Deed: But if there be a House or Building upon the Land, then this is to be done at the Door of it, (none being left at that Time within the House) and the Ring of the Door delivered to the Vendee, who enters alone, shuts the Door, and presently opens it again. If it be a House without Land or Ground, the Livery is made, and Possession ta-ken by Delivery of the Ring of the Door and Deed only. And where it is without Deed, either of Lands or Tenements, there the Party declares by Word of Mouth, before Witnesses, the Estate he parts with, and then delivers Seisin or Possession in Manner aforesaid: And so the Land loads of Straw or Litter. Mon. Ang. 2. par, fol. or Tencinent passeth as well as by Deed, and 33. b.

31 E. 3. Stat. 3. cap. 2. Local, Localis, Signifieth in a legal Sense as much as tied or annexed to a Place: For Example. The Thing is local, and annexed to the Frechold. Kitchin, fol. 180. And again, in the same Place, an Action of Trespass for Battery, &c. is transitory, not local, that is, not needful that the Place of the Battery should be set down as material in the Declaration, or if it be set down, that the Defendant should traverse it, by saying, he did not commit the Battery in the Place mentioned in the Declaration, and so avoid the Action. And again, fol. 230. the Place is not local, that is, not inaterial to be fet down in certain. The Guard of the Person, and of the Land differ in this, because the Person being transitory, the Lord may have his Ravishment de gard, before he be seised of him, but not so of the Land, because it is local. Lollards, (so called from Walter Lollard, a German, first Author of this Sea, living about the Year 1315.) Were certain Hereticks (at least in the Opinion of those Times) that abounded here in England in the Days of Edward the Third, and Henry the Fifth, whereof Wickliff was the Chief in this Nation, according to Stow in his Annals, f. 425. They are mentioned Anno 2 Hen. 5. cap. 7. Against these Lollards, much was decreed by Tho. Arundel, Archbishop of Canterbury, in a Council at Oxford. See their Tenets in Spotswood's History of Scotland, fol. 61. The High Sheriff of every County was anciently bound by his Oath to suppress them.

-You shall (says the Oath) do all your Pain and Diligence to destroy, and make to cease, all Man-ner of Heresy and Errors, commonly called Lollardics, within your Bailiwick, from Time to Time with all your Power, &c.

The Intent of these Lollards was, to subvert the Christian Faith, the Law of God, the Church,

God, the Statute of 2 Hen. 5. and the Realm; fo said the Statute of 2 Hen. 5. and the Kealli, 16 laid the Statute of 2 Hen. 5. cap. 7. which was repealed 1 Edw. 6. cap. 12. See 3 Inst. fol. 41. and Cawdrie's Case. Edw. Coke's Case, 1 par. fol. 25, &c. And, (Dominus, Sax. Hlaford, fignifying a Bread-giver, Bountiful or Hospitable) Is a Word of Honour with us, and used diversly. Sometimes - Prasentatum being attributed to those who are Noble by Birth or Creation, and are otherwise called Lords of the Parliament, and Peers of the Realm: Sometimes to those so called by the Curtesy of England, as all the Sons of a Duke or Marquess, and the eldest Son of an Earl: Sometimes to Persons Honourable by Office, as Lord Chief Justice, &c. And sometimes to an inferior Person that hath Fee, and consequently the Homage of Tenants within his Manor: for hy his Tenants he is called Lord. his Manor; for by his Tenants he is called Lord, and in some Places, for Distinction-sake, Land-lord: In which last Signification, it is most used in our Law-Books, where it is divided into Lord Paramount, and Lord Mefn. Lord Mefn is he that is Owner of a Manor, and by Virtue thereof hath Tenants holding of him in Fee, and by Virtue thereof hath Tenants holding of him in Fee, and by Copy of Court-Roll; and yet holds himself of a Superior Lord, called Lord Paramount, or above him. Old. Nat. Brev. fol. 79. We likewife read of Very Lerd and Very Tenant: Very Lord is he who is immediate Lord to his Tenant; and Very Tenant, he that holds immediately of that Lord: So that if there be Lord Paramount, Lord Mesn, and Tenant; the Lord Paramount is not Very Lord to nant; the Lord Paramount is not Very Lord to the Tenant. Bagna Charta, The Great Charter, was granted the Ninth Year of Henry the Third, and confirmed by Edward the First. The Reason why it was termed Magna Charta, was either for that it contained the Sum of all the Liberties of England, or clse because there was another Charter, called Charta de Foresta, established with it, which was the less of the Two; or because it contained more than many other Charters, or more than that of King Henry the First, or of the great and remarkable Solemnity in the denouncing Excommunication, and direful Anathema's against the Infringers of it. We read in Holinsbed, that King John, to appease his Barons, yielded to Laws or Articles of Government, much like to this Great Charter: But we have now no ancienter written Law than this, which was thought to be fo beneficial to the Subject, and a Law of so great Equity, in Comparison of those which were formerly in use, that King Henry, for the Granting it, had the fifteenth Penny of all the moveable Goods, both of the Spirituality and Temperalty throughout the Realm. Spelman in his Gloss. on this Word, calls it, Augustissimum Anglicarum libertatum diploma Es sacra Anchora. It is Magnum in Parvo, and hath been above Thirty Times confirmed, says Coke upon Littleton, fol. St. It is recorded, That when Hen. 3. confirmed it, he swore, on the Word and Faith of a King, a Christian, and a Knight, to observe it. See Charta Magna.

But the Cutting off an Ear or Nose, the Breaking of the hinder Tecths or such like, was no Mayhem, it being rather a Deformity of Body, than Diminishing of Strength. But now by the Statute of 22 & 23 Car. 2. cap. 1. the Cutting off a Nose, or Cutting off or Disabling any Limb or Member, is made Felony without Benefit of Clergy: Mayhem is commonly tried by the Justices inspecting the Party: And if they doubt whether it be a Mayhem, or not, they use to take the Opinion of some able Chirurgeon in the Point. The Grand Custumary of Normandy, cap. 6. calls it Mahaignium, and the Canonifts, Membri mutilationem; but all agree, that it is the Loss of a Member, or the Use thereof; and Membrum, Cassan. de Cons. Burg. pag. 168. defines thus, Est pars corporis habens destinatam operationem in corpore. See Skene de verborum significatione, werbo Machanium. See Co. on Lit. lib. 2 cap. 11. felt. 194. Bampernoze, Manucaptores, Are those Persons to whom a Person is delivered out of Custody or Prison, and they become Security for him, either for Appearance or Satisfaction; they are called, Manuaptores, because they do it as it were manu capere & ducere captivum e custodia vel prisona. And the Prisoner is said to be delivered to Bail, from the Words of the Bail-piece, viz. A. B. &c. traditur in Ballium J. D. & R. R. &c. See Main-

Mainpaile, Manucaptio, Is compounded of two French words, viz. Main, manus, Pris, captus: It fignifics in our Law, the Taking or Receiving a Man into friendly Custody, that otherwise is or might be committed to Prison, upon Security given for his forth-coming at a Day assigned: And they that thus undertake for any, are called Mainpernors, because they do receive him into their Hands, Staundf. Pl. Cor. fol. 178. from hence suras. their Hands, Staumas. Pt. Cor. fol. 170. Iron hence comes the Word Mainpernable, which denotes him that may thus be bailed; For in many Cases a Man is not mainpernable, whereof see Bro. Tit. Mainprise per totum, and F. N. B. fol. 249. Manwood in his Forest Laws, pag. 167. makes a great Difference between Bail and Mainprise; for he that is mainprised (saith he) is always said to be at large, and to go at his own Liberty out of Ward large, and to go at his own liberty out of ward until the Day of his Appearance; but otherwise it is, where a Man is let to bail to four or two Men by the Lord Chief Justice in Eyre of the Forest, or any other Judge, until a certain Day to for there he is always accounted by the Law to be in their Ward and Custody for the Time: And they may, if they will, keep him in Ward or in Prison all that Time, or otherwise at their Will; so that he that is so bailed, shall not be faid by the Law to be at large, or at his own Liberty: Thus far Manwood. The Mirror of Jufices distinguishing between Pledges and Mainpernors, saith, That Pledges are more general, and that Mainpernors, are Body for Body, lib. 2. cap. de Trespass venial, and lib. 3. cap. des Pledges Mainpernors. When Mainprises may be granted, Justices saith, That Pledges be those that bail or redeem any Thing but the Body of a Man, but Mainpernors are those that free the Body of a Man; and therefore that Pledges belong properly to real and mix'd Actions, and Mainpernors to perfonal.

Pence; and Mancufa was as much as a Mark of Silver. Notes upon Canutus's Laws, (i. c. Manucusa, Coined with the Hand). So in the Laws of King Ina, cap. 69. Ex astimatione capitis viri, qui vicenis dum vixerat aftimatur folidis, subtrahantur 30 folidi ad compensandam domino mortem. But the Manca was not always of that Value, for sometimes it was valued at Six Shillings, Leg. H. t. cap. 69. Manca fex folidis assimetur: But the Shilling was then but Five Pence. And the Mancusa was a Sort of Mo-Five Pence. And the Mancusa was a Sort of Money used by the English Saxons, equal in Value to our Half-Crown: For Thorn, in his Chronicle, tells us, That Mancusa est pondus duorum solidorum for sex denariorum. And with him agrees Du Cange, in verbo wita plena, where he says, that Twenty Manca make Fifty Shillings; for Manca and Mancusa are promiscuously used in the old Books for the same Money. But Spelman and Somner say, that a Mancusa was equal to our Mark.

20anoz, Manerium, Seems to be derived of the French Manour, babitatio, or rather from manendo, of abiding there, because the Lord did usually reside there. Est feodum nobile partim vassalis (quos Tenentes vocamus) ob certa servitia concessum; partim Domino in usum Familia sua, cum jurisdictione in vassallos, ob concessa pradia reservatum. Que vassallis con-ceduntur, terras dicimus tenementales, qua domino reservantur, dominicales. Totum vero seodum dominium appellatur, olim Baronia; unde Curia qua buic praest jurisdictioni bodie Curia Baronis nomen retinet. Skene de verb. signif. saith, It is called Manerium quasi manurium, because it is laboured by Handy-work: It is a noble Sort of Fee granted partly to Tenants for certain Services to be performed, and partly reserved to the Use of his Family, with Jurisdiction over his Tenants for their Farms. That which was granted out to Tenants, we call Tenementales; those reserved to the Lord, were Dominicales: The whole Fee was termed a Lordship, of old a Barony; from whence the Court, that is always an Appendant granted by the King to some Baron, or Man of worth, for him and his Heirs to dwell upon, and to exercise some Jurisdiction more or less within that Compass, as he thought good to grant, per-forming such Services, and paying such yearly Rent for the same, as he by his Grant required, and that afterwards this great Man parcelled his Land to other meaner Men, enjoining them such Services and Rents as he thought good, and so as he became Tenant to the King, the Inferiors became Tenants to him. See Perkins's Referencions, 670. and Horne's Mirror of Justices, lib. 1. cap. de Roy Alfred, and Fulbeck, fol. 18. And according to this our Custom, all Lands holden in Fee throughout France are divided into Fieffs and arrieri fiefs, whereof the former are such as are immediately granted by the King; the second, such as the King's Feudataries do again grant to others. Gregorii Syntagm. lib. 6. cap. 5. num. 3. thors was continuous a Manor rather fignifieth the Jurisfus, i. e. as diction and Royalty incorporeal, than the Land in a Year. or Site. For a Man may have a Manor in grofs, (as the Law termeth it) that is, the Right and Interest of a Court-Baron, with the Perquisites thereunto belonging, and another or others have every Foot of the Land, Kitchin, fol. 4. Broke, hoc titul per totum. Bracton, lib. 4. cap. 31. num. 3. divideth munerium into Capitale & non capitale. See Fee. A Manor may be compounded of divers Things, as of a House, arable Land, Pasture, Meadow, Wood, Rent, Advowson, Court-Baron, and fuch like; and this ought to be by long Continuance of Time, beyond the Memory of Man. For at this Day a Manor cannot be made, because a Court-Baron cannot now be made, and a Manor cannot be without a Court-Baron, and Suiters or Freeholders. Two at the leaft; for if all the Freeholds, except one, escheat to the Lord, or if he purchase all, except one, there his Manor is gone causa qua supra, although in common Speech it may be so called.

Danumission, Manumissio, Is the freeing of a Villein or Slave out of his Bondage: The Form of it, in the Conqueror's Time, Lambard in his 'Agyatoropla, fol. 126. Settendown in these Words, Si quis velit fervam suum liberum facere, tradat eum Vicecomiti, per manum dextram in pleno Comitatu, & quietum illum clamare debet a jure servitutis sua per manumissionem; & ostendat ei liberas portas & vias, & tradat ei libera arma scilicet Lanceam & gladium, Tradat ei libera arma icilicet Lanceam & gladium, deinde liber homo efficitur. Some also were wont to be manumitted by Charter. Vide Broke, Tit. Villenage, fol. 305. The Terms of the Law make two Kinds of Manumission, one expressed, the other implied: Manumission expressed is, when the Lord makes a Deed to his Villein, to infranchise him by this Word Manumittere, the Manner of which in old Time was thus: The Lord, in the Presence of other Persons, took the Bond-man by the of other Persons, took the Bond-man by the Head, saying, I will that this Man be free, and thereupon shoved him forward out of his Hand. Manumission implied is, when the Lord makes an Obligation for Payment of Money to him at a certain Day, or fucth him, when he might enter

This Custom, with some Disterence, is in divers Parts of England and Wales. as also in Scatland, and in of England and Wales, as also in Scotland, and in the Isle of Guernsey. See Spelman at large on it. By the Custom of the Manor of Dinevor, in the County of Caermarthen, every Tenant at the Marriage of his Daughter pays Ten Shillings to the Lord, which in the British Language is called Gwatr-Merched, i. e. a Maid's Fee. Marcibal, Marefcallus, Is a French Word, signifying as much as Tribunus militum with the ancient Romans, or παλέμαρχ with the Greek, or ιππαρχ Trinquel de nobilitate, cap. 8. pag. 42. num. 17. The French Word may seem also to proceed from the German Marschalk, i. Equitum magister, which Hotoman in verbis seudalibus verbo Marchalkus, derived from the old Word March, signifying a Horse. Others make it of the two Saxon Words, Mar, i. equus, and Scalib, i. prefestus; or according to Verstegan, from Mare, the general Appellation of all Horses, (as Horse is now in English) and Scale, which in the ancient Teutonick, he affirms, to fignify a Kind of Servant, as Scales doth at this Day among the Italians. With us there be divers Officers of this Name, but one most Noble of all the Rest, who is called Lord or Earl Marshal of England, of whom Mention is made in divers Statutes, 1 H.
4. 7 & 14. and 13 R. 2. cap. 2. His Office consists especially in Matters of War and Arms, as well with us as in other Countries, whereof you may read Lupanus de mazistratibus Francia, lib. 1. cap. Marcshallus, and Tilius, lib. 2. cap. de Conestabili Óο

Conestabili Mariscallo, &c. The next to this is eistem Marinariis Salutem. Paroch. Antiq. pag. the Marshal of the King's House, whose special 322. Authority is (according to Britton, and Gwin in the Preface to his Readings) in the King's Place to hear and determine all Pleas of the Crown, and to punish Faults committed within the Verge, and to hear and judge of Suits between those of the King's Houshould, &c. Kitchin, fol. 143. Fleta also, lib. 2. cap. 15. mentions a Marshal of the King's Hall, whose Office is, when the Tables be prepared, to call out both those of the Houshould and Strangers, according to their Worth, and decently to place them, &c. There is also a Marshal of the Exchengers, L. L. 2 and the transport to Course quer. 51 H. 3. ftat. 15. to whom the Court committeeth the Custody of the King's Debtors during the Term-time, for securing the Debts. He also assigneth Sheriffs, Escheators, Customers, and Collectors, their Auditors, before whom they shall account. He hath all Inquisitions taken before Escheators virtute officii, delivered unto him, to be re-delivered by him to the Treasurer's Remembrancer in the Exchequer.

Mariage, or Marriage, Maritagium, Signifies not only the lawful Conjunction of Man and Wife, but also the Interest of bestowing a Ward or a Widow in Marriage. Batitagium, or Battiage, Strictly taken, is that Right which the Lord of the Fee had to marry the Daughters of his Vassals after their Death: Others tell us, it was that Profit which might accrue to the Lord by the Marriage of one under Age, who held his Lands of him by Knight's Service. This seems plain by the Statute of Merton, cap. 7. Maritagium ejus qui infra atatem est de vero jure pertinet ad Dominum

Maritagium habere, To have the free Disposal of an Heiress in Marriage, a Favour granted by Baritima Angliæ, The Emolument arising to the King from the Sea, which Sheriffs anciently collected; but was afterwards granted to the Admiral. Pat. 8 Hen. 3. m. 4. Richardus de Lucy dicitur babere Maritimam Angliæ.

Market, Mercatus, May be derived from the French Marche, i. Emporium; it signifies with us the same Thing, and also the Liberty or Privilege whereby a Town is enabled to keep a Market. Old. Nat. Brev. fol. 149. So doth Braffon use it, lib. 2. cap. 24. num. 6. @ lib. 4. cap. 46. where he shews, That one Market ought to be distant from another Sex Lucas & dinidiam & tertiam partem dimidia. The Reason whereof both he and Fleta give in these Words, Quia omnes rationabiles dieta constant ex 20 milliaribus. Dividatur ergo Dieta in tres partes, prima autem matutina detur euntibus versus mercatum, secunda detur ad emendum & vendendum; qux quidem sufficere debet omnibus nisi sint forte mercatores statarii, qui merces depo-suerint & exposuerint venales, quibus necessaria erit prolizior mora in mercatu, & tertia pars relinquitur redeuntibus de mercatu ad propria, &c. lib. 4. cap. 28. sca. Item refert. By the Statute 27 H. 6. 5. all Fairs and Markets are forbidden to be key upon any Sunday, or upon the Feasts of the Ascenof our Lord, Corpus Ceresti, or the Assumption of our blessed Lady; All-Saints, or Good-Friday, except for necessary Victuals, and in the Time of Harvest. It was customary in former Times, that most Fairs and Markets were kept on Sundays; and in many Places they are still kept in the Church-yard. This Custom so far obtained, that though it was prohibited by several Kings, yet we see by the Statute before mentioned it continued till the Reign of Henry 6. This Custom is mentioned in Mat. Parif. Anno 1200. Nundinas vero & Mercata Dominico die interdixit quod omnia qua diebus Dominicis per Angliam fieri consueverunt, Marque, From the Saxon Mearc, Signum: We use the Word in the same Sense to this Day, when we say, Give such a Thing a Mark or Sign; but in our antient Statutes it signifies as much as Reprisals, as Anna & H. See Reprifals, and see also Mar. hes.

Marquis or Barquels, Marchio, Is now a Title of Honour next before an Earl, and next after a Duke; by the Opinion of Hotoman, verb. Marchio in verbis feudalibus, the Name is derived from the German March, i. Limes, fignifying originally as much as Custos limitis, or Comes Expresettus limitis. It was an antient Custom among the Britains, and after them, of the Saxons, to give the Title of Reguli to all Lords that lad the Charge and Custody of Marches and Limits. See Seldon's Maré Clauf. lib. 2. cap. 19. From hence it was, that in the Time of Richard the Second, came up first the Title of Marquesses, which is a Governour of the Marches; for before that Time those that governed the Marches, were called commonly Lords Marches, and not Marquesses as commonly Lords Marchers, and not Marquesses, as Judge Doderidge hath observed in his Law of Nobility and Peerage, under the Title of Marquesses, pag. 31. Merchenlage Is one of those three Laws out of which the Conqueror framed our Common Laws with a Mixture of the Laws of Normandy, and was the Law of the Mercians, when they governed the third Part of this Realm. For Cambden in his Britannia, pag. 94. Erc. saith, that in the Year 1016. this Land was divided into three Parts, whereof the West Saxons had one, governing it by the Law called West Saxonlage, and that contained these nine Shires, Kent, Sussex, Surrey, Berkshire, Hampshire, Wiltshire, Somerset, Dorset, and Devon Shires. The Second by the Danes, and Devon Shires. The Second by the Danes, which was ruled by the Laws called Danelage, and that contained these Fiscen Shires, Tork, Derby, Bedford, Buckingham, Hertford, Esfex, Middlesex, Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridge, and Huntingdon. The Third was possessed and governed by the Mercians, whose Law was called Merchenlage, and held these Eight, Glocester, Worcester, Hereford, Warwick, Oxford, Chester, Salop, and Stafford. Out of these three (which relate not at all to a different Law, Custom, or Usage, but to several Sorts of Amerciaments, Mulets, and Fines, for the Transgression of one and the same Law,) as we said, with some Additions, was framed that which we now call, The Common Law of England.

Wise, Misa, Is a French Word, signifying as much as Expension in Latin, and the Latin Word Miss a sused in Kitchin, fol. 144. and West. Symbol. part 2. Tit. Proceedings in Chancery. Sell. 21. This Word has divers Significations, as first, it is a Gift or customary Present which the People of Wales give to every new King or Prince of Wales, at their Entrance into that Principality. It was formerly given in Cattel, but when that Dominion was annexed to the English Crown, the Gift was changed into Money, and that is now 5000 l. or more, which happened to be thrice paid in King James his Reign. First at his own Coming to the Crown, and that Principality. Secondly, When Prince Henry was created Prince of Wales. And thirdly, When King Charles the First succeeded him in that Principality. Misæ etiam dicuntur prastationes illa quas ob fruendas pristinas immunitates Cestria Palatinatus subditi novo cuique Comiti impendunt, that is, ,3000 Marks for that County. And at Chester they have a Mize-Book, wherein every Town and Village in the County is rated what to pay towards the Mize. By 27 H. 8. It is orto pay towards the Mize. By 27 H. 8. It is ordained, That Lord-Mayors shall have all such Mises and Prosits of their Lands as they have had in Times pass, See. See 2 & 3 E. 6. 36. 33 H. 8. 13. 4 & 5 P. & M. cap. 11. Sometimes Mises are taken for Taxes or Taillages. Anno 25 E. 1. 5. Sometimes for Costs and Expences, as pro misis custagiis, for Costs and Charge, ordinarily used in the Entries of Judgments in personal Actions.

Mise is also vocabulum artis, appropriated to a Writ of Right so called, because both Parties have put themselves upon the meer Right to be tried by the Grand Affife, or by Battel. So as that which in all other Actions is called an Issue, in a Writ of Right is called a Mise, unless a collateral Point be tried, and there it is called an Issue. Co. on Lit. fol. 294. Lit. fol. 102. and Old Nat. Brev. fol. 2. 37 E. 3. 16. Aniericozdia Is in Law used for an Arbitrary Amerciament imposed on any for an Offence; for where the Plaintiff or Defendant in any Action is amered, the Entry is Ideo in Miscricordia. Braston, lib. 4. trast. 5. cap. 6. hath these Words, Item si quis in Miscricordiam inciderit pro disseisna, non remanebit miscricordia exigenda si ille qui amiferit, quasiverit convictionem. Kitchin, fol. 78. out of Glanvil, faith thus, Est autem misericordia Domini Regis qua quis per juramentum legalium hominum de vicineto eatenus amerciandus est ne aliquid de suo bonorabili contenemento amitttat. Sce Glanvile, lib. 9. cap. 11. Fitzherbert says in his Nat. Brev. fol. 75. That it is called Misericordia, because it ought to be very moderate, and rather less than the Of-fence, according to the Tenor of Magna Charta, c. 14. Therefore if a Man be unreasonably amerced in a Court not of Record, as in a Court-Ba-ron, &c. there is a Writ called Moderata Misericordia, directed to the Lord, or his Bailiff, commanding them that they take moderate Amerciaments, according to the Quality of the Fault. Sometimes Misericordia is to be quit and discharged of all manner of Amerciaments that a Man may fall into in the Forest. See Cromp. Jur. f. 196. Vide Amerciament, Mer y, and Moderata misericordia, He shall be in the great Mercy of the King. Westin. 1. cap. 15.

Mitred Abbots, Those Governors of religious Houses, who had obtained from the See of Rome the Privilege of wearing the Mitre, Ring, Gloves, and Crosser of a Bishop. It has been a vulgar Error, that these Mitred Abbots were all the same with those conventual Prelates, who were fummoned to Parliament, as Spiritual Lords; whereas some of those summoned to Parliament were not Mitted: And some of the Mitted were not summoned. The Summons to Parliament not any way depending on their Mitres, but upon receiving their Temporals from the King. Mitta Was an ancient Saxon Measure, in use before the Conquest; its Quantity does not certainly appear; some hold it to be the same with Corus, others with Modius, and others, that it was Mensura decem Modiorum. abonk, From the Greek Novo, folus, because the first Monks lived alone in the Wilderness, and not in Cities. In Latin they were called Unales, for the same Reason affirmed. They were divided into three Ranks: Comobitarum, i. e. A Society living in Common under the Government of a fingle Person: These were under certain Rules, and were afterwards called Regulars. Anachoreta, or Eremita, were those who lived in the Wilderness upon stale Bread and Water. St. ferome tells us that of these, Paulus suit Austor, Antonius illustrator, fohannes Baptista princeps: But Scaliger was of Opinion, that Paul was the First. Most dancestor. See Assife of Mortdancestor.

Moltgage, Mortgagium, vel mortuum vadium, Is compounded of two French Words, viz. Mort, i. Mors, and Gage, i. Pignus: In Law it fignifies a Pawn of Land or Tenement, or any Thing moveable, laid or bound for Money borrowed, to be the Creditor's for ever, if the Money be not paid at the Day agreed upon; and the Creditor holding Land or Tenement upon this Bargain, is called Tenant in Mortgage. Of this we read in the Grand Custumary of Normandy, cap. 113. which see. Glanvile likewise, lib. 10. cap. 6. defineth it thus; Mortuum vadium dicitur illud, cujus fructus vel redditus interim percepti in nullo se acquietant. So you sec it is called a Dead Gage, because whatsoever Profit it yieldeth, yet it redeemeth not it self by yielding such Profit except the whole Sum borrowed be paid at the Day. See Skene de verbor. signif. verbo Mortgage. He that pledgeth this Pawn or Gage, is called The Mortgager, and he that taketh it, The Mortgagee. West, Symb. part 2. Tit. Fines, sett. 145. This, if it contain excessive Usury, is forbidden by 37 H. 8. cap. 9. But I rather think 'tis called Mortgage, because, if the Money is not paid at the Day, the Land moritur to the Debtor, and is forseited to the Creditor.

Moltmaine, Manus mortua, Is compounded of two French Words, Mort, i. mors, & maine, i. manus: It signifies an Alienation of Lands and Tenements to any Guild, Corporation, or Fraternity, and their Successors, as Bishops, Parsons, Vicars, &c. which may not be done without the King's License, and the Lord of the Manor, or of the King alone, if it be immediately holden of him. The Reason of the Name was the deduced from horses to of the Name may be deduced from hence, because the Services, and other Profits due, for such Lands as Escheats, &c. should not without such License, come into a Dead Hand, or into fuch a Hand as it were Dead, and so dedicated unto God, or pious Uses, as to be abliractedly different from other Lands, Tenements, or Hereditaments, and is never to revert to the Donor, or any temporal or common Use. abortusty, Mortuarium, rectius Mortarium, Is a Gift left by a Man at his Death to his Parish-Church, for the Recompence of his personal Tithes and Offerings not duly paid in his Lifetime. A Mortuary is not properly and originally due to an Ecclesiastical Incumbent from any, but those only of his own Parish, to whom he ministers spiritual Instruction, and hath Right to this Kingdom, they are paid to the Parsons of other Parishes, as the Corps passes through them. See the Statute 21 H. 8. cap. 6. placitum, conventus: As Mota de Hereford; Cap. 36. placitum, conventus: As Mota de Hereford; Cap. 36. before which Statute Mortuaries, were payable in Beatts; the Best to the Lord for a Heriot; the Second for a Mortuary. Nor was it only de meliori Averio, sed de meliori re. Mortuarium (says Lindewode) sic dictum est quia relinquitur E clesse pro anima desunsti. Custom did so prevail, that Mortuaries being held as due Debts, the Payment of them was enjoined as well by the Statute De eineumspecte agatis, in 13 E. 1. as by several Constitutions, &c. A Nortuary was anciently called Saulesceat, which significs Pe unia Sepulchralis, or Symbolum anima. After the Conquest it was called a Cors-present, (because the Beaft was presented with the Body at the Funeral,) and sometimes a Principal. Of which, see a learned Discourse in the cipal. Of which, see a learned Discourse in the antiquities of Warwicksbire, fol. 679. And see as Turris de London, & Mota de Wingior. The Selden's History of Tithes, pag. 287. Mulier, As it is used in the Common Law, feems to be a Word corrupted, and used for Melior, or the French Melieur, and signifies the Lawful Issue (born in Wedlock, though begotten before) preferred before an elder Brother born out of Matrimony, Anno 9 H. 6. 11. Smith de Repub. Anglorum, lib. 3. cap. 6. But by Glanvile, lib. 7. cap. 1. The lawful Issue scems rather Mulier than Melior, because he is begotten e Muliere, and not e Concubina; for he calls such Issue Filios mulieratos, opposing them to Bastards; and Britton, cap. 70. hatli frere mulier, i. the Brother begotten of the Wife, opposite to frere Bastard. This appears to be used in Scotland also: For Skene de verbor. signific. says, that Mulieratus filius is a lawful Son, begotten of a lawful Wife. A Man hath a Son by a Woman before Marriage, that is a Baftard, and unlawful, and after he marries the Mother of the Bastard, and they have another Son; this second Son is called Mulier, that is to fay, Lawful, and shall be Heir to his Father; but the other cannot be Heir to any Man, because in Judgment of Law he is said to be nullius filius, or filius populi, according to the old

Dath, (Juramentum) Is a Calling Almighty God to Witness, that the Testimony is true; therefore it is aptly termed Sacramentum, a Holy Band, a facred Tie, or godly Vow. And it is called a Corporal Oath, because the Party, when he swears, toucheth with his right Hand the Holy Evangelists, or Book of the New Testament. Coke 3 Par. Inst. cap. 74. See the several Oaths of many of the Officers of this Kingdom in the Book of Oaths lately printed. In a Deed of William de Elmbam, Knight, in French, Dat. 19 April, 49 Ed. is this old-sashinado Oath, Prometant per lay foye de mon Corps & de Chivalerie, que si Dieu moy roille mesnez en savete, &c. jeo deliveray les avantditz sommez, &c. MS. Pencs Will. Dugdalc, Ar. And anciently at the End of a legal Oath was added, So help me God at his holy Dome, i. e. Judgment. Black Book of Heref. fol. 46. 'Tis called Canonica Purgatio, because allowed by the Canons to distinguish it from vulgari Purgatione, viz. by Battel, stinguish it from vulgari Purgatione, viz. by Battel, or by Fire or Water Ordeal, which was always prohibited by the Church; and in small Matters which the Plaintist could not prove, or if he could, and his Proof was disallowed by the Court, the Defendant might purge himself by his own Oath, and this was called Jurare propria manu; but in greater Assars he was to bring some other credible Persons, who were usually of the same Quality or Condition with the Plaintist. the same Quality or Condition with the Plaintiff, and they were to swear, that they believed what the Defendant had sworn was true, and those were called Sacramentales, whose Number were more or less, according to the Quality of the Criminal, and to the Fault or Thing in Question. If the Defendant was accused of a very great Offence, of which there was no Proof, then he was to purge himself by the Oaths of Twelve such Witnesses; and this was called furare duodecima manu. Leg. Hen. 1. cap. 64.

Our Ancestors did believe, that a Man could not be so wicked as to call God to witness any Thing which was not true; but that if any one should be perjured, he must continually expect that God would be the Revenger. Such Instances are mentioned in our Historians. See Malnif.

Roger Hoveden, parte poster. annal. suor. pag. 430. in these Words, Ut ergo eis (sc. regularibus) adimatur opportunitas evagandi, probibemus, ne redditus quos Obedientias vocant ad firmam teneant, &c. In the Canon Law it is used for an Osfice, or Administration of an Office; and thereupon the Word Obedientales is used in the Provincial Constitutions, for those which have the Execution of any Office under their Superiors. Cap. prim. de Statu regula. For thus faith Lindewode in his Gloss upon that Word, Hi sunt qui sub Obedientia suorum Pralatorum sunt & habent certa Officia administranda interius vel exterius. It may be that some of these Offices called Obedientia, consisted in the Collection of Rents or Pensions, and that therefore those Rents were by a Metonymy, called Obedien-tik yele colligebantur ab Obedientalibus. Concil. Eboracenf. Anno 1195. Dblations of the Witar, Customary Offerings from the Parishoners to the Parish-Priest, which were solemnly laid upon the Altar: Of which the Mass or Sacrament-Offerings were usually three Pence at Christmass, two Pence at Easter, and a Penny at two other principal Feasts. Under the same Title were comprehended all the accustomed Dues for Sacramentalia, or Christian Offices, which in the Vicarage of Burcester, about the Year 1212. were one Penny for a Burial, one Penny for a Marriage, one Penny for Churching a Woman. Among the Altar Oblations were also reckoned the little Sums paid for faying Masses and Prayers for the Souls of the Deceased. See Mr. Kennet's Glossary.

Dhiationes funerales, The Soul-feat or Offering to expiate the Omissions or Defaults of the Party deceased in paying Tithes, or other Ecclefiastical Dues, was at first an Oblation at the Funeral, which was often the best Horse of the De-funct, led before the Corpse, and delivered at the Church-Gate or the Grave, for the Use of the Parish-Priest. To this old Custom we owe the Original of Mortuaries, &c. If the Corpse of the Deceased was carried from the Mother-Church to any other Place of Sepulture, the accustomed Offerings were due to the Parish-Priest where the Party died .-- At the Burial of the Dead, it was a Custom for the surviving Friends to offer liberally at the Altar, for the pious Use of the Priett, and the good Estate of the Soul deceased. The Relicks of this Custom do still obtain in North Wales, where at the Rails, which decently defend the Communion-Table, there is a Tablet or flat Board conveniently fixed, to receive the Money, which at most Fune-rals is offered by the surviving Friends, according to their own Ability, and the Quality of the Deceased: Which seems a providential Augmentation to some of those poor Churches. See Mr.

In former Time many Houses, and Lands thereto, passed by Grant and Bargain without Script, Charter, or Deed, only with the Landlord's Sword or Helmet, with his Horn or Cup; yea, and many Tenements were demissed with a Spur or Curry-comb, with a Bow, or with an Arrow. Doio & atia is an old Writ mentioned in the Statute of Westm. 1. made 3 E. t. cap. 11. And it was directed to the Sheriff, to enquire whether a Man committed to Prison upon Suspicion of Murder, be committed upon just Cause of Suspicion, or only upon Malice. Register, fol. 133. Bratton, lib. 3. part 2. cap. 20. And if upon Inquisition it were found, That he was not Guilty, then there came another Writ to the Sheriff to bail him. But now that Course is taken away by the Statute of 28 E. 3. cap. 9. as appears in Staundford, Pl. Cor. fol. 77. and Co. lib. 9. fol. 56. and Spelman, verbo Atia. Atia was anciently written Hatia, or Hatya, for Hate, from the Saxon Hatian, To wax hot, to rage, also to hate; not Atia, quia Malitia est acida, as Sir Edw. Coke has it in his 9 Rep. fol. 506. and in 2 Inst. fol. 42. See Spelm. on Atia.

Dibinance of Parliament, The same with Att of Parliament. And Acts of Parliament are called Ordinances of Parliament often in the Parliament-Rolls. If there be any Difference, it is, that an Ordinance is but temporary, and to be altered by the Commons alone. But an Act is a perpetual Law, and cannot be altered but by King, Lords, and Commons. See Par. Roll. 37 E. 3. num. 38. Prynn's Animadver. in 4 Inst. 13. Yet the Oracle of the Law, Sir Edw. Coke, does with many Citations affert, that an Ordinance of Parliament is to be distinguished from an Ast, forasmuch as the latter can be only made by the King, and a three-fold Consent of the Estates, whereas the former is ordained with One or Two of them.

Didnary, Ordinarius, Is a Civil Law-Term, and there fignifies any Judge that hath Authority to take Cognifance of Causes in his own Right, as he is a Magistrate, and not by Deputation; but in the Common Law, it is taken for him that hath exempt and immediate Jurisdiction in Causes Ecclesiastical, as appears in Co. lib. 9. fol. 36. Duster le maine, Amovere manum, Signifies to take off the Hand, though in true French it should be Ouster la main; in a legal Sense, it denotes a Judgment given for him that traversed or fined a Monstrans le droit, and is indeed a Delivery of Lands out of the King's Hands; for when it appeareth upon the Matter discussed, that the King hath no Right or Title to the Thing feifed, then Judgment shall be given in the Chancery, That the King's Hands be amoved, and thereupon an Amoveas manum shall be awarded to the Escheator, which is as much as if the Judgment were given, that he shall have again his Land. Staunds. Prarog. cap. 24. See 28 E. 1. Stat. 3. cap. 19. It was also taken for the Writ granted upon this Pctition. F. N. B. fol. 256. It is writ-ten Outer le maine. 25 H. 8. 22. Dutfangthef Is thus defined by Bracton, lib. 3. traff. 2. cap. 34. Utfangethefe dicitur latro extraneus veniens aliunde de terra aliena, & qui capus fuit in terra otherwise, fol. 91. It is a Compound of Three Saxon Words, viz. Out, extra; Fang, capio vel captus, and Thef, i. e. fur. It is used in the Common Law for a Liberty or Privilege, whereby a Lord is enabled to call any Man dwelling within his own Fee, and taken for Felony in any other Place, and to Judge him in his own Court. Dutlane, The Saxon Thanes divided their Bocland or hereditary Estate into Inland, such as lay nearest to their own Dwelling, and which they conveniently kept to their own Use: And Outland, which lay beyond, or out from among the Inlands or Demains: And was granted out to any Tenant hereditarily, but (like our Copyholds of ancient Time, which had their Original from hence) meerly at the Pleasure of the Lord. This Out-land they subdivided into Two Parts, whereof one Part they disposed among such as attended on their Persons either in War or Peace, called Theodens or lesser Thanes. The other Part they allotted to their Husbandmen, whom they termed Ceorls (i. e. Carles or Churls). Vide Spelman of Pame fost & dure, Pana fortis & dura. It fignifies an especial Punishment for those that being arraigned of Felony, refuse to put themselves upon the ordinary Trial of God and the Country, and thereby are mute by the Interpretation of the Law. Britton mentions it in his fourth Chapter, fol. 11. And Staundford in his Pleas of the Crown, founding it upon the Statute of Westm. 1. cap. 12. describes it thus:

He shall be fent back to the Prison whence he came, and laid in some low, dark House, where ter, Rushes, or other Clothing, and without any Litter, Rushes, or other Clothing, and without any Rayment about him, but only something to cover his privy Members: And he shall lie upon his Back with his Head covered and his Feet, and one Arns shall be drawn to one Quarter of the House with a Cord, and the other Arm to another Quarter; and in the same Manner let it be done with his Leos: and let there he laid upon his Person. he shall lie naked on the Earth, without any Litwith his Legs; and let there be laid upon his Body Iron and Stone as much as be may bear, or more; and the next Day following he shall have three Morfels of Barley bread without Drink, and the second Day he shall have Drink three times, as much at each Time as he can drink of the Water next unto the Prison, except it be running Water, without any Bread: And this shall be his Diet till be die.

Dallio cooperire. It was a Cultom formerly, That where Children were born out of Wedlock and their Parents afterwards intermarried, that those Children, together with the Father and Mother stood under a Cloth extended whilst the Marriage was solemnized, which was in the Nature of Adoption, and signified a Legitimation. This is mentioned in an Epistle of Robert Grofthead, the famous Bishop of Lincoln, who tells us, That it was an old Report, that by such Custom the Children were taken to be legitimate; and that in signum legitimationis nati ante matrimonium consueverunt poni sub pallio super parentes eorum extento in matrimonii solemnizatione: Which Epistle is mentioned by Mr. Selden, in his Notes upon Fleta, who likewise tells us, That in the Reign of R. 2. the Children of Fohn of Gaunt, Duke of Lanaster, which he had before his Marriage by Catalant. which he had before his Marriage by Catherine S 1 2

Dallium Is in many Places taken for the Silk with which Garments were made: Tis a Word with which Garments were made: 11s a word often mentioned in our old Historians, but little understood at this Time. Durandus, in his Rationale, tells us, that it is made of white Wool, viz. The Nuns of St. Agnes every Year, on the Feast-Day of their Saint, offer two white Lambs on the Altar of their Church, whilst they sing Agnus Dei Chara Machanish, Lambs are afterwards in a solemn Mass; which Lambs are afterwards taken by two of the Canons of the Lateran Church, and by them given to the Pope's Subdeacons, who put them to Pasture till Shearing-time, then they are shorn, and the Past is made with their Wool mixed with other white Wool. 'Tis a Garment of three Fingers Breadth, cut round, that it may cover the Shoulders: It hath two Strings on each Side, before and behind; that on the right Side is fingle, but that on the left is double. It hath likewife four purple Crosses on the Right and Left, before and behind; and 'tis fastened with three Pins made of Gold, whose Heads are Saphire. The Pall thus made, is carried to the Lateran Church, and there placed on the High Alera by the Degrans of that Church on the Bo tar by the Deacons of that Church, on the Bodies of St. Peter and St. Paul: And after the usual Watching, 'tis carried away in the Night, and nostrum Panagium. delivered to the Subdeacons, who lay it up very Dandects Are safe.

And because it was taken from the Body of St. Peter, it signifies the Plenitude of Ecclesiastical Power, and therefore it was the Prerogative of Bede, cap. 15. Popes, who pretend to be the immediate Successors of that Saint, to invest other Prelates with it, which at first was done no where but at Rome; but afterwards, by Procuration, in other Places in this Form, viz. 13aII, Pallia, 25 H. 8. 20. Are Vestures made of Lambs Wool, in Breadth not exceeding three Partition, Partitio, Is a Dividing of Land descended by the Common Law, or by Cultom, among Coheirs or Parceners, where there are two at least; and this Partition is made four ways, whereof three are by Agreement, the fourth by Compulsion. The first Partition by Agreement is, when they themselves divide the Land equally into so many Parts as they are Coparceners, and each to chuse one Share, or Part according to Order. The second is, when they chuse certain of their Friends to make the Division for them. The third is, by drawing Lots thus, Having first divided the Land into as many Parts as there be Parceners, they write every Part feverally in a distinct Scroll, and wrapping it up, throw each of them into a Hat, Bason, or such Thing, out of which each Parcener draws one, according to their Seniority, and so the Land is severally allotted. The fourth Partition, which is by Compullion, when one or more of the Parceners, by reason of the Refusal of some other, sues out a Writ of Partitione facienda, by Force whereof they shall be compelled to part. In Kent, where the Land is of Gavelkind Nature, they call their Partition Shifting, from the Saxon Shiftan, to divide. In Latin it is called Hereistere. Partition also may be made by Joint-Tenants, or Tenants in common by Affent, by Deed, or by Writ. 31 H. 8. 1. 32 H. 8. 32.

Partitione facienda, Anno 31 H. 8. cap. 1. Is a Writ that lies for those who hold Lands or Tenements pro indiviso, and would sever to every one his Part, against him or them that refuse to join in Partition, as Copartners, Tenants in Gavelkind, &c. Patrons, Patronus, Is used in the Civil Law for him that hath manumitted a Servant, and thereby is both justly accounted his great Benefactor, and challengeth certain Reverence and Duty of him during his Life. See the Title De Jure Patronatus in the Digest, with the Feudists pro authore Feudi. Hotoman verbo Patronus, in his Comment. de Verbis feudal. Both in the Canon and Common Law it fignifies him that hath the Gift of a Benefice; and the Reason is, because the Gift of Churches and Benefices belonged unto fuch good Men as either built, or else endowed them with some great Part of their Revenue. And Corasius in his Paraphrase Ad Sacerdotoriam materiam. Part 1. cap. 2. and Part. 4. cap. 6. writes thus of them, Patroni in jure Pontificio dicuntur, qui alicujus Ecclesia extruenda, aut alterius cujuscunque fundationis ecclesiastica authores fuerunt, ideoque prasentandi & offerendi clericum jus habent, quem Ecclesia vacanti praesse, & in ea collatis redditibus frui velint. Pedogale. 'Tis uncertain what is meant by this Word, tho we often meet with it in old Writings. Most Authors agree, that it is the same with that Garment call'd Rationale, which the High Priest in the old Law wore on his Shoulders, as a Sign of Perfection. 'Tis worn also by the High Priest of the new Law, as a Sign of the greatest Virtue. Que gratia & rationo perficitur; for which Reason it is called Rationale. Tis by some taken to be that Part of the Pall which covers the Breast of the Priest, and from thence it is called Pettorale. But all agree that 'tis the richest Part of that Garment, embroider'd with Gold, and adorned with pretious Stones. Deculiar, In French peculier, that is, proper, private, one's own. It fignifies a particular Parish, or Church, that hath Jurisdiction within its felf, for Probat of Wills, &c. exempt from the Ordinary, and the Bishop's Courts. The King's Chapel is a Royal Peuliar, exempt from all Spiritual Jurisdiction, and referved to the Visitation and immediate Government of the King himself, who is Supreme Ordinary. It is an ancient Privilege of the See of Canterbury, that wherever any Manors or Advowsons do belong to it, they forthwith become exempt from the Ordinary, and are reputed Peculiars; and of the Diocese of Canterbury, mentioned 22 & 23 Car. 2. Deer (Pera, Fr. Pierre, Saxum, quod e saxis fieri solebat) Is a Fortress made against the Force of the Sea, or great Rivers, for the better Security of Ships that lie at Harbour in any Haven. So is the Peer of Dover described in Cam. Britan. p. 259. Anno 14 Car. 2. cap. 27. The Haven and Peer of Great Yarmouth, mentioned 22 Car. 2. cap. 2.

Deers, Pares, Signify in our Common Law those that are impanelled in an Enquest upon any Man, for the Convicting or Clearing him of any Offence for which he is called in Question; and the Reason thereof is, because the Course and Custom of our Nation is to try every Man in such a Case by his Equals, or Peers. Westm. 1. cap. 6. So Kitchin useth it, fol. 78. in these Words, Mais si le amerciament soit affirre per Pares. And this Word in this Sense is not in use with us only, but with other Nations also. For Pares funt convafsalli quorum sententia vasallus propter feloniam est condemnatus. Bartilayus de Regno, lib. 4. cap. 2. Pares sunt qui ab eodem Domino feudum tenent, lib. 1. Feudor. cap. 26. But this Word is most principally used for those that be of the Nobility of the Realm, and Lords of the Parliament. Staundf. pl. cor. lib. 3. Cap. Trial per les Peers: The Reason whereof is, That altho there be a Distinction of Degrees in our Nobility, yet in all publick A-ctions they are equal; as in their Votes of Par-liament, and in passing Trial upon any Nobleman, &e. This Appellation seems to be borrowed from France, and from those Twelve Peers that Charlemaine instituted in that Kingdom; of whom you may read Vincent. Lupanus de Magist. Francia, lib. 1. cap. Pares Francia. And tho' we have borrowed the Appellation, and applied it with some Reason to all Lords of Parliament, yet we have no set Number; for our Nobles may be more or less, as the King pleaseth.

Bolts sunt sagitta catapultarum tota lignea & obtusa quibus aves serimus. The Word is properly rendered Bolts, i. e. Blunts, or blunted Arrows. For Perfons without the Bounds of a Forest, might shoot with sharp or pointed Arrows; but within the Forest, to preserve the Deer, they were to shoot only with Blunts, or Bolts, or Piles. For what Mat. Paris. calls Pilatus, is termed a Pile in the Statutes of William King of Scotland, c. 23. de venientibus ad guerram, fect. 5. & omnes ubiq; qui habere poterunt, habeant arcum & sagittas extra forestam, & infra forestam arcum & Pile. Hence Sagitta piletta was opposed to Sagitta barbata; this latter, the bearded Arrow, was made for sharp and deeper Execution, but the piled Arrow had a Pile or Button fixed near the Point, tam forestam ad bersandum Forestarii non portabunt in bosco sagittas barbatas sed pileitas-- Anno 31 H. 1.

Placita, Pleas. or Pleadings, or Debates and Trials at Law. Placita is a Word often mentioned in our Histories and Law-Books: At first it fignified the publick Assemblies of all Degrees of Men where the King prefided, and where they confulted about the great Affairs of the Kingdom; and these were called Generalia Placita, because Generalitas universorum majorum tam Clerico-rum quam Laiccrum ibidem conveniebat. This was the Custom in our neighbouring Nation of France, as well as here, as we are told by Hineman, De Ordine palatii, cap. 29. And by Bertinian, in his Annals of France in the Year 767.

Some of our Historians, as Simeon of Durham, and others, who wrote above 300 Years afterwards, tell us, that these Assemblies were held in the open Fields; Nullam enim oportet Regem in literis assignare Curiam, quia ubi Rex judicat in aperto; ibi est Curia sua. Some are of Opinion, that these Placita generalia, and Curia Regis, were what we now call a Parliament: 'Tis true, the Lords Courts were so called, viz. Placita generalia, but oftner Curia generales, because all their Tenants and Vassals were bound to appear there.

We also meet with Placitum nominatum, i. c. the Day appointed for a Criminal to appear, and to make his Defence. Leg. H. I. cap. 29, 46, 50. Placitum fractum, i. e. when the Day is past. Leg. H. I. cap. 59. My Lord Coke tells us, that the Word is derived from Placendo, quia bene placitum. tare fuper omnia placet: This seems to be a very fanciful Derivation of the Word; I rather think it derived from the German Plats, or from the Latin Plateis, i. e. Fields or Streets where these Assemblies or Courts were first held. But this Word Placita did sometimes signify Penalties, Fines, Mulcs, or Emendations, according to

Gervase

Gervase of Tilbury, or the Black Book in the Exchequer, Lib. 2. Tit. 13. Placita autem dielmus ponas pecuniarias in quas incidunt Delinquentes. So in the Laws of Hen. 1. cap. 12, 13. Hence the old Rule of Custom, Comes babet tertium denarium Placitorum, is to be thus understood; the Earl of the County shall have the third Part of the Money due upon Mulcts, Fines, and Amercia-ments, imposed in the Affizes and County-Courts.

Yet I believe from this, and other Anthosities it might be informed that Platenes was no rities, it might be inferred, that Plebanus was not the usual Title for every Rural Dean, but only for such a Parish-Priest in a large Mother-Church, exempt from the Jurisdiction of the Ordinary, who had therefore the Authority of a Rural Dean committed to him by the Archbishop, to whom the Church was immediately subject.

Plegar, Plegius, May be derived from the Fr. Pleige, sidejusor, as Pleiger aucum, i. side-jubere pro aliquo; in the same Signification is Plegius used by Glanvil, lib. 10. ca. 5. and Plegiatio for the A& of Sureriship in the Interpreter of the Grand Custum mary of Normandy, cap. 60. Pourpzesture, Pourprestura, From the French Pourpris, conseptum, an Inclosure : It is thus defined by Glanvile, lib. 9. cap. 11. Pourprestura est pro-prie quando aliquid super Dominum Regem injuste oc-cupatur; ut in Dominicis Regis, vel in viis publicis obstructis, vel in aquis publicis transversis a recto cursu, vel quando aliquis in civitate super Regiam plateam aliquid adificando occupaverit, & generaliter quoties aliquid fit ad nocumentum Regii tenementi vel Regia via vel civitatis. Crompton in his furifd. fol. 152. defines it thus, Pourprefture is properly when a Man taketh unto himself, or incroacheth any Thing that he ought not, whether it be in any Jurisdiction, Land or Franchise; and generally when any Thing is done to the Nusance of the King's Tenants. See Kitchin, fol. 10. and Manwood's Forest Laws, cap. 10. Skene de verbor. signif. wood's Forest Laws, cap. 10. Purvoir, i. providere, signifies an Officer of the King or Queen, or other great Personage, that provideth Corn and other Victual for their House. See Mag. Charta, cap. 22. and 3 Ed. 1. cap. 7 & 31. & anno 28. ejustem, Articuli super Chartas, 2. and other Statutes. The Name of Purveyor was so odious in Times past, that by Statute 36 Edw. 3. 2. the heinous Name of Purveyor was changed into Buyer; but the Office is restrained by Stat. 12. Car. 2. c. 24. Dimmuire Is taken either for a Writ so called, or for the Offence whereupon the Writ is granted; the one may be understood by the other. Heretofore the Church of Rome, under Pretence of her Supremacy, and the Dignity of St. Peter's Chair, took upon her to bellow most of the Chair, took upon her to beltow most of the Bishopricks, Abbathies, and other Ecclesiastical Livings of Worth here in England, by Mandates, before they were void; pretending therein a great Care to see the Church provided of a Successfor before it needed. Whence it arose, that these Mandates or Busissias who we way you Expediative, or Provisiones, whereof you may read a learned Discourse in Duarenus, de Beneficiis, lib. 3. eap. 1. These Provisions were so rise with us, that at last, King Edward the Third not digesting so intolerable un Encroachment, made a Statute in the Twenty-fisth Year of his Reign, Stat. 5. cap. 22. and another Stat. 6. cap. 1. and a Third, Anno 27. against those that drew the King's Xx

King's People out of the Realm, to answer Things belonging to the King's Court; and another Anno 28 Stat. 2. cap. 1, 2, 3 & 4. whereby he greatly restrained this Liberty of the Pope; who notwithstanding still adventured to continue the Provisions; infomuch as King Richard the Sccond likewise made several Statutes against them, but most expressly that of 16 R. 2. 5. which appoints their Punishment to be thus, That they should be out of the King's Protestion, attached by their Bodies, and lose their Lands, Tenements, Goods and Chattels. After him King Henry the Fourth in like Manner aggrieved at other Abuses, not fully met with in the former Statutes, in the Second Year of his Reign, cap. 3 & 4. adds certain new Cases, and lays upon the Offenders in them the same Punishment; whereto I refer you; as likewise to Anno 9. ejustem cap. 8. and 3 Hen. 5. cap. 4. and Smith De Republ. Angl. lib. 3. cap. 9. Some Some later Statutes do cast this Punishment upon other Offenders, as namely that of 1 Eliz. cap. 1. upon him that denies the King's Supremacy the fecond time; and 13 Eliz. cap. 2. upon him that affirms the Authority of the Pope, or refuseth to take the Oath of Supremacy: And 13 Eliz. cap. 1. upon such as are seditious Talkers of the Inheritance of the Crown, or affirm the Queen to be an Heretick. And the Stat. 13 Car. 2. cap 1. upon such as affirm the Parliament begun at Westminster 3 Nov. 1640. is not yet dissolved, or that there is any Obligation by any Oath, Covenant or Engagement whatsoever, to endeavour a Change of Government, either in Church, or State; or that both, or either House of Parliament have, or hath a legislative Power without the King. And the Word is applied most commonly to the Punishment first ordained by the Statutes before-mentioned, for such as transgressed them: For where it is faid that any Man for an Offence committed, shall incur a Pramunire, it is meant, that he shall incur the same Punishment as is afflisted on those that transgress the Statute 16 Ri. 2. cap. 5. commonly called the Statute of Pramu-nire, which Kind of Reference or Application is not unusual in our Statutes. As to the Etymology of the Word, it proceeds from the Verb Premonere, being barbarously turned into Premunire, To forewarn, or bid the Offender take heed. Of which a Reason may be gathered from the Words of the Statute, 27 Edw. 3. cap. 1. and the Form of the Writ, in Old Nat. Br. fol. 143. Pramunire facias prafatum prapositum, & J. R. procuratorem, &c. quod tunc sint coram nobis, &c. Which Words can be referred to none bur Parties charged with the Offence. See 3 Inft. fol. 110.

Dixpositus Willx Is used sometimes for the Constable of a Town, or Petit-Constable. Cromp. Jurifd. fol. 205. Howbeit the same Author, fol. 194. seems to apply it otherwise; for there Quatuor bomines prapositi are those Four Men, that for every Town must appear before the Justices of the Forest in their Circuit. It is sometimes used for an Head, or Chief Oshcer of the King in a Town, Manor, or Village, or a Reeve. See Reeve. Animalia & res inventa coram ipso (Praposito) & Sa-cerdote ducenda erant. LL. Edw. Conf. cap. 28. This Prapositus Villa in our old Records does not answer to our present Constable, or Headborough of a Town; but was no more than the Reeve, or Bailiff of the Lord of the Manor, sometimes called Serviens ville. And these Prebends be either simple, or with Dignity. Simple Prebends be those that have no more but the Revenue towards their Maintenance: Prebends with Dignity are such as have Jurisdiction annex'd to them according to the divers Orders in every several Church. Of this, see more in the Decretals, Tit. De prebendis & dignitat.

Prebenda, strictly taken, is that Maintenance which daily prebetur to another; but now it signifies the Rents and Profits belonging to the Church, divided into those Portions called Prabenda, and it differs from Canvrica, which is a Right obtained in the Church, by being received into the Carhe-

Dexpositus Ecclesia. See Church-Reeve. Dierogative Court, Curia prarogation Archiepis-copi Cantuariensis, Is the Court wherein all Wills be proved, and all Administrations taken that belong to the Archbishop by his Prerogative; that is, In Case where the Deceased had Goods of any confiderable Value out of the Diocese, wherein he died; and that Value is ordinarily 5 li. except it be otherwise by Composition between the said Archbishop, and some other Bishop, as in the Diocese of London it is Ten Pounds: And if any Contention grow between Two, or more, touching any such Will or Administration, the Cause is properly debated and decided in this Court Xx 2

Prerogative of the Bishop of Canterbury, or Both, Prarogativa Archiepiscopi Cantuariensis sive E-boracensis, Is an especial Pre-eminence that these Sees have in certain Cases above ordinary Bishops within their Province, of which whoever defires to receive more full Information, may read the Book intituled De Antiquitate Britannica Ecclesia, 🗗 nominatim de Privilegiis Ecclesia Cantuariensis historia, and especially in the eighth Chapter of that Book, pag. 25.

Picroyative of the King, Prarogativa Regis, Derived from pra, ante, and rogare, to ask, or demand; is that special Power, Pre-eminence, or Privilege, which the King hath over and above other Persons, and above the ordinary Course of the Common Law, in the Right of his Crown. Potest Rex ei, lege sua dignitatis condonare, si velit, etiam mortem promeritam. Leg. Edw. Conf. cap. 18. And the Civilians use this Word Prirogative in the same Sense: Among the Fendists it is termed, Jus Repalium, Jus Regaliorum; vel a nonnullis Jus Regaliarum. And as the Feudists, Sub Jure Regalium; so our Lawyers, Sub Prarogativa Regis, do comprise all that absolute Height of Power that the Civilians call Majestatem, vel Potestatem, vel Jus Imperii, subject only to God. Which Regalia the Feudists divide into Two Sorts, Majora & minora Regalia: For to use their own Words, Quadam Regalia dignitatem, prærogativam & Imperii præ-eminentiam spectant; quadam vero ad utilitatem & commodum pecuniarium immediate attinent, & bac proprie fiscalia sunt, & nd jus sisci pertinent. Peregr. de Jure Fisci, lib. 1. cap. 1. num. 9. See also Arnoldus Chapmarius, De Arcanis Imperii, l. 1. c. 11. By which it appears, That the Statute of the King's Prerogative, made 17 E. 2. contains not the King's whole Prerogative, but only so much there-of as concerns the Profit of his Coffers, growing by Virtue of his Regal Power and Crown; for it is more than manifest, That his Prerogative extends much further, yea even in the Matters of his Profit, which that Statute especially consisteth of: For the King hath many Rights of Majesty peculiar to himself, which the Learned in the Law term Sacra factorum, that is, Sacred, and individua, inseparable, because they cannot be sewould fatisfy your felf therein, read Staunds. Description, Prascriptio, Is a Title, taking its Substance of Use, and Time allowed by the Law, which is beyond the Memory of Man. Kitchin, fol. 104. saith thus, Prescription is, when for Continuance of Time, ultra memoriam bominis, a particular Person hath particular Right against ancular Person hath particular Right against another particular Person; with whom agrees Co. lib. 4. fol. 32. and Co. on Lit. fol. 140. But as in the Civil Law, so likewise in the Common: Prefeription may be in a shorter Time, at least in some special Cases: As for Example, Where the Statute 1 H. 8. cap. 9. saith, That all Actions popular must be sued within Three Years after the Offence committed: And the Stat. 7 H. 8. 3. That Four Years being past after the Offence commit-Four Years being past after the Offence committed in one Case, and one Year in another, no Suit can be commenced. And the Stat. 31 Eliz. cap. 5. saith, That all Actions, &c. brought upon Statute, the Penalty whereof belongs to the king, shall be brought within Two Years after the Offence committed, or else be void. And the Stat. 39 Eliz. cap. 1. 2. saith, That Actions brought after Two Years by any common Person, or after Three Years by the King alone, for Decay of Husbandry, shall be of no Force: Whosever offendeth against any such Statute, and escapes unquestion'd for Two Years, or Three, of the Two later of the Three forementioned Statutes, may justly be said to have prescribed against that Action. The like may be said of the Statute made 23 El. cap. 1. which saith, That all Offences comprised in that Statute, made in the Thirteenth Year of Eliz. cap. 2. are inquirable before both Justices of Peace and Assize within a Year and a Day after the Offence committed: Also the Title that a Man attaineth by the Passing of Five Years, after a Fine acknowledged of any Lands or Tene-ments, may justly be said to be obtained by Prefeription: And whereas the Statute made 8 R. 2. cap. 4: faith, That a Judge, or Clerk, convicted for false Entring of Pleas, may be fined within Two Years; the Two Years being past, he preserbeth against the Punishment of the said Statute: And whereas the Statute 11 H. 7. says, That he which will complain of Maintenance or Embracery, whereby Perjury is committed by a Jury, must do it within Six Days, those Six Days ended, the Parties prescribe; and divers other Statutes have the like Limitation of Time, whence may arise a like Prescription. Diivilege, Privilegium, Is defined by Cicero in his Oration pro domo sua, to be lex privata homini irrogata. It is, says another, fus singulare, whereby a private Man, or a particular Corporation is exempted from the Rigour of the Common Law. It is sometimes used in the Common Law for a Place that hath any special Immunity. Kitchin, fol. 118. Privilege is either personal, or real: A personal Privilege is that which is granted to any Person either against, or beyond the Course of the Common Law: As for Example, A Member of Parliament may not be arrested, nor any of his Servants, during the Sitting of the Parliament; nor for a certain Time before and after. A Privilege real is that which is granted to a Place, as to the Universities, that none of either may be called to Westminster-Hall, upon any Contract made with-in their own Precincts, or prosecuted in other Courts: And one belonging to the Court of Chancery cannot be fued in any other Court, certain Cases excepted; and if he be, he may remove it by Writ of Privilege, grounded upon the Statute 18 E. 3. Piobate of Testamente, Probatio Testamentorum,

Is the Exhibiting and Proving Wills and Tefn-ments before the Ecclesiastical Judge, delegated by the Bishop, who is Ordinary of the Place where the Party dies. And the Ordinary is known by the Quantity of the Goods that the Deccased had out of the Diocese wherein he departed; for if all his Goods be in the same Diocese, then the Bishop of the Diocese, or the Archdeacon (according as their Composition or Pre-scription leads) hath the Probate of the Testament: But if the Goods be disperst in divers Dioceses, so that there be any Sum of Note (as Five Pounds ordinarily) out of the Diocese where the Party lived; then is the Archbishop of Canterbury (or York) the Ordinary, by his Prerogative. See Prerogative of the Archbishop. This Probate may be made in Two Sorts, in common Form, or per tesses. The Preof in common Form is only by the Oath of the Executor, or Party exhibiting the Will, who sweareth upon his Belief, That the Will exhibited by him, is the last Will and Testament of the Deceased. The Proof per testes is, when over and besides his own Oath he also produces Witnesses, or makes other Proof to confirm the same, and that in the Presence of such as may pretend any Interest in the Goods of the Deceased, or at least in their Absence, after they have been lawfully summoned to see such a Will proved, if they think good. And the later Course is taken most commonly, when there is Fear of Strife, or Dispute about the Deceased's Goods. For some hold that a Will proved in common Form only, may be called in Question any Time within Thirty Years after. And where a Will disposes of Lands and Tenements of Freehold, it is now frequently proved by Witnesses in Chancery.

The Difference between Process and Precept, or Warrant of the Justices, is this, The Precept or Warrant is only to attach and convent the Party before any Indictment or Conviction, and may be made either in the Name of the King or the Justice. But the Process is always in the King's Name, and usually after an Indicament. Co. 8 Rep. Blackmore's Cafe.

Diocession, In Cathedral and Conventual Churches, the Members had their stated Pro effions, wherein they walked Two and Two, in their most ornamental Habits, with Hymns, Musick, and other suitable Expressions of Solemnity and Respect to the Occasion. In every Parish there was a customary Procession of the Parish-Pricst, the Patron of the Church, with the chief Flag, or holy Banner, and the other Parishioners in Assension Week, to take a Circuit round the Limits of the Manor, and pray for a Blessing on the Fruits of the Earth. Complaints were often made to the Pope of the excessive Charges of the Procurations, which were prohibited by several Councils and Bulls. That of Clement the Fourth, mentioned in the Monasticon, 2 Tom. pag. 165. is very particular; wherein that Pope tells us, that Complaint had been made to him that the Archdeacon of Richmond, visiting the Diocese, travelled with One Hundred and three Horses, Twenty-one Dogs, and Three Hawks, and did so grievously oppress a Religious House with that vast Equipage, that he caused the Monks to spend in an Hour as much as would have maintained them a long Time. See Indem-

It signifies also a Vicar or Lieutenant; onc who acts instead of another. In Petrus Blefensis, Ep. 47. we read of a Procurator Regni. So Procurator reipublica is a publick Magistrate. There are also Procuratores Cleri sent to the Convocation; and the Bishops sometimes are called Procuratores Ecclesiarum. And from this Word comes the common Word Proffer, in the Civil Court. It

Dietricion, Protedio, Hath a general and a special Signification: In the General it is used for that Benefit and Safety which every Subject, Denizen, or Alien, especially secured, hath by the King's Laws, and so it is used. 25 E. 3. 22. Protettion in the special Signification, is used for an Exemption or Immunity given by the King to a Person against Suits in Law, or other Vexations, upon reasonable Causes him thereunto moving, which is a Branch of his Prerogative. And of this Fitzberbert in his Nat. Brev. fol. 28. maketh Two Kinds; the first he calls a Protection cum clausula Volumus, whereof he mentions four Particulars:

1. A Protestion quia profesturus, for him that is to pass over Sea in the King's Service.

2. A Protection quia profesturus pass over Sea in the King's Service. tion quia moraturus, for him that is abroad in the King's Service upon the Sca, or in the Marches. 7 H. 7. cap. 2. 3. A Protection for the King's Debtor, that he be not fued or attached till the King be paid his Debt. This some Civilians call Moratoriam. And 4. A Protestion in the King's Service beyond the Sea, or in the Marches of Scotland, Anno I R. 2. cap. S. Reg. Orig. fol. 23-and Britton, cap. 123. The second Form of Protection, is cum claufula Nolumus, which is granted most commonly to a Spiritual Company for their Immunity, from taking of their Cattel by the King's Ministers: But it may be granted also to one Man Spiritual or Temporal. Reg. Orig. fol. 22, 23. None of these Protestions extend to Pleas of Dower, Quare impedit, Assis of Novel Disseisin, Darrein Presentment, and Attaints and Pleas before Justices in Eyre. Dictest, Protestari, Hath two divers Applications; one is by Way of Caution, to call Witness (as it were) or openly affirm, That he doth either not at all, or but conditionally yield his Consent to any Act, or unto the Proceeding of a Judge in a Court, wherein his Jurisdiction is doubtful, or to answer upon his Oath further than by Law he is bound. See Plowden, fol. 676. Gresbrook's Case, and Reg. Orig. fol. 306. The other is by Way of Complaint, to protest a Man's Bill. For Example, If I give Money to a Merchant in France, taking his Bill of Exchange to be repaid in Franceand by one whom he assigned. be repaid in England by one whom he affigneth; if at my coming, I find not my felf fatisfied, but either delayed or denied, then I go to the Exchange, or open Concourse of Merchants, and protest, That I am not paid; and thereupon if the hath any Goods remaining in any Man's Hands within the Realm, the Law of Merchants is, that I be paid out of them to my full Satisfaction.

Deptessation, Protestatio, Is (as Justice Walsh defines it) a Defence or Safeguard to the Party which maketh it from being concluded by the which maketh it from being concluded by the A& he is about to do, that Issue cannot be joined by it. Plowd. fol. 276. whereof see Reg. Orig. fol. 326. And see Protest. It is a Form of Pleading, when one does not directly affirm, or directly deny any Thing that is alledged by another, or which he himself alledgeth.

there was great Use in England touching Matter of Felony, imputed to Clerks in former Times, as appeareth by Staundf. Pl. Cor. lib. 2. cap. 43. See Clergy and Westm. 1. cap. 2. It is still observed for Matters pertaining to the Ecclesiastical Court, as Suspicion, or common Fame of Incontinency, or such like. And here note, That Purgation is either Canonical, Canonica, or Vulgar, Vulgaris. Canonical is that which is prescribed by the Canon Law; the Form whereof is usually thus in the Spiritual Court, The Man suspected takes his Oath, That he is clear of the Fault objected, and brings so many of his honest Neighbours, being not above Twelve, as the Court shall assign him, to swear upon their Consciences and Credulity, That he sweareth truly. Vulgar Purgation was by Fire, or Water, or by Combat, used both by Insidels and Christians, till by the Canon Law abolished. But Combat may be still practised by the Laws of the Realm in Causes doubtful; and where there is a want of Evidence, or other Proof, if the Defendant chuse rather the Combat than other Trial. Durlie or Durlieu, From the French Pur, i. purus, and Lieu, locus, is all that Ground near any Forest, which being made Forest by Henry the Second, Richard the First, or King John, was, by Perambulation, granted by King Henry the Third, severed again from the same, and became Purlieu, i. e. pure and free from the Laws and Ordinances of the Forest. Manwood's Forest Laws, cap. 20. 'And he calleth this Ground either poural-lee, i. perambulationem, or purliu, purluy, which he faith, are Mistaken for pourallee, ibid. num. 3. And with our first Derivation it may consist, because such Things as were by those forementioned Kings subjected to the Laws and Ordinances of the Forest, are now cleared and freed from the same. And as the Civilians call that purum locum, qui sepulchrorum Religioni non est obstrictus; so our Ancestors called this purlieu, i purum locum, because it was exempted from that Servitude that was formerly laid upon it. And whereas Manwood and Crompton call it Pourallee, we may derive it from pur, purus, and allee, ambulatio, hecause he that walketh or courfeth within that Circuit, is not liable to the Laws or Penalties incurred by them which hunt within the Precincts of the Forest. Hadlagesima Sunday Is the first Sunday in Lent, so called, because it is about the Fortieth Day before Easter: The Three preceding Sundays are, Quinquagesima, Sexagesima, and Septuagesima; all which see in their proper Places.

Quangagefinialia, Denarii Quadragefimales. In the former Days of Superstition, it was the Cufrom for People to visit their Mother-Church on Midlent-Sunday, and to make their Offerings at the high Altar; as the like Devotion was again observed in Whitfun-week. But as the Processions and Oblations at Whitfuntide were sometimes commuted into a rated Payment of Pentecostals, or Whitsun-farthings, so likewise the Lent Devotion was changed into a customary Rate called Quadragesimalia, and Denarii Quadragesimales, and sometimes Latare Ferusalem, because that Hymn was fung on Midlent-Sunday. It is farther observable, That the now romaining Practice of Mothering, or going to visit Parents upon Midlent-Sunday, is really owing to that good old Cuttom. Nay it seems to be called Mothering from the Respect so paid to the Mother-Church, when the Epistle for the Day was with some Allusion. Galat. 4. 21. Ferusalem Mater omnium; which Epistle for Midlent-Sunday we still retain, tho' we have forgot the Occasion of it.

Quadrans, A Farthing, a fourth Part of a Penny. Observe, That before the Reign of Ed. 1. the smallest Coin was a Sterling or Penny, marked with a Cross or Traverse Strokes, by the Guidance whereof a Penny upon Occasion might be cut in Halves for a Half-Penny, or into Quar-ters for Farthings, or fourth Parts: Till to avoid the Fraud of unequally cutting, King Ed. 1. coined Half-pence and Farthings in round diffin & whereby a Man intitling another to Land, &c. faith, That the same Estate he had, he hath from him: For Example, in a Quare Impedit, the Plaintist alledges, That such Four Persons were scized of Lands whereunto the Advowson in Question was appendant in Fee, and did present to the Church, and afterward the Church became void que estate del, &c. that is, which Estate of the Four Perions he has now during the Vacation, by Virtue whereof he presented, &c. Bro. Tit. Que Estate, f. 175, 176. New Book of Entries. verb. Que Estate, and Co. on Lit. fol. 121.

Due est mesme Significs Verbatim, Which is the fame Thing, but is used in a legal Sense as a Word of Art in an Action of Trespals, or such like, for a positive Justification of the very Act complained of by the Plaintiff as a Wrong. For Example, in an Action upon the Case, the Plaintiff says, That the Lord threatned his Tenants at Will in fuch fort, that he forced them to give up their Tenures. The Lord for his Defence pleadeth, That he said unto them, That if they would not depart, he would sue them at Law: This being the same threatning that he used, or to speak artificially, que est le mesme, the Desence is good. Of this, see Kitchin, cap. Que est le mesme, sol.

Recovere Is a Word mentioned in Mat. Westin.

Anno 1216. viz. Iste sunt terra quas Rex Job. amist, qui nibil borum recovavit ufque ad diem mortis fue.

It fignifies to recover.

Breovery, Recuperatio, May be extracted from the French Recouvrer, i. recuperare, And signifies in a legal Acceptation, an obtaining any Thing by Judgment or Trial of Law, as Evistio doth among the Civilians. And here note, That there is a true Recovery, and a feigned one. A true Recovery is an actual or real Recovery of any Thing, or the Value thereof by Judgment; as if a Man fued for any Land, or other Thing moveable or ined for any Land, or other Thing moveable or immoveable, and have a Verdiet and Judgment for him. A feigned Recovery is (as the Civilians call it) Quadam fictio Juris, a certain Form or Course set down by Law, to be observed, for the Better affuring of Lands or Tenements unto us; and the End and Effect thereof is (according to West. Symbol. part 2. Tit. Recoveries, set. 1.) to discontinue and destroy Estates-tail, Remainders and Reversions, and to bar the Intails thereof. And in this Formality are required Three Persons. And in this Formality are required Three Perfons, viz. The Demandant, Tenant and Vouchee. The Demandant is he that brings the Writ of Entry, and may be termed the Recoverer. The Tenant is he against whom the Writ is brought, and may be termed the Recoveree. The Vouchee is he whom the Tenant voucheth, and calls to Warranty for the Land in Demand. A Recovery with double Voucher is, where the Tenant voucheth one, who voucheth another, or the common Vouchee. And a Recovery with treble Voucher is, where Three are vouched. But to explain this Point a little more: A Man that is desirous to cut off an Estate-tail in Lands or Tenements, to the End, to fell, give, or bequeath it, causeth (by the Contrivance of his Counsel or Attorney) a feigned Writ of Entry sur disseisen en le Post, to be brought for the Lands of which he intends to cut off the Intail, and in a feigned Count or Declaration thereupon made, pretends he was differfied by him, who by a feigned Fine or Deed of Bargain and Sale, is named and supposed to be the Tenant of the Land. This feigned Tenant, if it be a fingle Recovery, is made to appear and vouch the Bagbearer of Writs for the Custos brevium in the Common Pleas, (for there only can such Recoveries be suffered) who makes Default. Whereupon the Land is recovered by him that brought the Writ, and a Judgment is by such Fiction of Law entered, that the Demandant shall recover, and have a Writ of Seisin for the Possession of the Lands demanded, and that the Tenant shall recover the Value of the Lands against the Lands of the Vouchee. Bagbearer, a cut off the Intail, and in a feigned Count or Deagainst the Lands of the Vouchee. Bagbearer, a poor unlanded and illiterate Person, which is seigned to be a Satisfaction to the Heir in Tail, though he is never to have or expect it. This feigned Recovery is also called a Common Recovery, because it is a beaten and common Path to that End for which it is appointed, viz. to cut off the Estates above specified. See New Book of Entries, verb. Recovery. But a true Recovery is as well of the Value, as of the Thing: For Example, If a Man buy Land of another with Warranty, which Land a Third Person afterwards by Suit of Law Aaa recovereth recovereth against me, I have my Remedy against him that sold it me, to recover in Value, that is, to recover so much in Money as the Land is worth, or so much other Land by Way of Exchange. F. N. B. fol. 134. To recover a Warranty. Old Nat. Brev. fol. 146. is to prove by Judgment, that such a Man was his Warrant against all Men for such a Thing.

Become, From the French Recouper, to cut again; also to reply quickly and sharply to a peremptory Demand; we use it to defalk or discount. As if a Man hath Ten Pounds issuing out of certain Lands, and he disseises the Tenant of the Land in an Assise brought by the Disseisee, the Disseisor shall recoupe the Rent in the Damages.

Recreant, (French,) Cowardly, Faint-hearted. See Cravent. Recreant was so reproachful a Word, that Glanvile would not describe it. But Fleta, lib. 3. traft. 2. cap. 34. tells us, That non sufficit quod appellatus cognoscut socium suum suisse latronem vel aliquid simile ad recreantiam, nisi dicat verbum illud opprobriosum quod recreantus sit. And in Lib. 2. c. 2. Recreantos equos are dull and tired Horses.

Recto Is a Writ of Right, which is of so high a Nature, that whereas other Writs in real Actions are only to recover the Possession of the Land or Tenements in Question, which have been lost by our Ancestor or our selves; this aimeth to recover both the Seisin which some of our Ancestors or we had, and also the Property of the Thing whereof the Ancestor died not seised, as of Fee; and whereby are pleaded and tried both their Rights together, viz. as well of Pof-session as Property: So that if a Man once lose his Cause upon this Writ, either by Judgment, Assis and apon this writ, either by Judgment, Assis or Battel, he is without all Remedy, and shall be excluded per exceptionem rei judicata. Brasson, lib. 5. trass. 1. cap. 1. & feq. It is divided into Two Kinds, 1. Ressum Patents, a Writ of Right Patent, and Ressum Clausum, a Writ of Right Close. This the Civilians call Judicium Petiterum. The Write of Picht Patent is so called titorum. The Writ of Right Patent is so called, because it is sent open, and is in Nature the highest Writ of all other, lying always for him that hath Fee-simple in the Lands or Tenements fued for, and not for any other. And when it lieth for him that challengeth Fee-simple, and in what Cases, see F. N. B. fol. 1. 6. where he speaks of a special Writ of Right in Lordon, other wise called a Writ of Right, according to the Custom of Lordon. This Writ also is called Breve Magnum de Resto. Reg. Orig. sol. 9. and Fleta, lib. 5. cap. 32. sett. 1. A Writ of Right Close, is a Writ directed to a Lord of Antient Demession, and lieth for those which hold their Lands and Tenements by Charter in Fee-simple, or in Feetail, or for Term of Life, or in Dower, if they be ejected out of such Lands, &c. or disseised: In this Case a Man, or his Heirs may sue out this Writ of Right Close, directed to the Lord of the Ancient Demesne, commanding him to do him Right, &c. in his Court. This is called Breve parvum de resto. Reg. Orig. fol. 9. and Britton, cap. 120. in fine, also F. N. B. fol. 11. & feq. Yet note, That the Writ of Right Patent seemeth farther to be extended in Use than the original Intention; For a Writ of Right Dower, which lies for the Tenant in Dower, and only for Term of Life, is Patent, as appears by F. N. B. fol. 7. The like may be said in divers other Cases, of which so the Toble of the Parish Casing that Toble of the Parish Casing the the Parish fee the Table of the Register Original, verbo Retto. This Writ is properly tried in the Lord's Court between Kinsmen that claim by one Title from their Ancestor. But how it may be thence removed, and brought either to the County, or to the King's Court, see Fleta, lib. 6. cap. 3, 4. 8 5. Glanville seems to make every Writ, whereby a Man sues for any Thing due unto him, a Writ of Right, lib. 10. cap. 1. lib. 11. cap. 1. and lib. 12.

Recto be done Is a Writ of Right of Dorver, which lieth for a Woman that hath received Part of her Dower, and purposes to demand the Remainder in the same Town, against the Heir, or his Guardian, if he be a Ward. Of this see more in Old Nat. Brev. fol. 5. and Fitzberhert, sol. 7. Reg. Orig. fol. 3. and the New Book of Entries, work Dowe verb. Droyt.

Recto de dote unde nihil habet Is a Writ of Right, which lies in Case where the Husband having divers Lands or Tenements, hath assured no Dower to his Wife, and she thereby is driven to sue for her Thirds against the Heir, or his Guardian. Old Nat. Brev. fol. 6. Reg. Orig. f. 170.

Becto de rationabili parte Is a Writ that lies always between privies of Blood, as Brothers in Gavelkind, or Siffers, or other Coparceners; as Nephews or Nieces; and for Land in Fee-simple. For Example, If a Man lease his Land for Term of Life, and afterwards dies, leaving Iffue Two Daughters, and after that the Tenant for Term of Life dieth also, the One Sister entring upon all the Land, and so deforcing the other; the Sister so deforced shall have this Writ to recover

Part. F. N. B. fol. 9. Reg. Orig. fol. 3. Beto quando Dominus remisit Is a Writ of Right, which lies in Case where Lands or Tenements that be in the Seigniory of any Lord, are in Demand by a Writ of Right; for if the Lord hold no Court, or otherwise at the Prayer of the Demandant, or Tenant, shall send to the Court of the King his Writ, to put the Cause thither for that Time, (saving to him at other Times the Right of his Seigniory) then this Writ issues out for the other Party, and hath the Name from the Words contained, being the truo Occasion thereof: This Writ is close, and must be returned before the Justices of the Common Bank.

Becto de Advocatione Ectic & Is a Writ of Right, lying where a Man hath Right of Advowfon, and the Parson of the Church dying, a Stranger presents his Clerk to the Church, and he not having brought his Action of Quare impedit, nor Darrein Presentment within Six Mouths, but suffered the Stranger to usurp upon him. And this Writ he only may have that claimeth the Advowson to himself, and to his Heirs in Fee. And as it lies for the whole Advowson, so it lies also for the Half, Third or Fourth Part. Old Nat.

Brev. fol. 24. Reg. Orig. fol. 29.
Becto de cultodia terræ a hæredia Was a Writ that lay for him whose Tenant holding of him in Chivalry, died in Nonage, against a Stranger that entered upon the Land, and took the Body of the Heir; but by the Statute of 12 Car. 2. cap. 24. it is become useless as to Lands holden in Capite, or by Knights-Service, but not where there is Guardian in Socage, or appointed by the last Will and Testament of the Ancestor. The Form of it, see in F. N. B. fol. 139. and Reg. Orig. fol. 161.

Reno fur Disclaimer Is a Writ that lies where a Lord in the King's Court of Common Pleas avows upon his Tenant, and the Tenant diffaimeth to hold of him; upon which Difclaimer he shall have this Writ, and if the Lord aver and prove, that the Land is holden of him, he shall recover

Bedo! Is both Latin and English, signifying a Governor; and Restor Ecclesia parochialis is he that hath the Charge or Cure of a Parish-Church, Qui tantum jus in Ecclesia Parochiali babet, quantum Prelatus in Ecclesia Collegiata: It has of late been over-ruled, that Restor Ecclesia Parochialis is he that hath a Parsonage where there is a Vicaridge endowed; and he that hath a Parsonage without a Vicaridge, is called Persona; but this Distinction seems to be new and subtile. Brasson certainly uses it otherwise, lib. 4. traft. 5. cap. 1. in these Words, Et sciendum quod rectoribus Ecclesiarum parocbialium competit Assisa qui instituti sunt per Episco-pos & Ordinarios ut Persone; where it is plain, that Restor and Persona be consounded. Regalia is also taken for those Rights and Privileges which the Church enjoys by the Grants and other Concessions of Kings. And sometimes it is taken for the Patrimony of the Church; as, Re-

It fignifies also those Lands and Hereditaments which have been given by Kings to the Church, viz. Cepimus in manum nostvam Baroniam & Regalia qua Archiepiscopus Eborum de nobis tenet. Pryn. lib. Angl. 2 Tom. pag. 231. These Regalia, whilst in the Possession of the Church, were subject to the same Services as all other temporal Inheritances; and after the Death of the Bishop they of Right returned to the King, until he invested another with them; which in the Reigns of William the Conqueror, and fome of his immediate Successors, was often negletted or delay'd; and as often the Bishops complained thereof. This appears in Ordericus Vitalis, lib. 10. and in many other Writers in those Days. Neubrigensis, lib. 3. cap. 26. tells us, they complained against Henry 2. for that Episcopatus vacantes & provenientia per iperet commoda, diu vacare voluit, & Ecclefiasticis potius usibus applicanda in fiscum redegit. Begard, Regardum and Requardum, Is borrowed of the French Regard, i. Aspectus, Respectus; and though it hath a general Signification of any Care or diligent Respect, yet it hath also a special Acceptation, wherein it is only used in Matters of the Forest; and there Two Ways, One for the Office of Regarder, the other for the Compass of the Ground belonging to that Office. Cromp. Fur. sol. 175, 199. Touching the former, thus saith. Manwood in his Forest Laws, part 1. pag. 194, & 198. The Eyre, General Sessions of the Forest, or Justice-Seat, is to be kept every Third Year; and of Necessity before any such Sessions or Justice-Seat can be holden, the Regarders of the Forest must make their Regard, and this making of the Regard must be done by the King's Writ, and the Regarder is to go through the whole Forest, to see and inquire of the Tres-passes therein, viz. ad videndum, ad inquirendum, ad fuch like Things used at the Coronation of our imbreviandum & ad certificandum. Touching the Kings, are called Regalia. See the Relation of Second Signification, the Compass of the Rethe Coronation of King Charles the Second in Ba-garder's Charge is the whole borest, that is, all the Ground which is Parcel of the Forest; for Regalia is sometimes taken for the Dignity and there may be Woods within the Limits of the Fo-Prerogative of the King, viz. Qui impedierunt rest, that be no Parcel thereof, and those be Regens que minus poterat exercere que ad Regaliam without the Regard. Manwood, part 2. cap. 7.

Begarder, Regardator, Cometh of the French Regardeur, i. spectator, and signifies an Officer of the Forest. Cromp. Furifd. fol. 153. where it is thus defined. A Regarder is an Officer of the Forest, appointed to supervise all other Officers, and was ordained in the Beginning of King Henry the Second's Days. Manwood thus describes him, A Regarder is an Officer of the King's Forest, that is sworn to make the Regard of the Forest, as the same hath been used to be made heretofore: And also to view and enquire of all Offences or Defaults of the Foresters, and of all other Ossi-cers of the King's Forests concerning the Execution of their Offices. This Officer may be made either by the King's Letters Patent, or by any one of the King's Justices of the Forest, at his Discretion, in the General Eyre, or at such Time as the Regard is to be made, by Virtue of the King's Writ directed to the Sheriff of the County for that Purpose. More particulars of the Regarder's Office, how he is chosen, and the Form of his Oath, see in Manwood, pag. 188, 192, 195, 207. In a Charter of Henry the Third, to the Masters, Canons, Brethren, &c. of the Order of the House of Semplingham, made in the Eleventh Year of his Reign, it is said, Et sint quieti tam ipsi quam bomines eorum de misericordia foresta & de ef apiis, & de Rewardo & vasto ubicung; in marisco de Resttovene, &c.

the Eighth.

Registry, Registrum, Is properly derived from an old French Word Gister, i. in letto reponere, suo loco constituere. So that registrum is properly the same with repositorium, a Place where any Thing is laid up; and from hence publick Books, in which various Things are inferted, are properly termed Registers; and accordingly the Office, Books and Rolls, wherein the Proceedings of the Chancery, or any Spiritual Court are recorded. Relation, Relatio, idem quod fictio furis, To make a Nullity of a Thing from the Beginning (for a certain Intent) which had Essence. Co. lib. 3. fol. 28. Butler and Baker's Case: But more plainly thus, Relation is, where, in Consideration of Law Two Times, or other Things are considered so as if they were all one; and by this the Thing subsequent is said to take his Effect by Relation at the Time preceding. As if A. deliver a Writing to B. to be delivered to C. as the Deed of A. when C. hath paid a Sum of Money. Now when the Money is paid, and the Writing delivered, this shall be taken as the Deed of A. at the Time when it was first delivered. So Bills of Parliament, to which the King assents on the last Day of Parliament, shall relate and be of Force from the first Day of the Region and be of Force from the first Day of the Beginning of the Parliament, and so it is of divers other like Things.

Relevamen, But in Domefday, Relevatio,

relevium, figuifies a certain Sum of Money which relevium, fignifies a certain Sum of Money which the Tenant holding hy Knights-Service, Grand Serjeanty, or other Tenure, for which Homage or legal Service is due; or by Socage, for which no Homage is due; and being at full Age at the Death of his Ancestor, paid unto his Lord at his Entrance. Mag. Chart. cap. 2. and 31 E. 1. stat. 1. Bratton, lib. 2. cap. 36. affirms, That it is called a Relief, quia bareditas qua javens suit per antecessoris decessors, relevatur in manus baredum, Entranter fastam relevatur in manus baredum, Entranter fastam relevaturem. Sacienda erit ah bewede propter fastam relevationem, facienda erit ab harede quadam Prastatio qua dicitur relevium; and Britton, cap. 69. Of this also speaks the Grand Custumary of Normandy, cap. 34. The Lord of the Fee ought to have Relief of the Lands, which are held of him by Homage, when those die of whom he had Homage. Hotoman in his Commentaries, De verbis Feudalibus, verb. Relevium, defines it thus, Relevium est benorarium, quod movus vassallus Patrono introitus causa largitur, quasi morte vassalli alterius vel alio quo casu seudum ceciderit, quod jam a novo sublevetur. What a legal and just Relief was in the Time of Hen. 2. appears partly from Glanvile, lib. 9. cap. 4. Dicitur autem rationabile relevium alicujus juxta consuetudinem Regni, de seodo unius militis centum solid. de Socagio vero quantum valet census illius socaeii per unum annum; De Baroniis vero nibil certum statutum cst, quia juxta voluntatem & misericordiam Domini Regis solent Baronia capitales de Releviis suis Domino Regi satisfacere. But it was more certainly set out afterwards by Magna Charta in these Words, Si quis Comitum vel Baronum nostrorum, sive aliorum tenentium, de nobis in Capite per servitium militare mortuus suerit, & cum decesserit bares esus plena atatis suerit, & Relevium nobis debeat, babeat hereditatem suam ter antiquum relevium, scil. Heres vel heredes Comitis de integro Comitatu per centum libras; heres vel heredes Baronis de Baronia centum libras; bares vel heredes Baronis de Baronia voutly. The Land might not fall into Mortmaine. See fudaism. Rex Vicecom. Geo. Pracipimus tibi quod clamari facias sine dilatione per comitatum tuum quod nulli, seut diligunt corpora & catalla sua, malum faciant verb. Relevium, saith, Relief is a French Word, from the Latin relevare, which is to relieve, or take up that which is fallen; for it is given by proximam quercum eum suspendi faciemus. T. metipso the Tenant or Vassal that is of perfect Age, after the Expiring of the Wardship to his superior Lord, of whom he held his Lands by Knights-Service, that is, by Ward and Relief: For by Payment thereof he relieves, and, as it were, taifeth up again his Lands after they were fallen down into his Superior's Hands, by Reason of Wardship, &c. See him at large. See 12 Car. 2.

Relief is otherwise thus explained, viz. A feugranted only for Life, and after the Death of the Vassal it returned to the Chief Lord, for which Reason it was called fendum caducum, viz. fallen to the Lord by the Death of the Tenant; afterwards these feudatory Estates being turned into an Inheritance by the Connivance and Assent of the Chief Lord, when the Possessor of such an Estate died, it was called hareditat caduca, i. e. it was fallen to the Chief Lord, to whom the Heir having paid a certain Sum of Money, he did then relevare hareditaten caducam out of his Hands; and the Money thus paid was called a Relief. This must be understood after the Conquest; for, in the Time of the Saxons, there were no Reliefs, but Heriots paid to the Lord at the Death of his Tenant, which in those Days were Horses, Arms, &c. and such Tributes could not be exacted of the English immediately after the Conquest, for they were deprived of both by the Normans; and instead thereof, in many Places, the Payment of certain Sums of Money was substituted, which they called a Relief, and which continues to this Day.

Relief reasonable: It is likewise sometimes called lawful and antient Relief, which is enjoined by some Law, or becomes due by Custom, and doth not depend upon the Will of the Lord, viz. In a Charter of King John, mentioned by Mat. Paris. pag. 178. Si quis Comitum vel Baronum nostrorum, sive aliorum tenentium de nobis in Capite, per servitium militare, mortuus fuerit, & cum decesserit bares suus plene atatis fuerit, & relevium debeat, babeat hareditatem suam per antiquum relevium: And what that was we may read in the Laws of William the Conqueror, cap. 22. and of Hen. I. cap. 14. and before that Time, in the Laws of Canutus, cap. 97. viz. The Relief of an Earl was Eight War-Horses with their Bridles and Saddles, Four Loricas, Four Helmets, Four Sheilds, Four Pikes, Four Swords. Four hunting Horses and a Palfrey with their Bridles and Saddles: The Relief of a Baron or Thane was four Horses, Two with Furniture, and Two without, Two Swords, Four Lances, Four Shields and an Helmet, cum lorica, and Fifty Marks in Gold. The Relief of a Vavasor was his Father's Horse, his Helmet, Sheild, Lance and Sword, which he had at his Death. The Relief of a Villain or a Countryman was his best Beast, &c.

See Notitia Monastica, or a short History of the religious Houses in England and Wales, by Thomas Tanner, Offavo, who in an Alphubetical Order of Counties, has accurately given a full Account of the Founders, the Time of Founda-tion, the tutelar Saints, the Order, the Value at the Diffolution, with Reference to printed Authors, and Manuscripts that preserve any Memoirs re-lating to each House; with a learned and judici-ous Presace of the Institution of religious Orders,

Reliques, Reliquie, Are some Remainders of Saints that are dead, preserved by some living with great Veneration, as facred Memorials of them; forbidden to be used or brought into England by several of our later Statutes.

Remainder, Remanentia, Is-an Estate limited in Lands, Tenements or Rents, to be enjoyed after the Expiration of another particular Estate. For Example, A Man may let to one for Term of his Life, and the Remainder to another for Term of his Life. Lio. cap. Atturnment, fol. 133. And this Remainder may be either for a certain Term, or in Fee-simple, or Fee-tail, as appears by Broke, Tit. Donee & Remainder, fol. 245. and Glanvile, lib. 7. cap. 1. where, towards the End, he hath these Words, Notandum quod nec Episcopus nec Abbas, quia eorum Baronia sunt de Eleemosyna Do-mini Regis & Antecessorum ejus, non possunt de Dominicis fuis aliquam partem dare ad remanentiam fine affensu & confirmatione Domini Regis, where it appears, that Dare ad remanentiam is to give away for ever; and again, cap. 9. In like Sort doth Bratton use it, lib. 2. cap. 23. and lib. 4. trast. 2. cap. 4. num. 4. and the New Book of Entries, verb. Remainder. The Difference between a Remainder and Reversion, according to Spelman, is this, That by a Reversion, after the appointed Term, the Estate returns to the Donor, or his Heirs, as the proper Fountain; whereas by Remainder it goes to some Third, or a Stranger.

Remembrancers of the Erchequer, Rememoratoves Scaccarii, Are Three Officers or Clerks there, One called The King's Remembrancer, 25 Eliz. cap. 5. The Second, The Lord Treasurer's Remembrancer, upon whose Charge it lies, to put the brancer, upon whose Charge it lies, to put the Lord Treasurer and the Rest of the Judges of that Court in Remembrance of fuch Things as are to be called on, and dealt in, for the King's Behoof. The Third is called The Remembrancer of the First-Fruits. 5 R. 2. stat. 1. cap. 14, 15.
These in 37 E. 3. cap. 4. be called Clerks of the Remembrance. The King's Remembrancer Enters in his Office all Recognisances taken before the Barons for any the King's Debts, or for Appearances, or for observing of Orders: He takes all Bonds for the King's Debts, for Appearance, or for observing Orders, and maketh out Process for the Breach of them. He writes Process against the Collectors of Customs, Subsidies, and there all Matters upon English Bills in the Exchequer-Chamber remain: He makes the Bills of Quer-Chamber remain: He makes the Bills of Compositious upon penal Laws, takes the Stalment of Debts, has delivered into his Office all Manner of Indentures, Fines, and other Evidences whatsoever, that concern the assuring of any Lands to the Crown: He every Year, in Crassino animarum, reads in open Court the Statute for Election of Shoriffs, and gives them. tute for Election of Sheriffs, and gives them their Oath; and he reads in open Court the Oath of all the Officers of the same when they are admitted, besides many other Things. The Lord Treasurer's Remembrancer makes Process against all Sherits, Escheators, Receivers and Bailiffs, for their Account. He makes Process of Fieri facias and Extent for any Debts due to the King either in the Pipe, or with the Auditors; makes Process for all such Revenue as is due to the King, by Reason of his Tenures: He makes a Record, whereby it appears, whether Sherists or other Accountants pay their Profess due at Easter and Michaelmas. He makes another Record, whether Sheriffs and other Accountants cord, whether Sheriffs and other Accountants keep their Days of Prefixion. All Estreats of Fines, Issues and Americaments, set in any Courts at Westminster, or at the Assissor Sessions, are certified into this Office, and are by him delivered to the Clerk of the Estreats, to write Process upon them, &c. There are also brought into his Office all the Accounts of Customers, Controllers and other Accounts to make Fr. Controllers and other Accountants, to make Entry thereof on Record. See the Repertory of Records, fol. 121. The Remembrancer of the First-Fruits takes all Compositions and Bonds for First-Fruits and Tenths, and makes Process against such as do not pay the same.

Remitter, Remittere, To restore, in a legal Sense intends a Restitution of one that hath Two Titles to Lands or Tenements, and is seised of them by his later Title, which proving descrive, he is restored to the former and more antient Title. F. N. B. fol. 149. Dyer, fol. 68. num. 22. In what Case this may be granted, see Bro. Tit. Remitter. And in Dostor and Student, cap. 9. fol. 19. it is said, that if Land descend to him that hath Right to that Land before, he shall be remitted to his better Title, if he will. See Terms de la Ley on this Word, and the New Book of Entries, and Co. on Lit. lib. 3. cap. 12.

Renant, Anno 32 H. 8. cap. 2. But it may be supposed a Mistake for Reniant, i. Negans, Participle of the French Verb Reniant, negare.

Render Cometh of the French Rendre, i. reddere, retribuere, and fignifies with us the same Thing. For Example, this Word is used in levy-ing of a Fine, which is either single, whereby nothing is granted or rendered back again by the Cognisce to the Cognisor; or double, which containeth a Grant or Render back again of some Rent, Common, or other Thing, out of the Land it felf to the Cognifor, &c. West. Symbol. part 2. Tit. Fines, set. 21. and 50. Also there be some Things in a Manor that lie in Prender, that is, which may be taken by the Lord Offer, made by which may be taken by the Lord of his Onlect, when they chance, without any Offer made by the Tenant, as Escheats, and the like; and some that lie in Render, that is, must be delivered or answered by the Tenants, as Rents, Reliefs, Heriots, and other Services, ibid. set. 126. Also some Service consists in Seisance, some in Render. Perkins's Reservations 696.

Bent, Reditus, It is called redditus in Latin, from redeundo because as Fleta tells us, retroit & quotannis redit. Lib. 3. c. 14. and it signifies with us a Sum of Money, or other Confideration issuing yearly out of Lands or Tenements. Plowden, fol. 132, 138, 141. Browning's Case; of which there are Three Sorts, viz. Rent-service, Rent-charge, and Rent-seck. Rent-service is, where a Man holds his Lands of his Lord by Fealty and certain Rent, or by Fealty-service, and certain Rent. Lit. lib. 2. cap. 12. or that which a Man making a Lease to another for Term of Years, reserveth yearly to be paid him for them. In the Terms of the Law, this Reason is given for it, because it is at his Pleasure either to distrain, or bring an Action of Debt. Rent-charge is, where a Man makes over his Estate to another, by Deed indented, either in Fee, or Feetail, or for Term of Life, yet reserves to him-self, by the same Indenture, a Sum of Money yearly to be paid to him, with Clause of Di-stress for Non-payment. See Littleton ubi supra. Rent-feck, otherwife a dry Rent, is that, which a Man making over his Estate by Deed indented, reserveth yearly to be paid him, without Clause of Distress mentioned in the Indenture. Lit. ibid. Resignation, Resignatio, Is used particularly for the giving up of a Benefice into the Hands of the Ordinary, otherwise by the Canonists termed Renunciatio. And though it signify all one in Nature with the Word Surrender, yet it is by Cu-24. from restrained to the yielding up a Spiritual cies. Living, and Surrender to the giving up of Temporal Lands into the Hands of the Lord. And a Resignation may now be made into the Hands of the King, as well as of the Diocesan, because he pro Responsis Ecclesiasticis. hath Supremam Authoritatem Ecclesiasticam, as the Pope had here in Times past Plowden, fol. 498. Grendon's Casc.

the fort, or Bellort, Is a Word properly used in a Writ of Tail or Consenage, as Descent is in a Writ of Right. In French it signifies the Authority or Jurisdiction of a Court, Salvo tamen tam ressorto the Common Law for the setting him in Possession quam aliis jure nostro & etiam jure alieno. Lit. Pat. Responsalis, Qui responsum defert. He who gives an Answer, is he that appears for another in Court at a Day affigned, concerning whom hear Glanvile, lib. 12. cap. 1.—— Placita in su-perioribus exposita—— Prosequi quis potest sicut alia quelibet placita civilia, tam per seinsum quam respon-ialem suo loco positum, &c. But Fleta make a Disference between attornatum, essoniatorem & responsalem, lib. 6. c. 11. fect. Officium. As if effoniator came only to declare the Cause of the Party's Absence, whether Demandant or Tenant; and Responsalist came for the Tenant, not only to excuse his Absence, but also signify what Trial he meant to undergo, viz. the Combat or the Country. Man in antient Time could not appoint an Attorney for him, without Warrant from the Court. Fleta, lib. 6. cap. 13. See Attorney. This Word is used in the Canon Law, & significat Procuratorem vel cum qui absentem excusat.

Belponsione, Responsiones, Scems to be a Word chiefly used by the Knights of St. Foln of Ferusalem, for certain Accounts made to them by such as held their Lands or Stocks. Anno 32 H. S. cap. 24. In Rot. Parl. 9 Rich. 2. it is written Respon-

Betaining fee, Merces retinens, Is the First Fee given to any Serjeant or Counsellor at Law, whereby to make him sure that he shall not be on the contrary Part: It is Honorarium seu pramium causidici pracedaneum, quo clienti suo obliga-tur ne adversarii causam agat.

Reteiner, From the Latin retinere, fignifies in a legal Sense a Servant, but not Menial or Familiar, that is, not continually dwelling in the House of his Master, but only wearing his Livery, and attending fometimes upon special Occasions. This Livery was wont to consist of Hats, (or Hoods) Badges, or other Suits of one Garment by the Year; and were many Times given by Lords and Great Men, upon Design of Maintenance and Quarrels, and therefore justly forbidden by several Statutes, as 1 R. 2. cap. 7. upon Pain of Imprisonment, and grievous Forfeiture to the King; And again, 16 R. 2. cap. 4. 20 R. 2. cap. 1. and 1 H. 4: cap. 7. by which the Offenders should make Ransom at the King's Will; and any Knight or Esquire thereby duly attainted, should lose his said Livery, and for-feit his Fee for ever, &c. Which Statute is further confirmed and explained by 2 H. 4. cap. 21. 7 H. 4. cap. 3. and 8 H. 6. cap. 4. And yet this Offence was so deeply rooted, that Edward the Fourth was no confirmed. ward the Fourth was necessitated to confirm the former Statutes, and further to extend their Meaning, as appears by 8 E. 4. cap. 2. adding a special Penalty of Five Pounds upon every Man that gives such Livery, and as much on every one so retained either by Writing, Oath or Promise, for every Month. These are by the Feurisia, called estimation of the second o difts called Affidati, sic enim dicuntur qui in alicujus fidem & tutelam recepti sunt. And as our Retainers are here forbidden, so are those Affidats in other Countries. But most of the abovementioned Statutes are repealed by 3 Car. 1.

Betrarit Is so ealled, because that Word is the effectual Word in the Entry, and is where the Plaintiff or Demandant comes in Person into the Court, and says, He will proceed no further. And this is a Bar of all other Actions of like or inferior Nature, Qui semel actionem renunciavit, amplius repetere non potest. Co. on Lit. lib. 2. cap. 11. fect. 288. The Difference between a Nonfuit and a Retraxit, is, that a Retraxit is ever when the Demandant or Plaintiff is present in Court; but a Nonsuit is upon a Demand made, when he should appear, and he makes Default. Retraxit (as we said) is a Bar, so is not a Nonfait, for he may commence an Action of like Nature again.

Esturn, Returna vel retorna, Cometh of the French Retout, i. reversio, recursus, and in our Law hath Two particular Applications; the One is, the Return of Writs by Sheriffs and Bailiffs, which is only a Certificate made to the Court of that which he hath done, touching the Execution of their Writ directed to him. And this among the Civilians is termed Certificatorium; of Returns in this Signification speaks the Statute of Western. 2. cap. 39. So is the Return of a Commission a Certificate or Answer to the Court of that which is done by the Commissioners, Sheriff, Bailiff, or other, to whom such Writs, Commissions, Precepts or Mandates are directed. Also certain Days in every Term are called Return-Days, or Days in Bank; and so Hillary-Term hath Four Returns, viz. Octabis Hillarii, Quindena Hillarii, Crastino Purisicationis and Octabis Purisicationis. Easter-Term Five, viz. Quindena Pasiba, Tres Pascha, Mense Pascha, Quing; Pascha, and Crastino ascensionis Domini. Trinity-Term Four, i. Crastino Trinitatis, Ottabis Trinitatis, Quindena Trinitatis, Tres Trinitatis; and Michaelmas-Term Six, to wit, Tres Michaelis, mense Michaelis, Crastino animarum, Crastino Martini, Octabis Marti-Quindena Martini. See the Statutes of Days in Bank, 51 H. 3. 32 H. 8. cap. 21. and 17 Car. c. 6. The other Application of this Word is in Case of Replevin; for if a Man distrain Cattle for Rent, &c. and afterwards justify or avow his Act, so as it is found lawful, the Cattle before delivered unto him that was distrained, upon Security given to follow the Action, shall now be returned to him that distrained them. Bro. Tit. Returns d'avers & hommes, fol. 218. and F. N.B. in his Table verb. Return.

Returno

Beturno habendo Is a Writ that lies for him that has avowed a Distress made of Cattle, and proved his Distress to be lawfully taken, for returning to him the Cattle distrained, which be-fore were replevied by the Party distrained, upon Surety given to prosecute the Astion; or when the Plaint or Astion is removed by Recordari, or Accedas ad Curiam, into the Court of Common Pleas, and he whose Cattle were distrained makes Default, and doth not profecute his Suit.

Returnum averiozum Is a Writ Judicial, granted to one impleaded for the Taking the Cattle of another, and unjust detaining them contra vadium & Plegios, and appearing upon Summons, is dismissed without Day, because the Plaintiss makes Desault; and it lies for the Return of the Cattle to the Defendant, whereby he was fummoned, or which were taken for Security of his Appearance upon the Summons. Register Judicial, fol. 4. a.

Meturnum irreplegiabile Is a Writ Judicial, fent out of the Common Pleas to the Sheriff, for the final Restitution or Return of Cattle to the Owner, unjustly taken by another, as Damage-feafant, and so found by the Jury before Justices of Assis in the County, or otherwise by Default of Prosecution. Reg. Judic. fol. 27.

Et item dicunt Legati Regis, quod ipsa terra & census qui inde exit, surtim ausertur a Rege. The Land which is here said to have been Thaneland, T. E. R. and after converted into Reveland, seems to have been such Land as being reverted to the King after the Death of his Thane, who had it for Life, was not fince granted out to any by the King, but rested in Charge upon the Account of the Reeve or Bailiff of the Manor, who (as it seemeth) being in this Lordship of Hereford like the Reeve in Chaucer, a false Brother, conecaled the Land from the Auditor, and kept the Profit of it to himfelf, till the Surveyors, who are here called Legati Regis, discovered this Falshood, and presented to the King that furtim aufertur Regi. This Passage from Domesday Book is impersetly quoted by Sir Edw. Coke, in his Institutes, sett. 117. who from these Words draws a false Inserence, That Land holden by Knights-Service was called Thain-

Revenue Is a French Word, signifying as Reditus, and denotes properly the yearly Rent that accrues to every Man from his Lands and Pof-

Nomen verbale, and derived of the Verb Revertor, O apte dici non potest reversio antequam revertatur in sallo; and therefore Co. on Lit. fol. 142. says, Reversio terra est tanguam terra revertens in possessione Donatori sive baredibus suis post donum sinitum. It hath a double Acceptation in Law, the one is, Jus revertendi cum status possessionis deserrit: Andthis is but an Interest in the Land when the Possession shall fall. 2. When the Possession and Estate which was parted with for a Time, cea-feth, and is determined in the Persons of the Aliences, Assignees, Grantees, or their Heirs, or effectually returns to the Donor, his Heirs or Assigns, whence it was derived. The Difference between a Reversion and a Remainder, is, that a between a Reversion and a Remainder, 1s, that a Remainder is general, and may be to any Man, but he that granteth or conveyeth the Land, &c. for Term of Life only, or otherwise. A Reversion is to himself, from whom the Conveyance of the Land, &c. proceeded, and is commonly perpetual, as to his Heirs also. Lit. lib. 2, cap. 12. See Co. lib. 2. fol. 51. Sir Hugh Cholmley's Case; and yet a Reversion is sometimes consounded with a Remainder. Co. lib. 2. fol. 67. founded with a Remainder. Co. lib. 2. fol. 67. Tooker's Case. Plowden, fol. 170. Soka, Hoc est secta de bominibus in curia vestra secundum consuetudinem Regni.

Saka, Hoc. est placitum & emenda de transgressionibus bominum in Curia vestra.

The first is only the Suit of Court due by the Inhabitants of a Lordship or Manor; and Sac is the Liberty of holding Pleas, and imposing Mulcas and Forseitzures upon Transgressors in that Court. But Rastal, and some others, define Sac to be the Forfeiture it self. Bradon, lib. 3. tratt. 2. cap. 8. quoted by Staundford in his Pleas of the Crown, lib. 1. cap. 23. uses the Word, but both of them leave the Signification undetermined. Skene de verbor. signif. verb. Sack, writes, That in some old Books it is called Placitum de transgressione bominum in curia nostra; see him at large, and Hoveden, part. suor. annal. sol. 345. See Keilway's Rep. sol. 145. Scotal, or Scotale, (Scottalla & Scotalium,) is a Word used in the Charter of the Forest, c. 8.

Nullus Forestarius vel Bedellus faciat Scotallas, vel
Garbas colligat, vel aliquam Collectam faciat, &c.

Manwood, Par. 1. pag. 216. defines it thus: A

Scotal is where any Officer of the Forest keeps an Ale-house within the Forest, by Colour of his Office, causing Men to come to his House, and there to spend their Money for Fear of Displeasure. It is compounded of Scot and Ale; which by Transposition of the Words is otherwise called an Ale-shot, and by the Welshmen Cymmorth.

Stal (Sigillum) Is well known. The first fealed Charter we find extant in England, is that of King Edward the Confessor upon his Foundation of Westminster Abbey. Dugdale's Warwickshire, fol. 138. b. It was usual in the Time of H. 2. and before, to feal all Grants with the Sign of the Cross: Has donationes & ordinationes confirmarunt & cruce signa-runt Henricus Rex & Matbildis Regina. Monast. Tom. f. 7. and Ordericus Vitalis tells us, That Archbishop Dunstan with his Suffragans, pradictarum rerum donationem facto crucis in Charta signo corroboravit, lib. 4.

That most of the Charters of the English Saxon Kings were thus figned, appears by Ingulphus, and in the Monasticon, and that the Crosses were all Gold. But it was not fo much used after the Conquest: Nam Chirographorum confectionem Anglicanam qua antea usque ad Edwardi Regis tempora fidelium prasentium substriptionibus cum crucibus aureis aliisque signaculis sirma suerunt, Normanni condemnantes Chirographa Chartas, vocabant. Sequentia, A Jubilee, or Song of Rejoicing. Fecit Sequentiam illam in Festo Pentecostes. Brompt. Sequester Is a Term used in the Civil Law for renouncing, as when a Widow comes into Court, and disclaims to have any Thing to do, or to in-tormeddle with her Husband's Estate who is deceased; she is said to Sequester.

Sequestration Sequestratio, Is the separating of a Thing in Controversy from the Possession of both those that contend for it: And it is of two Kinds, Voluntary or Necessary; Voluntary is that which is done by Consent of each Party: Necessary is that which the Judge doth of his Authority, whether the Parties will or not. It is used also for the Act of the Ordinary, disposing the Goods and Chattels of one deceased, whose Estate no Man will meddle with. Serjeanty, Serjeantia, Signifies in Law a Service that cannot be due to any Lord from his Tenant, but 10 the King only; and this is either Grand or Petit: The first is, where one holds Land of the King by Service, which he ought to do in his own Person; as to bear the King's Banner, Spear, &c. Petit Serjeanty is, where a Man holds Land of the King, to yield yearly some similal Thing towards his War; as a Sword, Dagger, Bow, &c. of which reare Braeson, lib. 2. cap. 16, & 37. & Britton, cap. and num. 1, 2. ved their Wages or Maintenance at Discretion of the Lord. The other were of a superior Degree, and were called Villani, because they were Villa gleba adscripti, i. e. held some Cottage and Lands, for which they were burdened with such stated servile Offices, and were convey'd as a Pertinence of the Manor or Estate to which they belonged. See Kennet's Glossary. The Name and Quality of their Bondage do often occur in Domesday Register: And their Condition, no was worfe than that of the Bordarii, or doubt, was worse than that of the boraura, of Cotseti, who perform'd likewise some service Offices for their Lord, and yet as to their Persons and Goods were not obnoxious to Servitude, as the proper Servi were. These were of Four Sorts, 1. Such as sold themselves for a Livelihood. 2. Debtors that were to be fold for being incapable to pay their Debts. 3. Captives in War, retain d and employ das perfect Slaves. 4. Natioi, such as were born Servants, and by such Descent belonged to the sole Property of the Lord .-All these had their Persons, their Children, and their Goods, at the Disposal of their Lord, incapable of making any Wills, or giving away any Matter.

Bervice, Servitium, Is that Service which the Tenant, by reason of his Fee, oweth unto his Lord. Hotoman thus defines it. Servitium est munus obsequii clientelaris, De verbis Feudal. It is sometime called Servage, as 1 R. cap. 6. Our ancient Law Books make many Divisions of it, as Bracton, lib. 2. cap. 16. And Britton, cap. 66. into Personal and Real, also into Military and Base, and Bracton, ubi supra, num. 7. into intrinsick and extrinsick. Servitium intrinsecum is due to the Capital Lord of the Manor: Forinsecum is that which is due to the King, and not to the Capital Lord. Service is also divided into Frank and Base, the one termed liberum fervitium, the other Villenagium. It is also divided into continual or annual, and cafual or accidental; the former is the Seifin of Rent, the other Scisin of Relief. Co. 4.

Shortsoro, Anno 1335. Adjudicatum fuit Decano Capitulo beati Petri Exoniensis quoddam tenementuni scituatum in vico australi civitatis Exoniensis secundum consuetudinem civitatis prædistæ, & dicitur Shortford —— Izacke's Antig. of Exeter, pag. 48. The ancient Custom of this City is, when the Chief Lord in Fec cannot be answered of the Rent due to him out of his Tenement, and no Distress can be there levied for the same, the Lord must come to the Tenement, and there take a Stone, or some other dead Thing of the said Tenement, and bring it before the Mayor and Bailiffs; and thus must he do Seven Quarter-Days successively; and this is called a Glebe. And if on the said Seventh Quarter Day the Lord be not satisfied of his Rent and Arrears, then the said Tenement shall be adjudged to the said Lord to hold the same a Year and a Day; and this is called Gavelock. And then forthwith Proclamation shall be openly made in the Court, That if any Man pretends any Title to the faid Tenement, that he appear within the Year and Day then next following, and satisfy the Lord of the said Rent and Arrears; but if no Appearance be made, and the Rent not paid, then shall the Lord come again to the said Court, and pray, that according to the said Custom, the said Tenement be adjudged to him in his Denesse as of Fee, according to the Intention of the Law in fuch like Cases, which is commonly called le cessavit per biennium. And this Custom here is called Shortford, and in French, Foreclose; and so the Lord shall have from thenceforth the faid Tenement, with the Appurtenances, in Fee to him and his Heirs for ever.

Before the Time of William the Conqueror, the English did not seal with Wax, but they usually made a golden Cross on the Parchment, and sometimes an Impression on a Piece of Lead, which hanged to the Grant with a string of Silk; and this was held a sufficient Confirmation of the Grant it self, without Signing, or any Witnesses. Ingulphus, pag. 901. tells us, That Chirographorum confestionem Anglicanam, qua antea usque ad Edwardi Regis tempora fidelium prasentium subs ripticnibus cum crucibus aureis aliisque sacris signaculis sirma suerunt; Normanni condemnantes Chirographa chartas vocabant & chartarum firmitates cum cerea impressione per uniuscujusque speciale sigillum sub instillatione trium aut quatuor testium astantium conficere constituebant.

The Colour of the Wax with which the King's Grants were sealed, was usually green, to signify Rem in perpetuo vigore permanfuram, and the Impref-fion in Lay-Men's Seals was, a Man on Horse-back with a Sword in his Hand, till the Year 1218. and then they began to engrave their Coats of Arms on their Seals; only the Archbi-shops and Bishops by a Decree of Cardinal Otto, who was Legate here in the Year 1237. were to have Sigillum, puta nomen dignitatis, officii, seu collegii, & etiam illorum proprium nomen, qui dignitatis vel officii perpetui gaudent bonore, insculptum notis & characteribus manifestis; sicque sigillum authenticum babeatur.

Snottering filter. There was a Custom in the Village of Wylegh, that all the service Tenants should pay for their Tenement a Duty called Snottering silver, i. e. for each Tenement 1 den. ob. to the Abbot of Colchester. Placit. 18 Edw. 1.

Bot, Soca, According to Minshew, is a Word signifying a Power or Liberty of Jurisdiction; whence our Law-Latin Word Soca, for a Seigniory enfranchised by the King, with Liberty of holding a Court of his Sockmen, or Socagers, i. his Tenants, whose Tenure is hence called Socage. Skene de verbor. Interp. says, Sor is called Setta de Skene de verbor. Interp. says, Soc is called Setta de hominibus suis, in curia secundum consuetudinem Regni. See more there: And Brasson, lib. 3. trast. 2. cap. 8. mentions divers Liberties, as Soc and Sac, Toll and Thean, Infangthef & Utsangthef, & istiqui habent talem libertatem, tossum judicare in curia sua eum qui inventus suerit infra libertatem suam, seissitus de aliquo latrocinio manisesso. The same Interpretation Lambard gives it in his Translation of the Sax. Laws: For among the rest in those of King Ina, (Leg. 24.) be Cyric soenum, rendered, De immunitate fani: And in the Laws of Henry the First it is said, Nullus socnam babet impune peccandi, that is, none hath Liberty of sinning without Punishment. And in the same Sense it is used in Domes-day, for in Essex, under the Title of Terra Rogeri Bigoti, it is thus recorded, Westunam tenet Hugo de Hostlene quod tenuerunt iv. liberi homines T. R. E. qui suerant de soco Algari, &c. See Soc, Soke.

Socage or Socrage, Socagium, May be derived from the French Soc, that is, Vomer, a Coulter or Plowshare, and is a Tenure of Lands by, or for certain inferior Services of Husbandry to be performed to the Lord of the Fec. See Inflitutes of the Common Law, 31. Bratton, lib. 2. cap. 35. num. 1. describes it thus, Dici poterit socagium a socco, & inde tenentes qui tenent in soccagio socmanni dici poterunt, eo quod deputati funt, ut videtur, tagia ad prepinquiores parentes jure sanguints pertinebit. Et si aliquando inde satto capiatur homagium, qued Et si aliquando inde satte capitatur homagium, qued plures contingit, non tamen habebit propter boc Dominus, capitalis custodiam & maritag. Quia non semper sequitur homagium, lices aliquando sequatur. Skene de verbor. signif. says, Secage, is a Tenure of Lance, when a Man is infecssed freely, without any Service, Ward, Rolief or Marriage, and pays to his Lord such Duty as is called Pests. Serseany, &c. There is free socage, and base socage, otherwise called Villenage.—And according to Bratten, Socagium liberum est, whi sit servicium indenaviis Deminic gium liberum est, whi sit servitium indenariis Dominis capitalibus, & nibil inde omning datur ad sevarn & servitium Regis. This free soage is also castled common soage. Anno 37 H. 8. cap. 26. Other Divisions there are in our Books, viz. Braden, lib. 2. cap. 8. num. 3. Old Nat. Brev. fol. 94. and others. But by the Statute 12 Car. 2. cap. 24. als Tenures shall be adjudged and taken to be turned into free and common focage. See Kennet's Gloffers in Serage. This was a Tenure of fo large an Extent, that Littleton tells us, all the Lands in England, which were not held in Knight's Service, were held in Socage. So that it icems the Land was divided between these two Tenures, and as they were of different Natures, so the Descent of these Lands was in a different Manner; for the Lands held in Knights Service descended to the eldest Son; but those held in Villano Socagio, equally among all the Sons; yet if there was but one Messuage, the eldest Son was to have it, so as the rest had the Value of that Messuage to be divided between them. Bratton, lib. 2. cap. 35, 36.

Sormans, alias Sokemans, Socmanni, Arc fuch Tenants as hold their Lands and Tenements by Socage Tenure, of which there are several Kinds, viz. Sokemans of Frank-tenure. Kitebin, fol. St. Sokemans of Base-tenure. Ibid. and Sokemans of antient Demesne, which last seem most properly to be called Sockmans. F. N. B, fol. 14. Britton, cap. 66. num. 2. gormen, The Ceorls or Husbandmen among our Saxon Ancestors were of Two Sorts; one that hired the Lord's Outland or tenementary Land like our Farmers; the other that tilled and manured his Inland or Demeans (yielding operam not census, Work, not Rent) and were thereupon called his somen, or Ploughmen. Spelman of Fends, eap. 7. But after the Conquest, the proper sorkmanni, or Sokemanni, often mentioned in Domesday, were those Tenants who held by no servile Tenure, but commonly paid their Rent as a Soke or Sign of Freedom to the Lord, tho they were sometimes obliged to customary Duties for the Service and Honour of their Lord.

But my Lord Coke was of Opinion, that it did consist of no certain Number of Acres. This Word Solinus was probably from the Sax. Sulk, a Plough, but what Quantity of Land this Solin, Sulling, or Swoling did contain, is not so easily determined. I believe it was commonly the same with a Plough-Land. So that in Domefday Book, Se defendit pro uno solino, is, it is taxed for one Carucate or Plough-Land.

Cereo stata. Stapie, Stapellum, Signifies this or that Town or City, whither the Merchants of England were, by Act of Parliament, to carry their Wool, Cloth, Lead and Tin, and such like staple Commodities of this Land, for the Utterance of them by the Great. The Word may either be derived from the Saxon Staple, which fignifies the Stay, or Hold of any Thing, according to Lambard in his Duty of Constables, num. 4. because the Place is certain and settled; or else from the French Estape, i. forum vinarium, a Market of Staple for Wines; the chief Commodity of France; or ra-ed for this Staple in our Statutes, according as the King thought fit to alter them, from the Sethe King thought fit to alter them, from the Second Year of Edward the Third, to the Fifth of Edward the Sixth, cap. 7. What Officers the Staples had belonging unto them, you may see in Anno 27 E. 3. stat. 3. cap. 21. The Staple Commodities of this Realm, are Wool, Leather, Wool-fells, Lead, Tin, Butter, Cheefe, Cloth, &c. as appears by the Statute 14 Rich. 2. cap. 1. though some allow only the Five first. gonem Kyng ad officium Prapositi, & juramentum suscepit. Proch. Antiq. p. 456. Statute, Statutum, Has divers Significations; as first, it signifies an Act of Parliament made by the King and the Three Estates of the Realm, in which Sense it is either general or special.

Co. lib. 4. Holland's Case, f. 76. Statute in another Signification, is a short Writing called a Statute-Merchant, or a Statute-Staple, which are in Nature of Bonds. Nature of Bonds. Anno 5 H. 4. cap. 12. and are called Statutes, because made according to the Forms expresly provided by Statutes, which direct both before what Persons, and in what Manner they ought to be made. West. Symbol. part 1. lib. 2. sett. 151. where he defines a Statute-Merchant thus, A Statute-Merchant is a Bond acknowledged before one of the Clerks of the Statutes-Mer-chant and Mayor, or chief Warden of the City of London. or Two Merchants of the said City for that Purpose assigned, or before the Mayor, chief Warden, or Master of other Ciries or good Towns, or other fufficient Men for that Purpose appointed, sealed with the Seal of the Debtor and of the King, which is of Two Pieces; the Greater is kept by the Mayor, chief Warden, See, and the lesser piece thereof by the said Clerks: The Form of which you may see in Fleta, lib. 2. cap. 64. sett. 2. thus: Noverint universime N. de tali Comitatu teneri P. in quadraginta marcis solvendis eidem ad sesium Pasch. Anno Regni Regis, &c. & nisi seceno, concedo quod currant super me & haredes meos districtio & pæna provisa in statuto Domini Regis Edito apud Westm. Dat. London, talli die Anno supradicto. The Fee for the Seal is, for Statutes acknowledged in Fairs, for every Pound at Half-penny, and out of Fairs a Farthing. The Execution upon a Statute-Merchant is, first to take the Body of the Debtor, if he be Lay, and can be found; if otherwise, upon his Lands and Goods, and is founded on the Statute made 13 E. I. fat. 4. See the New Book of Entries, verb. Statute-Merchant.

Statute Staple Is fo called either properly or improperly. A Statute-Staple properly so calor improperty. A Statute-staple property to calcatores Stellati, qui merces deposuerint & exposuerint led, is a Bond of Record, acknowledged before the Mayor of the Staple, in the Presence of one of the Two Constables of the same Staple, for which Seal the Fee is, of every Pound, if the sum exceed not 100 li. an Half-penny, and if it sum exceed not 100 li. an Half-penny, and if it 293. exceed 100 li. a Farthing; and by Virtue of such Statute-Staple, the Creditor may forthwith have Execution of the Body, Lands and Goods of the Debtor: And this is founded upon the Statute 27 Edw. 3. ca. 9. A Statute-Staple improper is a Bond of Record, founded upon the Statute 23 H. 8. cap. 6. Of the Nature of a proper Statute Staple as to the Force and Execution of it, and acknowledged before one of the chief Justices, and in their Absence, before the Mayor of the staple and Recorder of London. The Form of all these Bonds or Statutes, see in West. Symbl. part 1.

lib. 2. feet. 152, 153, 154, 155.
Statutes are also vulgarly taken for the Petit-Sessions, which are yearly kept for the Disposing of Servants in Service, by 5 Eliz. cap. 4. See Recognifiance. And these Statute Sessions, otherwise called Petit-Sessions, are a Meeting in every Hundred of all the Shires in England, where by Custom they have been used, whereto the Constantial of the Constantial o bles and others, both Housholders and Servants repair, for the Debating of Differences between Masters and Servants, the Rating of Servants Wages, and bestowing such People in Service as being fit to serve, either results to seek, or get Masters. Sterling, sterlingum, Was and is the Epithet for Silver Money current within this Realm; and took Name from this, that there was a pure Coin stamped first in England by the Easterlings, or Merchants of East-Germany, by the Command of King John, and accordingly Roger Hoveden parter poster, surv. annal. fol. 377. writes it Esterling. See the Statute of Purveyors, cap. 12. By the Statute 31 Edw. 1. the Penny which is called the Sterling, round, and without clipping, weighs Thirty-two Grains of Wheat, well dried, and Twenty Pence make an Ounce, Twelve Ounces a Pound, and Eight Pound a Gallon of Wine, and Eight Gallons a Bushel, which is the Eighth Part of a Quarter. 17 E. 2. cap. 19. The Word is not yet out of Use; for though we ordinarily say lawful Money of England, yet in the Mint, and the like, they say sterling Money. (Sterling) When it was found convenient in the Fabrication of Monies, to have a certain Quantity or Proportion of baser Metal to be mixed with the pure Gold and Silver; the Word Sterling or Esterling was then introduced, and has ever since been used to denote the certain Proportion or Degree of Finencis, which ought to be retained in the respective Coins. Vide Lownd's Essay upon Coins, pag. 14. See Kennet's Glossary in Ster-lingi.

Steward (Senefcallus) Is compounded of the Saxon Steda, i. e. Room, Place, or Stead, and Weard, i. e. a Ward or Keeper; as much as to fay, a Man appointed in my Place or Stead; and always fignifies a principal Officer within his Justice. risdiction. The greatest of these is the Lord High Steward of England, which was anciently the Inheritance of the Earls of Leicester, till forscited to Henry the Third by Simon de Mountsort. But the Power of this Officer being very great, of Great Master by 32 H. S. cap. 39. But this Statute was repealed by 1 Mar. 2. Subdeacon Is an antient Officer in the Church: He is mentioned in the Apoltolical Canons, viz. 42, 43. He was not made by Imposition of Hands, but by the Delivery of an empty Platter and Cup by the Bishop, and of a Pitcher, Bason, and Towel by the Archdeacon. His Office was to wait on the Deacon with the Linen on which the Body, &e. was consecrated, and to receive and carry away the Plate with the Offerings, and the Cup with the Wine and Water in it, 80% He is often mentioned in the Monkish Historians; and therefore I thought it proper to write so much of his Name and Office.

the urgent Occasions of the Kingdom, to be levi- follow .ed of every Subject, according to the Rate of his Land or Goods, after Four Shillings in the Pound for Land, and Two Shillings Eight Pence for Goods. No History mentions that the Saxon Kings had any Subfidies after the Munner of ours at present; but they had both Levies of Money and personal Services towards the Building and Repairing of Cities, Castles, Bridges, Military Expeditions, &c. which they called Burgbote, Brigbote, Herefare, Heregeld &c. But when the Danes harrassed the Land, King Ethelred yielded to pay them for Redemption of Peace several great Sums of Money yearly. This was called Danegeld, for the Levying of which every Hide of Land was taxed yearly at Twelve Pence, Lands of the Church only excepted, and thereupon it was after called Hydagium, and that Name remained afterward upon all Taxes and subfidies imposed upon Lands; for sometimes it was laid upon Cattle, and then was termed Horngeld. The Normans called these sometimes Taxes, sometimes Tallages, other-whiles Auxilia & subsi dia. The Conqueror had these Taxes, and made a Law for the Manner of their levying, as appears in Emendationibus ejus, pag. 125. sett. Volumus & firmiter, &c. Many Years after the Conquest they were levyed otherwise than now, as every Ninth Lamb, every Ninth Fleece, and every Ninth Sheaf. 14 E. 3. stat. 1. cap. 20. Of which you may see great Variety in Rastall's Abridgment, Tit. Taxes, Tenths, Fifteenths, Subsidies, &c. and 4 Inft. fol. 26 & 33. Spelman says, Dicuntur Epissopi qui Ar-chiepiscopo suffragari & assistere tenentur, & suffraganei di untur quia eorum suffragiis causa Ecclesiastica judicantur. It was enacted, (Anno 26 H. 8. cap. 14.) that it should be lawful for every Diocesan, at his Pleasure, to elect Two honest and discreet spiritual Persons, within his Diocese, and to present them to the King, that he might give the one of them such Title, Stile, Name, and Dignity of such of the Sees in the said Statute specified, as he should think convenient, Ec. and that every such Person shall be called Bishop Suffragan of the same Sec, &c. Cambden in his Britan. Tit. Suit or Sute, Setta, Significs a following another, but in divers Senses. The First is a Smit in Law, and is divided into real and perfonal, and is all one with Action real and personal. Kitchin, fol. 74. Secondly, Suit of Court, or Suit-service, is an Attendance that Tenants owe to the Court of their Lord. 7 H. 7. cap. 2. Thirdly, Suit-Covenant is, when your Ancestor hath covenanted with mine to fue to his Court. Fourthly, Suit-Custom, when I and my Ancestors have been seized of your own and your Ancestors Suit, Time out of Mind. Fifthly, Suit real or regal, when Men come to the Sheriffs Turn or Leet. See Leet. Sixthly, Suit fignifies the following one in Chace, as Fresh Suit. Westm. 1. cap. 46. Lastly, it signifies a Petition made to the King, or any great Person.

Suit of Court, That is Suit to the Lord's Court, is that Service which the Feudatory Tenant was bound to do at the Lord's Court. At first it was expresly mentioned in the Grant how often those Courts should be held. This appears by Fleta, lib. 2. cap. 71. par. 14. Qui faciant Sectas ad Curiani Domini & quot Sectas per Annum. Sometimes one or more, but never exceeding Three. Thorn mentions Two, viz. Et faciant sectam ad Curiam Cantuaria bis per Annum, scilicet, in sesso Michaelis & Pascha. But all the Lord's Tenants were not bound to attend his Courts, but only those to whom their Estates were granted upon that Condition: But every Man was bound to attend the Sheriff's Turn twice in every Year; which see in Secta Regalis. And if the Inheritance, by Reason whereof the Tenant was bound to attend only at one Court, did descend to Co-heirs, he who had capitalem Partem was bound to attend the Lord's Court both for himself and all the Co-heirs.

Suit of the Bing's Beare, Setta pacis Regis, Is the Pursuing a Man for Breach of the King's Peace by Treasons, Insurrections, or Trespasses.

Tabard, Tabarder, The Bachelor Scholars on the Foundation of Queen's College, Oxford, are called Tabiters, or Tabarders; of which Name lively Differential by Thomas Barlow, there is a little Differtation by Thomas Barlow, S. T. P. Provost of the said College, and afterwards Bishop of Lincoln, which, among other Letters and little Tracts, is now in the Hands of the Reverend Mr. Offley Rector of Midleton, Cont. Oxon. and Prebendary of Lincoln, late Chaplain to the said Bishop. Out of which Dissertation, I shall transcribe somewhat for the Instruction, or at least Diversion of the Reader.

That our Scholars were called Tabiters (so we now pronounce the Name) from a Kind of Gown they wore, I make no Question. And that Gown was then called a Tabert or Tabarr, or Tabard. For, 1. Verstegan tells us, Tabert anciently signified a short Gown that reachor Tabard .ed no farther than the Mid-Leg, and that it remains for the Name of a Gown in Germany, and in the Netherlands. And in England, it is now the Name only of an Herald's Coat. 2. Edward Bolton, (Element of Armories, pag. 67.) speaking of the Monument of Edward the Black Prince at Canterbury, tells us, that there be bath on his quilted Coat Armour with half Sleeves Tabard Fashion; and in his Glossary at the End of his Book, explains the Word as Verstegan doth. 3. In Spanish I meet meet. 4. Diocesan, where those of but one Diocesse meet. See Convocation, which is all one with a Syned, only the one is a Greek, and the other a Latin Word. Our Saxon Kings usually called a Synod, or mixed Council, consisting both of Ecclesiasticks and the Nobility, Three Times a Year; which was not properly called a Parliament till Henry the Third's Time. See Parliament.

Tend Seems to fignify as much as to offer, shew forth or endeavour; as to tend the Estate of the Party of the Demandant. Old Nat. Brev. fol. 123. To tend an Averment. Britton, cap. 76. To tend to Traverse. Staunds. Pravog. fol.

Tender May seem to come from the French Tendre, i. tener, delicatus, and used adjectively, signifies the same with us in English: But in a legal Sense it denotes as much as carefully to offer, or circumspectly to endeavour the Performance of any Thing belonging to us. As to tender Rent is to offer it at the Time and Place where and when it ought to be paid. To tender his Law of Summons. Kitchin, fol. 197. Is to offer himself ready to make his Law, whereby to prove that he was not fummoned. See Law. See Make.

Tenement, Tenementum, Signifies most properly a House or Home-stall; but more largely either for a House or Land that a Man holdeth of another, and joined with the Adjective Frank, it contains Lands, Houses, and Offices, wherein we have Estate for Term of Life or in Fee: And in this Sense, Kitchin, fol. 41. makes Frank-tene-ment and base Estate opposite to each other. In the same Sort Britton uses it, cap. 27: as also Brasson doth the Latin liberum tenementum, lib. 1. cap. 5 8 6.

Denementalis (or Terra exterior) Is Land which was possessed by the Tenant, and distinguished by that Name from the Demesne Land of the Lord which was Inland, or Terra interior. See Inland.

Tenementary Land, The Saxon Thanes who possessed Bockland, or hereditary free Estates, divided them into Two Sorts, Inland and Outland. The Inland was the Demains which the Lord kept in his own Hands. The Outland was granted out to Tenants under arbitrary Rents and Services, and therefore called Tenementary Land, the Tenants Land, or the Tenancy. See Spelman of Feuds, cap. 6, 7.

Tenent or Tenant, Tenens, From the Latin Tenere, to hold, fignifies one that holds or possesses Lands or Tenements by any Kind of Right, either in Fee, for Life, Years, or at Will. The Word in Law is used with divers Additions, as Tenant in Dower, which is she that possesses Land by Virtue of her Dower. Kitchin, fol. 160. Te-nant per Statute-Merchant, that holds Land by Virtue of a Statute forfeited to him. Ibid. fol. 172. Tenant in Frank-Marriage. Ibid. fol. 158. He that holds Lands or Tenements by Virtue of a Gift thereof made to him upon Marriage between him and his Wife. Tenant by the Curtefy, ld. f. 195. That holds for his Life, by Reason of a Child begotten by him of his Wife, Reason of a Child begotten by him of his Wise, being an Inheritrix, and born alive. Tenant by Elegit, that holds by Virtue of the Writ called an Elegit. Tenant in Mortgage, that holds by Means of a Mortgage. Tenant by the Verge in antient Demessee (Id. fol. 81.) is he that is admitted by the Rod in the Court of antient Demessee. Tenant by Copy of Court-Roll is one admitted Tenant of any Lands, &c. within a Manor, which Time out of Mind have been demisable, according to the Custom of the Manor. West. The proper Signification of the Word is, viz. The Number of Ten Men, which Number, in the Time of the English Saxons, was called a Decennary, and Ten Decennaries made that which we call an Hundred: The Ten Men were bound for each other to preserve the publick Peace, and if either of them was guilty of a Breach of the Peace, the other Nine were to make Satisfaction or to bring the Criminal to Justice. See Friburg.

It signifies also a Duty or Tribute payable to the King. Hoveden mentions it in this Sense, pag. 737. viz. Rex constituit sibi dari de unaquaque carrucata terra totius Anglia 2 folidos, quod ab antiquo vocatur Tenmantale, probably because every Man of the Decennary was bound to see it paid.

Tenths, Decima, Are that yearly Portion or Tribute which all Ecclesiastical Livings pay to the King; for though the Bishop of Rome does originally pretend Right to this Revenue, by the Example of the High Priest among the Jews, who had Tenths from the Levites, Numb. cap. 8. Hierom. in Ezecb. Yet we read in our Chronicles, That these were often granted to the King by the Pope upon divers Occasions. Sometimes for one Year, fometimes for more, till by the Statute 26 H. 8. eap. 3. they were annexed perpetually to the Crown. See Difines. It fignifies a Tax also levied of the Temporalty. 4 Inft. fol. 34. First-Fruits and Tenths were first on Occasion given, and gradually by Custom claimed, as an Acknowledgment to the See of Rome. The Tembs of all Ecclesiastical Benefices in England were first allowed by Pope Innocent IV. to King Hen. 3. Anno 1253. for Three Years; which occasioned the Norwich Taxation, Anno 1254. This proved a great Oppression to the Clergy, and was soon made more grievous. For when the Pope had again granted the Texts to the King for Three again granted the Tenths to the King for Three Years; for a Compensation of what they fell short of the expected Value, the King in the 53d Year of his Reign, Anno 1269. made the Clergy pay within those Three the Tenths of Four Years. And again, Anno 1288. 16 Ed. 1. when Pope Nicholas IV. granted this Favour to the Crown for Six Years, towards an Expedition to the Holy Land; that they might be then collected to the full Value, a new Taxation by the King's Precept was begun Anno 1288. and finished Anno 1291. 20 Fd. destament, Testamentum, Is thus defined by Plowden, Testamentum est testatio mentis, A Testa-ment is a Witness of the Mind: But Aulus Gelli-us, lib. 6. cap. 12. denies it to be a Compound Word, and saith, It is Verbum simplex, as Calceamensum, Paludamentum, &c. And therefore it may be thus better defined, Testamentum est ultima voluntatis justa sententia, eo quod quis post mortem suam fieri vult, &c. Of Testaments there are two Sorts, viz. a Testament in Writing, and a Testament in Words, which is called a Nuncupative Testament, which is, when a Man being sick, and for sear lest Death, want of Memory, or Speech, should lest Death, want of Memory, or Speech, should come so suddenly upon him, that he should be prevented if he stay'd the Writing of his Testament, desires his Neighbours and Friends to bear Witness of his last Will, and then declares the same before them by Words, which after his Decease is proved by Witnesses, and put in Writing by the Ordinary, and then stands in as good Force as if it had at the first, in the Life of the Testator, here put in Writing, except only for Testator, been put in Writing, except only for Lands, which are devisable but by a Testament put in Writing in the Life of the Testator. Tinpenny, A customary Tribute paid to the Tithingman, to support the Trouble and Charge of his Office. The laborious Du Fresne is apparently mistaken, when in Allusion to the first Syllable, he renders it a Tax of Acknowledgment paid for Tin Mines, or the Liberty of digging Tin. Whereas it bears no such fancied Relation; but Tin is only a Contraction of Teon, and means only the Number Ten. Tithing, Tithingum, From the Saxon Teothunge, which signifies Decuriam: It signifies, (according to Lambard, in his Duty of Conftables) the Number or Company of Ten Men with their Families, knit together in a Society, all being bound to the King for the peaceable Behaviour of each other. Of these Companies, there was one chief or principal Person, who, from his Office was called Teothung-man, at this Day in some Places Tithing-man, but is indeed a Constable, for the old way of Tithing is long since left off. It is also used for of Tithing is long since left off. It is also used for a Court. Magna Chart. c. 25. Merton, c. 10. and 23 E. 3.c. 4. Sce Chief Pledge, Frank-pledge, Decennier and Trithing.

Tillage, Agricultura, Is of great Account in Law, as very profitable for the Commonwealth; and therefore arable Land hath the Precedence before Meadows, Pastures, Woods, Mines, and all other Ground whatsoever. And by laying of Lands used in Tillage to Pasture, Six grand Inconvenien. ces ensue.

1. Idleness, which is the Ground and Beginning of all Mischief.

2. Depopulation and Decay of Towns, for where in some Towns Two Hundred Persons bours, by converting Tillage into Pasture, only Two or Three Herd-men are maintained.

3. Husbandry is decayed.

4. Churches are destroyed, by Diminution of Church-Livings.

5. Injury and Wrong done to Patrons and Ministers.

6. The Defence of the Land against foreign Enemies enfeebled and impaired; the Bodies of Husbandmen being more strong and able, and patient of Cold, Heat, and Hunger than any other. See Kennet's Glossary in Tithes.

London. an. 1125. Nullus in presbyterum, nullus in Diaconum, nisi ad certum Titu-lum, ordinetur. There are many Reasons why a Church is called Titulus: But that which to me feems the best, is, because in former Days the Name of the Saint to whom the Church was dedicated, was engraved on the Porch, as a Sign that the Saint had a Title to that Church. From whence the Church it self was afterwards called Titulus.

Title of Entry Is when one seised of Land in Fee, makes a Feoffment thereof on Condition, and the Condition is broken; after which the Feoffor hath Title to enter into the Land, and may do so at his Pleasure, and by his Entry the Freehold shall be said to be in him presently. And it is called Title of Entry, because he cannot have a Writ of Right against his Feotlee upon Condition, for his Right was out of him by the Feoffment, which cannot be reduced with Entry; and the Entry must be for the Breach of the Con-

Coll, alias Choll, Tolnetum alias Theolonium,
Is a Saxon Word, and hath in our common Law Two Significations. First, It is used for a Liberty to buy and sell within the Precinct of a Manor. Lamb. Ar.b. f. 132. Secondly, For a Tribute or Custom paid for Passage, &c. Brast. lib. 2. ca. 24. num. 3. interprets it to be a Liberty as well to take as to be free from Toll, for they who are enfectfed with Toll, are Custom-free, saith Skene. Toll, hoc cft, qued aos & bomines veftri de toto Homagio vestro sint quieti de omnibus mercatis & de Tolne-to de omnibus rebus emptis & venditis. Of this Free-dom from Toll the City of Coventry boasts of an ancient Charter, granted by Leofrich (or Lurich)
Merciorum Comes, who at the Importunity of Godeva his virtuous Lady, granted this Freedom to that City; and in Richard the Second's Time (as Dugdale faith in his Description of Warwickshire) the Picture of him and his Lady was fet up in the South Window of Trinity-Church there, holding in his right Hand a Charter with these Words written thereon.

I Lurich, foz the Love of Thee,

Wrong or Damage which is done either to the King in his Forest, or by one private Man to another; and in this Signification it is of two Sorts, Trespass general, otherwise termed Trespass vi & armis; and Trespass special, otherwise call'd Trespass upon the Case; and this seemeth to be without Force, however some stays are conwithout Force, howbeit sometimes they are confounded. How to distinguish the Forms of these Writs or Actions, see F. N. B. fol. 86, 87. In an Action of Trespass, the Plaintiff always sues for Damages, or the Value of the Hurt done him by the Defendant. There is also Trespass local, and Trespass transitory. Trespass bocal is that which is Trespass transitory. Trespass local is that which is so annexed to a Place certain, that if the Desendant join Issue upon the Place, and traverse the Place only by saying absque boe, that he did the Trespass in the Place mentioned in the Declaration, and aver it, it is enough to defeat the Action. Trespass transitory is that which cannot be defeated by the Defendant's Traverse of the Place, because the Place is not material; but Actions of Trespass quare clausum fregit ought to be local. Eurney, or Conrnament, (French Tourney, i. e. Decursorium) Signifies a martial Exercise of Knights or Gentlemen fighting on Horseback one with another in Sport; and is thus defined, Torneamenta dicuntur nundina vel feria in quibus milites neamenta dicuntur nundina vel feria in quibus milites ex condicto convenire, & ad oftentationem virium suarum & audacia, temere congredi solent. This Word is used in the Statute 24 H. S. cap. 13. but the Thing it self is now disused. Twilbe Men, Duodecim bomines legales, Otherwise called the Fury or Enquest, is a Number of Twelve Persons, or upwards, to the Number of Twenty-four, by whose Oath as to Matter of Fact all Trials pass, both in Civil and Criminal Causes, through all Courts of the Common Law in this Realm. First, in Civil Causes, when Proof is made of the Matter in Question, then the Point of the Fact (that they are to give their Verdict upon) is delivered likewise unto them, which we call the Isue; then they are put in mind of their Oath to do Right, and are by the Judges, who sum up the Evidence, sent out of the Court by themselves, to consider upon the Evidence on both Sides, until they be agreed, which done, they return to the Court, and de-liver their Verdict by the Mouth of their Foreman; according to which (if the Matter be not arrested or stay'd by the Court) the Judgment passeth. See Glanvile, lib. 2. c. 14, 15. In Causes criminal there are Two Sorts of Enquests, one called the Grand Enquest, the other the Enquest of Life and Death. The Grand Enquest is so called, either because it consists of Sixteen at the least, or else because all Causes Criminal or Penal pass first through them; whereas the other Enquest is especially appointed for one or few Matters touching Life and Death committed to their Consideration. Those of the Grand Enquest are called by Bratton, Duodecim milites, lib. 3. tratt. 2. cap. 1. num. 2. Because they were wont to be Knights, if so many could be had: And Meapons, and in great Companies: For which Reason it differed from another warlike Exercise, any Offence, and accordingly to give their Opifusts; for that was a single Combat by one Man mion generally, either by writing these Words, against another.

Surno Chiese mitum Is a Writ that lies for those that are called to the Sheriff's Turn those that are called to the Sheriff's Turn the East presented. Never of the Sheriff's Turn the East presented. the Fact presented. Now as Criminal Causes be of Two Sorts, either capital or finable, so is there a double Course of these Indistments; for in Causes only finable, the Party indicted must either traverse the Indictment by denying it, and so it is referred to a Petit Jury, whereby he is either convicted or discharged of the Crime; or else if he confess it, the Court setteth a Fine upon him without more ado. But in Matters of Life and Death, the Party indicted is commanded to hold up his Hand, and answer, Guilty or Not Guilty; if Guilty, he standeth convicted by his own Confession; if Not Guilty, he is farther referred to the Jury of Life and Death, who consider upon the Proof brought against the Priferent der upon the Proof brought against the Prisoner, and accordingly bring in their Verdict; accord ing to which he is either condemned or acquitted. Millaur, Villanus, Signifies as much as Servus amon the Civilians. A Man of fervile or base degree, from the French Vilain, vilis, or from the Latin Villa, a Country Farm, whereto they were deputed to do Service: Of these Bond men or Villains, there were Two Sorts in England, one termed a Villain in grofs, who was immediately bound to the Person of his Lord and his Heirs. The other a Villain regardant to a Manor, whom the Civilians term Gleba ascriptitium, being bound to his Lord as a Member belonging and annexed to a Manor, whereof the Lord was Owner. Smith de Rep. Anglor. lib. 3. cap. 8. Old Nat. Brev. fol. 8. and Bratton, lib. 1. cap. 6. num. 4. He was him free; and whom the Lord might put out of his Lands and Tenements, Goods and Chattels at his Will, and beat and chastise, but not main him. There are not truly any Villains now, tho' the Law concerning them stands unrepeal'd. We have hardly heard of any Case in Villenage since Crouche's Case in Dyer. Mis, Force; so we say, Vi & Armis, by Force of Arms; and this Force is Five-fold, wis impulsiva, ablativa, expulsiva, turbativa & inquietativa: Vis ablativa is the Taking away of moveable Things: And hence accrues an Action, quare Vi & Armis, &c. Vis compulsiva, by which a Man is compelled to do that which otherwise he would not do of his own free Will. And from this also accrues an Action; Vis expulsiva is, when any one is cast out of his Possession by Force and Arms. Vis turbativa is, when any one is disturbed in his Possession, as when Two strive to possess the same Thing. Vis inquietativa is, when one Man will not suffer another quietly to enjoy his Right, or to do a Thing in his own Bounds or Limits. And from all these, some Sort of Action will arise.

Molunt, Voluntas, Is, when the Tenant holds at the Will of the Lessor, or Lord, and that is in Two Manners; one is, when I make a Lease to a Man of Lands, to hold at my Will, then I may put him out at my Pleasure, but if he fow the Ground, and I put him out, then he shall have his Corn with Egress and Regress till it be ripe to cut, and carry it out of the Ground. And such Tenant at Will is not bound to sustain and repair the House as Tenant for Years is. But if he make wilful Waste, the Lessor shall have against him an Astronomy of the Lord is, by Copy of Court-Roll, according to the Custom of the Manor; and such a Tenant may surrender the Land into the Hands of the Lord, according to the Custom, to the Use of another for Life, in Fee, or in Tail; and then he shall take the Land of the Lord, or his Steward, by Copy, and shall webs line to the Lord. make Fine to the Lord.

Bradon writes of this at large, 1. 5. tract. 4. per totum. And Litt. in his Tenures, cap. ult. also F. N. B. fol. 134. And this seems in some Measure to agree to the Contract in the Civil Law, whereby the Vendee bindeth the Vendor, fometimes in the simple Value of the Things bought, sometimes in the Double, to warrant the secure enjoying the Thing bought; yet there is this Difference between the Civil and the Common Law, that the Civil Law binds every Man to warrant the Security of that which he felleth, which the Common Law doth not, except it be specially covenanted. The Process whereby the Vouchee is called, is a Summoneas ad warrantizandum. And if the Sheriff return upon that Writ, that the Party hath nothing whereby he may be fummoned, then goes out another Writ called Sequatur sub suo periculo. See Lamb. Explic. of Saxon Words, verb. Advocare. A Recovery with a fingle Voucher, is, when there is but one Voucher: And with a double Voucher, is, when the Vouchee voucheth over, and so a treble Voucher. There is also a Foreign Voucher, when the Tenant being impleaded in a particular Jurisdiction, as in London, or the like; voucheth one to Warranty, and prays, that he may be summoned in some other County, out of the Jurisdiction of that Court, which might more aprly be called a Voucher of a Foreigner. Voucher is also used in the Statue 19 Car. 2. cap. 1. for a Leiger-Book, or Book of Account, wherein are entered the Acquittances or Warrants for the Accountant's Discharge.

Usa Is the River Isis. Tunc in rectum ad Undefordum, tunc sursum in Usa ad Watlingstreet. Du Cange. This River was called Iss from the God-Cange. This River was called Ifis from the Goddess of that Name: For it was customary amongst the Pagans to dedicate Hills, Woods, and Rivers, to some Goddess, and to call them after that Name. And the Britons having the greatest Reverence for Ceres and Proferpina, who was also called Isis, did for that Reason Name this River Isis; and she being the Goddess of the Night, from thence they computed Days by Nights, and Years by Months: Of which we have still some Remains, as Seven-night, Fortnight, &c. Mitters Barristers, Furis consulti, Are such, who for their long Study, and great Industry bestowed upon the Knowledge of the Common Law, be called from their Contemplation to Practice, and in the Face of the World, to take upon them the Protection and Defence of Clients. These in other Countries are called Licentiati in jure. The Time before any one ought to be called to the Bar by the ancient Orders, was heretofore Eight Years, now reduced to Seven, and the Exercises done by him (if he were not called Ex gratia) were Twelve Grand Moots, performed in the Inns of Chancery in the Time of the Grand Readings, and Twenty-four Petty Moots at the Inns of Chancery in the Term-Times, before the Readers of the respective Inns of Chancery. A Barrister newly called is to attend the Six next long Vacations Exercise of the House, viz. in Lent and Summer, and is therefore for those 3 Years called a Vacation Barrifter. And they are called Utter-Barrifters, Pleaders without the Bar, to distinguish them from Benchers, or those who have been Readers, who are fometimes admitted to plead within the Bar; as the King, Queen, or Prince's Counfel are.

Mapentake, or Mespentake Is all one with that we call a Hundred, as appears by Bratton, lib. 3. tratt. 2. c. 1. num. 1. Convocentur (he faith) servientes & Ballivi Hundredorum, & per ordinem irrotulentur Hundredarii sive Wapentachia & nomina servientium, &c. Nominis autem origo, non ab armorum tractu, ut Hovedeno traditum; sed hinc, qued quoties novus esset Hundredi Dominus, ei in subjectionis signum arma redderent vassalli, ut Ranusso Cestriersi observatum. Lib. 1. cap. 5. And Lambard in his Explication of Saxon Words, verb. Centuria, is of the same Mind; adding that this Word is specially used in the North-Countries beyond the River Trent. And in the Laws of King Edward the Consessor, are these Words, Et quod Angli vocant Hundredum, supra-dicti comitatus vocant Wapentachium. The Origimines, & quilibet eorum debet invenire unum hominem per chii, die statuto in loco ubi consueverant congregari, tres dies in qualibet Septimana a Festo S. Anglor. lib. 2. cap. 16. says, That anciently Musters were taken of the Armour and Weapons of the several Inhabitants of every several Wapentake, and from those that could not find fufficient Pledges for their good Abearing, their Weapons were taken away, and given to others.

The Word feems to be of Danish Original, and to be so called for other Reasons than what is given by Sir Tho. Smith, viz. When first this Kingdom was divided into Wapentakes, he who was the Chief of the Hundred, and whom we now call a High Constable, as foon as he entered upon his Office, appeared in the Field on a certain Day on Horseback with a Pike in his Hand, and all the chief Men of the Hundred met him there with their Lances, who alighting, they touched his Pike with their Lances; which was a Sign that they were firmly united to each other, by the touching their Weapons; for in Sax. Weapon is Armitura, and Tac, tactus.

Others say 'tis derived a Sax. Weapen, Arma, and Teacen, Tradere; because the Tenants delivered their Arms to every Lord, as a Token of their Homage and Subjection.

Ancestors had a customary Way of Purgation, which they called Judicium Dei, believing it to be the Interpolition of Divine Providence, or as it were the immediate Judgment and Decision of God himself This was commonly by Fire-Ordeal, or by Water Ordeal, and this latter was either by hot Water, or by cold Water. The Purgation by hot Water was for the Party accused to thrush his Hands or Feet into scalding Water, on Presumption that his Innocence would receive no harm. That by cold Water, was for the Defendant to be cast into a Pond or River, (as they now pretend to try Witches) whether he would fink or swim. The Fire-Ordeal was for Free-men, and Persons of better Condition: The Water-Ordeal for Churls, Bond-men, and other Rusticks, as Glanvile reports- In tali casu tenetur se purgare is qui accusatur per Dei judicium, scilicet, per Ferrum ealidum vel per aquam pro diversitate conditionis Hominum, scilicet, per ferrum calidum si sit Homo liber, per aquam si fuerit rusticus.

This Street leads from Dover to London, Saint Albans, Dunstable, Towercester, Atherston, and the Severn, near the Wrekinin Shropshire, extending it self to Anglesey in Wales. Anno 39 El. c. 2. The Second is called Ikenild-street, so called ab Icenis, stretching from Southampton over the River Isis, at New-bridge; thence by Cambden and Litchfield; then it passeth the River Derwent by Derby, so to Bolseover-Castle, and ends at Tinmouth. The Third was called The Fosse, because in some Places it was never perfected, but lies as a large Ditch, leading from Cornwal through Devonshire, by Tetbury, near Stow in the Wolds, and besides

Coventry to Leicester, Newark, and so to Lincoln. The Fourth was called Ermine or Erminage-street, beginning at St. David's in West-Wales, and going to Southampton. See the Laws of Edward the Confessor, whereby these Four publick Ways had the Privilege of Pax Regis. See Hollinshed's Chron. vol. 1. cap. 19. and Henry of Huntington, lib. 1. in princi-

And in Leg. W. 1. c. 30. there are Three Ways mentioned; but Ikenild-fireet is omitted, which was called Iknild from the Iceni, and Streat, which fignifies a Way.

them in use with us; the one called Troy-weight, having Twelve Ounces in the Pound, by which precious Stones, Electuaries, and medicinal Things, Gold, Silver and Brede be weighed. The other is termed Averdupois, and contains Sixteen Ounces in the Pound, by which all other Things be weighed that pass by Weight. Geo. Agricola in his learned Tractate De Ponderibus & menfuris, p. 339. terms the Pound of Twelve Ounces Libram medicam, and the other of Sixteen Ounces Libram civilem, saying thus of them both, Medica Er civilis libra numero non gravitate unciarum differunt. The Second seems so to be termed, by reason of the more full Weight. But by these Words Aver du pois, are sometimes signified such Merchandise as are bought and sold by this Kind of Weights. Mortt, Breve, Is the King's Precept, whereby any Thing is commanded to be done touching a Suit or Action; as the Defendant or Tenant to be summoned, a Distress to be taken, a Disseisin to be redressed, &c. And these Writs are diversly divided in divers Respects; some in respect of their Order, or Manner of granting, are termed Original, and some Judicial. Original Writs are those that are sent out for the Summoning of the Desendant in a personal, or the Tenant in a real Action, before the Suit begins, or rather to begin the Suit: Those are Judicial, which are sent out by Order of the Court where the Cause depends, upon Occasion after the Suit begun. Old Nat. Brev. fol. 51, & 147. And the Judicial are known from the Original thus, because the Teste of that bears the Name of the Chief Justice of that Court whence it issue, whereas the Original in the Teste has the Name of the Prince: and according to the Nature of the Action, they are either Personal or Real: Real are either touching the Possession called Writs of Entry, or the Property called Writs of Right. Some Writs are at the Suit of the Party, some of Office, some Ordinary, some of Privilege. A Writ of Privilege is that which a privileged Person brings to the Court for his Exemption, by Reason of some Privilege. See Pricedendo, and New Book of Entries, verbo Privilege. See Brief. The Word is derived from the Saxon Writan, scribere; and Skinner tells us it is worth Observation, that we alone of all the German Race, do still retain this Word, for they call it schreiben, from the Latin scribe.
