that surcharges a Common, at the Election of him that is injured thereby. 1 Lill. 504, 505. Also for a Rent-charge out of Lands, there may be Writ of Annuity or Distress, at the Election of the Grantee; but after the Death of the Grantor, if the Heir be not charged, the Election to bring Annuity ceaseth. Dyer 344. A Man was indicted of Felony for Entering an House and taking away Money, and found guilty, and burnt in the Hand; after which, the Person who lost the Money brought an Action of Trespass against the other for Breaking his House, and taking away his Money; and it was held that the Action would lie; for though it was at his Election at first, either to prefer an Indictment or bring an Action, yet by the Indictment he had made no Election, because that was not the Prosecution of the Party, but of the Crown. Style 347. If a Bargain and Sale be made of Lands, which is inrolled, and at the same Time the Bargainor levies a Fine thereof to the Bargainee, he hath his Election to take by one or the other. 4 Rep. 72. A Wife hath her Election which to take, of a Jointure made after Marriage, or her Dower, on the Death of the Husband, and not before. Dyer 358. When a Lessor hath Election to charge the Lessee, or his Assignee, for Rent; if he accepts the Rent of the Assignee, he hath determined his Election. 3 Rep. 24. If a Person hath Election to pay or perform one of two Things at a Day, and he do neither of them at that Day, his Election is gone: And where a Grant is made of two Acres of Land, the one for Life, the other in Fee, or in Tail, and before any Election the Feoffee makes a Feoffment of both; in this Case the Election will be gone, and the Feoffor may enter upon which he will for the Forfeiture. 2 Rep. 37. If Money on a Mortgage be to be paid to a Man, his Heirs, or Executors, the Mortgagor hath Election to pay it to either: And if in a Feoffment, it be to pay it to the Feoffee, his Heirs or Assigns, and he enfeoff another, the Feoffor may pay the Money to the first, or second Feoffee, &c. Co. Litt. 210. In some Cases, where one hath Cause of Suit, he may sue one Person or another at his Election; for there is an Election of Persons, as well as of Things. Dyer 204, 207. A Man by Deed binds himself and his Heirs to pay Money, and dies; the Obligee may chuse to sue the Heir, or the Executors, although both of them have Assets. Poph. 151. One may have Election when he hath recovered a Debt, to have his Execution by Elegit, Fieri facias, or Cap. ad Satisfaciendum; but where he takes an Elegit, and hath no Fruit of it, he may resort to another Writ, though the Election be entered on Record. Hob. 57. Dyer 60, 369. There is no Election against the King in his Grants, &c. 1 Leon. 30. And an Act becoming void, will determine an Election. Hob. 152.

Election of a Clerk of Statutes-Merchant. Is a Writ that lies for the Choice of a Clerk assign'd to take Bonds called Statutes Merchant; and is granted out of the Chancery, upon Suggestion that the Clerk formerly assign'd is gone to dwell at another Place, or is under some Impediment to attend the Duty of his Office, or hath not Lands sufficient to answer his Transgressions, if he should act amiss, &c. F. N. B. 164.

Election of Ecclesiastical Persons. There is to be a free Election for the Dignities of the Church, by 9 Ed. 2. c. 14. And none shall disturb any Person from making free Election, on Pain of great Forfeiture. If any Persons that have a Voice in Elections, take any Reward for an Election in any Church, College, School, &c. the Election shall be void: And if any of such Societies resign their Places to others for Reward, they incur a Forfeiture of double the Sum; and the Party giving it, and the Party taking it, is incapable of such Place.

Stat. 31 Eliz. c. 6. Election of Bishops. Vide Bishops.

Election of a Verderor of the Forest, (Electione Viridarium Forestæ) Is a Writ which lies for the Choice of a Verderor, where any of the Verderors of the Forest are dead, or removed from their Offices, &c. It is directed to the Sheriff; and, as appears by the ancient Writs of this Kind, the Verderor is to be elected by the Freeholders of the County, in the same Manner as Coroners. New Nat. Br. 366.

Election of Members of Parliament. See Parliament.

Eleemosyna, Alms; Dars in puram & perpetuam Eleemosynam, to give in pure and perpetual Alms, or Frank-almoigne; as Lands were commonly given in ancient Times to Religious Uses. Cowel.

Eleemosyna Regis, or Eleemosyna Aratri, Is a Penny which King Ethelred ordered to be paid for every Plough in England, towards the Support of the Poor: It is called Eleemosyna Regis, because it was at first appointed by the King. Leg. Ethelred. cap. 1.

Eleemosynaria, The Place in a Religious Hoofe, where the common Alms were deposited, and thence by the Almoner distributed to the Poor.

Eleemosynarius, The Almoner or peculiar Officer who received the Eleemosynary Rents and Gifts, and in due Method distributed them to pious and charitable Uses. There was such a chief Officer in all the Religious Houses: And the greatest of our English Bishops had anciently their Almoners, as now the King hath. Linwood's Provincial, lib. 1. tit. 12. See Almoner.

Eleemosynæ, Hath been used for the Possessions belonging to Churches. Blount.

Elegit, (from the Words in it, Elegit sibi Liberrari) Is a Writ of Execution that lies for him who hath recovered Debt or Damages, or upon a Recognizance in any Court, against one not able in his Goods to satisfy the same; directed to the Sheriff, commanding him to make Delivery of a Moiety of the Party's Land, and all his Goods, Beasts of the Plough excepted. And the Creditor shall hold the said Moiety of the Land so delivered unto him, until his whole Debt and Damages are paid and satisfied; and during that Term he is Tenant by Elegit. Reg. Orig. 299. Co. Lit. 280. Upon an Elegit, the Sheriff is to deliver one Half of all Houses, Lands, Meadows and Pastures, Rents, Reversions, and Hereditaments wherein the Defendant had any sole Estate in Fee, or for Life, into whose Hands soever the same do afterwards come; but not of a Right only to Land, an Annuity, Copyhold Lands, &c. Dyer 206. 7 Rep. 49. Plowd. 224. This Writ is given by the Statute of Westm. 2. 13 Ed. 1. c. 18. And by it the Plaintiff, &c. elects omnia bona & catalla of the Defendant, præter boves & Afros de Caruca sua; and also a Moiety of all the Lands which the Defendant had at the Time of the Judgment recovered: But it ought to be sued within a Year and a Day after the Judgment; and Inquisition is to be made by a Jury summoned by the Sheriff of what Land the Defendant had, &c. F. N. B. 267. All Writs of Execution may be good, though not returned, except in Elegit; but that must be returned, because an Inquisition is to be taken upon it, and that the Court may judge of the Sufficiency thereof. 4 Rep. 65, 74. It has been ruled, that if more than a Moiety of the Lands is delivered on an Elegit by the Sheriff, the same is void for the Whole. Sid. 91. 2 Salk. 563. And the Sheriff cannot sell any Thing but what is found in the Inquisition; and therefore if he sell a Term for Years, &c. misrecited in the Inquisition as to the Commencement thereof, the Sale is void. 4 Rep. 74. In Debt upon Bond, the Defendant before the Trial conveyed his Lands

Lands to another, &c. but he himself took the Profits; notwithstanding this Conveyance a Moiety of his Lands was extended on an Elegit. Dyer 294. 3 Rep. 78. If two Persons have each of them a Judgment against one Debtor, and he who hath the first Judgment brings an Elegit, and hath the Moiety of the Lands delivered to him in Execution; and then the other Judgment-Creditor sues out another Elegit, he shall have only a Moiety of that Moiety which was not extended by the first Judgment. Cro. Eliz. 483. But this is contrary to the Year-Book 10 Ed. 2. where 'twas held, that the intire Moiety left should be delivered in Execution. 1 Nelf. Abr. 698. When Lands are once taken in Execution on an Elegit, and the Writ is returned and filed, the Plaintiff shall have no other Execution. 1 Lev. 92. And if the Defendant hath Lands in more Counties than one, and the Plaintiff awards an Elegit to one County, and extends the Lands upon the Elegit, and afterwards files the Writ, he cannot after that sue out an Elegit into the other Counties: But he may immediately after Entry of the Judgment upon the Judgment-Roll award as many Elegits into as many Counties as he thinks fit, and execute all or any of them at his Pleasure. 1 Lill. Abr. 509. Cro. Jac. 246. And it has been held, that a Person may have several Elegits into several Counties, for the intire Sum recovered; or that he may divide his Execution, and have it for Part in one County, and Part in another. Moor 24. A Man had Lands in Execution, upon Elegit, and afterwards moved for a new Elegit, upon Proof that the Defendant had other Lands not known to the Creditor at the Time when the Execution was sued out; and it was adjudged, that if he had accepted of the first by the Delivery of the Sheriff, he could not afterwards have a new Elegit; but when the Sheriff returns the Writ, he may waive it, and then have a new Extent. Cro. Eliz. 310. 1 Nelf. Abr. 699. If the Defendant dies in Prison, so that there is no Execution with Satisfaction, the Plaintiff shall have an Elegit afterwards. 5 Rep. 86. And if all the Lands extended on an Elegit be evicted by better Title, the Plaintiff may take out a new Execution. 4 Rep. 66. Where one having Land by Elegit, is wholly evicted out of it, he may have a further Execution, either against the Defendant's Lands or Goods, as he might have had at first; save only he must have a Scire facias against the Defendant, or him that comes in under him: But if the Eviction be of Part of the Land, or for a Time only, so that the Plaintiff may take his full Execution by holding it over; there he cannot have any new Execution by the Statute 32 H. 8. c. 5. 2 Shep. Abr. 115. After a void Elegit sued out and filed, a new Writ may be had: And if one sue an Elegit upon a Recovery, and the Sheriff returns that he hath made Inquisition of the Lands of the Defendant by twelve Jurors; but he cannot deliver the Moiety to the Party according to the Writ, for that all the Land is extended to another on a Statute; the Plaintiff shall have a Cap. ad Satisfaciend. Röll. Abr. 905. Where an Elegit is sued upon a Judgment, the levying of Goods thereon for Part only, is no Impediment, but the Plaintiff may bring another Elegit pro Residuo, and take the Lands. 1 Lev. 92. On a Nihil returned upon an Elegit, there may be brought a Capias ad satisfaciendum, or Fieri facias. 1 Loon. 176. And an Elegit may be sued, after a Fieri facias returned Nulla bona, or where Part is levied by it; and after a Capias ad Satisfaciendum returned Non est Inventus. Hob. 57. If on Recovery by Writ of Debt, a Fieri facias is sued out, and the Sheriff return Nulla bona; then the Plaintiff shall have a Capias or Elegit, &c. And if the Sheriff return, that the Defendant hath nothing whereof he may make Satisfaction, he shall be sent to the Prison of the Fleet, &c. there to remain 'till he have made Agreement with the Party: And if the Sheriff in such Case return Non est Inventus, there shall go forth an Exigent against him. Terms de Ley 289. There is another Sort of Elegit upon adjudging Execution against Tertenants, whereon only a Moiety of the Lands, against which Execution is awarded, is extended by the Sheriff; and nothing is mentioned therein of any Goods and Chattels. Ibid. A Person in Execution was suffered to escape, and then he died; the Land which he had at the Time of the Judgment may be extended by Elegit upon a Scire facias brought against his Heir as Tertenant. Dyer 271. A Man may have an Assise of the Land which he hath in Execution by Elegit, if he be deforced thereof. Stat. Westm. 2. c. 18. And if Tenant by Elegit alien the Land in Fee, &c. he who hath Right shall have against him and the Alienee an Assise of Novel Disseisin. Ibid. At a Trial at Bar in C. B. the Court delivered for Law, that where Lands are actually extended and delivered upon an Elegit, a Fine levied on those Lands, and Nonclaim, will bar the Interest of the Tenant by Elegit; and upon the Inquisition found, the Party is in Possession before actual Entry, for in such Case he may bring an Ejectment, or Trespals, &c. 1 Mod. 217. If Tenant by Elegit be put out of Possession before he hath received Satisfaction for his Debt, by the Heir at Law, &c. he may bring Action of Trespals, or re-enter and hold over 'till satisfied: But after Satisfaction received, the Defendant may enter on the Tenant by Elegit. 4 Rep. 28, 67. Tenants by Elegit, Statutes-Merchants, &c. are not punishable for Waste by Action of Waste; but the Party against whom Execution is sued is to have a Writ of Venire facias ad computandum, &c. and there the Waste shall be recovered in the Debt: Though 'tis said there is an old Writ of Waste in the Register for him in Reversion against Tenant by Elegit committing Waste on Lands which he hath in Execution. 6 Rep. 37. New Nat. Br. 130. On Tenant by Elegit's Accounting, if the Money recovered by the Plaintiff is levied out of the Lands, the Defendant shall recover his Land; and if more be received by Waste, &c. he shall have Damages. Terms de Ley 288. See Extent, Execution.

Form of a Writ of Elegit in English.

GEORGE the Second, &c. to the Sheriff of S. Greeting: Whereas A. B. lately in our Court, before us at Westminster, by Bill without our Writ, and by the Judgment of the same Court, hath recovered against C. D. 100l. of Debt, and also 50s. for his Damages, which he hath sustained, as well by Occasion of the Detention of that Debt, as for his Expences and Costs laid out by him about his Suit in that Behalf, whereof the said C. D. is convicted, as appears to us of Record: And afterwards the said A. came into our Court before us, and hath elected to be delivered to him all the Goods and Chattels of the said C. except the Oxen and Heifers of his Cart, (Beasts of his Plough) and in like Manner one Moiety of all and singular the Lands and Tenements of the said C. in your Bailiwick, according to the Form of the Statute in this Case made and provided, until the Debt and Damages aforesaid shall be fully levied thereof: Therefore we command you, that all the Goods and Chattels of the said C. within your Bailiwick, except the Oxen and Heifers of his Cart, (Plough) and likewise a Moiety of all the Lands and Tenements of the said C. in your Bailiwick, whereof the said C. the Day, &c. in the Year of our Reign, &c. on which Day the Judgment aforesaid was rendered, or at any Time afterwards was seized, you cause to be delivered without Delay to the said A. by a reasonable Price and Extent; to hold to him the said Goods and Chattels as his own proper Goods and Chattels, and also to hold the said Moiety of the Lands and Tenements aforesaid as his Freehold, to him and his Assigns, according to the Form of the Statute aforesaid, until the Debt and Damages aforesaid shall be thereof levied: And how this Writ you shall have executed, make certainly known to us at Westminster, on the Day, &c. (after such a Return) under your Seal, and the Seals of those by whose Oath you shall have made that Extent and Appraisalment; And have you then there this Writ. Witnesses, &c.

Elf-Arrows, Were Flint Stones sharpened on each Side in Shape of Arrow-heads, made use of in War by the ancient Britains; of which several have been found in England, and greater Plenty in Scotland, where 'tis said the common People imagine they drop from the Clouds.

Elisors, To impanel Juries, &c. See Elisors.

Elke, A Kind of Yew to make Bows of. Stat. 32 H. 8. cap. 9. Also the Name of the wild Beast somewhat like a Deer.

Elouine, (From the Fr. Esloigner) Signifies to remove or send a great Way off: In this Sense it is used by Statute; if such as be within Age be elouined, so that they cannot come to sue personally, their next Friends shall be admitted to sue for them. 13 Ed. 1. cap. 15.

Elongata, Is a Return of the Sheriff that Cattle are not to be found, or removed, so that he cannot make Deliverance, &c. in Replevin. 2 Lill. Abr. 454, 458.

Elopement, (Derived from the Belg. Es, viz. Matrimonium & Loopen, currere) Is where a married Woman of her own Accord, goes away and departs from her Husband, and lives with an Adulterer. A Woman thus leaving her Husband, is said to elope; and in this Case, her Husband is not obliged to allow her any Alimony out of his Estate; nor shall he be chargeable for Necessaries for her, as wearing Apparel, Diet, Lodging, &c. And where the same is notorious, whoever gives her Credit, doth it at his Peril: But on Elopement, the Putting a Wife in the Gazette, or other News-Paper, is no legal Notice to Persons in general not to trust her; though personal Notice to particular Persons given by the Husband, will be good not to be chargeable to them. 1 Roll. 350. 1 Vent. 42. By Stat. 13 Ed. 1. cap. 34. If the Wife goes away from the Husband, and tarrieth with the Adulterer, without returning and being reconciled to her Husband, this continual Elopement forfeits her Dower; according to these old Verses:

Sponste Virum Mulier fugiens, & Adultera facta, Dote sua careat, nisi sponso sponste retracta.

Action lies against the Adulterer for carrying away another Person's Wife, and detaining her; and large Damages are usually given in these Cases to the injured Husband.

Elp, A Royal Franchise or County Palatine. See County.

Embargo, A Prohibition upon Shipping, not to go out of any Port, on a War breaking out, &c.

Emblements, (From the Fr. Emblavence de Bled, viz. Corn sprung or put up above Ground) Signify properly the Profit of Land sown: But the Word is sometimes used more largely, for any Products that arise naturally from the Ground, as Grass, Fruit, &c. In some Cases he which sowed the Corn shall have the Emblements; and in others not: A Lessee at Will sows the Land, he shall have the Emblements; though if the Lessee determines the Will himself, he shall not have them, but the Lessor. 5 Rep. 116. If Lessee at Will sows the Land with Grain, or other Thing yielding annual Profit, and the Lessor enters before Severance; yet the Lessee shall have it: But where the Lessee plants young Fruit-Trees, or other Trees, or sows the Land with Acorns, &c. he shall not have these: And if such Tenant by good Husbandry make the Grass to grow in greater Abundance; or sow the Land with Hay-seed, by which Means it is increased, if the Lessor enters on the Lessee, the Lessee shall not have it, because Grass is the natural Profit of the Soil. Co. Lit. 55, 56. Where Tenant for Life sows the Land, and dies, his Executors shall have the Emblements, and not the Lessor or him in Reversion; by Reason of the Uncertainty of the Estate. Cro. Eliz. 463. And if a Tenant for Life plants Hops, and dies before Severance, he in Reversion shall not have them, but the Executors of Tenant for Life. Cro. Car. 515. If Tenant for Years, if he so long live, sow the Ground, and die before Severance; the Executor of the Lessee shall have the Corn: And where Lessee for Life leases for Years, if the Lessee for Years sow the Land, and after Lessee for Life dies before Severance, the Executor of Lessee for Years shall have the Emblements. 2 Davv. Abr. 765. But if Tenant for Life sows his Land with Corn, and afterwards grants over all his Estate and Right to another; if the Grantee dies before Severance, it is said his Executors shall not have the Corn, but he in Reversion. Cro. Eliz. 464. If Tenant for Years sows Ground, and before his Corn is sowed, the Term which is certain expires; the Lessor or he in Reversion shall have the Emblements; but he must first enter on the Lands. 1 Lill. Abr. 511. A Lessee for Life or Years sows the Land, and after surrenders, &c. before Severance, the Lessor shall have the Corn. 2 Davv. 764. If there be Lessee for Years upon Condition that if he commit Waste, &c. his Estate shall cease; if he sows the Ground with Corn, and after doth Waste, the Lessor shall have the Corn. Co. Lit. 55. And where a Lord enters on his Tenant for a Forfeiture, he shall have the Corn on the Ground. 4 Rep. 21. A Feme Copyholder for her Widowhood sows the Land, and before Severance takes Husband, so that her Estate is determined, the Lord shall have the Emblements. 1 Lill. 511. Though if such a Feme Copyholder durante viduitate, leases for one Year according to Custom, and the Lessee sows the Land, and afterwards the Copyholder takes Husband, the Lessee shall have the Corn. 2 Davv. 764. If a Husband hold Lands for Life, in Right of his Wife, and sow the Land, and after she dies before Severance, he shall have the Emblements. Dyer 316. 1 Nelf. Abr. 701. And where the Wife hath an Estate for Years, Life, or in Fee, and the Husband sows the Land, and dieth, his Executors shall have the Corn. 1 Nelf. 702. But if the Husband and Wife are Jointenants, though the Husband sow the Land with Corn, and dies before Ripe, the Wife and not his Executor shall have the Corn, she being the surviving Jointenant. Co. Lit. 199. When a Widow is endowed of Lands sown, she shall have the Emblements, and not the Heir. 2 Inst. 81. And a Tenant in Dower may dispose of Corn sown on the Ground; or it may go to her Executors, if she die before Severance. Stat. 20 Hen. 3. 2 Inst. 80, 81. And if a Parson sows his Glebe, and dies, his Executors shall have the Corn: Likewise such Parson may by Will dispose thereof. 1 Roll. Abr. 655. Stat. 28 Hen. 8. cap. 11. If Tenant by Statute-Merchant sows the Land, and before Severance a casual Profit happens, by which he is satisfied, yet he shall have the Corn. Co. Lit. 55. Lands sown are delivered in Execution upon an Extent, the Person to whom delivered shall have the Corn on the Ground. 2 Leon. 54. And Judgment was given against a Person, and then he sowed the Land, and brought a Writ of Error to reverse the Judgment; but it was affirmed; and adjudged that the the Recoveror should have the Corn. 2 Bulst. 213. If a Disseisor sows the Land, and afterwards cuts the Corn, but before 'tis carried away, the Disseisee enters; the Disseisee shall have the Corn. Dyer 31. 11 Rep. 52. A Person seised in Fee of Land dies, having a Daughter, and his Wife Priviment ensient with a Son; the Daughter enters and sows the Land, and before Severance of the Corn, the Son is born; in this Case the Daughter shall have the Corn, her Estate being lawful and defeated by the Act of God; and it is for the publick Good that the Land should be sowed. Co. Lit. 55. A Man seised in Fee-simple sows Land, and then devises the Land by Will, and dies before Severance; the Devisee shall have the Corn; and not the Devisor's Executors. Winch 52. Cro. Eliz. 61. If a Person devises his Land sown, and says nothing of the Corn, the Corn shall go with the Land to the Devisee: And when a Man seised of Land sows it, and dies without Will, it goes to the Executor, and not the Heir. 1 Lill. 512. A Devisee for Life dies, he in Remainder shall have the Emblements with the Land. Hob. 132. Tenant in Fee sows the Land, and devises it to A. for Life, Remainder to B. for Life, and dies; A. dies before Severance, B. in Remainder shall have the Corn, and not the Executor of the first Tenant for Life. Cro. Eliz. 61, 464. Where there is a Right to Emblements, Ingress, Egress and Regress are allowed by Law, to enter, cut and carry them away, when the Estate is determined, &c. 1 Inst. 56.

Emblers de Gentz, (Fr.) A Stealing from the People: The Word occurs in our old Rolls of Parliament.—Whereas divers Murders, Emblers des Gentz, and Robberies are committed, &c. Rot. Parl. 21 Ed. 3. n. 62.

Embraceor, (Fr. Embrasseur) Is he that when a Matter is in Trial between Party and Party comes to the Bar with one of the Parties, having received some Reward so to do, and speaks in the Case; or privately labours the Jury, or stands in Court to survey and overlook them, whereby they are awed or influenced, or put in Fear or Doubt of the Matter. Stat. 19 H. 7. cap. 13. And the Penalty of this Offence is 20 l. and Imprisonment, at the Discretion of the Justices, by the said Statute: Also a Person may be punished by Fine, &c. on Indictment at Common Law, as well as by Action on the Statute. Com. Law Com. Plac'd 186. But Lawyers; Attornies, &c. may speak in the Case for their Clients, and not be Embraceors: Also the Plaintiff may labour the Jurors to appear in his own Cause; but a Stranger must not do it: For the bare Writing a Letter to a Person, or Parol Request for a Juror to appear, not by the Party himself, hath been held within the Statutes against Embracery and Maintenance. 1 Inst. 369. Hob. 294. 1 Saund. 301. If the Party himself instruct a Juror, or promise any Reward for his Appearance, then the Party is likewise an Embraceor. And a Juror may be Guilty of Embracery, where he by indirect Practices gets himself sworn on the Tales, to serve on one Side. 1 Lill. 513. There are divers Statutes relating to this Offence and Maintenance, as 5 Ed. 3. cap. 10. 34 Ed. 3. c. 8. 32 H. 8. c. 9, &c.

Embracery, Is the Act or Offence of Embraceors: And to attempt to influence a Jury, or any Way incline them to be more favourable to the one Side than the other, by Promises, Threatnings, Money, Treats, &c. whether the Jurors on whom any such Attempt is made, give any Verdict or no, or whether the Verdict pats on his Side or not; this is Embracery. 1 Inst. 369. Noy's Rep. 102.

Embrizing Days, (From Embers, Cineres) So called either because our Ancestors, when they fasted, sat in Ashes, or strewed them on their Heads, are those which the ancient Fathers called Quatuor Tempora jejunii, and of great Antiquity in the Church: They are observed on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday next after Quadragesima Sunday, (or the first Sunday in Lent) after Whitsunday, Holyhood-day in September, and St. Lucy's Day about the Middle of December. These Days are mentioned by Briton, cap. 53. and other Writers; and particularly in the Stat. 2 & 3 Ed. 6. c. 19. And are kept with great Zeal by the Roman Catholicks: Our Almanacks call them the Ember Weeks.

Embroidery. By the Stat. 22 G. 2. c. 36. no foreign Embroidery, or Gold or Silver Brocade, shall be imported, upon Pain of being forfeited and burnt, and Penalty of 100 l. for each Piece. No Person shall sell or expose to Sale any foreign Embroidery, Gold or Silver Thread, Lace, Fringe, Brocade, or make up the same unto any Garment, upon Pain of having it forfeited and burnt, and Penalty of 100 l. All such Embroidery, &c. found, may be seized and burnt, and the Mercer, &c. in whose Custody it was found, shall forfeit 100 l.

Emendats, (Emenda) Is an old Word still made Use of in the Accounts of the Society of the Inner Temple; whert so much in Emendats at the Foot of an Account, on the Balance thereof, signifies so much Money in the Bank or Stock of the Houses, for Reparation of Losses or other emergent Occasions: Quod in Restaurationem Damni tribuitur. Spelm.

Emendare, Emendam solvere, to make Amends for any Crime or Trespals committed. Leg. Edw. Confess. cap. 35. Hence a capital Crime, not to be atoned by Fine, was said to be inemendabile. Leg. Canut. p. 2.

Emendatio, Hath been used for the Power of Amending and Correcting Abuses, according to stated Rules and Measures: As Emendati Panni, the Power of looking to the Assise of Cloth, that it be of just Measure; Emendatio Panis & Cervisie, the Assising of Bread and Beer, &c. a Privilege granted to Lords of Manors, and executed by their Officers appointed in the Court-Leet, &c. Ad nos spectat Emendatio Panni & Panis & Cervisie, & quicquid Regis est, Excepto murthero & Latrocinio, &c. — *Paroch. Emperor, (Imperator) The highest Ruler of large Kingdoms and Territories, a Title anciently given to renowned and victorious Generals of Armies, who acquired great Power and Dominion. And this Title, is not only given to the Emperor of Germany, as Emperor of the Romans; but was formerly belonging to the Kings of England, as appears by a Charter of King Edgar, viz. Ego Edgarus Anglorum Basileus, omniumque Regum Insularum Oceani quæ Britanniam circumjacent, &c. Imperator & Dominus.

Emreber, (Fr.) To write down in short. Britton 56.

Enchelson, A French Word used in our Law Books and Statutes, signifying as much as Occasion, or the Cause or Reason wherefore any Thing is done. Stat. 5 Ed. 3. c. 3.

Endeavour. Where one who has the Use of his Reason endeavours to commit a Felony, &c. he shall be punished by our Laws, but not to that Degree as if he had actually committed it: As if a Man assault another on the Highway, in order to a Robbery, but takes nothing from him, this is not punished as Felony, because the Felony was not accomplished; though as a Misdemeanor, it is liable to Fine and Imprisonment. 3 Inst. 68, 69, 161. 11 Rep. 98. And in this Case, the Offender shall be transported, by a late Statute, 7 Geo. 2. cap. 21. Vide Intendment.

Endowment, Signifies the Bestowing or Assuring of Dower on a Woman: But it is sometimes used metaphorically for the Settling a Provision upon a Parson, Parson, or Building of a Church or Chapel; and the Severing a sufficient Portion of Tithes, &c. for a Vicar, towards his perpetual Maintenance, when the Benefice is appropriated. Stat. 15 R. 2. c. 6. 4 H. 4. cap. 12.

Enemy. (Inimicus) Is properly an Alien or Foreigner, who in a publick Capacity and hostile Manner, invades any Kingdom or Country; and whether such Persons come hither by themselves, or in Company with English Traitors, they cannot be punished as Traitors, but shall be dealt with by Martial Law. H. P. C. 10, 15. 1 Hawk. 35. But the Subjects of a Foreign Prince coming into England, and living under the Protection of the King, if they take up Arms, &c. against the Government, they may be punished as Traitors, not as Alien Enemies. 1 Hawk. Ibid. If a Prisoner be rescued by Enemies, the Gaoler is not guilty of an Escape; as he would have been if Subjects had made the Rescue, when he might have a legal Remedy against them. 2 Hawk. 130. Adhering to and Succouring the King's Enemies. See Treason.

Enfranchise. (Fr. Enfranchir) To make Free, or incorporate a Man in any Society, &c. It is also used where one is made a free Denizen, which is a Kind of Incorporation in the Commonwealth.

Enfranchisement. (Fr. from Franchise, i. e. Libertas) Is when a Person is incorporated into any Society or Body Politick, and signifies the Act of Incorporating. He that by Charter is made a Denizen, or Freeman of England, is said to be enfranchised, and let into the general Liberties of the Subjects of the Kingdom: And he who is made a Citizen of London, or other City, or free Burgefs of any Town Corporate, as he is made Partaker of those Liberties that appertain to the Corporation, is in the common Sense of the Word a Person enfranchised. So a Villain was enfranchised, when he was made free by his Lord, and rendered capable of the Benefits belonging to Freemen. And when a Man is enfranchised into the Freedom of any City or Borough, he hath a Freehold in his Freedom during Life; and may not, for endeavouring any Thing only against the Corporation, lose and forfeit the same. 11 Rep. 91.

Englecery or Engleschire. (Engleceria) Is an old Word signifying the being an Englishman. When Canutus the Dane came to be King of England, he at the Request of the Nobility sent back his Army into Denmark, but kept some Danes behind to be a Guard to his Person; and he made a Law for the Preservation of his Danes (who were often privately made away by the English) that if an Englishman killed a Dane, he should be tried for the Murder; or if he escaped, the Town or Hundred where the Fact was done, was to be amerced sixty-six Marks to the King: So that after this Law, whenever a Murder was committed, it was necessary to prove the Party slain to be an Englishman, that the Town might be exempted from the Amerciament; which Proof was called Englecery or Engleschire. And whereas if a Person were privately slain, he was in ancient Time accounted Francigena, which Word comprehended every Alien, especially the Danes: It was therefore, that where any Person was murdered, he should be adjudged Francigena, unless Englecery were proved, and that it was made manifest he was an Englishman. The Manner of proving the Person killed to be an Englishman, was by two Witnesses who knew the Father and Mother, before the Coroner, &c. Brañ. lib. 3. tract. 2. cap. 15. Flota, lib. 1. cap. 30. 7 Rep. 16. This Englecery, by Reason of the great Abuses and Trouble that afterwards were perceived to grow by it, was utterly taken away by Stat. 14 Ed. 3. c. 4.

Englishmen. The Names of, to be certified into the Chancery who are abroad in Holland and Flanders, &c. and shall pay such Impositions as Aliens do. Stat. 14 & 15 H. 8. c. 4.

Engravers. That shall Invent, Design and Engrave Prints, to have the sole Right of printing them for fourteen Years, which shall be engraved with the Names of the Proprietors; and others copying, and selling such Prints, though by varying, &c. without their Consent, shall forfeit 5*s.* for every Print, and also the Plates and Sheets, &c. Stat. 8 Geo. 2. c. 13.

Enhance. To raise the Price of Goods or Merchandize. See Forefaller.

Empleet. Was anciently used for Implead.— They may empleet and be emplected in all Courts. Mon. Ang. Tom. 2. f. 412.

Escent. Is the being with Child. Law. Fr. Dist.

Escenture. Of any Women condemned for a Crime, is no Ground to stay Judgment; but it may be afterwards alledged against Execution. 2 Hale's Hist. P. C. 413.

Entail. (Fr. Entaille, i. e. Incisus) Is Fee entailed, viz. abridged, limited, and tied to certain Conditions, at the Will of the Donor; where Lands are given to, or settled on others. See Fee and Tail.

Enterpleader. (Fr. Enterplaidier, Lat. Interplacitare) Signifies, to discuss or try a Point incidentally happening as it were between, before the principal Cause can be determined. And Enterpleader is allowed that the Defendant may not be charged to two severally, where no Default is in him: As if one brings Detinue against the Defendant upon a Bailment of Goods, and another against him upon a Treaver, there shall be Enterpleader, to ascertain who hath Right to his Action. 2 Davv. Abr. 779. If two bring several Detinues against A. B. for the same Thing, and the Defendant acknowledges the Action of one of them, without a Prayer of Enterpleader, they shall not interplead on the Request of the other; for the Enterpleader is given for the Security of the Defendant, that he may not be twice charged, and he hath waived that Benefit. 18 Ed. 3. 22. If one brings Detinue against B. and counts upon a Delivery of Goods, &c. to redeliver to him, and another brings Detinue against him also, and counts so likewise; if there be not any Privy of Bailment between them, yet they shall interplead, to avoid the double Charge of the Defendant; and also because the Court cannot know to whom to deliver the Thing detained, if both should recover. Br. Enterplead 3. And upon such several Detinues, if the Defendant says that he found it, and traverses the Bailment, they shall interplead; for then he is chargeable as well to the one as the other: So if he says that they deliver'd it jointly, absque hoc, that they delivered it as they have counted: But it is otherwise if the Defendant doth not traverse the Bailment, because if there was a Bailment, he is chargeable only to the Bailor, and may plead in Bar against the others. 2 Davv. 782. Where two bring several Detinues for one Thing, and the Defendant prays that they may interplead, and delivers the Thing to the Court, and before the Award of the Enterpleader, one discontinues the Suit, the other shall not have Judgment; but if he discontinues his Suit after the Enterpleader, the other may have Judgment. 11 H. 6. 19. If a Recovery he had upon an Enterpleader, Judgment shall be given to recover the Thing demanded against the Defendant; and not against the Garnishee, in Case of Garnishment, &c. 2 Davv. 783. When two have enterpleaded in Detinue, he that recovers shall recover Damage against the other. Br. Damage 68. There was formerly Enterpleader relating to Delivery of Lands by the King to the right Heir, where two Persons out of Wardship were found Heirs, &c. 7 Rep. 45. Staund. Prer. cap. 17. Bro. Tit. Enterplead. And anciently the Head Enterpleader made a great Title in the Law.

Entierrie. (from the Fr. Entierete, Entirenes) Is a Contradistinction in our Books to Moiety, denoting the the Whole: And a Bond, Damages, &c. are said to be entire, when they cannot be divided or apportioned.

Entire Tenancy, Contrary to several Tenancy, and signifying a sole Possession in one Man; whereas the other is a joint or common Possession in more. Brook.

Entry, Ingressus, Fr. Entree, i. e. Introitus) Signifies the taking Possession of Lands or Tenements, where a Man hath Title of Entry: And it is also used for a Writ of Possession. This Entry into Lands, is where any Man enters into or takes Possession of any Lands, &c. in his proper Person: And is an actual Entry when made by a Man's self, or by Attorney by Warrant from him that hath the Right; or it is an Entry in Law, for a continual Claim is an Entry implied by Law, and has the same Force with it. Litt. Sect. 419. There is a Right of Entry, when the Party claiming may for his Remedy either enter into the Land, or have an Action to recover it: And a Title of Entry, where one hath lawful Entry given him in the Lands, which another hath, but has no Action to recover till he hath entered. Plowd. 558. 10 Rep. 48. Finch's Law 105. The Writs of Entry concern the Right of Property, and are of divers Kinds, distinguished into four Degrees, according to which the Writs are varied. The first Degree is a Writ of Entry sur Disseisin, that lieth for the Disseisee against a Disseisor, upon a Disseisin done by himself; and this is called a Writ of Entry in the nature of an Assise. Second, a Writ of Entry sur Disseisin in le Per, for the Heir by Discent, who is said to be in the Per as he comes in by his Ancestor; and so it is if a Disseisor make a Feoffment in Fee, Gift in Tail, &c. the Feoffee and Donee are in the Per by the Disseisor. Third, A Writ of Entry sur Disseisin in le Per & Cui, where the Feoffee of a Disseisor maketh a Feoffment over to another, when the Disseisee shall have this Writ of Entry sur Disseisin, &c. of the Lands in which such other had no Right of Entry, but by the Feoffee of the Disseisor, to whom the Disseisor demised the same, who unjustly and without Judgment disseised the Demondant. Fourth, A Writ of Entry sur Disseisin in le Post, which lieth when after a Disseisin the Land is removed from Hand to Hand beyond the Degrees, in Case of a more remote Seisin, whereunto the other three Degrees do not extend. 1 Inst. 238. In these four Degrees, are comprehended generally all Manner of Writs of Entry. And the Writ of Entry in le Post is so called, because the Words of the Writ are, Post Disseisnam quam B. injuste & sine Judicio fecit, &c. Briton observes, that the words In le Per, in le Per & Cui, and In le Post, signify nothing but divers Forms of this Writ, applied to the Case whereupon it is brought; and each Form taking its Name from the Words contained in the Writ. F. N. B. 193. But if any Writ of Entry be conceived out of the right Cause, so that one Form is brought for another, it is abatable. A Writ of Entry in the Per and Cui, shall be maintained against none, but where the Tenant is in by Purchase or Discent; for if the Alienation or Discent be put out of the Degree upon which no Writ may be made in the Per and Cui, then it shall be made in the Post. Terms de Ley 299. And there are five things which put the Writ of Entry out of the Degrees, viz. Intrusion; Disseisin upon Disseisin; Succession where the Disseisor was a Person of Religion, and his Successor enters; Judgment, when a Person hath had Judgment to recover against the Disseisor; and Escheat, on the Disseisor's dying without Heir, or committing Felony, &c. on which the Lord enters, &c. In all these Cases, the Disseisee or his Heir, shall not have a Writ of Entry within the Degrees of the Per, but in the Post; because they are not in by Discent, or Purchase. Ibid. Degrees as to Entries are of two Sorts, either by Act in Law, as in Case of a Discent; or by Act of the Party by lawful Conveyance; and by the Common Law, if the Lands were conveyed out of the Degrees, the Demondant was driven to his Writ or Right, in Respect of such long Possession, and so many Alterations in different Hands; wherefore by the Statute of Marlbridge, 52 Hen. 3. cap. 29. the Writ of Entry in le Post is given. But no Estate gained by Wrong doth make a Degree; so that Abatement, Intrusion, &c. work not a Degree; nor doth every Change by lawful Title, or an Estate of Tenant by the Curtesy, by Judgment, &c. or of any others that come in the Post; though a Tenancy in Dower by Assignment of the Heir doth work a Degree, because she is in by her Husband; and so doth not Assignment of Dower by a Disseisor, by Reason she is in the Post. 1 Inst. 239. Entry on Lands is taken away by Discent on Disseisins, or Discontinuance, &c. But a Discent shall not take away the Entry of Lessee for seven Years, nor of Tenant by Elegit, &c. who have not a Chattel, and no Freehold; otherwise it is of an Estate for Life, or any higher Estate. 1 Inst. 249. Where a Disseisor dieth seised, and the Law casteth the Lands upon his Heir; this is a Discent which tolls an Entry at Common Law: By Statute, it is only where the Disseisor had peaceable Possession five Years; for if he had not Possession peaceably during that Time, the Discent to his Heir shall not take away an Entry. 32 H. 8. cap. 33. If a Disseisor leases for Years, and dies seised of the Reversion, the Entry of the Disseisee is taken away, because he died seised of the Fee and Freehold: But if he had leased for Life, &c. the Entry of the Disseisee would not be taken away. 1 Inst. 239. Where the Disseisor of an Infant dies seised, and after the Infant comes of Age, and the Heir of the Disseisor dies before Entry; though he died not seised of an actual Seisin, but a Seisin in Law; yet his Dying seised takes away the Entry of the Disseisee. Ibid. If a Disseisor makes a Feoffment upon Condition, and the Feoffee dies seised, and the Feoffor enters upon the Heir for the Breach of the Condition, the Disseisee may enter upon him; for by the Entry of the Disseisor, the Discent is utterly defeated. Litt. Sect. 409. The Title of Entry in a Feoffor, &c. that hath but a Condition, cannot be taken away by any Discent, because he has no Remedy by Action to recover the Land; so that if a Discent should take away his Entry, it would bar him of his Right for ever: And the Condition remains, and cannot be defeated and put out of Possession, as the Lands, &c. 1 Inst. 240. If a Man recovers Lands, and after a Stranger to the Recovery dies seised, this shall not take away the Entry of the Recoveror; as it was but a Title. 2 Danv. Abr. 561. But where a Person recovers against another, and enters and sues Execution, and after the Recoveree disseises him, and dies seised; this Discent shall take away the Entry of the Recoveror, for the Recovery was executed. Ibid. If after Recovery against Tenant for Life, he dies, and he in Remainder enters before Execution, and dies seised, the Entry of the Recoveror is not taken away. 1 Inst. 238. The Entry of the Tenant for Life, shall be good for him in Remainder: And if Tenant for Life make a Feoffment in Fee, and a Stranger enters for the Forfeiture in the Name of the Reversioner; this will be good to vest the Reversion in him. Litt. 128. 9 Rep. 106. If an Infant under Age, makes a Deed of Feoffment, and after his full Age the Feoffee dies seised; or a Lessee for Life aliens the Land, and the Alienee dies seised thereof; or a Devise be of Lands upon Condition, and the Heir of the Disseisor enters and dies seised: In these Cases the Entry is gone, and the Parties shall be put to their Action. Litt. 96. 9 H. 6. 25. If there be Tenant for Life, Remainder to the right Heirs of J. S. and the Tenant for Life is disseised; a Discent is cast, and after J. S. dies, and Tenant for Life also dies: By this the Entry of the Heir of J. S. is not taken away, for his Remainder was in Custodia Legis. 1 Rep. 134. Where an Infant has Cause of Entry, and the Discent happens while he is within Age, it will not bar him of his Entry: He that hath the Right of Entry, must be of Age, within the four Seas, of sound Memory; and if it be a Woman, she must be sole; and if the Party be under Age, beyond the Seas, Non compos Mentis, in Prison, or a Feme Covert, at the Time of the Discent, it shall not bar. Lit. 402, 147. 21 H. 6. 17. The whole Time from a Disseisin is considerable; as where Feme Covert is disseised, and her Husband dieth, and she takes another Husband, and then a Discent is cast; or if one ultra Mare be disseised, and he return into England, and then go beyond Sea again, and there is a Discent; here the Discent will bar the Entry, because of the Interim. 9 H. 7. 24. Dyer 143. 32 H. 8. c. 33. A Woman Tenant in Tail took Husband, who made a Feoffment in Fee, and died, and the Wife without Entry made a Lease for Years; and it was held, that the Freehold was not reduced by the Lease, without an Entry made. 1 Leon. ca. 165. The Entry of a Disseisee when he duly makes it, shall avoid all the mesne Charges by the Disseisor upon the Land: But Right of Entry may be lost divers Ways; as by Acceptance of Rent, by him who hath it, and the like. 1 Anderfon 133. Noy Rep. 7. If a Man is disseised of Land whereunto a Common is appendant, the Disseisee cannot use the common 'till he enters on the Land to which the Common is appendant; for if the Disseisee might use it, so might the Disseisor, which would be a double Charge on the Common: Yet if a Person be disseised of a Manor, to which an Advowson is appendant, he may present to the Advowson before Entry on the Manor. 1 Inst. 122. A Disseisee enters into the Land, and continues therein with the Disseisor, and manures it with him, claiming nothing of his first Estate; or if the Disseisee enters, and takes the Profit as Lessee, &c. of the Disseisor, 'tis said these will be an Entry that will reduce the first Estate. 2 Darv. 790. If the Disseisee commands a Stranger to put in the Cattle of such Stranger in the Land to feed there; this is an Entry in Law on the Land. 1 Inst. 245. And if a Person enters by Command of him who hath Title, he by Virtue thereof may gain a Title to himself. 1 Nels. Abr. 705. Where Entry may be made into Land, or any Thing, it shall not be in the Party before Entry: If Entry cannot be made, but only Claim, then it shall be in him by Claim; and when neither Entry nor Claim can be made, it shall be in him by Act of Law. 1 Plowd. 133. In Case the Possession of Land is in no Man, but the Freehold in Law is in the Heir that enters, his general Entry into one Part reduces all into his actual Possession: But if an Entry is to devise an Estate, a general Entry into Parcel, is good only for that Part. 1 Inst. 15. Where an Entry is in any Parts, it must be in the Name of all: If I enfeoff a Person of an Acre of Ground upon Condition, and of another Acre on Condition, and both Conditions are broken; here Entry into one in Name of both Acres is not good to reduce both: But if a Man make a Feoffment of divers Parcels upon Condition that is broken, there Entry into Part in the Name of all the rest is sufficient. Co. Lit. 252. 9 H. 7. 25. A Man hath Right to enter into Lands in divers Villages in one County, if he enter upon Part of it in one Village in the Name of all in that County; by this he shall have Possession of the whole. 1 Inst. 252. Dyer 227, 337. If a Man disseise me of one Acre at one Time, and another Acre at another Time in the same County, my Entry into one of them in the Name of both is good: Though it will not be good, if the Disseisin be by two several Persons, or if the Acres lie in several Counties, when there ought to be several Entries and Actions. 1 Inst. 252. If he who hath Right of Entry into a Freehold, enters into Part of it, it shall be adjudged an Entry into all possessed by one Tenant; but if there be several Tenants possessed of the Freehold, there must be several Entries on the several Tenants. 1 Lill. Abr. 515, 516. Special Entry into a House with which Lands are occupied, claiming the Whole, is a good Entry as to the whole House and Lands. Ibid. If a Husband enters to the Use of his Wife; or a Man enters to the Use of an Infant, or any other, where the Entry is lawful; this settles the Possession before Agreement of the Parties: Though it is otherwise where a Person enters to the Use of one whose Entry is not lawful; for this vests nothing in him 'till Agreement, and then he shall be a Disseisor. 2 Darv. 787. If two Jointenants are disseised, and the Disseisor aliens, and one Jointenant enters upon the Alienee to the Use of both; this settles the Freehold in both of them. Ibid. 788. But if one Coparcener, &c. enters specially claiming the whole Land, she gains the Part of her Companion by Abatement; and it shall not settle any Possession in the other. 1 Inst. 243. The Heir is to enter into Lands descended to him, to intitle him to the Profits. 1 Inst. 214. If a younger Son enters on Lands in Fee, where the eldest Son dies having Issue; though many Discents are cast in his Line, yet the Heirs of the eldest Son may make an Entry on the Lands; but if the youngest Son convey away the Lands in Fee, and the Feoffee dies seised, they may not enter; nor may they enter where the youngest Son disseises the Eldest, and dies seised. 1 Inst. 237, 244. Litt. Sect. 397. A Tenant in Tail hath Issue two Sons, and the Eldest dies, leaving his Wife priviment ensent of a Son, and the younger Brother enters, and then the Wife of the Eldest is delivered of a Son, he may enter upon the younger Brother. 2 Darv. 557. If a Bastard being the eldest Son, enters on Land, and injoys it during his Life: his Entry and dying seised may make a Title to his Heir against the lawful Children. 1 Inst. Ibid. An Estate of Freehold will not cease, without Entry or Claim: Also a Remainder of an Estate of Freehold cannot cease without Entry, &c. no more than Estate of Freehold in Possession. Cro. Eliz. 360. A Right of Entry preserves a Contingent Remainder. 2 Lev. 35. And a Grantee of a Reversion may enter for a Condition broken. Plowd. 176. If a Person will take Advantage of a Condition, he must either enter, or make a Claim: And for a Condition broken, there must be actual Entry, to bring Ejectment for Recovery of the Estate; but where a Man is intitled to enter by Discent, or for Non-payment of Money due on a Mortgage, &c. Entry and Ouster confessed in the Rule in Ejectment, without actual Entry, is sufficient to make the Lease to intitle the Action. 1 Lill. Abr. 516. When a Man hath Title to Land, and is out of Possession, he cannot make a Lease of it to a Tenant, but by Entering and Sealing the Lease on the Land; or empowering others by Letters of Attorney to do it. Dalif. Rep. 81. A Lessee must enter into Lands demised to him; and though the Lessor dies before the Lessee enters, yet he may enter: And if the Lessee dies before Entry, his Executors or Administrators may enter. The Lessee may assign over his Term before Entry, having Interesse termini; but he may not take a Release to enlarge his Estate, or bring Trespafs, &c. till actual Entry. Though if there be Words Bargain and Sell in a Lease, &c. for Consideration of Money, the Lessee or Bargainee is in Possession on Executing the Deed, to make a Release, &c. Lit. 59, 454. 1 Inst. 46, 57, 270. Where a Lessor enters on his Lessee for Years, the Rent is suspended. 1 Leon. 110. But without Entry and Expulsion, the Lessee is not discharged of his Rent to the Lessor; unless it be where the Lessor is attainted of Treason, &c. that the Rent is to be paid to the King, who is in Possession without Ent.y. Sid. 399. 1 Nels. Abr. 706. There

There is no need of Entry to avoid an Estate in Case of a Limitation, because thereby the Estate is determined without Entry or Claim; and the Law casts it upon the Party to whom it is limited. If A. devises Lands to B. and his Heirs, and dies, 'tis in the Devise immediately; but 'till Entry he cannot bring a possessory Action: And where a Possession vests without Entry, a Reversion will vest without Claim. 2 Mod. Rep. 7, 8. A bare Entry on another, without an Expulsion, makes only a Seisin; so that the Law will adjudge him in Possession who hath the Right. 3 Salk. 135. If a Person who hath Title of Entry, finds an House open with no Body in it, and enters into it, and keeps Possession; this is no forcible Entry; Contra if any Body is in it. Common Law Com. Plac'd 186. Where a Person is in a House with Goods, &c. the House may be enter'd when the Doors are open, to make Execution. Cro. Eliz. 759. But it must be averred that the Goods were in the House. Lutw. 1434, 1428. And a Man cannot enter into a House, the Doors being open, to demand a Debt, unless he aver that the Debtor is within the House at the same Time. Cro. El. 876. Entry may be made on a Tenant where Rent is in Arrear, to take a Distress, &c. In Order to regain Possession of Lands by Entry, &c. the Manner of Entry is thus: If it be a House, and the Door is open, you go into it, and say these Words.—I do bere enter, and take Possession of this House. But if the Door be shut, then set your Foot on the Groundsel, or against the Door, and say the before Words: And if it be Land, then go upon the Land, and say, I bere enter, and take Possession of this Land, &c. If another do it for you, he must say, I do bere enter, &c. to the Use of A. B. And it is necessary to make it before Witnesses, and that a Memorandum be made of it. Lit. 385. 1 Inst. 237, 238. In Actions for Recovery of Lands, &c. Entry is to be made within twenty Years after the Title accrued. Stat. 21 Jac. 1. cap. 16. But where a Fine of Lands is passed, the Entry is to be in five Years. 1 R. 3. 4 H. 7. Also an Action is to be commenced in one Year after the Entry. 4 & 5 Ann. Demand how made of Rent, &c. to entitle Entry, see Demand. See also Claim.

Form of a Writ of Entry.

GEORGE the Second, &c. To the Sheriff of G. Greeting: Command A. B. that justly, &c. he render to C. D. one Messuage, &c. which he Claims to be his Right and Inheritance, and into which the said A. hath not an Entry, but by E. that was the Wife of T. D. who that Messuage to him demised; and who held the same in Dower of the Gift of the said T. sometime her Husband, Father of the said C. D. whose Heir he is, as be saith, &c. And unless, &c.

Entry ad Communem Legem, Is the Writ of Entry which lies where Tenant for Term of Life, or for Term of another's Life, or by the Curtesy, &c. aliens and dies, when he in the Reversion shall have this Writ against whomsoever is in Possession of the Land. New Nat. Br. 461.

Entry ad terminum qui preterit, A Writ of Entry brought against a Tenant for Years, who holdeth over his Term, and thereby keeps out the Lessor: And if the Husband and Wife lease the Wife's Land for Years, and the Husband dieth, and the Termor holds over his Term, the Wife may have a Writ of Entry ad terminum qui preterit, &c. but she must count that she and her Husband leased the Land, &c. Also the Grantee in Reversion may have this Writ against the Lessee, or his Assignee, &c. New Nat. Br. 447, 448.

Entry in casu consimili, Is a Writ that lies where Tenant for Life, or Tenant by the Curtesy, aliens in Fee, &c. he in Reversion may have this Writ by Stat. Westm. 2. cap. 24. See Casu Consimili.

Entry in casu Probiso, Lies where a Tenant in Dower aliens in Fee, or for Term of Life, or of another's Life; then he in the Reversion shall have this Writ, provided by the Stat. of Glouc. 6 Ed. 1. cap. 7. By which Statute it is enacted, that if a Woman alien her Dower in Fee, or for Life, the next Heir, &c. shall recover by Writ of Entry. And the Writ may be brought against the Tenant of the Freehold of the Land, on such Alienation, during the Life of the Tenant in Dower, &c. New Nat. Br. 456. These Writs of Entry may be all brought either in the Per, or in the Cui or Post.

Entry sine assensu Capitali, is a Writ of Entry that lies where a Bishop, Abbot, &c. aliens Lands or Tenements of the Church, without the Assent of the Chapter or Convent. F. N. B. 195.

Enure, Signifies in the Law to take Place, or be available; and is as much as effectum: As for Example; A Release made to Tenant for Life, shall enure, and be of Force and Effect to him in the Reversion. Litt.

Eodordice, (from the Sax. Eodor, a Hedge, and Brie ruptura) Hath been used for Hedge-breaking: In which Sense it is mentioned in the Laws of King Alfred, cap. 45.

Coile, Sax. for Earl, &c. though made Use of by the Danes for Barons. See Earl.

Epimenta, A Word signifying Expences or Gifts. Blount.

Epiphany, The Day when the Star appeared to the Wise-men at Christ's Nativity, generally called Twelfth Day.

Episcopalia, Synodals, or other customary Payments from the Clergy to their Bishop or Diocesan: Which were formerly collected by the rural Deans, and by them transmitted to the Bishop.—Episcopalia reddat, vel reddere faciat: de Ecclesiis Decanatus sui, &c. Mon. Angl. Tom. 3. pag. 61. These customary Payments have been otherwise called Onus Episcopale; and were remitted by special Privilege to free Churches and Chapels of the King's Foundation which were exempt from Episcopal Jurisdiction Kennet's Gloss.

Episcopus Puerorum. It was a Custom in former Times, that some Lay Person about a certain Feast should plait his Hair, and put on the Garments of a Bishop, and in them to exercise Episcopal Jurisdiction, and do several ludicrous Actions, for which Reason he was called Bishop of the Boys: And this Custom obtained here long after several Constitutions were made to abolish it. Mon. Angl. Tom. 3. pag. 169.

Equality, The Law delights in Equality; so that when a Charge is laid upon one, and divers ought to bear it, he shall have Relief against the Rest. 2 Rep. 25. And where a Man leaves a Power to his Wife, to give an Estate among three Daughters, in such Proportions, as she shall think fit: It has been held she must divide it equally; unless good Reason be given for doing otherwise. Preced. Canc. 256. See Contribution.

Eques Auratus, (Lat.) Is taken for a Knight; because anciently none but Knights were allowed to beautify and guild their Armour with Gold: But this Word is rather used by the Heralds than Lawyers; for Eques Auratus is not a Word in our Law for Knight, but Miles, and formerly Chevalier. 4 Inst. 5.

Equity, (Aequitas, quasi Equalitas) Is defined to be a Correction, or Qualification, of the Law generally made, in that Part wherein it faileth, or is too severe. And likewise signifies the Extension of the Words of the Law to Cases unexpressed, yet having the same Reason; so that where one Thing is enacted by Statute, all other Things are enacted that are of the like Degree: For Example; The Statute of Glouc. gives Action of Waste against him that that holds Lands for Life or Years; and by the Equity thereof, a Man shall have Action of Waite against a Tenant that holds but for one Year, or Half-Year, which is without the Words of the Act, but within the Meaning of it; and the Words that enact the one, by Equity enact the other. Terms de Ley 303, 304. So that Equity is of two Kinds; the one doth abridge and take from the Letter of the Law; and the other enlarge and add thereto. Equitas est perfecta quedam Ratio, quæ Jus scriptum Interpretatur & Emendat. 1 Inst. 24. And Statutes may be construed according to Equity; especially where they give Remedy for Wrong, or are for Expedition of Justice, &c. 1 Inst. 24, 54, 76. 2 Inst. 106, 107, &c. Equity seems to be the Interposing Law of Reason, exercised by the Lord Chancellor in extraordinary Matters, to do equal Justice, and by supplying the Defects of the Law, give Remedy in all Cases. See Chancery.

Equity of Redemption, on Mortgages. If where Money is due on a Mortgage, the Mortgagee is desirous to bar the Equity of Redemption, he may oblige the Mortgagor either to pay the Money, or be foreclosed of his Equity; which is done by Proceedings in the Court of Chancery. But the Chancery cannot shorten the Time of Payment of the Mortgage Money, where it is limited by express Covenant; though it may lengthen it: And then upon Non-payment, the Practice is to foreclose the Equity of Redemption, of the Mortgagor. 2 Vent. 364. To foreclose the Equity, a Bill in Chancery is exhibited; to which an Answer is put in, and a Decree being obtained, a Master in Chancery is to certify what is due for Principal, Interest and Costs, which is to be paid at a Time prefixed by the Decree, whereupon the Premises is to be reconveyed to the Mortgagor; or in Default of Payment, the Mortgagor is ordered to be foreclosed from all Equity of Redemption, and to convey the Premises absolutely to the Mortgagee. Law of Securities, p. 129, 133. A Fine and Nonclaim will bar Equity of Redemption: But in a common Mortgage, a Covenant to restrain it shall not be regarded in Chancery. 2 Vent. 365. If the Condition of a Mortgage is, that the Mortgagor only should redeem during Life, or that he and the Heirs of his Body shall do it; yet the general Heir shall have the Equity of Redemption, for if the Principal and Interest be offered, the Land is free. 1 Vern. 33, 190. And it is held, though a Bond be conditioned, that if the Money be not paid at such a Time, then for a further Sum, the Mortgagee shall have the Land absolutely, as a Purchaser, &c. in such Case a Man may also redeem. Ibid. 488. A Person who has mortgaged Lands to one Man, in Case he Mortgages the same Land with some others to another, and this appears to be a Contrivance to evade the Statute, the Mortgagee shall not take Advantage thereof. 2 Vern. Rep. 589. See Barnardist. 101. Where Persons having once mortgaged Lands, mortgage the same a second Time, without discovering the first Mortgage, they forfeit their Equity of Redemption, and the second Mortgagee may redeem, &c. And it is the same where any Persons borrowing Money, enter a Judgment, &c. for Security, and afterwards borrow more Money, and mortgage Lands to the second Lender, without giving Notice of the Judgment, or paying the same off in six Months, &c. by Stat. 4 & 5 W. & M. cap. 16.

Equivalent, Commissioners are appointed by Statute to Examine and State the Debts due to Scotland on the Union by way of Equivalent; and Provision is made for Payment of the same by a yearly Annuity, &c. 1 Geo. 1. c. 27. 5 Geo. 1. Vide Scotland.

Equus Coopertus, A Horse equipped with Saddle and Furniture.—Inveniendopro quolibet Feodo unum Equum Coopertum, vel duos Discoopertos, &c. Inq. 16 E. 1.

Erminus, (From the Fr. Ermine) A Fur of great Value, much used in Robes of State.

Ern, The Names of Places ending in Ern, is said to signify a melancholy Situation; from the Sax Ern, i. e. Locus Secretus.

Ernes, The loose scattered Ears of Corn, that are left on the Ground, after the Binding or Cocking of it: It is derived from the old Teuton. Ernde, Harvest; Ernden, to cut or mow Corn: Hence to ern is in some Places to glean. Kennet's Gloss.

Errant, (Itinerant) Is applied to Justices of the Circuit, and Bailiffs at large, &c. See Eyre.

Erraticum, A Waif, or Stray; Erring or wandering Beast. Constit. Norman. A. D. 1080.

Error, (Fr. Erreur) Signifies an Error in Pleading, or Process, &c. whereupon the Writ which is brought for Remedy of this Oversight, is called a Writ of Error, in Lat. De errore Corrigeno. And a Writ of Error is a Writ which issues out of Chancery, and lies where any one is grieved by the Proceedings and Judgment in any Court of Record, having Power to hold Plea of Debt, or Trespass above 40s. It is returnable in the King's Bench; and if upon the Transcript of the Record into B. R. it appears to the Court that there is Error in the Record or Process, or in giving of Judgment, then the Judgment is reversed: But if there appear to be none, then is the Judgment affirmed with double Costs. 1 Lill. Abr. 518. This is borrowed from the French Practice, which is called Proposition de Erreur, and lies in great Diversity of Cases: Also there is a Writ of Error to reverse a Fine, &c. Erroneous Judgments given in the Court of B. R. were only reformed by the Parliament till the Stat. 27 Eliz. cap. 8. By that Statute, a Writ of Error lies out of the Chancery upon all Judgments given in the King's Bench, when the Suit is by Bill, (except the King is a Party to the Suit) returnable in the Exchequer Chamber, before the Judges of the Common Pleas, and Barons of the Exchequer, &c. who may examine the Errors, and reverse or affirm the Judgment; other than for Errors concerning the Jurisdiction of the Court, or Want of Form in Writs, Pleadings, &c. and after the Errors are examined, and Judgment affirmed or reversed, the Record is sent back to the King's Bench, to proceed and award Execution: But if the Suit is by Original Writ, or on Qui tam, &c. where the King is Party, Writ of Error lies only to the Parliament. Stat. Ibid. To reverse a Judgment given in the Court of Common Pleas, the Writ of Error is made returnable in the King's Bench; and Error is not to be brought in Parliament: Though where a Writ of Error is brought in B. R. upon a Judgment given in C. B. and the Judgment is reversed or affirmed in B. R. the Party grieved may have Writ of Error returnable in Parliament. 31 Eliz. c. 1. 1 Lill. Abr. 519, 521. Erroneous Judgment in the Court of Exchequer, is to be examined by the Lord Chancellor, &c. with some of the Justices, and such other sage Persons as they think fit; and if any Error be found, they shall correct the Rolls, and send them into the Exchequer, in order to make Execution, &c. Stat. 31 Ed. 3. cap. 12. Not only on reversing or affirming a Judgment, the Exchequer Chamber is to send back the Record into B. R. but also if the Plaintiff in the Writ of Error is nonsuit, or if the Suit is discontinued in the Court of Exchequer Chamber, the Record shall be sent back; and the Court of Exchequer shall give Costs and Damage to the Plaintiff in the original Action for his Delay, &c. though if the Plaintiff in Error was Plaintiff in the original Action, there no Costs shall be given. 2 And. 122. 2 Nell. Abr. 707. Where a Writ of Error determines in the Exchequer Chamber, by Abatement or Discontinuance, the Judgment is not again in B. R. till a Remittitur is entered. 1 Salk. 261. Writ of Error will not not lie in the Exchequer Chamber upon a Judgment in B. R. but in Actions of Debt, Detinue, Trespass on the Case, Covenant and Ejectment; which are the Actions mentioned in the Stat. 27 Eliz. A Writ of Error lies not in the Exchequer Chamber on Judgment in Replevin in B. R. nor on Judgment in Action of Scandalum Magnatum. 2 Nels. 708; 709. But on Judgment in Replevin in C. B. there may be Writ of Error brought in B. R. The Stat. 27 Eliz. c. 8. is only to relieve on the Merits of the Cause, as it stood on the first Judgment, and there can be no new Writ of Error after that Judgment is affirmed or reversed; so that if the Merits of the first Judgment be examined before a Scire facias brought, the Exchequer Chamber having executed their Power, can do nothing in it. 1 Salk. 263. The Exchequer Chamber doth not award a Sci. fac. ad audiend. Errores; but Notice is given to the Parties concerned. 1 Vent. 34. And the Court of Exchequer Chamber have not any Authority, but to reverse or affirm the Judgment, &c. for they cannot make Execution. Cro. Eliz. 108. But where Judgment is given for the Defendant, and the Plaintiff brings a Writ of Error; if the Judgment is reversed, the Court which reverses the Judgment shall give Judgment for the Plaintiff, as the other Court ought to have done. Yelw. 117, 118. In the Exchequer Chamber, after Reversal of a Judgment, &c. in B. R. the Court gave Judgment, quod Quer. recuperet, &c. but because they wanted Power to award a Writ of Enquiry which was necessary, being on a Demurrer, therefore it was sent back into B. R. for the Execution of that Writ, and thereupon to give final Judgment: But if the Judgment is against the Plaintiff in B. R. upon a special Verdict, and that Judgment is reversed in the Exchequer Chamber, there being no Writ of Enquiry requisite, the Court of Exchequer Chamber doth not only give Judgment of Reversal, but a compleat Judgment for the Plaintiff in the Action. Carth. 181. If erroneous Judgment be had by Consent of Parties, it may be reversed in the Exchequer Chamber; for Consent of Parties may not change the Law; but if the Consent is entered upon and made Part of the Record, it may be good. Hob. 5. Cro. El. 664. The Reversal in the Exchequer Chamber, is res Judicata: No Writ of Error lies upon such Judgment, except in Parliament; and it is by six Judges at least, by the Statute 27 Eliz. c. 8. and 31 Eliz. It has been held, that an Error in Fact cannot be assigned in the Exchequer Chamber: Though by some Authorities, Errors in Fact may be assigned as Errors in Law. 2 Mod. 194. 2 Nels. Abr. 708. Error de Recordo quod coram vobis Refidet lies in the Court of B. R. for Errors in Fact in the Judgment of the same Court; as Nonage of the Parties, want of an Original, &c. which doth not proceed from the Error of the Judges, and this Writ is allowed without Bail: But a Writ of this Kind doth not lie for Error in Matter of Law, when it would be reversing their own Judgments. Cro. Jac. 254. And Errors in Fact may be corrected in C. B. the same Term, without this Writ, which lies not in the Exchequer Chamber. Ibid. 620. If Judgment is given in B. R. in civil Actions, a Writ of Error will not lie in the same Court, only for Errors in Fact triable by a Jury; but upon a Judgment in Criminal Cases, Error will lie in B. R. whether the Error be in Fact or in Law; though it lies also in Parliament. 3 Salk. 147. Where a Judgment in C. B. is affirmed upon a Writ of Error in B. R. and afterwards a Scire fac. is brought on that Judgment, and the Plaintiff hath Judgment thereon; no Writ of Error lieth in the Exchequer Chamber, because the Record was not in B. R. by Bill, but by Writ of Error. 1 Roll. Rep. 264. 3 Salk. 148. On Judgment given in the Court of King's Bench in Ireland, even after Error brought and determined there, Writ of Error may be sued in the King's Bench in England. 2 Nels. 730. When Judgment is given in B. R. for the Plaintiff in Errors, there shall be only a Judicium Revocetur, &c. entered with Costs: If for the Defendant in Errors, that the Plaintiff Nil capiat per Breve suum de Errore. The Chief Justice of B. R. &c. or the eldest Judge ought to allow a Writ of Error; which is in Judgment of Law a Superfedeas until the Errors are examined, and the Judgment affirmed or reversed. Cro. Jac. 534. As a Plaintiff having erroneous Judgment, may reverse it; and new Judgment may be given for him: So if a Judgment is reversed, the Plaintiff may bring a new Action for the same Cause. 1 Lev. 310. Where a Judgment is pleaded in Bar of another Action, &c. and Judgment given on that Plea; Writ of Error may be had to reverse the second Judgment. Cro. Eliz. 503. Jenk. Cent. 259. And Debt lies upon a Judgment in B. R. after a Writ of Error brought; which is only a Superfedeas to the Execution. 1 Lev. 153. Writ of Error cannot be brought on any Record which is not a Judgment. 1 Salk. 145. And Error lies not on an interlocutory Judgment; it must be a final Judgment after Verdict, &c. A Writ of Error may not be brought to reverse a Judgment by Default, before a Writ of Inquiry of Damages issues and is executed, that the Verdict of the Jury and interlocutory Judgment may be made a perfect final Judgment, upon which alone a Writ of Error must be brought. 1 Lill. 522. But on Judgment by Default in Ejectment, it lies before a Writ of Inquiry of Damages, and Judgment thereupon; because in this Case the Judgment already is perfect to recover the Term. Litch 212. When a Writ of Error is brought to reverse a Judgment in an inferior Court, though the Record is not certified as it ought, yet Execution cannot be sued; but on Certificate of the Neglect, &c. a Writ of Executione Judicii may be issued. 1 Lill. Abr. 526. Upon a Writ of Error, if the Clerk below will certify the Record wrong, Action of the Case lies against him; and if he make no Return, the Plaintiff may have the Writ Executione Judicii out of Chancery. Mod. Caf. 245. If erroneous Judgment be for the Defendant in an inferior Court, and it is reversed in B. R. and the Merits appear for the Plaintiff, he shall have Judgment, but if the Merits be against the Plaintiff, the Defendant shall have new Judgment, in like Manner as in the Exchequer Chamber; for the Judges are to reform, as well as to affirm or reverse. Farell. Rep. 2, 3. If a Writ of Error to reverse a Judgment be discontinued for Want of Prosecution; Execution cannot be had upon the Judgment, until the Discontinuance is certified from the Court where discontinued. 1 Lill. 518. The Want of a Bill in B. R. is Error upon a Judgment by Confession, or Default, (but not after a Verdict) because the Bill is the original Process there. Ibid. For Variance between the original Writ and Declaration; or Want of an Original: And where Proceedings are so erroneous, as not to be amended; for Faults in Verdicts, Executions, &c. And when any Thing material is omitted in a Judgment, Writ of Error lies, and the Judgment shall be reversed: So where the Stiles of inferior Courts are wrong or insufficiently named, &c. their Judgments may be reversed. But where Faults are small, they sometimes pass as Vitium Clerici. 2 Nels. Abr. 714, 715, 721, &c. 728. After In nullo est Erratum pleaded, the Party affirms the Record to be perfect, and he is foreclosed to say there is Error in it: Though the Court is not restrained from examining into it. 1 Salk. 270. The Judges are not bound to search for Errors in the Record, which were not assigned; but may if they will; and if they find Error they ought to reverse the Judgment. Jenk. Cent. 159. If a Writ of Error is brought to remove a Record of a Judgment ment given in C. B. and the Plaintiff in Error leaves the Record there, without removing it before the Return of the Writ; or in Case there be a longer Return-Day than is convenient in the Writ of Error, as if it is purchased the Beginning of Michaelmas Term, and made returnable in Hillary Term; the Court may award Execution, although the Writ of Error be delivered. Jenk. Cent. 180. Dyer 245. In Writ of Error, when the Record comes into Court, if the Plaintiff all that Term do not assign his Errors; or if he do it, and omit to sue a Scire facias ad audiendam Errores, against the Defendant in Errors, returnable the same Term, or the next, all the Matter is discontinued; and the next Term a new Writ of Error is to be sued out upon the Record directed to the same Justices, &c. F. N. B. 20. If he that brings Writ of Error, discontinues before the Defendant in the Writ of Error pleads to it, he may have a new Writ of Error; but if he discontinue after the Defendant hath pleaded In nullo est Erratum, he may not have a new Writ. 1 Lill. 522. The Parties upon the Removal of the Record by the Writ of Error, have no Day in Court given to either of them; so that if the Plaintiff in Error delay to sue forth his Sci. fac. ad audiend. Errores, the Defendant hath no Way to compel him, but by suing out a Scire facias quare Executionem non, &c. And if thereupon the Plaintiff in Error doth not plead that his Errors are assigned, but suffer Judgment to pass upon two Nibils, no Errors afterwards assigned shall prevent Execution. Cartb. Rep. 41. But 'tis said the usual Practice is, that the Defendant in the Writ of Error, by Consent doth voluntarily take Notice of the Assignment of Errors, and this Consent is testified by his Pleading In nullo est Errat. and then there is no Occasion for a Scire facias ad audiend. Error'. Ibid. Errors are to be assigned in the Term, or the Writ of Error will be quashed. 1 Lill. Abr. 524. When the Record is in Court by Writ of Error, the Plaintiff in Errors is to assign his Errors; and may have a Scire facias before the Record is entered: And the Manner of assigning Errors, according to the ancient Practice, is to put a Bill into the Court, and say in the Bill, in hoc Erratum est, &c. shewing in certain in what Things. F. N. B. 20. The Assignment of Error, in Omnibus Erratum is not good; for the Judgment is founded upon the original Writ, Count, Pleading, Issue, Process, Trial, and so is manifold. Jenk. Cent. 84. Errors not assigned in the Record, may be assigned after a Scire facias ad audiend. Errores; as the Record is in Court; but 'tis not so of a Warrant of Attorney, which is in an Error in Fact, and not upon Record. Ibid. 140. 5 Rep. 37. If one in Execution brings Error, he ought to assign the Errors in his proper Person: And in Cases of Outlawry for Felony, Errors sufficient must be certainly alledged in Writing, before the Writ of Error is allowed. Jenk. Cent. 179, 165. Where a Recovery is had, and Error brought; if the original Writ doth not abate by Death; but is abateable only, as by Entry into the Land pending the Writ, or Coverture, Acquisition of a Dignity, a partial Array returned, Aid denied, &c. that should have been pleaded, and were not: These shall not be assigned for Error; for they are waved, because no Exception was taken to the Writ. 9 Rep. 47. 21 H. 6. 29. The Party bringing a Writ of Error is to cause the Roll where the Judgment is entered to be marked with the Word Error in the Margin, that the other Party may have Notice on the Record that the Writ of Error is brought, and this Marking of the Roll, on giving Notice thereof, is as it were a Superfedeas in itself to hinder Execution: Though a Superfedeas is to be made out, allowed with the Sheriff of the County: And the Plaintiff's Attorney is not obliged to search the Record, whether Writ of Error is brought or not; but may make out Execution upon the Judgment, if no Superfedeas be taken forth, or he have no Notice of the Writ of Error. Triq. 24 Car. B. R. The Assigning general Errors is to say that the Declaration, &c. is not sufficient in Law; and that Judgment was given for the Plaintiff, where it ought to have been for the Defendant: And the Errors of a Judgment are now to be assigned on the Record, to appear with it to the Court. It must appear in the Record, that Judgment was given for a Matter out of the Jurisdiction of the Court, for the Plaintiff in Error to assign that for Error. And that shall never be assigned for Error which might have been pleaded to the Action. Roll. Rep. 50, 88. 1 Lill. 523. A Judgment cannot be reversed in Part, and stand good as to other Part; or be reversed as to one Party, and remain good against the Rest: Though if there be Error in awarding Execution, the Execution only shall be reversed, and not the Judgment. Hob. 90. The Judgment is an intire Thing, and therefore it cannot be reversed in Part, and affirmed in Part; but if 'tis Erroneous as to any Part, the intire Judgment must be reversed. Cartb. Rep. 235. If Judgment is entered against joint Defendants, when one of them is dead, the Judgment shall be reversed for Error as to all of them; for in such Case the Plaintiff ought to make a special Entry of the Death of the Party, with Nihil ulterius versus eum fiat, and then take Judgment only against the others. Ibid. 149. Any Person damnified by Error in a Record, or that may be supposed to be injured by it, may bring Writ of Error to reverse it, whether he be Party or no; but Principal and Bail cannot join in a Writ of Error: And where there are several Defendants, if one of them release the Errors, he may be summoned and severed, and the others may reverse the Judgment. 6 Rep. 26. Hob. 72. By Statute, he that brings Writs of Error to reverse a Judgment in a superior Court, in all Cases after a Verdict, or in any Action of Debt, upon Bond for Payment of Money only, or on a Contract, must put in good Sureties to prosecute his Writ of Error with Effect, and pay the Debt and Damages if Judgment be affirmed: But inferior Courts, as well upon Verdicts as other Judgments by Default, &c. have their Writs of Error allowed without putting in Bail, they being omitted in the Statute 3 Jac. 1. c. 8. If Bail be not put in, on the Writ of Error brought upon a Judgment in the Courts at Westminster, the Writ of Error is no Superfedeas to the Execution; though such Writ is in Being until a Nolle prosequi is entered, or Judgment affirmed, &c. And it is the same where insufficient Bail is given, on Rule to put in better Bail, or justify those put in; which if the Plaintiff doth not do, Execution is ordered upon the Judgment, with a Non obstante to the Writ of Error, &c. Mich. 9 W. 3. B. R. A Plaintiff in Error is, in the Time appointed by the Rule for that Purpose, to certify the Record into B. R. or the Court will grant a Nolle prosequi on the Writ of Error. Mich. 22 Car. B. R. A Writ of Error is a Commission, 'tis not an Action: Error in Process by the Fault of Clerks in B. R. is not reversible though in the same Term, without Writ of Error; it is otherwise in C. B. But Writs of Error remove only the Record and Process; not the Original, which remains filed with the Custos Brevium. Jenk. Cent. 116, 25. In Error it was said that B. R. could not reverse a Judgment given in another Court, unless they could give the same Judgment that Court should have given; which in this Case they might not, by Reason the Plaintiff in the original Action was dead: But by Holt C. J. If this Court cannot give like Judgment, as that below should have done, 'tis because the Suit by the Death of the Plaintiff there is abated; but the Judgment may nevertheless be reversed here, and by Reversal the Executor is restored to his Action. Trin. 5 Ann. The Court will not let the Plaintiff in Errors quash his own Writ of Error; though they may grant Leave to discontinue it. 5 Mod. 67. If a Verdict is for a Defendant in Errors, and Judgment is affirmed, Costs are allowed by Stat. 3 H. 7. c. 10. occasione dilationis Executionis. And by 4 & 5 Ann. c. 16. Upon quashing Writs of Error, for Defect or Variance from the Record, &c. the Defendant is to have Costs as if Judgment were affirmed. When Writ of Error is not in dilatione Executionis, as where it is brought after the Execution is executed, the Plaintiff shall not have Damages and Costs. Cro. Jac. 636. No Person can reverse a Thing for Error, unless the Error be to his Prejudice. 5 Rep. 38. One in Remainder may have Writ of Error upon Judgment given against Tenant in Tail: But he in Reversion or Remainder shall not have Writ of Error, in the Life-time of Tenant for Life, on Judgment given against such Tenant, because they cannot be Parties grieved in his Time. 2 Nels. Abr. 712. Where a Plaintiff in Error dies, the Writ abates; but 'tis said not where the Defendant dies. Yelv. 112. By 30 Car. 2. c. 6. In Actions real, personal, and mixed, the Death of either Party between Verdict and Judgment, shall not be alledged for Error. No Fine or Recovery, nor any Judgment in a real Action, &c. shall be reversed for Error, except the Writ of Error be commenced within twenty Years, saving the Right of Infants, &c. 10 & 11 W. 3. c. 14. Writ of Error lies in B. R. to reverse a Fine levied in the Common Pleas, and to cancel the same if it be erroneous: And if there be not an Original; or not proper Writs of Covenant, or if there be any Fraud, &c. Writ of Error may be brought to make the Fine void. 1 Inst. 9. By Stat. 5 Geo. 1. c. 13. it is enacted, That all Writs of Error, where in there shall be any Variance from the original Record, or other Defect, may be amended by the Court, and made agreeable to the Record: And where any Verdict hath been given, in any Action, Suit, &c. in any of his Majesty's Courts at Westminster, or other Court of Record, the Judgment thereon shall not be stayed or reversed for any Defect or Fault in Form or Substance, in any Bill, Writ, &c. or for Variance in any such Writs from the Declaration or other Proceedings: But this is not to extend to any Appeal of Felony, or Process on Indictments, Informations, &c. See Judgment.

Error in the King's Bench is thus prosecuted: The Curfitor of the County makes out the Writ of Error, from a Præcipe or Copy of the Declaration left with him; which is to be allowed with the Clerk of the Errors, who has a Fee of 2l. 2s. 6d. and a Certificate of the Allowance of the Writ must be served on the Defendant's Attorney in Error; also the Plaintiff's Attorney in the Action, is to procure an Original to warrant his Judgment; and Warrants of Attorney, must be filed, and Bail put in, where required, &c. And then the Proceedings are by Scire facias ad audiend. Errores against the Plaintiff in the Action, whereon Judgment was obtained; and the Writ of Error being received by the Sheriff to whom directed, he is to give Notice to the Plaintiff in Error to shew Cause why Execution should not be on the Judgment, and make a Return to that Purpose; then a Rule is to be given with the Clerk of the Rules for the Plaintiff in Error to assign his Errors by such a Day, which if he shall not do before the Rule is out, the Plaintiff in the original Action may take out Execution against him. If the Plaintiff in Error assign Errors in the Record, then the Defendant must plead In nullo est Erratum, and thereupon enter the Cause with the Clerk of the Papers, for the Errors to be argued; and Paper Books for the Counsel and Judges, are to be made out, &c. If some Part of the Record be not returned, a Certiorari must be prayed to bring it into Court; and if

Matters of Fact are alledged in Error, as Nonage, Death of the Plaintiff, &c. a proper Plea must be made thereto, and Issue thereupon taken and tried as in any other Issue: But if only Matters of Law are assigned, the Errors are argued by Counsel on both Sides, and the Judgment is either reversed or affirmed: And when Judgment is affirmed, the Defendant in Error may proceed against the Defendant in the Action, by taking out Execution on the Affirmetur, or bringing Action of Debt on the Judgment; or he may prosecute the Bail by Scire facias upon their Recognizance. 2 Vol. Mod. Ent. Eng. 373, 378. When a Judgment is reversed or affirmed in the Exchequer Chamber, the Transcript of the Record thereof will be remitted back to this Court, to be entered up at the End of the Judgment here: And if such Judgment shall be affirmed in the Exchequer Chamber, yet a Writ of Error may be brought thereupon returnable in Parliament. Practif. Solic. 252, 253. If you would bring a Writ of Error in Parliament to reverse a Judgment in B. R. there must be a Petition to the King for his Warrant, which Petition has the Allowance of the Attorney General, and then the King writes on the Top of it Fiat Justitia; whereupon a Writ of Error is made out by the Clerk of the Errors, (who hath 4l. Fee, and the King's Warrant costs 5l.) And then the Lord Chief Justice of this Court carries the Record, and a Transcript thereof, up to the House of Lords in full Parliament, and after they are examined there, leaves the Transcript with the Lords, but brings back the Record: And this being done, the Attorney for the Defendant in Errors, gets some Lord to move that the Plaintiff in Errors may assign his Errors; but if for the Plaintiff, Motion is to be made that upon his assigning Errors, the Defendant may appear and make his Defence, and Counsel be heard on both Sides: Then after the Judgment is either affirmed or reversed, the Clerk of the Parliament remands the Transcript of the Record into B. R. with the Affirmation or Reversal thereof, to be entered upon the Record of the said Court, which Court, if affirmed, awards Execution, &c. Dyer 385. Practif. Attorn. Edit. 1. p. 117. A Writ of Error in Parliament, is made returnable immediately; or on a Prorogation, ad proximum Parliamentum: And it doth not determine by a Prorogation. But if a Parliament is dissolved before the Errors are heard, it is otherwise: And on Motion, Execution hath been granted in B. R. on a Judgment in such a Case, the Record being never out of the Court. Raym. 5. 2 Nels. Abr. 731. To bring a Writ of Error in the King's Bench here in England to reverse a Judgment given in the King's Bench in Ireland, a Writ must be procured from the Curfitor, directed to the Chief Justice of the Court of B. R. in Ireland, requiring him to summon the Plaintiff in the Action there, to appear here in this Court, to answer the Errors; whereupon a Transcript of the Record is sent over, (not the Record itself of the Judgment, which remains in Ireland) and when the Errors are argued, if the Judgment is reversed, there must go a Writ to the Chief Justice of Ireland to reverse it; so that the Judgment is not actually reversed here, but there. And where the Judgment in Ireland is affirmed here, there can be no Writ of Execution granted here; but on Affirmance of the Judgment, a Writ goes, reciting all the Proceedings, directed to the Judges of B. R. in Ireland commanding them to issue Process of Execution. Cro. Car. 368. 1 Salk 321. In Wales at the Great Sessions there, a Writ of Error lies for personal Actions to the Council of the Marches of Wales; and if they give an erroneous Judgment, it is final, for the Statute 34 H. 8. c. 26. ordains this Writ to the Council there; and since that Act, no Writ of Error has been granted of such erroneous Judgment: Upon Errors in real or mix'd Actions in Wales, Writ of of Error lieth into the King's Bench. Jenk. Cent. 71. And so in personal Actions, now by a late Statute. 1 W. & M. c. 27.

Form of a Writ of Error brought in B. R. and Judgment thereupon.

THE Lord the King hath given in Charge to his beloved and faithful Robert Eyre, Knt. his Chief Justice of the Bench, his Writ closed in these Words, to wit; George the Second, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, France and Ireland King, Defender of the Faith, &c. To our beloved and faithful, &c. Greeting: Because in the Record and Process, and also in giving Judgment of the Plea which was in our Court before you and your Companions, our Justices of the Bench, by our Writ between A. B. and C. D. of a certain Trespass on the Case, done to the Damage of the said A. B. one hundred Pounds, as 'tis said, Error manifest hath intervened, to the great Damage of the said A. B. as by his Complaint we are informed; We willing that the Error, if there be any, should be corrected in due Manner, and that full and speedy Justice be done to the Parties aforesaid in this Behalf, Command you, that if Judgment be thereupon given, then that Record and Process of the Plea aforesaid, with all Things concerning them, to us under your Seal distinctly and openly you send, and this Writ; so that those we may have, the Day, &c. to the End, that looking into the Record and Process aforesaid farther, we may cause to be done thereupon for correcting that Error, what of Right, and according to the Law of our Kingdom ought to be done in the Premises, &c. (the Writ of Error is to be thus entered and returned, and the whole Record annexed). Afterwards, to wit, on Saturday next after the Octaves of St. Hillary in this same Term, before the Lord the King at Westminster, came the said A. B. by, &c. his Attorney, and saith, That in the Record and Process aforesaid, and also in giving the Judgment in the Plea aforesaid, there is manifest Error, (or it is manifestly erred) in this, to wit, that by the Record aforesaid it appears, that the Judgment aforesaid in Form aforesaid given, was for the said C. D. against the said A. B. when by the Law of the Land, that Judgment ought to have been given for the same A. B. against the said C. D. therefore in that it is manifestly erred; also it is erred in this, that where by the Record and Process aforesaid it appears, &c. yet the said, &c. and therefore in that it is manifestly erred: And the said A. B. prays the Writ of the said Lord the King, to provide for the said C. D. being before the said Lord the now King, to hear the Record and Process aforesaid; and it is granted to him, &c. By which it is commanded to the Sheriff aforesaid, that by honest and lawful, &c. he cause the said C. D. to know, that he may be before the Lord the King, in fifteen Days from the Day of Easter, wherefore, &c. to hear the Record and Process aforesaid, if, &c. and further, &c. The same Day is given to the said A. B. &c. At which Day, before the said Lord the King at Westminster came the said A. B. by his Attorney aforesaid, and the Sheriff hath not thereof sent the Writ; and the said C. D. being solemnly required to come at the same Day, likewise by, &c. his Attorney came; upon which the said A. B. as at first saith, That in the Record and Process aforesaid, and also in the rendering of the Judgment aforesaid, it is manifestly erred, alledging the Errors aforesaid by him in Form aforesaid alledged; and prays, that the Judgment aforesaid for these Errors, and others in the Record and Process aforesaid, may be reversed, annulled and for nothing esteemed; And that he may be restored to all Things, which he lost by Occasion of the Judgment aforesaid; and that the Court of the said Lord the King here, may proceed as well to the Examination of the Record and Process aforesaid, as the Matters aforesaid above assigned for Errors; and that the said C. D. may rejoin to the Errors, &c. Upon which the same C. D. saith, that neither in the Record and Process aforesaid, nor in giving of the Judgment aforesaid, in any Thing it is erred; and prays, that the Court of the Lord the King here, may proceed as well to Examination of the Record and Proceedings aforesaid, as the Matters assigned for Errors aforesaid; and that the Judgment aforesaid may be affirmed in all Things. But because the Court of the said Lord the King now here, is not yet advised of rendering their Judgment of and upon the Premises, a Day is therefore given to the Parties aforesaid before the Lord the King at Westminster, until in the Morrow of the Holy Trinity, &c. At which said Day before the said Lord the King at Westminster, came the Parties aforesaid by their Attornies aforesaid; on which having seen, and by the Court of the Lord the King now here, fully understood all and singular the Premises, and diligently examined and viewed as well the Record and Proceedings aforesaid, and the Judgment given upon the same, as the Causes and Matters by the said A. B. above signed for Error; for that it appears to the Court of the Lord the King here, that neither in the Record and Process aforesaid, nor in the rendering of the Judgment aforesaid, there is any Thing vicious or defective, and that that Record was in nothing erred, it is considered, that the Judgment aforesaid shall in all Things be affirmed, and stand in all Force and Effect, notwithstanding the said Causes and Matters above for Error assigned: And further it is considered by the Court of the Lord the King now here, that the said C. D. shall recover against the said A. B. ten Pounds, adjudged to the same C. D. by the Court of the Lord the King here, according to the Form of the Statute in the like Case lately made and provided, for his Costs, Charges and Damages which he hath sustained by Occasion of the Delay of Execution of the Judgment aforesaid, on Pretence of the Prosecution of the Writ of Error aforesaid; and that the said C. D. may have thereof Execution, &c.

If the Judgment be reversed, then it is thus:

FOR that it appears to the Court of the Lord the King now here, that in the Record and Process aforesaid, and also in obtaining the Judgment aforesaid it is manifestly erred; it is considered, that the Judgment aforesaid for that Error, and others in the Record and Proceedings aforesaid, shall be reversed, annulled, and utterly for nothing had; and that the aforesaid A. B. shall be restored to all Things which he hath lost by Occasion of the said Judgment.

Æthymiotum, An antient Word for a Meeting of the Neighbourhood to compromise Differences among themselves; which was customary in former Days; it is mentioned in Leg. H. 1. c. 57.

Esbranchura, (From the Fr. Esbrancher) Cutting off Branches or Boughs in Forests, &c. Hoved. 784.

Escaldare, To Scald: Escaldare Porcos, Was one of our antient Tenures in Serjeanty; as appears by the Inquisition of the Serjeancies and Knights Fees in the 12th and 13th Years of the King John, within the Counties of Essex and Hertford. Lib. Rub. Scaccar', MS. 137.

Escambio, (Derived from the Span. Cambier to change) Was a Licence granted to make over a Bill of Exchange to another beyond the Sea: For by the Stat. 5 R. 2. c. 2. No Merchant ought to exchange or return Money beyond Sea, without the King's Licence. Reg. Orig. 194. See Exchange.

Escapè, (Escapium, From the Fr. Eschapper, i. e. Effugere to fly from) Signifies a violent or privy Evasion out of some lawful Restraint; as where a Person is arretted or imprisoned, and gets away before delivered by due Course of Law. Staundf. P. C. cap. 26.

27. And there are two Kinds of Escapes; voluntary and negligent: Voluntary is when one arreits another for Felony, or other Crime, and lets him go by Consent; in which Case the Party that Permits the Escape is esteem'd guilty of the Crime committed, and must answer for it: Negligent Escape is when one is arrested, and afterwards escapes against the Will of him that arrested him, or had him in Custody; and is not pursued by fresh Suit, and taken again before the Party pursuing hath lost Sight of him. Cromp. Just. 36. And for these negligent Escapes, the Gaoler, &c. is to be fined. The Sheriff is not answerable for the Gaoler, only in Civil Cases; and none shall suffer capitally for the Crime of another, so that a principal Gaoler is only answerable for a voluntary Escape suffered by his Deputy. 2 Hawk. P. C. 135. The Crime of the Prisoner escaping, for which the Gaoler is answerable, must be such as it was at the Time of the Escape; as where a Person is committed for dangerously wounding another, it is Trespass only, and not Felony, 'till the Party wounded is dead: And he who suffers another to escape who was in Custody for Felony, cannot be arraigned for such Escape as for Felony, until the Principal is attainted, but he may be indicted and tried for Misprision before the Attainder of the Principal. And in High Treason 'tis said the Escape is immediately punishable, whether the Party escaping be ever convicted, or not. 2 Hawk. Ibid. If an Officer who hath the Custody of a Prisoner charged with, and guilty of a capital Crime, doth knowingly give him his Liberty, with an Intent to save him from Trial, &c. he is guilty of a voluntary Escape. Cro. Car. 492. S. P. C. 32. One negligent Escape will not amount to a Forfeiture of a Gaoler's Office, as one voluntary one will; but many negligent Escapes will do it: And the Fine for suffering a negligent Escape of a Person attainted, was by the Common Law of Course 100 l. and in other Cases at the Discretion of the Court. 3 Lev. 288. 2 Lev. 81. A Gaoler cannot excuse himself by Killing a Prisoner in a Pursuit, as to the Fine, tho' he could not possibly retake him; but shall be fined for the negligent Escape, and because the publick Justice is not so well satisfied by such a Killing. 2 Hawk. 130. As voluntarily permitting a Felon to escape out of Prison, is Felony; so is the Breaking of a Prison by a Prisoner and escaping: If one be committed only on Suspicion of Felony, if a Felony is done, it is Felony to break the Prison and escape: And if the Offence appears on Record, as when a Person is committed by the Court, or taken by Virtue of a Capias out of B. R. it is Felony to break the Prison and make an Escape, though the Party is innocent. But if any one by the General Authority which the Law gives him arreits an innocent Person, such Person may rescue himself. 2 Inst. 592. 3 Inst. 221. H. P. C. 109. And a Man must be committed to Prison by lawful Mittimus, or Breach of Prison and Escaping is not Felony. If a Party is committed for Treason, to break Prison and escape is but Felony; but if a Prisoner let out Traitors, it will be Treason. H. P. C. 109. 2 Inst. 590. Where one is imprisoned for Petit Larceny, or Killing a Man se Defendendo, &c. to break Prison and Escape is not Felony: And if a Prison be set on Fire, not by the Privy of the Prisoner, he may break Prison for the Safety of his Life. 2 Inst. 590. A Gaoler refusing to receive a Person arrested by the Constable for Felony, whereby he is let go, is guilty of an Escape: But there must be an actual Arrest, which Arrest must be justifiable, to make an Escape; for if it be for a supposed Crime, where no Crime was committed, and the Party is neither indicted nor appealed, &c. it is no Escape to suffer a Person to go at large. Fitz. Coron. 224. Bro. Efa. 27, 28. If a Private Person arreist another for Suspicion of Felony, he is to deliver him to a publick Officer, who ought to have the Custody of him; or if he let him go, it will be an Escape. 2

Hawk. 138. And if no Officer will receive him, he is to deliver him to the Township where Arrested; or get him bailed. A. a meer private Man knows B. to have committed Felony, and thereupon arreits him, he is lawfully in Custody of A. 'till he be discharged, by delivering him to a Constable or common Gaol; and therefore if he voluntarily suffers such Person to escape, tho' he were no Officer, nor B. indicted, it is Felony in A. But 'tis otherwise if he never takes him nor attempts it, and lets him go. 1 Hale's Hist. P. C. 594. Justices of Peace in their Sessions are impowered to inquire of Escapes of Persons arrested, and imprisoned for Felony. Stat. 1 R. 3. c. 3. To bail a Person not bailable by Law is a negligent Escape. Plowd. 476. And it is said that the Crime is equal in a Justice of Peace, for taking a Felon out of Prison, without Bail; or suffering him to go at large without Commitment, &c. where the Offender confesseth the Felony, as it is in the Case of a Gaoler's permitting an Escape. Dalt. 382. A late Statute ordains, that Persons who any ways assist a Prisoner, committed for Treason, or Felony, to attempt his Escape from any Gaol, shall be adjudg'd guilty of Felony and be transported; and if the Prisoner be committed for any other Crime; or upon Procefs for 100 l. Debt, &c. the Offenders are liable to Fine and Imprisonment. 16 Geo. 2. c. 31. And where any Person conveys any Arms, Instrument or Disguise, to a Prisoner in Gaol for Felony, &c. or for his Use, in order to an Escape, 'tis likewise Felony and Transportation. Also if one assist any Prisoner to escape from any Constable, or other Officer or Person in whose Custody he is, by Virtue of a Warrant of Commitment for Felony, it is declared to be the like Offence. Ibid. In Civil Actions the Sheriff is to answer for the Escape of his Bailiff; as the Bailiff is his Servant: and Action of the Case lies against the Sheriff for an Escape upon mesne Procefs, because the Plaintiff is prejudiced in his Suit by it. Cro. Eliz. 623, 625. 1 Dawv. Abr. 183. But if he is arrested and rescued before brought to Gaol, the Sheriff is not chargeable: Though if a Defendant in Execution is rescued, the Sheriff is liable for the whole Debt; and is to have his Remedy against the Rescuer. 2 Cro. 419. Dyer 241. Where a Person is in Custody on mesne Procefs, and being outlawed after Judgment at the Suit of another, the Judgment Creditor brings a Warrant on a Capias Uilagatum, and delivers it to the Sheriff's Officer, who hath him in Custody; if the Officer afterwards permits the Person to escape, though he refuse to execute the Warrant, the Sheriff is chargeable in Action of the Case. 5 Rep. 89. And a Sheriff shall not take Advantage of Error in suing out a proper Procefs where a Person is arrested, &c. As if a Ca. sa. issue after a Year and a Day, without suing out a Scire facias, this Error will not excuse the Sheriff in an Escape. 2 Cro. 288. Salk. 273. But though a Sheriff may not take Advantage of an erroneous Procefs; yet he shall of a void Procefs, on which it is no Escape to let a Prisoner go. It will not be a good Plea, for the Sheriff in Action upon an Escape, that the Prisoner rescued himself, &c. for the Sheriff may command the Posse Comitatus to help him: But this has been held to be only in Case of Executions. 6 Rep. 51. 1 Cro. 868. Where two Persons are in Execution for Debt, if one of them escape, Debt will lie. 34 H. 6. And if any Prisoner escapes who was in Execution, his Creditor may retake him by Capias ad Satisfac. or bring Action of Debt on the Judgment or a Sci. fac. against him, &c. 1 Vent. 269. 3 Salk. 160. A Prisoner taken in Execution makes a tortious Escape, the Party at whose Suit he was taken in Execution shall have an Alias Ca. sa. to take him in Execution again; or Action on the Case against the Sheriff: But if the Sheriff voluntarily permit the Escape, Action of Debt is to be brought against the Sheriff; and on such a voluntary Escape, the Plaintiff may have a new Execution.

Execution. 1 Lill. Abr. 536. 8 Lev. 211. If a Man escapes, with the Consent of the Gaoler in a Civil Case, he cannot retake him. 3 Rep. 32. For 'tis said the Execution is discharged, so as the Party may not be taken again, or judg'd in Execution by Law. Hob. 202. And if he be allowed to go with a Keeper into another County, it is such an Escape and Discharge, that if he be there detained, out of the Power of the Sheriff, it will be false Imprisonment. Plowd. 36. Dyer 166. Though if a Person be permitted to escape by the Sheriff, he may be taken by the Party; for it may be the Sheriff is insufficient to answer. 1 Vent. 4. If the Plaintiff permit the Prisoner to escape, he cannot afterwards retake him: And if the Body and Goods, &c. of a Conusor are taken in Execution upon a Statute-Merchant, if the Conusee agree that he shall go at large, it is a Discharge of the whole Execution, and the Conusor shall have his Lands again: 'Tis otherwise if the Sheriff had permitted him to escape, the Execution on the Lands would not be discharged. 2 Nels. Abr. 737. If there be an Escape by the Plaintiff's Consent, when he did not intend it, the Law is hard that the Debt should be thereby discharged; as where one was in Execution in B. R. and some Proposals being made to the Plaintiff in Behalf of the Prisoner, seeing there was some Likelihood of an Accommodation, the Plaintiff consented to a Meeting in a certain Place in London, and desired the Prisoner might be there, who came accordingly: This was held to be an Escape, with the Plaintiff's Consent, and he could never after be in Execution at his Suit for the same Matter. 2 Mod. 136. When a Prisoner tortiously escapes from the Custody of the Gaoler, he may be retaken: And the Sheriff, &c. may pursue a Person escaping into that or any other County; and if he retakes the Prisoner on fresh Pursuit before Action brought, it shall excuse the Sheriff, for there the Prisoner shall be said to be in Execution still. 3 Rep. 44. And where the Sheriff is to answer the Debt and Damages for such Escape, he shall have his Counter-remedy against the Party escaping; and may take him at any Time and Place, and imprison him, 'till he hath satisfied the Sheriff as much as he hath paid to the Plaintiff; or he may bring an Action upon the Case against the Prisoner, and so relieve himself. 5 Rep. 52. 3 Rep. 52. Cro. Eliz. 393. It hath been adjudged no Escape to let a Prisoner go where the Sheriff hath the Prisoner in Custody, if it be before the Return of the Writ: 'Tis sufficient if the Officer have the Party at the Return of the Writ, &c. Moor 299. 1 Salk. 401. 2 Nels. 739, 740. Yet it hath been held, that where a Habeas Corpus is granted to bring a Person into Court, if the Sheriff on the Way let him go at large in the County, or carry him round about a great Way, &c. it will be an Escape. 1 Mod. 116. And an Escape in one Place is an Escape in all Places; for a Prisoner being once escaped, and at large, it shall be intended he is confined to no Place, so that for Escape Action may be brought against the Prisoner in any County. 1 Lill. Abr. 537. Action of Escape will not lie against the Executor or Administrator of a Sheriff, &c. for an Escape, because it was personal, and Mortuar cum Persona: But it may be otherwise if there be a Judgment recovered against the Sheriff before he died. Dyer 322. A Prisoner in Execution should not be allowed to go out of the Gaol; for if he goes out, though he returns again, it is an Escape. 3 Rep. 43, 44. 2 Inst. 260, 381. If a Sheriff or Gaoler suffer his Prisoner in Execution to go abroad, unless it be by Licence of the Lord Chief Justice, and of the Plaintiff: this will be an Escape in Law, although he come to Prison again. Plowd. 37. And yet in London, by special Custom there, in some Cases the Prisoner may go abroad with his Keeper, and it will be no Escape. Ibid. See Hob. 202. Where the Justice of the Court, and Plaintiff in the Suit, agree that the Prisoner shall be at Liberty, and he go out and return at his Time; it is no Escape: But this may not be without the Sheriff's Consent. Dyer 275. If a Plaintiff by Word Licence the Sheriff to deliver the Prisoner, no Action will lie for this as an Escape. 27 H. 8. 24. If the King, or any great Man shall require a Sheriff, &c. to set his Prisoner at Liberty, or threaten him if he do not so; if he do it accordingly, it will be an Escape in him. Dyer 278, 297. But where there is no good Imprisonment at the Time of the Escape; as if a Man be imprisoned by a Court that hath not Power to imprison him, &c. there can be no Escape. 14 H. 7. 1. Dyer 66, 306. 2 Bull. 237. A Plaintiff having Judgment, it was ruled that the Defendant should pay so much Money, before such a Day, and if he failed, then the Plaintiff to take him in Execution; on Failure of Payment, he was taken, and then sued an Audita Querela in the Chancery, where on a Suggestion he had an Injunction and Superseas, and was bailed and set at large, the Plaintiff not being paid his Debt: As this was done after Judgment and Execution, it was said to be an Escape in Law. Mich. 11 Jac. 1. 2 Bull. 120. 2 Skep. Abr. 318. If a Person that hath the Fee of a Prison, make a Lease of it for Life or Years to another, who suffers an Escape; the Party grieved thereby must prosecute the Lessee for it, and if he be not sufficient to answer, he may sue the Lessor. 4 Rep. 98. A Prisoner escapes out of the King's Bench, or Marshalsea, or the Fleet; the Keeper of the Prison out of which he escaped, is to be charged with it; but if the Escape be from either of the Counters, the Action must be brought against the Sheriffs of London for this. Dyer 278. 3 Rep. 52. If a Man is in Execution upon a Judgment in C. B. and there is a Judgment before against him in B. R. In this Case, he shall be in Execution for both in the King's Bench; And if the Marshal there suffer him to escape, he is chargeable with both Debts. Dyer 152, 153. Committing the Marshal of the Marshalsea to Prison, where an Escape in Law of all the Prisoners there, See Style 375. Persons in the King's Bench and Fleet Prisons, are to be actually detained within the said Prisons: And if they escape, Action of Debt lies against the Warden, &c. 1 R. 2. c. 12. Keepers of those Prisons suffering Prisoners to be out of the Rules, (except on Rule of Court, &c.) is an Escape; and Persons conniving at an Escape shall forfeit 500 l. &c. by 8 & 9 W. 3. c. 26. And by this Statute where any Prisoner in Execution escapes, the Creditor may have any other new Execution against him. By Stat. 5 Ann. c. 9. If any Person in Custody for not performing any Decree in Chancery, &c. escape, the Party for whom the Money is decreed may have the same Remedy against the Sheriff, as if the Prisoner had been in Custody on Execution. An old Sheriff omits turning over a Prisoner in Execution to the new Sheriff, is said to be an Escape; so where there are two Executions against a Man, and in the Indenture of Turning over Mention is made but of one, &c. 3 Rep. 71. See Sheriff.

Escape-Warrant. If any Person committed or charged in Custody in the King's Bench or Fleet Prison, in Execution, or on mesne Process, &c. go at large: On Oath thereof before a Judge of the Court where the Action was brought, an Escape Warrant shall be granted, directed to all Sheriffs, &c. throughout England, to retake the Prisoner, and commit him to Gaol where taken, there to remain till the Debt is satisfied: And a Person may be taken on a Sunday upon an Escape Warrant. Stat. 1 Ann. c. 6. And the Judges of the respective Courts may grant Warrants, upon Oath to be made before Persons commissioned by them to take Affidavits in the Country, (such Oath being first filed) as they might do upon Oath made made before themselves. 5 Ann. c. 9. A Sheriff ought not to receive a Person taken on Escape Warrant, &c. from any but an Officer; not from the Rabble, &c. which is illegal. Pafch. 3 Ann. 3 Salk. 149. A Person being arrested and carried to Newgate by Virtue of an Escape Warrant, moved to be discharged, because he said he was abroad by a Day-Rule when taken; but it appearing by Affidavit, that he was took upon the Escape Warrant before the Court of B. R. sat that Morning, they refused to set him at Liberty. 2 Ld. Raym. 927.

Escheat, (Eschaeta, from the Fr. Escheoir, i. e. Accidere) Signifies any Lands or Tenements that casually fall to a Lord within his Manor, by Way of Forfeiture; or by the Death of his Tenant, leaving no Heir general or special. Magn. Chart. cap. 31. Escheat is also used sometimes for the Places or Circuit, in which the King, or other Lord, hath Escheats of his Tenants. Bract. lib. 3. tract. 2. cap. 2. And it is likewise applied to a Writ, which lies where the Tenant having an Estate in Fee-simple in any Lands or Tenements holden of a superior Lord, dies without Heir; in which Case the Lord brings this Writ against him that is in Possession of the Lands after the Death of his Tenant, and shall thereby recover the same in Lieu of his Services. F. N. B. 144. In our Law Escheats were of two Sorts: 1. Regal, Those Forfeitures which belong to our Kings by the ancient Rights and Prerogative of the Crown. 2. Feodal, which accrue to every Lord of the Fee as well as the King, by Reason of his Seigniorie. Where a Person commits Treason, his Estate shall escheat and be forfeited to the King: And when a Tenant in Fee-simple committeth Felony, and is attainted, the King shall have Year, Day, and Waste in his Lands, (or rather Year and Day in lieu of Waste) and afterwards it comes to the Lord by Escheat. And the Lord may compound with the King, and have the Estate presently. 3 Inst. 111. It has been holden, that a Saving against the Corruption of Blood in a Statute concerning Felony, doth by Consequence save the Land to the Heir, so as not to escheat; because the Escheat to the Lord for Felony is only pro defectu Tenentis, occasioned by the Corruption of Blood: But it hath been adjudged, that a Saving against the Corruption of Blood in a Statute concerning Treason, doth not save the Land to the Heir; for in Treason the Land goes to the King by Way of immediate Forfeiture. 3 Inst. 47. 1 Salk. 85. Inheritances of Things not lying in Tenure, as of Rents, Commons, &c. cannot escheat to the Lord, because there is no Tenure; nor descend, by Reason the Blood is corrupted: Though they are forfeited to the King by an Attainder of Treason, and the Profits of them shall be also forfeited to the King on Attainder of Felony, during the Life of the Offender; and after his Death 'tis said the Inheritance shall be extinguished. 2 Hawk. P. C. 449. A Person is seised of Lands in Fee holden of a Lord, his Son is attainted of Treason, and the Father dieth, the Land shall escheat to the Lord, and not to the King; who cannot have the Land, because the Son who was attainted never had any Thing to forfeit: But the King shall have the Escheat of all the Lands whereof the Person attainted of High Treason was seised, of whomsoever they were holden. 1 Inst. 13. Husband and Wife, Tenants in special Tail; the Husband is attainted of Treason and executed, leaving Issue; on the Death of the Wife the Lands shall escheat, because the Issue in Tail ought to make his Conveyance by Father and Mother, and from the Father he cannot by Reason of the Attainder. Dyer 322. If Tenant in Fee-simple is attainted of Treason, and executed, upon his Death the Fee is veiled in the King, without Office found; yet he must bring a Scire facias against the Tertenants: Lands shall never escheat to a Lord of whom they are holden, until Office found. 3 Rep. 10. Escheat seldom happens to the Lord for Want of an Heir to an Estate; but when it doth, before the Lord enters, the Homage Jury of the Lord's Court ought to present it. 2 Inst. 36. Land shall escheat to the Lord, where Heirs are born after Attainder of Felony. 3 Rep. 40. Though if the King pardons a Felon before Conviction, the Lord shall not have his Lands by Escheat; for the Lord hath no Title before Attainder. Owen 87. 2 Nels. Abr. 744. If on Appeal of Death or other Felony, Process is awarded against the Party, and hanging the Process he conveyeth away the Land, and after is outlawed, the Conveyance is good to defeat the Lord of his Escheat: But if where a Person is indicted of Felony, hanging the Process against him, he conveys away his Land, and afterwards is outlawed, the Conveyance shall not prevent the Lord of his Escheat. 1 Inst. 13. See Corruption of Blood.

Form of a Writ of Escheat.

GEORGE the Second, &c. To the Sheriff of S. Greeting: Command A. B. that he render to C. D. Esquire, twenty Acres of Land, with the Appurtenances, in, &c. which W. B. of him held, and which to the said C. D. ought to revert and come as his Escheat, because the said W. B. died without Heir; Or, because the said W. hath Felony committed, for which he was executed, or outlawed, &c. as he saith. And unless, &c.

Escheator, (Escheator) Was an Officer appointed by the Lord Treasurer, &c. in every County, to make Inquests of Titles by Escheat; which Inquests were to be taken by good and lawful Men of the County, impanelled by the Sheriff. Stat. 14 Ed. 3. c. 8 34 Ed. 3. c. 13. 8 H. 6. c. 16. These Escheators found Offices after the Death of the King's Tenants, who held by Knight-Service, or otherwise of the King; and certified their Inquisitions into the Exchequer, and Fitzberbert called them Officers of Record. F. N. B. 100. No Escheator could continue in his Office above one Year: And whereas before the Statute of Westm. 1. cap. 24. Escheators, Sheriffs, &c. would seize into the King's Hands the Freehold of the Subjects, and thereby disseise them; by this Act it is provided that no Seizure can be made of Lands or Tenements into the King's Hands, before Office found. 2 Inst. 206. And no Lands can be granted before the King's Title is found by Inquisition. 18 H. 6. c. 6. The Office of Escheator is an ancient Office, and was formerly of great Use to the Crown; but having its chief Dependance on the Court of Wards, which is taken away by Act of Parliament, it is now in a Manner out of Date. 4 Inst. 225. There was anciently an Officer called Escheator of the Jews. Clauf. 4 Ed. 1. m. 7.

Escheccum, A Jury or Inquisition. Matt. Paris. Anno 1240.

Escrow, Is a Deed delivered to a third Person, to be the Deed of the Party making it, upon a future Condition, when such a Thing is performed; and then then it is to be delivered to the Party to whom made. It is to be delivered to a Stranger, mentioning the Condition; and has Relation to the first Delivery. 2 Roll. Abr. 25, 26. 1 Inst. 31.

Escuage, (Scutagium, from the Fr. Escu, a Shield) Is a Kind of Knight-Service, called Service of the Shield, whereby the Tenant was bound to follow his Lord into the Wars at his own Charge. Also it has been sometimes taken for that Duty or Payment, which they who held Lands under this Tenure, were bound to make to the Lord, when they neither went to the Wars, nor provided any other in their Places; being in Lieu of all Services. And sometimes Escuage signified a reasonable Aid, demanded and levied by the Lord of his Tenants who held in Knight-Service, &c. Stat. 12 Car. 2. c. 24. F. N. B. 8. See Chivalry.

Eskippamentum, Skippage, Tackle, or Ship Furniture: The Sea-port Towns were to provide certain Ships, Sumptibus propriis & duplici Eskippamento. Sir Rob. Cott.

Eskippeson, Shipping, or Passage by Sea. Humphrey Earl of Bucks, in a Deed dated 13 Feb. 22 H. 6. covenants with Sir Philip Cberwind, his Lieutenant of the Castle of Calais, to give him Allowance for his Soldiers, Skippeson and Re-skippeson, viz. Passage and Re-passage by Ship.

Esnevy, (Esnevia, Dignitas primogeniti) Is a Private Prerogative allowed to the eldest Coparcener, where an Estate is descended to Daughters for Want of Heir Male, to chuse first after the Inheritance is divided. Fleta, lib. 5. cap. 10. Jus Esnevia is Jus Primogenituræ; in which Sense it may be extended to the eldest Son, and his Issue, holding first: In the Statute of Marlebridge, cap. 9. it is called Initia pars Hæreditatis. Co. Litt. 166.

Esperons, Spurs, Esperons de Or, Guilt Spurs. 7 Co. Rep. 13.

Esperbarius, (Fr. Espervier) A Spar-Hawk, Chart. Forest, cap. 4.—Reddit. solut. Willielmo T. ad Manerium suum de, &c. pro omnibus servitiis unum Espervarium ad Festum, &c. Anno 35 H. 6.

Esplees, (Expletice, from Expleo) Are the Products which Ground or Land yield; as the Hay of the Meadows, the Herbage of the Pasture, Corn of the Arable; Rent and Services, &c. And of an Advowson, the Taking of Tithes in Grofs by the Parson; of Wood, the Selling of Wood: of an Orchard, the Fruits growing there; of a Mill, the Taking of Toll, &c. These and such like Issues are termed Esplees. And it is observed, that in a Writ of Right of Land, Advowson, &c. the Demandant ought to allege in his Count, that he or his Ancestors took the Esplees of the Thing in Demand; otherwise the Pleading will not be good. Terms de Ley 310. Sometimes this Word hath been applied to the Farm, or Lands, &c. themselves.—Dominus E. habebit omnia Expletias & Proficua de Corona emergentia. Plac. Parl. 30 Ed. 1.

Esposals, (Sponsalia,) Are a Contract or mutual Promise between a Man and a Woman to marry each other; and where Marriages may be consummated, Esposals go before them. Marriage or Matrimony is said to be an Esposal de presenti, and a Conjunction of Man and Woman in a constant Society. Wood's Inst. 57. See Matrimony.

Esquire, (from the Fr. Escu, and the Lat. Scutum, in Greek (Σκῦρον) which signifies an Hide of which Shields were anciently made and afterwards covered: For here in the Time of the Saxons, the Shields had a Covering of Leather; so that an Esquire was originally he who attending a Knight in Time of War, did carry his Shield, whence he was called Escuier in French, and Scutifer or Armiger, (i. e. Armour-bearer) in Latin. Hotoman saith, that those which the French call Esquires, were a military Kind of Vassals, having Jus Scuti, viz. Liberty to bear a Shield, and in it the Ensigns of their Family, in Token of their Gentility or Dignity: But this Addition hath not of long Time had any Relation to the Office or Employment of the Person to whom it hath been attributed, as to carrying of Arms, &c. but been merely a Title of Dignity, and next in Degree to a Knight. Those to whom this Title is now of Right due, are all the younger Sons of Noblemen, and the eldest Sons of such younger Sons; the eldest Sons of Knights, and their eldest Sons; the Officers of the King's Courts and of the King's Household; Counsellors at Law; Justices of Peace, &c. But these latter, are Esquires in Reputation; and he who is a Justice of Peace, has this Title only during the Time he is in Commission, and no longer, if he be not otherwise qualified to bear it. A Sheriff of a County being a superior Officer, retains the Title of Esquire during his Life; in Respect of the great Trust he hath in the Commonwealth. The chief of some ancient Families are Esquires by Prescription; and in late Acts of Parliament for Poll-Money, many wealthy Persons (commonly reputed to be such) were rank'd among the Esquires of this Kingdom. Blount.

Esquires of the King, Are such who have the Title by Creation: These, when they are created, have put about their Necks a Collar of SS, and a Pair of Silver Spurs is bestowed on them: And they were wont to bear before the Prince in War, a Shield or Lance. There are four Esquires of the Kings Body, to attend on his Majesty's Person. Camb. 111.

Esendi quietum de Colonia, A Writ to be quia of Toll; and lies for Citizens and Burgeses of any City or Town that by Charter or Prescription ought to be exempted from Toll, where the same is exacted of them. Reg. Orig. 258.

Essoz, Are Persons appointed by a Court of Law, to whom a Writ of Venire facias is directed to impanel a Jury, on Challenge to the Sheriff and Coroners; who return the Writ in their own Names, with a Panel of the Jurors Names. 15 Ed. 4. 24. pl. 4.

Essoin, (Essoinum, Fr. Essoins) Signifies an Excuse for him that is summoned to appear and answer to an Action, or to perform Suit to a Court Baron, &c. by Reason of Sickness and Infirmary, or other just Cause of Absence. It is a Kind of Imparlance, or craving of a longer Time, that lies in Real, Personal and Mix'd Actions: And the Plaintiff as well as the Defendant shall be essoined, to save his Default. 1 Inst. 131. The Causes that serve to Essoin, and the Essoins are divers under these Heads. 1. Essoin de ultra Mare, whereby the Defendant shall have forty Days. 2. De Terra Sancta, where the Defendant shall have a Year and a Day. 3. De malo veniendi, which is likewise called the Common Essoin. 4. De malo leſi, wherein the Defendant may by Writ be viewed by four Knights. 5. De servitio Regis. Braſ. lib. 5. Britton, cap. 122. Fleta, lib. 6. And besides the common Essoin de malo veniend. i. e. by falling sick in coming to the Court, and other Essoins abovementioned; there were several other Excuses, to save a Default in real Actions; as Constraint of Enemies, the falling among Thieves, Floods of Water, and breaking down of Bridges, &c. 2 Co. Inst. 125. After Issue joined in Dower, Quare Impedit, &c. one Effoin only shall be allowed. Stat. 52 H. 3. c. 13. And in Writs of Assise, Attaints, &c. after the Tenant hath appeared, he shall not be effoined; but the Inquest shall be taken by Default. 3 Ed. 1. c. 42. Effoin ultra Mare will not be allowed, if the Tenant be within the four Seas; but it shall be turned to a Default, c. 44. There is no Effoin permitted for an Appellant. 13 Ed. 1. Nor doth Effoin lie where any Judgment is given; or the Party is distrained by his Lands; the Sheriff is commanded to make him appear; after the Party is seen in Court, &c. 12 E. 2. And Effoin de servitio Regis lies not when the Party is a Woman; in a Writ of Dower; where the Party hath an Attorney in his Suit, &c. Ibid. The Effoin Day in Court is regularly the first Day of the Term; but the fourth Day after is allowed of Favour. 1 Lill. 540.

An Effoin is entred thus: A. B. offers himself on the fourth Day against C. D. in a Plea or Action of, &c. and he did not appear, and was summoned, &c. Therefore let him be attached, that he be here on the Day &c. And be it known, that the said A. hath the same Day to appear by his Effoin, &c. Raft. 520.

Effoin de Morte Willz. Is when the Defendant is in Court the first Day; but gone without Pleading, and being afterwards surpris'd by Sickness, &c. cannot attend, but sends two Effoiners, who openly protest in Court that he is detained by Sickness in such a Village that he cannot come, pro lucrari & pro perdere; and this will be admitted, for it lies on the Plaintiff to prove whether the Effoin is true or not.

Effoins and Proffers. Words used in the Statute 38 H. 8. c. 21. See Proffer.

Establishment of Dower. Is the Assurance or Settlement of Dower, made to the Wife by the Husband, on Marriage: and Assignment of Dower, signifies the Setting it out by the Heir afterwards, according to the Establishment. Brit. cap. 102, 103.

Estache. (From the Fr. Estacher, to fasten) Is used for a Bridge, or Stank of Stone and Timber Corvel.

Estandard, or Standard. An Ensign for Horsemen in War. See Standard.

Estate. (Fr. Estat, Lat. Jus) Signifies that Title or Interest which a Man hath in Lands or Tenements, &c. And Estates are acquired divers Ways, viz. by Descent from a Father to the Son, &c. Conveyance, or Grant from one Man to another; by Gift or Purchase; Deed or Will: And a Fee-simple is the largest Estate that can be in Law. 1 Lill. 541. Estates are Real, of Lands, &c. or Personal, of Goods or Chattels; otherwise distinguished into Freeholds, that descend to the Heir, and Chattels which go to the Executors: Some Estates are made by the Words of Deeds, and others made by Law; as an Estate in Frank marriage given to a Cousin, makes a Gift in Tail. Also there is an Estate that is implied, where Tenant in Tail bargains and sells his Land to a Man and his Heirs; by this he hath an Estate descendible, and determinable upon the Death of the Tenant in Tail. Co. Litt. 10 Rep. 97. If I give Lands in Dale to a certain Person for Life, and after to his Heirs or right Heirs, he hath the Fee simple; and if it be to Heirs Males, he will have an Estate-tail. 1 Rep. 66. A Man grants to one and his Heirs and Assigns for his Life, and a Year over; this is an Estate for Life only. 39 E. 3. 25. Litt. 46. If a Lease be made, and not expressed for what number of Years, it is an Estate at Will. 2 Shep. Abr. 81. The Word Estate generally in Deeds, Grants, and Conveyances, comprehends the whole in which the Party hath an Interest or Property, and will pass the same. 3 Mod. 46. A Person in Possession of an Estate, mortgaged in Fee, by Will gave it to his two Daughters, and their Heirs; one of them married, and then died: And it being a Question, whether her Share should be held Real or Personal Estate, and go to the Heir, or her Husband Administrator? It was adjudged for the Heir; for here the Mortgaged Land shall descend as other Lands of Inheritance, and be Subject to the same Rules. Preced. Canc. 266. In such Case, if the Mortgage in Fee be paid off, the Money shall be consider'd as Land, and belong to Heirs, as the Estate in the Land would have done. Ibid. Personal Estate was devised by a Man to his Wife for Life, and what she left at her Death, to be divided between his Kindred: He died, and the Widow married again; this Devise over was held good in Equity, on a Bill brought to have an Inventory taken of the Estate, and Security given not to imbeil it. But if the same were of small Value, that the Widow could not live thereupon, without spending the Stock, it would be otherwise. Ibid. 71, 72. One by Will gives to his Wife, all his Goods and Furniture at such a Place; the Goods that are there, at the Time of his Death shall pass, tho' they were not there on making of the Will; for the personal Estate is fluctuating until the Testator's Death. 2 Vern. 688. Some hold, that where Goods of a House or Chamber are devised, there ought to be a particular Inventory of them, to make those pass as were there when the Will was made.

Estoppel. (From the Fr. Estouper, i. e. Oppilare, obstipare) Is an Impediment or Bar of an Action arising from a Man's own Fact: Or where he is forbidden by Law, to speak against his own Deed: for by his Act or Acceptance, he may be estopped to alledge or speak the Truth. F. N. B. 142. Co. Litt. 352. If a Person is bound in an Obligation by the Name of A. B. and is afterwards sued by that Name on the Obligation; now he shall not be received to say in Abatement, that he is misnamed, but shall answer according to the Obligation, though it be wrong; and forasmuch as he is the same Person that was bound, he is estopped and forbidden in Law to say contrary to his own Deed; and otherwise he might take Advantage of his own Wrong, which the Law will not suffer. Terms de Ley 314. If a Man enter into a Bond, with Condition to give to another all the Goods which are devised to him by his Father; in this Case the Obligor is estopped to plead that the Father made no Will, but he may plead that he had not any Goods devised to him by his Father. 1 Nels. Abr. 751. In a Deed, all the Parties are estopped to say any Thing against what is contained in it: It estops a Lessee to say that the Lessor had nothing in the Land, &c. And Parties and Privies are bound by Estoppel. Litt. 58. 1 Inst. 352. 4 Rep. 53. None but Privies and Parties shall regularly have Advantage by Estoppels: But if a Man makes a Lease of Part of a Term whereby he is estopped; and after assign away the Term, the Assignee will be estopped also. 30 H. 6. 2. 4 Rep. 56. In Estoppels, both Parties must be estopped; and therefore where an Infant or Feme Covert, makes a Lease, they are not estopped to say that 'tis not their Deed, because they are not bound by it; and as to them it is void. Gro. Eliz. 36. And tho' Estoppels conclude Parties to Deeds to say the Truth; yet Jurors are not concluded, who are sworn ad veritatem de & super præmissis dicendam: For they may find any Thing that is out of the Record; and are not estopped to find Truth in a special Verdict. 4 Rep. 53. Litt. 570. An Estoppel shall bind only the Heir, who claims the Right of him to whom the Estoppel was. 8 Rep. 53. Acceptance of Rent from a Disseisor by the Disseisee, may be an Estoppel: And a Widow accepting less than her Thirds for Dower, is Estoppel, &c. 2 Davv. Abr. 130, 671. Our Books mention three Kinds of Estoppel, viz. By matter of Record, by Matter in Writing, and by Matter in Pais. Co. Lit. 352. If a Feoffment be made to two, and their Heirs, and the Feoffor afterwards levies a Fine to them two, and the Heirs of one of them; this will be an Estoppel to the other to Demand Fee-simple according to the Deed; for the Fine shall enure as a Release. 6 Rep. 7. 44. Tenant in Tail suffers a Recovery, that his Issues may avoid; he himself shall be estopped and concluded by it, and may not demand the Land against his own Recovery. 3 Rep. 3. The taking of a Lease by Indenture of a Man's own Land, whereof he is seised in Fee, is an Estoppel to claim the Fee during the Term. Moor, ca. 323. And. 121. A Lease is made to one Man for eighty Years, and then to another by Deed indented for the same Term, this second Lease may be good by Way of Estoppel: And if the first determine by Surrender, Forfeiture, &c. the second Lessee will have the Land. But if the second Lease be by Deed Poll, it will be void. Co. Rep. 155. If a Lessor at the Time of making the Lease hath nothing in the Land, but after he gets it by Purchase or Discent, it is a good Lease by Estoppel. Dyer 256. Plowd. 344. 1 Inst. 47. A Recital in a Deed shall not estop a Person, unless it be of a particular Fact, or where it is material, when it may be Estoppel. Cro. Eliz. 362. The Lord by Deed indented, reciting that his Tenant holds of him by such Services, whereas he doth not, confirms to the Tenant, saving his Services; 'tis no Estoppel to the Tenant. 35 H. 6. 33. Plowd. 130. If one do make a Deed by Duress of Imprisonment, and when he is at large makes a Defeasance to it; he is estopped to say it was per Duress. Bro. Defeas. 17. Where the Condition of a Bond is in the Particularity, as to enfeof J. S. of the Manor of D. or to pay such a Sum of Money as he stands bound to pay to W. S. or to stand to the Sentence of J. S. in a Matter of Tithes, in Question between them; here the Party is estopped to deny any of these Things, which in the Condition he did grant: But if a Condition be in the Generality, to enfeof one of all his Lands in D. or to be nonsuit in all Actions, &c. it is no Estoppel. Dyer 106. 18 Ed. 4. 54. If a Man in pleading confesses the Thing he is charged with, he cannot afterwards deny it: Though a Plaintiff shall not be estopped to alledge any Thing against that which before he hath said in his Writ, or Declaration; and one may not be estopped by the Record upon which he was nonsuited. 21 H. 7. 24. 2 Leon. 3. 17. An Estoppel ought to be certain and Affirmative, and a Matter alledged that is not traverfable, shall not estop; one may not be estopped by Acceptance, before his Title accrued; an Estoppel must be insisted and relied upon; and where there is Estoppel against Estoppel, it puts the Matter at large. 1 Inst. 352. Hob. 207. Estoppels are to be pleaded relying on the Estoppel; without demanding Judgment fi Azio, &c. 4 Rep. 53.

Estovers, (Fr. Estover, from the Verb Estoffer) Signifies to supply with Necessaries; and is generally used in the Law for Allowances of Wood made to Tenants, comprehending House-bote, Hedge bote and Plough-bote, for Repairs, &c. And in some Manors, the Tenants pay a certain small annual Rent, for Estovers out of the Lord's Woods. Westm. 2. cap. 25. 20 Car. 2. cap. 3. This Word hath been taken for Sustainance; as Bracton uses it, for that Sustainance or Allowance, which a Man committed for Felony is to have out of his Lands or Goods for himself and his Family during his Imprisonment. Bract. lib. 3. tract. 2. cap. 18. And the Stat. 6 Ed. 1. cap. 3. applies it to an Allowance in Meat, Clothes, &c. In which Sense, it has been used for a Wife's Alimony. See Common of Estovers.

Estray, (Extrabura, from the old Fr. Estrayeur) Is any Beast that is not wild, found within a Lordship, and not owned by any Man; pecus quod elapsum a custode campos pererrat, ignoto Domino: In which Case if it be tried and proclaimed according to Law in the two next Market-Towns on two Market-Days, and is not claimed by the Owner within a Year and a Day, it belongs to the Lord of the Liberty. Brit. cap. 17. And Swans may be Estray, as well as Beasts, and are to be proclaimed, &c. 1 Roll. Abr. 878. If the Beast stray to another Lordship within the Year, after it hath been an Estray, the first Lord cannot retake it, for until the Year and Day be past, and Proclamation made as aforesaid, he hath no Property; and therefore the Possession of the second Lord is good against him. Wood's Inst. 213. Cro. Eliz. 716. If the Cattle were never proclaimed, the Owner may take them at any Time: And where a Beast is proclaimed as the Law directs, if the Owner claims it in a Year and a Day, he shall have it again; but must pay the Lord for Keeping. 1 Rol. Abr. 879. Finch 177. An Owner may seize an Estray, without telling the Marks, or proving the Property, (which may be done at the Trial, if contested) and tendering Amends generally is good in this Case, without shewing the particular Sum; because the Owner of the Estray is no Wrong Doer, and knows not how long it has been in the Possession of the Lord, &c. which makes it different from Trespass, where a certain Sum must be tendered. 2 Salk. 686. In Case of an Estray, the Lord ought to make a Demand of what the Amends should be for the Keeping; and then if the Party thinks the Demand unreasonable, he must tender sufficient Amends; but if what he tenders is not enough, the Lord shall take Issue, and 'tis to be settled by the Jury. Noy 144. Trin. 5 Ann. A Beast Estray is not to be used in any Manner, except in Case of Necessity; as to milk a Cow, or the like; but not to ride an Horse. Cro. Jac. 148. 1 Roll. 673. Estrays of the Forest are mentioned in the Statute of 27 H. 8. cap. 7. The King's Cattle cannot be Estrays or forfeited, &c.

Estreat, (Extradum) Is used for the true Copy or Note of some original Writing or Record, and especially of Fines, Amercements, &c. imposed in the Rolls of a Court, to be levied by the Bailiff or other Officer. F. N. B. 57, 76. Stat. Westm. c. 8. Justices, Commissioners, &c. are to deliver their Estreats into the Exchequer yearly after Michaelmas: And Fines to have Writs, which shall be entered in the Estreat, in Order as they are entered in the Chancery-Rolls, &c. 51 H. 3. 15 E. 2. c. 2. These Estreats relate to Fines for Crimes and Offences, Defaults and Negligences, of Parties in Suits and Officers, Non-appearance of Defendants, and Jurors, &c. And all forfeited Recognizances are to be first estreated into the Exchequer, by Sheriffs of Counties; on which Process issues to levy the same to the Use of the King. Stat. 22 & 23 Car. 2. cap. 22. Estreats are to be levied on the right Persons: And Sheriff's Estreats must be in two Parts, indented and sealed by the Sheriff, and two Justices of the Peace; who are to view them, and one of them is to remain with the Sheriff, and the other with the Justices. 11 H. 7. c. 15. The Estreats of Fines, at the Quarter-Sessions, are to be made by the Justices; and to be double, one whereof is to be delivered to the Sheriff by Indenture. 14 R. 2. cap. 11. Fines, Post-Fines, Forfeitures, &c. must be estreated into the Exchequer twice a Year, on Pain of 50 l. And Officers are to deliver in their Returns of Estreats upon Oath. 22 & 23 Car. 2. 4 & 5 W. & M. 'Tis the Course of the Court of B. R. to send the Estreats twice a Year into the Exchequer, viz. on the last Day of the two issuable Terms; but in Extraordinary Cases there may be a Rule to estreat them sooner. 1 Salk. 45. Amercements are not usually discharged on Motion, and there ought to be a Constat of the Estreat; though the Court may give Leave to the Sheriff to compound them. Ibid. 54. 1 Nelf. Abr. 207.

Estreat

Estrechiatus. Is a Word signifying Streightened. — Inquirendum est de viis Domini Regis Estrechiatis. R. Hoveden, p. 783.

Estrepc, (Fr. Estropier) To make Spoil in Lands to the Damage of another, as of the Reversioner, &c.

Estrepiement, (Estrepiementum, from the Fr. Estropier, Mutilare, or from the Lat. Extirpare) Is where any Spoil is made by Tenant for Life, upon any Lands or Woods, to the Prejudice of him in Reversion; and also signifies to make Land barren by continual Ploughing. Stat. 6 Ed. 1. cap. 13. It seems by the Derivation, that Estrepiement is the unreasonable Drawing away the Heart of the Ground, by Ploughing and Sowing it continually, without Manuring or other good Husbandry, whereby it is impaired: And yet Estropier signifying Mutilare, may no less be applied to the cutting down Trees, or lopping them farther than the Law allows. In ancient Records, we often find Vastum & Estrepiementum facere: And this Word is used for a Writ, which lies in two Cases; the one, when a Person having an Action depending, as a Formedon, Writ of Right, &c. sues to prohibit the Tenant from making Waste, during the Suit, the other is for the Demandant, who is adjudged to recover Seisin of the Land in Question, before Execution sued by the Writ Habere facias Possessionem, to prevent Waste being made till he gets into Possession. Reg. Orig. 76. Reg. Judic. 33. F. N. B. 60, 61. The Writ of Estrepiement lies properly where the Plaintiff in a real Action, shall not recover Damages by his Action; and it as it were supplies Damages, for Damages and Costs may be recovered for Waste, after the Writ of Estrepiement is brought. A Writ of Estrepiement was delivered to the Tenant in Formedon, who notwithstanding committed Waste, and thereupon the Demandant counted upon this Writ; the Tenant pleaded Non fecit Vastum contra Prohibitionem; and it was found by Verdict that he did, whereupon the Demandant the Plaintiff, had his Damages and Costs. Moor 100. This Writ may be sued out with the Original in the Action; and in some Cases may be brought as well after, as before Judgment, where Execution is not had; but is usually before Judgment. 2 Inst. 328. If Tenants commit Waste in Houses assigned a Feme for Dower, on her bringing Action of Dower, Writ of Estrepiement lies. 5 Rep. 115. It also lies in Cases of Disseisins: And where a Writ of Error is brought to reverse a Common Recovery, whilst the Writ is depending, Estrepiement may be awarded to the Tenant; likewise on a Scire Facias brought against the Tertenants, in Reversal of a Recovery, it will lie. Cro. Eliz. 114. Moor 622. But pending a Writ of Partition between Coparceners, if the Tenant commit Waste, this Writ will not be granted; because there is equal Interest between the Parties, and the Writ will not lie, but where the Interest of the Tenant is to be disproved. Goldsb. 50. 2 Nelf. Abr. 754. Writ of Estrepiement is directed to the Tenant and his Servants, or to the Sheriff: And if it be directed to the Tenant and his Servants, and they are duly served with it, if they afterwards commit Waste, they may be committed to Prison: But it is said not to be so, when directed to the Sheriff, because he may raise the Posse Comitatus to resist them who make Waste. Hob. 85. Though it hath been adjudged, that the Sheriff may likewise imprison Offenders, if he be put to it; and that he may make a Warrant to others to do it. 5 Rep. 115. 2 Inst. 329. In the Chancery, on filing of a Bill, and before Answer, the Court will grant an Injunction to stay Waste, &c. 1 Lill. 547. The Writ of Estrepiement commands the Sheriff; That to the Messuage, &c. personally coming, he do Order that Waste or Estrepiement of the said Messuage, against the Form of the Statute in this Case made and provided, be not made pending the Plea, &c.

Etheling or Ætheling, (Sax.) Signifies Nobl^e and among the English Saxons, it was the Title of the Prince, or the King's eldest Son. Camden. See Adeling.

Evafion, (Evafio) Is a subtle Endeavouring to set aside Truth, or to escape the Punishment of the Law; which will not be indured. If a Person says to another that he will not strike him, but will give him a Pot of Ale to strike first; and accordingly he strikes, the Returning of it is punishable; and if the Person first striking be killed, it is Murder; for no Man shall evade the Justice of the Law, by such a Pretence to cover his Malice. 1 H. P. C. 81. No one may plead Ignorance of the Law to evade it, &c.

Evenings, The Delivery at Even or Night of a certain Portion of Grass, or Corn, &c. to a Customary Tenant, who performs the Service of Cutting, Mowing or Reaping for his Lord, given him as a Gratuity or Encouragement. Kennet's Gloss.

Evewyppers, Are such Persons as stand under the Eves or Walls or Windows of a House, by Night or by Day, to harken after News, and carry it to others, and thereby cause Strife and Contention in the Neighbourhood. Terms de Ley 317. They are called evil Members of the Common-wealth; and by the Statute of Westm. 1. c. 33. they may be punished, either in the Court Leet by Way of Presentment, and Fine; or in the Quarter-Sessions by Indictment, and binding to the good Behaviour. Kitch. 11.

Evection, (From Evinco to overcome) Is a Recovery of Land, &c. by Law. If Land is evicted, before the Time of Payment of Rent on a Lease, no Rent shall be paid by the Lessee. 10 Rep. 128. Where Lands taken on Extent are evicted or recovered by better Title, the Plaintiff shall have a new Execution. 4 Rep. 66. If a Widow is evicted of her Dower or Thirds, she shall be endowed in the other Lands of the Heir. 2 Danv. Abr. 670. And if on an Exchange of Lands, either Party is evicted of the Lands given in Exchange, he may enter on his own Lands. 4 Rep. 121.

Evidence, (Evidentia) Is used in the Law for some Proof, by Testimony of Men on Oath, or by Writings or Records. It is called Evidence, because thereby the Point in Issue in a Cause to be tried, is to be made evident to the Jury; for Probationes debent esse Evidentes & Perspicue. Co. Lit. 283. The Evidence to a Jury ought to be upon the Oaths of Witnesses; or upon Matters of Record, or by Deeds proved, or other like authentical Matter. 1 Lill. Abr. 547. And Evidence containeth Testimony of Witnesses; and all other Proofs to be given and produced to a Jury for the Finding of any Issue joined between Parties. 1 Inst. 283. As to Proof by Witnesses, they cannot testify a Negative; and the Common Law required no certain Number of Witnesses, though they are required by Statute in some Cases: The Testimony of one single Evidence is sufficient for the King in all Causes, except for Treason; where there must be two Witnesses to the same Overt Act, &c. In all other criminal Matters, one Evidence is enough; and to a Jury one Witness is sufficient. 3 Inst. 20. Mich. 23 Car. D. R. Stat. 7 W. 3. cap. 3. And sometimes violent Presumption will be admitted for Evidence, without Witnesses; as where a Person is run through the Body in a House, and one is seen to come out of the House with a bloody Sword, &c. But on this the Court ought not to judge hastily. 1 Inst. 6, 673. And though presumptive and circumstantial Evidence may be sufficient in Felony; it is not so in Treason. State Trials, Vol. 4. p. 307. Where Necessity requires, Witnesses may be examined apart in Court, till they have given all they had to say in Evidence; so that what one has deposed, may not induce another to give his Evidence to the same Effect. Forfe. 54. The King cannot be a Witness under his his Sign Manual, &c. 2 Roll. Abr. 686. Though it has been allowed he may, in Relation to a Promise made in Behalf of another. Hob. 213. A Peer produced as an Evidence, ought to be sworn. 3 Keb. 631. It is no Exception to an Evidence that he is a Judge, or a Juror, to try the Person; for a Judge may give Evidence going off from the Bench. 2 Hawk. P. C. 432. And a Juror may be an Evidence as to his particular Knowledge; but then it must be on Examination in open Court, not before his Brother Jurors. 1 Lill. 552. Members of Corporations shall be admitted or refused to give Evidence in Actions brought by Corporations, as their Interest is small or great; whereby it may be judged whether they will be partial or not. 2 Lev. 231, 241. But they will not generally be admitted; though Inhabitants not free of the Corporation may be good Witnesses for the Corporation, as their Interest is not concerned; and Members may be disfranchised on these Occasions. Ibid. 236. In Actions against Church-wardens and Overseers of the Poor for Recovery of Money Mispent on the Parish Account, the Evidence of the Parishioners, not receiving Alms, shall be allowed. Stat. 3 & 4 W. & M. cap. 11. And in Informations or Indictments for not repairing Highways and Bridges, the Evidence of the Inhabitants of the Town, Corporation, &c. where such Highways lie shall be admitted. 1 Ann. cap. 18. A Party interested in the Suit; or a Wife for or against her Husband, a Husband against the Wife, (except in Cases of Treason) may not be Witnesses. 4 Inst. 279. Yet it has been adjudged that a Wife may be admitted as an Evidence for the Husband on her being seduced to live with an Adulterer, against the Adulterer; and she may be a Witness to prove a Cheat upon her and her Husband. Sid. 431. Kinsmen, though never so near, Tenants, Servants, Masters, Attornies for their Clients, and all others that are not infamous, and which want not Understanding or are not Parties in Interest, may give Evidence in a Cause; though the Credit of Servants is left to the Jury. 2 Roll. Abr. 685. 1 Vent. 243. A Counsellor, Attorney, or Solicitor, is not to be examined as an Evidence against their Clients, because they are obliged to keep their Secrets; but they may be examined, as to any Thing of their own Knowledge before retained, not as Counsel or Attorney, &c. 1 Vent. 97. The Bail cannot be an Evidence for his Principal. State Tr. If the Plaintiff makes one a Defendant in the Suit, on Purpose to impeach his Testimony, under a Pretence of his being a Party in Interest, he may nevertheless be examined de bene esse; and if the Plaintiff prove no Cause of Action against him, his Evidence shall be allowed in the Cause. 2 Lill. Abr. 701. Also if where a Man makes himself a Party in Interest, after a Plaintiff or Defendant has an Interest in his Evidence, he may not by this deprive them of the Benefit of his Testimony. Skinner's Rep. 586. One that hath a Legacy given him by Will, is not a good Witness to prove the Will; but if he release his Legacy, he may be a good Evidence. Ibid. 704. It is the same of a Deed, he that claims any Benefit by it, may not be an Evidence to prove that Deed, in Regard of his Interest: And a Person any Ways concerned in the same Title of Land in Question, will not be admitted as Evidence. Ibid. 705. But it has been held that an Heir apparent may be a Witness concerning a Title of Land; and yet a Remainderman, who hath a present Interest, cannot. 1 Salk. 385. A Legatee cannot be a Witness to the Will, because the Legacy is devised to him; though if such Legatee be permitted to be sworn and examined, the Counsel cannot afterwards except against his Evidence. 1 Ld. Raym. 730. The Son of a Legatee, is no Witness to a Will in the Spiritual Court; nevertheless it is held, he may be a good Evidence to prove a nuncupative Will, within the Intent of the Statute of Frauds. Ibid. 85. A Grantee who is a bare Trustee, 'tis said is a good Witness to prove the Execution of the Deed made to himself. 1 P. Will. 290. If an Action is brought against many Persons for taking of Goods, one of them concerned may be admitted as an Evidence against the Rest. Comberb. 367. See 1 Mod. 282. In criminal Cases, as of Robbery on the Highway, in Action against the Hundred; in Rapes of Women, or where a Woman is married by Force, &c. a Man or a Woman may be an Evidence in their own Cause. 1 Vent. 243. And in private notorious Cheats, a Person may give Evidence in his own Cause, where no Body else can be a Witness of the Circumstances of the Fact, but he that Suffers. 1 Salk. 286. Upon an Information on the Statute against Usury, he that borrows the Money, after he hath paid it, may be an Evidence; but not before. Raym. 191. An Alien Infidel, may not be an Evidence; but a Jew may, and be sworn on the Old Testament. 1 Inst. 6. A Quaker shall not be permitted to give Evidence in any criminal Cause: Though on other Occasions, his solemn Affirmation shall be accepted instead of an Oath. Stat. 7 & 8 W. 3. cap. 34. Persons non sane Memoriae; those that are attainted of Conspiracy, or in a Præsumptio upon the Statute 5 Eliz. Popish Recusants convicted, on the Stat. 3 Jac. 1. c. 5. are disabled to give Evidence. So Persons convicted of Felony, Perjury, &c. And if one by Judgment hath stood in the Pillory, or been whipped; for this Infamy he shall not be admitted to give Evidence, whilst the Judgment is in Force: But the Record of Conviction must be produced, on objecting against his Testimony; and the Witness shall not be asked any Question to accuse himself, though his Credit may be impeached by other Evidences, as to his Character in general, so as not to make Proof of particular Crimes, whereof he hath not been convicted. 3 Inst. 108, 219. 3 Lev. 426. If after a Man hath stood in the Pillory, &c. he be pardoned, he may be an Evidence: And notwithstanding Judgment of the Pillory infers Infamy at Common Law; by the Civil and Canon Law it imports no Infamy, unless the Cause for which the Person was convicted was infamous; and therefore such may be a good Witness to a Will, if not convicted of any infamous Act. 3 Lev. 426, 427. It has been held, that 'tis not standing in the Pillory, disables a Person to give Evidence; but standing there upon a Judgment for an infamous Crime, as Forgery, &c. If for a Libel, a Man may be a Witness. 5 Mod. 74. 3 Nels. Abr. 557. A Man is convicted of Felony, and afterwards pardoned, he may be a good Evidence. Raym. 369. So where burnt in the Hand, which is quasi a Statute Pardon; and 'tis said 'tis Burning in the Hand restores the Offender to his Credit. Ibid. 330. A Person who was condemned to be hanged for Burglary, but having a Pardon for Transportation, hath been allowed to be a good Evidence. 5 Mod. 18. One outlawed for Treason and pardoned, may be an Evidence. State Trials, Vol. 3. 515. Persons acquitted, or guilty of the same Crime, (while they remain unconvicted) may be Evidence against their Fellows. Kel. 17. Though no Evidence ought to be given of what an Accomplish hath said, who is not in the same Indictment. State Trials, Vol. 2. 414. An Informer may be a Witness, though he is to have Part of the Forfeiture, where no other Witnesses can be had. Wood's Inst. 598. A Witness shall not be examined where his Evidence tends to clear or accuse himself of a Crime. State Trials, Vol. 1. 557. And a Witness shall not be cross examined till he hath gone through the Evidence on the Side wherein produced. Ibid. Vol. 2. 772. The Court is to examine the Witnesses, and not the Prisoner or Prosecutors. Ibid. Vol. 1. 143. An Evidence shall not be permitted to read his Evidence; but he

he may look on his Notes to refresh his Memory. Ibid. Vol. 4. 45. An Evidence may not recite his Evidence to the Jury, after gone from the Bar, and he hath given his Evidence in Court; if he doth, the Verdict may be set aside. Cro. Eliz. 159. One that is to be an Evidence at a Trial, ought not to be examined before the Trial, but by the Consent of both Parties, and a Rule of Court for that Purpose: But if a Witness is not able to attend the Trial, a Judge may excuse his Non appearance, and certify his Examination; though an Examination ought not to be read, where the Evidence himself may be produced. State Trials, Vol. 1. 526. If a Person who gave Evidence in a former Trial, be dead; upon Proof of his Death, any Person who heard him give Evidence, may be admitted to give the same Evidence between the same Parties; but a Copy of the Record of the Trial when the Evidence was given ought to be produced. 3 Inst. 2. Lill. Abr. 705. A Witness by Hearsay of a Stranger, shall not be allowed; except perhaps to confirm the Evidence of a Witness that spoke of his Knowledge. Wood's Inst. 644. And Evidence given at one Trial, has been held not to be Evidence at another's Trial. State Trials, Vol. 2. 308, 337. No Evidence is necessary in passing a Bill of Attainder, but private Satisfaction to every one's Conscience is sufficient. Ibid. Vol. 1. 676. But the same Evidence is requisite on an Impeachment in Parliament, as in private Courts. Ibid. Vol. 4. 311, 318. Members of either House of Parliament may be Witnesses on Impeachments. Ibid. Vol. 2. 632. Evidence cannot supply a Defect in the Charge against a Criminal. Ibid. Vol. 720. No Evidence ought to be produced against a Man in a Trial for his Life, but what is given in his Presence. Ibid. Vol. 4. 227. And Evidence shall not be given against the Prisoner for any other Crime than that for what prosecuted. Ibid. Vol. 3. 947. A Prisoner may bring Evidence to prove that the Witnesses gave a different Testimony before a Justice of Peace, or at another Trial: Though he may not call Witnesses to disprove what his own Evidences have sworn. Ibid. Vol. 2. 623, 792. And no Objection can be made to the Evidence after Verdict given. Vol. 4. 35. It is justifiable to maintain or subvert an Evidence; but not to give him any Reward; for this, if proved, will avoid his Testimony. Ibid. Vol. 2. 470. A Witness shall not be examined to any Thing that does not relate to the Matter in Issue. Ibid. Vol. 2. 343. And where an Issue is not perfect, no Evidence can be applied, nor can the Justices proceed to Trial. Brownl. 2. 47, 435. If Evidence doth not warrant and maintain the same Thing that is in Issue, the Evidence is defective, and may be demurred upon; but proving the Substance is sufficient. Trials per pais 425. Evidence may be given of Facts before and after the Time they are laid in the Indictment. And where a Place is laid only for a Venue in an Indictment or Appeal, (and not made Part of the Description of the Fact) Proof of the same Crime may be made at any other Place in the same County; and after a Crime hath been proved in the County where laid, Evidence may be given of other Instances of the same Crime in another County, to satisfy the Jury. 2 Hawk. P. C. 436. But where a certain Place is made Part of the Description of the Fact against the Defendant, the least Variation as to such Place between the Evidence and Indictment is fatal. Ibid. 435. It hath been also adjudged, that where an Indictment sets forth all the special Matter in Respect whereof the Law implies Malice, Variance between the Indictment and Evidence as to the Circumstances of the Fact doth not hurt; so that the Substance of the Matter be found by the Evidence. 2 Hawk. 438. An Evidence against the King in Treason, or Felony, for the Criminal, was not to be examined on Oath by the Common Law: But by Statute, Witnesses for a Prisoner are to be sworn, as in Case for the King, and Process for their Appearance is to be taken out. 3 Inst. 79. Stat. 7 W. 3. 1 Ann. If a Witness served with Process in a Civil Cause refuse to appear, being tendered reasonable Charges, and having no lawful Excuse, Action on the Case lies against him, whereon 10*l.* Damages, and other Recompence to the Party shall be recovered; and a Feme Covert not appearing, Action may be brought against the Husband and her. Stat. 5 Eliz. cap. 9. 1 Leon. 112. Where any Witness accepts of a Shilling, and has a Promise of the Payment of his Charges, such Acceptance is sufficient to maintain any such Action: But without that the Party cannot support an Action upon the Statute, for not giving Evidence, but must tender the Witness his reasonable Charges, at a reasonable Time before the Trial. W. Jones 430. In a criminal Cause, if a Witness refuse to appear and give Evidence, being served with Process, the Court will put off the Trial, and grant Attachment against him; and as refusing to give Evidence is a great Contempt, the Party may be committed and fined. 1 Salk. 278. Preventing Evidence to be given against a Criminal, is punishable by Fine and Imprisonment; and a Person was fined one thousand Marks in such a Case. Hill. 1663. B. R. Persons dissuading a Witness from giving Evidence, &c. And Jurors or others disclosing Evidence given, are likewise Offences punished by Fine and Imprisonment. 1 Hawk. 59. The Burthen of proving lies on the Plaintiff; and the Presumption shall stand, until the contrary appears: Though that which plainly appeareth, need not be given in Evidence. 7 Rep. 40. 1 Inst. 233. The Defendant's Counsel is to conclude by Way of Answer to the Evidence given to the Jury by the Plaintiff's Counsel: But he who doth begin to maintain the Issue to be tried, ought to conclude and sum up the Evidence given, which is no more than to put the Jury in Mind how he hath proved his Cause. 1 Lill. 551.

Evidence by Records and Writings, Is where Acts of Parliament, Statutes, Judgments, Fines and Recoveries, Proceedings of Courts, and Deeds, &c. are admitted as Evidence. A general Act of Parliament may be given in Evidence, and need not be pleaded; and of these the printed Statute-Book is good Evidence: But in the Case of a private Act, a Copy of it is to be examined by the Records of Parliament, and it is to be pleaded. Trials per pais 117, 232. The Statute of Limitations, &c. may be given in Evidence. 1 Salk. 278. On Nil debet pleaded, this Statute may be given in Evidence; but 'tis said not upon Non Assumpsit. 3 Salk. 154. Journals and other Proceedings in the House of Commons have been held to be no Evidence. State Trials, Vol. 3. 470. Though it is otherwise, Vol. 3. 800. A History of England, or printed Trial, may not be read as Evidence. 1 Lill. 557. Camden's Britannia was not allowed as Evidence: But it has been held, that an History may be Evidence of the general History of the Realm, though not of a particular Custom, &c. Mich. 7 W. 3. B. R. Skinner's Rep. 623. An Exemplification of the Inrolments of Letters Patent under the Great Seal, may be pleaded in Evidence. 3 Inst. 173. Records and Inrolments prove themselves; and a Copy of a Record or Inrolment sworn to, may be given in Evidence. 1 Inst. 117, 262. A Transcript of a Record in another Court, may be given in Evidence to a Jury. 1 Lill. Abr. 551. There is a Difference between Pleading a Record, and giving the Record in Evidence; if it be pleaded, it must be sub pede Sigilli, or the Judges cannot judge thereof: Though where it is given in Evidence, if it be not under Seal, the Jury may find the same, if they have other good Matter of Inducement to prove it. Style's Rep. 22. A Fine or Recovery may be given in Evidence, without vouching the Roll of the Recovery; for the Part indented is the usual Evidence that there is such a Fine: But it is said the Fine ought to be shewed with the Proclamations under Seal. 10 Rep. 92. 2 Roll. Abr. 574. A Record of an inferior Court, hath been rejected in Evidence, and the Party put to prove what was done: And Proceedings of County-Courts, Courts-Baron, &c. may be tried by a Jury; for it hath been adjudged that they cannot be proved by the Rolls, but by Witnesses. Lit. 75. But Court-Rolls of a Court Baron, when shewn are good Evidence; and in some Cases, Copies of the Court-Rolls have been allowed as Evidence; and in others not. Trials per pais 178, 228. A Copy of Copyhold Lands may be given in Evidence, where the Rolls are lost. Mich. 15 Car. B. R. Inrolment of a Deed is proved on certifying it by an examined attested Copy; though Inrolment of a Deed which needs no Inrolment, or the Estate doth not pass by it, is only Evidence to some Purposes. 3 Lev. 337. An ancient Deed proves itself, where Possession has gone accordingly: But later Deeds must be proved by Witnesses. 1 Inst. 6. If all the Witnesses to a Deed are dead, continual and quiet Possession is presumptive Evidence of the Truth of it; yet it may receive farther Credit by Comparison of Hands and Seals. Wood's Inst. 599. When Witnesses to Deeds are dead, their Hand writing must be proved. 2 Inst. 118. And where there are several Witnesses to a Deed, and they are all dead but one, a Subpoena must be taken out against the living Man, and strict Inquiry made after him, and Affidavit is to be made that he cannot be found; before the dead Men's Hands are to be proved. 1 Lill. 556. An old Deed proved to have been found among Deeds and Evidences of Land, may be given in Evidence to a Jury; though the executing of it cannot be proved and made out. Trin. 9 W. 3. B. R. 3 Salk. 153. A Deed may be good Evidence, though the Seal is broken off: And where a Deed is burnt, &c. the Judges may allow it to be proved by Witnesses, that there was such a Deed, and this be given in Evidence. 1 Lev. 25. But the Court will not allow the Jury on a Trial at Bar to carry Deeds, Writings or Books with them out of Court, as Evidence to consider of, but such as are under Seal, and have been proved: Though by the Assent of Parties, or by Assent of the Court without the Parties, they may be delivered to the Jurors. Cro. Eliz. 421. All Deeds or Writings under Seal, and given in Evidence, they may have; and nothing which was not given in Evidence, for the Court gives their Direction to the Jury upon the Evidence given in Court. 1 Lill. 313. It is dangerous to suffer any who by Law ought to shew forth any Deed, to prove in Evidence, that there was such a Deed, which they had seen or read, &c. For there might be Imperfections in the Deed, or it may be on Condition, with Limitation, &c. 10 Rep. 92. A Deed though sealed and delivered, if not stamped according to Act of Parliament, cannot be pleaded or given in Evidence in any Court. Stat. 5 & 6 W. & M. cap. 21. A Deed cannot be proved by a Counterpart of it or Copy, if the Original is in Being, and may be had, though it may be when the Original cannot be procured. 1 Inst. 225. 10 Rep. 92. The Counterpart of an ancient Deed hath been allowed to be given in Evidence. Mod. Caf. 225. But it hath been held that the Counterpart of a Deed, without other Circumstances, is not sufficient Evidence; unless in Case of a Fine, when a Counterpart is good Evidence of itself. 1 Salk. 287. Where a Deed was cancelled by Practice, that being proved, it was allowed to be Evidence in an Action under the Deed. Hestl. 138. The Recital of a Deed is no Evidence without shewing the Deed; or proving that there was such a Deed, and it is lost. 1 Inst. 352.

Vaugh. 74. Recital of a Lease, in a Deed of Release is good Evidence that there was such a Lease against the Releasee, and those claiming under him; but not against others, except there be Proof that there was such a Lease. 1 Salk. 286. A Settlement set forth in a Bill in Chancery, and admitted in the Answer; and where it was proved that the Deed was in the Possession of such a one, &c. hath been judged a good Evidence of the Deed of Settlement, where not to be found. 5 Mod. 384. The Probate of a Will, when it concerns personal Estate only, may be given in Evidence: But where Title of Lands is claimed under a Will, the Will must be shewn, not the Probate: Though if the Will be proved in the Chancery, Copies of the Proceedings there will be Evidence. 2 Roll. Abr. 678. Trials per pais 234. A Bill in Chancery has been admitted as slight Evidence against the Complainant: An Answer in Chancery is Evidence against the Defendant himself, though not against others. 1 Vent. 66. Trials per pais 107. But when a Party gives an Answer in Chancery in Evidence at a Trial, though he insist to read only such a Part of it; yet the other Side may require to have the whole read. 5 Mod. 10. As in Case of a Writing permitted to be read to prove one Part of an Evidence, which may be read to prove any other Part of the Evidence given to the Jury. Depositions of Witnesses in Chancery between the same Parties, may be given in Evidence at Law, especially if the Witnesses are dead, and the Bill and Answer proved. Trial per pais 167, 207, 234. Regularly Depositions in Chancery, of a Witness may not be given in Evidence, if he be alive; unless he be in France, or in another Kingdom, not subject to the Dominion of our King. Ibid. 359. But Depositions in Chancery, after Answer, between the same Parties, may be read as Evidence, though the Witnesses are not dead, if they cannot be found on Search. Sbouver 3. 3. 1 Salk. 278. Depositions in Chancery in perpetuam Rei Memoriam, are not to be given in Evidence so long as the Parties are living. 1 Salk. 286. And it hath been adjudged that these Depositions to perpetuate Testimony, on a Bill exhibited, shall not be admitted as Evidence at a Trial at Law, except an Answer be put in. Raym. 335. If Depositions are taken out of the Realm, he who makes them is supposed there still, and they shall be read as Evidence; but if it appears he is in England, they cannot be read, but he must come in Person. 1 Lill. 555. Things done beyond Sea may be given in Evidence to a Jury; and the Testimony of a publick Notary of Things done in a Foreign Country, will be good Evidence. 6 Rep. 47. Depositions in the Ecclesiastical Courts, may not be given in Evidence to a Jury at a Trial; but a Sentence may in a Cause of Tithes, &c. And the Sentence of the Spiritual Court is conclusive Evidence in Causes within their Jurisdiction. 1 Salk. 290. 2 Nell. 761. Depositions taken before Commissioners of Bankrupt, 'tis said shall not be used as Evidence at a Trial. Pasch. 18 Car. 2. B. R. Depositions before a Coroner, are admitted as Evidence, the Witnesses being dead. 1 Lev. 180. Likewise they have been admitted where a Witness hath gone beyond Sea. 2 Nell. Abr. 760. The Confession of a Prisoner before a Magistrate, &c. may be given in Evidence against him: And the Examination of an Offender need not to be on Oath, but must be subscribed by him, if he confesses the Fact; and then be given in Evidence upon Oath by the Justices of the Peace who took the same. The Examination of others must be on Oath, and proved by the Justice or his Clerk, &c. as to their Evidence, if they are dead, unable to travel, or kept away by the Prisoner. H. P. C. 19, 262. Kel. 18, 55. Wood's Inst. 647. The Examination of an Informer before a Justice, taken on Oath, and subscribed, may be given in Evidence on a Trial, if he

he be dead, or not able to travel, &c. which is to be made out on Oath. 2 Hawk. P. C. 429. A Verdict against one under whom either the Plaintiff or Defendant claims, may be given in Evidence against the Party to claiming; but not if neither claim under it. Mich. 1656. B. R. In Ejectment where the Plaintiff hath Title to several Lands, and brings Action of Ejectment against several Defendants, if he recovers against one, he shall not give that Verdict in Evidence against the Rest. 3 Mod. 141. In a Court of Common Law, a Decree in Chancery is no Evidence: Affidavits are not Evidence. Letters may be produced as Evidence against a Man, in Treason, &c. Similitude of Hands sworn to, has been allowed as Evidence: But since the Attainder of Algernon Sidney, it hath not been admitted in any criminal Case. 2 Hawk. 431. Although a Witness swear to the Hand and Contents of a Letter, if he never saw the Party write, it shall not be allowed as Evidence. Mich. 8 W. 3. Skin. 673. Since no Witnesses are present when Goldsmiths Notes are given, such Notes are allowed as Evidence of the Receipt of Money, or other Thing. 1 Salk. 283. A Shop-Book is Evidence; but it may not be given in Evidence for Goods sold, &c. after one Year, before the Action brought; unless there be a Bill, &c. for the Debt; though this extends not to any Buying or Selling, or Trading between Tradesman and Tradesman. Stat. 7 Jac. 1. c. 2. To make these Books Evidence, there ought to be the Hand of the Person to the Books that delivered the Goods, which must be proved. 1 Salk. 285. A Church Book some Writers say is not to be admitted as Evidence; though others say it may. 1 Cro. 411. 'Tis said Copies of publick Books of Corporations, &c. shall be Evidence. 1 Lev. 25. 1 Lill. 551. But as to Books of Corporations where Things are entered not of Record, the Originals are to be produced as Evidence. A Pedigree drawn by a Herald at Arms, will not be admitted for Evidence, without shewing the Records or ancient Books from whence taken; for the Entries in the Herald's Office are no Records, but only circumstantial Evidence: But a Copy of an Inscription on a Grave-Stone, has been given in Evidence in such a Case. 2 Roll. Abr. 686, 687. An Almanack wherein the Father had writ the Day of the Nativity of his Son, was allowed as Evidence to prove the Nonage of the Son. Raym. 84. Matter in Law ought not to be given in Evidence at a Trial, but only Matters of Fact, unless it be in Case of a special Verdict: Matter in Law is disputable, and referred to be spoken to in Arrest of Judgment. Vaugb. 143, 147. In Debt the Defendant may give in Evidence that he paid Money on an Obligation before the Day, &c. 2 Nels. Abr. 755. And a Release may be given in Evidence on Nil debet. 5 Mod. 18. Though in Indebitatus Assumpsit the Plaintiff shall not give any Specialty in Evidence to prove his Debt, as a Bond, Indenture, &c. because he may bring Action of Debt upon that Specialty. Moor 340. Entry and Expulsion may be given in Evidence in Debt for Rent: Coverture may be given in Evidence to avoid a Deed, &c. Mod. Caf. 230. Usurious Contracts, &c. may be given in Evidence. 2 Nels. 756. Fraud may be given in Evidence, on the General Issue: And Tampering with Witnesses may be given in Evidence against a Party, &c. 5 Rep. 60. But many Things are to be pleaded; as Justifications without Title, in Trespasses, &c. and cannot be given in Evidence upon Not guilty. Trial per pais 404. If in Trespass, Not guilty be pleaded, a Licence may not be given in Evidence to excuse the Trespassor; for it must be pleaded. Kel. 59. And if the Issue in Detinue, is Non detinet, it shall not be given in Evidence that the Goods were pledged for Money, and the Money not paid; this is not good without pleading it: But a Gift, of the Goods by the Plaintiff may be given in Evidence. 1 Inst. 283. So in an Issue in Waste, no Waste done, the Defendant may give in Evidence, that it came by Lightning, Tempest, or Enemies; but that he repaired, before Action brought, must be specially Pleaded, &c. Ibid. 282. If an Issue be taken on the Cutting of 20 Oaks, Evidence may be for ten; because either is a Breach of Covenant not to do Waste. 2 Shep. Abr. 142. In Ejectione firmæ the Plaintiff declares for 100 Acres of Land, and gives Evidence only for forty, it will be good for so much. 1 Cro. 13. The Issue is of Account before R. and W. and the Evidence and Verdict of an Account before R. alone: Or an Issue is if J. S. was taken by a Capias, and Evidence that he was taken by Alias Capias, these will maintain the Issue; also if it be an Agreement, a special Agreement may be given in Evidence, &c. Hob. 54, 55. Plowd. 8. But if the Point in Issue be the Sealing and Delivery of a Lease, and the Witnesses prove sealed and delivered, but did not know the Lessor that sealed it: Or where Proof is not made of Livery and Seisin, on Issue of a Lease for Life; Or if on an Issue upon a Taking by Capias ad Satisfaciend. Evidence be of taking by Capias Utlagatum, &c. in these Cases the Evidence will not be good to maintain the Issue. Plowd. 14. Kelw. 55, 59. Hob. 55. Issue was upon a Prescription for Common Appendant to 300 Acres in four Towns, on the Evidence the Jury found it appendant to 240 Acres in two Towns; and a Manor was given in Evidence in another County, &c. and they were held insufficient. Hob. 209, 188. Where Justices of Peace sued for things done in their Offices, may give special Matters in Evidence. Stat. 21 Jac. 1. Vide Justice. See Copy, Depositions, &c.

Ewage, (Ewagium) Is the same with Aquage, from the Fr. Eau, Water; and signifies Toll paid for Water-passage.—Charta Regis Johannis, &c. hominibus de B. quod sint quieti de Tbelonio, Scutagio, Passagio, Lastagio, & de Wrec & Lagan, de Ewagio, &c. Hill. 14 Hen. 3. In Thesauro Reg. Scac. Ebor. Rot. 15.

Ewage, (Sax. Ew, i. e. Conjugium, and Bryce, fraidio) Adultery or Marriage-breaking: From this Saxon Word Ew, Marriage, we derive our present English Woo, to woo a Dame.

Ewe, (Ewva) A German Word signifying Law; it is mentioned in Leg. W. 1.

Exaction, Is defined to be a Wrong done by an Officer, or one in pretended Authority, by taking a Reward or Fee for that which the Law allows not. And the Difference between Exaction and Extortion, is this: Extortion is where an Officer extorts more than his Due, when something is due to him; and Exaction is, when he wrests a Fee or Reward, where none is due, for which the Offender is to be fined and imprisoned, and render to the Party twice as much as the Money he so takes. Co. Lit. 368. 10 Rep. 100.

Exactor Regis, The King's Exactor or Collector; sometimes taken for the Sheriff: But generally, Quicumque Publicas Pecunias, tributa, vestigalia & res fisco debitas exigit, proprie nominatur Exactor Regis. Niger liber Scacc. par. 1. cap. ult.

Examination, (Examinatio) A Searching after, or Cognizance of a Magistrate. By Stat. 2 & 3 P. & M. Justices of Peace are to examine Felons apprehended, and Witnesses, before the Felon is committed; and the Accusers must be bound over to appear and give Evidence at the next Assizes, &c. to which the Examinations are to be certified. Mod. Justice 176, 177. See Evidence.

Examiners in the Chancery, (Examinatores) Are two Officers of that Court, that examine upon Oath, Witnesses produced by either Side, in London, or near it, on such Interrogatories as the Parties to any Suit exhibit for that Purpose: And sometimes the Parties themselves themselves are, by particular Order, likewise examined by them. In the Country, Witnesses are examined by Commissioners, (usually Attornies not concerned in the Cause) on the Parties joining in Commission, &c.

Annual Roll. In the old Way of exhibiting Sheriffs Accounts, the illeivable Fines and desperate Debts, were transcribed into a Roll under this Name which was yearly read, to see what might be gotten. Hale's Sber. Acco. 67.

Excambiators, A Word used anciently for Exchangers of Land: But Cowel supposes them to be such as we now call Brokers, that deal upon the Exchange between Merchants.

Exception, (Exceptio) Is a Stop or Stay to an Action; and divided into Dilatory and Peremptory. Bract. lib. 5. tract. 5. In Law Proceedings, it is a Denial of a Matter alledged in Bar to the Action: And in Chancery it is what is alledged against the Sufficiency of an Answer, &c. The Counsel in a Cause are to take all their Exceptions to the Record at one Time; and before the Court hath delivered any Opinion therein. 1 Lill. Abr. 559. And on an Indictment for Treason, &c. Exception is to be taken for Misnaming, false Latin, &c. before any Evidence is given in Court; or the Indictment shall be good. Stat. 7 W. 3. c. 3. Where by a general Pardon, any particular Crime is excepted; if a Person be attainted, &c. of that Offence, he shall have no Benefit of the Pardon. 6 Rep. 13. 2 Nelf. Abr. 765. And when a Pardon is with an Exception as to Persons, the Party who pleads it ought to shew, that he is not any of the Parties excepted. 1 Lev. 26. A negative Expression, may be taken to enure to the same Intent as an Exception; for an Exception in its Nature is but a Denial of what is taken to be good by the other Party, either in Point of Law or Pleading. And Exceptio in non Exceptis format regulam. 1 Lill. 559.

Exception to Evidence, &c. If one of the Parties in a Suit, for the Insufficiency of the Evidence on the other Side, doth offer to demur upon the same, and the Court will not agree to it; then the Court ought upon Request to seal a Bill of Exceptions tendered to them in Writing, which upon a Writ of Error may be heard. 2 Inst. 246. And where a Suit is in any Court, if the Plaintiff or Defendant alledge any Exception to the Judge's Opinion, praying that the same may be allowed; if the Judge refuseth it, then the Party making the Exception is to write it, and require the Judge to seal the same; which being done, and the Bill produced sealed in Court, the Judge that sealed it shall appear at a certain Day to confess or deny his Seal: and if the Seal be not denied, Proceedings are had to Judgment according to the Exception. Stat. 13 Ed. 1. cap. 31. 2 Inst. 1 Lill. Abr. 232. The Exceptions ought to be put in Writing sedente Curia, in the Presence of the Judge who tried the Cause, and signed by the Counsel on each Side; and then the Bill must be drawn up and tendered to the Judge that tried the Cause, to be sealed by him; and when signed, there goes out a Scire facias to the same Judge ad cognoscendum scriptum, and that is made Part of the Record, and the Return of the Judge with the Bill it self, must be entered on the Issue-Roll; and if a Writ of Error be brought, it is to be returned as Part of the Record. 1 Nelf. Abr. 373. If a Bill of Exceptions is drawn up and tendered to the Judge for Sealing, and he refuses to do it, on Petition to the Lord Chancellor, he will grant a Writ for that Purpose. These Bills of Exception are to be brought before a Verdict given, and extend only to Civil Actions, not to Criminal. Sid. 85. 1 Salt. 288.

Exception in Deeds and Writings, Keeps the Things from passing thereby, being a Saving out of the Deed, as if the same had not been granted:

But it is to be a particular Thing out of a general One, as a Room out of an House, a Ground out of a Manor, Timber out of Land, &c. And it must not be of a Thing expressly granted in a Deed: Also it must be of what is severable from, and not inseparably incident to the Grant. 1 Inst. 47. 1 Lev. 287. Cro. El. 244. Where an Exception goeth to the whole Thing granted or demised, the Exception is void. Cro. El. 6. A Man makes a Lease of a Manor, excepting all Courts, &c. the Exception is void as to the Courts; for having leased the Manor, it cannot be such without Courts. Hob. 108. Moor 870. A Lease was made of all a Man's Lands in L. excepting his Manor of H. and he had no Lands in L. but the said Manor; it was adjudged that the Manor passed, and that the Exception was void. Hob. 170. 2 Nelf. Abr. 764. A Lease of an House and Shops, except the Shops; though this may extend to other Shops, 'tis void as to the Shops belonging to the House demised, because 'tis repugnant to the Lease. Dyer 265. If an Exception crosses the Grant, or is repugnant to it, the same is void: And if there be a Saving or Exception out of an Exception, it may make a particular Thing as if never excepted; as if a Lease be made of a Rectory, excepting the Parsonage-House, saving to the Lessee a Chamber; this Chamber not being excepted out of the Lease, shall pass by the Lease of the Rectory. Hob. 72, 170. Cro. El. 372. Owen 20. By Exception of Trees, the Soil is not excepted, but only sufficient Nutriment for the Trees: For the Lessee shall have the Pasture growing under them though the Lessor shall have all the Benefit of the Trees, Mast, Fruit, &c. and the Trees are Parcel of the Inheritance. 11 Rep. 48, 50. 5 Rep. 11. But it has been adjudged, that by an Exception of Woods, Underwood and Coppices, that the Soil of the Coppices is excepted. Poph. 146. 2 Cro. 487. If a Lessee for Years, assigns over his Term, excepting the Trees, &c. the Exception is not good; because no one can have such a special Property in the Trees, but the Owner of the Land. 2 Nelf. 764. Though where Lessee for Life makes a Lease for Years, excepting the Wood, &c. this may be a good Exception, although he hath not any Interest in it but as Lessee, in Regard he is chargeable in Waste, &c. and hath not granted his whole Term. Cro. Jac. 296. 1 Lill. Abr. 560. These Exceptions are commonly in Leases for Life and Years; and must be always of a Thing in esse. Co. Lit. 47.

Exchange, (Excambium or Cambium) Signifies generally as much as Permutatio with the Civilians; as the King's Exchange, which is the Place appointed by the King for Exchange of Plate or Bullion for the King's Coin, &c. These Places have been divers heretofore; but now there is only one, viz. the Mint in the Tower. Stat. H. 6. c. 4. By 9 E. 3. c. 7. Exchanges are to be kept where the King pleases: And every Man may exchange Gold for Silver, or Silver for Gold, &c. but none shall take Profit of Money exchanged, but the King's Exchangers, on Pain of Forfeiture. 25 Ed. 3. c. 12. Also none shall give or take any more for Exchange of Coin than the true Value, under the Penalty of Forfeiting the Money exchanged, or to be fined and imprisoned, &c. 5 & 6 Ed. c. 19. There is a Royal Exchange of Merchants in London: And Exchange between Merchants, is a Commerce of Money, or a Bartering or Exchanging of the Money of one City or Country for that of another: Money in this Sense, is either real or imaginary; Real, any real Species current in any Country at a certain Price, at which it passes by the Authority of the State, and of its own intrinsic Value: And by imaginary Money, is understood all the Denominations made Use of to express any Sum of Money, which is not the just Value of any real Species. Lex Mercatoria, or, Mercò. Comp. 98. The Methods of Exchange Exchange for Money used in England ought to be pro pari, according to Value for Value: And our Exchange is grounded on the Weight and Fineness of our own Money, and the Weight and Fineness of that of other Countries, according to their several Standards, proportionable in their Valuation; which being truly and justly made, reduces the Price of the Exchange of Money of any Nation or Country to a Certainty. But this Course of Exchange is of late abused; and Money is become a Merchandise, that rises and falls in its Price in regard to the Plenty and Scarcity of it. Ibid. At London, all Exchanges are made upon the Pound Sterling of 20 s: In the Low Countries, France and Germany, upon the French Crown; Spain and Italy, &c. upon the Ducat; and at Florence, Venice, and other Places in the Straights, by the Dollar and Florin. See Bill of Exchange.

Exchanges of Goods and Merchandise, Were the original and natural Way of Commerce, precedent to Buying; for there was no Buying till Money was invented; though in Exchanging, both Parties are as Buyers and Sellers, and both equally warrant. 3 Salk. 157.

Exchange of Lands, Is a mutual Grant of equal Interest in Lands or Tenements, the one in Exchange for the other: And is used peculiarly in our Common Law for that Compensation which the Warrantor must make to the Warrantee, Value for Value, if the Land warranted be recovered from the Warrantee. Bract. lib. 2. cap. 16. Accom. Cowp. 1 Vol. 170. Also there is a tacit Condition of Re-entry in this Deed, on the Lands given in Exchange, in Case of Evasion; and on the Warranty to vouch and recover over in Value, &c. For if either of the Parties is evicted, the Exchange is defeated. 4 Rep. 121. If A. B. give five Acres of Land in Exchange to C. D. for five other Acres, and afterwards C. D. is evicted of one Acre, in this Case all the Exchange is defeated, and C. D. may enter on his own again. 4 Rep. 121. Cro. El. 903. An Exchange may be made of Lands in Fee-simple, Fee-tail, for Life, &c. The Estates granted are to be equal, as Fee-simple for Fee-simple, &c. though the Lands need not be of equal Value, or of the like Nature: For a Rent in Fee issuing out of Land, may be exchanged for Land in Fee; but Annuities which charge the Person only, are not to be exchanged for Lands. Lit. 63, 64. 1 Inst. 50, 51. If an Exchange be made between Tenant for Life, and Tenant in Tail after Possibility of Issue extinct, the Exchange is good; because their Estates are equal. 11 Rep. 80. Moor 665. An Exchange made between Tenant in Tail, and another, of unequal Interest, may be good during his Life; but his Issue, when of full Age, shall avoid it. And Exchanges made by Infants; by Persons non sane Memorie; a Husband of the Wife's Lands, &c. are not void, but voidable only, by the Infant at his full Age, the Heir of the Person non sana, and the Feme after the Death of the Husband, who may waive the Possession and disagree to them. Perk. Sect. 277, 281. Jointenants and Tenants in Common, after they have made Partition, may exchange their Lands: And by this Deed, Freeholds pass without Livery and Seisin; but the Word Exchange is to be used, and it ought to be by Deed indented; and there must be Execution of the Exchange, by Entry on the Lands in the Life of the Parties, or the Exchange will be void. 1 Inst. 50. 1 Mod. 91. Sometimes Lands intended to pass by Exchange, not having the Qualities and Incidents of exchanged Lands, may pass by way of Gift or Grant: As if two Persons are seized of two Acres of Land, and one of them by Deed gives his Acre to the other, and the other his Acre to him, and each of them give Livery of Seisin upon his Acre given in Exchange; here the Acres will pass from one to the other, but not in a Way of Exchange, because there was no

Word of Exchange in the Deed. Litt. Sect. 62. Perk. 253. A Man grants to another Lands in Fee simple; for Lands in Tail by Way of Exchange; or Land in Tail; for Lands for Life, &c. these Deeds will not take Effect as Exchanges. Fitz. Exchange 15, 64. Co. Lit. 64. If Tenant in Tail give his Land in Exchange, for other Land of the same Estate tail, the Issue in Tail may make it good if he will, or avoid the Exchange. 1 Rep. 96. A Feoffment is made to A. and B. and the Heirs of A. and they exchange the Land for other Lands; this will be good, and they shall hold the Lands in the same Nature that the Land given in Exchange was held. Perk. Sect. 277. If a Lord release to the Tenant his Services in Tail, in Exchange of Land given to the Lord in Exchange in Tail also, it is ill: But if Lessee for Life of one Acre, give another Acre, to his Lessor in Tail, in Exchange for a Release from him of that Acre, habendum in Tail in like Manner, it is a good Exchange. Ibid. 283, 219, 276. In Case two Persons make an Exchange of Land, and limit no Estate; each shall have an Estate for Life, by Implication: But if, an express Estate be limited to one for Life, and none to the other, it will be void. 19 H. 6. 27. And to make a good Exchange, both the Things must be in Esse at the Time of the Exchange: Therefore if I grant the Manor of A. to another, in Exchange for the Manor of B. which he is to have by Descent after his Father's Death; this is void, because it is not in him. 1 Inst. 50. 3 E. 4. 10. But an Exchange may be made to take Effect in futuro, as well as presently; for if it be, that after the Feast of Easter A. B. shall have such Lands in D. in Exchange for his Lands in S. this is good. Perk. Sect. 265. Exchange of Lands in divers Countries; and 'tis said of Land in Ireland, for Land in England, may be good. Latch 234. By a special Kind of Agreement, an Exchange may be of unequal Estates. Moor, c. 909. The Condition and Warranty in Exchanges run to the Parties in Privy; not to an Assignee, &c. And if after two have exchanged Lands, one of them Releases to the other the Warranty in Law; it will not destroy the Exchange. 4 Rep. 122. Roll. Abr. 815. The Parties themselves, and all Privies and Strangers for the most part, may take Advantage of Exchanges void, by any Defect or Accident: Contra if they are voidable, &c. 1 Rep. 105. Dyer 285. See Exchanges of Land, Accomp. Conveyancer, Vol. 1. p. 358.

Form of a Deed of Exchange of Lands in Fee.

THIS Indenture made, &c. Between A. B. of, &c. of the one Part, and C. D. of, &c. of the other Part, Witnesseth, that the said A. B. hath given and granted, and by these Presents doth give and grant unto the said C. D. his Heirs and Assigns, All that Messuage, &c. situate, lying and being, &c. To have and to hold the Messuage or Tenement and Premises abovementioned, with the Appurtenances, unto the said C. D. his Heirs and Assigns for ever; in Exchange for all that Messuage or Tenement, &c. of the said C. D. situate and lying, &c. For which Consideration, the said C. D. hath given and granted, and by these Presents doth give and grant unto the said A. B. his Heirs and Assigns, All that the said Messuage or Tenement last abovementioned, with the Appurtenances; To have and to hold the said Messuage or Tenement and Premises last abovementioned, with the Appurtenances, unto the said A. B. his Heirs and Assigns for ever; in Exchange of and for the said Messuage and Premises first abovementioned. And the said A. B. for himself, his Heirs and Assigns; doth covenant and grant to and with the said C. D. his Heirs and Assigns, by these Presents, that he the said C. D. his Heirs and Assigns, shall or lawfully may from Time to Time, and at all Times hereafter for ever, peaceably and quietly enter into, have, hold and enjoy the said Messuage or Tenement and Premises first above-mentioned, or intended to be hereby given and granted by the said A. B. with the Appurtenances, without any Let, Trouble, Challenge, Claim, Disturbance or Interruption of or by him the said A. B. his Heirs or Assigns, or of or by any other Person or Persons whatsoever, claiming or to claim from, by or under him, them, or any of them. And the said C. D. for himself, his Heirs and Assigns, doth covenant and grant to and with the said A. B. &c. (the like Covenant from C. D. to A. B. for quiet Enjoyment of the Messuage, &c. last above-mentioned; and there may be a Proviso for either Party to re-enter on his former Lands, if there be an Ejection.) In Witness, &c.

Exchange of Church Livings. Exchanges are now seldom used except that Parsons sometimes exchange their Churches, and resign them into the Bishop's Hands: And this is not a perfect Exchange till the Parties are inducted; for if either dies before they both are inducted, the Exchange is void. Wood's Inst. 284. If two Parsons by one Instrument agree to exchange their Benefices, and in order thereto resign them into the Hands of the Ordinary, such Exchange being executed on both Parts, is good; and each may enjoy the other's Living: But the Patrons must present them again to each Living; and if they refuse to do it, or the Ordinary will not admit them respectively, then the Exchange is not executed; and in such Case either Clerk may return to his former Living, even though one of them should be admitted, instituted and inducted to the Benefice of the other; which is expressed in the Exchange itself, and the Protestation usually added to it. Rights Clerg. 2 Co. Rep. 74. Roll. Abr. 814.

Exchangeors, Are those that return Money by Bills of Exchange. See Excambiators. 5 R. 2. c. 2.

Exchequer, (Scaccarium, from the Fr. Exchequier, i. e. Abacus, tabula lysoria, or from the Germ. Schatz, viz. Theſaurus) Is an ancient Court of Record, wherein all Causes touching the Revenue and Rights of the Crown are heard and determined; and here the Revenues of the Crown are received. Camden in his Britan. p. 113. saith, This Court took its Name à Tabula ad quam affidebant, the Cloth which covered it being Party-coloured, or chequered: We had it from the Normans, as appears by the Grand Customary, cap. 56. where it is described to be an Assembly of High Justiciars, to whom it appertained to amend that which the inferior Justiciars had mistaken, and unadvisedly judged, and to do right to all as from the Prince's Mouth. Some Persons think there was an Exchequer under the Anglo-Saxon Kings; but our best Historians are of Opinion, that it was erected by King William the First, called The Conqueror, its Model being taken from the transmarine Exchequer, established in Normandy long before that Time. Madox's Hist. Excheq. In the Reign of Henry the First, Son of William the First, there was an Exchequer, which has continued ever since: And the Judges of the Court were at that Time stiled Barones Scaccarii, and administered Justice to the Subjects. In ancient Times the Barons of the Exchequer dealt in Affairs relating to the State, or publick Service of the Crown and Realm: And were greatly concerned in the Preservation of the Prerogative, as well as the Revenue of the Crown; for at the Exchequer it was the Care of the Treasurer and Barons to see that the Rights of the Crown were no Way invaded. Lex Constitutionis 198. For the Authority and Dignity of the Court of Exchequer, anciently it was held in the King's Palace; and the Acts thereof were not to be examined or controlled in any other of the King's ordinary Courts of Justice: The Exchequer was the great Repository of Records, wherein the Records of the other Courts at Westminster, &c. were brought to be laid up in the Treasury there. And Writs of the Chancery were sometimes made forth at the Exchequer; Writs of Summons to assemble Parliaments, &c. Ibid. The Exchequer has been commonly held at Westminster, the usual Place of the King's Residence; but it hath been sometimes holden at other Places, as the King pleased; as at Winchester, &c. And in the Exchequer there are reckoned seven Courts, viz. The Court of Pleas; the Court of Accounts; the Court of Receipts; the Court of the Exchequer Chamber (being the Assembly of all the Judges of England for difficult Matters in Law;) the Court of Exchequer Chamber for Errors in the Court of Exchequer; for Errors in the King's Bench; and the Court of Equity in the Exchequer Chamber. 4 Inst. 119. But according to the usual Division for the Dispatch of all common Business, the Exchequer is divided into two Parts; one whereof is conversant especially in the judicial Hearing and Deciding of Causes pertaining to the Prince's Coſſers, anciently called Scaccarium Computorum; the other is the Receipt of the Exchequer, which is properly employed in the Receiving and Payment of Money. And it has been observed, that about the Time of the Conquest there was very little Money in Specie in the Realm; for then the Tenants or Knights Fees answered their Lords by military Services: And till the Reign of King Hen. 1. the Rents or Farms due to the King were generally rendered in Provisions and Necessaries for his Household; but in this Reign the same were changed into Money, and afterwards in succeeding Times, the Crown Revenue was answered or paid into the Exchequer chiefly in Gold and Silver. Lex Constitutionis, p. 208. By Statute, all Sheriffs, Bailiffs, &c. are to account in the Exchequer before the Treasurer and Barons: And annual Rolls are to be made of the Profits of Counties, &c. Also Inquisitors shall be appointed in every County, of Debts due to the King. 51 H. 3. 10 E. 1. And all Fines of Counties for the whole Year are to be sent into the Exchequer. 15 Ed. 2. Persons impeached in the Exchequer, may plead in their own Discharge; and there shall be Writs for discharging Persons, &c. 5 R. 2. c. 9. 14. Any Person to whom Money is due from the Exchequer, having an Order registered for Payment, may assign the same by Indorsement. 19 Car. 2. c. 12. And the Officers of the Receipt may receive and take for their Fees 1 d. in the Pound for Sums issued out, &c. 5 & 6 W. & M. c. 20. Officers of the Exchequer are without Delay to receive Money brought thither: And the Money in the Receipt is to be kept in Chests under three different Locks and Keys, kept by three several Officers, &c. 8 & 9 W. 3. c. 28. The Tellers of the Exchequer allowed 15,144 l. to make good the Deficiency in their Offices by the Reduction of Guineas. Stat. 10 Geo. 1. c. 5. See 2 Geo. 2. c. 16. In the lower Part of the Exchequer, called the Receipt, the Debtors of the King, and their Debtors, the King's Tenants, and the Officers and Ministers of the Court, &c. are privileged to sue and implead one another, or any Stranger, and to be sued in the like Actions as are prosecuted in the King's Bench and Common Pleas. The judicial Part of the Exchequer is a Court both of Law and Equity; the Court of Common Law is held in the Office of Pleas, after the Course of the Common Law, coram Baronibus; and here the Plaintiff ought to be a Tenant or Debtor to the King, or some Way accountant to him; and the leading Process is either a Writ of Subpœna, or Quo Minus, which goes into Wales, where no Process of the King's Bench or Common Pleas ought to run; except the Capias Ur-lagatum. The Court of Equity is holden in the Exchequer Chamber coram Theſaurario, Cancellario & Baronibus, but usually before the Barons only, the Lord

Chief

Chief Baron being the Chief Judge to hear and determine all Causes in Law or Equity; the Proceedings here are by English Bill and Answer, agreeable to the Practice of the High Court of Chancery; but the Plaintiff must likewise set forth that he is Debtor to the King, though it is not material whether he be so or not, it being only Matter of Form. In this Court the Clergy usually exhibit Bills for Recovery of their Tithes, &c. And here the Attorney General brings Bills for any Matters concerning the King; and any Person grieved in any Cause prosecuted against him on Behalf of the King, may bring his Bill against the Attorney General to be relieved in Equity; in which Case the Plaintiff must attend the King's Attorney with a Copy of the Bill, and procure him to answer the same; and Mr. Attorney may call any that are interested in the Cause, or any Officer or others, to instruct him in the Making of his Answer, so as the King be not prejudiced thereby, and his Answer is to be put in without Oath 4 Inst. 109, 112, 118. The Practice and Proceedings generally in Use at the Exchequer Bar, where anciently there was very much Business and very various, are chiefly relating to Debtors, Farmers, Receivers, Accountants, &c. for Debts and Duties due to the Crown: And all penal Punishments, Infrusions, Forfeitures upon popular Actions, &c. are Matters cognisable by this Court. Practif. Attorn. Edit. 1. p. 292, 293. The Exchequer is now said to be the last of the four Courts at Westminster; governed by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Lord Chief Baron, and three other Barons, who are the Sovereign Auditors of England, and the Judges of the Court, and ever give Judgment in the Term-time only: There also sits in this Court a Justice Baron, who administers the Oath of all High-Sheriffs, Under-Sheriffs, Bailiffs, Auditors, Receivers, Collectors, Controllers, Surveyors, and Searchers of all the Customs in England. The Chancellor or Under-Treasurer hath the Custody of the Seal of this Court. The King's Attorney General is made privy to all Manner of Pleas that are not Ordinary and of Course, which rise upon the Process of the Court; and he puts into Court in his own Name, Informations of Concealments of Customs, Seizures, &c. And also for Infrusions, Wastes and Incroachments upon any of the King's Lands; or upon Penal Statutes, Forfeitures, &c. The Remembrancers keep the Records of the Court betwixt the King and his Subjects, and enter the Rules and Orders there made: One is called the King's Remembrancer, and the other the Lord Treasurer's Remembrancer; the Remembrancer for the King hath all Manner of Informations upon Penal Statutes used in his Office only; and he calls to Account, in open Court, all the great Accountants of the Crown, Collectors of Customs, &c. he makes out Writs of Privilege, enters Judgments of Pleas; and all Matters upon English Bill are remaining in his Office. The Remembrancer for the Lord Treasurer makes out all Edicts; he sets down in his Book the Debts of all Sheriffs, and takes their foreign Accounts; and issues out Writs and Processes in many Cases, &c. And these Remembrancers have several Attornies to do Business under them: Who by Statute are not to issue out of the Remembrancer's Office, any Writs upon Supposition, but upon just Grounds, &c. 1 Jac. 1. c. 26. There are two Chamberlains that keep the Keys of the Treasury, where the Records do lie, with the Book of Domesday, &c. They may sit in Court if they please, but not intermeddle with any Thing; unless it be relating to the Sheriffs, in the Pricking whereof they have a Vote. And besides the Chamberlains, there is a Clerk of the Pipe, in whose Custody are conveyed out of the King's and Treasurer's Remembrancers, &c. as Water through a Pipe, all Accounts and Debts due to the King.

The Controller of the Pipe; which is said to be the Chancellor of the Exchequer. The Clerk of the Edicts, who receives the Edicts from the Remembrancer's Office, and writeth them out to be served for the King, &c. The Foreign Opposer who opposes or makes a Charge on all Sheriffs, &c. of their Green Wax, i. e. Fines, Issues, Amerciaments, Recognifances, &c. certified in Edicts annexed to the Writ, under the Seal in Green Wax, and delivereth the same to the Clerk of the Edicts to be put in Process. The Auditors that take the Accounts of the King's Receivers, Collectors, &c. and perfect them. The four Tellers, whose Business to receive and pay all Money is well known. The Clerk of the Pells, from his Parchment Rolls, called Pellis Receptorum. The Clerk of the Nibils, who makes a Roll of such Sums as the Sheriff upon Process returns Nibil, &c. The Clerk of the Pleas, in whose Office all Officers and privileged Persons are to sue and be sued; and here are divers Under-Clerks employed in Suits commenced or depending in this Court. Then there is a Clerk of the Summons; Under Chamberlains of the Exchequer; Secondaries in the Offices of the Remembrancers; Secondaries of the Pipe; the Usher of the Exchequer, Marshal, &c.

Exchequer Bills. By Statute 5 Ann. c. 13. The Lord Treasurer may cause Exchequer Bills to be made of any Sum not exceeding 1,500,000 l. for the Use of the War; and the Duties upon Houses were made chargeable with 4 l. 10 s. per Cent. per Annum to the Bank for circulating them. The Bank not paying the Bills, Actions to be brought against the Company, and the Money and Damages recovered: And if any Exchequer Bills be lost, upon Affidavit of it before a Baron of the Exchequer, and Certificate from such Baron, and Security given to pay the same if found, Duplicates are to be made out: Also when Bills are defaced, new ones shall be delivered. Ibid. The King, or his Officers in the Exchequer, by former Statutes, might borrow Money upon the Credit of Bills, payable on Demand, with Interest after the Rate of 3 d. per Diem for every 100 l. Bill. 7 & 8 W. 3. c. 31. And by 8 & 9 W. 3. c. 20. an Interest of 5 d. a Day was allowed for every 100 l. But 12 W. 3. c. 1. lowered the Interest on these Bills to 4 d. a Day per Cent. And by 12 Ann. c. 11. it is sunk to 2 d. a Day. Forging Exchequer Bills, or the Indorsements thereon, is Felony. See Felony.

Excise, (From the Belg. Accisse, Tributum) Is a Duty or Imposition laid upon Beer, Ale, and other Liquors, which had its Beginning in the Reign of King Charles the Second. The 12 Car. 2. c. 23. granted to the King an Excise on Beer, Ale, Cyder, Strong-waters, &c. Which Excise Duty then laid upon the Beer and Ale, was 15 d. the Barrel, if sold for above 6 s. 3 d. every Barrel under that Price; since enlarged by other Acts of Parliament. One principal Office of Excise to be erected in London, &c. and the Commissioners and Sub-Commissioners appointed to levy this Duty, may under their Hands and Seals appoint so many Gaugers as shall be needful; who are to enter the Houses of Brewers, Inkeepers, &c. to Gage all the Coppers, Fats, and Vessels in the same, and make Returns to the Commissioners of Excise, &c. under whose Office and Limits they live: And upon Refusal, may forbid the Parties to sell any Beer, under 5 l. Forfeiture, &c. by this Act. And by subsequent Statutes, additional Duties have been granted on Low-Wines, Spirits, or Brandy drawn from Corn; Also a Duty of Excise is laid upon Malt, and on Sweets, &c. which is annually continued. Brewers not making true Entries of Beer and Ale brewed, once a Week at the Office of Excise, shall forfeit 10 l. but subject to Mitigation, so as not to be less than double the Duty: And Retailers of Beer, Ale, Strong-waters, &c. are to make true Entries once a Month

Month

Month of what Liquors they retail, under the Penalty of 40s. And not paying the Excise within the like Times, to pay double Duty: If any Brewer conceals any Ale or Beer, he shall forfeit 20s. per Barrel: And an Officer of the Excise in the Day-time, or in the Night with a Constable, may enter into a House or Brewhouse, and stay there during the Time of brewing, &c. Brewers erecting or altering any Back, Cooler, Copper, &c. or keeping any private Storehouses; and Maltsters keeping any private Vessels for steeping of Barley, without giving Notice to the Officers of the Excise; in either Case, forfeit 50l. and bribing a Gauger incurs the Penalty of 10l. 15 Car. 2. c. 11. 2 W. & M. 4 W. & M. 7 & 8 W. 3. 8 & 9 W. 3. c. 19. By 12 Car. 2. the Excise on Beer and Ale is granted for the Life of King Charles the Second. By the 1 Jac. 2. c. 11. it is granted to King James for Life. By 2 W. & M. c. 3. it is granted to King William and Queen Mary during their Lives. By 1 Ann. c. 7. it is granted to Queen Anne for her Life; and together with the Revenue of the post-Office, &c. made chargeable with 700,000 l. per Annum for the Support of the Household; and by 1 Geo. 1. c. 1. it is thus granted to King George the First during his Life: See 1 Geo. 2. where 'tis amongst other Things, granted to King George the Second for Life; charged with 800,000 l. per Annum for his Household. Officers of Excise may go on board Ships, and search for Rum, Arrack, and other exciseable Liquors, as Officers of the Customs may do, and seize Commodities forfeited, &c. Stat. 11 Geo. 1. c. 30. And three of the Commissioners of Excise have Power to determine all Complaints and Informations concerning the Excise Duties; as well as Justices of Peace at their Sessions, &c. Stat. 1 Geo. 2. c. 21. Vide 9 Geo. 2. c. 35. A Duty shall be paid for Sweets (or made Wines) made here for Sale, from Foreign or British Fruit and Sugar, &c. to be under the Management of the Commissioners of Excise; and Makers are to enter their Names, and Places made use of, &c. on Pain of 20 l. But Fines may be mitigated, according to the Excise Laws, &c. Stat. 10 Geo. 2. c. 17.

Excommungement, Is in Law French the same with Excommunication in English. Stat. 23 Hen. 8. c. 3.

Excommunication, (Excommunicatio) An Ecclesiastical Censure, by which a Person is excluded from the Communion of the Church, and from the Company of the Faithful. It hath been thus defined: Excommunicatio est nihil aliud quam Gensura a Canone vel Judice Ecclesiastico prolata & insidua privans legitimam communionem Sacramentorum & quandoque hominum. And it is divided into Majorem and Minorem; Minor est, per quam quis a Sacramentorum participatione conscientia vel sententia arcetur: Major est, quæ non solum à Sacramentorum, verum etiam Fidelium communione excludit, & ab omni actu Legitimo separat & dividit. Venatorius de sent. Excom. The Form of an Excommunication was of old: Auctoritate Dei Patris omnipotentis & Filii & Spiritus Sancti, & Beate Dei Genitricis Mariæ, omniumque Sanctorum, Excommunicamus, Anathematizamus, & à limitibus Sanctæ Matris Ecclesiæ Sequestramus, &c. Leg. Will. 1. Anno 38 H. 3. Boniface Archbishop of Canterbury, and the other Bishops, with burning Tapers in their Hands, in Westminster Hall before the King, and the other Estates of the Realm, denounced a Curse and Excommunication against the Breakers of the Liberty of the Church: And by Stat. 9 E. 3. Bishops may excommunicate not only all Perturbers of the Peace of the Church, but also Felons, and other Offenders, &c.

And by the Ecclesiastical Laws, excommunicated Persons are not permitted to have Christian Burial. This Excommunication is generally for Contempt in not appearing, or not obeying a Decree, &c. And in other Respects, the Causes of it are many; as for Matters of Heresy, refusing to receive the Sacrament, or to come to Church; Incontinency, Adultery, Simony, &c. It is published in the Church, and if the Offender do not submit in forty Days, then the Bishop is to certify the Excommunication into the Temporal Courts, setting forth specially the Cause of Excommunication, that the Judges may see whether the Ecclesiastical Court hath Cognizance of the Matter; and thereupon the Party may be taken and imprisoned by Virtue of the Writ Significavit or Capias Excommunicatum, and is to remain in Prison till he submits and is absolved; when the Bishop likewise certifying the same, another Writ issues to the Sheriff to discharge him. 2 Inst. 189. 8 Rep. 68. 2 Nels. Abr. 768. None but the Bishop is to certify Excommunication, unless the Bishop be beyond Sea, or in Remotis; or except the Certificate is by one that hath ordinary Jurisdiction, &c. And if the Ordinary excommunicates a Person for any Thing where he hath not Cognizance of the Cause; the Party may bring an Action against him, or the Ordinary 'tis said may be indicted. 1 Inst. 134. 2 Inst. 527. Wood's Inst. 508. A Man may not be excommunicated for Matter of Defamation, &c. The Bishop's Certificate, if he die before the Return of the Writ, shall not be received, for his Successor shall certify; the Significavit must mention that the Party lived within the Diocese where he was excommunicated, and by what Bishop; if it be pleaded, the Time when is to be shewed; and Excommunication must be declared in the Ecclesiastical Court before they proceed, &c. 8 Rep. 68. 2 Cra. 84. Nour. ca. 667. Latob 174. Hetley 86. In some Cases Persons incur Excommunication ipso facto by Act of Parliament; but they are to be first convicted of the Offence by Law, and the Conviction is transmitted to the Ordinary. Dyer 275. 1 Ventr. 146. It hath been adjudged that the Spiritual Court hath not Power to meddle with the Body of any Persons whatsoever, or to send Process to take them; for if a Person is excommunicate for Contempt, &c. they ought to certify it into the Chancery, whence 'tis sent into B. R. and thence issues Process. Cra. El. 741. An Offender excommunicated is disabled to do any judicial Act, as to sue any Action at Law, be a Witness, &c. though he may be sued: But every Excommunication doth not disable one; for if a Mayor and Commonly bring an Action, an Excommunication of the Mayor shall not disable them, because they sue and answer by Attorney: And if a Bishop is Defendant, an Excommunication by that Bishop shall not disable the Plaintiff: And an Excommunication against an Appellant, while the Appeal is depending, is void. 1 Inst. 134. 4 Inst. 340. Wood 508. Popish Recusants convicted are disabled as Persons Excommunicate, &c. Stat. 3 Jac. 1.

Excommunicato Capiendo, Is a Writ directed to the Sheriff for apprehending him who stands obstinately Excommunicated forty Days; for the Contempt of such a Person, not seeking Absolution, being certified or signified into the Chancery; this Writ issues for the Imprisoning him without Bail or Mainprize until he conforms. F. N. B. 62. By the Stat. 5 Eliz. c. 23. Writs de excommunicato Capiendo shall issue out of the Court of Chancery in Term-time, and be returnable in B. R. &c. They shall be brought sealed into the King's Bench, and there opened and delivered of Record to the Sheriff, and there must be twenty Days between the Teste and the Return: And if the Sheriff return a Non est Inventus on the Writ, a Capias with Proclamation is to be granted for the Party to yield his Body to Gaol under the Penalty of 10 l. And if he do not appear on the first

Capia,

Capias and Proclamation, a second is to go forth, and he is to forfeit 20 l. &c. But by this Statute, if in the Excommunicato Capiendo, the Party excommunicated hath not a sufficient Addition, as to his Place of Dwelling, &c. according to 1 H. 5. c. 6. Or if in the Significavit it is not contained, that the Excommunication proceeds upon a Cause of Contempt or some original Matter of Herefy; for refusing to have a Child baptized, to receive the Sacrament, to come to Divine Service, or for Error in Matters of Religion and Doctrine, for Incontinency, Usury, Simony, Perjury in the Ecclesiastical Courts or Idolatry; he shall not incur the Penalties in this Act, for his Contempt in not rendering himself Prisoner upon the Capias, &c. So that the Statute doth not require the Capias with Proclamations, and the Penalties in other Cases, besides the ten Cases mentioned. 2 Inst. 661. And it has been adjudged where a Person has been excommunicated, and none of those Causes were contained in the Significavit, that the Person excommunicated should be discharged of the Penalties; but not of the Excommunication. 3 Mod. 89. It has also been held, that for any of the Causes expressed in the Statute, there ought to go a Capias with a Penalty, and be an Addition to the Writ: In other Cases, it is not necessary; and if then the Capias be with a Penalty, the Court will not discharge the Party, but the Penalty only: But for want of Addition, in Cases where that is required, the Party shall be discharged upon Motion. 1 Salk. 294, 295.

Excommunicato deliberando, Is a Writ to the Sheriff for Delivery of an excommunicate Person out of Prison, upon Certificate from the Ordinary of his Conformity to the Jurisdiction Ecclesiastical. F. N. B. 63. Reg. Orig. 67. And where a Man is unduly excommunicated, he may be delivered in some Cases by the Writ Habeas Corpus; and sometimes by Pleading, as well as by an Excommunicato deliberando: Also sometimes by Prohibition, &c. And on a general Pardon, the Party may have a Writ to the Bishop to absolve him. 12 Rep. 76. Latch 205. Godb. 272. If a Plaintiff in an Action be excommunicated, and after he gets Letters of Absolution; on shewing them in Court, he may have a Resummons, &c. upon his Original. 1 Inst. 133. The Writ of Excommunicato deliberando runs thus.

GEORGE the Second, &c. to the Sheriff of S. Greeting: Whereas A. B. and C. D. whom at the Denunciation of the venerable Father J. Bishop of, &c. as excommunicate, and the Keys contemning, by their Bodies, according to the Custom of England, by you to be justified, we have commanded, &c. until to Holy Church, as well of the Contempt as of the Injury to it done by them should be satisfied: And now from him the said Bishop the Benefit of Absolution in Form, they having merited to obtain, as the same Bishop by his Letters Patent to us hath signified: We command you that them the said A. B. and C. D. from the Prison in which they are detained, if upon that Occasion, and no other, they be detained in the same without Delay you cause to be delivered, &c.

Excommunicato Recipiendo, Is a Writ whereby Persons excommunicated, being for their Obstinacy committed to Prison, and unlawfully delivered, before they have given Caution to obey the Authority of the Church, are commanded to be sought after and imprisoned again. Reg. Orig. 67.

Execution, (Executio) Signifies the last Performance of an Act, as of a Judgment, &c. And is the Obtaining of Possession of any Thing recovered by Judgment of Law. 1 Inst. 289. Sir Edw. Coke, in his Reports, makes two Sorts of Executions; one final, another with a Quousque, tending to an End: An Execution final is that which makes Money of the Defendant's Goods, or extends his Lands, and delivers them to the Plaintiff, which he accepts in Satisfaction, and is the End of the Suit, and all that the King's Writ requires to be done: The other Writ with a Quousque, though it tendeth to an End, is not final; as in Case of a Capias ad Satisfaciendum, which is not a final Execution, but the Body of the Party is to be taken, to the Intent the Plaintiff be satisfied his Debt, &c. and the Imprisonment of the Defendant not being absolute, but until he do satisfy the same. 6 Rep. 87. A Man can have but one Execution; but it must be intended an Execution with Satisfaction, and the Body of the Defendant is no Satisfaction, only a Pledge for the Debt. 5 Rep. 86. When a Person dies in Execution, it is without Satisfaction; so that the Plaintiff may have a Fieri facias against the Goods, or Elegit against the Lands. Ibid. But where a Person was taken on a Capias Utlagatum, and died in Prison, the Plaintiff having chosen this Execution, which is the highest in Law; it has been held that the Defendant dying, the Law will adjudge it a Satisfaction. Cro. El. 850. By Statute, if a Person in Execution dies, a new Execution shall issue against the Lands, &c. as if he had never been taken in Execution. 21 Jac. 2. c. 13. If an Execution be executed and filed, the Party can have no other Execution upon that Judgment; because there can be but one Execution with Satisfaction upon one Judgment. 1 Lill. Abr. 565. If the Execution be not returned and filed, another Execution may be had: And if only Part of the Debt be levied on a Fieri facias, another Writ of Execution may be sued out for the Residue thereof. Ibid. But if you once charge the Body of the Defendant in Execution on a Capias Satisfaciend. you may not have any other Execution against his Goods, &c. except the Defendant make an Escape, or is privileged, or die in Execution. Proff. Solic. 248. Though if one take out any Writs of Execution, and they have no Effect, he may have other Writs on their Failure. Hob. 57. Where Goods are taken in another County, upon a Testatum that he hath not any Goods at London, which is false, the Execution shall be set aside: But where a Man is taken upon a wrong Writ of Execution, though it be returned executed; yet because he in Truth never was in Execution, a Capias shall issue out against him. Yelv. 180, 53. If a Person taken by Ca. sa. escapes, the Plaintiff may have a new Execution. Cro. car. 174. In Case any Prisoner committed in Execution shall escape, any Creditor, at whose Suit he stands charged, may retake him by a new Capias ad satisfaciend. or sue forth any other Kind of Execution, as if the Body of such Prisoner had never been taken in Execution. Stat. 8 & 9 W. 3. c. 27. Where two are bound jointly and severally, and Judgment is had against both of them, if one in Execution escapes, the Creditor may take out Execution against the other: But if he go by Licence of the Creditor, then the other will be discharged. Cro. Car. 53. If one in Execution be delivered by Privilege of Parliament, when the Privilege ceases, the Plaintiff may sue out a new Execution against him. 1 Jac. 1. c. 13. If where two are jointly bound, they are sued severally, and several Judgments are had against them, as an Elegit is sued against one, and executed and returned, and a Capias satisfaciend. against the other, he may bring Audita Querela; For there must be the same Kind of Process against both. Cro. Jac. 338. 2 Nels. Abr. 772. A Defendant cannot plead to any Writ of Execution, (tho' he may in Bar of Execution to a Scire facias brought;) but if he hath any Matter after Judgment to discharge him of the Execution, he is to have Audita Querela. 1 Inst. 290. If Husband and Wife, are taken in Execution for the Debt of the Wife, the Wife shall be discharged; for the Husband being in Execution, the Wife shall not be so also, and because the Wife hath nothing liable to the Execution. 1 Lev. 51. The Execution of a

Liberate is good without being returned; and where a Man is taken upon a Ca. fa. the Execution is good, though the Writ is not returned: And so in all Cases where no Inquest is to be taken, but only Lands delivered, or Seisin had; &c. which are only Matters of Fact. 4 Rep. 67. 5 Rep. 89. The Writs of Execution at Common Law were only a Fi. fa. on the Goods and Chattels; and a Levari facias to levy the Debt or Damages upon the Land and Chattels: Afterwards a Ca. ad satisfac. was given by Stat. 25 Ed. 3. c. 17. And an Elegit by Stat. Westm. 2. c. 18. which makes the Body liable, and the future Profit of Lands, &c. 1 Inst. 154. 2 Inst. 394. The Reason why by the Common Law, where a Subject had Execution for Debt or Damages, he could not have the Body of the Defendant, or his Lands in Execution, (unless it were in special Cases) was, that the Defendant's Body might be at Liberty, not only to follow his own Affairs and Business, but also to serve his King and Country; and taking away the Possession of his Lands would hinder the following of his Husbandry and Tillage. 2 Inst. 394. Though neither the Body, nor Lands of the Debtor on a Judgment could be taken in Execution at Common Law, but only his Goods; yet in Action of Debt against an Heir, upon the Bond of his Ancestor, his Land which he had by Discent was subject to be taken in Execution. 3 Rep. 11. In Action of Debt against the Heir upon his Ancestor's Bond, there was Judgment by Nil dicit: and it was held that the Plaintiff should have Execution against the Heir, of any of his own Lands or Goods. Dyer 89, 149. Judgment was had against the Heir by Nil dicit, and a Scire facias being brought against him to have Execution, he pleaded Riens per Discent; it was adjudged that this Plea was too late after the Judgment by Nil dicit, and the Execution shall be on his own Lands. Dyer 344. But there is a Difference between a Scire facias and an Action of Debt brought against an Heir upon a Bond of his Ancestor, in which the Heir is named. Poph. 193. On a Judgment for the Debt of an Ancestor, where the Heir hath made over Lands descended to him, Execution may be taken against such Heir to the Value of the Land, &c. for the Debt of his Ancestor, as if his own Debt. Stat. 3 & 4 W. & M. c. 14. If a Person have Judgment given against him for Debt or Damages, or to be bound in a Recognizance and dieth, and his Heir be within Age, no Execution shall be sued of the Lands during the Minority; and against an Heir within Age, no Execution shall be sued upon a Statute Merchant or Staple, &c. 1 Inst. 290. There is an Execution on Body, Lands and Goods, upon a Statute Merchant, Staple and Recognizances. 1 Inst. 289. 2 Inst. 678. Writs of Execution bind the Property of Goods only from the Time of the Delivery of the Writs to the Sheriff; who upon Receipt thereof indorses the Day of the Month when received: But Land is bound from the Day of the Judgment. Stat. 29 Car. 2. c. 3. Cro. Car. 149. Notwithstanding this Statute, if after the Writ delivered to the Sheriff, and before Execution is executed, the Defendant becomes Bankrupt, that will hinder Execution. 3 Salk. 159. The Plaintiff takes out Execution by Fieri facias against the Defendant, all the Goods and Chattels that he had at the Time of the Execution, will be liable to it: And where Debt or Damages are recovered, the Plaintiff shall have Execution of any Land the Defendant had at the Time of the Judgment; not of the Lands he had the Day when the first Writ was purchased. Roll. Abr. 892. Sheriffs may deliver in Execution all Lands wherof others shall be seised in Trust for him against whom Execution is had, on a Judgment, &c. 29 Car. 2. c. 3. If there are Chattels sufficient, the Sheriff ought not to take the Lands; nor may Things fixed to the Freehold, Goods bought bona fide, Goods pawned, &c. be taken in Execution. 8 Rep. 143. And if a Defendant hides his Goods in secret Places, so that the Plaintiff cannot come at them to take them in Execution, it is said no Action will lie against him. 5 Rep. 92, 93. The Sale of Goods for a valuable Consideration, after Judgment, and before Execution awarded, is good: And if Judgment be given against a Lessee for Years, and afterwards he selleth the Term before Execution, the Term assigned bona fide is not liable; also if he assign it by Fraud, and the Assignee sells it to another for a valuable Consideration, it is not liable to Execution in the Hands of the second Assignee. Godb. 161. 2 Nels. Abr. 783. If a Person has a Bill of Sale of any Goods, in Nature of a Security for Money, he shall be preferred for his Debt to one who hath obtained a Judgment against the Debtor before those Goods are sold; for till Execution lodged in the Sheriff's Hands, a Man is Owner of his Goods, and may dispose of them as he thinks fit, and they are not bound by the Judgment. Preed. Can. 286. But where a Man generally keeps Possession of Goods after Sale, it will make the same void against others, by the Statute of fraudulent Conveyances. And where on an Execution the Owner of the Goods by Agreement was to have the Possession of them upon certain Terms; afterwards another got Judgment against the same Person, and took these Goods in Execution: It was here adjudged they were well liable, and that the first Execution was by Fraud and void against any subsequent Creditor; because there was no Change of the Possession, and so no Alteration of Property. Ibid. 287. Execution may be made of Lands that the Defendant hath by Purchase after the Judgment; although he sell the same before Execution. Roll. 892. Where there is an Execution against Goods or Chattels, of a Tenant for Life, or Years, the Plaintiff before Removal of the Goods by the Execution is to pay the Landlord the Rent of the Land, &c. so as there be not above a Year due; and if more be due, paying a Year's Rent, the Plaintiff may proceed in his Execution, and the Sheriff shall levy the Rent paid as well as the Execution Money. Stat. 8 Ann. c. 17. When a Judgment is signed, Execution may be taken out immediately upon it, and need not be delayed till it is entered, it being a perfect Judgment of the Court before entered. Co. Lit. 505. And if the Judges of the Court of B. R. see one against whom there is a Judgment of that Court walk in Westminster Hall, they may send an Officer to take him up, if the Plaintiff desire it, without a Writ of Execution. Farrest. Rep. 52. If Execution be not sued within a Year and a Day after Judgment, where there is no Fault in the Defendant, as if Writ of Error be not brought, &c. there must be a Scire facias to revive the Judgment, which in that Time may be had without moving the Court; but if it be of longer Standing, the Court is to be moved for it. 1 Inst. 290. 2 Inst. 771. But if the Defendant be outlawed after Judgment, (as he may where he cannot be taken in Execution, or hath no Lands or Goods to pay the Debt, &c. when the Suit is commenced by Original) the Plaintiff need not renew the Judgment by Scire facias to obtain Execution after a Year. 1 Inst. 290. It hath been adjudged, that by the Common Law, if a Man was outlawed after Judgment in Debt, the Plaintiff was at the End of his Suit, and he could have no other Process after that personally; but was put to his new Original, &c. 2 Nels. Abr. 772. If the Plaintiff does not proceed upon the Scire facias, he may bring an Action upon the Judgment: And after Judgment against the Defendant, in Action where special Bail hath been given, the Plaintiff may have Execution against the Defendant, or prosecute his Bail. Common Law Com.

placed 206. If one be arrested upon Process in B. R. and puts in Bail; and afterwards the Plaintiff recovers, and the Defendant renders not himself according to Law, in Safeguard of his Bail, the Plaintiff may at his Election take Execution against the Principal, or his Bail; but if he takes the Bail, he shall never afterwards meddle with the Principal. Cro. Jac. 320. Execution may not be sued forth against the Bail, 'till a Default returned against the Principal. Goldsb. 175. If one recovers jointly against two in Debt, the Execution must be joint against them: The Court cannot divide an Execution, which is intire, and grounded on the Judgment. Mich. 24 Car. B. R. When Judgment is given against three Persons, you cannot take out Execution against one or two. 1 Mod. 2. A Man and his Wife recovered in an Action of Debt against the Defendant 100 l. and Damages; then the Wife died, and the Husband prayed to have Execution upon this Judgment: The Court at first inclined, That it should not survive to the Husband, but that Administration ought to be committed of it, as a Thing in Action; but at last, they agreed that the Husband might take out Execution, for that by the Judgment it became his Debt due to him in his own Right. Cro. Car. 608. 1 Mod. Rep. 179, 180. If Judgment be against two, on the Death of one the Plaintiff shall have Execution by Scire facias against the Survivor; and though he pleads, that the other Defendant has an Heir alive, &c. it will not prevent it. Raym. 26. And where two Persons recover in Debt, and before Execution one of them dies; it has been held, that Execution may be sued in both their Names by the Survivor, and it will be no Error; which may be done without a Scire facias. Noy 150. An Execution may be executed after the Death of the Defendant; for his Executor being privy, is bound as well as the Testator: And where Execution is once begun, it cannot be delayed, unless there appears Irregularity; an Audita Querela is no Superfedeas to it, nor shall any Thing stop the Sheriff from Selling, &c. 2 Cro. 73. Comberb. 33, 389. As an Execution is an intire Thing, he who begins must end it; a new Sheriff may distrain an old one to sell the Goods on a Districingas nuper Vicecom. and to bring the Money into Court, or sell and deliver the Money to the new Sheriff; and the Authority of the old Sheriff continues by Virtue of the first Writ, so that when he hath seized, he is compellable to return the Writ, and liable to answer the Value according to the Return; likewise by the Seizure the Property of the Goods, &c. is devested out of the Defendant, and he is discharged, whereby no further Remedy can be had against him. 1 Salk. 322. 3 Salk. 159. By Release of all Suits, Execution is gone; for no one can have Execution without Prayer and Suit, but the King only, in whose Case the Judges ought to award Execution ex Officio, without any Suit: And a Release of all Executions, bars the King. By Release of all Debts or Duties, the Defendant is discharged of the Execution, because the Debt or Duty on which it is founded is discharged: But if the Body of a Man be taken in Execution, and the Plaintiff release all Actions, yet he shall remain in Execution. 1 Inst. 291. If where a Judgment is given in Action of Debt, and the Defendant taken in Execution, the Plaintiff releaseth the Judgment, the Body shall be discharged of the Execution: And if the Plaintiff after Judgment releaseth all Demands, the Execution is discharged. Ibid. Where one is in Execution at my Suit, and I bid the Sheriff let him go; this is a good Discharge and Release both to the Party and Sheriff. Poph. 207. But if the Plaintiff make a Release to the Defendant being in Execution, or other Act amounting to a Discharge; it will not be a Discharge ipso facto, but by this Means he may have the same. 5 Rep. 86. Dyer

152. A Person in Execution shall not be delivered out of Prison, but by Writ of Superfedeas. 1 Lill. Abr. 565. And if a Sheriff proceeds after a Superfedeas to stay Execution on Goods, &c. it is a great Contempt; and a Writ of Restitution may be awarded. 2 Bull. 194. An Execution may be set aside as irregular, by Superfedeas; and the Party have Restitution, &c. Cartbaw 460, 461, 468. It hath been resolved, that a Writ of Error is a Superfedeas from the Time of the Allowance: Though if a Writ of Execution be executed before the Writ of Error is allowed, it may be returned afterwards. 1 Salk. 321. No Writ of Execution shall be stayed by any Writ of Error or Superfedeas, after Verdict and Judgment, in any Action upon the Case for Payment of Money, Covenant, Detinue, Trespass, &c. until Recognizance be entered into as directed by 3 Jac. 1. Stat. 13 Car. 2. c. 2. And Judgment was had against a Person at Bristol, and his Goods attached there; and the Court of B. R. being moved to stay the Execution until a Writ of Error brought should be determined, they granted a Habeas Corpus, but nothing to stay the Execution. 1 Bull. 268. All Judgments of Courts in Debt are to be executed in the peculiar Jurisdictions where given, and cannot be removed to be executed by the superior Courts. Cro. Car. 34. But if a Judgment given in another Court be affirmed or reversed for Error in B. R. because the Proceedings in the Court below are entered upon Record in the King's Bench, the Party shall have Execution in that Court: And so if a Judgment of Debt, &c. in the Common Pleas be affirmed in B. R. on a Writ of Error. 5 Rep. 88. Though where the Record of a Judgment given in C. B. is removed into B. R. the Party cannot take out Execution upon it, without a Scire facias quare Executionem habere non debeat. 1 Lill. Abr. 562. And where a Writ of Error is brought in the Exchequer Chamber, to reverse a Judgment in B. R. if the Judgment is affirmed there, yet that Court cannot make out Execution upon the Judgment affirmed; but the Record must be transmitted back to the Court of King's Bench, where Execution must be done. 1 Lill. 565. A Capias ad satisfaciendum may be executed upon a Prisoner in Prison for Felony; and if he be acquitted of the Felony, the Sheriff is to keep him. 1 Lill. Abr. 567. But where a Person is in Prison for criminal Matters, he ought not to be charged with a Civil Action without Leave of the Court; yet if he be charged, he shall not be discharged. Raym. 58. Where not allowed, on a Pardon, see Farrest. 153. A Co. sa. will lie against a Man who is outlawed for Felony, and he may be taken in Execution at the Suit of a Common Person. Owen 69. And if he was taken upon a Capias Utlagat. which is at the King's Suit, he shall be in Execution at the Suit of the Party, if he will. Moor. 566. But this is not without Prayer of the Party: And if after a Judgment given, the Judges of their own Heads, or at the Request of any Person, without Prayer of the Plaintiff, do commit the Defendant to Prison; by this he shall not be said to be in Execution for the Plaintiff. Dyer 297. If one arrested be in Prison for Debt, and Judgment is had against him; though it be in Arrest on a Latitat or Capias, he shall not be in Execution upon the Judgment, unless the Plaintiff prays it of Record; or sues a Capias ad satisfaciendum, and delivers it to the Sheriff. Dyer 197, 306. Jenk. Cent. 165. A Sheriff shall have his Fees for Executions, upon Writ of Capias satisfaciendum for the whole Debt; upon a Fieri fac. according to the Sum levied; and on an Elegit it is held by some, that he shall have Fees according to what is levied, and by others for the whole Debt recovered, because the Plaintiff may keep the Land till he is satisfied the intire Debt. 1 Salk. 333. In Personal Actions, Execution is either by Capias ad satisfaciend.

or Fieri facias against the Body or Goods; or Elegit against the Lands, &c. In Real and Mixed Actions, the Writs of Execution are Habere facias Seisnam, to put the Party in Possession of his Freehold recovered by Judgment of Law; and Habere facias Possessionem, to put him in Possession of his Term, &c. And after Judgment, issues Process of Execution; for it begins where the Action ends. No Execution for Damages recovered in a real Action, shall be had by Capias ad satisfaciendum: But where a Man hath Judgment to recover Land and Damages, he may have Execution of both together. 8 Rep. 141. If one have Judgment to recover Lands, and die before Execution, his Heir shall have it; and where Tenant in Tail recovers and dies before the Execution without Issue, he in Remainder may sue out Execution: An Heir is to have Execution for Lands, and the Executor or Administrator for Damages. Co. Litt. 251. Dyer 26. The Executors of Executors may sue out Execution of a Judgment; but an Administrator getting Judgment in behalf of the Intestate, and then dying, neither his Executor or Administrator shall take out the Execution, but the Administrator de bonis non Administratis of the first Intestate. 5 Rep. 9. In Debt, if the Defendant acknowledge the Action for Part, and as to the Remainder pleads to Issue, and the Plaintiff hath Judgment for that he confesseth; here he may not have Execution till the Issue is tried for that which he is to recover Damages: Though if he releases the Damages, he may have Execution presently for the Rest. Roll. 897. If a Sheriff in doing of Execution at the Suit of a common Person, break open any Man's House, the Execution may be good; but the Party shall have his Action of Trespass against him for it: And where the Sheriff hath a Fieri facias or Ca. sa. against a Man, and before Execution, he pays him the Money, Execution may not be done afterwards; if it be, Trespass or false Imprisonment lies. 5 Rep. 93. 12 Car. B. R. By a late Statute, Persons charged in Execution for any Sum not exceeding 100 l. in any Gaol, who are willing to satisfy their Creditors as far as they are able, may exhibit a Petition to the Court whence the Process issued, with an Account of their whole Estate upon Oath, praying to be discharged, &c. And thereupon the Court shall order the Prisoner to be brought up, and his Creditors summoned at a certain Day, when the Court in a summary Way is to examine into the same, &c. and order the Estate and Effects of the Prisoner to be assigned to the Creditors by Indorsement on the Back of the Petition; whereupon the Prisoner shall be discharged out of Prison; but if Creditors are dissatisfied with the Truth of the Prisoner's Oath, he is to be remanded till another Day, and then if the Creditors cannot discover any Effects omitted, he shall be released; unless the Creditors insist on the Prisoner's being detained in Prison, and agree by Writing to pay him 2 s. 4 d. a Week, &c. Stat. 2 Geo. 2. c. 22. Prisoners in Execution ut supra in any Prison (except in London and Westminster) before they Petition any of the Courts from whence the Process issued for a Rule to be brought up, are to give Notice to their Creditors in Writing, that they design to petition, and also a true Copy of the Account or Schedule of their whole Estates which they intend to deliver in to the Court, &c. And then upon such Petition, the Prisoners shall have a Rule of Court to be brought to the next Assizes for the County, at an Expence not exceeding 12 d. a Mile, to be paid to the Officer out of the Effects of the Prisoners, &c. And the Creditors must be summoned to appear at the said Assizes by Order served on them or left at their Houses thirty Days before; and at the Assizes, the Judges on Examination shall determine the Matter, and give Judgment and Relief; a Record of which Judgment is to be returned and certified to the Court whence the Process issued, on which the Prisoners were taken in Execution. 3 Geo. 2. c. 27. No Person charged in Execution, shall be allowed to exhibit a Petition to any Court at Law to be discharged, pursuant to the above Acts, unless it be done before the End of the next Term after he is charged; and those Statutes shall not relate to any one taken on a Capias for running customable Goods, &c. A Clause for setting mutual Debts of Plaintiff and Defendant one against the other, is made perpetual; and they may be pleaded in Bar, or given in Evidence, on the General Issue, though of a different Nature, except in Cases of Penalties in Bonds, &c. And in Pleading shall be shewn, how much is justly due on either Side, and Judgment given for what appears for the Plaintiff, &c. Stat. 8 Geo. 2. c. 24.

Execution for the King's Debt, or Prerogative Execution, is always preferred before any other Execution. 7 Rep. 20. And if a Defendant is taken by Capias ad Satisfaciendum, and before the Return thereof a Prerogative Writ issues from the Exchequer, for the Debt of the King, tested a Day before he was taken, here he shall be held in Execution for the King's Debt, and that of the Subject. Dyer 197. Lands intailed in the Hands of the Issue in Tail, when subject to the King's Extent, and where not, see 7 Rep. 21. See also King.

Execution of Criminals, Must be according to the Judgment; and the King cannot alter a Judgment from Hanging to Beheading, because no Execution can be warranted unless it be pursuant to the Judgment. 3 Inst. 52, 211. H. P. C. 272. But there are ancient Precedents, wherein Men condemned to be hanged for Felony, have been beheaded by Force of a special Warrant from the King. Bra2. 104. Staundf. 13. And the King may pardon Part of the Execution in Judgment for Treason, viz. all but Beheading. The Court may command Execution to be done without any Writ: Though sometimes Execution is commanded by Writ. 2 Hawk. P. C. 463. Judgment belongs to the Judge; but the Execution must be done by the Sheriff, &c. And an Execution cannot be lawfully made by any but the proper Officer; who may do it on the Precept of the Judge under his Seal: And if the Sheriff, or other Officer, alters the Execution, or any other executes the Offender, or if he is killed without Authority of Law, it is Felony. 2 Hawk. Ibid. It is said by Hale Chief Justice, That there is no Warrant for the Execution of Persons condemned, but a Calendar directing it left with the Sheriff under the Hand of the Justice that sits; though anciently there was a Precept or Warrant under their Hands and Seals: And where the Prisoner is in Custody of the Sheriff, the open pronouncing and entering the Judgment Suspendatur, is a Warrant for the Execution. 2 Hale's Hist. P. C. 31, 409. Subsequent Justices have no Power by the Stat. 1 Ed. 6. c. 7. to award Execution of Persons condemned by former Judges; but if Judgment has not been passed on the Offenders, the other Justices may give Judgment, and award Execution, &c. 2 Hawk. 27. Execution ought to be in the same County where the Criminal was tried and convicted: except the Record of the Attainder be removed into B. R. which may award Execution in the County where it sits. 3 Inst. 31, 211, 217. Where a Person attainted hath been afterwards at large, if on the Court's demanding why Execution should not be awarded against him, he denies he is the same Person, it shall be tried by a Jury for that Purpose, and then he is to be executed. 2 H. P. C. 463. If upon a Record removed, an outlawed Person confesses himself to be the same Person, Execution shall be had; but if he deny it, and the King's Attorney confesses he is not, he shall be discharged; though if the Attorney General take Issue upon it, the same shall be tried.

2 Hale's

2 Hale's Hist. P. C. 402. If a Person, when attainted, stand mute to a Demand why Execution shall not go against him, the ordinary Execution, (and not Penance) shall be awarded. 2 Hawk. 462. In Case a Man condemned to die, come to Life after he is hanged, as the Judgment is not executed till he is dead, he ought to be hung up again. Finch 389. The Body of a Traitor or Felon is forfeited to the King by the Execution; and he may dispose of them as he pleases. The Execution of Persons under the Age of Discretion is usually respited, in order to a Pardon. 1 Hawk. 2.

Execution of Statutes. The Court of Star-Chamber erected in the Reign of King Hen. 7. was said to be for the Execution of Statutes, &c. Stat. 3 H. 7. c. 1.

Executions facienda, Is a Writ commanding Execution of a Judgment, and diversly used. Reg. Orig.

Executions facienda in Ulsternamium, A Writ that lies for taking his Cattle, who hath conveyed the Cattle of another out of the County, so that the Sheriff cannot replevy them. Reg. Orig. 82.

Executions Judicii, Is a Writ directed to the Judge of an inferior Court to do Execution upon a Judgment therein, or to return some reasonable Cause wherefore he delays the Execution. F. N. B. 20. If Execution be not done on the first Writ, an Alias shall issue, and a Pluries with this Clause, vel Causam nobis significet quare, &c. And if upon this Writ Execution is not done, or some reasonable Cause returned why it is delayed, the Party shall have an Attachment against him who ought to have done the Execution returnable in B. R. or C. B. New Nat. Br. 43. If the Judgment be in a Court of Record, this Writ shall be directed to the Justices of the Court where the Judgment was given, and not unto the Officer of the Court; for if the Officer will not execute the Writs directed unto him, nor return them as he ought, the Judges of the Court may amerce him! Ibid. One may have a Writ de Executione Judicii out of the Chancery to execute a Judgment in an inferior Court, although a Writ of Error be brought to remove the Record, and reverse the Judgment; if he that brings the Writ of Error do not take Care to have the Record transcribed, and the Writ of Error returned up in due Time. 1 Lill. Abr. 562.

Executor, (Lat.) Is one that is appointed by a Man's last Will and Testament, to have the Execution thereof after his Decease, and the Disposing of all the Testator's Substance according to the Tenor of the Will: He is as much as Heres designatus or Testamentarius in the Civil Law, as to Debts, Goods and Chattels of his Testator. Terms de Ley 3. 322. An Executor may be appointed either by Express Words, or Words that amount to a direct Appointment; as if the Testator declares by his Will, that a certain Person shall have his Goods to pay Debts and otherwise dispose of, &c. And Executors may be made upon Condition; for a fixed Time; or some Part of the Estate. Wood's Inst. 320. A Man that can make an Executor, may either make one, two, three, or more his Executors; and he may appoint one Person his Executor for one Year, and another Man for another Year, &c. If he make a Will, and appoint an Executor for seven Years; after that the Ordinary may grant Administration of the Goods; so till the Power of Executors takes Place: And where one makes an Executor as to Part of his Estate, he shall die Intestate as to the Residue. 4 Shep. Abr. 66, 67, 68. If there is no Executor, there is properly no Will; and where there is no Will, there can be no Executor: But this is understood of Goods; for where Lands in Fee are devised, this is good, though no Executor be named; Executors having nothing to do with Land, which is not Testamentary but by Act of Parliament. Offic. Exec. 3, 4. Finch 167. All Persons capable of making a Will, are capable of being Executors. 3 Cro. 9. And a Woman Covert may be an Executor, and do any lawful Act which another Executor may do; but she may not damage her Husband thereby, by Assenting to a Legacy before Debts are paid, &c. 5 Rep. 27. A Feme Covert Executrix cannot release a Debt of her Testator's, or give away the Goods she hath as Executrix, without the Husband; but the Husband may do it, and yet the Goods which the Wife hath as Executrix are not devested out of her, as her own Goods are; nor if she dies, shall they go to the Husband, but to her Executors, or the next of Kin, being Administrator of her Testator. Offic. Exec. c. 17. Husband and Wife must be named in Actions brought for Goods which the Wife is intitled to as Executrix. Ibid. A Woman may be Executrix to her Husband, and the Husband Executor to his Wife; and by this Means, he may recover all the Debts due to her before Marriage, &c. Fitz. Executor 47, 87, 24. An Infant may be an Executor; though he cannot act till he is seventeen Years of Age; and until that Time Administration durante Minori etate is to be granted. 6 Rep. 67. 4 Inst. 335. If two are Executors, one whereof is under Age, he of full Age may solely prove the Will. 1 Lev. 181. A Man attainted of Felony cannot make Executors; because he hath forfeited all that he had: But a Person outlawed may make Executors; so may an excommunicate Person, &c. 1 Leon. 326. Cro. Eliz. 577. A Traitor, or Felon, Bastard begotten in Incest, or a notorious Usurer, 'tis said, may not be Executor to another. Swinb. 222. A Popish Recusant convict cannot be an Executor. 9 Rep. 37. A Mayor and Commonalty may be Executors. 1 Roll. Abr. 915. And if the King is made Executor, he appoints others to take the Execution of the Will upon them, and to take Account. 5 Rep. 29. Where Executors are appointed, they may accept of, or refuse the Executorship; but they may not refuse after Acceptance, nor on the other Hand accept after Refusal. 9 Rep. 37. When a Will with Executors is made, the Ordinary may send out Procefs against the Executors to come in and prove it; and if they do not come in, they are to be excommunicated; but if they come in, and refuse to take upon them the Execution of the Will, then the Ordinary is to commit Administration: And the Refusal must be by some Act registered in the Spiritual Court. Offic. Exec. If an Executor hath administered, he cannot refuse; but the Ordinary is to compel him to take upon him the Executorship. Offic. Exec. 38. Executors cannot refuse for a Time, but for ever; but they may have Time to advise upon it, and the Ordinary is to grant Letters ad Commendam, not Administration. Cro. Eliz. 92. An Executor refusing the Executorship, where two are appointed, may not administer after the Death of his Companion, for then his Election is gone; and the Executor of the other Executor who proved the Will, may alone bring an Action for Money due to the first Testator, without joining him who refused. Dyer 160. If there are many Executors of a Will, and one of them only proves the Will, and takes upon him the Executorship, it is sufficient for all of them; but the rest after may join with him, and intermeddle with the Testator's Estate: But if they all of them refuse the Executorship, none of them will ever afterwards be admitted to prove the Will; the Ordinary in this Case grants Administration with the Will annexed, and the Testator is in Law adjudged to die Intestate, and without Executor. 9 Rep. 37. 1 Rep. 113. Perk. 485. If an Executor dies before Probate, it is the same; for such an Executor's Executor cannot prove the Will, because he is not named therein, and no one can prove a Will but he who is named Executor in it; but if the first Executor had proved the Will, then his Executor might have been Execu-

to the first Testator, there requiring no new Probate. 1 Salk. 299. An Executor of an Executor may be Executor to the first Testator; but he may take upon him the Executorship of his own Testator, and refuse to intermeddle with the Estate of the other: And if the first Executor refuses, or dies before Probate, his Executor shall not administer to the first Testator: Nor can an Executor of an Administrator take Administration of the Goods of his Intestate. Dyer. 372. A Testator having thought the Executor appointed a proper Person to be intrusted with his Affairs, the Ordinary cannot adjudge him disabled, or Incapax; but a Mandamus shall issue from B. R. for the Ordinary to grant Probate of the Will, and admit the Executor, if he refuse him: Neither can the Ordinary insist upon Security from the Executor, as the Testator hath thought him able and qualified. 1 Salk. 299. And although an Executor becomes Bankrupt, yet 'tis said the Ordinary cannot grant Administration to another: But if an Executor become Non Compos, the Spiritual Court may commit Administration for this natural Disability. 1 Salk. 307. If an Executor take Goods of the Testator's, and convert them to his own Use; or if he either receive, or pay Debts of the Testator, or give Bond for Payment; make Acquittances for them, or demand the Testator's Debts as Executor; or give away the Goods of the Testator, &c. these are an Administration, so that he cannot afterwards refuse the Executorship: And it has been held, that if the Wife of the Testator take more Apparel than is necessary, it is an Administration. Offic. Exec. 39. All Goods and Chattels which belonged to the Testator at the Time of his Death, in any Part of the World, come to the Executor as Assets, and make him chargeable to Creditors and Legatees; and Debts, &c. recovered by the Executor, by Action after the Death of the Testator, are to be accounted as Assets, but not before recovered. 6 Rep. 47. 1 Inst. 374. If an Executor do never recover, or get in a Debt, he shall never be charged, provided he hath used his utmost Endeavours to recover it, and cannot do it. 1 Rep. 98. And where an Executorship is controverted in the Spiritual Court by another Executor who sets up another Will; an Injunction may be granted to the Testator's Debtors not to pay any Money till the Title to the Executorship is settled. Chan. Rep. The Chattels real and personal of the Testator coming to the Executor, are Leases for Years, Rent due, Corn growing and cut, Grass cut and severed, &c. Cattle, Money, Plate, Household Goods, &c. Co. Lit. 118. Dyer 130, 537. An Executor having a Lease for Years of Land in Right of the Deceased, if he purchase the Fee, whereby the Lease is extinct; yet this Lease shall continue to be Assets, as to the Creditors and Legatees. 1 Rep. 87. Bra. Lease 63. Though a Plantation be an Estate of Inheritance, yet being in a foreign Country, it is a Chattel in the Hands of Executors to pay Debts. 1 Vent. 358. The Executor is not only intitled to all personal Goods and Chattels of the Testator, of what Nature soever they are; but they are also accounted to be in his Possession, though they are not actually so; for he may maintain an Action, against any one who detains them from him: He is likewise intitled to Things in Action; as Right of Execution on a Judgment, Bond, Statute, &c. Also to Money awarded on Arbitration, where the Party dies before the Day, &c. 1 Inst. 209. 2 Vent. 249. 1 Danv. Abr. 549. If Goods of the Testator are kept from the Executor, he may sue for them in the Spiritual Court, or at Common Law; and if one seized of a Messuage in Fee, &c. hath Goods in the House, and makes a Will and Executor, and dies, the Executors may enter into the House, and carry away the Goods. Lit. 69. An Executor may in convenient Time after the Testator's Death, enter into a House descended to the Heir, for removing and carrying away the Goods; so as the Door be open, or the Key be in the Door. Offic. Exec. 8. He may take the Goods and Chattels to himself, or give Power to another to seize them for him. 9 Rep. 38. An Executor with his own Goods redeems the Goods of the Testator; or pays the Testator's Debts, &c. the Goods of the Testator shall, for so much, be changed into the proper Goods of the Executor. Jenk. Cant. 188. Executors having their Power wholly by the Will, may release an Action, Debt, or Duty, or do any Thing as Executors, before Probate of the Will, so as afterwards they prove it; except it be bringing Actions for Debts, &c. But to maintain these they must shew the Testament proved, and the Probate is to be brought into Court before the Defendant will be bound to plead. Plowd. 277. 1 Inst. 292. 1 Roll. Abr. 917, 926. For the Goods of the Testator, taken from them, or for Trespas upon the Land, &c. Executors may before the Will proved bring Action of Trespas, Detinue, &c. And if they sell Cattle, or other Goods of the Testator, before the Will is proved, they may have Actions for the Money payable, before the same is proved. And an Executor may be sued for the Debts of the Testator before Probate of the Will, if he be Executor by his own Act of Administring, which makes him liable to Actions. Offic. Exec. 35. It has been ruled, that an Executor may commence an Action before Probate; but he cannot declare upon it, without producing in Court the Letters testamentary: He is not like an Administrator, who hath no Right till Administration committed; for his Right is the same before, as after Probate of the Will, and the not proving it is only an Impediment to the Action. 1 Salk. 303. Executors may maintain Action of Trover for Goods converted in the Life of the Testator. Cro. Eliz. 377. And by Statute, Executors shall have a Writ of Account, and the like Action and Process, as the Testator might have had, if he had lived. 13 Ed. 1. c. 23. The Executors may bring Actions for Trespas done to their Testator, as for Goods and Chattels carried away in his Life, and shall recover their Damages, in the same Manner as he should have done. Stat. 4 Ed. 3. c. 7. Also Executors of Executors shall have Actions of Debt, Account, and of Goods taken away of the first Testator's; and have Execution of Statutes, &c. and shall answer to others, so far as they recover Goods of the first Testator, as the first Executors. 25 Ed. 3. c. 5. The Word Executor is a Word collective, and doth comprehend in it the Executor of an Executor; for he is accountable for the first Testator's Goods, and is as it were his Executor for such Goods as remain unadministred by the first Executor. 1 Lill. Abr. 508. Formerly, if an Executor wasted Goods, and left an Executor, and died, leaving Assets, his Executor should not be chargeable, because it was a personal Tort. 2 Lev. 119. But now it is otherwise by the Statute 30 Car. 2. cap. 7. made perpetual by 4 & 5 W. & M. c. 24. As the Law gives to Executors, all Chattels, &c. of the Testator, so it subjects the Executors to every Person's Claim and Action, which he had against the Testator; for which Reason the Executor is said to be the Testator's Assignee, and to represent the Person of the Testator: But for personal Wrongs done by the Testator to the Person or Goods, &c. of another, the Executor doth not represent him; because personal Actions die with the Person. 1 Inst. 209. 9 Rep. 89. Nothing can be Debt in the Executor, which was not Debt in the Testator; and if a Man covenants that his Executor shall pay 10*l.* no Action lies against him for it. Cro. Eliz. 232. So a Promise to pay to an Executor, when the Testator is not named, is not good. Cro. Jac. 570. But a Testator may bind his Executors as to his Goods, though he himself is not bound. Ibid. And an Executor may recover a Duty due to the Testator, though though he be not named. Dyer 14. Action lies against an Executor upon a collateral Promise made and broke by the Testator. Cro Jac. 663. The Testator's Assumpsit to do any collateral Thing, as to build an House, &c. which is not a Debt, binds Executors: And A. brings Assumpsit against the Executor of B. on a Promise of the Testator to pay a certain Sum of Money, which neither he nor his Executor hath paid; resolved by all the Judges, that the Action well lieth. Jenk. Cent. 290; 336. Assumpsit lieth upon a Contract of the Testator; and the Reason is the same upon a Promise, where the Testator had a valuable Consideration. Palm. 329. Though a Debt upon a simple Contract of the Testator, cannot be recovered of the Executor by Action of Debt; yet it may by Assumpsit. 1 Lev. 200. Where the Testator might have waged his Law, his Executors shall not be charged. 9 Rep. 87. If two Persons are bound jointly, and one of them dies, the Survivor only shall be charged, and not the other's Executor. Pajch. 16 Car. 2. Also when there are two Executors, if one of them dies, Debt is to be brought against the surviving Executor, and not the Executor of the Deceased: But in Equity, the Testator's Goods are liable in whosoever's Hands they are. 1 Leon. 304. Chanc. Rep. 57. Bills in Equity for Debts without Speciality, have been allowed to be brought against Executors, with an Averment that they had Assets; and no Difference has been made where the Party seeks for Relief either before or after a Judgment given against him at Law. Moor 566. Assets shall be always intended, till the Executors allege the Want of them in Execution. 9 Rep. 90, 94. If an Obligor makes the Obligor-Executor; this is a Release in Law of the Debt; but it shall be Assets in his Hands; if there be not Assets beside to pay other Creditors. 8 Rep. 136. 2 Roll. Abr. 920. When an Obligor is made Executor by the Obligor, by Administering some of the Goods, he hath accepted the Executorship, and 'tis that which makes the Release; because by being Executor he is the Person who is to receive the Money due on the Bond, and he is likewise the Person to pay it; and the Rule is, that where the same Hand is to receive and pay; that amounts to an Extinguishment. 1 Salk. 305. But a Person who owed the Testator 400*l.* was made Executor, where Debts, Legacies, and a residuary Estate were devised; and though it was insisted that the Debt was discharged by the Debtor's being made Executor, and that there was sufficient to pay the Debts and Legacies, yet it was decreed in Equity against the Executor, that he should pay the 400*l.* to the Residuary Legatee. 1 Chanc. Rep. 292. It has been adjudged, that an Obligor making the Wife of an Obligor Executrix, had suspended the Action on the Bond so long as the Executorship continued; and that a personal Action being suspended by the Act of the Party himself, is quite extinguished: This was in a Case where the Testator devised all his Goods to the Wife of the Obligor, and made her sole Executrix. Moor 855; Hutt. 128. If an Obligor is made Executor by the Obligor, the Debt is not released, but the Obligor may still sue for the Debt, unless he administers, when if he sues he must sue himself, which cannot be, and in this Case he may retain the Goods of the Obligor Testator in Satisfaction of his Debt. 2 Lev. 73. 2 Nels. Abr. 785. And if there be no Assets, the Obligor Executor may sue the Heir of the Obligor Testator in Action of Debt upon his Bond. 1 Salk. 304. 1 Lill. Abr. 575. If an Executor releases all Actions, Suits and Demands, it extends only to Demands in his own Right; not such as he hath as Executor. Shov. 153. And where an Executor grants Omnia bona sua, though some are of Opinion that the Goods which he hath as Executor will pass; yet others hold the contrary. Noy 106. 4 Leon. 70. An Executor shall be charged with Rent in the Detinet, if he hath Assets; and if he continues the Possession, he shall be charged in the Debet and Detinet, in Respect of the Perception of the Profits; whether he hath Assets or not. 1 Lev. 27. But an Executor is not suable in the Debet and Detinet for Part, and in the Detinet for the other Part; because they require several Judgments, viz. De bonis propriis for the Debet and Detinet, and De bonis Testatoris for the Detinet. 3 Lev. 74. If an Executor has a Term, and the Rent reserved is more than the Value of the Premises, in Action brought against him for it in the Debet and Detinet, he may plead the special Matter, viz. That he hath no Assets, and that the Land is of less Value than the Rent, and demand Judgment if he ought not to be charged in the Detinet tantum: And he cannot waive the Lease; without renouncing the whole Executorship. 1 Salk. 297. It hath been held, that if an Executor alters the Property of Things from the Testator to himself, by paying a Debt to the Value; or by paying the Rent of a Lease, and receiving the Profits, or Part of the Profits equal to the Rent, the Things and Profits received are his own. Dyer 185, 187. 5 Rep. 31. Where a Man by Will devises that his Lands shall be sold for Payment of Debts, his Executors shall sell the Land, to whom it belongs to pay the Debts. 2 Leon. c. 276. And if Lands are devised to Executors to be sold for Payment of the Testator's Debts, those Executors that act in the Executorship, or that will sell, may do it without the others. 1 Inst. 113. By Statute 21 H. 8. c. 4. Bargains and Sales of Lands, &c. devised to be sold by Executors, shall be as good, if made by such of the Executors only as take upon them the Execution of the Will, as if all the Executors had joined in the Sale; If Lands are thus devised to pay Debts, a surviving Executor may sell them; but if the Devise be, that the Executors shall sell the Land, and not of the Land to them to be sold, here being only an Authority, not an Interest; if one dies, the other cannot sell. 1 Lev. 203. When Lands are devised or disposed for paying Debts, Goods in the Hands of an Executor shall not be liable; though in Case of an Administrator it is otherwise. Ibid. Each Executor hath the Whole of the Testator's Goods and Chattels; and each may sell or assign the Whole; (But one of them cannot assign or release his Interest to the other, if he doth it will be void.) If one Executor grant his Part of the Testator's Goods, all passeth, and nothing is left in the other; each having the Whole, and there are no Parts or Moieties between Executors: Yet one Executor may demise or grant a Moiety of the Land, for the whole Term, and so may the other; and this Way they may settle in Friends trusted for them a Moiety for each. Offic. Exec. c. 9. One Executor cannot regularly sue another at Law; but he may have Relief in Equity: In the Eye of the Law all are but as one Executor; and most Acts done by or to any of them, are esteemed Acts done by or to all of them. 1 Roll. Abr. 918. If where one Executor is sued, he plead that there is another Executor, he ought to shew that he hath administered. 1 Lev. 161. And he only that administers is to be sued in Actions against Executors; but Actions brought by Executors are to be in the Name of all of them, though some do not take upon them the Executorship. 1 Roll. 924. There are two Executors, and one doth not administer; a Whole of Debt lies against him alone who administered: For he that doth not meddle with the Estate of the Testator, shall not be charged to his Damage; though in suing Actions against others, he remains Executor to advance the Testator's Benefit. Jenk. Cent. 106, 107. An Executor is not disabled by Outlawry, to sue for the Debts of the Testator. Special Bail is not required of Executors, &c. in any Action brought for the Testator's Debt: And Executors or Administrators

Executors are not liable to Costs. Stat. 24 H. 8. If an Executor brings a Writ of Error, though the Judgment is affirm'd, he shall not pay any Costs; because as he is Executor, it is in auter Droit: Also an Executor shall not put in Bail on a Writ of Error, Causa supra. Mich. 5 W. & M. Executors are excused from paying Costs, as being presumed to have no Knowledge of the Affairs of the Testator; and therefore they shall pay Costs for not going on to Trial, or where the Cause of Action arises to the Executor himself, &c. 1 Salk. 207. 3 Salk. 106. No Action shall charge an Executor to answer Damages out of his own Estate, upon any Promise to another, unless there be some Writing thereof signed by the Party to be charged therewith. 29 Car. 2. c. 3. On any Judgment after Verdict, had by or in the Name of an Executor or Administrator; an Administrator de bonis non may sue forth a Scire facias, and take Execution upon such Judgment. Stat. 30 Car. 2. Before this Statute it was not so; where an Executor, &c. died, for Want of Privity, the Administrator was to begin again. 2 Nels. Abr. 789. If an Executor makes himself a Stranger to the Will of the Testator, or pleads Ne unquam Executor, or any false Plea, and it is found against him, Judgment shall be de bonis propriis: In other Cases, de bonis Testatoris. Cro. Jac. 447. If on a Sci. fac. against an Executor, the Sheriff return a Devastavit; the Plaintiff shall have Judgment and Execution de bonis propriis of the Defendant: And if Nulla bona be return'd, he may have either a Capias Satisfaciend. or an Elegit. 2 Nels. 791. Dyer 185. But one Executor shall not be charged with a Devastavit made by his Companion; for the Act of one shall charge the other no further than the Goods of the Testator in his Hands amount to. Cro. Eliz. 318. If an Executor does any Waste, or misemploys the Estate of the Deceas'd, or doth any Thing by Negligence or Fraud, &c. it is a Devastavit, and he shall be charged for so much out of his own Goods. 8 Rep. 133. And a new Executor may have an Action against a former Executor, who wasted the Goods of the Deceas'd; or the old one may remain chargeable to Creditors, &c. Hob. 266.

The Duty and Office of an Executor is to bury the Testator in a decent Manner, according to his Rank and Quality, and with a due Regard to the Estate left after Debts are satisfied: For whatever an Executor lays out extravagantly in Funeral Charges, if there be not enough to pay Debts, he must bear it at his own Expence. Wood's Inst. 325. But all reasonable and necessary Funeral Charges must be allow'd before Debts and Legacies. 1 Roll. Abr. 926. The Executor is to make an Inventory of all the Goods and Chattels of the Deceas'd, with their Value, and of all Debts due to the Testator; and this Inventory ought to be made and apprais'd in the Presence of the Executor, by two or more of the Creditors, or two next of Kin to the Testator; or in their Default, by two or more of the Neighbours or Friends of the Deceas'd: And then the Executor must deliver the same upon Oath to the Ordinary. Doct. & Stud. c. 10. 21 H. 8. c. 5. Until the Inventory of the Testator's Goods is made and brought into the Office of the Ordinary, it shall be presumed that the Executor hath Assets to pay all the Debts of the Testator: The Inventory shews the Charge of the Executor, and his Account must be his Discharge, for so much as he can prove to be laid out in the Payments for Funeral Charges, making the Inventory, Probate of the Will; Debts and Legacies: This Account will discharge him of all Suits in the Spiritual Court; but will not discharge him of Suits at the Common Law, for there each Particular must be again proved. Wood 328. An Executor is to pass his Account before the Ordinary, for the Goods and Chattels of the Testator; but the Ordinary may not call Executors to account ex Officio. 9 Rep. 39. By Statute, no Executor or Administrator shall be cited into any Ecclesiastical Court to render an Account, otherwise than by Inventory, unless at the Instance of a Creditor, &c. 1 Jac. 1. c. 17. It has been held, an Executor is bound to Account; and the Ordinary must take the Executor's Account, when he is summoned by any Creditor, and cannot hold Plea of it, because 'tis made upon Oath: But if a Legatee comes, he may unravel the Account, for this is generally the only Court for him to sue in, and therefore he is not bound by it; though if the Executor will pay him his Legacy, then he cannot compel him to exhibit an Inventory or to Account, he having the End of his Suit. 2 Inst. 600. Raym. 407. Hill. 6 Ann. The Inventory of the Testator's Goods being made, or before if requisite, where there is enough to pay all Debts and Legacies, the Executor is to prove the Will before the Ordinary in common Form, by his own Oath, or by Witnesses if required by those who have a Right to question it; and being exhibited in the Register's Office of the Ecclesiastical Court, a Copy in Parchment is delivered the Executor under the Ordinary's Seal, which is called the Probate. Perk. 486. 9 Rep. 37. 2 Inst. 488. One may prove a Will before the Ordinary, which contains Goods and Lands; though formerly a Prohibition was granted as to the Lands: And a Will of Freehold Land is to be proved by Witnesses in the Chancery. 1 Vent. 207. 6 Rep. 23. The Proving of the Will is necessary for Goods and Chattels, to give the Executor Power to bring Actions, and confirm the Acts he did as Executor before: When this is done, the Executor is to pay all the Testator's Debts before any Legacies, in the Order following, viz. After the Funeral Charges, the King's Debt is to be prefer'd; then Debts on Judgments, and Statutes or Recognizances, on Mortgages, Rent upon Leases, &c. Bonds, Bills sealed, and other Specialties, Servants Wages, Debts on Notes, Shop-Books, &c. 1 Roll. Abr. 927. Plowd. 543. See Jenk. Cent. 274. And if the Executor pays the Debts in any other Order, he is liable to the Payment of the Debts of a higher Degree, though out of his own Estate. Doct. & Stud. c. 10. The Executor, &c. paying Debts on Contract, shall not be relieved against a Bond-Debt, although he had no Manner of Notice of it; for this would be to alter the Course of the Law. Preced. Canc. 534. An Executor is allowed to retain his own Debt, out of the Testator's Estate; and so may the Executor of such Executor; and the Reason is because he can't pay himself. Ibid. 179. Among Debts of equal Degree, the Executor may pay himself first: And those Debts that are first sued for, are to be first paid: Where two Judgments are given against an Executor, the Judgment given first shall be first satisfied; but if the Judgments were given against the Testator, he who first sues Execution, shall be paid before the other. Noy Max. 104. 3 Leon. cap. 364. If no Suit is begun against the Executor, he may pay the whole Debt to any one Creditor in equal Degree, though there be nothing left to pay another any Part of his Debt. Wood's Inst. An Executor pays a Debt upon Bond before a Statute broken, and afterwards the Statute is broken, the Payment of the Debt upon Bond, is a good Plea against the Statute. Cro. Jac. 9. Pending a Bill in Equity against an Executor, he may pay any other Debt of a higher Nature, or of as high a Nature, where he has legal Assets: But where there is a final Decree against an Executor, if he pays a Bond, it is a Mispayment; for a Decree is in Nature of a Judgment. 2 Salk. 507. If there be several Debts due on several Bonds from the Testator, his Executor may pay which Bond-Debt he pleases, except an Action of

of Debt is actually commenced against him upon one of those Bonds; and in such Case, if pending an Action, another Bond-Creditor brings another Action against him, before Judgment obtained by either of them, he may prefer which he will by confessing a Judgment to one and paying him, which Judgment he may plead in Bar to the other Action. Vaugb. 89. An Action was brought against an Executor, and pending that Action, he procured another to commence an Action against him for a just Debt owing by the Testator, and the other had Judgment first, which was allowed a good Plea to the first Action; and the Executor's Consent to pay one Creditor before another, shall never be intended to be by Covin, but on considering the Circumstances of the Creditors, &c. Sid. 21. Executors sometimes confess Judgment presently to a Friend for his Debt, for they are not bound to stand Suit; and plead dilatory Pleas to a Stranger's Debt, that the Friend may be first paid upon the Execution: And Executors may give Precedence as they please before Execution: But if Judgment for 100*l.* is suffered, and the Plaintiff compounds for 60*l.* the Judgment for the whole Sum shall not be allowed to keep off other Creditors. 8 Rep. 133. In Action of Debt against an Executor, he may plead a Judgment obtained against him by another, ultra quod he hath not Assets, which Judgment is in Force: though Judgments are not to be kept on Foot by Fraud. Sid. 230. 1 Vent. 76. If an Executor sued by several Creditors, pleads Plene Administravit to all at the same Time; and that he hath no Assets præter to pay one or two, he will make himself liable to all the Debts: He should plead specially to one Creditor, shewing what Assets he hath; or pay him, and plead fully administered. 1 Lill. Abr. 574. On a Scire facias against an Executor, he cannot plead fully administered, but must plead specially that no Goods of the Testator came to his Hands, whereby he might discharge the Debt; for he may have fully administered, and yet be liable to the Debt, where Goods of the Testator's afterwards come to his Hands. 1 Lill. 568. Cro. Eliz. 575. In Scire facias against Executors, upon a Judgment against their Testator, they pleaded Plene Administravit, by paying Debts upon Bonds ante Notitiam; It was adjudged no Plea, for at their Peril they ought to take Notice of Debts upon Record, and first pay them; and though the Recovery be in another County than that where the Testator lived: But where an Action is brought against Executors in another County than where they live, and they not knowing thereof, pay Debts upon specially, it is good. Cro. Eliz. 793. In pleading Debt by Bond against Executors, the Plaintiff should alledge not only Goods left; but that there is no Debt upon Judgment, Statute, &c. 3 Lev. 218. If a Surety pay the Debt of his Principal, who is dead, 'tis said the Executor is not liable at Law to repay him, without a Promise; but he is liable in Equity. Sid. 89. 3 Salk. 96. A Bill may be exhibited in the Chancery against an Executor, to discover the Testator's Personal Estate; and thereupon he shall be decreed to pay Debts and Legacies. Abr. Caf. Eq. 238. If a Person being Executor, and his Testator greatly indebted, be desirous to pay the Assets as far as they will go, and that his Payments may not be afterwards questioned, he may bring a Bill in Equity against all the Testator's Creditors, in order that they may, if they will, contest each other's Debts, and dispute who ought to be preferred in Payment. 2 Vern. 37. Where there are only equitable Assets, they must be equally paid amongst all the Creditors; for a Debt by Judgment, and simple Contract is in Conscience equal. 2 Peer Williams 416. And it is held, that Bonds, and other Debts, shall be paid equally, by Executors, where a Person has devised Lands to them, to be sold, for the Payment of his Debts. 1 Peer Will. 430.

A Debt devised by the Testator, is not to be paid by the Debtor to the Legatee, but to the Executor, who can give a sufficient Discharge for it, and is answerable to the Legatee if there be sufficient Assets. If an Executor pays out the Assets in Legacies, and afterwards Debts appear, of which he had no Notice, which he is obliged to pay; the Executor by Bill in Chancery may force the Legatees to refund. Chan. Rep. 136, 149. One Legatee paid shall refund against another, and against a Creditor of the Testator, that can charge the Executor only in Equity: But if an Executor pays a Debt upon simple Contract, there shall be no Refunding to a Creditor of a higher Nature. 2 Vent. 360. Executors are not bound to pay a Legacy, without Security to refund. Chan. Rep. 149, 257. And if Sentence be given for a Legacy in the Ecclesiastical Court, a Prohibition lies, unless they take Security to refund. 2 Vent. 358. If an Executor pays Legacies, and seven Years after Covenant is broken, for which Action is brought against the Executor; the Court inclined that it was a De-wastavit, and that the Executor ought to have taken Security for his Indemnity upon Payment of the Legacies. Allen 38. Though it has been adjudged, that a Covenant is no Duty till broken; and therefore since it is uncertain, whether it will be broken or not, it shall be presumed it will not; and the Legacies being a present Duty shall be paid by the Executor, notwithstanding any Covenant not actually broken. Styl. 37. 1 Nelf. Abr. 786. If one binds himself and his Executors in an Obligation, &c. to perform a certain Thing, and in his Will gives divers Legacies and dies, leaving Goods only sufficient to pay the Obligation when forfeited; this Obligation shall be no Bar to the Legacies, because it is uncertain whether the same may ever be forfeited: Though the Executor may therefore make a Delivery upon Condition, viz. to return the Legacies if the Obligation becomes forfeit, and the Penalty be recovered. 1 Roll. Abr. 928. 2 Vent. 358. The Executor is to pay the Legacies, after the Debts; and he may prefer a Legacy to himself, if nothing remains to discharge the other Legacies. Plowd. 545. Offic. Exec. 204. But Executors cannot in Equity pay their own Legacies first, where there is not enough to pay all of them; but shall have an equal Proportion with the rest of the Legatees. Chan. Rep. 354. An Executor has Election, where any Chattel is given to him, to have and take in one Right or the other; viz. as Executor, or Legatee; which is to be made by a special Taking or Declaration, &c. 10 Rep. 47. Plowd. 519. Dyer 277. After the Executor hath his own Legacy, he may pay what Legates he pleases first; or pay each Legatee a Part in Proportion, if there be not enough to pay every one his whole Legacy; and he is not bound to Order, as he is in the Payment of Debts due from the Testator. 2 Vent. 358, 360. If there be a specifick Legacy given of any Thing, as a Horse, Silver Cup, &c. it must be delivered before any other Legacy, provided there be Assets. Offic. Exec. 317. And if there be enough to pay all the Legacies, after the Debts are satisfied, the Legacies shall all be paid; but if there is not sufficient to pay Debts or more, the Legatees must lose their Legacies: If there be any Remainder undisposed of after the Debts and Legacies paid, by the Common Law it is said to belong to the Executor, by Virtue of the Executorship. Plowd. 526. But this hath been understood where the Executor hath had no Legacy, or other Provision by the Will: And a Man made his Will, giving only a small Legacy for Mourning; and appointed an Executor, without disposing of the Residue of his personal Estate, after Debts and Legacies paid; and it was adjudged that the Remainder should not go to the Executor, but be distributed among the Relations of the Testator by an Administration: The Testator was esteemed esteemed as to that Residue to die Intestate; and thereupon Administration shall be granted quoad the Residue. 1 Lill. Abr. 579. Wood's Inst. 322. 4 Ann. in B. R. A Testator made one Executor who was no Relation to him, and gave him 50 l. And the next of Kin exhibited a Bill in Chancery for the Residuum of the Estate; and it was determined that the Executor should not have the Residue, but the next of Kin to the Testator: But if the Executor had been nearly related to the Testator, it might be otherwise; though in such Case if there were other Relations, in equal Degree, poor and indigent, Equity would give the Residue among them. 3 Salk. 82. If there be an express Legacy given to an Executor, and no Devise of the surplus Estate, that shall generally go to the next Kindred according to the Statute of Distributions. And where two Persons were appointed Executors, having Legacies given them; it was decreed in Equity, that the Executors should be only Trustees as to the Residue of the Estate, after the Legacies paid, which should remain to the Testator's next of Kin, &c. 2 Vern. Rep. 677, 361. In a Case of the like Nature, the Surplus of the Testator's personal Estate, has been adjudged to be in Trust for his Children, though they had particular Legacies. 1 Vern. 473. Abr. Cas. Eq. 244. Also a Man by his Will gave Legacies to Relations, near to the Value of his Estate, and made a certain Person Executor, to whom he gave a small Legacy, and desired him to take upon him the Trouble of the Executorship; after the making of which Will, the Testator lived ten Years, and acquired a considerable additional Estate, and then died; on a Bill brought by his Relations, against the Executor, to have an Account of the Personal Estate, and the Surplus distributed amongst them; here the new acquired Estate was decreed to go to the Legatees, in Proportion of each one's Legacy. Preced. Canc. 12. The Surplusage of an Estate, given to pay Debts, &c. after Debts, Legacies and Portions paid, hath been ordered by the Court of Chancery to go to the Heir. Chanc. Rep. 189. Overseers of a Will have nothing to do with the Execution of it, but are only to give Counsel and Advice to the Executors; and if they will not do their Duty, to complain of them to the Spiritual Court, &c.

Executor de son tort, Or Executor of his own Wrong, is he that takes upon him the Office of an Executor by Intrusion, not being so constituted by the Testator; or for Want thereof, appointed by the Ordinary to administer. Dyer 166. If an Executor of his own Wrong takes upon himself the Office of an Executor without any lawful Authority, he is chargeable to the rightful Executor, and to all the Creditors of the Testator, and likewise to the Legatees, so far as the Goods amount unto which he wrongfully possessed: And such an Executor is made by any Act of Acquisition, Transferring or Possessing himself of any of the Estate or Goods of the Deceased; but not by Acts of Necessity, Piety or Charity, 2 Nels. Abr. 793. Where a Person gets the Goods of the Intestate into his Hands, he is chargeable for them as Executor de son tort, until he gives Satisfaction for them to the true Administrator; or satisfies the true Debts of the Intestate to the Value. Cro. Eliz. 88. And such a one cannot retain for his own Debt, against another Creditor. 5 Rep. 31. For if an Executor of his own Wrong, to whom 20 l. is owing, doth seize Goods to that Value, intending to pay himself, it shall be Assets in his Hands to make him chargeable to any Creditor or Legatee. 5 Rep. 31. And by Statute, Persons obtaining any Goods or Debts of an Intestate by Fraud, or procuring Administration to be granted to a Stranger, &c. are chargeable as Executors in their own Wrong, to the Value of the Goods or Debts, &c. And Executors and Administrators of Executors in their own Wrong, shall be liable to pay the Debts of the Testator; in like Manner as their Testator or Intestate. 43 Eliz. cap. 8. 30 Car. 2. cap. 7. If a Man who is neither Executor nor Administrator, acts as Executor, as when he takes into his Hands the Goods of the Deceased for his own Use, or alters the Property by Sale, &c. or delivers Goods of the Deceased to Creditors or Legatees, receives any Debt due to the Intestate, &c. he is Executor in his own Wrong, and shall answer as far as he acts. 5 Rep. 31, 32. 8 Rep. 135. 9 Rep. 39. Though every Taking of the Goods of the Deceased, is not enough to make one chargeable; as if a Person take away his own Goods in the House of the Deceased, or use some of the Deceased's Goods in the necessary Occasions of his Family; bury the Deceased, and sell some of the Goods for that Purpose; or if he take them by the Delivery of another, &c. Dyer 166, 167. Noy's Max. 102. When there is a rightful Executor, and a Stranger possesses himself of the Testator's Goods, without doing any further Act as Executor, he is not an Executor de son tort: But where there is neither an Executor or Administrator, it is otherwise; for there the Creditors have no Person against whom they may bring any Action but him who hath possessed himself of the Goods. Dyer 105. Roll. Abr. 918. If there is a lawful Executor that hath proved the Will, or a legal Administration granted, before a Stranger intermeddles with the Goods, the Stranger cannot be an Executor of his own Wrong; but is a Trespasser against the Executor, &c. who is to have his Remedy against the Stranger, and the Creditors may have their Remedy against the lawful Executor. 5 Rep. 82. An Executor of his Wrong, may be sued as Executor; and he shall be sued for Legacies, as well as a rightful Executor. Noy 13. Though an Executor de son tort cannot maintain any Suit or Action because he cannot produce any Will to justify it: And he will be severely punished for a false Plea, for in such Case the Execution shall be awarded for the whole Debt, though he meddled with a Thing of very small Value. Noy 69. Debt was brought against an Executor of his own Wrong, who pleaded that he never was Executor, nor administered as such; it was held, not to be material whether he had Assets or no, but to prove that he had administered any Thing was enough; for this would make him chargeable with the Debt: But if he had not pleaded falsely, he would have been liable for no more than the Value of the Goods of the Deceased. Style 120. If a Plaintiff alleges that the Defendant administered of his own Wrong, and the Defendant demurs, it is a Confession of it to be true; and then the Action may be brought against the Defendant as Executor de son tort. 5 Mod. 136. 1 Salk. 298. An Executor of his own Wrong possesses himself of Goods, and afterwards Administration is granted him, he may by Virtue thereof retain Goods for his own Debt. 5 Rep. 30. And where a Man took Possession of an Intestate's Goods wrongfully, and sold them to another, and then took out Administration, it was adjudged that the Sale was good by Relation. Moor 126. But where an Executor de son tort delivered Goods to one to whom Administration was afterwards granted, it was held that if the Administration had been granted to himself, it would not have purged the Tort, much less where granted to another; for he having once made himself liable to an Action as Executor de son tort, he shall never after discharge himself by Matter ex post facto. Hob. 49. An Executor de son tort shall be allowed in Equity, all such Payments which a rightful Executor ought to have paid. 2 Chanc. Rep. 33. See more of Executors, under Administrators, Assets, Joint Executors, Wills, &c.

Executory, Is where an Estate in Fee created by Deed or Fine, is to be afterwards executed by Entry, Livery, Wit, &c. And Leases for Years, Rents, Annuities, Annuities, Conditions, &c. are called Inheritances Executory. Wood's Inst. 293. Estates executed are when they pass presently to the Person to whom conveyed, without any after-Act. 2 Inst. 513.

Executory Devise, Is said to be where a future Interest is devised, that vests not at the Death of the Testator, but depends on some Contingency which must happen before it can vest. If a particular Estate is limited, and the Inheritance passes out of the Donor, this is a contingent Remainder; but where the Fee by a Devise is vested in any Person, and to be vested in another upon Contingency, this is an Executory Devise: And in all Cases of Executory Devises, the Estates descend until the Contingencies happen. Raym. 28. 1 Lutw. 798. Where a contingent Estate limited, depends upon a Freehold, which is capable of supporting a Remainder, it shall never be construed an Executory Devise, but a Remainder. And so it is, if the Estate be limited by Words in presenti, as when a Person devises his Lands to the Heirs of A. B. who is living, &c. Though if the same were to the Heir, of A. after his Death, it would be as good as an Executory Devise. 2 Saund. 380. 4 Mod. 255. One by Will devises Land to his Mother for Life, and after her Death, to his Brother in Fee; provided, that if his Wife, being then ensent, be delivered of a Son, then the Lands to remain to him in Fee, and dies, and the Son is born; in this Case it was held, that the Fee of the Brother should cease, and vest in the Son, by Way of Executory Devise, on the happening of the Contingency; and here such Fee Estate enures as a new original Devise to take Effect when the first fails. Dyer 127. 33. Cro. Jac. 592. A Remainder of a Fee may not be limited by the Rules of Law after a Fee simple; for when a Man hath parted with his whole Estate, there cannot remain any thing for him to dispose of: But of late Times a Distinction hath been made between an absolute Fee-simple and a Fee-simple which depends upon a Contingency, or is conditionally limited; especially where such a Contingency may happen in the Course of a few Years; or of one or two Lives; and where such a Remainder is limited by Will, it is called an Executory Devise. 2 Nels. Abr. 797. An Estate devised to a Son and his Heirs, upon Condition that if he did not pay the Legacies given by the Will within such a Time, that then the Land should remain to the Legatees, &c. and their Heirs: This Limitation of a Fee in Remainder, after a Fee limited to the Son, being upon the Contingency of the Son's Failing in Payment of the Legacies, was adjudged good by Way of Executory Devise. Cro. El. 833. And where the Father devised his Lands to his youngest Son and his Heirs, and if he died without Issue, the eldest Son being alive, then to him and his Heirs; this was held a good Remainder in Fee to the eldest Brother, after the conditional Contingent Estate in Fee to the youngest, as depending upon the Possibility that he might be alive when his youngest Brother died without Issue; and his Dying without Issue, was a collateral Determination of his Estate, whilst the other was living. Godb. 282. 2 Nels. Abr. 798. There can be no Executory Devise after an Estate tail generally limited, because that would tend to a Perpetuity; and a Contingency is too remote where a Man must expect a Fee upon another's Dying without Issue, generally: But dying without Issue, living another, may happen in a little Time, because it depends upon one Life; and therefore a Devise of a Fee-simple to one, but to remain to another upon such a Contingency, is now held good by Executory Devise. 2 Cro. 695. Sometimes cross Remainders in Tail by Implication, have been pleaded against Executory Devises. Formerly where a Term of Years, which is but a Chattel, was devised to one; and that if he died, living another Person, it should remain to the other Person, during the Residue of the Term, such a Remainder was adjudged void: For a Devise of a Chattel to one for an Hour, was a Devise of it for ever. Dyer 74. But since it has been held, that a Remainder of a Term to one, after it was limited to another for Life, was good: In a Case where a Testator having a Term, devised that his Wife should have the Lands for so many Years of the Term as she should live; and that after her Death the Residue thereof should go to his Son and his Assigns; and this was the first Case wherein an Executory Remainder of a Term for Years was adjudged good. Dyer 358. 253. A Person possessed of a Term, devises it to his Wife for eighteen Years, and after to his eldest Son for Life, after to the Son's eldest Issue Male during Life; tho' he have no such Issue, at the Time of the Devise, and Death of the Devisor, if he has before his own Death, he shall have it as an Executory Devise. 1 Roll. 612. But if one devise a Term to his Wife for Life; the Remainder to his first Son for Life, and if he dies without Issue, to his second Son, &c. the Remainder to the second Son is void, and no Executory Devise; yet where he dying without Issue living at a Person's Death, may be confined to one Life, it hinders not a Remainder over. Abr. Ca. Eq. 194. Executory Devises, as to Terms for Years, are not extended beyond a Life or Lives; they ought to arise within the Compass of one Life. 1 Salk. 229. Where there is an Executory Devise, there needs not any particular Estate to support it; and because the Person who is to take upon Contingency, hath not a present but future Interest, his Estate cannot be barred by a common Recovery; and for that it was a Remainder not in Being when the Recovery was suffered, it has been adjudged it could not be barred by such a Recovery. 2 Nels. Abr. 797, 798. It is held Executory Devises, and Limitations of the Trust of a Term, are governed alike. 1 Vern. 234.

Exemplification of Letters Patent, Is a Copy or Transcript of Letters Patent, made from the Inrolment thereof, and sealed with the Great Seal of England; which Exemplifications may be shewed or pleaded, as the Letters Patent themselves: But neither an Exemplification nor Consuet was pleadable at Common Law, because there was only the Tenor of an Inrolment, and the Tenor of a Record is not pleadable: Though by the Statutes of 6 R. 2. c. 4. 3 Ed. 6. and 13 Eliz. they are pleadable. 5 Rep. 53. By the last mentioned Statute, Exemplifications of the Inrolment of Grants by Letters Patent, shall be of as good Force in pleading for the Patentees, &c. as if the Patents were produced. 13 Eliz. c. 6. One may exemplify a Patent under the Great Seal in Chancery; and also any Record or Judgment, in any of the Courts at Westminster, under the proper Seal of each Court; and such an Exemplification may be given in Evidence to a Jury, &c. 1 Lill. 583. If a Man will plead a Record in another Court than where it remaineth, he must have it exemplified under the Great Seal, if it be denied; otherwise it will not serve, unless to give in Evidence. 2 Shep. Abr. 134. A Rule made, or Writ filed in any Court at Westminster, may be exemplified in the Court where made or filed. 1651. C. B. But nothing but Matter of Record ought to be exemplified. 3 Inst. 173.

Exemplificatione, Is a Writ granted for the Exemplification of an original Record. Reg. Orig. 290.

Exemption, (Exemptio) Signifies a Privilege to be free from Service or Appearance; as Knights, Clergymen, &c. are exempted to appear at the County-Court by Statute; and Peers from being put upon Inquests. 6 Rep. 23. Persons seventy Years of Age, Apothecaries, &c. are also exempted by Law from serving on Juries: And Justices of Peace, Attorneys, &c. from Parish Offices. 2 Inst. 447. There is an Exemption from Tolls, &c. by the King's Letters ters Patent: And a Writ of Exemption or of Ease, to be quit of serving on Juries, and all publick Service. Shep. Epitom. 1049.

Exercitiale, Was anciently used for a Heriot; being paid only in Arms and military Accoutrements: Exercitiale Vironis sive Baronis Regis, qui erit proximus ei, quatuor Equi. Leg. Edw. Conf. 1.

Exeter. By Letters Patent under the Great Seal, the Site of the Cattle of Exon (Part of the Dutchy of Cornwall) to be granted to some Persons appointed by the Justices in Quarter-Sessions for the County of Devon, for the Term of 99 Years, to the Use of the said County and for other publick Uses; under the ancient yearly Rent of 10*l.* per Annum, payable to the Crown. Stat. 9 Ann. c. 19.

Exfrediare, (From the Sax. Frede, Fritb, Peace, and Fritbian) To break the Peace, or commit open Violence. Leg. H. 1. c. 31.

Ex gravi Querela, Is a Writ that lies for him to whom any Lands or Tenements in Fee are devised by Will, (within any City, Town or Borough, wherein Lands are deviseable by Custom) and the Heir of the Devisor enters, and detains them from him. Reg. Orig. 244. Old. Nat. Br. 87. And if a Man devises such Lands or Tenements unto another in Tail, with Remainder over in Fee, if the Tenant in Tail enter, and is seized by Force of the Intail, and afterwards dieth without Issue; he in the Remainder shall have the Writ Ex gravi Querela to execute that Devise. New Nat. Br. 441. Also where Tenant in Tail dies without Issue of his Body, the Heir of the Donor, or he who hath the Reversion of the Land, shall have this Writ in the Nature of a Formedon in the Reverter. Ibid. If a Devisor's Heir be ousted by the Devisee, by Entry on the Lands; he may not after have this Writ, but is to have his Remedy by the ordinary Course of the Common Law. Co. Lit. 111.

Exhenium or Exennium, A Gift or Present, and more properly a New Year's Gift. — In Expensu Domini Regis & Exennii eidem factis apud, &c. lxxv. fol. — Ex Compot. Dom. de Farend. MS.

Exhibit, (Exhibitum) A Word mentioned in the Statute 14 Car. 2. cap. 14. And where a Deed, or other Writing is in a Suit in Chancery exhibited to be proved by Witnesses, and the Examiner or Commissioners appointed, certify on the Back of it, that the Deed or Writing was shewed to the Witness, to prove it at the Time of his Examination, and by him sworn to; this is called an Exhibit in Law Proceedings.

Exhibitio, An Allowance for Meat and Drink, such as was customary among the religious Appropriators of Churches, who usually made it to the depending Vicar; and the Benefactions settled for the Maintaining of Scholars in the Universities, not depending on the Foundation, are called Exhibitions. Paroch. Antiq. 304.

Exigendaries of the Common Pleas, (Exigendarii de Banco Communi) Are otherwise called Exigenters, by Stat. 10 H. 6. c. 4.

Exigent, (Exigenda) Is a Writ that lies where the Defendant in an Action personal cannot be found, nor any Thing of his, within the County, whereby to be attached or distrained; and is directed to the Sheriff, to proclaim and call him five County-Court Days, one after another, charging him to appear upon Pain of Outlawry: It is called Exigent, because it exaeth the Party, i. e. requires his Appearance or Forth-coming to answer the Law; and if he come not at the last Day's Proclamation, he is said to be Quinquies Exactus, and is outlawed. Crompt. Jurisd. 188. The Statutes requiring Proclamations on Exigents awarded in civil Actions, are 6 Hen. 8. c. 4. and 31 Eliz. cap. 3. Exigents are to be awarded against Receivers of the King's Money, who detain the same; and against the Conspirators, Rioters,

&c. Stat. 18 Ed. 3. c. 1. And a Writ of Proclamation shall be issued to the Sheriff to make three Proclamations in the County where the Defendant dwells, for him to yield himself, &c. by the Stat. 31 Eliz. The Writ of Exigent also lies in an Indictment of Felony, where the Party indicted cannot be found: And upon suing out an Exigent for a criminal Matter before Conviction, there shall be a Writ of Proclamation, &c. 3 Inst. 31. 4 & 5 W. & M. c. 22. If a Person indicted of Felony absent so long that the Writ of Exigent is awarded, his Withdrawing will be deemed a Flight in Law, whereby he will be liable to forfeit his Goods; and though he renders himself upon the Exigent, after such Withdrawing, and is found Not guilty, 'tis said the Forfeiture shall stand. 5 Rep. 110. 3 Inst. 232. After a Capias directed to the Sheriff to take and imprison a Felon, &c. if he cannot be taken, an Exigent is awarded: And after a Judgment in a civil Action, the Exigent is to go forth after the first Capias; but before Judgment, there must be a Capias, Alias and Pluries. 4 Inst. 177. If the Defendant be in Prison, or beyond Sea, &c. he or his Executors may reverse the Award of the Exigent. See Outlawry.

Form of a Writ of Exigent.

GEORGE the Second, &c. To the Sheriff of L. Greeting: We command you, that you cause C. D. late of, &c. to be exacted and called in your Hustings, until according to the Law and Custom of this Part of our Kingdom of Great Britain called England, he shall be outlawed, if he doth not appear; and if he appeareth, then that you take him, and cause him to be safely kept, so as you have his Body before us, the Day, &c. wherefore, &c. to answer to A. B. of a Plea of, &c. And whereof we charged you on the Day, &c. last past, and you returned that the said C. was not found in your Bailiwick: And have you there this Writ. Witness, &c.

Exigenter, (Exigendarius) Is an Officer of the Court of Common Pleas; of which Officers there are four in Number: They make all Exigents and Proclamations, in Actions where Process of Outlawry doth lie; and also Writs of Superfedeas, as well as the Prothonotaries, upon such Exigents made out in their Offices. 18 Hen. 6. c. 9. But the issuing Writs of Superfedeas is taken from them by an Officer in the same Court, constituted by Letters Patent by King James the First.

Exile, A Banishment or driving out of a Person. Lit. Dist. And this Exile is either by Restraint, when the Government forbids a Man, and makes it penal to return; or 'tis voluntary, where he leaves his Country upon Disgust, but may come back again at Pleasure. 2 Lev. 191.

Exilium, Signifies in Law Construction, a Spoiling: And by the Statute of Marlbridge it seems to extend to the Injury done to Tenants, by altering their Tenure, ejecting them, &c. and this is the Sense that Fleta determines; who distinguishes between Vastum, Destructio and Exilium; for he tells us that Vastum and Destructio are almost the same, and are properly applied to Houses, Gardens or Woods; but Exilium is when Servants are enfranchised, and afterwards unlawfully turned out of their Tenements. — Vastum & Destructio fere equipollent, & convertibiliter se habent in Domibus, Boscis & Gardinis; sed Exilium dici poterit, cum servi manumittuntur, aut à Tenementis suis injuriose ejiciuntur. Fleta, lib. 1. cap. 11. — Venditionem vel Exilium non faciunt de Domibus, Boscis, vel hominibus, &c. Stat. Marl. c. 25.

Exitus, Issue or Off-spring; and applied to the Issues or yearly Rents and Profits of Lands. — Et fiat vicecomes, quod Redditus, Biada in grangia, &c. omnia omnia mobilia, præter equitaturam, Indumenta & Utensilia Domorum, continentur sub nomine Exituum. Stat. Westm. 2. c. 43.

Exlegalitus, Is he who is prosecuted as an Out-law. Leg. Edw. Confess. c. 38.

Ex mero motu, Are Words used in the King's Charters and Letters Patent, to signify that he grants them of his own Will and Motion, without Petition or Suggestion of any other: And the Intent and Effect of these Words, is to bar all Exceptions that might be taken to the Charters or Letters Patent, by alledging that the King in granting them was abused by false Suggestions. Kitch. 352. When the Words ex mero motu are made use of in any Charter, they shall be taken most strongly against the King. 1 Co. Rep. 451.

Ex Officio, Is so called from the Power a Person has by Virtue of an Office, to do certain Acts, without being applied to: As a Justice of Peace may not only grant Surety of the Peace, at the Complaint or Request of any Person, but he may demand and take it ex Officio at Discretion, &c. Dalt. 270. And by Stat. 1 Eliz. c. 1. the Queen by her Letters Patent might authorise any Person exercising Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction, to administer an Oath ex Officio; whereby a supposed Offender was compelled to confess, accuse, or clear himself of any criminal Matter, and thereby made liable to Censure or Punishment, &c. but the Branch of this Statute relating to the said Oath, is repealed by 17 Car. 1. c. 11.

Exoneracione scilicet, Was a Writ that lay for the King's Ward, to be freed from all Suit to the County-Court, Hundred-Court, Leet, &c. during Wardship. F. N. B. 158.

Exoneracione scilicet ad Curiam Baron. A Writ of the same Nature, sued by the Guardian of the King's Ward, and directed to the Sheriff or Stewards of the Court, that they do not distrain him, &c. for not doing Suit of Court. New Nat. Br. 352. And if the Sheriff distrain Tenants in Ancient Demesne to come to the Sheriff's Turn or Leet, they may have a Writ commanding the Sheriff to surcease, &c. Ibid. 359. Likewise if a Man have Lands in divers Places in the County, and he is constrained to come to the Leet where he is not dwelling, when he resides within the Precinct of any other Leet, &c. then he shall have this Writ to the Sheriff to discharge him from coming to any other Court-Leet than in the Hundred where he dwelleth. Ibid. 357. By the Common Law, Parsons shall not be distrained to come to Court-Leets, for the Lands belonging to their Churches; and if they be, they may have the Writ Exoneracione scilicet, &c. F. N. B. 394. So shall a Woman holding Land in Dower, if she is distrained to do Suit of Court for such Land; when the Heir has Lands sufficient in the same County. Ibid.

Ex parte, Of the one Part; as a Commission in Chancery Ex parte, is that which is taken out and executed by one Side or Part only, on the other Party's Neglecting or Refusing to join: When both Plaintiff and Defendant proceed, it is a Joint-Commission.

Ex parte talis, Is a Writ that lies for a Bailiff or Receiver, who having Auditors assigned to take his Account, cannot obtain of them reasonable Allowance, but is cast into Prison: And the Course in this Case is to sue this Writ out of the Chancery, directed to the Sheriff to take four Mainperners to bring his Body before the Barons of the Exchequer at a certain Day, and to warn the Lord to appear at the same Time. F. N. B. 129.

Expendant, Having Relation to or depending upon; and this Word is used in the Law with Fee, as Fee-Expendant. If Land is given to a Man and his Wife, to hold to them and their Heirs; in this Case they have a Fee simple: But if it be given to them and the Heirs of their Bodies, &c. they have Tail and a Fee-Expendant; and thus it is opposite to Fee-simple. Kitch. 153.

Expeditate, (Expeditare) In the Laws of the Forest, signifies to cut out the Ball of Dogs Fore-feet, for the Preservation of the King's Game: But the Ball of the Foot of a Mastiff is not to be taken out, but the three Claws of the Fore-foot on the right Side are to be cut off by the Skin. Cromp. Jurisd. 152. Manwood, cap. 16. This Relates to every Man's Dog who lives near the Forest; and was formerly done once in every three Years: And if any Person keeps a great Dog not expeditated, he forfeits to the King 3 s. 4 d. 4 Inst. 308.

Expeditate Arbores, Trees rooted up or cut down to the Roots.—Inquiratur de Arboribus Expeditatis in Foresta. Fleta, lib. 2. c. 41.

Expenditors, Are the Persons appointed by Commissioners of Sewers to pay, disburse or expend the Money collected by the Tax for the Repairs of Sewers, &c. when paid into their Hands by the Collectors, on the Reparations, Amendments and Reformations ordered by the Commissioners, for which they are to render Accounts when thereunto required. Laws of Sewers 87, 88. These Officers are mentioned in the Statute 37 H. 8. c. 11. and other Statutes: The Steward who supervises the Repair of the Banks and Water-courses in Rumney Marsh is called the Expenditor.

Expense Litis, Costs of Suit allowed a Plaintiff or Defendant recovering in his Action. See Costs.

Expensis militum non levandis, &c. Is an ancient Writ to prohibit the Sheriff from levying any Allowance for Knights of the Shire, upon those that hold Lands in Ancient Demesne. Reg. Orig. 261. For there is a Writ De expensis militum levandis, for levying Expences for Knights of the Parliament, &c. Reg. Orig. 191.

Exples, The Rents or Profits of an Estate, &c. Vide Exples.

Explozator, A Scout; also a Huntsman or Chaser.—In memoriam Henrici Croft Equitis aurati, Exploratoris in Hibernia Generalis, qui obiit Anno 1609.

Exportation, Is the Shipping or carrying out the native Commodities of England for other Countries; mentioned in the Statutes relating to the Customs. See Importation.

Expolition of Deeds, It shall be favourable, according to the apparent Intent; and be Reasonable and Equal, &c. Co. Litt. 313. See Deed.

Ex post facto, Is a Term used in the Law, signifying something done after another Thing that was committed before. And an Act done, or Estate granted, may be made good by Matter ex post facto, that was not so at first, by Election, &c. As sometimes a Thing well done at first, may afterwards become ill. 8 Rep. 146. 5 Co. Rep. 22.

Extend, (Extendere) Is to value the Lands or Tenements of one bound by a Statute, &c. who hath forfeited his Bond, at such an indifferent Rate, as by the yearly Rent the Creditor may in Time be paid his Debt. F. N. B.

Extendi facias, A Writ of Extent, whereby the Value of Lands is commanded to be made and levied, &c. Reg. Orig.

Extent, (Extenta) Signifies a Writ or Commission to the Sheriff for the valuing of Lands or Tenements; and sometimes the Act of the Sheriff or other Commissioner upon this Writ. Bro. 313. Stat. 16 & 17 Car. 2. cap. 5. It hath been held more frequently to be the Estimate or Valuation of Lands, which when done to the utmost Value, is said to be the full Extent; whence come our extended Rents, or Rack-Rents. And if one bound to the King by Specialty or to others by Statute, Recognizance, &c. hath forfeited it; so that by the yearly Rent of the Debtor's Lands, the Creditor is to be paid his Debt; upon this the Creditor may sue a Writ to the Sheriff out of the Chancery to deliver him the Lands and Goods to the Value of the Debt, which is termed a Liberate. F. N. B. 131. This is after the Extent directed to the Sheriff to seize and value the Lands, &c. of the Debtor, to the utmost Extent. 4 Rep. 67. Lands and Goods are to be appraised and extended by the Inquest of twelve Men, and then delivered to the Creditor, in Order to the Satisfaction of his Debt: Every Extent ought to be by Inquisition and Verdict, by the Stat. Westm. 2. And the Sheriff without an Inquisition cannot execute the Writ. Cro. Jac. 569. The Body of the Cognisor, and all Lands and Tenements that were his at the Time of the Statute, &c. entered into, or afterwards, into whose Hands soever they come, are liable to the Extent. 2 Inst. 396. But Copyhold Lands are chargeable only during the Life of the Cognisor; and may not be extended by Elegit, so as to admit a Stranger to have Interest in the Lands held by Copy, without the Admittance of the Lord. Lands in Ancient Demesne, Annuities, Rents, &c. are extendible. 1 Roll. Abr. 88. Two Parts of an intire Rent, may be delivered upon an Extent by the Sheriff. 1 Cro. 742. But if the Cognisor of a Statute have a Rent-charge, and before the Extent he purchase Parcel of the Land; the Rent is gone, and shall not be in Execution: 'Tis otherwise if he purchases after Extent of the Rent. Dyer 306. A Reversion of Lands, &c. may not be extended; but a Plaintiff had Judgment for his Debt and Damages de Reversione cum acciderit, and a special Elegit to extend the Moiety, &c. 2 Sid. 86. Dyer 373. An Advowson in gros is not extendible on Elegit, &c. Stat. Westm. 2. cap. 18. An Office of Trust cannot be extended, because 'tis not assignable; and nothing shall be extended but what may be assigned over. Dyer 7. Though an Office is extendible in Equity. Chanc. Rep. 39. Goods and Chattels, as Leases for Years, Cattle, &c. in the Cognisor's own Hands, and not sold for valuable Consideration, are subject to the Extent. As the Lands are to be delivered to the Party at a reasonable yearly Value, so the Goods shall be delivered in Extent at a Price that is reasonable: And on a Scire facias ad computand. the Cognisee is to account according to the extended Value; not the real Value of the Land. Hardr. 136. If the Extenders appraise and value the Lands too high, the Cognisee at the Return of the Writ may pray that they may take and retain the Lands at the Rate appraised; and then 'tis said he may have Execution against their Lands for the Debt; but this may not be on Elegit. Cro. Jac. 12. It has been adjudged, that at the Return of the Writ, the Cognisee may refuse the Lands, &c. extended, if over-valued. Cro. Car. 148. Where Lands are extended at under-value, and delivered in Execution; the Cognisee hath an Interest in the Land, which cannot be devested by finding of Surplusage. 1 Cro. 266. 2 Cro. 85. The Cognisor cannot enter upon the Cognisee, when Satisfaction is received for the Debt, but is put to his Scire facias on an Extent: Though on an Elegit, the Defendant may enter because the Land is only awarded, till the Debt, which is certain, is satisfied; whereas on Extent, the Land is to be held until the Debt, Damages and Costs, &c. are satisfied: And the Cognisee being in by Matter of Record, shall not be put out but by Matter of Record, viz. a Scire facias brought against him. 4 Rep. 67. March's Rep. 207, 208. The Cognisee hath no absolute Property in Lands by the Extent, till the Delivery upon the Liberate; but notwithstanding, by the very Extent they are in Custodia Legis for his Benefit. Cro. Car. 106, 148. No actual Seisin can be on an Extent, and a Cognisee of a Statute-Staple, &c. cannot bring Ejectment before the Liberate; nor can the Sheriff upon the Liberate turn the Ter-tenant out of Possession, as he may upon a Hab. fac. Possessionem. 1 Vent. 41. Where there is an Extent upon a Statute, and a Liberate thereupon, but it is not returned, yet it is good; though regularly when Inquisitions are taken, the Writ ought to be returned. 4 Rep. 67. 1 Lill. Abr. 592. The Sheriff may be charged to make a Return of his Writ, if he put the Cognisee in Possession of Part only; and so the Cognisee may have Possession of the Whole. 2 Nelf. Abr. 774. But if a Person suing out an Extent, die before the Return of a Writ, the Sheriff may not proceed in his Inquisition, &c. afterwards; for there must be a Prosecution de novo. 1 Cro. 325. After a full and perfect Execution had by Extent, returned and of Record, there shall never be any Re-extent upon an Ejection: But if the Extent be sufficient in Law, there may be a new Extent. Stat. 32 Hen. 8. cap. 5. 1 Inst. 290. So if Lands be extended upon a Mistake, &c. and see Dyer 299. If Part of the Lands is ejected, the Cognisee is to hold over the Residue of the Land till the Debt is satisfied. 4 Rep. 66. When Lands are delivered in Extent, it is as if the Cognisee had taken a Lease thereof for Years, until the Debt is satisfied; and he shall never afterwards take out a new Execution: The Cognisee having accepted the Land upon the Liberate, the Law presumes the Debt to be satisfied. 1 Lutw. 429. An Extent was filed, and tho' it was discovered that Lands were omitted, the Court would not grant a Re-extent. Sid. 356. Lands or Goods, &c. are not to be sold on an Extent; but delivered.

Extinguishment, (From Extinguo) Signifies a Consolidation: For Example; If a Man hath an yearly Rent out of Lands, and afterwards purchases the Lands whereout it ariseth, so as he hath as good an Estate in the Land as the Rent; now both the Property and Rent are consolidated or united in one Possessor; and therefore the Rent is said to be extinguished. Also where a Person has a Lease for Years, and afterwards buys the Property; this is a Consolidation of the Property and Fruits, and is an Extinguishment of the Lease: But if a Man have an Estate in Land but for Life or Years, and hath a higher Estate as a Fee-simple in the Rent; the Rent is not extinguished, but in Suspence for a Time; for after the Term, the Rent shall revive. Terms de Ley 327. Extinguishment of a Rent is a Destroying of the Rent by Purchase of the Land; for no one can have a Rent going out of his own Land; though a Person must have as high an Estate in the Land, as in the Rent, or the Rent will not be extinct. 1 Inst. 147. If a Person hath a Rent-charge to him and his Heirs, issuing out of Lands, and he purchaseth any Part of the Land to him and his Heirs; as the Rent is intire and issuing out of every Part of the Land, the whole Rent-charge is extinguished: Though it is not so where one hath a Rent-service, and purchaseth Part of the Land out of which it issues; Rent-service being apportionable according to the Value of the Land, so that it shall only extinguish the Rent for the Land purchased. Litt. 222. 1 Inst. 148. And if the Grantee of a Rent-charge, purchases Parcel of the Lands, and the Grantor by his Deed granteth that he may distrain for the Rent in the Residue of the Land, this amounts to a new Grant. 1 Inst. 147. If a Man be seized of a Rent-charge in Fee, and grants it to another and his Heirs, and the Tenant attorns; the Grantor is without Remedy for the Rent in arrear before his Grant; and such Arrears become as it were extinct. Vaugb. 40. 1 Lill. Abr. 594. A. B. made a Lease for Years of Lands to another, and afterwards granted a Rent-charge to C. D. who devised the said Rent to the said A. B. till 100*l.* should be levied; then to B. G. and died: Adjudged that by the Devise to A. B. the Rent was suspended, and that a personal Thing once suspended by the Act of the Party, is extinguished for ever. Dyer 140. If Tenant for Life, makes a Lease for Years, rendering Rent, and after the Reversion descends to the Tenant for Life; this is not an Extinguishment guishment of the Term: But it is otherwise if he have the Reversion by Purchase. 1 Co. Rep. 96. A Jointenant for Life purchases the Land in Reversion, it will extinguish the Estate for Life for a Moiety, and sever the Jointure. 2 Rep. 60. Lands are given to two Men, and the Heirs of their Bodies; though they have an Estate for Life jointly, and several Inheritances, yet the Estate for Life is not extinct: Contra, if it be by several Conveyances; as where a Lease is made to two for their Lives, and after the Lessor grants the Reversion to them and their Heirs, &c. here the Life-Estate will be extinguished. 1 Inst. 182. If one after his Title begun to be Tenant by the Curtesy, make a Feoffment in Fee upon Condition, and enter for the Condition broken; the Estate is extinct, so that if his Wife die, he shall not be Tenant by the Curtesy. 1 Rep. 18. Where a Man hath an Estate for his own Life, and for another's Life at once; the Estate per auter vie will be extinguished in the Estate for his own Life, which is greater in Law than the other. 11 Rep. 87. Dyer 11. If a Lease be made to a Person for his Life, and also for 20 Years; these two Estates may stand well enough, and there shall be no Extinguishment: But if it were a Lease for Years, Remainder to him for Life, in this Case the Lease for Years would be extinct. Bro. 409. A Lease was granted to one for 100 Years, and the Lessee made a Lease for twenty Years rendring Rent; then the Lessor granted the Reversion in Fee, &c. and the Grantee purchased the Reversion of the Term; and it was held that he shall not have the Rent, because that being incident to the Reversion of the Term, is extinguished by the Reversion in Fee, both being in one Person. Moor 94. 2 Nels. Abr. 821. When the Freehold cometh to the Term, the Estate for Years is extinct. Nels. Ibid. 820. Where the Remainder of a Term is granted over to another, if the Party in Possession purchase the Fee simple, though by this Means his Interest is extinguished; yet that shall not defeat the reversionary Interest. 10 Rep. 52. 2 Nels. 820. A Fine, &c. of Lands, will extinguish a Term: And by Purchase of an Estate in Fee-simple, an Estate-Tail in Land is extinct. 9 Rep. 139. But if a Fee-simple and Fee-tail meet together by Difcent, the Estate-tail will not be extinguished. 3 Rep. 61. Difcent of Lands to the same Person who has a Term, will extinguish the Term. Moor 286. If a Copyholder takes a Lease of the Land held by Copyhold Tenure, his Copyhold is extinguished. Cro. Eliz. 7. And a Copyhold Estate is extinct whenever it becomes not demisable by Copy. Coke's Copyhold 62. When a Lessor enters tortiously upon the Lessee against his Consent, the Rent is extinguished. 2 Lev. 143. But it has been adjudged that Rent is not extinct by the Entry of the Lessor, but only suspended; and revives by the Lessee's Re-entry. Dyer 361. An Infant has a Rent, and purchases the Land out of which it is issuing; by this the Rent will be suspended, but not extinct. Bro. Extinguish. A Man Lessee for Years takes a Wife, or Woman Lessee a Husband, that hath the Reversion after the Lease; here the Term is not extinguished. 12 Rep. 81. If Feme Sole Debtee, take the Debtor to Husband; or there be two joint Obligors in a Bond, and the Obligee marries one of them; or in Case a Person is bound to a Feme Sole and another, and she takes the Obligor to Husband; in these Cases, the Debt will be extinguished. 8 Rep. 136. And if a Debtor make the Debtee his Executor, or him and another Executors, and they take the Executorship upon them; or if the Debtee makes his Debtor Executor, &c. it is an Extinguishment of the Debt, and it shall never revive. Plov. 184. 1 Salk. 304. But where a Debtee or Debtor Executor legally refuseth; or he and others being made Executors they all refuse, then the Debt is revived again. Plov. 185. A Person hath 20 l. due by Contract, if he take an Obligation for 10 l. of it, the Debt is extinct: And by Release of Part of a Debt due on Bond, the whole is gone, and the Obligation extinguished. Bro. Contract 80. 1 And. 235. There is an Extinguishment of Common, of Liberties and Franchises, Services, &c. See more of Extinguishment of Rents, &c. under Unity of Possession.

Extinguishment of Common. By purchasing Lands wherein a Person hath Common Appendant, the Common is extinguished. Cro. El. 594. A Commoner releases his Common in one Acre, it is an Extinguishment of the whole Common. Show. Rep. 350. And where a Person hath Common of Vicinage, if he incloses any Part of the Land, all the Common is extinct. 1 Brownl. 174. But if one have Common Appendant in a great Waste, belonging to his Tenant, and the Lord improve Part of the Waste leaving sufficient; if he after make a Feoffment to the Commoner of the Land improved, this will be no Extinguishment. Dyer 339. See Hob. 172. A Commoner aliens Part of his Land, to which the Common doth belong; the Common is not extinct, but shall be divided. 2 Shep. Abr. 152. Vide Common.

Extinguishment of Liberties. As to Liberties and Franchises granted by the King, sometimes they may be extinguished, and sometimes they shall not. Moor 474. When the King grants any Privileges, Liberties or Franchises, which were in his own Hands, as Parcel of the Flowers of the Crown; such as Bona Felonum, Fugitivorum & Ulagatorum, Waifs, Strays, Deodand, Wreck on the Sea, &c. if they come to the Crown again, they are drowned and extinct in the Crown, and the King is seized of them Jure Coronæ: But if Liberties of Fairs, Markets, or other Franchises, and Jurisdictions, be erected and created by the King, they will not be extinguished, nor their Appendances severed from the Possessions. 9 Rep. 25. A Man has Liberties by Prescription, if he takes Letters Patent of them, the Prescription will be gone and extinct; for Things of a higher determine those of a lower Nature. 2 H. 7. 5.

Extinguishment of Services. The Lord purchases or accepts Parcel of the Tenancy, out of which an intire Service is to be paid or done; by this the whole Service will be extinct: But if the Service be pro bono publico, then no Part of it shall be extinguished; and Homage and Fealty are not subject to Extinguishment, by the Lord's purchasing Part of the Land. 6 Rep. 1, 105. Co. Lit. 149. If the Lord and another Person do purchase the Lands, whereout he is to have Services, they are extinct; Also by Severance of the Services, a Manor may be extinguished. Co. Lit. 147. 1 And. 257.

Extinguishment of Ways. If a Man hath a Highway as Appendant, and after purchases the Land wherein this Way is, the Way is extinct. Terms de Ley. Though a Way of Necessity to Market, or Church, or to arable Land, &c. is not extinguished by Purchase of Ground, or Unity of Possession. 11 H. 7. 25. 1 Inst. 155.

Extirpatione, Is a Judicial Writ, either before or after Judgment, that lies against a Person who when a Verdict is found against him for Land, &c. doth maliciously overthrow any House, or extirpate any Trees upon it. Reg. Jud. 13, 56.

Extorcare, To grub up Lands, and reduce them to Arable or Meadow. Mon. Angl. Tom. 2. p. 71.

Extortion, (Extorsio, from Extorqueo to wrest away) Is an unlawful Taking by any Officer, &c. by Colour of his Office, of any Money, or valuable Thing, from a Person where none at all is due, or not so much is due, or before it is due. 1 Inst. 368. 10 Rep. 102. At the Common Law, which was affirmed by the Statute of Westm. 1. cap. 26. it was Extortion for any Minister of the King, whose Office did any way concern the Administration and Execution Execution of Justice, or the Common Good of the Subject, to take any Reward for doing his Office, except what he received from the King: Though reasonable Fees for the Labour and Attendance of Officers of the Courts of Justice are not restrained by Statute, which are stated and settled by the respective Courts; and it has been thought expedient to allow these Officers to take certain immediate Fees in many Cases. 2 Infl. 209. 3 Infl. 149. 1 Hawk. P. C. 170, 171. The taking of Money by Virtue of an Office, implies the Act to be lawful; but to take any Money by Colour of an Office, implies an ill Action; And the taking being for Expedition of Business, is judged by Colour of the Office, and unlawful. 2 Infl. 206. 1 Infl. 368. And where an Officer is not allowed by Law to take any Thing, and it would be Extortion to do it, a Promise to pay Money is void. 1 Roll. Abr. 16. There must be a positive Charge in Cases of Extortion, and that the Person charged with it took so much Extorsive or colore Officii; which Words are as essential as Proditorie or Felonice for Treason or Felony. 2 Salk. 680. Extortion by the Common Law is severely punished on Indictment by Fine and Imprisonment, and Removal of Officers from the Offices wherein committed: By the Stat. 3 Ed. 1. c. 30. Officers of Justice, &c. guilty of Extortion, are to render treble Value: And there are divers Statutes for punishing Extortions of Sheriffs, Bailiffs, Gaolers, Clerks of the Assize, and of the Peace, Attornies and Solicitors, &c. 23 Hen. 6. 33 Hen. 8. 3 Jac. 1. 10 & 11 W. 3. The Extortion of Officers of the Customs, distraining Merchants for undue Charges, &c. See Stat. 28 H. 6. c. 5. Officers may be jointly indicted of Extortion, as they may be jointly guilty of the Offence. 1 Salk. 382. Against Attornies for Extortion, Action may be brought, and the Party grieved shall have treble Damages and Costs; but Information will not lie on the Stat. 3 Jac. 1. cap. 7. Sid. 434. 2 Nelf. 822. If an Officer by terrifying another in his Office, take more than his ordinary Fees or Duties, he is guilty of Extortion; which may be compared to unlawful Usury, &c. And Crompton says, that Wrong done by any Man is a Trespas; but excessive Wrong is properly Extortion. Crompt. Just. 8. And Extortion has been deemed more odious than Robbery, because it carries an Appearance of Truth; and is often accompanied with Perjury in Officers, &c. by breaking their Oaths of Office. Extortion in a large Sense is taken for any Oppression by Power or Pretence of Right. 1 Hawk. P. C. 170.

Fabrick Lands, Are Lands given towards the Rebuilding or Repairing of Cathedrals and other Churches: For in ancient Times, almost every Person gave by his Will, more or less, to the Fabrick of the Cathedral or Parish-Church where he lived; and Lands thus given were called Fabrick Lands, being ad Fabricam reparandum: These Lands are mentioned in the Stat. 12 Car. 2. c. 8.

Facto, In Fact; as where any Thing is actually done, &c. See De facto.

Factor, Is a Merchant's Agent residing beyond the Seas, or in any remote Parts, constituted by Letter or Power of Attorney: And one Factor may be concerned for several Merchants, and they shall all run a joint Risque of his Actions. If the Principal give the Factor a general Commission to act for the best, he may do for him as he thinks fit; but otherwise he may not. Though in Commissions at this Time, it is common to give the Factor Power in exprefs Words, to dispose of the Merchandize, and deal therein as if it were his own; by which the Factor's Actions will be excused, though they occasion Loss to his Principal. Leg. Mercat. 151. A bare Commission to a Factor to sell and dispose of Merchandize, is not a sufficient Power for the Factor to entrust any Person, or to give a further Day of Payment than the Day of Sale of the Goods; for in this Case, on the Delivery of the one he ought to receive the other: And by the general Power of doing as if it were his own, he may not trust an unreasonable Time viz. beyond one or three Months, &c. the usual Time allowed for the Commodities disposed of; if he doth, he shall be answerable to his Principal, out of his own Estate. 1 Bull. 103. 7 Jac. 1. B. R. If a Factor buys Goods on Account of his Principal where he is used so to do, the Contract of the Factor shall oblige the Principal to a Performance of the Bargain; and he is the proper Person to be prosecuted, on Non-performance: But if the Factor enters into a Charter-Party of Affreightment with a Master of a Ship, the Contract obliges him only; unless he lades aboard generally his Principal's Goods, when both the Principal and Lading become liable for the Freight, and not the Factor. Goldsb. 137. Goods remitted to a Factor, ought to be carefully preserved; and he is accountable for all lawful Goods which shall come to his Hands; yet if the Factor buy Goods for his Principal, and they receive Damage after in his Possession, thro' no Negligence of his, the Principal shall bear the Loss; and if a Factor be robb'd, he shall be discharged in Account brought against him by his Principal. 4 Rep. 83. If the Factor has Orders from his Principal not to sell any Goods but in such a Manner, and he breaks those Orders, he is liable to the Loss or Damage that shall be received thereby: And where any Goods are bought or exchanged, without Orders, it is at the Merchant's Curtesy whether he will accept of them, or turn them on his Factor's Hands. Lex. Mercat. 154, 155. When a Factor has bought or sold Goods pursuant to

to Orders, he is immediately to give Advice of it to his Principal; lest the former Orders should be contradicted before the Time of his giving Notice, whereby his Reputation might possibly suffer: And where a Factor has made a considerable Profit for his Principal, he must take due Care in the Disposition of the same; for without Commission or particular Orders, he is answerable. Ibid. A Factor shall suffer for not observing of Orders; and no Factor acting for another Man's Account in Merchandize, can justify Receding from the Orders of his Principal, though there may be a Probability of Advantage by it: If he make any Composition with Creditors without Orders, he shall answer it to his Principal. Ibid. Factors ought to observe the Contents of all Letters from their Principals, or written to them by their Order; and to be very diligent and punctual in giving speedy and particular Answers: They should make it their Business to study the Nature, Value, Rise and fall of Merchandizes, as well here at Home as Abroad, and also the proper Seasons of Buying and Selling, &c. A Merchant is answerable in Action upon the Case for the Deceits of his Factor, in Selling Goods abroad; and as some Body must be a Loser by such Deceit, it is more Reason that he who employs, and puts Confidence in the Deceiver, should lose than a Stranger. 1 Salk. 289. If a Person doth employ a Factor to sell Goods, who sells them on Credit, and before the Money is paid dies indebted more than his Assets will pay; this Money shall be paid to the principal Merchant, and not to the Factor's Administrator, but therout must be deducted what was due for Commission: For a Factor is in Nature only of a Trustee for his Principal. 2 Vern. 638.

Factorage, Is the Wages or Allowance paid and made to a Factor by the Merchant. The Gain of Factorage is certain, however the Success proves to the Merchant; but the Commissions and Allowances vary according to the Customs and Distance of the Country, in the several Places where Factors are resident: In the West Indies, the Commission runs at about 8 per Cent. but in France and Spain, &c. not above 2 per Cent. and in Holland but one and a half per Cent. Lex Mercat. 155.

factum, A Man's own Act, Fact, or Feat; and particularly used in the Civil Law, for any Thing stated and made certain. See Fait.

Faculty, (Facultas) As restrained from the Original and active Sense, to a particular Understanding in Law, is used for a Privilege granted to a Man by Favour and Indulgence, to do that which by Law he ought not to do. And for the Granting of these, there is an especial Court under the Archbishop of Canterbury, called the Court of the Faculties; and the chief Officer thereof the Master of the Faculties; who has Power by the Stat. 25 H. 8. cap. 21. to grant Dispensations; as to marry Persons without the Banes first asked, to eat Flesh on Days prohibited, (and every Diocesan may make the like Grants) to Ordain a Deacon under Age, for a Son to succeed the Father in his Benefice, one to have two or more Benefices incompatible, &c. And in this Court are regiltred the Certificates of Bishops and Noblemen granted to their Chaplains, to qualify them for Pluralities and Non-Residence. 4 Inst. 337.

fasting-Men, In Mon. Angl. Tom. 1. pag. 100. are rendered to signify Vassals: But Cowel thinks they rather mean Pledges or Bondsmen; which by the Customs of the Saxons, were fast bound to answer for one another's peaceable Behaviour. See Fasting-men.

Flag, A Knot or Excrecency in Cloth; and in this Sense it is used in the Statute 4 Ed. 4. cap. 1.

Faggot, A Badge wore in the Times of Popery, by Persons who had recanted and abjured what the then Powers adjudged Heresy: Those poor Wretches that oppos'd the Doctrine of the arbitrary Priesthood, were condemn'd not only to the Penance of carrying a Faggot, as an Emblem of what they had merited, to such an appointed Place of Solemnity; but for a more durable Mark of Infamy, they were to have the Sign of a Faggot embroider'd on the Sleeve of their upper Garment: And if this Badge or Faggot was at any Time left off, it was often alledged as the Sign of Apofacy.

faida, Malice or deadly Feud. Leg. H. 1. c. 88.

Failure of Record, Is when an Action is brought against a Man, who alleges in his Plea Matter of Record in Bar of the Action, and avers to prove it by the Record; but the Plaintiff saith, Nul tiel Record, viz. denies there is any such Record: Upon which, the Defendant hath Day given him by the Court to bring it in; and if he fails to do it, then he is said to fail of his Record, and the Plaintiff shall have Judgment to recover. Terms de Ley 329. In Debt upon an Escape, the Plaintiff declared, that he had obtained a Judgment in an inferior Court, upon which the Defendant was taken, and the Sheriff suffered him to escape; the Defendant pleaded Nul tiel Record, and being at Issue, in the Record was certified at the Day; by which it appear'd that there were several Variances in the Continuances and process; but because the Plea, Count, and Judgment certified, did agree with the Plaintiff's Declaration, it was held that those Variances made no Failure of Record. Hob. 179; 2 Nell. Abr. 823. In Formedon for the Manor of Isfield, the Defendant pleaded in Bar a Common Recovery of the said Manor against the Donee in Tail, who replied Nul tiel Record, and the Defendant having brought in the Record, it appear'd that the Recovery was of the Manor of Isfield; and adjudged, that this being in a Common Recovery, shall be no Failure of Record for this small Variance, but shall be amended being the Misprision of the Clerk. 5 Rep. 46. And where a Fine with Proclamations was levied, and upon an Issue of Nul tiel Record, on which it was brought in at the Day, tho' the Year of the King was left out in the Proclamations made in one Term, as it was expressed in the Proclamations of the other two Terms, they were held to be right, and the Omission no Failure of Record. Dyer 234. If a Judgment, &c. be reversed for Error, Nul tiel Record may be pleaded. 8 Rep. 142. And where a Tenor only of a Record, &c. is brought in, it is a Failure of Record. Dyer 187. 2 Nell. 824.

faint-Dition, (Fr. Feinte) A feigned Action: such that altho' the Words of the Writ are true, yet for certain Causes the Plaintiff hath no Title to recover thereby; but a Falfe Action is properly where the Words of the Writ are faise. 1 Inst. 361.

faint-Pleader, Is a fraudulent, false or collusory Manner of Pleading, to the Deceit of a third Person; against which, among other Things, was made the Stat. 3 Ed. 1. c. 19.

faint-Pleader, Or not Pleading fairly, &c. See Beaupleader.

fait, (Fr. Feire, Lat. Nundina) A solemn or greater Sort of Market, granted to any Town by Privilege, for the more speedy and commodious providing of such Things as the Subject needeth; and the Utterance of what Commodities we abound in above our own Uses and Occasions: And both our English and the French Word seems to come from Feria, because it is incident to a Fair that Persons shall be privileged from being molested or arrested in it, for any other Debt or Contract than what was contracted in the same, or at least was promised to be paid there. Stat. 17 Ed. 4. c. 2. And 1 R. 3. c. 6. It is generally kept once or twice in the Year; and it has been observ'd, that Fairs were at first occasion'd by the Resort of People to the Feast of Dedication, and therefore in most Places the Fairs, by old Custom, are on the same Day with the Wake or Festival of that Saint to whom the Church was dedicated; and for the same Reason kept in the Church-yard, till by Authority restrained. 2 Inst. 221. Blount. The Court of Piepowder is incident to every Fair, &c. And there is a Toll usually paid in Fairs and Markets, on the Sale of Things tollable, and for Stallage, Picage, &c. But this is not incident to a Fair or Market, without special Grant; for where it is not granted, such a Fair or Market is accounted a Free Fair or Market. 2 Inst. 220. Cro. Eliz. 559. By the Statute 2 Ed. 3. cap. 15. Fairs are not to be kept longer than they ought by the Lords thereof, on Pain of their being seized into the King's Hands, until such Lords have paid a Fine for the Offence; and Proclamation is to be made how long Fairs are to continue: Also no Merchant shall sell any Goods or Merchandise at a Fair after the Time of the Fair is ended, under the Penalty of forfeiting double the Value of the Goods sold, one fourth Part whereof to the Prosecutor, and the Rest to the King. 5 Ed. 3. c. 5. Any Citizen of London may carry his Goods or Merchandise to any Fair or Market in England at his Pleasure; whereas an Order had been made by the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Citizens, that no Citizen should go to any Fair or Market out of the said City. 3 Hen. 7. cap. 9. Owners of Fairs and Markets are to appoint Toll-takers or Book-keepers, on Pain of 40*s.* and they shall enter and give Account of Horses sold, &c. 2 & 3 P. & M. c. 7. and 31 Eliz. c. 12. See Market.

Fait, (Factum) Is in Law Signification a Deed or Writing, lawfully executed to bind the Parties thereto. Vide Deed.

Fait enrollé, (Fr.) Is a Deed of Bargain and Sale, &c. and forging the Introllment of it is a great Misdemeanor, but not Forgery within the Stat. 5 Eliz. 1 Keb. 568.

Faitours, (Fr.) In the Statute 7 R. 2. cap. 5. is used for Evil Doers; and may be interpreted Idle Livers, from Faitardise, which signifieth a Kind of sleepy Disease, proceeding of too much Sluggishness: And in the said Statute it seems to be synonymous with Vagabonds. Terms de Ley 331.

Falang, A Jacket or Close Coat. Blount.

Falcatura, One Day's Mowing of Grass; a customary Service to the Lord by his inferior Tenants: Falcata was the Grass fresh mowed, and laid in Swathes; and Falculator, the servile Tenant performing the Labour. Kennet's Gloss.

Falco, A Falcon.—King John, in his 14th Year of his Reign, granted to Owen Fitz-Darvid, and others, Omnes accipitres & Falcones gentiles & spuaros, &c.—Pat. 14 Joh.

Falda, A Sheepfold.—Et quod oves sint le-vantes & cubantes in propria Falda, &c. Rot. Chart. 6 Hen. 3. m. 6.

Faldage, (Faldagium) Is a Privilege which several Lords anciently reserved to themselves, of setting up Folds for Sheep in any Fields within their Manors, for the better Manurance of the same; and this was usually done not only with their own, but their Tenant's Sheep, which they call Secta faldæ. This Faldage is termed in some Places a Fold Course; and in old Charters Faldseca, i. e. Libertas Faldæ, or Faldagii.

Faldæcurfus, A Sheep Walk, or Feed for Sheep. 2 Vent. Rep. 139.

Faldsey, Fald-fee, A Fee or Rent paid by some customary Tenants for Liberty to fold their Sheep upon their own Land.

Faldwoth, A Person of Age, that he may be reckoned of some Decennary. Du Fresne.

Falera, (Lat. Phaleræ) The Tackle and Furniture of a Cart or Wain. Mon. Angl. Tom. 2. f. 256.

Falella, A great Rock, Bank or Hill by the Seaside. Domesd.

Fallow-Land, Vide Warredum & Terra Warreda.

Fallun, Is a Sort of Land, as appears by the Monasticon Anglicanum.—De duobus acris & viginti Fallis in, &c. Mon. Tom. 2. 425.

Falmotum, or Falkmote, the same with Folkmote.

Falfe Bittion, If brought against one, whereby he is cast into Prison, and dies pending the Suit, the Law giveth no Remedy in this Case, because the Truth or Falshood of the Matter cannot appear before 'tis tried: And if the Plaintiff be barred or nonsuited, at Common Law, regularly all the Punishment is Amercement. Jenk. Cent. 161. See Faint-Abion.

Falfe Claim, By the Forest Laws, is where a Man claims more than is his due, and is amerced and punished for the same. A Person had a Grant by Charter of the Tenth of all the Venison in the Forest of Lancaster, viz. In Carne tantum, sed non in Corio; and because he made a Falfe Claim, by alleging that he ought to have the Tenth of all Venison within the Forest, as well in Carne, as in Corio, therefore he was in Misericordia de Decima Venationis suæ in Corio non percipiendo. Manwood, cap. 25. num. 3.

Falfe Form, In Proceedings at Law, is aided by a Verdict; though not where there is Want of Certainty, &c. 1 Keb. 734, 876.

Falfe Imprisonment, (Falsum Imprisonamentum)

Is a Trespass committed against a Person, by Arresting and Imprisoning him without just Cause, contrary to Law; or where a Man is unlawfully detained, without legal Process: And it is also used for a Writ which is brought upon this Trespass. If a Person be any way unlawfully detained, it is Falfe Imprisonment; and considerable Damages are recoverable in these Actions. 1 Inst. 124. The Law favours Liberty, and the Freedom of a Man from Imprisonment, so that Falfe Imprisonment is a great Offence; and lawful Imprisonment is so far pitied, that by several Statutes, as well as by the Common Law, Defaults are saved on that Account. Wood's Inst. 16. The King cannot give any Power to imprison, where Imprisonment may not be awarded by the Common Law. 2 Brownl. 18. And if a Person is imprisoned on any By-Law of a Corporation, &c. it is Falfe Imprisonment; because a By-Law to imprison is against Magna Charta, quod nullus Liber Homo Imprisonetur, &c. 5 Rep. 64. It is the same of a Custom to imprison Persons: But 'tis incident to a Court of Record to imprison. 2 Nell. Abr. 827. If a Justice of Peace, &c. commits a Person without just Cause, it is Falfe Imprisonment: And a Constable cannot imprison a Man at his Pleasure, to compel him to do any Thing required by Law; but is to carry him before a Justice. Ibid. 1 Leon. 327. Where any Justice tends for a Man, and commits him to Gaol without any Examination; the Party may have Action of Falfe Imprisonment against him: And if a Justice of Peace send a general Warrant to arrest a Person, and say not for what; Action lies against him, but not against the Officer. Mich. 8 Jac. B. R. In Falfe Imprisonment brought against an Officer of an inferior Court, if he justify an Arrest by Virtue of their Warrant; he must intitle the Court to Jurisdiction, or the Action lie: against him. Marsh, pl. 195. If erroneous Process issues out of a Court that hath Jurisdiction of the Matter, and the Bailiff or Officer executes it, whereby the Party is imprisoned, the Officer shall be excused in Action of Falfe Imprisonment: But if the Court out of which the Process issues hath no Cognisance of the Cause, it is otherwise; for in such Case the whole Proceeding is Coram non Judice, and the Officer will not be excused, fed. 10 Rep. 75. An Officer hath a Warrant upon a Capias ad Satisfaciend. against an Earl, or Counts, &c. who are privileged in their Persons, and he arrests them; 'tis said Action of False Imprisonment will not lie against the Officer, because he is not to examine the Judicial Act of the Court, but to obey. 6 Rep. 56. 10 Rep. 75. Where a Person is taken and imprison'd on a Process unduly obtain'd, Action of False Imprisonment may be brought by the Party imprison'd, against him at whose Suit he is imprison'd; but not against the Officer that executes it. 1 Lill. Abr. 595. If an Arrest is made by one who is no legal Officer, it is False Imprisonment, for which Action lies. 1 Inst. 69. An Action of False Imprisonment lies against a Bailiff for arresting a Person without Warrant, tho' he afterwards receives a Warrant: And so it is if he arrest one after the Return of the Writ is past; for it is then without Writ. 2 Inst. 53. If a Sheriff or any of his Bailiffs arrest a Man out of his County, &c. or after the Sheriff is discharged of his Office; or a Person arrests one on a Justice's Warrant after his Commission is determined, &c. it will be False Imprisonment. Dyer 41. And if the Sheriff, after he hath arrested a Man lawfully, when a legal Discharge comes to him, as a Superfedas, or the like; do not then discharge the Party, he may be sued in this Action. 2 R. 1. 12. Fitzb. 253. In Case the Plaintiff in a Suit brings an unlawful Warrant to a Sheriff, and shews him the Defendant, requiring him to make the Arrest; or if he bring a good Warrant, and direct the Sheriff to a wrong Man, &c. for this the Action of False Imprisonment will lie against both. Bro Tresp. 99, 307. Faux Impr. 19. 1 Brownl. 211. If a Warrant be granted to arrest or apprehend a Person, where there are several of the Name, and the Bailiff or other Officer arrests a wrong Person, he is liable to Action of False Imprisonment; and he is to take Notice of the right Party at his Peril. Dyer 244. Moor 457. A Man arrested on a Sunday may bring his Action of False Imprisonment; but one has been refused to be released in such a Case. 5 Mod. 95. When a Person is kept longer in Hold than he ought, tho' he was at first lawfully imprison'd, it is False Imprisonment: If a Bailiff demand more than his just Fees, when offer'd him, and keep a Person in Custody thereupon, it is False Imprisonment, and punishable: And if a Sheriff, or Gaoler, keeps a Prisoner in Gaol, after his Acquittal, for any Thing except for Fees, it is unlawful Imprisonment. 2 Inst. 482. Wood 16. If a Man falsely imprisons A. B. and the Gaoler detains him 'till he pays so much Money, he shall have Action of False Imprisonment, and taking so much Money from him, against such Person: And it is illegal to use a lawful Means for Oppression. Mod. Caf. 179. Unlawful or False Imprisonment is sometimes called Darefas of Imprisonment, where one is wrongfully imprison'd 'till he seals a Bond, &c. 2 Inst. 482. False Imprisonment lies when one is imprison'd, where by no Statute or Common Law a Man is to suffer Imprisonment. Bro Impr. 7. So that if a Person bind himself to pay Money; and if he do not pay it, that the other shall imprison him; if he pays it not, and the other doth imprison him, it is False Imprisonment. 23 E. 3. 3. And where a Man owes me Money, or hath done any Trespas, &c. and I imprison him for it, without Order of Law, he may bring False Imprisonment against me. F. N. B. 88. An Imprisonment will be unlawful, and give this Action, altho' the Cause be good, when he that makes it doth the same without any Colour of Authority; or if he has a Colour, yet no good Authority, from the Court, &c. or where a Court or Officer hath Power, but do not well make it out; or when the Authority is well made forth, and not rightly pursued and executed. 4 Rep. 64. 8 Rep. 67. Dyer 242. And all Persons Male or Female, that have a Hand in a wrong Imprisonment shall be sued in Action of False Imprisonment; and the Party grieved may sue any one of them for it. 1 Inst. 57. Bro Tresp. 113, 256. But if the Imprisonment be by the Agreement and Consent of him that is arrested, it may be justifiable. Bro Faux Impr. 18. If a Man arrested or apprehended be committed to a private Prison, where he should be sent to the Common Gaol; Action will lie for it, as a False Imprisonment. 2 Brownl. 41. A Man under Arrest, or in Stocks, &c. is said to be in Prison: And in a common Arrest, where lawful, the Officer may make any Place his Prison, because the Writ commands that Habeas Corpus ejus coram, &c. apud Westm. which is a general Authority. 1 Salk. 401. In criminal Cases, where a Man is falsely imprison'd, he may bring a Habeas Corpus, and upon Return of the Writ, setting forth the Cause of the Commitment, if it appears to be against Law, he shall be discharg'd; or he may be bailed, if it be doubtful, &c. 4 Inst. 182.

False Judgment, (Falsum Judicium) Is a Writ that lieth where False Judgment is given in the County-Court, Court-Baron, or other Courts not of Record. F. N. B. 17, 18. This Writ may be brought on a Judgment in a Plea, Real or Personal: And for Errors in the Proceedings of inferior Courts; or where they proceed without having Jurisdiction, Writ of False Judgment lieth: Though the Plaintiff assign Errors in a Writ of False Judgment, he shall not say, In hoc Erratum est, &c. but unde queritur diversimodo sibi Falsum Judicium factum fuisse, Judicium in hoc, &c. Moor 73. 2 Nels. Abr. 829. If Writ of False Judgment abate for any Fault in the Writ, the Plaintiff shall not have a Scire facias ad audiend. Errors upon the Record certified; because it comes without an Original; but if the Plaintiff dies, and False Judgment is given in the inferior Court, his Heir shall have a Sci fac. ad audiend. Error. against him who recovered upon that Record, which is removed into C. B. And where the Plaintiff in a Writ of False Judgment is Nonsuit, it was formerly a Question, whether the other Party shall sue Execution upon this Record so removed against the Plaintiff, without suing out a Scire facias; but it has been adjudged, that he may do it. Hill. 23 Hen. 6. New Nat. Br. 39. When a Record is removed into R. R. by Writ of False Judgment, if the Party alleges Variance between the Record removed, and that on which Judgment was given, the Trial shall be by those who were present in Court when the Record was made up. 2 Lutw. 957. Stat. 1 Ed. 3. cap. 4. A Man shall not have a Writ of False Judgment but in a Court where there are Suitors; for if there be no Suitors, there the Record cannot be certified by them. New Nat. Br. 40. A Tenant at Will, according to the Custom of the Manor, which is Tenant by Copy of Court Roll, shall not have a Writ of False Judgment upon a Judgment given against him: But where False Judgment is given on a Writ of Justicies, directed to the Sheriff, the Party grieved shall have a Faux Judgment, although the Judgment be for Debt, or Trespas above the Sum of 40 s. Ibid. Where a Record of a Judgment in the County-Court was vicious, and the Judgment reversed in C. B. the Suitors were ordered to be amerced a Mark, and the County Clerk fined 5 l. And if a Plaintiff in an inferior Court declare for more than 40 s. Judgment shall be reversed by Writ of False Judgment: But where Damages are laid under that Sum, Costs may make it amount to more. 1 Mod. 249. 2 Mod. 102, 206. Upon False Judgment before Bailiffs, or others who hold Plea by Prescription, in every Sum in Debt by Bill before them, a Party shall not have a Writ of False Judgment; but a Writ of Error thereupon. M. 4 E. 4. For Defaults of Tenants for Life, in Writs of Right, &c. Faux Judgment lies by him in Reversion:

tion: And this Writ may be brought against a Stranger to the Judgment, if he be Tenant of the Land. A Judgment shall be intended good till reversed by Writ of False Judgment, &c. See Accedas ad Curiam, and Attaint.

Form of a Writ of False Judgment.

GEORGE the Second, &c. To the Sheriff of S. Greeting: If A. B. shall make you secure in prosecuting his Suit, then in your full County Court do you cause to be recorded the Plea, which is in the said Court, without our Writ, between C. D. and the said A. B. in a certain Trespass upon the Case, to the said C. by the said A. done, &c. whereof the said A. complains that False Judgment is done him in the same Court: And that Record have before our Justices at Westminster, the Day, &c. under your Seal, and the Seals of four legal Men of the said Court, that were present at the making of the said Record; and summons by good Summoners the said C. that he be then there to bear that Record; and have you there the Summoners, &c. and this Writ. Witnesses, &c.

False Latin. Before the late Statute for turning Law Proceedings into English, if a Latin Word was significant, though not good Latin, yet an Indictment, Declaration, or Fine, should not be made void by it: But if the Word was not Latin, nor allowed by the Law, and it were in a material Point, it made the whole vicious. 5 Rep. 121. 2 Nels. 830. Vide Latin.

False Tokens, As where Persons get Money or Goods into their Hands, by forged Letters, or other counterfeit Means, is punishable by Imprisonment, &c. by Stat. 33 H. 8. c. 1. See Counterfeits.

Falsify, Seems to signify as much as to prove a Thing to be false. Perk. 383.

Falsifying a Record. A Person that purchases Land of another, who is afterwards outlawed of Felony, &c. may falsify the Record, not only as to the Time wherein the Felony is supposed to have been committed, but also as to the Point of the Offence: But where a Man is found guilty by Verdict; a Purchaser cannot falsify as to the Offence; though he may for the Time, where the Party is found guilty generally in the Indictment, &c. because the Time is not material upon Evidence. 2 Harok. P. C. 456. And any Judgment given by Persons who had no good Commission to proceed against the Person condemned, may be falsified by shewing the Special Matter, without Writ of Error. Ibid. Also where a Man is attainted of Treason or Felony, if he be afterwards pardoned by Parliament, the Attainder may be falsified, by him or his Heir, without Plea. Ibid.

Falsifying a Recovery. Issue in Tail may falsify a Recovery suffered by Tenant for Life, &c. And it has been held, that a Person may falsify a Recovery had by the Issue in Tail, where an Estate-tail is bound before by a Fine. 2 Nels. Abr. 831. But where there was Tenant for Life, Remainder in Tail, and Reversion in Fee, Tenant for Life suffered a common Recovery, in which he in Remainder was vouched, and the Uses were declared to him, who had the Remainder in Tail; it was adjudged, that by the Recovery all Remainders and Reversions were barred, and that they could not falsify this Recovery. 10 Rep. 43. He in Reversion suffered a common Recovery, and declared the Uses; his Heir shall not falsify it by pleading that his Father had nothing at the Time of the Recovery, because he is estopped to say he is not Tenant to the Præcipe. Godb. 189. An Infant brought an Assise in B. R. Pending which Action the Tenant brought an Assise against the Infant in C. B. for the same Land, and had Judgment by Default, which he pleaded in Bar to the Assise brought by the Infant; who set forth all this Matter in his Replication, and that the Demandant at the Time of the second Writ brought was Tenant of the Land, and prayed that he might falsify this Recovery; and it was held that he might, because he could not have Writ of Error, or Attaint. Godb. 271. 2 Cro. 264. It has been determined, that a Recovery is not so firm, but it may be falsified in Point of Recovery of the Thing itself, between the same Parties. Ibid.

Falsifying a Verdict. Where in any Real Action, there is a Verdict against Tenant in Tail, the Issue can never falsify such Verdict in the Point directly tried; but only in a special Manner, as by saying that some Evidence was omitted, &c. 2 Ld. Raym. 1050.

Falso retorno Breveium, Is a Writ that lieth against the Sheriff who hath Execution of Process, for false Returning of Writs. Reg. Jud. 43.

Familia, Signifies all the Servants belonging to a particular Master; but in another Sense, it is taken for a Portion of Land, sufficient to maintain one Family: It is sometimes mentioned by our Writers to be a Hide of Land, which is also called a Manse; and sometimes Carucata or a Plough-land. Blount.

Fanaticks, Are Persons pretending to be inspired, and being a general Name for Quakers, Anabaptists, and all other Sectaries, and factious Dissenters from the Church of England. Stat. 13 Car. 2. cap. 6.

Fanatio, (Mensis Fanationis) Is the Fawning Season, or Fence-Month in Forests. Kennet's Gloss.

Farandiman, (Sax.) A Traveller or Merchant Stranger, to whom by the Laws of Scotland Justice ought to be done with all Expedition, that his Business or Journey be not hindered. Skene, c. 140.

Fardel of Land, (Fardella Terra) Is generally accounted the Fourth Part of a Yard-Land; but according to Noy, (in his Compleat Lawyer, p. 57.) it is an eighth Part only, for there he says that two Fardels of Land make a Nook, and four Nooks a Yard-Land.

Farding-deal, (Quadrantata Terra) Is the fourth Part of an Acre: And besides Quadrantata Terra, we read of Obolata, Denariata, Solidata, and Librata Terra, which probably arise in Proportion of Quantity from the Farding deal, as an Half-penny, Penny, Shilling, or Pound in Money, rise in Value; and then must Obolata be half an Acre, Denariata an Acre, Solidata twelve Acres, and Librata Terra twelve Score Acres of Land: But some hold Obolata to be but half a Perch, and Denariata a Perch; and I find Viginti Libratae Terra vel redditus, Reg. Orig. 94. 248. whereby it seems that Librata Terra is so much as yields 20s. per Annum. F. N. B. 87. Spelm. Gloss.

Fart, (Sax.) A Voyage or Passage by Water; but more commonly the Money paid for such Passage, in which Sense we now use it. 3 P. & M. cap. 16.

Farleu, Is Money paid by Tenants in the West of England in Lieu of a Heriot: And in some Manors in Devonshire, Farleu is distinguished to be the best Goods; as Heriot is the best Beast, payable at the Death of a Tenant. Corvel.

Farlingarii, Are Whoremongers and Adulterers. Saxon.

Farin, or Ferm, (Lat. Firma, from the Sax. Feorm, i. e. Food, and Feormian to feed or yield Victuals) Signifies a large Messuage and Land, taken by Lease under a certain yearly Rent, payable by the Tenant; and in former Days, about the Time of William the First, called the Conqueror, these Rents were reserved to the Lords in Victuals and other Necessaries arising from the Land; but afterwards in the Reign of King Hen. 1. were altered and converted into Money. Terms de Ley. A Farm is most properly the chief Messuage in a Village; and it is a collective Word, consisting of divers Things gathered into one, as a Messuage, Land, Meadow, Pasture, Wood, Common, &c. Locate ad Firmam is sometimes taken for as much as to let or set to Farm; and the Reason of it may be in Respect of the firm or sure Hold the Tenants thereof have above Tenants at Will. A Farm in Lancashire is called Ferm-holt; in the North a Tack, and in Essex a Wike: And Ferm is taken in various Ways. Plowd. 195.

Farmer, Is he that tenants a Farm, or is Lessee thereof. Terms de Ley. And 'tis said generally every Lessee for Life or Years, although it be but of a small House and Land, is called Farmer, as he is that occupieth the Farm: As this Word implies no Mystery, except it be that of Husbandry, Husbandman is the proper Addition of a Farmer. 2 Hawk. 188. By Statute, no Parson or Spiritual Person may take Farms or Leases of Land, on Pain of forfeiting 10*l.* per Month. 21 Hen. 8. c. 13. And no Person whatsoever shall take above two Farms together, and they to be in the same Parish, under the Penalty of 3*l.* 4*d.* a Week. 25 Hen. 8.

Farthing, Was the fourth Part of a Saxon Penny, as it is now of the English Penny.

Farthing of Gold, (Quasi fourth Thing) A Coin used in ancient Times, containing in Value the fourth Part of a Noble. It is mentioned in the Stat. 9 H. 5. c. 7. where it is ordained, that there shall be good and just Weight of the Noble, Half-Noble, and Farthing of Gold, &c.

Farthing of Land, Seems to differ from Farding-deal; for it is a large Quantity of Land: In a Survey Book of the Manor of West Slapton in Com. Devon. is entered thus: A. B. holds six Farthings of Land at 12*l.* per Annum.

Farthingel of Land, the same with Farding-deal.

Fasting Days, Are Days of Fasting and Humiliation, appointed to be observed by publick Authority. There are fixed Days of Fasting enjoined by our Church, at certain Times in the Year, mentioned in ancient Statutes, particularly the 2 & 3 Ed. 6. c. 19. and 15 Eliz. c. 5. And by 12 Car. 2. c. 14. the 30th of January is ordained to be a Day of Fasting and Repentance, for the Murder of King Charles I. Other Days of Fasting which are not fixed, are occasionally appointed by the King's Proclamation. Though Abstinence from Eating of Flesh is required on those Days, by our Laws; it is made penal to affirm that any Forbearing of Flesh, is necessary to Salvation. 1 Hawk. P. C. 8. See Embring Days.

Fastermans, Among the Saxons were Pledges. Leg. Ed. Confess. cap. 38. Vide Fasting-men.

Fat, or Fatte, Is a large wooden Vessel used by Maltsters and Brewers, for measuring of Malt with Expedition, containing eight Bushels or a Quarter. Stat. 1 H. 5. c. 10. and 11 H. 6. c. 8. It is also a leaden Vessel, or Pan, made use of by Brewers to run their Wort into, and by others for the making of Salt at Droitwich, in the County of Worcester.

Fatua mulier, A Whore. Cum quadam Fatua muliere Nuda in Lecto cum nuda extitit deprehensus. Du Fresne.

Fausctum, A Faucet, Musical Pipe, or Flute.

Organum & decentum Fausctum in divino Officio omnibus nostris, &c. interdiximus.

Fautors, Are Favourers or Supporters of others; Abettors of Crimes, &c.

Feal. The Tenants by Knight Service did swear to their Lords to be Feal and Leal, i. e. to be Faithful and Loyal. Spel. de Parliament 59

Fealty, (Fidelitas, Fr. Feaulte, i. e. Fides) Signifies an Oath taken at the Admittance of every Tenant, to be true to the Lord of whom he holds his Land. And he that holds Lands by the Oath of Fealty, has it in the freest Manner; because all Persons that have Fee, hold per Fidem and judicium, that is, by Fealty at the least. Smith de Repub. Angl. lib. 3. cap. 8. This Fealty, which is used in other Nations, as well as England, at the first Creation of it bound the Tenant to Fidelity; the Breach whereof was the Loss of his Fee. It is usually mentioned with Homage, but differs from it; being an Obligation permanent, which binds for ever: And these differ in the Manner of the Solemnity; for the Oath of Homage is taken by the Tenant kneeling; but that of Fealty is taken standing, and includes the six following Things, viz. 1. Incolome, that he do no bodily Injury to the Lord. 2. Tutum, that he do no secret Damage to him in his House, or any Thing which is for his Defence. 3. Honestum, that he do him no Injury in his Reputation. 4. Utile, that he do no Damage to him in his Possessions. 5. Facile; and 6. Possibile, that he render it easy for the Lord to do any Good, and not make that impossible to be done, which was before in his Power to do: All which is comprised in Leg. Hen. 1. c. 5. Fealty has likewise been divided into General and Special; General, to be performed by every Subject to his Prince; and Special, required only of such as in respect of their Fee, are tied by Oath to their Lords, Grand Custum. Normand. Fealty Special is with us performed either by Freemen, or by Villeins. The Particulars of the Oath of Fealty, as it is used by the Feudists, is well expressed by Zafius, in his Tra. de Feudis, Part 7. Numb. 15, 16. which is worthy comparing with the usual Oath taken here in England. By Stat. 17 Ed. 2. the Form of this Oath is appointed, and as now observed, it runs as follows, viz. I A. B. will be to you my Lord C. True and Faithful, and bear to you Fealty and Faith for the Lands and Tenements which I hold of you; And I will truly do and perform the Customs and Services that I ought to do to you. So help me God. The Oath is admittred by the Lord or his Steward; the Tenant holding his right Hand upon the Book, and repeating after the Lord, &c. the Words of the Oath; and then kissing the Book. Terms de Ley. This Oath is in some Manors neglected; but in Copyhold Manors, where Courts are kept, and Copyhold Estates granted, it is generally used: Lessees for Life, or Years, ought to do Fealty to their Lords, for the Lands they hold; and there can be no Tenure without some Service. Wood's Inst. 183. But a bare Tenant at Will, shall not do Fealty, because he hath no certain Estate; and the Matter of an Oath ought to be certain. Lit. 131, 132. 1 Inst. 93. Fealty is incident to all manner of Tenures, except Frankalmoin and Tenancy at Will. Ibid. Fidelitas est Fidei, obsequii & servitii ligamen quo particulariter Vassalus Domino astringitur. Spelm.

Fasts, Anniversary Times of Feasting and Thanksgiving, as Christmas, Easter, Whitsontide, &c. The four Feasts which our Laws especially take Notice of, are the Feasts of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, of the Nativity of St. John the Baptist, of St. Michael the Archangel, and of St. Thomas the Apostle; on which Quarterly Days, Rent on Leases is usually reserved to be paid. See the Stat. 5 & 6 Ed. 6. 3 Jac. 1. c. 1. 12 Car. 2. c. 30.

Fees of Attornies and Officers, Are Considerations paid and allowed them as a Reward and Recompence for their Pains and Labour; and in respect to Officers, they are granted over and above their Salaries, to excite them to Diligence in executing their Offices. They differ from Wages which are paid to Servants for certain Work and Labour done in a certain Space; whereas Fees are disbursed to Officers, &c. for the transacting of Business which occasionally occurs. If a Client, when his Business in Court is dispatched, refuseth to pay the Officer his Court Fees; the Court on Motion will grant an Attachment against him, on which he shall be committed until the Fees are paid. 1 Lill. Abr. 598. Ecclesiastical Courts have not Power to establish Fees: But if a Person bring a Quantum Meruit in B. R. &c. for Fees, and the Jury find for him, then they become established Fees. 1 Salk. 333. Action of the Case, lies for an Attorney for his Fees, against him that retained him in his Cause: And Attornies are not to be dismissed by their Clients, 'till their Fees are paid. 1 Lill. 142. But Attornies are not to demand more than their just Fees; nor to be allowed Fees to Counsel without Tickets, &c. Stat. 3 Jac. 1. c. 7. An Attorney may have Action of Debt for his Fees, and also of Counsel, and Costs of Suit: But a Solicitor may not bring an Action for Money laid out in Suits, without express Retainer to lay it out, and Promise to pay it. And as a Counsellor is not bound to give Counsel 'till he has his Fee; 'tis said he can have no Action for it: Though it has been held otherwise. F. N. B. 121. 1 Browl. 73. 31 H. 6. 9. There were no Fees due to Sheriffs for executing their Offices, 'till the Stat. 29 Eliz. &c. which allows them Fees for executing Writs of Execution, &c. By the Stat. of Westm. 2. 13 Ed. 1. c. 42 & 44. the ancient Fees of Officers of Courts of Justice were ordained: And by Statutes, not only the Fees of Sheriffs, but of Gaolers, Balliffs, &c. are limited. See Extortion. In an Action of false Imprisonment, it has been adjudg'd that a Bailiff cannot detain a Person arrested for his Fees. 1 Ld. Raym. 4.

Fee-Estate, (Feodum, or Feudum) Fee, comes of the French Fief, i. e. Prædium beneficiarium, vel res clientelaris, or from the Sax. Feb, viz. Merces, Stipendium, quasi dicitur status Beneficiarius; it is said to be that Estate which we hold by the Benefit of another, and for which we do Service or pay Rent to the chief Lord; and is applied to all those Lands and Tenements which are held by perpetual Right, by an Acknowledgment of any Superiority to a higher Lord. The Writers on this Subject, divide all Lands wherein a Man hath a perpetual Estate to him and his Heirs, into Allodium and Feudum: Allodium they define to be every Man's Land, &c. which he possesseth merely in his own Right, without Acknowledgment of Service or Payment of any Rent to another; and this is a Property in the highest Degree: But Feudum is such Land as is held of another, for which Service is done or Rent is paid, as an Acknowledgment thereof. All the Land in England, except the Crown-Lands in the King's own Hands in Right of his Crown, are in the Nature of Feudum, or Fee; for though many have Lands by Descent from their Ancestors, and others have bought Land, it cannot come to any either by Descent or Purchase, but with the Burden that was laid upon him who had Novel Fee, or first of all received it from his Lord; so that there is no Person hath Directum Dominium, i. e. the very Property of Demain in any Land but the King, in Right of his Crown: And notwithstanding he that hath Fee, hath jus perpetuum & utile Dominium, yet he owes a Duty for it, and therefore it is not simply his own; and he that can say most of his Estate, saith thus: I am seised of this or that Land or Tenement, in my Demain, as of Fee; seifitus inde in Dominico meo ut de Feodo, which is as much as if he said, it is my Demain or proper Land to me and my Heirs for ever; but yet I hold it in Nature of a Benefit of and from another. Camb. Britan. 93. All that write de Feudis, hold that Feudatarius hath not an entire Property in his Fee: And as Fee cannot be without Fealty, sworn to a Superior, the Lands of the Crown are not properly Fee; for no Man may grant that our King or Crown oweth Fealty to any Superior on Earth. The Word Fee is sometimes used for the Compass or Circuit of a Lordship or Manor, as we say the Lord of the Fee, &c. as well as the particular Estate of the Tenant:

And also for a perpetual Right Incorporal; as to have the Keeping of Prisons, &c. in Fee. Brad. Lib. 2. cap. 5. Old Nat. Br. 41. And when a Rent or Annuity is granted to one and his Heirs, it is a Fee Personal. 1 Inst. 1, 2. Fee is commonly divided into Fee Absolute, otherwise called Fee-Simple; and Fee Conditional, termed otherwise Fee-Tail. Fee-Simple (Feodum simplex) is where a Man hath Lands or Tenements, to hold to him and his Heirs for ever: Fee-Tail is an Estate whereof one is seised with Limitation, to him and the Heirs of his Body, &c. Litt. 14, 16. All Estates at the Common Law were Fee-Simple; and all other Estates and Interests are derived out of it, wherefore there must be a Fee-Simple at last in some Body. Lit. 647. To have Fee-Simple implies that it is without Limitation to what Heirs, but to Heirs generally: Though it may be limited by Act of Parliament. 4 Inst. 206. It is the Word Heirs makes the Inheritance; and a Man cannot have a greater Estate. Lit. 1. And a Fee-Simple may not come after a Fee-Simple; nor can a Remainder, it being an absolute Estate, so that nothing can come after it. Dyer 33. If one give or grant Land to J. S. and his Heirs; and if he die without Heirs, that J. D. shall have it to him and his Heirs: By this J. S. hath a Fee Simple, and J. D. will have no Estate. Dyer 4, 33. Where Land is given or granted by Fine, Deed, or Will, in Possession, Reversion, or Remainder, to another and his Heirs; it will be a Fee-Simple. Plowd. 134. And if Land be granted to a Man and his Heirs, Habendum to him for Life only, and Livery of Seisin is made; it is a Fee-Simple Estate, because a Fee is expressed in the Grant. 2 Rep. 23. A Lease is granted to one for a Term of Years, and after that the Lessee shall have the Land to him and his Heirs, by the Rent of 10*l.* a Year; if the Grantor makes Livery upon it, 'tis a Fee-Simple: Otherwise but for Years. 1 Inst. 217. Where Lands are granted to A. for Life, Remainder to B. for Life, the Remainder to the right Heirs of A. here A. hath a Fee Simple. 20 Hen. 6. 35. Bro. Est. 34, 35. A Gift or Grant is to a Man's Wife during Life, after to him in Tail, and after to his right Heirs; he will have a Fee-Simple Estate. 2 Rep. 91. If Lands are granted to a Man and his Successors, this creates no Fee Simple: But if such a Grant be made to a Corporation, it is a Fee Simple; and in Case of a sole Corporation, as a Bishop, Parson, &c. a Fee-Simple is to them and their Successors. Wood 119. An Estate is granted to a Person, to hold to him for ever, or to him and his Assigns for ever, is only an Estate for Life; the Word Heirs being wanting to make it Fee-Simple: But in Wills, which are more favoured than Grants, the Fee-Simple and Inheritance may pass without the Word Heirs. 1 Inst. 19. 9. And by Deed of Feoffment a Fee Simple may be created, which would be an Estate-Tail by Will; as where Lands are given to another, and his Heirs Male, &c. without the Word Body. Hob. 32. A Gift to a Man and his Children, and their Heirs, is a Fee-Simple to all that are living; though if Land is given to a Man and his Heir, in the singular Number, it is but an Estate for Life, and the Heir cannot take by Descent, he being but one, and therefore it is said shall take nothing. 1 Inst. 8 Lit. Rep. 6. A Fee Simple determinable upon a Contingency, is a Fee to all Intents; though not so durable as absolute Fee. Vaugh. 273. In pleading Estates in Fee-Simple, they may be generally alledged, but the Commencement of Estates-Tail, and other particular Estates, must regularly be shewed. 1 Inst. 303. The Fee Simple Estate, being the chief and most excellent; therefore he who hath it in Lands or Tenements, may give, grant, or charge the same by Deed or Will at his Pleasure; or he may make Waste or Spoil upon it: And if he bind himself and his his Heirs to Warranty; or for Money by Obligation, or otherwise; and leaving such Land to the Heir, it shall be charged with the Warranty and Debts: Also the Wife of a Man that is seized of such an Estate, shall be endowed; and the Husband of a Woman having this Estate, be Tenant by the Courtesy. Co. Lit. 273. Dyer 330. Perk. Sect. 236. Though Fee-Simple is the most ample Estate of Inheritance, it is subject to many Incumbrances; as Judgments, Statutes, Mortgages, Fines, Jointures, Dower, &c. And there is a Fee-Simple Conditional, where the Estate is defeasible by not performing the Condition; and a Qualified Fee-Simple, which may be defeated by a Limitation, &c. This is called a Base Fee, upon which no Reversion or Remainder can be expectant. 1 Inst. 18. 10 Rep. 97. See Discent, Executory Devise, Wills.

Fee Expectant, (Feudum Expectativum.) See Expectant.

Fee-Farm, (Feudi Firma) Is when the Lord upon Creation of the Tenancy, reserves to himself and his Heirs, either the Rent for which it was before let to Farm, or was reasonably worth, or at least a fourth Part of the Value; without Homage, Fealty or other Services, beyond what are especially comprised in the Feoffment. 2 Inst. 44. By Fitzherbert, a third Part of the yearly Value of the Land may be appointed for the Rent, where Lands are granted in Fee Farm, &c. F. N. B. 210. And my Lord Coke says, Fee-Farm Rents may be one Half, a Third, or fourth Part of the Value. Co. Lit. 143. Though these Fee-Farm Rents seem to be more or less according to the Conditions or Consideration of the Purchase of the Lands out of which they are issuing. It is the Nature of Fee-Farm, that if the Rent be behind and unpaid for the Space of two Years, then the Feoffor or his Heirs may bring an Action to recover the Lands, &c. Brit. cap. 66. num. 4.

Fee-Farm Rents of the Crown. The Fee-Farm Rents remaining to the Kings of England from their Ancient Demesnes; were many of them alienated from the Crown in the Reign of King Charles 2. And by Stat. 22 Car. 2. c. 6. the King was enabled by Letters Patent, to grant Fee-Farm Rents due in Right of his Crown, or in Right of his Duchies of Lancaster and Cornwall, except Quit-Rents, &c. to Trustees to make Sale thereof, and the Trustees were to convey the same by Bargain and Sale to Purchasers, &c. who may recover the same as the King might. But it has been observed, that Men were to very doubtful of the Title to Alienations of this Nature, that whilst these Rents were exposed to Sale for ready Money, scarce any would deal for them, and they remained unsold; till what made Men earnest to buy them, was the Stop upon some of his Majesty's other Payments, which occasioned Persons to resort to this as the most eligible in that Conjunction: No Tenant in Tail of any of the said Rents, is enabled to bar the Remainder. 23 & 23 Car. 2. cap. 24. On the Taxing of Fee-Farm Rents, Receivers, &c. were to allow to the Persons paying them so much in the Pound as the Land-Tax amounts to. Stat. 9 & 10 W. 3. c. 18.

Felagus, (Quasi fidei cum eo ligatus) A Companion but particularly a Friend, who was bound in the Decenary for the good Behaviour of another. In the Laws of King Ina, it is said, if a Murderer could not be found, &c. the Parents of the Person slain should have six Marks, and the King forty; if he had no Parents, then the Lord should have it. Et si Dominus non haberet, Felagus ejus. LL. Inz. cap. 15.

Feld, Is a Saxon Word, signifying Field; and in its Compound it signifies Wild, as Feld-Honey, is Wild Honey, &c. Bloant.

Felic Homagers, Were faithful Subjects, from the Sax. Fai, i. e. Fides.

Felo de se, One that commits Felony or lays violent Hands upon himself, and is the Occasion of his own untimely Death. When a Person with Deliberation and direct Purpose kills himself, by Hanging, Drowning, Shooting, Stabbing, &c. this is Felo de se; but the Person that commits this Felony, must be of the Age of Discretion, and Compos Mentis: And therefore if an Infant under sixteen Years of Age, or a Lunatick during his Lunacy, or one distracted by a Disease, or an Ideot, kills himself, it is not Felony, 3 Inst. 44. Dalt. eb. 145. Also if a Person during the Time that he is Non Compos Mentis giveth himself a mortal Wound, though he dieth thereof when he recovers his Memory; he is not Felo de se, because at the Time of the Stroke he was not Compos Mentis. Dalt. 342, 344. And he who desires and persuades another Man to kill him, is not a Felo de se; his Assent being void in Law, and the Person killing him a Murderer. Kelw. 136. It is Felo de se where a Man maliciously attempts to kill another, and falls upon his Sword, &c. whereby he kills himself; but he must be the only Agent. 1 H. P. C. 68. A Felo de se shall forfeit all his Goods and Chattels Real and Personal; but not until it is lawfully found by the Oath of twelve Men, before the Coroner super visum Corporis, that he is Felo de se. 3 Inst. 55. By the Return of the Inquisition, the Goods, &c. are vested in the King: Though it hath been said, that the Goods of a Felo de se are forfeited before Inquisition, viz. immediately upon committing the Fact. 1 Lev. 8. But see 5 Rep. 110. where it is adjudged that they are not forfeited till it is found of Record. The Lands of Inheritance of a Felo de se are not forfeited, by Reason he was not attainted in his Life-time; nor is such a Person's Wife barred of Dower, or his Blood corrupted. 1 Hawk. 68. If a Judgment is obtained by a Plaintiff in any Action, and the Plaintiff hangs himself, so as to become Felo de se, the Debt is forfeited to the King. 1 Salk. 96. 2 Nels. Abr. 840. Goods are forfeited to the King by a Felo de se, for the Loss of a Subject, and Breach of the Peace. 1 Plowd. 261. But these Forfeitures are oftentimes saved, by the Coroner's Jury finding these Verdicts Lunacy; to which they are inclinable on a favourable Interpretation, that it is impossible for a Man in his Senses to do a Thing contrary to Nature; but if this Argument be good, Self-Murder can be no Crime, because a Madman cannot be guilty of any Crime. 1 Hawk. 67. If a Person Felo de se is secretly made away with, that the Coroner cannot view the Body; Presentment is to be made of it by Justices of Peace, &c. to entitle the King to the Forfeiture of Goods. 5 Rep. 110. Where a Person is found Felo de se, who on Account of Lunacy, &c. ought not to be so; or where one is returned Non Compos, when in Truth the Party is Felo de se, &c. if there be no Fault in the Coroner, or Incertainty in the Inquisition, a Melius Inquirendum will not be granted; but the Inquisition is traversable in B. R. 3 Mod. 238. 2 Nels. Abr. 840. Although there can be no Melius Inquirendum, 'tis said the Court may order an Indictment to be against the Felo de se; and if that be found, his Goods shall be forfeited. 1 Lill. Abr. 601. A Pardon of Murder, doth not pardon Felo de se; but a Pardon of all Felonies and Forfeitures doth. By Custom and Practice, the Bodies of Felo de se's are buried in the Highway, &c.

Felons Goods. The Statute de Prerogativa Regis, 17 Ed. 2. c. 1. grants to the King, among other Things the Goods of Felons and Fugitives. If the King grant to a Man and his Heirs Felons Goods, the Grantee cannot devise them, &c. on the Statute 32 H. 8. because they are not of an yearly Value; but where a Person is seized of a Manor, to which they are appendant, it is otherwise, for they will pass as appurtenant. 3 Rep. 32. A Person committed to Prison on Suspicion of Felony, having the Money taken taken from him which he had about him before Conviction, brought an Action of Trespass for seizing his Money, &c. on the Stat. 1 R. 3. c. 3. by which it is enacted, that no Person shall take the Goods of another, &c. Raym. 414. 2 Nelf. 839. See Flight.

Felony, (Felonia, Fr. Felonnie) As Sir Edward Coke tells us, is derived from the Latin Word Fel, or from the old Sax. Fell, one signifying Gall, and the other Fiery; and his Reason is, because either of these Words are suitable to the Crime, which is always intended to be done with a bitter or fierce Mind: But the learned Spelman gives a different Account of the Derivation of this Word, that it comes from the Saxon Word Feab, which signified a Reward or Estate, and the German Lon, which in English is Price; and this was formerly a Crime punished with the Price, viz. the Loss of Estate. And before the Reign of K. H. 1. Felonies were punished by Pecuniary Fines, for he was the first who ordered Felons to be hanged, about the Year 1108. The Judgment against a Man for Felony hath been the same since the Reign of this King, i. e. That he be hanged by the Neck till Dead; which is entered suspendatur per Collum, &c. 4 Inst. 124. Felony was anciently every Capital Crime perpetrated with an evil Intention: All Capital Offences by the Common Law came generally under the Title of Felony; and could be expressed by no Word but Felonia, which must of Necessity be laid in an Indictment of Felony. 1 Inst. 391. It is always accompanied with an evil Intention; and therefore shall not be imputed to any Misadversion: But the bare Intention to commit a Felony is so very Criminal, that at the Common Law it was punishable as Felony, where it missed of its Effect through some Accident; and as our Law now is, the Party may be severely fined for such an Intention. 1 Hawk. P. C. 65. Felony is included in High Treason. H. P. C. 11. We account any Offence Felony, that is in Degree next Petit Treason; and, at this Day Felony includes Petit Treason, Murder, Homicide, Sodomy, Rape, Burning of Houses, Burglary, Robbery, Breach of Prison, Releasement and Escape, after one is imprisoned or arrested for Felony, &c. It is either, by the Common Law, or by Statute: Felony by the Common Law is against the Life of a Man, as Murder, Manslaughter, Felo de se, Se Defendendo, &c. Against a Man's Goods, such as Larceny, and Robbery; Against his Habitation, as Burglary, Arson or House-burning; and against Publick Justice, as Breach of Prison; 3 Inst. 31. Piracy, Robbery, or Murder upon the Sea, are Felonies punishable by the Civil Law; and likewise by Statute: And Felonies by Statute are very numerous. Med. Just. 180. Felony is distinguished from lighter Offences, in that the Punishment of it is Death; but not always, for Petit Larceny is Felony, and the Indictment against such an Offender must run, Felonia cepit, yet it is not punished by Death, though it be Loss of Goods: And of Felonies in general, there are two Sorts; one which for the first Offence is allowed Clergy, and another that is not; but Clergy is granted where it is not expressly taken away by Statute. Staudf. lib. 1. Felony is punished with Loss of Life, and of Lands, not entailed, Goods and Chattels; but the Statutes make a Difference in some Cases concerning Lands, as the 37 H. 8. c. 6. And Felony ordinarily works Corruption of Blood; unless a Statute making an Offence Felony, ordains it shall be otherwise, as some Statutes do. The Punishment of a Person for Felony, by our ancient Books, is, 1st, To lose his Life. 2dly, To lose his Blood, as to his Ancestry, and so as to have neither Heir nor Posterity. 3dly, To lose his Goods. 4thly, To lose his Lands; and the King shall have Annun, Diem Et Vastum, to the Intent that his Wife and Children be cast out of the House, his House pulled down, and all that he had for his Comfort or Delight destroyed. 4 Rep. 124. A Felony by Statute incidently implies, that the Offender shall be subject to the like Attainder and Forfeiture, &c. as is incident to a Felon at Common Law. 3 Inst. 47, 59, 90. And when Persons are to undergo Judgment of Life and Member for any Crime by Statute, it is Felony thereby, whether the Word Felony be mentioned or not. 1 Hawk. 107. All Felonies are several, and cannot be joint; so that a Pardon of one Felon, cannot discharge another: But the Felony of one Man may be dependant upon that of another, and the Pardon of the one by a necessary Consequence enure to the Benefit of the other, as in Cases of Principal and Accessary, &c. 2 Hawk. P. C. 387, 380. Private Persons may arrest Felons by their own Authority; or by Warrant from a Justice of Peace: And every private Person is bound to assist an Officer to take Felons, &c. 2 Hawk. 75. And if a Person be brought before a Justice upon Suspicion of Felony, where a Felony is committed, though it appears on Examination that he is not guilty, yet it is said he is not to be discharged without Trial. Lamb. 229. But one ought not to be arrested upon Suspicion of Felony, except there be probabilis Causa shewed for the Ground of the Suspicion. 1 Lill. Abr. 603. If a Felony is not done by a Man, but some Person else, if another hath probable Cause to suspect he is the Felon, and accordingly doth arrest him, this is lawful, and may be justified: But to make good such Justification, there must be in Fact a Felony committed by some Person, without which there can be no Ground of Suspicion. 2 Hale's Hist. P. C. 78. A private Man arresting one for Felony, cannot justify Breaking Doors, to take the Party suspected; but he doth it at his Peril, viz. if in Truth he be a Felon, it is justifiable; but if innocent, then it is not: To prevent a Murder or Manslaughter, private Persons may break Doors open. 2 Hale Ibid. 82. Officers may break open a House to take a Felon, or any Person justly suspected of Felony; and if an Officer hath a Warrant to take a Felon, who is killed in resisting, it is not Felony in the Officer; but if the Officer is killed, it is otherwise. Dalt. 289. Persons indicted of Felony, &c. where there are strong Presumptions and Circumstances of Guilt, are not repleviable; but for Larceny, &c. when Persons are committed who are of good Reputation, they may be bailed. 2 Hawk. 101. If one be committed to Prison for one Felony, the Justices of Gaol-Delivery may try him for another Felony, for which he was not committed, by Virtue of their Commission. 1 Lill. 602. A Felon refusing to plead, and put himself upon his Trial, shall be put to the Penance of Paine fort Et Dure, &c. If a Felon stands Mute by the Act of God, the Felony is to be inquired of by Jury, and whether the Prisoner be the same Person, and all other Matters in the same Manner as if the Criminal had pleaded. 2 Hawk. 327. And it may be inquired of by Inquest of Office, whether he do so of Malice, or by the Act of God. Ibid. Where a married Woman commits Felony, in Company with her Husband, it shall be presumed to be done by his Command, and she shall be excused. 3 Inst. 310. If a Man's Horse be going into the Ground of another, and he takes it Fello Animo, not as Damage-Feasant, it is no Finding, but Felony: But if A's Sheep stray into the Flock of B. and he drives the same along with his Flock, or by Mistake shears him, this is not a Felony; though if he knew it to be another Person's, and marks it with his Mark, it is an Evidence of Felony. 1 Hale's Hist. P. C. 506. Where one steals another's Goods, and a third Person feloniously takes them from him; he is a Felon as to both the others. And when there is a Pretence of Title to Things unlawfully taken, it may be only a Trick to colour Felony; and the ordinary Discovery of a felonious Intent is, if the Party doth it secretly, or being charged with the Goods denies it. Ibid. 507, 509.

But the judges have the power to bail.

509. If a Person to whom Goods are delivered on a pretended Buying them, runs away with them; it is Felony: And a Guest stealing Plate set before him at an Inn, &c. is Felony; also Persons who have the Charge of Things, as a Servant of a Chamber, &c. may be guilty of Felony: And the least Removing of a Thing in Attempts of Felony, is Felony, though it be not carried off. 3 Inst. 308. Raym. 275. But Goods must not be of a base Nature; such as Dogs, &c. nor Fera Nature, as Deer, Hares, &c. except they be made tame, when it will be Felony to steal them. If any Turkeys, Geese, Poultry, Fish in a Trunk, &c. are taken away, it is Felony. 3 Inst. 309, 310. Stealing of tame Peacocks, is Felony; so of Herons, and young Hawks in their Nests: 'Tis otherwise of Pheasants, Partridges, Conies, &c. although they be so kept that they cannot escape; if they be not reclaimed, and known. Jenk. Cent. 204. As to Cats, Dogs, Monkeys, and the like; though it be no Felony to take them, Trespas lies for them. Jenk. Ibid.

fence, Is a Hedge, Ditch, or other Inclosure of Land for the better Manurance and Improvement of the same. And where a Hedge, and Ditch join together, in whose Ground or Side the Hedge is, to the Owner of that Land belongs the keeping of the same Hedge or Fence, and the Ditch adjoining to it on the other Side, in Repair and scoured. Par. Offic. 188. An Action of the Case or Trespass lies, for not repairing of Fences, whereby Cattle come into the Ground of another and do Damage. 1 Salk. 335. Also it is presentable in the Court-Baron, &c. Vide Approvement. Stat. 13 Ed. 1.

fence-Month, (Mensis Prohibitionis, or Mensis Vetus) Is a Month wherein Female Deer in Forests, &c. do favon, and therefore it is unlawful to hunt in Forests during that Time; which begins fifteen Days before Midsummer, and ends fifteen Days after it, being in all thirty Days. Marw. Part 2. cap. 13. Stat. 20 Car. 2. c. 3. Some ancient Foresters call this Month the Defence-Month, because then the Deer are to be defended from being disturbed, and the Interruptions of Fear and Danger; as there are certain Defence-Months for Fish, particularly Salmons, as appears by the Stat. Westm. 2. c. 47, &c. Serjeant Fleetwood saith, that the Fence-Month hath been always kept with Watch and Ward, in every Bailiwick through the whole Forest, since the Time of Canutus. Fleetwood's Forest Laws, p. 5.

fengeld, (Sax.) A Tax or Imposition exacted for the repelling of Enemies. — Pecunia vel Tributum ad arcendos Hostes erogatum. MS. Antiq.

fens, (Paludes) Are low marshy Grounds, or Lakes for Water; for the Draining whereof in this Kingdom, several Statutes have been enacted. The Statutes 4 Jac. 1. cap. 8 & 13. make Provision for draining and securing from Inundation the drowned Grounds and Marshes of Lesnefs and Fanti in Kent; and the Fens and low Grounds in the Isle of Ely. The 15 Car. 2. c. 17. appoints William, Earl of Bedford, and other Adventurers, a Corporation, for the draining of Bedford Level in Bedfordshire, consisting of a Governor, Bailiffs and Conservators, &c. who have Power to lay and levy Taxes within the great Level of the Fens; and also to erect Works within the same, for carrying the Water to the Sea, making Satisfaction to the Owners of Lands for Injury received; and throwing down any of the said Works, incurs treble Damages, &c. By 16 & 17 Car. 2. cap. 11. Deeping Fens, &c. in Lincolnshire, are to be drained from Water; and Edward Earl of Manchester, and several others are declared Undertakers thereof, on certain Trusts, with Power to erect Banks, Bridges, Drains, Locks, Sluices, &c. for Recovery of the said Fens; and Assessees of Lands held by the Adventurers under the Trusts, may hold Assemblies for making of By-Laws, for the Management of the Works of Draining; they may charge the Owners of the Land by an Acre Tax, &c. and on Default of Payment, sell the Defaulters Lands, &c. The 11 Geo. 2. c. 34. ordains that Commissioners shall be appointed to put this Act in Execution, for effectual Draining and Preserving of the Fens in the Isle of Ely, in Cambridgeshire; who are authorised to make Drains, Dams, &c. and proper Works thereon: And the said Commissioners may charge Proprietors with a proportionable Acre-Tax, viz. for Waterden Fen, at the Rate of 5 s. and Redmoor, Cavalle Fen, and the Holls, at 2 s. an Acre by the Year, for four Years; and afterwards at an yearly Rate, not exceeding 1 s. 6 d. per Acre; they may likewise borrow Money for maintaining and effecting the Works, by assigning over the Duties: Persons obstructing the Draining, to forfeit 100 l. and if any Person shall burn any of the Engines erected, he shall be imprisoned three Years; and being convicted again of the like Offence, to be guilty of Felony. And for raising Money, for Draining and future Preservation of Deeping Fens, a Rate of 20 s. an Acre is to be paid, by all the Taxable Land-Owners, according to Agreement of the Proprietors; levied by Distress of Goods, or Sale of Defaulters Lands; which may be also mortgaged to raise the Money, &c. by 11 Geo. 2. c. 39. By the Stat. 21 Geo. 2. c. 18. Commissioners are appointed for draining and preserving certain Fen-Lands in the several Parishes of Mancy, Upwell, Welney, Downham, Witcbam, and in a certain Extraparochial Place in Byal Fen, within the Isle of Ely, and County of Cambridge, who may make an Assessment of 1 s. 6 d. per Acre yearly, on which they may borrow Money, with like Powers, Authorities and Directions as in Stat. 11 Geo. 2. c. 34. see Stat. 22 Geo. 2. c. 11, 16, 19. as to Fen-Lands in the Parishes of Sutton, Mepal, Witcbam, Chatteris, Doddington, Somersham, Upwel, Outwel, Demer, Welney, Whittlesey and Padley with Fenton in Ely, Cambridge and Huntingdon.

feod or feud, Is defined to be a Right which a Vassal hath in Lands, or some immoveable Thing of his Lord's, to use the same, and take the Profits thereof hereditarily; rendering unto the Lord such Feodal Duties and Services as belong to Military Tenure, &c. and the Property of the Soil always remaining to the Lord. Spelm. of Tenures, cap. 1.

feodal, (Feodalis, vel Feudalis) Of or belonging to the Fee. Stat. 12 Car. 2. c. 24.

feodality, Fealty paid to the Lord by his Feodal Tenant. — Fecit Feodalitatem suam, prout decet, dicto Domino. Cartular. Rading. MS.

feodary or feudary, (Feudatarius) An Officer of the Court of Wards, appointed by the Master of that Court, by Virtue of the Statutes 32 Hen. 8. cap. 26. whose Business it was to be present with the Escheator in every County at the finding of Offices of Lands, and to give in Evidence for the King as well concerning the Value as the Tenure; and his Office was also to survey the Lands of the Ward, after the Office found, and to rate it. He did likewise assign the King's Widows their Dowers; and receive all the Rents of Wards Lands within his Circuit, which he answered to the Receiver of the Court. This Office seems to be wholly taken away by Stat. 12 Car. 2. c. 24.

feodatary, Was the Tenant who held his Estate by Feodal Service: And Grantees, to whom Lands in Feud or Fee were granted by a superior Lord, were sometimes called Homagers; and in some Writings are termed Vassals, Feuds and Feodataries. See Feuds.

feodum Militis, a Knight's Fee: Feodum Laicum, a Lay Fee, or Land held in Fee of a Lay Lord. Kennet's Gloss.

feoffment, (Feoffamentum, from the Gothick Word Feodum, and signifies Donationem Feudi) Is a Gift or Grant of any Manors, Messuages, Lands or Tenements, to another in Fee, to him and his Heirs for ever, by the Delivery of Seisin and Possession of the Thing given or granted: And in every Feoffment, the Giver or Grantor is called the Feoffor, and he that receives by Virtue thereof, is the Feoffee. Littleton saith, the proper Difference between a Feoffor and a Donor, is, that the one gives in Fee simple, the other in Fee-Tail. Litt. lib. 1. c. 6. Accompl. Conv. 1 Vol. 71. The Deed of Feoffment is our most ancient Conveyance of Lands: And in Records we often find Fees given to Knights under the Phrases of De veteri Feoffamento, and De novo Feoffamento; the first whereof were such Lands as were given or granted by King Henry I. And the others, such as were granted after the Death of the said King, since the Beginning of the Reign of Henry II. At Common Law the usual Conveyance was by Feoffment, to which Livery and Seisin was necessary, the Possession being thereby given to the Feoffee; but if Livery and Seisin could not be made, by Reason there was a Tenant in Possession, the Reversion was granted, and the particular Tenant attorned. 1 Inst. 9, 49. And a Feoffment is said in some Respects to excel the Conveyance by Fine and Recovery; it clearing all Disseisins, Abatements, Intrusions, and other wrongful Estates, which no other Conveyance doth: And for that it is so solemnly and publickly made, it has been of all other Conveyances the most observed. West. Symb. 235. Plowd. 554. It bars the Feoffor of all collateral Benefit, as Conditions, Powers of Revocation, Writs of Error, &c. and destroys contingent Uses. 1 Inst. 5. But a Feoffment may not be of such Things whereof Livery and Seisin may not be made; for no Deed of Feoffment is good to pass an Estate without Livery of Seisin; and if either of the Parties die before Livery, the Feoffment is void. Plowd. 214, 219. Though where a Feme Feoffor made a Feoffment of Lands with Livery in View, and then married the Feoffee before the Livery was executed by actual Entry; it was adjudged the Livery might be executed after Marriage, the Feoffee having not only an Authority to enter, but an Interest passed by the Livery in View, and the Woman did all on her Part to be done. 1 Vent. 186. There must be Livery of Seisin in all Feoffments, and Gifts, &c. where a corporal Inheritance or Freehold doth pass: And without Livery, the Deed is no Feoffment, Gift or Demise. Litt. 59. 8 Rep. 82. But a Freehold may pass without Livery by the Stat. 27 H. 8. c. 10. By Force of which Statute, a Feoffment to the Use of the Feoffor, Feoffee, &c. supplies the Place of Livery and Seisin. Wood's Inst. 239. A Feoffment being a Common Law Conveyance, and executed by Livery, makes a Transmutation of Estate; but a Conveyance on the Statute of Uses, as a Covenant to stand seised, &c. makes only a Transmutation of Possession, and not of Estate. 2 Lev. 77. 1 Vent. 378. A Feoffment to the Use of A. for Life, the Remainder to B. If A. refuses to take the Estate, B. shall take presently, because the whole Estate is out of the Feoffor by Livery; But if it had been by Covenant to stand seised, he should not have taken till after the Death of A. but it would rest in the Covenantor, who shall have the Use in the mean Time. 2 Lev. 77. 1 Leon. Ca. 279. Before the Stat. Westm. 3. If a Man had made Feoffment in Fee, without declaring any Use, it should have been to the Use of the Feoffee; though now by that Statute, where no Consideration or Declaration of Use is expressed, it shall go to the Feoffor himself. 2 Leon. 15, 16. If I convey Lands by Feoffment, which I have on the Part of the Mother, to J. S. and his Heirs, without Consideration; the Use will be void, and the Land shall return again to me and my Heirs on the Part of the Mother: Yet if I declare the Use to me and my Heirs, or upon such Feoffment reserve a Rent in like Manner, it shall go to my Heirs at the Common Law, it being a new Thing divided from the Land. Hob. 31. Co. Lit. 13, 231. 1 Rep. 100. Dyer 134. Where a Man makes a Feoffment, without any Consideration; by that the Estate and Possession passes, but not the Use, which shall descend to his Heir. 1 Leon. 182. A Feoffment in Fee is made to the Use of such Persons, and for such Estates, as the Feoffor shall appoint by his Will, or to the Use of the Last Will; by Operation of Law the Use vests in the Feoffor, and he is seised of a qualified Fee, viz. until he makes his Will, and declares the Uses; and after the Will is made, it is only directory, for nothing passes by it but all by the Feoffment. 6 Rep. 18. Moor 567. A Feoffment in Fee, upon Condition, &c. was inrolled, but no Livery made; and it was adjudged no good Feoffment, but the Inrollment shall conclude the Person to say that it was not his Deed. Poph. 6. 2 Nels. Abr. 844. If a Bargain and Sale of Lands be not inrolled, and the Bargainor deliver Livery and Seisin of the Lands secundum formam Chartae, &c. it has been held a good Feoffment. 2 And. 68. A Feoffment in Fee made upon Condition not to alien, the Condition is void; because tis repugnant to the Estate; but if Livery is had, the Feoffment will be good against the Feoffor: And a Bond with Condition that the Feoffee shall not alien, is said to be good. 1 Co. Inst. 206. 2 Cro. 596. If a Man makes a Feoffment of Lands on Condition, that the Feoffee shall give the Lands to the Feoffor and his Wife in Special Tail, Remainder to the Heirs of the Feoffor; and he dies before such Gift is made, the Feoffee ought to make it as near the Intent of the Condition as may be, viz. to the Wife without Impeachment of Waste, Remainder to the Heirs of the Body of her Husband, on her Body begotten, and Remainder to the Husband's right Heirs. In Case the Feoffor and his Wife both die, the Feoffee then should make the Estate to the Issue, and Heirs of the Body of his Father and Mother begotten, Remainder to the Right Heirs of the Husband or Father. 1 Inst. 219, 220. Tenant in Tail makes a Feoffment in Fee; the Inheritance of the Tail is not given to the Feoffee by the Feoffment, nor is he thereby Tenant in Tail; for none shall be Tenant in Tail but he only who is comprehended in the Gift made by the Donor. But it gives away all the immediate Estate the Feoffor had. Plowd. 562. Hob. 335. If Lessee for Life, and the Reversioner in Fee, make a Feoffment in Fee by Deed, each gives his Estate; the Lessee his by Livery, and the Fee from him in Remainder. 6 Rep. 15. Lill. Abr. 609. A Feoffment was made Habendum to the Feoffee and his Heirs, after the Death of the Feoffor, and Livery was made; yet it was held to be a void Feoffment, for an Estate of Freehold in Lands cannot begin at a Day to come: But where a Lessor made a Lease for Lives, and granted the Reversion to another for Life, whose Estate for Life was to begin after the Death of the Survivor of the other Lessees for Life, this was adjudged a good Estate in Reversion for Life. Hob. 171. 1 Nels. Abr. 846. If a Man be disseised, and makes a Deed of Feoffment, and a Letter of Attorney to enter and take Possession of the Land, and afterwards to make Livery, according to the Form of the Charter, it will be a good Feoffment, though he was out of Possession at the Time of the Deed made; for the Feoffment takes Effect by the Livery, and not by the Deed. Co. Lit. 48, 52. And if the Husband alone make a Feoffment of his Wife's Land, or of both their Lands, his Wife being on the Land, and disagreeing to it; this will be good against all Persons but the Wife: Also so it is, if one Jointenant make a Deed of Feoffment of the whole Land, his Companion being then upon it: Or if a Man disseise me of my Lands, and then enfeoff another thereof whilst I am upon the Land, &c. Perk. Sett. 219, 220. A Feoffment may be of a Messuage, Land, Meadow, Pasture, or other corporal Thing; and of a Moiety, Third, or Fourth Part of it, that lies in Livery: And in Deeds of Feoffment, there must be a good Feoffor, that is, one able to grant the Thing conveyed by the Deed; a Feoffee capable to take it; and a Thing grantable, and granted in the Manner the Law requireth. 1 Inst. 42, 49, 190. Every Gift of Feoffment of Lands made by Fraud or Maintenance, shall be void; and the Disseisee notwithstanding such Alienation, shall recover against the first Disseisor his Land and double Damages; provided he commence his Suit in a Year after the Disseisin, and that the Feoffor be Pernor of the Profits. Stat. 1 R. 2. c. 9. See 11 H. 6. c. 3. A Deed of Feoffment is always applied to a corporeal and immovable Thing: And is made by the Words, have Granted, Bargained, Enfeoffed, &c. The Way of pleading a Feoffment is thus, viz. That A. B.

was seised in Fee of the Place where, &c. and being so seised, Feoffavit quendam C. D. inter alia per nomina omnium, &c. babend. & tenend. diſt. Tenementa, &c. preſat. C. D. & hæredibus ſuis in perpetuum ad ſolum opus & uſum, &c. 3 Salk. 165.

Form of a Deed of Feoffment of Lands.

THIS Indenture made, &c. Between A. B. of, &c. of the one Part, and C. D. of, &c. of the other Part, Witneſſeth, That the ſaid A. B. for and in Conſideration of the Sum of Five hundred Pounds of lawful Money of Great Britain, to him in Hand paid by the ſaid C. D. the Receipt whereof the ſaid A. B. doth hereby confeſs and acknowledge, and for other good Cauſes and Conſiderations him thereunto moving, be the ſaid A. B. hath granted, bargained and ſold, aliened, enfeoffed, releaſed, and confirmed, and by theſe Preſents doth grant, bargain, and ſell, alien, enfeoff, &c. unto the ſaid C. D. his Heirs and Aſſigns for ever, All that Meſſuage or Tenement ſituate, &c. now in the Poſſeſſion of, &c. and alſo the Reverſion and Reveriſions, Remainder and Remainders, Rents and Services thereof; and all the Eſtate, Right, Title, Intereſt, Claim and Demand whatſoever of him the ſaid A. B. of, in and to the ſame Premiſſes, and of, in and to every Part and Parcel thereof; To have and to hold the ſaid Meſſuage, and all and ſingular the Premiſſes above mentioned, with the Appurtenances, unto the ſaid C. D. his Heirs and Aſſigns, to the only proper Uſe and Beboof of him the ſaid C. D. his Heirs and Aſſigns for ever; under the yearly Rent of Four-pence; Or, to be holden of the Chief Lord or Lords of the Fee of the Premiſſes by the Rents and Services therefore due and of Right accuſtomed. And the ſaid A. B. for himſelf, his Heirs and Aſſigns, doth covenant and grant to and with the ſaid C. D. his Heirs and Aſſigns, that the ſaid A. B. now is lawfully and rightfully ſeised in his own Right of a good, ſure, perfect, abſolute and indeſeizable Eſtate of Inheritance in Fee-ſimple, of and in all and ſingular the ſaid Meſſuage and Premiſſes above-mentioned, and of every Part and Parcel thereof, with the Appurtenances, without any Manner of Condition, Mortgage, Limitation of Uſe or Uſes, or other Matter, Cauſe or Thing, to alter, change, charge or determine the ſame: And alſo that be the ſaid A. B. now hath good Right, full Power, and lawful Authority in his own Right to grant, bargain, ſell and convey the ſaid Meſſuage and Premiſſes above-mentioned, with the Appurtenances, unto the ſaid C. D. his Heirs and Aſſigns, to the only proper Uſe and Beboof of the ſaid C. D. his Heirs and Aſſigns for ever, according to the true Intent and Meaning of theſe Preſents. And alſo that be the ſaid C. D. his Heirs and Aſſigns, ſhall and may from Time to Time, and at all Times hereafter, peaceably and quietly have, hold, occupy, poſſeſs and enjoy all and ſingular the ſaid Premiſſes above-mentioned, to be hereby granted, with the Appurtenances, without the Let, Trouble, Hindrance, Moleſtation, Interruption and Denial of him the ſaid A. B. his Heirs or Aſſigns, and of all and every other Perſon and Perſons whatſoever, claiming or to claim by, from or under him, them, or any of them. And further, that be the ſaid A. B. and his Heirs, and all and every other Perſon and Perſons, and his and their Heirs, any Thing having or claiming in the ſaid Meſſuage and Premiſſes above mentioned, or any Part thereof, by, from or under him, ſhall and will at all Times hereafter, at the Requeſt and Coſts of the ſaid C. D. his Heirs or Aſſigns, make, do, and execute, or cauſe or procure to be made, done and executed, all and every further and other lawful and reaſonable Grants, Acts and Aſſurances in the Law whatſoever, for the further, better, and more perfect Granting, Conveying, and Aſſuring of the ſaid Premiſſes hereby granted, with the Appurtenances, unto the ſaid C. D. his Heirs and Aſſigns, to the only proper Uſe and Beboof of the ſaid C. D. his Heirs and Aſſigns for ever, according to the true Intent and Meaning of theſe Preſents, and to and for none other Uſe, Intent or Purpose whatſoever. And laſtly, the ſaid A. B. hath made, ordained, conſtituted and appointed, and by theſe Preſents doth make, ordain, conſtitute and appoint E. F. of, &c. and G. H. of, &c. his true and lawful Attornies jointly, and either of them ſeverally, for him and in his Name, into the ſaid Meſſuage and Premiſſes, with the Appurtenances hereby granted and conveyed, or mentioned to be granted and conveyed, or into ſome Part thereof, in the Name of the whole, to enter, and full and peaceable Poſſeſſion and Seizin thereof for him, and in his Name, to take and have; and after ſuch Poſſeſſion and Seizin ſo thereof taken and had, the like full and peaceable Poſſeſſion and Seizin thereof, or of ſome Part thereof, in the Name of the Whole, unto the ſaid C. D. or to his certain Attorney or Attornies in that Behalf, to give and deliver; To hold to him the ſaid C. D. his Heirs and Aſſigns for ever, according to the Purport, true Intent and Meaning of theſe Preſents, ratifying, confirming and allowing all and whatſoever his ſaid Attornies, or either of them, ſhall do in the Premiſſes. In Witneſs, &c.

Feræ Naturæ, In our Law ſignifies Beaſts and Birds that are wild, in Oppoſition to the Tame; ſuch as Hares, Foxes, Wild Geefe, and the like, wherein no Man may claim a Property. 2 Cro. 293.

Ferrandus, An Iron Colour, particularly applied to Horſes, which we at this Time call an Iron Gray.

Ferry, A Liberty by Preſcription of the King's Grant, to have a Boat for Paſſage upon a River, for Carriage of Horſes and Men for reaſonable Toll: It is uſually to croſs a large River. Terms de Ley. A Ferry is no more than a common Highway; and no Action will lie for one's being disturbed in his Passage, unless he alledge some particular Damage, &c. 3 Mod. Rep. 294. The not keeping up a Ferry, has been held to be indictable. See Bridge.

Ferſpeken, To ſpeak ſuddenly. — Nemo poteſt placitare, &c. nec cogi debet Reſum ejus Ferſpeken de omnibus cauſis, &c. Leg. H. 1. c. 61.

Feſta in Cappis, Were ſome grand Holy-Days, in which the whole Choirs and Cathedrals wore Caps. Vitzæ Abbat. S. Alban. p. 80, 83.

Feftingmen. The Sax. Fefningman ſignifies a Surety or Pledge; and to be free of Feftingmen, was probably to be free of Frank-pledge, and not bound for any Man's Forth-coming, who ſhould tranſgreſs the Law. Mon. Angl. Tom. 1. p. 123.

Fefting-Penny, Earnelt given to Servants when hired or retained in Service, ſo called in ſome Northern Parts of England, from the Sax. Fefnian, to faſten or confirm.

Fefſum, A Feaſt; Fefſum S. Michaelis, the Feaſt of St. Michael, &c.

Fefſum Stultoꝝum, The Feaſt of Fools. See Caput anni.

Feud, (Feida) Signifies in the German Tongue Guerram, Lat. Bellum; and according to Lambard, Capitales Inimicitias: And Feud uſed in Scotland is a Combination of Kindred for revenging the Death of any of their Blood againſt the Killer, and all his Race; or any other great Enemy. Skene.

Feudbote, A Recompence for Engaging in a Feud, and the Damages conſequent; it having been the Cuſtom in ancient Times, for all the Kindred to ingage in their Kinſman's Quarrel. Sax. Diſ.

Feuds, (Feoda) Eſtates in Lands were originally at Will, and then they were called Munera; afterwards they were for Life, and then they were termed Beneficia, and for that Reaſon the Livings of Clergymen are ſo called at this Day; and afterwards they were made Hereditary, when they were called Feoda, and in our Law Fee ſimple. Rel. Spel. 9. When Hugh Caput uſurped the Kingdom of France, about the Year 947. to ſupport himſelf in ſuch Uſurpation, he granted to the Nobility and Gentry, that whereaſs till then they enjoyed their Houours for Life, or at Will only, they ſhould from thenceforth hold them to them and their Heirs; which was imitated by William called The Conqueror, upon his Acceſſion to the Crown of England, for till his Reign Feuds or Fees were not hereditary, but only for Life, or for ſome determinate Time. 3 Salk. 165.

Feudal and Feudary. See Feodal and Feudary.

Fiat, In our Law, is a ſhort Order or Warrant of ſome Judge for making out and allowing certain Proceſſes, &c. If a Certiorari be taken out in Vacation, and teſted of the precedent Term, the Fiat for it muſt be ſigned by a Judge of the Court, ſome Time before the Eſſoin-Day of the ſubſequent Term, otherwiſe it will be irregular: But it is ſaid there is no need for any Judge to ſign the Writ of Certiorari itſelf; but only where it is required by Statute. 1 Salk. 150. 2 Hawk. 289.

Fiat Juſtitia. On a Petition to the King, for his Warrant to bring a Writ of Error in Parliament, he writes on the Top of the Petition Fiat Juſtitia, and then the Writ of Error is made out, &c. And when the King is Petitioned to redreſs a Wrong, he indorſes upon the Petition Let Right be done the Party. Dyer 385. Stamf. Prærog. Reg. 22.

Fiction of Law, (Fictio Juris) Is allowed of in ſeveral Caſes: But it muſt be framed, according to the Rules of Law; not what is imaginable in the Conceptions of Man; and there ought to be Equity and Poſſibility in every legal Fiction. There are many of theſe Fictions in the Civil Law; and by ſome Civilians, it is ſaid to be an Aſſumption of Law upon an Untruth, for a Truth, in ſomething poſſible to be done, but not done. Godolphin & Bartol. The Seiſin of the Conuſee in a Fine is but a Fiction in our Law; it being an invented Form of Conveyance only. 1 Lill. Abr. 610. And a Common Recovery is Fictio Juris, a formal Act or Device by Conſent, where a Man is deſirous to cut off an Eſtate-tail, Remainders, &c. 10 Rep. 42. By Fiction of Law, a Bond made beyond Sea, may be pleaded to be made in the Place where abroad, in Iſlington in the County of Middleſex, &c. to try the ſame here; without which it cannot be done. 1 Inſt. 261. And ſo it is in ſome other Caſes; but the Law ought not to be ſatisfied with Fictions, where it may be otherwiſe really ſatisfied; and Fictions in Law ſhall not be carried farther, than the Reaſons which introduce them neceſſarily require. 1 Lill. Abr. 610. 2 Hawk. 320.

Fidem mentiri, Is when a Tenant doth not keep that Faith which he hath ſworn to the Lord. Leg. H. 1. c. 53.

Fief, Which we call Fee, is in other Countries the contrary to Chattels: In Germany, certain Diſtricts or Territories are called Fiefs; where there are Fiefs of the Empire.

Fieri factas, Is a judicial Writ, given by the Statute of Weſtm. 2. 13 Ed. 1. that lies where Judgment is had for Debt or Damages recovered in the King's Courts againſt any Man; by which Writ the Sheriff is commanded to levy the Debt and Damages of the Goods and Chattels of the Defendant, &c. Old Nat. Br. 152. This Writ is to be ſued out within a Year and a Day after the Judgment; or the Judgment muſt be revived by Scire facias: But if a Fieri facias be not executed, a ſecond Fieri facias or Elegit may be ſued out; and 'tis ſaid ſome Years after, without a Scire facias, provided Continuances are entered from the firſt Fi. fa. which 'tis alſo held may be entered after the ſecond Fi. fa. taken out, unleſs a Rule is made that Proceedings ſhall ſtay, &c. Sid. 59. 2 Nelf. Abr. 776. If a Man recover Debt againſt A. B. and levy Part of it by Fieri facias, and this Writ is returned; yet he may take his Body in Execution by Capias for the reſt of the Debt. Roll. Abr. 904. The Sheriff on a Fieri facias is to do his beſt Endeavours to levy the Money upon the Goods and Chattels of the Defendant; and for that Purpoſe to inquire after his Goods, &c. And the Plaintiff may inquire and ſearch if he can find any, and give Notice thereof to the Sheriff, who ex officio is to take and ſell them if he can, or if not, by a Writ of Venditioni Exponas. 2 Shep. Abr. 111. There may be a Teſtatum fieri facias into another County, if the Defendant hath not Goods enough in the County where the Action is laid to ſatisfy the Execution; and the Fieri facias for the Ground of the Teſtatum, may be returned of Courſe by the Attornies, as Originals are. 2 Salk. 589. If all the Money is not levied on a Fieri facias, the Writ muſt be returned before a ſecond Execution can be iſſued; becauſe it is to be grounded on the firſt Writ, by reciting that all the Money was not levied. 1 Salk. 318. Where the Sheriff levies Goods by Fieri facias, and doth not return the Writ, and afterwards another Fieri facias is brought to levy the Money, the Defendant may plead this Matter. Godb. 171. And where the Sheriff ſells Goods which he levied by Fieri facias, and doth not pay the Money, Action of Debt will lie againſt him; for the Defendant is diſcharged as to the Plaintiff, and the Sheriff is now become his Debtor in Law; and if the Sheriff die after he hath levied the Debt, the like Action will lie againſt his Executors, as it is a Duty when levied. Morb. Rep. 13. Cro. Car. 387. If a Sheriff that hath ſeiſed Goods by Fieri facias is going out of his Office, he muſt deliver them to the new Sheriff, and return his Writ executed pro tanto; and he ought not to deliver them to the Owner, by Reaſon the Writ of Execution is warranted by a Record, and therefore the Diſcharge thereof muſt appear by Record. Telv. 44.

Upon a Fieri facias the Sheriff returned, that he had levied Goods ad valentiam of the Debt; the Return being filed, a Motion was made that he might bring in the Money, which not being done an Attachment was granted, and then the Sheriff appeared and prayed so amend the Return, for that the Goods were damaged by Lying, and he could not get Buyers; but it was adjudged that the Return shall not be altered, for he might have returned this at first by Way of Excuse; and having returned that he had levied Goods ad valentiam, he shall pay the Money. Sid. 407. The Sheriff may sell the Goods on a Fieri facias, and take the Money; though he cannot take the Money upon a Capias satisfaciend. that writ not warranting him to do it. Lut. 588. But the Sheriff cannot deliver the Goods by him taken in Execution to the Plaintiff, in Satisfaction of his Debt; because his Authority is to sell the Goods. Ibid. 589. 1 Lill. Abr. 611. And if a Sheriff sells the Goods taken by Fieri facias at under Price, the Sale is good, and the Defendant can have no Remedy; though where there appears to be Covin between the Sheriff and the Buyer, the Owner shall have his Action upon the Case. Kelw. 64. A Sheriff took Goods in Execution upon a Fieri facias, whereupon a Stranger promised the Officer to pay him the Debt, in Consideration he would restore them; on Indebitatus Assumpsit brought for the Money, it was objected upon a Demurrer, that it was ill, for that it was like a Consideration to suffer a Prisoner to escape; but it was held, that as upon a Fieri facias Goods are to be sold by the Sheriff, and the Writ is to raise the Money, this is no more in Effect than a Sale for that Purpose. 1 Salk. 28. On a Fieri facias the Sheriff has Power to take any Thing, but wearing Clothes; and if the Defendant hath two Gowns, &c. 'tis said he may sell one. If the Sheriff executes a Writ of Fieri facias, he may afterwards return Nulla Bona, upon there appearing a prerogative Writ subsequent; or on better Information, that Goods taken were not the Defendant's. Comb. 356, 452. By the Seizure of the Goods, the Sheriff hath a Property in them; but Goods of a Stranger, &c. in the Possession of the Defendant shall not be seized in Execution; for the Sheriff at his Peril must take Notice whose Goods they are: Though if the Sheriff inquires by a Jury, where the Property is lodged, and it is found that they are the Defendant's Goods, when they are not, this will indemnify the Sheriff. Dalt. Sher. 60. Wood's Inst. 608. The Sheriff cannot break open the Door of an House to execute a Fieri facias upon the Goods of the Owner or Occupier; but a Man's House shall be a Protection for his own Goods only, and not for the Goods of another. 5 Rep. 91. 2 Nelf. Abr. 775. If the Defendant is a beneficed Clergyman, and the Sheriff returns Quod est Clericus beneficiatus, &c. a Writ shall go to the Bishop of the Diocese to levy the Debt De bonis Ecclesiasticis, who thereupon sends forth a Sequestration of the Profits of the Clerk's Benefice, directed to the Churchwardens, &c. But this Writ of Sequestration must be renewed every Term. 2 Inst. 4, 472, 627. By Virtue of a Fieri facias a Term for Years may be sold, as well as any other Goods, and without an Inquest or Jury: Also Corn growing may be sold. 8 Rep. 96. 1 Roll. Abr. 892. And if the Sheriff on a Fieri facias, &c. selleth a Term for Years, and after that the Judgment is reversed; the Term shall not be restored, but the Money for which it is sold. 8 Rep. 141. A Term is sold on an Execution by Fieri Facias; the Sale of the Term is good, tho' the Judgment be reversed, and Restitution shall be only of the Money: But where a Term is delivered to the Plaintiff upon an Elegit, and then the Elegit is reversed, Restitution shall be of the Term. Cro. Jac. 246. When upon a Fieri facias the Sheriff sells a Term, reciting it falsely, as to its Commencement and Ending, &c. the Sale is void, because there is no such Term: Yet if he recites it generally, and being of divers Years yet to come, sells all the Interest which the Defendant had in the Land, the Sale will be good. 4 Rep. 74. If an Execution is sued on a Fi. fa. and the Defendant dies before it is executed, it may be served on the Defendant's Goods in the Hands of his Executor or Administrator. Cro. Eliz. 181. Two Fieri facias's are delivered the same Day to the Sheriff against the same Person; he is bound to execute that first which was first delivered; and if he executes the last first, he must answer it to the Party who brought the first, who may bring an Action against him; but the Execution shall stand good. 1 Salk. 330. A Man had a Judgment for Debt against another, and on a Fi. fa. the Sheriff took his Goods in Execution, but the Plaintiff suffered the Goods to remain in the Hands of the Debtor, and would not let the Sheriff proceed any further: A. B. having also a Judgment against this Debtor, on a Fieri facias, seized upon the same Goods, and it was held good, for the former was a fraudulent Execution. Farest. Rep. 37, 38. On a Writ of Fieri facias against one Partner, the Sheriff may take the Goods of both; yet the Vendee shall have only a Moiety thereof in Common with the other. Comb. 207. By the Common Law Goods were bound from the Day of the Tasse of the Writ; but by Stat. 29 Car. 2. they are bound only from the Time of Delivery thereof, &c. Ibid. The Sheriff having taken Goods, and levied the Money by Virtue of a Fieri facias, ought to bring it into Court. Godb. 147. See Execution.

Form of a Writ of Fieri facias.

GEORGE the Second, &c. We Command you, that you cause to be made of the Goods and Chattels of C. D. (if on a Bond, say, otherwise called, &c.) in your Bailiwick, one hundred Pounds, which A. B. lately in our Court before us at Westminster, recovered against him for a Debt; and also the Sum, &c. which were awarded to the said A. B. in our same Court before us, for his Damages which he hath sustained, occasioned as well by the Detaining of the said Debt, as for his Expences and Costs by him laid out in and about his Suit in that Behalf, whereof the said C. D. is convicted, as appears to us of Record; and have you the Money before us at Westminster on the Day, &c. next after, &c. (so b a Return) to render to the said A. B. his Debt and Damages aforesaid: And have you then there this Writ. Witness, &c.

Fifteenths, Were a Tribute or Imposition of Money, laid generally upon Cities, Boroughs, &c. through the whole Realm; so called, because it amounts to a Fifteenth Part of that which each City or Town hath been anciently valued at, or a Fifteenth of every Man's personal Estate according to a reasonable Valuation. And every Town knew what was a Fifteenth Part, which was always the same; whereas a Subsidy raised on every particular Man's Lands or Goods, was adjudged uncertain: And in that Regard the Fifteenth seems to have been a Rate formerly laid upon every Town; according to the Land or Circuit belonging to it. Camd. Brit. 171. There are certain Rates mentioned in Domesday, for levying this Tribute yearly; but since, though the Rate be certain, it is not to be levied but by Parliament. By 31 Ed. 3. c. 13. a Fifteenth was granted, for Pardons, &c. The 7 Ed. 6. c. 4. granted a Subsidy and two *Fifteenth*s by the Temporality, &c. And in the 1, 5, &c. Eliz. and 1, 3 & 18 Jac. 1. *Fifteenth*s and Tenths were granted for Maintaining the Wars, &c.

Fighting and Quarrelling, Is prohibited by Statute, in a Church or Church yard, &c. on Pain of Excommunication, and other corporal Punishment. Stat. 5 & 6 Ed. 6. c. 4. See Church.

Fighting,

Fightwite, (Sax.) Signifies a Mulct for Fighting or Making a Quarrel to the Disturbance of the Peace. — Mulctā ob Commissam pugnam in Perturbationem Pacis: In exercitu Regis 120 sol. luebatur Fightwita, i. v. Forisfactura pugnae. MS. Codex.

Filacet or Filizet, (Filixarius, from the Lat. Filium) Is an Officer of the Court of Common Pleas, called by this Name, as he files those Writs whereon he makes out Process. There are fourteen of these Filizers in their several Divisions and Counties; and they make forth all Writs and Processes upon original Writs, issuing out of the Chancery, as well real, as personal and mixed, returnable in that Court: And in Actions merely Personal, where the Defendants are returned summoned, they make out Pones or Attachments; which being returned and executed, if the Defendant appears not, they make forth a Distingas, and so ad Infinitum, or until he doth appear: If he be returned Nilil, then Process of Capias infinite, &c. They enter all Appearances and Special Bails, upon any Process made by them: And make the first Scire fac. on special Bails, Writs of Habeas Corpus, Distingas nuper Viccomitem vel Ballivum, and all Superfedeas's upon Special Bail: In real Actions, Writs of View, of Grand and Petit Cape, of Witbernam, &c. Also Writs of Ad Journment of a Term, in Case of publick Disturbance, &c. And until an Order of Court, 14 Jac. 1. they entered Declarations, Imparances and Pleas, and made out Writs of Execution, and divers other judicial Writs, after Appearance: But that Order limited their Proceedings to all Matters before Appearance, and the Prothonotaries to all after. The Filizers of the Common Pleas have been Officers of that Court before the Stat. 10 H. 6. c. 4. wherein they are mentioned; And in the King's Bench, of later Times there have been Filizers, who make out Process upon original Writs returnable in that Court, on Actions contra Pacem, &c.

File, (Filacium) A Thread, String or Wire, upon which Writs, and other Exhibits in Courts and Offices are fastened or filed, for the more safe Keeping and ready Turning to the same. A File is a Record of the Court; and the Filing of Process of a Court, makes it a Record of it. 1 Lill. 112. An original Writ may be filed after Judgment given in the Cause, if sued forth before; Declarations, &c. are to be filed: And Affidavits must be filed, some before read in Court; and some presently when read in Court. Ibid. 113. Before Filing, a Record removed by Certiorari, the Justices of B. R. may refuse to receive it, if it appears to be for Delay, &c. and remand it back for the Expedition of Justice: But if the Certiorari be once filed, the Proceedings below cannot be revived. 2 Hawk. 7, 207. An Indictment, &c. cannot be amended after filed.

Field-Me or Fieldale; A Kind of Drinking in the Field, by Bailiffs of Hundreds; for which they gathered Money of the Inhabitants of the Hundred to which they belonged: But it has been long since prohibited. Bract. 4 Inft. 307.

Filicetum, Signifies a Ferny Ground, — Ubi Filices crescunt. 1 Inft. 4.

Filiolus, Is properly a little Son, also a Godson. — Filiolus quem de sacro Fonte suscepit. Dugd. Warwicksh. 697.

Filum Aquæ, Is the Thread or Middle of the Stream, where a River parts two Lordships: Et habebunt istas Buttas usque ad Filum Aquæ prædictæ. Ex Reg. Priorat. de Wormley, fol. 5. Mon. Angl. Tom. 1. f. 390. File du Mer, the high Tide of the Sea. Ros. Parl. 11 H. 4.

Finders, Are mentioned in several ancient Statutes, and seem to be the same with those which we now call Searchers; who are employed for the Discovery of Goods imported or exported, without paying Custom. Stat. 18 Ed. 3. 14 R. 2. c. 10. 1 H. 4. c. 13, &c.

Fine, (Finis) Is a final Agreement or Conveyance upon Record, for the Settling and Assuring of Lands and Tenements, acknowledged in the King's Court by the Cognisor to be the Right of the Cognitee. Accomp. Convey. 1 Vol. 89. This Word hath divers Uses or Significations; but it is most commonly, Amicabilis Compositio & Finalis Concordia, ex consensu & Licentia Domini Regis vel ejus Justiciariorum, or a Covenant made before Justices and entered of Record for Conveyance of Lands, Tenements or any Thing inheritable, to cut off all Controversies: Et. Finis dicitur Finalis Concordia quia finem litibus imponit. Glanv. lib. 8. c. 1. Bract. lib. 5. A Fine was anciently a Determination of a real Controversy; but now it is generally a feigned Action upon a Writ of Covenant, &c. and supposes a Controversy where in Reality there is none, to secure the Title that a Man hath in his Estate against all Men; or to cut off Intails, and with more Certainty convey the Title of Lands, &c. either in Fee-simple, Fee-tail, for Life or Years; whereupon also a Rent may be reserved. West's Symb. par. 2. Originally the final Concord was instituted and allowed, in Regard that by the Law and ancient Course of Proceedings, no Plaintiff could agree without Licence of the Court: And Fines have been formerly had in personal Actions; but Time hath wrought other Uses of them, viz. to cut off Intails, and pais the Inheritance of Lands, though the same be not controverted, to whom we think good; and a Fine may be levied on a Writ of Right, &c. in any real Action, though not on an Original in a personal Action; and the Common Writ of Covenant on which a Fine is levied, is not a personal but a real Action. As a Fine is a Concord acknowledged before a competent Judge, touching Hereditaments or Things immoveable, and for its better Credit imputed to be made in the Presence of the King, because levied in his Court; therefore it binds Women covert, being Parties, and others whom ordinarily the Law disables to act; for this Reason, that all Presumption of Deceit is excluded, where the King and his Court of Justice are supposed to be privy to what is transacted. And Fines are now levied in the Court of Common Pleas at Westminster, on Account of the Solemnity thereof, ordained by the Stat. 18 Ed. 1. before which Time they were sometimes levied in the Eschequer, in the County Courts, Courts-Baron, &c. They may be acknowledged before the Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, as well in as out of Court; and two of the Justices of the same Court, have Power to take them in open Court: Also Justices of Assize may do it by the general Words of their Patent or Commission; but they do not usually certify them without a special Writ of Dedimus Potestatem. 2 Inft. 512. Dyer 224. The King by Patent or Commission, with a Non obstante, may give Power to A. and B. Justices of Assize in a Circuit, when A. is not a Judge of either of the Benches, only a Serjeant at Law, &c. to take the Cognizance of all Fines conjunctim & separatim; and upon such a Commission, the Cognizance of a Fine taken by A. will be good, without any Dedimus Potestatem sued out before or after it. Jenk. Cent. 227. And Fines are also taken by Commissioners in the Country, impowered by Dedimus Potestatem; one whereof named must be a Knight; and the Writ of Dedimus doth surmise, that the Parties who are to acknowledge the Fine are not able to travel to Westminster for the Doing thereof: These Commissions general and Special, issue out of the Chancery. By the Common Law all Fines were levied in Court: But the Stat. 15 Ed. 2. allows the Dedimus Potestatem to Commissioners, who may be punished for Abuses, and the Fines taken before them set aside: And it is said an Information may be brought by him in Reversion against Commissioners, who take the Caption of a Fine, where a married Woman, &c. is an Infant. 3 Lev. 36. In the Levying of Fines in Court, a Pleader shall say Sir Justice conge d' Accorder, &c. i. e. he desires leave to Accord or Agree: And when the Sum for the King's Fine is agreed, after Proclamation and Crying the Peace, the Pleader shall repeat the Substance of the Fine, &c. Stat. de Finibus, 18 Ed. 1. Touching the Form of Fines, it is to be considered upon what Writ or Action the Concord is to be made; and there must first pass a Pair of Indentures between the Cognisor and Cognisee, whereby the Cognisor covenants to pass a Fine to the Cognisee of such Things, by a Time limited; and these Indentures preceding the Fine, are said to lead the Uses of the Fine: But by the Stat. 4 & 5 Ann. the Uses of a Fine, &c. may be declared after the Fine levied, and be good in Law. Upon this the Writ of Covenant is brought by the Cognisee against the Cognisor, who then yields to pass the Fine before the Judge; and so the Acknowledgment being recorded, the Cognisor and his Heirs are presently concluded, and all Strangers (not excepted) after five Years past; and if the Writ whereon the Fine is grounded, be not a Writ of Covenant, which is usual, but of Warrantia Chartæ, or a Writ of Right, or of Customs and Services, &c. then the Writ is to be served upon the Party that is to acknowledge the Fine; and he appearing doth it accordingly. West. Sess. 23. Dyer 179. By Stat. a final Concord cannot be levied in the King's Court, without original Writ, &c. And when a Fine is passed, it is to be in the Presence of the Parties, who are to be of full Age, good Memory, &c. And if a Feme Covert be one, she is to be privately examined if she consent freely; for if she doth not, the Fine cannot be levied. Stat. 18 Ed. 1. A Fine after the Ingrossing is to be openly read and proclaimed in the Court of C. B. and a Transcript to be sent to the Justices of Assise, and another to the Justices of the Peace of the County where the Land lieth, to be openly proclaimed there; which being certified, concludes all Persons; Feme Coverts, Persons under Age, in Prison, &c. excepted; if they lay not Claim by Way of Action or Entry in five Years: Persons out of the Land, or Non sanæ Memoræ, &c. have that Time after their Imperfections are removed. 1 R. 3. c. 7. And by subsequent Acts, Fines after Ingrossing are to be proclaimed in Court the same Term, and the three next Terms, formerly four several Days in each Term; but of late only once in the Term wherein ingrossed, and once in each of the succeeding Terms. 4 H. 7. 31 Eliz. c. 2. The Day and Year of acknowledging a Fine, and Warrant of Attorney for the Suffering a Recovery, are to be certified with the Concord: And an Office hath been erected for the Inrolment of Writs for Fines, &c. the Fees whereof are limited and appointed; likewise the Chirographer the first Day of every Term is to fix in the Court of C. B. a Table containing the Fines passed in the Term before in every County, &c. by 23 Eliz. c. 3. There are in every Fine five Parts, viz. 1st, An original Writ, usually a Writ of Covenant. 2. The Licentia Concordandi, or King's Licence, for which the King hath a Fine called the King's Silver. 3. The Concord itself, containing the Agreement between the Parties how the Land, &c. shall pass, being the Foundation and Substance of the Fine; it begins, Et est concordia talis, &c. 4. The Note of the Fine, or Abstract of the original Contract. 5. The Foot of the Fine, which includes all, setting forth the Day, Year, and Place and before what Justices the Concord was made, &c. Of this there are Indentures made forth in the Office, which is called the Ingrossing of the Fine; and it beginneth thus, Hæc est finalis Concordia facta in Curia Domini Regis apud Westm. a die Paschæ in quindecim dies anno, &c. 2 Inft. 511, 517. 'Tis said, the Concord being the compleat Fine, it shall be adjudged a Fine of that Term in which the Concord was made, and the Writ of Covenant returnable. 1 Salk. 341. A Concord cannot be of any Thing but what is contained in the Writ of Covenant: And the Note of the Fine remaining with the Chirographer, it hath been held, est Principale Recordum. 3 Leon. 234. As to Fines, there are various Kinds: They are either with Proclamations, or without; that with Proclamations, is termed a Fine according to the Statutes 1 R. 3. c. 7. and 4 H. 7. c. 24. And such a Fine is every Fine, that is pleaded, intended to be, if it be not shewed what Fine it is: And these Fines are the best Sort, and most used; also if there be Error in the Proclamations, it shall be taken as a good Fine at Common Law. 3 Rep. 86. A Fine may stand, though the Proclamations according to the Statute are made irregularly; for Fines are Matter of Record, and remain in Substance and Form as they were before. Plowd 265. If Tenant in Tail levies a Fine, and dies before all the Proclamations are made, though the Right of the Estate tail descends upon the Issue, immediately on the Death of the Ancestor; yet if Proclamations are made afterwards, such Right shall be barred by the Fine, by the Statutes 4 H. 7. and 32 H. 8. 3 Rep. 84. The Fine without Proclamations is called a Fine at the Common Law, being levied in such Manner as was used before the Stat. 4 H. 7. c. 24. and is still of the like Force by the Common Law, to discontinue the Estate of the Cognisor, if the Fine be executed. A Fine also with or without Proclamations is either executed or executory: A Fine executed is such a Fine as of its own Force gives present Possession to the Cognisee, without any Writ of Seisin to enter on the Lands, &c. as a Fine sur Cognissance de Droit come ceo; and in some Respects a Fine sur Release, &c. is said to be executed. A Fine executory doth not execute the Possession in the Cognisee, without Entry or Action, but requires a Writ of Seisin; as the Fine sur Conuissance de Droit tantum, &c. unless the Party be in Possession of the Lands; for if he be in Possession at the Time of levying the Fine, there need not be any such Writ, or any Execution of the Fine; and then the Fine will enure by Way of Extinguishment of Right, not altering the Estate or Possession of the Cognisee, however it may better it. West. Sess. 20. Fines are likewise single or double; Single, where an Estate is granted by the Cognisor to the Cognisee, and nothing is thereby rendered back again from the Cognisee to the Cognisor. The double Fine is that which doth contain a Grant or Render back again from the Cognisee, of the Land itself; or of some Rent, Common, or other Thing out of it, and by which Remainders are limited, &c. West. Sess. 21, 30. And a Fine is sometimes called a double Fine, when the Lands lie in several Counties. Fines are further divided into four Sorts, viz. A Fine sur Cognissance de Droit come ceo, &c. A Fine sur Done Grant & Render; a Fine sur Cognissance de Droit tantum; and a Fine sur Concessit: The Fine sur Cognissance de Droit come ceo is a single Fine levied with Proclamations, according to the Stat. 4 H. 7. And it is the principal and surest Kind of Fine, it being said to be executed, because it gives present Possession (at least in Law) to the Cognisee, so that he needs no Writ of Hab. fac. Seisinam, or other Means for Execution thereof; for it admits the Possession of the Lands of which the Fine is levied to pass by the Fine, so that the Cognisee may enter, and the Estate is thereby in him, to such Uses as are declared in the Deed to lead the Uses thereof: But if it be not declared by Deed to what Use the Fine was levied, such Fine shall be to the Use of the Cognisor that levied the same. 2 Inft. 513. If the Cognisee of a Fine levied of Lands, do pay Money unto the Cognisor at the Time of the Fine levied, and there is no Use declared of the Fine, the Law will continue the Fine to the Use of the Cognisee: And if there be no Money paid by the Cognisee, nor any Use declared, the Fine shall enure to the Cognisor that levied it. Pasch. 23 Car. B. R. Where a Fine is levied to the Use of two Persons in Tail, &c. in Consideration of Marriage, though the Deed to lead its Uses do not mention any Marriage had between them, yet it hath been adjudged that the Estate tail is executed before Marriage; for the Fine doth carry the Uses, and they are perfected by the Fine, notwithstanding ing the Consideration is perfected afterwards; but without a Fine, the Marriage must be had, before any Use could arise. 1 Leon. 138. If a Feme Covert alone declares the Uses of a Fine intended to be levied by Husband and Wife of her Land, and the Husband alone declares other Uses; it hath been held that both Declarations of Uses are void, and the Use shall follow the Ownership of the Lands: But in another Case it was determined that the Uses declared by the Wife were void; and the Uses declared by the Husband, good only against himself, during the Coverture. 2 Rep. 56. If Husband and Wife levy a Fine of the Lands of the Wife, and he alone declares the Uses, this shall bind the Wife, if her Dissent doth not appear; because otherwise it shall be intended that she did consent. Ibid. 59. Though there be a Variance between a Deed declaring Uses, and the Fine levied; yet if nothing appears to the contrary, such Fine by Construction of Law shall be to the Uses declared in the Deed, and which is Evidence thereof: And where a Fine varies from a former Description, it has been held that a new Deed made after, will declare the Uses of the Fine. 1 Ld. Raym. 289, 290. 'Tis said not to be absolutely necessary, to insert the Word Use, in the Declaration of Uses of Fines; for any Words which shew the Intent of the Parties will be sufficient. Ibid. A Fine sur Conuzance de Droit come ceo, &c. may not be levied to any Person but one that is Party to the Writ of Covenant, though a Vouchee, after he hath entered into the Warranty to the Demandant, it is said may confess the Action, or levy a Fine to the Demandant, for he is then supposed to be Tenant of the Land, though he is not a Party to the Writ; and yet a Fine levied by the Vouchee to a Stranger, is void. No single Fine can be with a Remainder over to another Person not contained in it: But if A. levy a Fine to B. Sur Conuzance de Droit come ceo, and B. by the same Concord grants back the Land again to A. for Life, Remainder to E. the Wife of A. for her Life, Remainder to A. and his Heirs; this will be a good Fine. Plowd. 248, 249. A Fine sur Done Grant & Render, is a double Fine, being in a Manner two Fines, i. e. A Fine Sur Conuzance de Droit come ceo, &c. and a Fine sur Concessit, both formed into one; whereby the Cognisee, after a Release and Warranty made to him by the Cognisor of the Lands contained therein, doth grant and render back to the Cognisor the Lands, &c. thereby oftentimes limiting Remainders to Persons that are Strangers, and not named in the Writ of Covenant. This Fine is partly executed and partly executory; and as to the first Part of it, is altogether of the same Nature with a Fine sur Conuzance de Droit come ceo; but as to the second Part, containing a Grant and Render back, it is taken in Law to be rather a private Conveyance or Charter between Party and Party, and not as a Writ or Judgment upon Record: And this Render is sometimes of the whole Estate, and sometimes of a particular Estate, with Remainder or Remainders over; or of the Reversion, and sometimes with Reservations of Rent and Clause of Distress, and Grant thereof over by the same Fine. 5 Rep. 38. A. B. and C. D. levied a Fine of Lands, and the Cognisee by the same Fine rendered back the Land to A. B. in Tail reserving a Rent to himself, &c. the Rent and Reversion shall pass, though in one Fine; and it shall enure as several Fines. Cro. Eliz. 727. It is said, a Grant and Render of Land, cannot be immediately in primo Gradu to a Person who is no Party to the Writ; but mediately or in secundo Gradu it may. 3 Rep. 514. Bro. 108. The Fine with Grant and Render, differs from the Fine sur Conuzance de Droit come ceo, &c. as that must be levied of the Land in the Original; but the Grant and Render may be of another Thing than is expressed in the Original. Though to make a good Grant and Render, the Land rendered must pass to the Cognisee by the Fine; for he cannot render what he hath not. 3 Rep. 98, 510. Hugh's Abr. 936. A Man may not by this Fine reserve to himself a less Estate by Way of Remainder than the Fee: And the Render of a Rent (if any be) must be to one of the Parties to the Fine, and not to a Stranger. Dyer 33, 69. 2 Rep. 39. To make a Lease for Years, &c. by Fine with a Render; the Lessee must acknowledge the Land to be the Right of the Lessor that is seised thereof, and then such Lessor grants and renders the same back again to the Lessee, for a certain Number of Years, reserving Rent, &c. and this is a good Fine: But if the Lessor be Tenant in Tail, then to bind him, he and the Lessee, are to acknowledge the Tenements the Right of A. B. who is to render the same Fine to Lessee for Years, the Remainder to the Lessor and his Heirs, &c. 44 E. 3. 45. See 2 Leon. 206. A Fine and Render is a Conveyance at Common Law, and makes the Cognisor on the Render back a new Purchaser; by which Lands arising on the Part of the Mother, may go to the Heirs on the Part of the Father, &c. 1 Salk. 337. 2 Nelf. Ab. 864. The Fine Sur Concessit is where the Cognisor is seised of the Lands contained therein, and the Cognisee hath no Freehold in it, but it passeth by the Fine: This Fine is used to grant away Estates for Life, or Years, and it is executory, so that the Cognisees must enter or have a Writ of Hab. fac. Seisinam to obtain Possession; if the Parties to whom the Estate is limited, at the Time of levying such Fine, be not in Possession of the Thing granted. A Fine sur Conuzance de Droit tantum is also a Fine executory, and much of the Nature of a Fine sur Concessit; it is commonly made use of to pass a Reversion, and then it is expressed by such Fine that the particular Estate is in another, and that the Cognisor willeth that the Cognisee shall have the Reversion, or that the Land shall remain to him after the particular Estate is spent: And sometimes it is used by Tenant for Life, to make a Release (in Nature of a Surrender) to him in Reversion, but not by the Word Surrender; for it is said a particular Tenant, as for Life, &c. cannot surrender his Term to him in Reversion by Fine; but he may grant and release to him by Fine. Plowd. 268. Dyer 216. A Fine upon a Release, &c. shall not be intended to be to any other Use, but to him to whom it is levied. 3 Leon. 61. A Fine is called a Feoffment of Record, and is of great Antiquity, for we read of Fines before the Conquest. 2 Inst. 511. But it hath been held, that a Fine is improperly called a Feoffment of Record; though it hath the Effects of a Feoffment, where he that levies it is seised of the Freehold at the Time of the Fine levied. 1 Salk. 340. Lands bought of divers Persons, by several Purchasers, may pass in one Fine, to save Charges; but the Writ of Covenant must be brought by the Vendees against all the Vendors, and every Vendor warrant against him and his Heirs. If a Feme Sole marries after the Deimus Potestatem to take her Fine, &c. the Fine shall nevertheless be passed as her Fine. Dyer 246. And if either of the Parties Cognisors die after the King's Silver is entered, the Fine shall be finished, and be good. 1 Cro. 469. A Record of a Fine may be amended, (if the King's Silver is paid) where it is the Misprision of the Clerk. 5 Rep. 43. A Fine is perfect, when the King's Silver is paid thereon. 1 And. 229. And though one Concord will serve for Lands that lie in divers Counties; yet there must be several Writs of Covenant. 3 Inst. 21. Dyer 227. A Concord of a Fine may have an Exception of Part of the Things mentioned therein: And if more Acres are named, than a Man hath in the Place, or are intended to be passed; no more shall pass by the Fine than is agreed upon. 1 Leon. 81. 3 Bull. 317, 318. A Fine as well as a Deed may be covinous, and avoidable for this; where it is suffered by Fraud to deceive a Purchaser, or Creditor, &c. 3 Rep. 80. 16 H. 7. 5.

Form of a Præcipe and Concord of a Fine sur Cognissance de Droit come ces, &c.

South-ton, ff. Command A. B. that he justly and without Delay, perform to B. D. the Covenant made between them, of one Messuage, forty Acres of Land, sixty Acres of Meadow, and seventy Acres of Pasture, &c. with the Appurtenances in R. And unless, &c.

AND the Agreement is such, that is to say, That the said A. hath acknowledged the Tenements aforesaid, with the Appurtenances, to be the Right of the said B. as that which the said B. hath of the Gift of the said A. and those he hath remised and quit-claimed, from him and his Heirs, to the aforesaid B. and his Heirs for ever. And moreover, the said A. hath granted for himself and his Heirs, that they will warrant to the said B. and his Heirs, the said Tenements, with the Appurtenances, against the said A. and his Heirs for ever. And for this, &c.

Form of a Fine sur Done Grant and Render, called a Double Fine.

Dorset, ff. Command W. B. That he justly and without Delay, perform to T. D. the Covenant made between them, of the Manor of, &c. with the Appurtenances in D. And unless, &c.

AND the Agreement is such, to wit, That the said W. hath acknowledged the said Manor, with the Appurtenances, to be the Right of him the said T. as that which the said T. hath of the Gift of the said W. and that he hath remised and quit-claimed, from him the said W. and his Heirs, to the said T. and his Heirs: And further, the said W. hath granted for himself and his Heirs, that they will warrant to the said T. and his Heirs, the aforesaid Manor with the Appurtenances, against the said W. and his Heirs for ever: And for this Acknowledgment, Remise, Quit-claim, Warranty, Fine and Agreement, the said T. hath granted to the said W. and his Heirs, the annual Rent of Twenty Pounds, issuing out of the said Manor, with the Appurtenances; and that he hath rendered to him, &c. for him the said W. and his Heirs, to have and receive the said Rent, at the Feasts of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, and St. Michael the Archangel, by even and equal Portions to be paid yearly for ever. And if it shall happen that the said Rent of Twenty Pounds be in arrear, in Part or in all, after any of the said Feasts whereon it ought to be paid, then it shall be lawful for the said W. and his Heirs to enter into the said Manor, with the Appurtenances, and distrain, and to drive and carry away, and retain in his own Possession the Distress there taken and had, until the said Rent with the Arrears thereof, if any be, shall be fully paid and satisfied.

If the Render on the Fine be of the whole Manor, and not a Rent, &c. out of it, then it is in the following Form:

AND for this Acknowledgment, Remise, Quit claim, Warranty, Fine and Agreement, the said T. hath granted to the said W. the Manor, &c. aforesaid, with the Appurtenances; and that he hath rendered to him, &c. To have and to hold to the said W. and the Heirs which he shall beget on the Body of E. his Wife: And if it shall happen that the said W. shall die, without Heirs by him begotten on the Body of the said E. then after the Death or Decease of the said W. the said Manor, with the Appurtenances, shall wholly remain to the said E. during the Life of her the said E. And after the Decease of the said E. the said Manor with the Appurtenances, shall remain to the right Heirs of the said T. &c. And for this, &c.

Form of a Fine sur Cognissance de Droit tantum, by Husband and Wife.

Middlesex, ff. Command A. B. and E. his Wife, that they justly perform to L. D. the Covenant made between them, of the third Part of three Messuages, three Tofts, three Gardens, two hundred Acres of Land, sixty Acres of Meadow, and one hundred Acres of Pasture, with the Appurtenances, in K. H. and B. And unless, &c.

AND the Agreement is such, (to wit) That the said A. and E. have acknowledged the said third Part of the Messuages, with the Appurtenances, to be the Right of the said L. and have granted that the said third Part with the Appurtenances, (which J. R. Widow, at the Day when this Agreement was made, holds for her Life) of the Inheritance of the said E. and which after the Death of J. R. ought to revert to the said A. and E. shall immediately after the Death of the said J. R. remain to the said L. and his Heirs for ever: To hold, &c. And moreover the said A. and E. have granted for themselves and the Heirs of the said E. that they will warrant to the said L. and his Heirs, the said third Part with the Appurtenances, (as aforesaid) against them the said A. and E. and the Heirs of the said E. for ever. And for this, &c.

A Fine sur Concessit upon a Grant for ninety-nine Years.

Berks, ff. Command A. B. that he justly, &c. perform to C. D. the Covenant made between them, of the Manor of, &c. with the Appurtenances; and of two hundred Acres of Land, three hundred Acres of Meadow and one hundred and eighty Acres of Pasture, with the Appurtenances, in R. And unless, &c.

AND the Agreement is such, that is to say, That the said A. hath granted to the said C. the said Manor and Tenements, with the Appurtenances: To have and to hold to the said C. from the Feast of St. Michael the Archangel last past, until the End of the Term of, &c. Years, from thence next ensuing, and fully to be compleat and ended, without Impeachment of Waste; Yielding and paying therefore yearly, to the said A. and his Heirs a Pepper-Corn, at the Feast of the Nativity of St. John the Baptist, if demanded. And the said A. and his Heirs, warrant to the said C. the said Manor and Tenements with the Appurtenances, as aforesaid, against the said A. and his Heirs, during the whole Term aforesaid. And for this, &c.

Taken and acknowledged the Day and Year, &c. before, &c.

Form of an Indenture to lead the Uses of a Fine, on a Purchase.

THIS Indenture made, &c. Between W. B. of, &c. Esq; and A. his Wife, of the one Part, and T. D. of, &c. of the other Part, Witnesseth, That for and in Consideration of the Sum of 1000*l.* of lawful British Money to the said W. B. and A. his Wife in Hand paid by the said T. D. The Receipt whereof they do hereby acknowledge, and for divers other good Causes and Considerations, he the said W. B. hath covenanted and granted, and by these Presents doth covenant and grant, to and with the said T. D. his Heirs and Assigns, That he the said W. B. and A. his Wife, shall and will on this Side, Side, and before the End of Easter Term next coming, before the King's Majesty's Justices of his Court of Common Pleas at Westminster, in due Form of Law, levy and acknowledge unto the said T. D. and his Heirs, one Fine sur Conuifance de Droit come ceo, &c. with Proclamations to be thereupon had, according to the Form of the Statute in that Case made and provided, of all that Messuage or Tenement, with the Appurtenances, situate, &c. And also of all those Pieces or Parcels of Land lying and being, &c. and containing, &c. with all and singular their Appurtenances; all which said Premises were formerly purchased of, &c. and are now in the Tenure of, &c. And also of the Reversion and Reversions, Remainder and Remainders, Rents and Services of the said Premises abovementioned, and of every Part and Parcel thereof, with the Appurtenances, by such Name and Names, Quantity and Number of Acres and Things, and in such Manner as by the said T. D. or his Counsel learned in the Law shall be reasonably devised or advised and required. Which said Fine so to be had and levied; and all and every other Fine and Fines already had, or at any Time hereafter to be had, levied, sued or prosecuted of the said Premises, or any Part thereof, by itself or jointly, with any other Lands or Tenements, by or between the said Parties to these Presents, or by or between them, or any or either of them, and any other Person or Persons, as for and concerning all and singular the said Premises abovementioned with the Appurtenances, shall be and enure, and shall be adjudged, esteemed, and taken to be and enure, to and for the only proper Use and Beboof of the said T. D. his Heirs and Assigns for ever, and to and for none other Use, Intent or Purpose whatsoever. In Witness, &c.

An Indenture declaring the Uses of a Fine, by Way of Settlement.

THIS Indenture made, &c. Between A. B. of &c. Esq; and M. his Wife, of the one Part, and C. D. of, &c. of the other Part, Witneseth, That the said A. B. and M. his Wife, for the Settling and Assigning of the Manors, Lands, Tenements, Hereditaments and Premises herein after mentioned, to the several Uses herein after declared and limited, and for divers other good Causes and Considerations, he, the said A. B. hath covenanted and granted, and by these Presents doth for himself, his Heirs and Assigns, covenant and grant, to and with the said C. D. his Heirs and Assigns; and the said M. Wife of the said A. B. doth hereby consent and agree, that the said A. B. and M. his Wife shall and will, before the End of Michaelmas Term next ensuing, acknowledge and levy in due Form of Law, before his Majesty's Justices of the Court of Common Pleas at Westminster, unto the said C. D. his Heirs and Assigns, one Fine sur Conuifance de Droit come ceo, &c. with Proclamations to be thereupon had according to the Form of the Statute in that Case made, of all that the Manor of, &c. And of all that Messuage or Farm called, &c. and also the Reversion and Reversions, Remainder and Remainders, Rents and Services of the said Manor and Premises abovementioned, and of every Part and Parcel thereof with the Appurtenances, by the Names of twenty-five Messuages, fifteen Cottages, two Mills, four hundred Acres of Land, three hundred Acres of Meadow, five hundred Acres of Pasture, thirty Acres of Wood, and thirty Pounds Rent, and Common of Pasture for all Manner of Cattle, &c. with the Appurtenances in, &c. aforesaid. And it is hereby agreed by and between the said Parties to these Presents, and the true Meaning hereof is, and it is hereby so declared, That the Fine so as aforesaid, or in any other Manner to be had and levied of the said Manor and Premises, or any Part thereof; and also all and every other Fine and Fines already had, levied, or to be had and levied of the same Premises, or any Part thereof, shall be and enure, and shall be adjudged, esteemed, and taken to be and enure; and the said C. D. and his Heirs, and all and every other Person and Persons, and his and their Heirs now standing and being seized, or which at the Perfelling of the said Fine shall stand or be seized of the said Manor and Premises, or any Part thereof, shall at all Times hereafter stand and be seized thereof, and of every Part thereof, with the Appurtenances, to and for the several Uses, Intents and Purposes herein after limited, expressed and declared; (that is to say) As for and concerning the said Manor, with its Rights, Members, and Appurtenances, and all and singular the Messuages, Cottages, Lands, Tenements, Commons, Wastes, Waste Grounds, Mines, Royalties, Rents and Hereditaments whatsoever, to the same Manor belonging or appertaining, or accepted, reputed, or taken as Part, Parcel, or Member thereof, to the Use and Beboof of the said A. B. and M. B. for and during the Term of their natural Lives, and the Life of the longest Liver of them, without Impachment of or for any Manner of Waste; and with full Power and Authority for the said A. B. alone, during his Life, and after his Death, for the same M. alone, during her Life, to make and grant any Lease or Leases, or Grant or Grants by Copy of Court-Roll, for one, two, or three Life or Lives, in Possession or Reversion, of any Lands or Tenements, Parcel of the said Manor, which have been usually so granted; provided that there shall be no more than three Lives at any one Time in Being on the said Premises, or any Part thereof, and so as the usual Rents, Heriots and Services, or more shall be reserved on such Leases and Copies respectively; and from and after the Decease of the said A. B. and M. his Wife, and the Survivor of them, then to the Use and Beboof of the right Heirs of the said A. B. for ever. And as for and concerning all and singular the said Messuage or Farm called, &c. with the Appurtenances, whereof the said Fine shall be so levied, and whereof no Use is herein before declared, to the only proper Use and Beboof of the said A. B. &c. his Heirs and Assigns for ever; and to and for none other Use, Intent or Purpose whatsoever. In Witness, &c.

A Fine may be levied of any Things whereof a Præcipe quod reddat lies; as of Manors, Messuages, Lands, Rents, &c. or of any Thing whereof a Præcipe quod faciat lies, as Customs, Services, &c. or whereof a Præcipe quod permittat, or Præcipe quod teneat may be brought. 2 Instr. 513. And almost any Kind of Contract may be made and expressed by a Fine, as by a Deed; and therefore it may be so made that one of the Parties shall have the Land, and the other a Rent out of it; and that one shall have it for a Time, and another for another Time; also a Lease for Years, or a Jointure for a Wife, may be made; and a Gift in Tail, and a Remainder over, may be limited and created thereby. 1 Rep. 76. The King, and all Persons who may lawfully grant by Deed, may levy a Fine; but not Infants, Ideots, Lunaticks, &c. 7 Rep. 32. Civil Corporations, as Mayor and Commonalty, &c. may levy a Fine of Land belonging to their Body: But Bishops, Deans and Chapters, Parsons, &c. are restrained from levying of Fines to bind their Successors. All Persons that may be Grantees, or that may take by Contract, may take by Fine: Though in Cases of Infants, Feme Coverts, Persons attainted, Aliens, &c. who, it is said, may take by Fine, before the Ingrossing of the Fine, there goes a Writ to the Justices of C. B. quod permittat finem Levare. Litt. 669. Tenant in Fee-simple, Fee-tail general, or special, Tenant in Remainder or Reversion, may levy a Fine of their Estates; so may Tenant for Life, to hold to the Cognisee for Life of Tenant for Life: But a Person who is Tenant, or hath an Interest only for Years, cannot levy a Fine of his Term to another. 3 Rep. 77. 5 Rep. 124. As Fines may be levied of Things in Possession; so they may be levied of a Remainder or Reversion, or of a Right in futuro. 3 Rep. 90. But if a Lessee for Years,

Years, or a Disfeisee, or one that hath Right only to a Reversion or Remainder, levy a Fine to a Stranger that hath nothing in the Land, this Fine will be void or voidable as to the Stranger; and he that hath Cause to except against it, may shew that the Freehold and Seisin was in another at the Time of the Fine levied, and that Partes Finis nihil habuerunt tempore Levationis Finis, and by this avoid the Fine: And yet a Disfeisor, who hath a Fee-simple by Wrong in him, may levy a Fine to a Stranger that hath nothing in the Land, like unto one that is rightfully seised of Land in Fee, &c. and it will be a good Fine. Plowd. 353. 3 Rep. 87. If the Cognisor of a Fine hath nothing in the Land passed, at the Time of the Fine levied, the Fine may be avoided: But where the Cognisor or Cognisee is seised of an Estate of Freehold, whether by Right or by Wrong, the Fine will be a good Fine in Point of Estate. 41 E. 3. 14. 22 Hen. 6. 43. 27 Hen. 8. Fines may be had of all Things in Esse tempore Finis, which are inheritable; but not of Things uncertain; or of Lands held in Tail by the King's Letters Patent; or of Land restrained from Sale by Act of Parliament, or of Lands in Right of a Man's Wife, without the Wife, &c. 5 Rep. 225. West. Sect. 25. Lands assured for Dower, or Term of Life, or in Tail, to any Woman by Means of her Husband, or his Ancestors, cannot be conveyed away from her by Fine, &c. without her Act: But if a Woman and her Husband levy a Fine of her Jointure, she is barred of the same; though if the Jointure be made after Coverture, when the Wife hath an Election to have her Jointure or Dower on the Husband's Death, it is said this will be no Bar of her Dower in the Residue of the Land of the Husband. Dyer 358. Leon. 185. No Fine of the Husband alone, of the Lands of the Wife, shall hurt her, but that she or her Heirs, or such as have Right may avoid it; but if she joins with him, it shall bind her and her Heirs. 37 H. 8. Women Coverts ought to be cautious in levying Fines with their Husbands of their own Lands, and if a married Woman under Age levies a Fine of her Lands, she cannot reverse it during her Husband's Life, nor after his Death, if she be of full Age when he dies; but if the Husband dies during her Minority, she may. Dyer 359. Wood's Inst. 243. A married Female ought not to be admitted alone without her Husband to levy a Fine; and if she be received, the Husband may avoid the Fine by Entry; but if he do not, it is good to bar her and her Heirs, except she be an Infant at the Time of the Fine levied: The Husband and Wife together may dispose of her Land, &c. 12 Rep. 122. If Baron and Feme levy a Fine, the Feme within Age, she may be brought into Court by Habeas Corpus; and if it be found by Inspection, that she is under Age, it hath been adjudged, where the Baron and Feme brought a Writ of Error, that as to both, quod Finis Revocetur. 1 Leon. 176, 117. 3 Salk. 168. Husband and Wife, Tenants in Special Bail, the Husband only levies a Fine, this bars the Issue in Tail; but it remains in Right to the Wife as to herself, and to all the Estates and Remainders depending upon it, and all the Consequences of Benefit to herself and others, so long as she lives, as if the Fine had not been levied. Hob. 257, 259. If a Husband make a Feoffment of the Wife's Land, upon Condition, which is broken, and the Feoffee levies a Fine, and the Husband and Wife die having Issue, and five Years pass; the Heir is barred to enter as Heir to the Father upon the Condition, but he shall have five Years after the Death of his Father, as Heir to his Mother. Plowd. 367. If a Woman with her second Husband acknowledge a Fine, it shall not bind her; though if she levies a Fine with her first Husband by a wrong Christian Name, she is bound by Esoppel during her Life, and the Tenant may plead, that she by such a Name levied the Fine. 1 Aff. pl. 11. Brook 117. When the Husband and Wife join in a Fine of the Wife's Lands, all the Estate passeth from her, and he is joined only for Conformity; so that if the Fine levied by Husband and Wife in such a Case be reversed, she shall have Restitution. 2 Rep. 77. A Husband and his Wife covenanted to levy a Fine of the Lands of the Wife, to the Use of the Heirs of the Body of the Husband on the Wife, Remainder to the Husband in Fee; both dying without Issue; it was held that the Heir of the Wife had the Title, because the Limitation to the Heirs of the Body of the Husband was merely void, there being no precedent Estate of Freehold for Life, &c. to support it as a Remainder. 2 Salk. 675. 4 Mod. 253. If a Widow having an Estate in Dower accept of a Fine, and by the same Fine render back the Land for 100 Years, &c. this is a Forfeiture of her Estate within the Stat. 11 H. 7. 20. by which Statute she may not make a greater Estate than for her own Life; if she do, it is a present Forfeiture. 2 Cro. 689. If Tenant for Life grants a greater Estate by Fine than for his own Life, it is a Forfeiture: And if there be Tenant for Life, and Remainder for Life, and the Tenant for Life levy a Fine to him in Remainder and his Heirs, both their Estates are forfeited, the Tenant for Life by Levying the Fine, and the Remainder-Man for Life by accepting it. 2 Lev. 209. Where a Fine is levied by Tenant for Life, for a greater Estate, the Fine may be good; but it is a Forfeiture of the Estate of Tenant for Life, whereof he in Remainder, &c. may take present Advantage and enter: And when a Person enters for a Forfeiture, all Estates are avoided. Dyer 111. Though if such a Tenant for Life levy a Fine sur Grant & Release to the Cognisee for the Life of Tenant for Life; or by Fine grant a Rent out of the Land for a longer Time, the Fine is good, and there will be no Forfeiture of the Estate of Tenant for Life: So likewise if a Fine be levied of Lands by Tenant for Life to a Stranger, who thereby acknowledges all his Right to be in the Tenant for Life, and releases to him and his Heirs. 27 Ed. 1. 1. 44 Ed. 3. 36. If there be Tenant in Tail upon Condition not to alien, or discontinue the Lands, &c. if he doth, the Donor to re-enter, and his Issue levy a Fine of the Land, this is a Forfeiture of the Estate. 1 Leon. 292. An Estate being settled on Husband and Wife for Life, Remainder to first and other Sons in Tail, with Remainders over; after the Birth of their eldest Son, they by Release and Fine, mortgaged the Lands: On a Bill exhibited against the Son to Redeem, &c. he pleaded the Marriage Settlement of his Father and Mother, whereby they were but Tenants for Life, and that this Fine was a Forfeiture of their Estate; and so it was adjudged. Preced. Canc. 591. But it is said where a Wife by Settlement has only a Trust for Life, if she joins with her Husband in a Mortgage in Fee and Fine of the Lands; this Trust is not forfeited, as it would be in Case of a legal Estate. 1 Peers Williams 147. A Fine is levied by Lessee for Life, &c. who continues the Possession, and pays the Rent; it shall not bind the Lessor, who shall have five Years Claim after the Determination of the Lessee's Estate, &c. 3 Rep. 77, 78. If one doth levy a Fine of my Land, while I am in Possession, this will not hurt me; nor where a Stranger levies a Fine of my Lands let to a Tenant, if the Tenant pays me his Rent duly: And if there is Tenant in Tail, or for Life, Remainder in Tail, &c. And the first Tenant in Tail or for Life, bargains and sells the Land by Deed inrolled, and levies a Fine to the Bargainee, the Remainders are not bound; for the Law adjudges them always in Possession. 9 Rep. 106. Lessees who pretend Title to the Inheritance of the Lands, cannot by Fine bar the Inheritance. 3 Rep. 77. But if a Lease is made for Years, and the Lessor before Entry of the Lessee levies a Fine with Proclamations, and the Lessee doth not make his Claim within five Years, the Lessee is barred, and no Relief can be had for him; for though the Lessee for Years cannot levy a Fine, yet he shall be barred by a Fine levied by the Tenant of the Land, &c. 5 Rep. 124. If a Person hath a Remainder depending on an Estate for Years, and the Termor is disseised, and a Fine is levied and five Years pass, &c. the Termor and Reversioner are barred: Because the Termor might presently have entered, and he in Remainder had an Assise. West. Sect. 183. In Case a Person enters upon and puts out a Copyholder, and the Disseisor doth levy a Fine of the Lands, if the Copyholder suffer five Years to pass after the Disseisin and Fine, without making any Claim, the Interest of the Copyholder and his Lord are hereby barred for ever: And if a Copyholder makes a Feoffment in Fee upon good Consideration, and the Feoffee levies a Fine with Proclamations, and five Years pass, the Lord is barred; but if a Copyholder himself levies a Fine and five Years do pass, the Lord is not barred, for the Copyholder not having a Freehold, the Fine will be void. Wood's Inst. 247, 248. A Fine of Cestui que Trust shall bar and transfer a Trust, as it should an Estate at Law, if it were on a good Consideration. Chan. Rep. 49. And Fines of Cestui que Use are as good as if levied of immediate Possessions, &c. 1 R. 3. 2. Nels. Abr. 860. Interests in Estates which may be barred by Fine, are either Interests by Common Law, or by Custom; as Copyholds, &c. And if I have a Fee-simple, and am disseised, and the Disseisor levies a Fine with Proclamations, and I do not claim within five Years after, I and my Heirs (Allowance being made for Impediments) are barred for ever. Plowd. 353. 3 Rep. 79. If a Man purchase Lands of another in Fee, and after finding his Title to be bad, and that a Stranger hath Right to the Land, levies a Fine thereof with Intent to bar him; and he suffers five Years to pass without Claim, &c. he is barred of his Right for ever: And in these Cases, none shall be relieved in Equity. 3 Rep. Doct. & Stud. 83, 155. A Fine with Proclamations levied by Persons of Lands entailed to them or their Ancestors, &c. is a good Bar against their Heirs, claiming only by such Intail. 32 H. 8. c. 36. Where the Ancestor is barred by the Fine, there for the most part the Heir is barred also. 9 Rep. 105. Although the Issue in Tail be within Age, out of the Realm, &c. when a Fine is had and the Proclamations passed; the Estate-tail shall be barred. 3 Rep. 84. If the Estate passed by the Fine, be afterwards (before all the Proclamations had) avoided, it is said the Issue in Tail are barred by it. 3 Rep. 91. The Tenant in Tail to him and the Heirs Male of his Body hath three Sons, the Second levies a Fine in the Life of the Father, and the Father dies; here the Eldest is not barred. But if the Elder die without Issue, living the Second, it is a Bar to the Third. Hob. 333. See Jenk. Cent. 96. Tenant in Tail discontinues; the Discontinuee levies a Fine with Proclamations, and five Years pass without Claim in the Life of Tenant in Tail: In this Case the Issue may have a Formedon, and shall not be barred; for his Father could not Claim. 'Tis otherwise where he is disseised, and the Disseisor levies such Fine; there the Tenant in Tail may Claim, &c. Jenk. Cent. 192. A Tenant for Life, and he that is next in Remainder in Tail join in a Fine, it is a good Bar to the Issue in Tail for ever, so long as that Estate-tail shall continue. 10 Rep. 96. But though a Fine bars the Estate-tail and the Issue in Tail, yet it doth not Remainders or Reversions; though Recoveries bar them all. And if one makes his Title as Heir by another, and not by him that levied the Fine, he is not barred. 1 Cro. 377. Also he that is privy in Blood only, and not in Estate, is not within the Statutes to be barred by a Fine: As if Lands are given to a Man and the Heirs Female of his Body, and he hath a Son and a Daughter, and the Son levies a Fine, and dies without Issue, this is no Bar to the Daughter; for notwithstanding she be Heir to his Blood, yet she is not Heir to the Estate, nor need make her Conveyance to it by him; but if her Father had levied the Fine, it would have been otherwise. Trin. 21 Jac. A Fine, &c. cannot destroy an executory Estate, which depends upon Contingencies, as it is uncertain whether there will ever be an Estate in Being for the Fine to work upon; but a Fine and Recovery will bar an Estate in Remainder, as that is an Estate vested. 1 Lill. Abr. 617. Estates by Statute Merchant, Statute-Staple, and Elegit, may be barred, if a Fine is levied, and those that have Right suffer five Years to pass without Claim, &c. 5 Rep. 124. If a Fine be levied of Lands in Ancient Demesne, it doth not bar by the Statute of Non-claim. Lut. 781. As Deans, Bishops, Parsons, &c. are prohibited by Statute to levy Fines, and may not have a Writ of Right; they are not barred by five Years Non-claim, and their Non-claim will not prejudice their Successors. Plowd. 238, 375. If a Corporation which hath an absolute Estate, so as to maintain a Writ of Right, is disseised of Land, and a Fine is levied by the Disseisor; if they claim not in five Years, they are barred: But in such Case it is said, that every Successor being Head of the Corporation, may have a new five Years to make their Claim. Plowd. 537. By the ancient Common Law, he that had Right was to make his Claim, &c. within a Year and a Day of the Fine levied and the Execution thereof, or he was barred for ever: But this Bar is now gone; and if a Fine without Proclamations according to the Common Law be now levied, he that hath Right may make his Claim or Entry, &c. at any Time to prevent the Bar. 1 Inst. 254, 262. By Statute, a Claim or Entry to avoid the Bar of a Fine is to be made in five Years: And no Claim or Entry shall avoid any Fine with Proclamations, unless an Action be commenced within one Year after such Entry, and prosecuted with Effect. 1 R. 3. c. 7. 4 & 5 Ann. c. 16. The Statutes of 4 H. 7. c. 24. and 32 H. 8. c. 36. declare the Force of Fines how far they bar and take away the Entry or Action of Parties, Privies and Strangers, having Right: Privies in Blood, as Heirs of the Cognisor, are barred presently by a Fine; but Strangers to the Fine, such as are not Parties nor Privies, have five Years to enter and claim their Rights, &c. Plowd. 367, 375. Feme Coverts have five Years after the Death of their Husbands, to avoid the Fine of the Husband of the Wife's Lands; and also to claim their Dower; and if they do not make their Claim in that Time by Action or Entry, they are barred by Statute. Dyer 72. 2 Rep. 93. An Infant shall have five Years after he comes of Age, although he was in his Mother's Womb at the Time of the Fine levied. Plowd. 359. And an Infant is allowed Time, during his Minority, to reverse his own Fine and prevent the Bar; and if not reversed during that Time, their Fines will be good. Aff. pl. 53. Strangers out of the Realm at the Time of the Fine levied, shall have five Years after their Return to prevent the Bar; and so if they were in England when the Fine was levied, and within five Years are sent in the King's Service by his Commandment. Plowd. 366. A Person in Scotland or Ireland shall be said to be out of the Realm. 4 H. 7. Madmen, &c. have five Years after the Cure of their Maladies, and though the Infirmary happen after the Fine levied, if before the last Proclamation. Plowd. 367. Dyer 3. And they who have divers Defects, have five Years after the last Infirmary removed; but if the Impediments are once wholly gone, and afterwards the Party relapses into the like again, the five Years shall begin immediately after the first Removal; and if the Party dies, his Heir shall not have a new five Years. Plowd. 375. Dyer 233. If a Feme Covert dies during the Coverture, being no Party to the Fine, &c. or if an Infant being Party to the Fine, and having present Right, dies in his Infancy: If a Person beyond Sea when the

Fine was levied, never return, &c. a Person in Prison dies whilst therein; or if one Non Compos, &c. dies such, in all these Cases, their Heirs are not limited to any Time. 2 Inst. 519, 520. Five Years are given after a Remainder falls; and five Years after the Forfeiture of Tenant for Life. Plowd. 374. And he that hath two Titles, shall have two five Years to make his Claim. Jenk. Ca. 45. A future Interest of another Person, cannot be barred by Fine and Non-claim, until five Years after it happens; as in Case of a Remainder or Reversion. 2 Rep. 93. Raym. 151. And where there is no present nor future Right in Land, &c. only a Possibility at the Time of Levying the Fine, a Person may enter and claim when he pleases. 10 Rep. 49. Also when there is only Right to a Rent, &c. issuing out of Lands, and not the Land in the Fine, the Persons that have it are not barred at all. 5 Rep. 124. No Fine bars any Estate in Possession or Reversion, which is not devised and put to a Right. 9 Rep. 106. He that at the Time of a Fine levied had not any Title to enter, shall not be immediately barred by the Fine: But this is in Case of an Interest not turned to a Right, where a Man is not bound to claim; and not in the Case of Tenant in Tail, barring his Issue. 32 H. 8. When an Estate is put to a Right, and there comes a Fine and Non-claim, it is a perpetual Bar. Carter 82, 162. A Fine, Grant and Render was levied, and a Scire facias brought and Judgment given, and also Writ of Seisin awarded, but not executed; and afterwards a second Fine was levied and executed, and five Years passed; it was the Opinion of the Court that the second Fine barred the first. March's Rep. 194. 2 Nels. Abr. 864. If a Man that is attainted of Treason or Felony, levy a Fine of his Land, this, as to the King, and Lord of whom the Land is held, is void, and no Bar to their Disadvantage and Title of Forfeiture: But as to all others it is a good Bar. 2 Skep. Abr. 241. One levied a Fine and then was outlawed for Treason and died; the Heir reversed the Outlawry; and it was held the Wife should have her Dower, if she bring her Action within five Years. Moor, c. 879. Where a Fine may be a Bar as to some Lands, and not as to other Lands. See F. N. B. 98. Plowd. A Fine was levied, and five Years passed without bringing a Writ of Error; and it was held a good Bar within the Stat. 4 H. 7. c. 14. Cro. Jac. 333. But it has been adjudged that where five Years pass, that shall not hinder, where the Fine is erroneous. 2 Nels. Abr. 838. And Fines may be reversed for Error, so as the Writ of Error be brought in twenty Years, &c. and not afterwards, by Stat. 10 & 11 W. 3. c. 14. Fines are not reversible for Rasure, Interlineation, Misentry, &c. or any Want of Form; but 'tis otherwise if of Substance. 23 Eliz. A Fine shall not be reversed for small Variance, which will not hurt it; nor is there Occasion for a precise Form in a Render upon a Fine, because it is only an amicable Assurance upon Record. 5 Rep. 38. If a Fine be levied of Lands in a wrong Parish, though the Parish in which they lie be not named, it will be a good Fine, and not be erroneous, being an amicable Assurance: And a Fine of a Close may be levied by a Lieu Conus in a Town, without mentioning the Town, Vill, &c. Godb. 440. 2 Cro. 574. 2 Mod. 47. If there be Want of an Original, or not Writs of Covenant for Lands in every County; or if there is any notorious Error, in the Suing out a Fine, or any Fraud or Deceit, &c. Writ of Error may be had to make void the Fine. 1 Inst. 9. 1 Cro. 469. So if either of the Parties dies before finished, &c. And if the Cognisor of a Fine die before the Return of the Writ of Covenant, (though after the Caption of the Fine) it is said it may be reversed. 3 Salk. 168. A Writ of Error may be brought in B. R. to reverse a Fine levied in C. B. and the Transcript only, not the very Record of the Fine, is removed in these Cases: But if the Court of B. R. adjudge it erroneous; then a Certiorari goes to the Chirographer to certify the Fine itself, and when it comes up it is cancelled. 1 Salk. 341. And where on a Writ of Error in B. R. to reverse a Fine in C. B. the Fine was affirmed; a Writ of Error coram vobis Residen. hath been allowed to lie. Ibid. 357. The Court of B. R. will not reverse a Fine, without a Sci. fac. returned against the Tertenant, because the Cognisees are but nominal Persons. Ibid. 339. A Fine may be set aside, by pleading that neither of the Parties had any Thing in the Estate, at the Time of Levying the Fine, &c. But those that are privy to the Person that levied the Fine, are estopped to plead this Plea. 3 Rep. 88. In the Pleading a Fine or Recovery to Uses, the Deeds need not be set forth; but the Pleader is to say, that the Fine, &c. was levied to such Uses, and produce the Deeds in Evidence to prove the Uses. 8 W. 3. B. R. A fraudulent obtaining of a Fine, or Irregularity therein, cannot be relieved against in Chancery; but must be in the Court where levied, though the Officers may be examined and punished, if they did it Criminaliter. Preced. Canc. 150. And where one was personated on levying a Fine, it was not set aside in Equity, but a Reconveyance ordered of the Land. Ibid. 151. Fines levied before the Justices in Wales; or in the Counties Palatine of Chester, Durham, &c. have the same Effect as Fines levied before the Justices of C. B. 34 & 35 H. 8. 2 & 3 Ed. 6. 5 Eliz. &c. Sometimes a Sum of Money paid for the Income of Lands, &c. let by Lease, is called Fine. And Fine also signifies an Amends, or Punishment for an Offence committed; in which Case a Man is said facere finem de Transgressione cum Rege, &c. And in all Cases it is a final Conclusion or End of Differences.

Fine annullando levato Tenemento quod fuit de antiquo Dominico, Is a Writ directed to the Justices of C. B. for disannulling a Fine levied of Lands in Ancient Demesne, to the Prejudice of the Lord. Reg. Orig. 15.

Fines for Alienation, Were Fines paid to the King by his Tenants in Chief, for Licence to alien their Lands according to the Stat. 1 Ed. 3. c. 12. But these are taken away by the Stat. 12 Car. 2. c. 24.

Fines for Offences. Among the Ancients, all Punishments were by Fine; but in Process of Time this Sort of Punishment became too mild, and then for some Crimes Death was inflicted. And a Fine is a Sum of Money which one is to pay to the King, for any Contempt or Offence against the Government. 3 Inst. 218. 3 Salk. 32. All Fines belong to the King, and the Reason is, because the Courts of Justice are supported at his Charge; and where ever the Law puts the King to any Charge for the Support and Protection of his People, it provides Money for that Purpose. Bract. 129. Where a Statute imposes a Fine at the Will and Pleasure of the King, that is intended of his Judges, who are to impose the Fine. 4 Inst. 71. Courts of Record only can fine and imprison a Person: And such a Court may fine a Man for an Offence committed in Court in their View, or by Confession of the Party recorded in Court. 1 Lill Abr. 621. A Man shall be fined and imprisoned for all Contempts done to any Court of Record against the Commandment of the King's Writs, &c. 8 Rep. 60. If a Person is arrested coming to the Courts of Justice to answer a Writ, the Offender doing it shall be fined for the Contempt: But there has been a Difference made where it is done by the Plaintiff in the Writ, and a Stranger, who it is said shall not be fined. 9 H. 6. 55. 1 Danv. 469. If an Officer of the Court neglects his Duty, and gives not due Attendance; a Clerk of the Peace doth not draw an Indictment well in Matter of Form, or Return thereof, upon a Certiorari to remove the Indictment into B. R. If a Sheriff, &c. make an insufficient Return of a Habeas Corpus issuing out of B. R. &c. Or if Justices of Peace proceed on an Indictment after a Certiorari torari issued to remove the Indictment, the Court may set a Fine upon them. 1 Lill. 620. When a Juror at the Bar will not be sworn, he may be fined. 7 H. 6. 12. And if one of the Jury depart without giving his Verdict; or any of the Jury give their Verdict to the Court before they are all agreed, they may be fined. 8 Rep. 38. 40 Aff. 10. In Actions quare Vi & Armis, as Trespas, and the like; if Judgment pass against the Defendant in a Court of Record, he shall be fined. 8 Rep. 59. But in Actions which have not something of Force, or Fraud, or Deceit to the Court; if the Defendant come the first Day he is called, and tender the Thing demanded to the Plaintiff, he is not to be fined. 5 Rep. 49. Where a Plaintiff gets Judgment in a real Action by Deceit, the Defendant not having Summons, &c. he may be fined. 8 Rep. 99. If a Writ abates through the Default of the Plaintiff, he shall be fined: And so if the Plaintiff be nonsuited. 34 Aff. 9. And if in Appeal of Maihem, &c. against several, some are found Guilty, and the Plaintiff prays Judgment against them only, and relinquishes his Suit against the others, he shall be fined for not proceeding against the Rest. 22 Aff. 82. If in an Action a Man denies his own Deed, and this is found against him by Verdict, he shall be fined for his Falsity, and the Trouble to the Jury. 8 Rep. 60. 1 Dawv. 471. But where a Person denies a Recovery or other Record, to which he himself is Party, he shall not be fined; for it is not his Act but the Act of the Court, and he does not deny it absolutely, but non habetur tale Recordum. Ibid. All Capiatur Fines are taken away by Stat. 4 & 5 W. & M. c. 12. Except where a Defendant pleads Non est factum, and it is found against him. 1 Lill. Abr. 621. In Trespas, Assault and Battery, &c. there can be no Capiatur pro Fine entered since the Stat. 5 & 6 W. 3. but instead thereof the Plaintiff is to have so much in Costs allowed him, to pay to the King for the Fine: And in B. R. Judgment is entered up without any Notice of the Fine, the Law being altered by this Statute: In C. B. they enter their Judgments nihil de Fine quia remittitur per Stat. 1 Salk. 54. 2 Nels. Abr. 847. To every Fine Imprisonment is incident; and when the Judgment is quod Defendens Capiatur, that is Capiatur quousque Finem fecerit. 8 Rep. 59. Where an Offender is to be fined, the usual Judgment is Quod Capiatur, i. e. to be imprisoned till the Fine is paid: But if the Fine is tendered, there ought to be no Imprisonment. 1 Vent. 116. When a Person is fined to the King, notwithstanding the Body remains in Prison, 'tis said the King shall be satisfied the Fine out of the Offender's Estate. 4 Leon. c. 393. A Fine may be mitigated in the same Term wherein it was set, it being under the Power of the Court during that Time; but it may not be done afterwards. Raym. 376. And Fines assessed in Court by Judgment upon an Information, cannot be afterwards mitigated. Cro. Car. 251. If a Fine certain is imposed by Statute on any Conviction, the Court cannot mitigate it; but if the Party comes in before the Conviction, and submits himself to the Court, they may assess a less Fine; for he is not convicted, and perhaps never might. 3 Salk. 33. The Court of Exchequer may mitigate a Fine certain, because it is a Court of Equity, and they have a Privy Seal for it. Ibid. A Defendant being indicted for an Assault, confessed it, and submitted to a small Fine; and it was adjudged that in such a Case he may produce Affidavits to prove on the Prosecutor that it was sem Assault, and that in Mitigation of the Fine; though this cannot be done after he is found Guilty. 1 Salk. 55. If a Person is found Guilty of a Misdemeanor upon Indictment, and fined, he cannot move to mitigate the Fine, unless he appear in Person; but one absent may submit to a Fine, if the Clerk in Court will undertake to pay it. 1 Vent. 209, 270. 1 Salk. 55. 2 Hawk. 446. It is a common Practice in the Court of B. R. to give a Defendant Leave to speak with the Prosecutor, i. e. to make Satisfaction for the Costs of the Prosecution, and also for Damages sustained, that there may be an End of Suits; the Court at the same Time shewing on that Account an Inclination to set a moderate Fine on Behalf of the King. Wood's Inst. 653. And in Cases where Costs are not given by Law, after a Prosecutor has accepted Costs from the Defendant, he cannot aggravate the Fine; because having no Right to demand Costs, if he takes them, it shall be intended by Way of Satisfaction of the Wrong. 2 H. P. C. 292. A Joint Award of one Fine against divers Persons, is erroneous; it ought to be several against each Defendant, for otherwise one who hath paid his Part might be continued in Prison till all the others have paid theirs likewise, which would be in Effect to punish him for the Offence of another. 2 Hawk. 446. A Man was fined a great Sum who drank a Health to the pious Memory of a Traitor, that was executed, &c. Raym. 376. 3 Mod. 52. Fines to the King are estreated into the Exchequer.

Fines le Roy, Are all Fines to the King; and under this Head are included Fines for Original Writs. Originals on Trespas in the Case, where the Damages are laid above 40 l. pay a Fine, viz. from 40 l. Damages to 100 Marks, 6 s. 8 d. from 100 Marks to 100 l. the Fine is 10 s. From 100 l. to 100 Marks, 13 s. 4 d. From 200 to 400 Marks, 16 s. 8 d. From 400 Marks to 200 l. it is 1 l. Fine; and so for every 100 Marks more, you pay 6 s. 8 d. and every 100 l. further 10 s. Practif. Attorn. 1 Edit. p. 132. And Fines are paid for Original Writs in Debt; for every Writ of 40 l. Debt, 6 s. 8 d. and if it be of 100 Marks, but 6 s. 8 d. and for every 100 Marks 6 s. 8 d. &c. Also for every Writ of Plac of Land, if it be not a Writ of Right Patent, which is for the yearly Value of 5 Marks, 6 s. 8 d. and so according to that Rate. 19 H. 6. 44. 7 H. 6. 33. New Nat. Br. 212.

Fine non capiendo pro pulchre Placitando, Is a Writ to inhibit Officers of Courts to take Fines for fair Pleading. Reg. Orig. 179.

Fine capiendo pro Terris, &c. A Writ lying where a Person upon Conviction of any Offence by Jury, hath his Lands and Goods taken into the King's Hand, and his Body is committed to Prison, to be remitted his Imprisonment, and have his Lands and Goods redelivered him, on obtaining Favour for a Sum of Money, &c. Reg. Orig. fol. 142.

Fine pro Rediffessina capienda, Is a Writ that lies for the Release of one imprisoned for a Rediffessin, on Payment of a reasonable Fine. Reg. Orig. 222.

Fine force, Is where a Person is forced to do that which he can no ways help; so that it seems to signify an absolute Necessity or Constraint not avoidable. Old Nat. Br. 68. Stat. 35 H. 8. c. 12.

Finire, To fine, or pay a Fine upon Composition and making Satisfaction, &c. It is the same with Finem facere, mentioned in Leg. H. 1. c. 53. And in Brompton, p. 1105.—Quando Rex Scotiz cum Domino Rege Finivit, &c. And in Hoveden, p. 783.

Finisio, Death, so called; because Vita Finitur morte. Blount.

Finors of Gold and Silver, Are those Persons that purify and separate Gold and Silver from other coarser Metals, by Fire and Water. 4 H. 7. c. 2. They are not to allay it; or sell the same, save only to the Master of the Mint, Goldsmiths, &c. Ibid.

Firdfare and Firdwite; See Ferdfare and Ferdwite. Leg. Canuti, par. 2. c. 22.

Firderinga, A Preparation to go into the Army. Leg. H. 1.

Fire and fire-cocks. Churchwardens in London and within the Bills of Mortality, are to fix Fire-cocks, &c. at proper Distances in Streets, and keep a large Engine and Hand-Engine for extinguishing Fire, under the Penalty of 10 l. &c. Stat. 6 Ann. c. 31. To prevent Fires, Workmen in the City of London, &c. must erect Party-Walls between Buildings of Brick

Or Stone, of a certain Thickness, &c. under Penalties. Stat. 7 Ann. c. 17. And on the Breaking out of any Fire, all the Constables and Beadles shall repair to the Place with their Staves, and be assisting in putting out the same, and causing People to work, &c. No Action shall be had against any Person in whose House or Chamber a Fire shall begin. 6 Ann. 10 Ann. c. 14. See Arson.

Firebare, (Sax.) Signifies a Beacon or high Tower by the Sea-side, wherein were continual Lights, either to direct Sailors in the Night, or to give Warning of the Approach of an Enemy.—Quod sine dilatione levare & reparari fac. signa & Firebares super montes altiores in quolibet Hundredo, ita quod tota patria, per illa signa, quiescunque necesse fuerit, prae munire possit, &c. Ordinationo observanda à Lynne usque Yarmouth. Temp. Ed. 2.

Firebote, Fuel for Firing for necessary Use, allowed by Law to Tenants out of the Lands, &c. granted them. See Essovers.

Firma, Is taken for Victuals or Provisions; also Rent, &c.

Firma Mba, Rent of Lands let to Farm paid in Silver, not in Provision for the Lord's House.

Firma Noctis, Was a Custom or Tribute paid towards the Entertainment of the King for one Night, according to Domesday.—Comes Mertion T. R. E. Reddebat Firmam unius Noctis, &c. i. e. Provision or Entertainment for one Night, or the Value of it. Temp. Reg. Edw. Confess.

Firmam Regis, Anciently pro Villa Regia, seu Regis Manerio. Spelm.

Firmatio, Firmationis Tempus. Doe Season, as opposed to Buck Season. 31 Hen. 3. Firmatio signifies also a Supplying with Food. Leg. Ina, cap. 34.

Firmura. Will. de Cressi gave to the Monks of Blyth, a Mill, cum libera Firmura of the Dam of it. Reg. de Blyth. This has been interpreted Liberty to scour and repair the Mill Dam, and carry away the Soil, &c. And Dr. Tbornton Englishes it Free-Firmage.

First-fruits, (Primitiae) Are the Profits after Avoidance, of every Spiritual Living for the first Year, according to the Valuation thereof in the King's Books. These were given in ancient Time to the Pope throughout all Christendom; and were first claimed by him in England of such Foreigners as he bestowed Benefices under here by Way of Provision; afterwards they were demanded of the Clerks of all Spiritual Patrons, and at Length of all other Clerks on their Admission to Benefices: But upon the throwing off the Pope's Supremacy in the Reign of King Hen. 8. they were translated to and vested in the King, as appears by the Stat. 26 H. 8. c. 3. And for the Ordering thereof, there was a Court erected 32 H. 8. but dissolved Anno 1 Mar. Though by 1 Eliz. these Profits are reduced again to the Crown, yet the Court was never restored; for all Matters formerly handled therein, were transferred to the Exchequer, within the Survey of which Court they now remain. By the Stat. 26 H. 8. the Lord Chancellor, &c. is empowered to examine into the Value of First Fruits; and Clergymen entering on their Livings before the same are paid or compounded, are to forfeit double Value. But the 1 Eliz. c. 4. ordains, that if an Incumbent on a Benefice do not live half a Year, or is ousted before the Year expired, his Executors are to pay only a fourth Part of the First-fruits; and if he lives the Year, and then dies, or is ousted in six Months after, but half of the First-fruits shall be paid. And by this Statute Livings not above 10 l. per Ann. &c. are discharged from Payment of these Duties: As are also Benefices under and not exceeding 50 l. a Year, by Stat. 5 Ann. c. 24. The 2 Ann. c. 11. settles upon a Corporation the First-fruits and Tenths of all Benefices for the Maintenance of the poor Clergy; which is called the Corporation of the Bounty of Q. Anne. See the Act, relating to large Wastes in Yorkshire inclosed, a sixth Part for Benefit of poor Clergymen; whose Livings do not exceed 40 l. per Ann. Stat. 12 Ann. c. 4. Vide 3 Geo. 1. c. 10.

Fish and Fishing. No Fisherman shall use any Net or Engine, to destroy the Fry of Fish: And Persons using Nets for that Purpose; or taking Salmon or Trout out of Season, or any Fish under certain Lengths, are liable to forfeit 20 s. And Justices of Peace, and Lords of Leets have Power to put the Acts in Force. 13 R. 2. 17 R. 2. 1 El. c. 17. No Person may fasten Nets, &c. across Rivers to destroy Fish, and disturb Passage of Vessels, on Pain of 5 l. Stat. 2 H. 6. c. 15. None shall fish in any Pond or Moat, &c. without the Owner's Licence, on Pain of three Months Imprisonment. 31 H. 8. c. 2. And no Person shall take any Fish in any River, without the Consent of the Owner, under the Penalty of 10 s. for the Use of the Poor, and treble Damage to the Party grieved, leviable by Distress of Goods; and for want of Distress, the Offender is to be committed to the House of Correction for a Month: Also Nets, Angles, &c. of Pochers may be seized, by the Owners of Rivers, or by any Persons, by Warrant from a Justice of Peace, &c. 22 & 23 Car. 2. c. 25. 4 & 5 W. & M. c. 23. The Stat. 4 & 5 Ann. c. 21. was made for the Increase and Preservation of Salmon in Rivers in the Counties of Southampton and Wilt; requiring that no Salmon be taken between the 1st of August and 12th of November, or under Size, &c. And by 1 Geo. 1. c. 18. Salmon taken in the River Severn, Dee, Wye, Weere, Ouse, &c. are to be 18 Inches long at least; or the Persons catching them shall forfeit 5 l. And Sea Fish sold must be of the Lengths following, viz. Bret and Turbot 16 Inches, Brill and Pearl 14, Codlin, Bass and Mullet 12, Sole and Plaice 8, Flounders 7, Whiting 6 Inches long, &c. on Pain of forfeiting 20 s. to the Poor, and the Fish. Vide the Statute. Persons that import any Fish, contrary to the 1 Geo. 1. for better preventing fresh Fish taken by Foreigners being imported into this Kingdom, &c. shall forfeit 100 l. to be recovered in the Courts at Westminster, one Moiety to Informers, and the other to the Poor; and Masters of Smacks, Hoys, Boats, &c. in which the Fish shall be imported, or brought on Shore, forfeit 50 l. Also selling the same in England, is liable to 20 l. Penalty. Stat. 9 Geo. c. 33. By the Stat. 22 Geo. 2. c. 49. Contracts for the buying Fish (except fresh Salmon, or Soles brought by Land Carriage, Oysters or salt or dried Fish) to be sold by Retail before the same are brought to Market and exposed to Sale, are declared void; and each Party contracting shall forfeit 50 l. And Fishermen not selling their Fish within eight Days after their Arrival on the Coast between North Yarmouth and Dover, shall forfeit the Cargo, Vessel and Tackle, &c. And Sea Fish under the Dimensions prohibited by the Stat. 1 Geo. 1. may be exposed to Sale, provided they are taken with a Hook, and so not capable of being preserved alive.

Fishing Right of, and Property of Fish. It has been held, that where the Lord of a Manor hath the Soil on both Sides the River, 'tis a good Evidence that he hath the Right of Fishing, and it puts the Proof upon him who claims Liberam Piscariam; but where a River ebbs and flows, and is an Arm of the Sea, there 'tis common to all, and he who claims a Privilege to himself must prove it; for if Trespass is brought for fishing there, the Defendant may justify that the Place where is Brachium Maris, in quo unusquisque subditus Domini Regis habet & habere debet Liberam Piscariam: In the Severn, the Soil belongs to the Owners of the Land on each Side; and the Soil of the River Thames, is in the King, &c. but the Fishing is common to all. 1 Mod. 105. He who is Owner of the Soil of a private River, hath Separalis Piscaria; and he that hath Libera Piscaria, hath a Property in the Fish, and may bring a possessory Action for them; but Communis Piscaria is like the Case of all other Commons. 2 Salk. 637. One that has a close Pond in which there are Fish, may call them Pisces suos in an Indictment, &c. But he cannot call them as Bona & Catalla, if they be not in Trunks. Mod. Ca. 183. There needs no Privilege to make a Fish Pond; as there doth in Case of a Warren. Ibid.

Fishermen. There shall be a Master, Wardens and Assistants of the Fishermen's Company in London, chosen yearly at the next Court of the Lord Mayor and Aldermen after the tenth of June, who are constituted a Court of Assistants; and they shall meet once a Month at their common Hall, to regulate Abuses in Fishery, register the Names of Fishermen, and mark their Boats, &c. Fishermen are not to kill, or sell any Fry or Brood of Fish; and no Fish shall be sold more than once, at Billingsgate, or within 150 Yards of the Dock; or before such Hours in the Morning, &c. And Fines not above 10 l. or under 5 s. may be imposed and levied by the Lord Mayor and Aldermen, and Justices of Peace. Stat. 9 Ann. c. 26. See Herrings, &c.

Fishery. A Royal Fishery of England was established in the Reign of King Car. 2. and the Members of it incorporated into a Company. See 29 Car. 2. The Crown hath Power to direct 20 s. out of every 100 l. South Sea Stock, to be applied for improving the Fishery of the Kingdom, carried on to Greenland, and in other Northern Seas. Stat. 9 Ann. c. 21. And for Recovery of the British Fishery, Allowances are made on Fish exported to other Countries, &c. Stat. 5 Geo. 1. c. 28. Fishery in Scotland to be improved according to the Articles of the Union. 13 Geo. 1. c. 30. By the Stat. 22 Geo. 2. c. 45. The whole Fishery is further encouraged and enlarged.

Fishgarth, A Dam or Wear in a River, made for the Taking of Fish, especially in the Rivers of Ouse and Humber. 23 H. 8. c. 18.

Flecta, A feather'd or fledge'd Arrow, a Fleet Arrow. Radulphus de F. tenet, &c. per servitium reddendi per Annum viginti Flectas. Dom. Reg. 9 Edw. 1.

Fledwite or Flightwite, (from the Sax. Flyth, foga, & Wite, Mulcta) In our ancient Law signifies a Discharge from Amerciaments, where a Person having been a Fugitive, comes to the Peace of our Lord the King of his own Accord, or with License. Rastal.

Fleet, (Sax. Fleet, i. e. Flota, a Place of Running-water, where the Tide or Float comes up) Is a famous Prison in London, so called from the River or Ditch on the Side whereof it stands. To this Prison Men are usually committed for Contempt to the King and his Laws, particularly against the Courts of Justice; or for Debt, when Persons are unable or unwilling to satisfy their Creditors: There are large Rules, and a Warden belonging to the Fleet Prison, &c. Stat. 8 & 9 W. 3. c. 7. By a late Statute, the Warden of the Fleet was disabled to hold any Office, for his notorious Oppressions of the Prisoners; and the King was impowered to grant the said Office to such Person as he should think fit, &c. 2 Geo. 2. c. 32.

Fleet-Ditch. The Lord Mayor of London, &c. may fill up Fleet Ditch, and make the Soil level with the Streets; and the Fee is vested in the Mayor and Commonalty, but they shall not erect Houses or Buildings thereon above fifteen Foot high, &c. Stat. 6 Geo. 2. c. 22.

Flotages, Are such Things as by Accident swim on the Top of great Rivers; the Word is sometimes used in the Commissions of Water Bailiffs.

Flotam, Is when a Ship is sunk or cast away, and the Goods are floating upon the Sea. 5 Rep. 106. Flotam, Jetsam and Lagan are mentioned together; Jetsam being where any Thing is cast out of the Ship when in Danger, and the Ship notwithstanding perishing; and Lagan is when heavy Goods are thrown over board before the Wreck of the Ship, which sink to the Bottom of the Sea. Lex Mercat. 149. The King shall have Flotam, Jetsam and Lagan, when the Ship is lost, and the Owners of the Goods are not known; but not otherwise. F. N. B. 122. Where the Proprietors of the Goods may be known, they have a Year and a Day to claim Flotam. 1 Kebl. 657. Flotam, Jetsam, &c. any Person may have by the King's Grant, as well as the Lord Admiral, &c. Len Mercat. 149.

Focage, (Focagium) The same with House-bote or Fire bote.

Fogage, (Fogagium) Fog or Rank After-Grass, not eaten in Summer. LL. Forestar. Scot. c. 16.

Foiterers, By Blount are interpreted to be Vagabonds. See Faitours.

Folt-lands, (Sax.) Copyhold Lands so called in the Time of the Saxons, as Charter-Lands were called Boc-lands. Kitch. 174. Folcland was Terra Vulgi or Popularis, the Land of the vulgar People, who had no certain Estate therein, but held the same under the Rents and Services accustomed or agreed, at the Will only of their Lord the Thane; and it was therefore not put in Writing, but accounted Prædium Rusticum & Ignobile. Spelm. of Feuds, cap. 5.

Folcmote or Folkmote, (Sax. Falgemot, i. e. Conventus Populi) Is compounded of Folk, populus, and Mote or Gemote, convenire; and signified originally, as Somner in his Saxon Dictionary tells us, a general Assembly of the People, to consider of and order Matters of the Commonwealth: Omnes proceres Regni & Milites & Liberi homines universi totius Regni Britanniae facere facere debent in pleno Folkmote Fidelitatem Domino Regi, &c. Leg. Edw. Confess. cap. 35. And Sir Henry Spelman says, the Folkmote was a Sort of annual Parliament, or Convention of the Bishops, Thanes, Aldermen and Freemen, upon every May-day yearly; where the Laymen were sworn to defend one another, and to the King, and to preserve the Laws of the Kingdom, and then consulted of the Common Safety. But Dr. Brady infers from the Laws of our Saxon Kings, that it was an inferior Court, held before the King's Reeve or Steward, every Month to do Folk Right, or compose smaller Differences, from whence there lay Appeal to the Superior Courts. Brady's Gloss. pag. 48. Manwood mentions Folkmote as a Court holden in London, wherein all the Folk and People of the City did complain of the Mayor and Aldermen, for Misgovernment within the said City: And this Word is still in Use among the Londoners; and denotes Celebrem ex tota Civitate conventum. Stow's Survey. According to Kennet, the Folkmote was a Common Council of all the Inhabitants of a City, Town or Borough, convened often by Sound of Bell to the Mote Hall or House; or it was applied to a larger Congress of all the Freemen within a County, called the Shire-mote, where formerly all Knights and military Tenants did Fealty to the King, and elected the annual Sheriff on the first of October, till this popular Election to avoid Tumults and Riots devolved to the King's Nomination. Anno 1315. 3 Ed. 1. After which the City Folkmote was swallowed up in a select Committee or Common Council; and the County Folkmote, in the Sheriff's Tourn and Assizes. 3. The Word Folkmote was used for any Kind of Popular or Publick Meeting; as of all the Tenants at the Court-Less or Court-Baron, in which Signification it was of a less Extent. — Paroch. Antiq. 120.

Foldage and Fold-course, A Liberty to fold Sheep, &c. See Faldage and Faldsee.

Folgarth, Menial Servants; Eos qui aliis deserviunt. Bract. lib. 3. tra. 2. c. 10. House-keepers by the Saxons were called Husfastens; and their Servants or Followers, Folgheres or Folgeres. LL. Hen. 1. c. 9.

Fool, A Natural, one so from the Time of his Birth. See Idiot.

Footgeld, (From the Sax. Fot, Pei, & Geldan, subvere) Is as much as Pedis Redemptio, and signifies an Amercement for not cutting out and expeditating the Balls of great Dogs Feet in the Forest: To be quit of Footgeld is a Privilege to keep Dogs within the Forest unawed, without Punishment. Manwood, par. 1. p. 86.

Forage, (Fr. Fourage) Hay and Straw for Horses, particularly for the Use of Horse in an Army. — Et le dit J. trovera herbe & feyn & Forage pour un Hackney, &c. MS. Penes Wal. Blount. Bar.

Forbithor of Armour, (Forbator) Si quis Forbator arma alicujus susceperit, ad purgandum, &c. LL. Aluredi, MS. c. 22.

Force, (Vis) Is most commonly applied in pejorem partem, the evil Part, and signifies any unlawful Violence. It is defined by West to be an Offence, by which Violence is used to Things or Persons; and he divides it into Simple and Compound; Simple Force, is that which is so committed that it hath no other Crime accompanying it; as if one by Force do only enter into another Man's Possession, without doing any other unlawful Act: Mix'd or Compound Force, is when some other Violence is committed with such a Fact, which of itself alone is criminal; as where any one by Force enters into another Man's House, and kills a Man, or ravishes a Woman, &c. And he makes several other Divisions of this Head. West. Symbol. par. 2. sect. 65. The Lord Coke says, there is also a Force implied in Law; as every Trespass, Rescous, or Disseisin, implieth it; and an actual Force, with Weapons, Number of Persons, &c. where threatening is used to the Terror of another. 1 Inst. 257. By the Law any Person may enter a Tavern; and a Landlord may enter his Tenant's House to view Repairs, &c. But if he that enters a Tavern, commits any Force or Violence; or he that enters to view Repairs, breaketh the House, &c. it shall be intended that they entered for that Purpose. 8 Rep. 146. All Force is against the Law; and it is lawful to repel Force by Force: There is a Maxim in our Law, Quod alias bonum & Justum est, si per vim vel fraudem petatur, malum & injustum est. 3 Rep. 78.

Forcible Entry, (Ingressus manu forti factus) Is a violent actual Entry into Houses or Lands: And forcible Detainer is a With holding by Violence, and with strong Hand, of the Possession of Land, &c. whereby he who hath Right of Entry is barred or hindered. Writ of forcible Entry lies where one is seized of a Freehold, and is put out thereof with Force; or if he is disseised peaceably, and afterwards the Disseisor doth hold and detain the same by Force. F. N. B. 54. When one or more Persons armed with unusual Weapons, violently enter into the House or Land of another; or where they do not enter violently; if they forcibly put another out of his Possession; or if one enter another's House, without his Consent, although the Door be open, &c. These are Forcible Entries punishable by Law. 1 Inst. 257. So when a Tenant keeps Possession of the Land at the End of his Term against the Landlord, it is a Forcible Detainer. Cro. Jac. 199. And if a Lessee takes a new Lease of another Person, whom he conceives to have better Title, and at the End of the Term keeps Possession against his own Landlord, this is a Forcible Detainer. Ibid. Also Persons continuing in Possession of a defeasible Estate, after the Title is defeated are punishable for Forcible Entry; for continuing in Possession afterwards, amounts in Law to a new Entry. 1 Inst. 256, 257. And an Infant, or Feme Covert may be guilty of Forcible Entry within the Statutes in respect of Violence committed by them in Person; but not for what is done by others at their Command, their Commands being void. 1 Inst. 357. If a Man have two Houses next adjoining, the one by a defeasible Title, and the other by a good Title; and he uses Force in that he hath by the good Title to keep Persons out of the other House, this is a forcible Detainer. 2 S bep. Abr. 203. A Man enters into the House of another by the Windows, and then threatneth the Party, and he for fear doth leave his House, it is a forcible Entry: So if one enter a House when no Person is therein, with armed Men, &c. Moor Cas. 185. If a Person after peaceable Entry, shall make Use of Arms to defend his Possession, &c. it will be forcible Detainer: A Man puts another out of his House by Force, if he then put in one of his Servants in a peaceable Manner, who keeps out the Party, &c. it will be a forcible Entry, but not a Detainer; but if himself remaineth there with Force, this makes a forcible Detainer. 2 S bep. 203. If I hear that certain Persons will come to my House to beat me, &c. and I take in Force to defend myself, 'tis no forcible Detainer: Tho' where they are coming to take Possession only, it is otherwise. Ibid. This Offence may be committed of a Rent, as well as of a House or Land; as where one comes to distrain, and the Tenant threatens to kill him, or doth forcibly make Resistance, &c. Ibid. 201. Indictment of forcible Entry lies not only for Lands, but for Tithes; and also for Rents: But not against a Lord entering a Common with Force, for which the Commoner Commoner may not indict him, because it is his own Land. Cro. Car. 201, 486. And no Man can be guilty of forcible Entry, for entering with Violence into Lands or Houses in his own sole Possession at the Time of Entry; as by breaking open Doors, &c. of his House, detained from him by one who has the bare Custody of it: But Jointenants, or Tenants in Common, may be guilty of forcible Entry, and holding out their Companions. 1 Hawk. P. C. 147. A Person is not guilty of a forcible Detainer, by barely refusing to go out of a House, and continuing therein in Despight of another. Ibid. 146. And no Words alone can make a forcible Entry, although violent and threatening, without Force used by the Party. 1 Lill. Abr. 514. 1 Hawk. 145. At Common Law, any one who had a Right of Entry into Lands, &c. might regain Possession thereof by Force; but this Liberty being much abused, to the Breach of the publick Peace, it was found necessary that it should be restrained by Statute: At this Day, he who is wrongfully dispossessed of Goods, may justify the Retaking them by Force. Lamb. 135. Cromp. 70. Kelw. 92. But see 3 Salk. 187. By Statutes, none shall enter into any Lands or Tenements, but where Entry is given by Law, and in a peaceable Manner, though they have Title of Entry, on Pain of Imprisonment, &c. And when a forcible Entry is committed, Justices of Peace are empowered to view the Place, and inquire of the Force by a Jury summoned by the Sheriff of the County; and cause the Tenements to be seised and restored, and imprison the Offenders till they pay a Fine. 5 R. 2. c. 7. 15 R. 2. c. 2. 8 H. 6. c. 9. If a Justice of Peace come to view a Force in a House, and they refuse to let him in; this of itself will make a forcible Detainer in all Cases; but it must be upon Complaint made. The Justices of Peace are not to inquire into the Title of either Party: And there shall be no Restitution upon an Indictment of forcible Entry or Detainer, where the Defendant hath been in quiet Possession for three Years together without Interruption, next before the Day of the Indictment found, and his Estate in the Land not ended; which may be alledged in Stay of Restitution, and Restitution is to be stayed till that be tried, if the other will traverse the same, &c. Dalt. 312. Stat. 31 Eliz. c. 11. If a Disseisee within three Years makes a lawful Claim, this is an Interruption of the Possession of the Disseisor. H. P. C. 139. Though it has been adjudged, that it is not the Title of the Possessor, but the Possession for three Years, which is material. Sid. 149. Since the Stat. 5 R. 2. if W. R. is seised of Lands, and L. R. having good Right to enter, doth accordingly enter Manu forti, he may be indicted notwithstanding his Right, &c. 3 Salk. 170. For a forcible Detainer only 'tis said there is no Restitution; the Plaintiff never having been in Possession; but there may be Restitution where forcible Entry and Detainer are found. 1 Vent. 23. Sid. 97, 99. The Justices on forcible Detainer may punish the Force upon View, and fine and imprison the Offenders; but cannot meddle with the Possession. Sid. 156. And it hath been held, that in forcible Entry and Detainer, the Jury are to find all or none; and not the Detainer, without the forcible Entry. 1 Vent. 25. A Reversioner cannot bring Action of forcible Entry, because he cannot be expelled, though he may be disseised. Dyer 141. And the Words in the Writ to maintain the Action are, that the Defendant Expulit & Disseisvit, &c. yet it is said that every Disseisin implies an Expulsion in forcible Entry. 2 Cro. 31. The Possession of the Termor is the Possession of him in Reversion: And when a Lessee for Years is put out of Possession by Force, Restitution must be to him in Reversion, and not the Lessee; and then his Lessee may re enter. 1 Leon. 327. A Termor may say that he was expelled, and his Landlord in Reversion disseised; or rather that the Tenant of the Freehold is disseised, and he the Lessee for Years expelled.

4 Mod. 248. 2 Nelf. Abr. 869. A Copyholder cannot be disseised, because he hath no Freehold in his Estate; but he may be expelled. And a Copyhold Tenant may be restored, where he is expelled wrongfully; but if the Indictment be only of Disseisin, as he may not be disseised, there can be no Restitution but at the Prayer of him that hath the Freehold. Ylvo. 81. 2 Cro. 41. Indictment for forcible Entry must be laid of Liberum Tenementum, &c. to have Restitution by the Statute 15 R. 2. &c. 2 Cro. 157. Though by 21 Jac. 1. c. 15. Justices of Peace may give like Restitution of Possession to Tenants for Years, Tenant by Elegit, Statute-staple, &c. and Copyholders, as to Freeholders. Justices of Peace only have Power to inquire of forcible Entry: But an Indictment of forcible Entry may be removed from before Justices of Peace into the Court of B. R. coram Rege, which Court may award Restitution. 11 Rep. 65. And the Justices before whom such Indictment was found, may, after Traverse tendered, certify or deliver the Indictment into the King's Bench, and refer the Proceeding thereupon to the Justices of that Court. A Record of Justices of Peace of forcible Entry, is not traversable; but the Entry and Force, &c. may be traversed in Writing, and the Justices may summon a Jury for Trial of the Traverse. 1 Salk. 353. The Finding of the Force being in Nature of a Presentment by the Jury, is traversable; and if the Justices of Peace refuse the Traverse, and grant Restitution, on removing the Indictment into B. R. there the traverse may be tried; and on a Verdict found for the Party, &c. a Re-restitution shall be granted. Sid. 287. 2 Salk. 588. If no Force is found at a Trial thereof before Justices, Restitution is not to be granted; nor shall it be had till the Force is tried; or ought the Justices to make it in the Absence of the Defendant, without calling him to answer. 1 Hawk. P. C. 154. No other Justices of Peace but those before whom the Indictment was found, may either at Sessions or out of it award Restitution; the same Justices may do it in Person, or make a Precept to the Sheriff to do it, who may raise the Power of the County to assist him in executing the same. 1 Hawk. 152. And the same Justices of Peace may also supercede the Restitution, before it is executed; on Insufficiency found in the Indictment, &c. But no other Justices, except of the Court of B. R. A Certiorari from B. R. is a Superseas to the Restitution; and the Justices of B. R. may set aside the Restitution after executed, if it be against Law, or irregularly obtained, &c. 1 Salk. 154. If Justices of Peace exceed their Authority, an Information may be brought against them. A Conviction for Forcible Entry, before a Fine is set, may be quashed on Motion; but after a Fine is set, it may not; the Defendant must bring Writ of Error. 2 Salk. 450. Indictments for Forcible Entry must set forth that the Entry was Manu forti, to distinguish this Offence from other Trespasses Vi & Armis; and there are many Niceties to be observed in drawing the Indictment, otherwise it will be quashed. 1 Cro. 461. Dalt. 298. There must be Certainty in this Indictment; and no Repugnancy, which is an incurable Fault. An Indictment of Forcible Entry was quashed, for that it did not set forth the Estate of the Party: So where the Defendant had not been in Possession peaceably three Years before the Indictment, without saying before the Indictment found, &c. And Force shall not be intended when the Judgment is generally laid, for it must be always expressed. 2 Nelf. Abr. 867, 869. If a Plaintiff proceeds not criminally by Indictment for Forcible Entry, but commences a Civil Action on the Case, which he may do on the Statute of Hen. 6. the Defendant is to plead Not guilty, or may plead any special Matter, and traverse the Force; and the Plaintiff in his Replication must answer the special Matter, and not the Traverse; and if it be found against the Defendant, he is convicted of the Force of Court; whereupon the Plaintiff shall recover treble Damages and Costs. 3. Salk. 169. And if in Trespass or Assise upon the Statute of Forcible Entry, 8 H. 6. c. 9. the Defendant is condemned by non sum Informatus; he shall pay treble Damages and treble Costs: Adjudged and affirmed in Error. For the Words of the Statute give them where the Recovery is by Verdict, or otherwise in due Manner. Jenk. Cont. 197. Though Forcible Entry is punishable either by Indictment or Action; the Action is seldom brought, but the Indictment often.

Form of an Indictment for a Forcible Entry.

Wilts, ff. THE Jurors, &c. That A. B. of, &c. and C. D. of, &c. having assembled themselves with other Offenders, and Disturbers of the Peace of our said Lord the King, whose Names to the Jurors aforesaid are unknown, and being armed in a quarlike Manner, on the Day of, &c. in the Year of the Reign, &c. at M. in the said County, with Force and Arms, that is to say, with Staves, Swords, Guns, &c. and other offensive and defensive Arms, did enter, and each of them did enter into one Messuage with the Appurtenances in M. aforesaid, in the peaceable Possession of one E. F. of which said Messuage the said E. F. was then possessed for the Term of, &c. Years yet to come; and that the said A. B. and C. D. and the other Malefactors aforesaid, with Force and Arms, did eject, drive out and remove the said E. F. from his Possession aforesaid, and the said E. F. being so ejected, they unlawfully and with a strong Hand, then did detain from him, and yet do detain from him the Possession of the said Messuage, with the Appurtenances, against the Peace of our said Lord the King, his Crown and Dignity, and against the Form of the Statute in such Case made and provided.

A Writ of Forcible Entry, according to the Statute.

GEORGE the Second, &c. To the Sheriff of S. Greeting: If A. B. shall make you secure, &c. then put C. D. &c. to answer as well to us, as the said A. B. why, Whereas in the Statute made in the Parliament at Westminster in the eighth Year of the Reign of King Henry of England the Sixth held, then set forth, amongst other Things is contained, That if any Person out of any Lands or Tenements with strong Hand is expelled and disseised, or peaceably expelled, and after with a strong Hand held out, or any Feoffment or Discontinuance in any wise be made thereof after such Entry, to defraud the Possessor of his Right and take it away, the Party grieved in this Particular, shall have against such Disseisor the Assise of Novel Disseisin, or a Writ of Trespass; and if the Party grieved by Assise or Action of Trespass shall recover, and by Verdict or other Manner in due Form of Law it shall be found, that the Party, Defendant, entered into the Lands and Tenements with Force, or those after his Entry with Force held, the Plaintiff shall recover his Damages to the Treble against the Defendant, and further Fine and Ransom to us he shall make; the said C. D. the said A. B. out of his free Tenement (or Freehold) in M. with strong Hand hath expelled and disseised, and him so expelled and disseised, holdeth out of the same, to the Contempt of us, and no small Damage and Grievance of him the said A. B. and against the Form of the Statute aforesaid, and against our Peace: And have you there the Names of the Pledges, and this Writ. Wincels, &c.

Forcible Marriage. Of a Woman of Estate, is Felony; for by the Stat. 3 Hen. 7. c. 2. it is enacted, That if any Person shall take away any Woman having Lands or Goods, or that is Heir apparent to her Ancestor, by Force and against her Will, and marry or defile her, the Takers, Procurers, Abettors, and Receivers of the Woman taken away against her Will, and knowing the same, shall be deemed principal Felous: But as to Procurers and Accessaries, they are to be before the Offence committed, to be excluded the Benefit of Clergy, by 39 Eliz. c. 9. The Indictment on the Stat. 3 H. 7. is expressly to set forth, that the Woman taken away had Lands or Goods, or was Heir apparent, and also that she was married or defiled, because no other Case is within the Statute; and it ought to alledge that the Taking was for Lucre: It is no Excuse that the Woman at first was taken away with her Consent; for if she afterwards refuse to continue with the Offender, and be forced against her Will, she may from that Time properly be said to be taken against her Will; and it is not material whether a Woman so taken away, be at last married or defiled with her own Consent or not, if she were under the Force at the Time, the Offender being in both Cases equally within the Words of the Act. 3 Inst. 61. H. P. C. 119. 1 H. P. C. 109, 110. Those Persons who after the Fact receive the Offender, are but Accessaries after the Offence, according to the Rules of the Common Law; and those that are only privy to the Damage, but not Parties to the Forcible Taking away, are not within the Act. H. P. C. 119. A Man may be indicted for taking away a Woman by Force in another County; for the Continuing of the Force in any County amounts to a Forcible Taking there. Ibid. Taking away any Woman Child, under the Age of sixteen Years and unmarried, out of the Custody and without the Consent of the Father or Guardian, &c. the Offender shall suffer Fine and Imprisonment; and if the Woman agrees to any Contract of Matrimony with such Person, she shall forfeit her Estate during her Life, to the next of Kin to whom the Inheritance should descend, &c. Stat. 4 & 5 P. & M. c. 8. See 3 Mod. Rep. 84, 169. This is a Force against the Parents: And an Information will lie for seducing a young Man or Woman from their Parents, against their Consents, in order to marry them, &c. 3 Cro. 557. Raym. 473.

Foreign Attachment, Is an Attachment of Foreigners Goods, found within a Liberty or City, for the Satisfaction of some Citizen to whom the Foreigner is indebted; or of Money in the Hands of another Person, due to him against whom an Action of Debt is brought, &c. See Attachment.

Foreign Court. At Lemster, (Anciently called Leominster) There is the Borough and the Foreign Court; which last is within the Jurisdiction of the Manor, but not within the Liberty of the Bailiff of the Borough: So there is a Foreign Court of the Honour of Glocester. Clauſ. 8 Ed. 2. Foreign bought and sold. Is a Custom within the City of London, which being found prejudicial to the Sellers of Cattle in Smithfield, it was enacted 22 & 23 Car. 2. that as well Strangers, as Freemen, may buy and sell any Cattle there.

Foreign Kingdom, Is a Kingdom under the Dominion of a Foreign Prince; so that Ireland, or any other Place, subject to the Crown of England, cannot with us be called Foreign; though to some Purposes they are distinct from the Realm of England. If two of the King's Subjects fight in a Foreign Kingdom, and one of them is killed, it cannot be tried here by the Common Law; but it may be tried and determined by the Constable and Marshal, according to the Civil Law; or the Fact may be examined by the Privy Council, and tried by Commissioners appointed by the King in any County of England, by Statute. 3 Inst. 48. 33 H. 8. One Hutchinson killed Mr. Colson abroad in Portugal, for which he was tried there and acquitted, the Exemplification of which Acquittal he produced under the Great Seal of that Kingdom; and the King being willing he should be tried here, referred it to the Judges, who all agreed, that the Party being already acquitted by the Laws of Portugal, could not be tried again for the same Fact here. 3 Keb. 785. If a Stranger of Holland, or any Foreign Kingdom, buys Goods at London, and gives a Note under his Hand for Payment, and then goes away privately into Holland; the Seller may have a Certificate from the Lord Mayor, on Proof of Sale and Delivery of the Goods; upon which the People of Holland will execute a legal Process on the Party. 4 Inst. 38. Also at the Instance of an Ambassador or Consul, such a Person of England, or any Criminal against the Laws here, may be sent from a Foreign Kingdom hither. Where a Bond is given, or Contract made in a Foreign Kingdom, it may be tried in the King's Bench, and laid to be done in any Place in England. Hob. 11. 2 Bull. 322. And an Agreement made in France, on two French Persons marrying, touching the Wife's Fortune, has been decreed here to be executed, according to the Laws of England; and that the Husband surviving should have the Whole: But Relief was first given for a certain Sum, and the Rest to be governed by the Custom of Paris. Preced. Cant. 207, 208.

Foreign Opposer, or Apposer. See Exchequer.

Foreign Plea, Is a Plea in Objection to a Judge, where he is refused as incompetent to try the Matter in Question, because it arises out of his Jurisdiction. Kitch. 75. Stat. 4 Hen. 8. c. 2. And if a Plea of issuable Matter is alledged in a different County from that wherein the Party is indicted or appealed, by the Common Law, such Pleas can only be tried by Juries returned from the Counties wherein they are alledged. 2 Hawk. P. C. 404. But by the Stat. 33 H. 8. c. 14. all Foreign Pleas triable by the Country, upon an Indictment for Petit Treason, Murder or Felony, shall be forthwith tried without Delay, before the same Justices before whom the Party shall be arraigned, and by the Jurors of the same County where he is arraigned, notwithstanding the Matter of the Pleas are alledged to be in any other County or Counties: Though as this Statute extends not to Treason, nor Appeals, it is said a Foreign Issue therein must still be tried by the Jury of the County wherein alledged. 3 Inst. 17. H. P. C. 255. In a Foreign Plea in a Civil Action the Defendant ought to plead to that Place where the Plaintiff alleges the Matter to be done in his Declaration; and the Defendant may plead a Foreign Plea where a Matter is transitory, or not transitory; but in the last Case he must swear to it. Sid. 234. 2 Nelf. 871. When a Foreign Plea is pleaded, the Court generally makes the Defendant put it in upon Oath, that it is true; or will enter up Judgment for Want of a Plea: But if a Plea in B. R. &c. be only to the Jurisdiction of the Court, or a Plea of Privilege, &c. if it is not put in on Oath, Judgment shall not be signed for Want thereof. 5 Mod. 335. Foreign Answer is such an Answer as is not triable in the County where made: And Foreign Matter is that Matter which is done in another County, &c.

Foreign Service, Is that whereby a mean Lord holds of another, without the Compass of his own Fee: Or that which the Tenant performs either to his own Lord, or to the Lord Paramount, out of the Fee. Kitch. 299. Of these Services, Bracton says thus: Item sunt quedam servitia, quæ dicuntur Forinleca, quamvis sunt in Charta de Feoffamento expressa & nominata; & quæ ideo dici possunt Forinleca, quia pertinent ad Dominum Regem, & non ad Dominum Capitalem, &c. Quandoque enim nominantur Forinleca, large sumpta vocabulo quoad servitium Domini Regis, quandoque scutagium, quandoque servitium Domini Regis, & ideo Forinlecum dici potest, quia fit & capitur Foris, sive extra servitium quod fit Domino Capitali. Bract. lib. 2. c. 16. And Foreign Service seems to be Knights Service, or Escuage uncertain. Perkin 650. ————— Salvo Forinleco Servitio. Mon. Ang. Tom. 2. p. 637.

Foreigners, Though made Denizens or naturalized here, are disabled to bear Offices in the Government, to be of the Privy Council, Members of Parliament, &c. by the Acts of Settlement of the Crown. 12 W. 3. c. 2. 1 Geo. 1. c. 4.

Forejudger, (Forjudicatio) A Judgment whereby a Person is deprived or put by the Thing in Question. Bract. lib. 4. To be forejudged the Court, is when an Officer or Attorney of any Court is expelled the same for some Offence; or for not appearing to an Action, on a Bill filed against him, &c. And in the latter Case, he is not to be admitted to practice in the Court, till he appears. 2 Hen. 4. c. 8. If an Attorney privileged in C. B. is sued, after a Bill filed against him, the Plaintiff's Attorney delivers it to one of the Criers of the Court, who calls the Attorney Defendant by his Name, and solemnly preclaims aloud, that if he does not appear to such Bill, he will be forejudged: And when the Crier hath so called such an Attorney, the Bill is delivered to the Secondary, who gives a Rule for him to appear, or he will stand forejudged: After which this Bill is to be carried to the Prothonotary's Office, and there filed and entered; and if the Attorney appears not in four Days, then the Bill is entered upon a Roll of that Term, and carried to the Clerk of the Warrants and Inrolments; and he thereupon strikes such Attorney out of the Roll of Attornies, when he stands unprivileged, and may be arrested as any other Person, &c. Practif. Solic. 322. Attorn. Compan. 182, 183. But an Attorney forejudged, may be restored, on clearing himself from his Contumacy in not appearing when he was called, and on making Satisfaction to the Plaintiff; and then a Judge will make an Order to the Clerk of the Warrants, to replace him in the proper Roll of Attornies: And there are Instances of restoring Attornies forejudged, upon Payment of a small Fine. Ibid. Rastal 96.

Form of a Forejudger of an Attorney.

BE it remember'd, that on the Day of, &c. this same Term, A. B. came here into this Court by, &c. his Attorney, and exhibited to the Justices of our Sovereign Lord the King, his Bill against J. M. Gent. one of the Attornies of the Common Bench of our said Sovereign Lord the King, personally present here in Court; the Tenor of which Bill follows in these Words, that is to say, To the Justices of our Sovereign Lord the King, ff. A. B. by, &c. his Attorney, complains of J. M. one of the Attornies, &c. for that whereas, &c. (setting forth the whole Bill.) The Pledges for the Prosecution are John Doe and Richard Roe: Whereupon the said J. M. being solemnly called, came not; therefore he is forejudged from exercising his Office of Attorney of this Court, for his Contumacy, &c.

Foreschoke, (Diractum) Is of the same Meaning with Forsaken in modern Language; in one of our Statutes, it is specially used for Lands or Tenements seized seised by a Lord, for Want of Services performed by the Tenant, and quietly held by such Lord beyond a Year and a Day; now the Tenant, who seeing his Land taken into the Hands of the Lord, and possessed so long, and not pursuing the Course appointed by Law to recover it, doth in Presumption of Law disavow or forsake all the Right he hath to the same; and then such Lands shall be called Forejcoke. Stat. 10 Ed. 2 c. 1.

Forest, (Foresta, Saltus) Signifies a great or vast Wood; Locus Sylvestris & Saltuosus. Our Law-Writers define it thus, Foresta est Locus ubi fera inhabitant vel includuntur; others say it is called Foresta, quasi ferarum statio, vel iusta mansio ferarum. Manwood in his Forest Law gives this particular Definition of it: A Forest is a certain Territory or Circuit of Woody Grounds and Pastures, known in its Bounds, and privileged, for the peaceable Being and Abiding of wild Beasts, and Fowls of Forest, Chase and Warren, to be under the King's Protection for his Princely Delight; replenished with Beasts of Venary or Chase, and great Coverts of Vert for Succour of the said Beasts; for Preservation whereof there are particular Laws, Privileges and Officers belonging thereunto. Manw. part 2. c. 1. Forests are of that Antiquity in England, that (except the New Forest in Hampshire, erected by William called The Conqueror, and Hampton Court erected by King Hen. 8.) it is said there is no Record or History doth make any certain Mention of their Erections and Beginnings; though they are mentioned by several Writers; and in divers of our Laws and Statutes. 4 Inst. 319. Our ancient Historians tell us, that New Forest was raised by the Destruction of twenty-two Parish Churches, and many Villages, Chapels and Manors, for the Space of thirty Miles together; which was attended with divers judgments on the Posterity of King Will. 1. who erected it; for William Rufus was there shot with an Arrow, and before him Richard the Brother of Hen. 1. was there killed; and Henry Nephew to Robert, the eldest Son of the Conqueror, did hang by the Hair of the Head in the Boughs of the Forest like unto Abulom. Blount. Besides the New Forest, there are sixty-eight other Forests in England; thirteen Chases, and more than seven hundred Parks: The four principal Forests are New Forest on the Sea, Sbirwood Forest on the Trent, Dean Forest on the Sovern, and Windsor Forest on the Tbames. The Way of making a Forest is thus: Certain Commissioners are appointed under the Great Seal of England, who view the Ground intended for a Forest, and fence it round with Metes and Bounds; which being returned into the Chancery, the King caused it to be proclaimed throughout the County where the Land lieth, that it is a Forest, and to be governed by the Laws of the Forest, and prohibits all Persons from hunting there without his Leave; and then he appointeth Officers fit for the Preservation of the Vert and Venison, and so it becomes a Forest on Record. Manw. c. 2. Though the King may erect a Forest on his own Ground and Wastes; he may not do it in the Ground of other Persons, without their Consents; and Agreements with them for that Purpose, ought to be confirmed by Parliament. 4 Inst. 300. Proof of a Forest appears by Matter of Record; as by the Eyres of the Justices of the Forest, and other Courts, and Officers of Forests, &c. and not by the Name in Grants. 12 Rep. 22. As Parks are inclosed with Wall, Pale, &c. so Forests and Chases are inclosed with Metes and Bounds; such as Rivers, Highways, Hills, viz. which are an Inclosure in Law; and without which there cannot be a Forest. 4 Inst. 317. And in the Eye of the Law, the Boundaries of a Forest go round about as it were a Brick Wall, directly in a right Line the one from the other, and they are known either by Matter of Record, or Prescription. Ibid. Bounds of Forest, may be ascertained by Commission from the Lord Chancellor; and Commissioners, Sheriffs, Officers of Forests, &c. are impowered to make Inquests thereof. Stat. 16 & 17 Car. 1. c. 16. Also the Boundaries of Forests are reckoned a Part of the Forest; for if any Person kill or hunt any of the King's Deer in any Highway, River, or other inclusive Boundary of a Forest, he is as great an Offender as if he had killed or hunted Deer within the Forest itself. 4 Inst. 318. By the Grant of a Forest, the Game of the Forest do pass; and Beasts of Forest are the Hart, Hind, Buck, Doe, Boar, Wolf, Fox, Hare, &c. The Seasons for hunting whereof are as follow; viz. That of the Hart and Buck, begins at the Feast of St. John Baptist, and ends at Holy-wood Day; of the Hind and Doe, begins at Holy-wood, and continues till Candlemas; of the Boar, from Christmas to Candlemas; of the Fox, begins at Christmas, and continues till Lady Day; of the Hare, at Michaelmas, and lasts till Candlemas. Dyer 169. 4 Inst. 316. Not only Game, &c. are incident to a Forest, but also a Forest hath divers special Properties. 1. A Forest truly and strictly taken cannot be in the Hands of any but the King; for none but the King hath Power to grant Commission to any one to be a Justice in Eyre of the Forest: But if the King grants a Forest to a Subject; and granteth farther that upon Request made in Chancery, he and his Heirs shall have Justices of the Forest, then the Subject hath a Forest in Law. 4 Inst. 314. Cro. Jac. 155. The second Property of a Forest is the Courts; as the Justice-Seat, the Swainmote, and Court of Attachment. The third Property is the Officers belonging to it; as first the Justices of the Forest, the Warden or Warder, the Verderors, Foresters, Agisters, Regarders, Keepers, Bailiffs, Beadles, &c. Though as to the Courts, the most especial Court of a Forest is the Swainmote, which is no less incident to it than a Court of Pie-powders to a Fair: And if this fail, there is nothing remaining of a Forest, but it is turned into the Nature of a Chase. Manw. c. 21. Crompt. Jur. 146. There is but one Chief Justice of the Forests on this Side Trent, and he is named Justiciarius Itinerans Forestarum, &c. citra Trentam; and there is another Capitalis Justiciarius, and he is Justiciarius Itinerans omnium Forestarum ultra Trentam, &c. who is a Person of greater Dignity, than Knowledge in the Laws of the Forests; and therefore when Justice-Seats are held, there are associated to him such as the King shall appoint; who together with him determine Omnia placita forestarum, &c. 4 Inst. 315. A Justice in Eyre cannot grant Licence to fell any Timber, unless it be sedente Curia, or after a Writ of Ad quod Damnum: And it hath been resolved by all the Judges, that though Justices in Eyre, and the King's Officers within his Forests, have Charge of Venison, and of Vert or Green Hue, for the Maintenance of the King's Game, and all Manner of Trees for Covert, Browls and Pawnage; yet when Timber of the Forest is sold, it must be cut and taken by Power under the Great Seal or the Exchequer Seal by View of the Foresters, that it may not be had in Places inconvenient for the Game: And the Justice in Eyre, or any of the King's Officers in the Forest, cannot sell or dispose of any Wood within the Forest without Commission; so that the Exchequer and the Officers of the Forest have Divisum Imperium, the one for the Profit of the King, the other for his Pleasure. 3d Vol. Read. on Stat. p. 304, 305. Also no Officer of the Forest can claim Windfalls, or Dotard Trees, for their Perquisites, because they were once Parcel of the King's Inheritance; but they ought to be sold by Commission, for the King's best Benefit. Ibid. If any Officers cut down Wood, not necessary for Browls, &c. they forfeit their Offices. 9 Rep. 50. The Lord of a Forest may by his Officers enter into any Man's Wood within the Regard of the Forest, and cut down Browls-Wood for the Deer in Winter. 2 Par. Game Law, p. 46. A Prescription for a Person to take and cut down Timber-Trees in a Forest, without View of the Forester, it is said may be good: But of this Quere, without Allowance of a former Eyre, &c. If a Man hath a Wood in a Forest, and hath no such Prescription, the Law will allow him to fell it, so as he doth not prejudice the Game, but leave sufficient Vert; but it ought to be by Writ of Ad quod Damnum, &c. 4 Inst. Cro. Jac. 155. And every Person in his own Wood in a Forest may take House-bote and Hay bote, by View of the Forester; and so may Freeholders by Prescription, Copyholders by Custom, &c. 1 Ed. 3. c. 2. The Wood taken by View of the Forester, ought to be presented at the next Court of Attachment, that it was by View, and may appear of Record. Fences, &c. in Forests and Chafes, must be with low Hedges, and they may be destroyed, though of forty Years Continuance, if they were not before. Cro. Jac. 156. He whose Wood is in Danger of being spoiled, for Want of repairing Fences by another, ought to request the Party to make good the Hedges; and if he refuse, then he must do it himself, and have Action on the Case against the other that should have done it. 1 Jones 277. A Person may have Action at Common Law, for a Trespass in a Forest, as to Wood, &c. to recover his Right. Sid. 296. The Court of the Justice in Eyre may proceed upon the Presentments or Verdicts in the Swainmote, &c. And Presentments and Convictions of the Court of Attachment and Swainmote, must be delivered to the Lord Chief Justice in Eyre, at the next Court of Justice-Seat, &c. where Judgment is to be given: And the Plea of the Forest runs thus; Presentatio per Forestarios, & Convictio per Viridarios, &c. The Court of Attachment or Woodmote in Forests, is kept every forty Days; at which the Foresters bring in the Attachments de viridi & venatione, and the Presentments thereof, and the Verderors do receive the same, and inrol them; but this Court can only inquire, and not convict. 4 Inst. 289. The Court of Swainmote is holden before the Verderors, as Judges, by the Steward of the Swainmote, thrice in the Year: The Freeholders within the Forest, are to appear at this Court, to make Inquests and Juries; and this Court may inquire de superoneratione Forestariorum & aliorum Ministrorum Forestæ & de eorum Oppressionibus populo nostro illatis: It may inquire of Offences, and convict also, but not give Judgment, which must be at the Justice-Seat. Ibid. The Court of the Chief Justice in Eyre, or Justice-Seat, is a Court of Record, and hath Authority to hear and determine all Trespasses, Pleas, and Causes of the Forest, &c. within the Forest, as well concerning Vert and Venison, as other Causes whatsoever; and this Court cannot be kept oftener than every third Year. As before other Justices in Eyre, it must be summoned forty Days at least before the Sitting thereof; and one Writ of Summons is to be directed to the Sheriff of the County, and another Writ Custodi Forestæ Domini Regis vel ejus locum tenenti, &c. Which Writ of Summons consists of two Parts: First, To summon all the Officers of the Forest, and that they bring with them all Records, &c. Secondly, All Persons which claim any Liberties or Franchises within the Forest, and to shew how they claim the same: If there be erroneous Judgment at the Justice Seat, the Record may be removed by Writ of Error into B. R. 4 Inst. 291. The Court of Regard, or Survey of Dogs, is holden likewise every third Year, for Expedition or Lawing of Dogs; by cutting off to the Skin three Claws of the Fore-feet, to prevent their running at and killing of Deer. By Statute, three Courts of Swainmote are to be held for Forests in the Year; one fifteen Days before Michaelmas, another about Martinmas, and the third fifteen Days before Midsummer: And Presentments of Trespasses of Green Hue, and hunting in Forests, must be made at the next Swainmote by Foresters, &c. Also no Officer of the Forest shall surcharge the Forest, on Pain of Imprisonment by the Justices of the Forest. Charta de Foresta, 9 Hen. 3. c. 1. Ordinatio de Forestis, 34 Ed. 1. Justices of Forests, &c. may make Deputies. 32 H. 8. c. 35. The Chief Warden of the Forest is a great Officer, next to the Justice of the Forest, to bail and discharge Offenders; but he is no judicial Officer: And the Constable of the Cattle where a Forest is, by the Forest Law is Chief Warden of the Forest, as of Windfor Castle, &c. A Verderor is a judicial Officer of the Forest, and chosen in full County, by the King's Writ: His Office is to observe and keep the Assises or Laws of the Forest, and view, receive and inrol the Attachments and Presentments of all Trespasses of the Forest, of Vert and Venison, and to do equal Right and Justice to the People: The Verderors are the Chief Judges of the Swainmote Court; although the Chief Warden, or his Deputy, usually sits there. 4 Inst. 292. The Regarder is to make Regard of the Forest, and to view and inquire of Offences, Concealments, Defaults of Foresters, &c. Before any Justice-Seat is holden, the Regarders of the Forest must make their Regard, and go through and view the whole Forest, &c. They are ministerial Officers, constituted by Letters Patent of the King, or chosen by Writ to the Sheriff. 4 Inst. 291. A Forester is in legal Understanding a sworn Officer ministerial of the Forest, and is to watch over the Vert and Venison, and to make Attachments and true Presentments of all Manner of Trespasses done within the Forest: A Forester is also taken for a Woodward: This Officer is made by Letters Patent, and 'tis said the Office may be granted in Fee or for Life. 4 Inst. 293. Every Forester when he is called at a Court of Justice Seat, ought upon his Knees to deliver his Horn to the Chief Justice in Eyre; so every Woodward ought to present his Hatchet to my Lord. A Riding Forester is to lead the King in his Hunting. 1 Jones 277. The Office of Forester, &c. though it be a Fee-simple, cannot be granted or assigned over, without the King's Licence. 4 Inst. 316. If a Forester by Patent for Life, is made Justice of the same Forest pro hac vice, the Forestership is become void; for these Offices are incompatible, as the Forester is under the Correction of the Justice, and he cannot judge himself. 4 Inst. 313. An Agister's Office is to attend upon the King's Woods and Lands in a Forest, receive and take in Cattle, &c. by Agistment, that is to depasture within the Forest, or to feed upon the Pannage, &c. And this Officer is constituted by Letters Patent. 4 Inst. 293. Persons inhabiting in the Forest, may have Common of Herbage for Beasts commonable within the Forest; but by the Forest Law, Sheep are not commonable there, because they bite so close that they destroy the Vert; and yet it has been held, that Sheep may be commonable in Forests by Prescription. 3 Bull. 213. There may be a Prescription for Common in a Forest at all Times in the Year; tho' it was formerly the Opinion of our Judges, that the Fence-month should be excepted. 3 Lev. 127. A Forest may be disafforested and laid open; but Right of Common shall remain. Popb. 93. He that hath a Grant of the Herbage or Pannage of a Park, Forest, &c. cannot take any Herbage or Pannage, but of the Surplusage over and above a competent and sufficient Pasture and Feeding for the Game; and if there be no Surplusage, he that hath the Herbage and Pannage, cannot put in any Beasts; if he doth, they may be driven out. 3 Vol. Read. on Stat. 305. None may gather Nuts in the Forest, without Warrant. A Ranger of a Forest is one whose Business it is to chase the wild Beasts from the Purlieus into the Forest, and to present Offences within the Purlieu, and the Forest, &c. And though he is not properly an Officer in the Forest, yet he is a considerable Officer of and belonging to it. The Beadle is a Forest Officer, that warns all the Courts of the Forest, and executes Process, makes all Proclamations, &c. 4 Inst. 313. There are also Keepers or Bailiffs of Walks in Forests and Chafes, who are are subordinate to the Verderors, &c. And these Officers cannot be sworn on any Inquests or Juries out of the Forest. If any Man hunt Beasts within a Forest, although they are not Beasts of the Forest, they are punishable by the Forest Laws; because all Hunting there, without Warrant, is unlawful. 4 Inst. 314. If a Deer be hunted in a Forest, and afterwards by Hunting it is driven out of the Forest, and the Forester follows the Chase, and the Owner of the Ground where driven kills the Deer there; yet the Forester may enter into the Lands and retake the Deer: For Property in the Deer is in this Case by Pursuit. 2 Leon. 201. He that hath any Manner of Licence to hunt in a Forest, Chase, Park, &c. must take heed that he do not abuse his Licence, or exceed his Authority; for if he do, he shall be accounted a Trespasser ab initio, and be punished for that Fact as if he had no Licence at all. Manw. 280, 288. Every Lord of Parliament sent for by the King, may in coming and returning kill a Deer or two in the King's Forest or Chase through which he passes; but it must not be done privily, without the View of the Forester if present; or if absent by causing one to blow a Horn, because otherwise he may be a Trespasser, and seem to steal the Deer. Chart. Forest. c. 11. 4 Inst. 308. Lex Forestæ is a private Law, and must be pleaded. 2 Leon. 209. But it hath been observed, that the Laws of the Forest are established by Act of Parliament, and for the most part contained in Charta de Foresta, 9 H. 3. and 34 Ed. 1. By the Law of the Forest, Receivers of Trespassers in hunting or killing of Deer, knowing them to be such, or any of the King's Venison, are principal Trespassers; though the Trespass was not done to their Use or Benefit, as the Common Law requires; by which the Agreement subsequent amounts to a Commandment: But if the Receipt be out of the Bounds of the Forest, they cannot be punished by the Laws of the Forest, being not within the Forest Jurisdiction, which is local. 4 Inst. 317. If a Trespass be done in a Forest, and the Trespasser dies, it shall be punished after his Death in the Life-time of the Heir, contrary to the Common Law. Hue and Cry may be made by the Forest Law for Trespass, as to Venison; though it cannot be pursued but only within the Bounds of the Forest. 4 Inst. 294. And not pursuing Hue and Cry in the Forest, a Township, &c. may be fined and amerced. In every Trespass and Offence of the Forest in Vert or Venison, the Punishment is, to be imprisoned, ransomed, and bound to the good Behaviour of the Forest, which must be executed by a judicial Sentence by the Lord Chief Justice in Eyre of the Forest. If any Forester find any Person hunting without Warrant, he is to arrest his Body, and carry him to Prison; from whence he shall not be delivered without special Warrant from the King, or his Justices of the Forest, &c. But by 1 Ed. 3. c. 8. Persons are bailable if not taken in the Manner, as with a Bow ready to shoot, carrying away Deer killed, or smeared with Blood, &c. Tho' if one be not thus taken, he may be attached by his Goods. 4 Inst. 289. The Warden of the Forest shall let such to Mainprise until the Eyre of the Forest; or a Writ may be had out of the Chancery to oblige him to do it; and if he refuse to deliver the Party, a Writ shall go to the Sheriff to attach the Warden, &c. who shall pay treble Damages to the Party grieved, and be committed to Prison, &c. Stat. 1 Ed. 3. No Officer of the Forest may take or imprison any Person without due Indictment, or per main owere, with his Hand at the Work; nor shall constrain any to make Obligation against the Assise of the Forest, on Pain to pay double Damages, and to be ransomed at the King's Will. 7 R. 2. c. 4. A Forester shall not be questioned for killing a Trespasser, who (after the Peace cried unto him) will not yield himself; so as it be not done out of some former Malice. 21 Ed. 1. But if Trespassers in a Forest, &c. kill a Man who opposes them, although they bore no Malice to the Person killed, it is Murder; because they were upon an unlawful Act, and therefore Malice is implied. Roll. Abr. 548. And if Murder be committed by such Trespassers, all are Principals. Kel. Rep. 87. If a Man come into a Forest in the Night-time, the Forester cannot justify Beating him before he makes Resistance; but if he resists, he may justify the Battery. Persons may be fined for concealing the Killing of Deer by others; and so for carrying a Gun, with an Intent to kill the Deer: And he that steals Venison in the Forest, and carries it off on Horseback, the Horse shall be forfeited, unless it be a Stranger's ignorant of the Fact. 2 Par. Game Law 34, 35. Where Heath is burned in a Forest, the Offenders may be fined: And if any Man cuts down Bushes and Thorns, and carries them away in a Cart, he is fineable; and the Cart and Horses shall be seized by the Forest Laws. Ibid. 36, 46. But a Man may prescribe to cut Wood, &c. And every Freeman within the Forest, may on his own Ground make a Mill Dyke, or Arable Land, without inclosing such Arable; but if it be a Nuisance to others, it is punishable. Chart. Forest. c. 11. 12 Rep. 22. And if any having Woods in his own Ground, within any Forest, or Chase, shall cut the same by the King's Licence, &c. he may keep them several and inclosed, for seven Years after Felling. 22 E. 4. 7. By Charta de Foresta, no Man shall lose Life or Member for killing the King's Deer in any Forest, &c. but shall be fined; and if he have nothing to pay the Fine, he shall be imprisoned a Year and a Day; and then be delivered, if he can give good Security not to offend for the future; and if not, he shall abjure the Realm: Before this Statute, it was Felony to hunt the King's Deer. 2 Roll. 120. To hunt in a Forest, Park, &c. in the Night disguised, if denied or concealed, upon Examination before a Justice of Peace, it is Felony: But if confessed, it is only Fineable. 1 H. 7. c. 7. By the 9 Geo. 1. c. 22. If any Persons armed and disguised, shall appear in any Forest, Chase, &c. where Deer are kept, and hunt, wound, kill or steal any Deer; or if any Persons shall procure any one to join with them in any such unlawful Act; or shall rescue such an Offender, &c. they shall be guilty of Felony. And the Norman Kings punished those who hunted and killed Deer in Forests with great Severity, inflicting their Punishments in various Ways; as by Hanging, Forfeiture of Goods, and Loss of Limbs, Gelding, and putting out Eyes, &c. W. 1. H. 1. R. 1. &c. Felony committed within a Forest, is inquired of before the Judges of the Common Law; and not by the Justice of the Forest. See Drift of the Forest. Chase and Purlieu.

Forestagium, Seems to signify some Duty payable to the King's Foresters, as Chiminage or such like: Et sunt quieti de Thelonio & Passagio, & de Forestagio, &c. Chart. 18 E. 1.

Forestall, (Forestallamentum, from the Sax. Fore, i. e. via & Stal) Is to intercept on the Highway. Spelman says, it is Via obstructio, vel itineris interceptio; with whom agrees Coke on Litt. fol. 161. And according to Fleta, Forestalling significat obstructionem Viae vel Impedimentum transitus & fugæ averiorum, &c. lib. 1. c. 24. In our Law, Forestalling is the Buying or Bargaining for any Corn, Cattle, or other Merchandise, by the Way as they come to Fairs or Markets to be sold, before they are brought thither; to the Intent to sell the same again, at a higher and dearer Price. By the 5 & 6 Ed. 6. c. 14. any Buying or Contracting for Merchandise, Victuals, or other Thing whatsoever in the Way, coming by Land or Water to any Fair or Market, or to any Port, &c. to be sold, or causing the same to be bought, or dissuading People by Word, Letter, Message, or otherwise, from bringing such Things to Market, or persuading them to enhance the Price after they are brought thither, is Forestalling: And the Party guilty of any Offence of Forestalling, &c.

upon Conviction at the Quarter-Sessions by two Witnesses, on Bill, Information, Presentment, &c. shall for the first Offence, lose the Goods so bought, or the Value of them, and suffer two Months Imprisonment; for the second Offence, he shall forfeit double the Value, and be imprisoned six Months; and for the third Offence, he shall lose all his Goods, be set upon the Pillory, and be imprisoned at the King's Pleasure. Stat. Ibid. The Forfeitures are to the King's Use only, if there are no Informers; otherwise a Moiety goes to the King, and a Moiety to the Informer. All Endeavours to enhance the common Price of any Victuals or Merchandise, and Practices which have an apparent Tendency thereto, whether by spreading false Rumours, or buying Things in a Market before the accustomed Hour, or by buying and selling again the same Thing in the same Market, &c. are highly Criminal by the Common Law; and all such Offences anciently came under the general Appellation of Forestalling. 3 Inst. 195, 196. And so jealous is the Common Law of Practices of this Nature, which are a general Inconvenience and Prejudice to the People, and very oppressive to the poorer Sort, that it will not suffer Corn to be sold in the Sheaf before thrashed; for by such Sale the Market is in Effect Forestalled. 3 Inst. 197. H. P. C. 152. By the Common Law Persons guilty of Forestalling upon an Indictment found, are liable to a Fine and Imprisonment, answerable to the Heinousness of their Offence. 1 Hawk. 235. See Ingrosser.

Forestaller, Is a Person guilty in any of the Instances and Particulars described of Forestalling. 5 & 6 E. 6. c. 14.

Forsang or Forseng, (from the Sax. Fore, ante & sangen, prendere) Is the Taking of Provision from any one in Fairs or Markets, before the King's Purveyors are served with Necessaries for his Majesty. — Est captio obsequiorum, quæ in Foris aut Nundinis ab aliquo fit, priusquam Minister Regis ea cepit que Regi fuerint necessaria. Antecaptio vel preventio — Et sunt quædam de Wardwite & Forseng & Withfang, &c. Chart. Hen. 1. Hosp. Sancti Barth. Lond. Anno 1133.

Forfeiture, (Forisfactura, from the Fr. Forfait) Signifies the Effect or Penalty of transgressing some Law. It is of Lands or Goods, and differs from Confiscation, in that Forfeiture is more general; whereas Confiscation is particularly applied to such as are forfeit to the King's Exchequer, and Confiscate Goods are said to be such as no Body doth Claim. Staudf. P. C. 186. There is a full Forfeiture, plena Forisfactura, otherwise called Plena Vita, which is a Forfeiture of Life and Member, and all that a Man hath. Leg. H. 1. c. 88. And there is Mention in some Statutes, of Forfeiture at the King's Will, of Body, Lands, and Goods, &c. 4 Inst. 66. Forfeitures are in Criminal Matters, where a Person is attainted of Treason, Felony, &c. And as all Estates are said to be derived from the Crown; so all Forfeitures and Escheats of Lands belong to the King, unless granted away. Finch 132, 164. Also where Land comes to the Crown, as forfeited by Attainder of Treason, all mesne Tenures of common Persons are extinct; but if the King grant it out, the former Tenure shall be revived, for which a Petition of Right lies. 2 Hale's Hist. P. C. 254. In Treason, all Lands of Inheritance, whereof the Offender was seised in his own Right, were forfeited by the Common Law; and Rights of Entry, &c. 2 Hawk. P. C. 448. And the Inheritance of Things not lying in Tenure, as of Rent-Charges, Commons, &c. shall be forfeited in High Treason: But no Right of Action whatsoever to Lands of Inheritance is forfeited, either by the Common or Statute Law. Ibid. 449. All Lands, Tenements, &c. are forfeited in Treason by Stat. 26 H. 8. c. 13. And the King shall be adjudged in Possession of Lands and Goods forfeited for Treason on the Attainder of the Offender, without any Office found, saving the Right of others. 33 H. 8. c. 20.

Lands and Hereditaments in Fee-simple and Fee-tail; are forfeited in High Treason: But Lands in Tail could not be forfeited only for the Life of Tenant in Tail, till the Statute 26 H. 8. by which Statute they may be forfeited. 2 Hawk. Where Tenant for Life, &c. is attainted, the King shall have the Profits of the Lands during the Life of such Tenant only. 2 Inst. 37. There shall be no Forfeiture of Lands for Treason of dead Persons, not attainted in their Lives. Stat. 34 Ed. 3. c. 12. 3 Inst. 12. Though the Chief Justice of B. R. as Sovereign Coroner may view the Body of a Person killed in a Rebellion, and make a Record thereof, whereby he shall forfeit Lands and Goods. Wood's Inst. 654. And a Man may be attainted by Act of Parliament. 3 Inst. After the Decease of the Pretender, no Attainder for Treason in Scotland shall make any Forfeiture, to disinherit the Heir, &c. Stat. 7 Ann. c. 21. Upon Outlawry in Treason or Felony, the Offender shall forfeit as much as if he had appeared, and Judgment had been given against him so long as the Outlawry is in Force. 3 Inst. 52, 212. For Petit Treason, Murder, Burglary, Robbery, and all Felonies for which the Offenders shall suffer Death, they shall forfeit all their Lands in Fee-simple, Goods and Chattels. 1 Inst. 391. 1 Lill Abr. 628. But Gavelkind Land in Kent is not forfeited by committing of Felony; and by a Felony only, intailed Lands are not forfeit. S. P. C. 3. 26. Land that one hath in Trust; or Goods and Chattels in Right of another, or to another's Use, &c. will not be liable to Forfeiture. Tho' Leases for Years, in a Man's own, or his Wife's Right; Estates in Jointenancy, &c. and all Statutes, Bonds, and Debts due thereby, and upon Contracts, &c. shall be forfeited. 1 Inst. 42, 151. Staund. 188. A married Man guilty of Felony, Forfeits his Wife's Term; and if a Wife kill her Husband, the Husband's Goods are forfeited. Jenk. Cent. 65. In Man slaughter, the Offender forfeits Goods and Chattels: And in Chancery-medley and Je Defendant, Goods and Chattels; but the Offenders have their Pardon of Course. 1 Inst. 391. Those that are hanged by Martial Law in Time of War, forfeit no Lands. 1 Inst. 13. And for Robbery or Piracy, &c. on the Sea, if tried in the Court of Admiralty by the Civil Law, and not by Jury, there is no Forfeiture: But if a Person be attainted before Commissioners by Virtue of the Stat. 28 Hen. 8. there works a Forfeiture. 1 Lill Abr. The King shall have Goods of Felons, and Year, Day and Waste in their Lands, &c. which afterwards go to the Lord of the Manor of whom held. Magna Charta, c. 22. and 17 Ed. 2. c. 14. And the Profits of Lands whereof a Person attainted of Felony is seised of an Estate of Inheritance in Right of his Wife; or of an Estate for Life only in his own Right, are forfeited to the King, and nothing is forfeited to the Lord. 3 Inst. 19. Fitx. Aff. 166. By the Conviction of a Felon, his Goods and Chattels are forfeited; but by Attainder, his Lands and Tenements. 1 Inst. 291. The Forfeiture in Case of Felony shall relate to the Time mentioned in the Indictment when the Felony was committed, as to the avoiding of Estates and Charges after; but for the mean Profits of the Land, it shall relate only to the Judgment. 1 Inst. 390. Goods or Lands of one arrested for Felony, shall not be seised before he is convicted or attaint of the Felony; on Pain of forfeiting double Value. 1 R. 3. c. 3. Goods of a Felon, &c. cannot be seised before forfeited; though they may be inventoried, and a Charge made thereof before Indictment. Wood's Inst. 659. In Treason or Felony, the Delinquent may sell his Goods, be they Chattels real or personal, bona fide, before Conviction, for his Maintenance in Prison; for the King hath no Interest in the Forfeiture till Conviction. 8 Rep. And where Goods of a Felon are pawned before he is attainted, the King shall not have the Forfeiture of the Goods till the Money is paid to him to whom they were pawned. 3 Inst.

3 Inst. 17. 2 Nelf. Abr. 874, 875. Goods of Persons that fly for a Felony, are forfeited to the Lord of the Franchise, when the Flight is found of Record. 2 Inst. 281. A Felo de se forfeits all his Goods and Chattels. 3 Inst. 55. For Mispriison of Treason, the Forfeiture is Goods and Chattels, and Profits of Lands during Life. 1 Inst. 392. In a Præmunire, Lands in Fee-simple are forfeited, with Goods and Chattels. 1 Inst. 129. For Petit Larceny the Offender forfeits his Goods. 1 Inst. 391. And for standing Mute where Persons are adjudged to Penance, in Cases of Felony, there is a Forfeiture of Goods and Chattels; and to for challenging above 35 Jurors, &c. 3 Inst. 227. Drawing a Weapon upon a Judge, or striking another in the King's Courts, incurs Forfeiture of the Profits of Lands for Life, and of Goods: And it is the same Forfeiture for rescuing a Prisoner in or before any of those Courts, committed by the Justices. 2 Cro. 367. 3 Inst. 141. If a Woman after a Rape, consent to the Ravisher, she shall lose her Dower after the Death of her Husband, &c. Stat. 6 R. 2. c. 6. And if any Maiden or Woman Child above 12, and under 16 Years of Age, shall agree to be taken away and deflowred, or Contract with any Man for Marriage against the Will and without the Consent of her Father; or if he be dead, her Mother or Guardian appointed by her Father's Will, she shall forfeit her Land of Inheritance for her Life. 4 & 5 P. & M. c. 8. Artificers going out of the Kingdom, and teaching their Trades to Foreigners, are liable to forfeit their Lands, &c. by Stat. 5 Geo. 1. c. 27.

Forfeiture in civil Cases. A Man that hath an Estate for Life or Years, may forfeit it by many Ways, as well as by Treason or Felony, and such Means as are before mentioned: As by Alienation; by claiming a greater Estate than he hath, or affirming the Reversion to be in a Stranger, &c. If Tenant for Life, in Dower, by the Curtesy, or after Possibility of Issue extinct, or any Lessee for Years, Tenant by Statute Merchant, Staple, or Elegit, of Lands or Tenements that lie in Livery, shall make any absolute or conditional Feoffment in Fee, Gift in Tail, Lease for any other Life than his own, &c. or levy a Fine sur Consuance de Droit come ceo, &c. or suffer a common Recovery thereof; or being impleaded in a Writ of Right brought against him, join the Mise upon the Meer Right, or admit the Reversion to be in another; or in a quid Juris clamat, claim the Fee-simple; or if Lessee for Years being ousted, bring an Assise ut de libero Tenemento, &c. By either of these Things, there will be a Forfeiture of Estate. Plowd. 15. 1 Rep. 15. 8 Rep. 144. 1 Inst. 251. Dyer 324, 152. 1 Bulst. 219. But where the Land granted by Tenant for Life, or Years, is not well conveyed; or the Thing doth not lie in Livery, as a Rent, Common, or the like; he will not forfeit his Estate: And therefore if a Feoffment, Gift in Tail, or Lease for another's Life, made by the Tenant for Life, is not good, for Want of Words in the Making it, or due Execution in the Livery and Seisin, this shall not produce a Forfeiture. 2 Rep. 55. When Tenant in Tail makes Leases, not warranted by the Statute; a Copyholder commits Waite, refuses to pay his Rent, or do Scit of Court; and where an Estate is granted upon Condition, or Non-performance thereof, &c. they will make a Forfeiture. 1 Rep. 15. Also Offices may be forfeited by Neglect of Duty, &c. See Fine.

Forfeited Estates. There are several Statutes appointing Commissioners of forfeited Estates, on rebellions in this Kingdom and Ireland: By 11 & 12 W. 3. c. 3. all Lands and Tenements, &c. of Persons attainted or convicted of Treason or Rebellion in Ireland, were vested in several Commissioners and Trustees for Sale thereof; and any Person or Society might purchase any of the said Lands, and the Conveyances being inrolled, they should be actually seised thereof: And the Commissioners had Power to proceed summarily, and determine by Examinations on Oath, &c. The 1 Geo. 1. c. 50. appointed Commissioners to inquire of forfeited Estates in England and Scotland, on the Rebellion at Preston, &c. And the Estates of Persons attainted of Treason were vested in his Majesty for publick Uses; but afterwards in Trustees, to be sold for the Use of the Publick; and Purchasers to be Protestants. The Commissioners had Power to summon Claimants, and determine Claims, &c. for which they were a Court of Record; and five Judges were assigned to be a Court of Delegates to hear and determine Appeals. The Commissioners to give up their Accounts to the King, and both Houses of Parliament: And were also impowered to inquire of Estates of Popish Recusants, and Lands given to superstitious Uses; two Thirds of the former being liable to Forfeiture, and the latter vested in the Crown, &c. See 1 Geo. 1. c. 50. and 4 Geo. 1. c. 8. 5, 7 & 8 Geo. 1. and 5 Geo. 2. c. 23.

Forge, (Forgia) A Smith's Forge, to melt and work Iron—Henricus Rex concessisse, &c. & unam Forgiam Ferrariam ita liberam. Chart. Hen. 2.

Forgery, (From the Fr. Forger, i. e. accudere, fabricare, to beat on an Anvil, forge or form) Is where a Person fraudulently makes and publishes false Writings, to the Prejudice of another Man's Right; or it signifies the Writ that lies against him who commits such an Offence, the Penalty whereof is declared in the Stat. 5 Eliz. c. 14. And Forgery either at Common Law, or by Statute, punishable by Indictment, Information, &c. But there can be no Forgery, where none can be prejudiced by it but the Person doing it. 1 Salk. 375. Forgery by the Common Law extends to a false and fraudulent making or altering of a Deed or Writing, whether it be Matter of Record, or any other Writing, Deed, or Will. 3 Inst. 169. 1 Roll. Abr. 65. Not only where one makes a false Deed; but where a fraudulent Alteration is made of a true Deed, in a material Part of it, as by making a Lease of the Manor of Dale, appear to be a Lease of the Manor of Sale, by changing the Letter D. into an S. or by altering a Bond, &c. for 500 l. expressed in Figures, to 5000 l. by adding a new Cypher, these are Forgery: So it is if a Man finding another's Name at the Bottom of a Letter, at a considerable Distance from the other Writing, causes a Letter to be cut off, and a general Release be written above the Name, &c. Also a Writing may be said to be forged, where one being directed to draw up a Will for a sick Person, doth insert some Legacies therein falsely of his own Head; though there be no Forgery of the Hand or Seal; for the Crime of Forgery consists as well in endeavouring to give an Appearance of Truth to a meer Falstiy, as in counterfeiting a Man's Hand, &c. 1 Hawk. P. C. 182, 183. 3 Inst. 170. But a Person cannot regularly be guilty of Forgery, by an Act of Omission; as by omitting a Legacy out of a Will, which he is directed to draw for another: Though it has been held, that if the Omission of a Bequest to one cause a material Alteration in the Limitation of an Estate to another; as if the Devisor directs a Gift for Life to one Man, and the Remainder to another in Fee, and the Writer omit the Estate for Life, so that he in the Remainder hath a present Estate upon the Death of the Devisor, not intended to pass, this is Forgery. Noy 118. Moor 760. If one write a Will without any Direction, and bring it to the Testator, who is not of perfect Memory, and he signs it, this doth not amount to Forgery. Ibid. If a Feoffment be made of Land, and Livery and Seisin is not inrolled when the Deed is delivered, and afterwards on selling the Land for a valuable Consideration to another, other, Livery is indorsed upon the first Deed; this hath been adjudged Forgery both in the Feoffor and Feoffee; because it was done to deceive an honest Purchaser. Moor 665. And when a Person knowingly falsifies the Date of a second Conveyance, which he had no Power to make, in order to deceive a Purchaser, &c. he is said to be guilty of Forgery. 3 Inst. 169. 1 Hawk. 182. It seems to be no Way material, whether a forged Instrument be made in such Manner, that if it were in Truth such as it is counterfeited for, it would be of Validity or not. 1 Sid. 142. The Counterfeiting Writings of an inferior Nature, as Letters and such like, is not properly Forgery; but the Deceit is punishable. 1 Hawk. 184. By Stat. 1 H. 5. c. 3. a Forger or Publisher of false Deeds, was to pay Damages, Fine and Ransom. And by 5 Eliz. c. 14. If any Person alone or with others, shall falsly forge or make, or cause to be forged and made, or assent to the Forging of any Deed or Writing sealed, Court-Roll or Will in Writing, to the Intent that the Freehold or Inheritance of Lands may be defeated or charged; or shall pronounce, publish, or shew forth in Evidence any such forged Writing, as true, knowing of the Forgery; and shall be convicted thereof, upon an Action founded on this Statute, or otherwise by Bill, &c. in the King's Bench or Exchequer, he shall pay double Costs and Damages to the Party grieved and be set on the Pillory, and have both his Ears cut off, and his Nostrils slit, and shall forfeit to the King the Issues and Profits of his Lands and Tenements during Life, suffer perpetual Imprisonment, &c. And if any one shall forge or falsly make any Deed or Writing, containing a Lease for Years of Lands (not Copyhold) or an Annuity in Fee, for Life or Years, or any Obligation, Acquittance, Release, or other Discharge of any Debt or personal Demand, or publish or give in Evidence the same knowingly; he shall pay to the Party injured double Costs and Damages, and shall be likewise set on the Pillory, and lose one of his Ears, and be imprisoned for a Year. And if any Person shall be guilty of a second Offence, it shall be adjudged Felony, without Benefit of Clergy. Stat. Ibid. The Forgery of a Deed of Gift of meer personal Chattels, is not within the Words of the Statute which are Obligation, Acquittance, Release, &c. 3 Leon. 170. And forging an Assignment of a Lease is not within the Act, because it doth not charge the Lands, but only transfers an Interest which was in Being before. Noy 42. Forgery of a Lease of Lands in Ireland is not within this Statute. 3 Leon. 170. Where there is a Penalty in an Obligation, &c. the Party grieved by a forged Release thereof, shall recover double the Penalty as Damages, and not of the Debt appearing in the Condition. 3 Inst. 172. As to publishing a Deed, knowing the same to be forged, it has been resolved, that if a Person is informed by another that a Deed is forged, if he afterwards publishes it as true, he is within the Danger of this Statute. Ibid. 171. The King may pardon the corporal Punishment of Forgery which tends to common Example; but the Plaintiff cannot release it: If the Plaintiff release or discharge the Judgment or Execution, &c. it shall only discharge the Costs and Damages; and the Judges shall proceed to Judgment upon the Residue of the Pains, and award Execution upon the same. 5 Rep. 50. 5 Eliz. c. 12. But in an extraordinary Case a Forgery hath been compounded; and the Defendant discharged on paying a small Fine. 3 Salk. 172. In an Information for Forgery, it was adjudged that no Person who is or may be a Loser by the Deed forged, or who may receive any Benefit or Advantage by the Verdict being found against the Defendant, shall be a Witness for the King. Hard. 331. A Person convicted of Forgery, and adjudged to the Pillory, &c. whereby he becomes infamous, is not allowed to be a Witness; but it is a good Exception to his Evidence. Hawk. P. C. 432. And one convicted of this Crime, may be challenged on a Jury, so as to be incapable to serve as a Juror; and it hath been holden, that Exceptions to Persons found guilty of Perjury or Forgery, as well as Felony, &c. are not saved by a Pardon. 2 Hawk. 417. The Court of B. R. will not ordinarily at the Prayer of the Defendant, grant a Certiorari for Removal of an Indictment of Forgery, &c. 1 Sid. 54. By a late Act, Forging or Counterfeiting any Deed, Will, Bond, Bill of Exchange, Note or Acquittance for Money, or any Indorsement or Assignment of a Bill, &c. with Intent to defraud any Person, or publishing such false Deed, &c. to be true, knowingly, the Offenders shall be guilty of Felony, and suffer Death as Felons; but not to work Corruption of Blood, &c. Stat. 2 Geo. 2. c. 25. Vide 7 Geo. 2. c. 22. Forging of Exchequer and Bank Bills, Lottery Tickets, Letters of Attorney to transfer Stock, &c. See Felony.

An Indictment for forging a Deed.

Wilts, ff. THE Jurors, &c. That A. B. late of, &c. on the Day, &c. in the Year of the Reign, &c. at M. in the said County, upon his own Head and Imagination, did wittingly, subtilly and falsly forge and make a certain false Deed, that is to say, a certain Indenture, whereby one C. D. did bargain and sell all his Lands called, &c. with the Appurtenances in, &c. in the said County to one E. F. and then and there published, and caused the said Indenture to be read and shewed forth in Evidence, to the Intent to molest and trouble the Estate, Possession, Title and Interest of the said C. D. in the Lands and Tenements aforesaid, and whereby the said C. D. is greatly troubled and molested in his Possession, Title and Interest in the said Lands and Tenements, with the Appurtenances, in Contempt of our said Sovereign Lord the now King, to the Grievance and Damage of him the said C. D. and against the Form of the Statute in such Case made and provided, and also against the Peace, &c.

Forma

Forma Pauperis, Is where any Person has just Cause of Suit, and is so poor, that he cannot bear the usual Charges of suing at Law, or in Equity: In this Case, upon his making Oath that he is not worth 5 l. his Debts being paid, and bringing a Certificate from some Lawyer that he hath Cause of Suit, the Judge admits him to sue in forma Pauperis, i. e. without paying any Fees to Counsellor, Attorney or Clerk: This had Beginning from the Stat. 11 H. 7. c. 12. by which it is enacted, that poor Persons having Cause of Action or Suits, shall have Original Writs, Counsel and Attorneys, assigned them gratis. On proceeding in Chancery, Affidavit is first made that the Plaintiff is not worth 5 l. in Lands, Tenements, Goods or Chattels, his wearing Apparel, and the Matters of the Suit excepted; and then a Petition is drawn up and presented to the Lord Chancellor or Master of the Rolls, praying to be admitted in forma Pauperis, and to have Counsel, &c. assigned him, who are neither to take Fees, nor make any Contract or Agreement for Recompence, on Pain of Punishment; and no Counsellor or Attorney assigned shall refuse to proceed, without shewing good Cause to the Lord Chancellor, &c. Pract. Sol. 24. If it be made appear, that any Pauper has fold or contracted for the Benefit of his Suit, while depending in Court, such Cause shall be thenceforth wholly dismissed. And a Man suing in forma Pauperis is not to have a new Trial granted him, but is to acquiesce in the Justice of the Court; nor shall Paupers be admitted to remove Causes out of inferior Courts. 1 Mod. 268. If a Cause goes against a Pauper, or a Plaintiff in forma Pauperis be Nonsuit; he shall not pay Costs to the Defendant, but shall suffer such Punishment in his Person as the Court shall award. 23 H. 8. c. 15. 1 Lill. Abr. 634. 2 Sid. 261. Paupers using Delays, to vex their Adversaries; or being proved to be vexatious Persons, and having many frivolous Suits depending, will be dispaupered by the Court; for the Law doth not assist them to do Injury to others. 1 Lill. 633.

Formedon, (Breve de Forma donationis) Is a Writ that lieth for him who hath Right to Lands or Tenements by Virtue of any Intail, growing from the Statute of Westm. 2. c. 2. It is a Writ of Right for Recovery of Land; and is of three Kinds, viz. in Descender, Remainder and Reverter: Formedon in Descender lieth where Tenant in Tail infeoffs a Stranger, or is disseised, and dieth, the Heir shall have this Writ to recover the Land. Formedon in Remainder lieth where one gives Land in Tail, and for Default of Issue the Remainder to another in Tail, &c. If the Tenant in Tail die without Issue, and a Stranger abates and enters into the Land, he in Remainder shall have this Writ. Formedon in the Reverter lieth where Land is intailed to certain Persons and their Issue, with Remainder over for Want of Issue, and on the Remainder failing to revert to the Donor and his Heirs; now if Tenant in Tail dies without leaving any Issue, and likewise he in Remainder, then the Donor or his Heirs to whom the Reversion comes, shall have this Writ for Recovery of the Estate, in Case it be aliened, &c. Reg. Orig. 238, 242. F. N. B. 111. Formedon in Descender is the highest Writ a Tenant in Tail can have: And where Tenant in Tail aliens, or is disseised of his Estate, or if a Recovery is had against him by Default, and he die, his Heir shall have a Formedon, it being the only Remedy the Heir may have for the Possession of his Ancestor; but if he be outed of his own Possession, as if he be seised, and put out, he shall have his Writ of Affise. There is a Writ of Formedon in Descender, where Partition of Lands held in Tail, being made among Parceners, &c. and one alieneth her Part, her Heir shall have this Writ: And by the Death of one Sister without Issue, the Partition is made void, and the other shall have the whole Land as Heir in Tail. New Nat. Br. 476, 477. Also there is a Writ of Formedon insimul tenuit, that lies for a Coparcener against a Stranger upon the Possession of the Ancestor; which may be brought without naming the other Coparcener who hath her Part in Possession. Ibid. 481. This Writ may be likewise had by one Heir in Gavelkind, &c. of Lands intailed; and where the Lands are held without Partition. A Demandant in a Writ of Formedon, ought to make his Descent by all which did hold the Estate; otherwise the Writ will abate; and the Demandant should always be made Cousin and Heir, or Son and Heir to him who was last seised of the Tail; but the surest Way is to make every Man named in the Writ Son and Heir in the Writ; and it is not material whether they were seised or not, altho' they are named Heir. 8 & 11 H. 6. In a Formedon in Descender, the Demandant is to set forth his Pedigree in the Declaration: In Formedon in Remainder, that the Tenant in Tail is dead without Issue; but in a Formedon in Reverter the Donor, &c. need not shew the Pedigree of the Issue, nor who was last seised, because he is supposed to be a Stranger to them. 2 Nelf. Abr. 880. Where a Fee-simple is demanded in a Formedon in Reverter, the Taking of the Profits ought to be alledged in the Donor, and Donee: If an Estate-tail is demanded, it must be alledged in the Donee only. 1 Lutw. 96. The Writ of Formedon is now rarely brought, except in some special Cases, where it cannot be avoided; and the trying Titles by Ejectione firmæ supplies it's Place, at an easier Rate: But when it is necessary, the Forms following are of use.

Form of a Writ of Formedon in Descender, &c.

GORGE the Second, &c. To the Sheriff of W. Greeting: Command A. B. that he render to C. D. one Messuage, &c. with the Appurtenances in, &c. That R. B. gave to T. D. of, &c. and the Heirs of his Body issuing, and which after the Death of the said T. D. to the aforesaid C. D. Son and Heir of him the said T. D. ought to descend, by Form of the Gift aforesaid, as he saith, and unless, &c. If in Remainder; That R. B. gave to L. D. and the Heirs of his Body issuing; so that if the said L. D. should die without Heir of his Body issuing, the said Messuage and Lands, with the Appurtenances, should remain to the aforesaid C. D. and his Heirs; and that after the Death of the said L. D. to the said C. D. they ought to remain, by Form of the Gift aforesaid, because the said L. D. died without Heir of his Body issuing, as he saith, &c. If in Reverter; That T. D. Father of the said C. D. whose Heir he is, gave to, &c. and the Heirs of their Bodies issuing, and which after the Death of, &c. to the said C. D. ought to revert, by Form of the Gift aforesaid, because the said, &c. are dead, without Heirs of their Bodies issuing, as he saith, and unless, &c.

Form of a Declaration in a Formedon.

Wilts, ff. C. D. by, &c. his Attorney demands against A. B. one Messuage, one Garden, and two Acres of Land, with the Appurtenances in W. which L. D. gave to T. D. his Son, and the Heirs of his Body begotten, and which after the Death of the said T. D. the Son of L. D. to the said C. Son and Heir of the said T. Son of the said L. ought to descend, by Form of the Gift, &c. And whereupon he saith, that the said L. by his Deed of Gift or Feoffment made the Day and Year, &c. Gave the Tenements aforesaid, with the Appurtenances, to the said T. his Son, and the Heirs of his Body to be begotten, in Form as aforesaid; by which Gift the said T. the Son of the said L. was seised of the said Tenements, with the Appurtenances, in his Demesne as of Fee and Right, by Form of, &c. in the Time of Peace, in the Reign of George the First, late King of Great Britain, taking thereof the Profits to the Value, &c. And from the said T. descendeth the Right, by the Form, &c.

to the said C. now the Demandant, as Son and Heir of the Body of the said T. And which after the Death, &c. And therefore he brings his Suit, &c.

Fozmella, A certain Weight of about seventy Pounds, mentioned in the Statute of Weights and Measures. 51 H. 3.

Foznagium, Furnagium, (Fr. Fournage) Signifies the Fee taken by a Lord of his Tenants, bound to bake in the Lord's common Oven, or for a Permission to use their own; this was usual in the Northern Parts of England. Plac. Parl. 18 Ed. 1.

Fornication, (Fornicatio, from the Fornices in Rome, where lewd Women prostituted themselves for Money) Is Whoredom, or the Act of Incontinency in single Persons; for if either Party is married, it is Adultery. The Stat. 1 H. 7. c. 4. mentions this Crime; which by an Act made Anno 1650. during the late Times of Usurpation, was punished with three Months Imprisonment for the first Offence; and the second Offence 'tis said was made Felony. Scobel's Collect. The Spiritual Courts hath Cognisance of this Offence: And formerly Courts-Lett had Power to inquire of and punish Fornication and Adultery; in which Courts the King had a Fine assessed on the Offenders, as appears by the Book of Domesday. 2 Inq. 488.

Fozpise, (Forprisum) An Exception or Reservation, in which Sense it is used in the Stat. 14 Ed. 1. This Word is frequently inserted in Leases and Conveyances, wherein Excepted and Foreprised is an usual Expression. In another Signification it is taken for any Exaction; according to Tborn. Anno 1285.

Fozfes, (Catadupa) Water-falls, so called in Westmoreland. Camb. Britan.

Fozspeaker, An Attorney or Advocate in a Cause. Blount.

Foztia, Power, Dominion or Jurisdiction: And we read of Infortians Placitum, by Judges assembled. Leg. H. 1. c. 29.

Foztiozi, à fortiori or Multo fortiori, Is an Argument often used by Littleton, to this Purpose: If it be so in a Peoffment passing a new Right, much more is it for the Restitution of an ancient Right, &c. Co. Lit. 253, 260.

Foztilice and Foztility, (Fortellecum) Signifies a fortified Place, Bulwark or Castle; as it is said within the Towns and Fortilities of Berwick and Carlisle, Anno 11 H. 7. c. 18.

Foztlet, (Fr.) A Place or Fort of some Strength; or rather a little Fort. Old Nat. Br. 45.

Foztuna, Is that which is called in our Law Treasure trove, i. e. Theaurum ducente Fortuna invenire — Inquirendum est per 12 Jurator. pro Rege, &c. quod fideliter presentabant omnes Fortunas, Abjuraciones, &c.

Foztunium, A Tournament or Fighting with Spears; or an Appeal to Fortune therein. Mat. Paris. Anno 1241.

Fozsa, A Ditch full of Water; wherein Women committing Felony were drowned: It has been likewise used for a Grave, in ancient Writings. See Furca.

Foztatium, (Lat.) Is a Ditch or Place fenced round with a Ditch or Trench; also it is taken for the Obligations of Citizens, to repair the City Ditches. Foztatura signifies the same with Foztatium; And the Work or Service done by Tenants, &c. for Repairing and Maintenance of Ditches is called Foztatorum operatio; and the Contribution for it Foztagium. Kennet's Gloss.

Foztway, (From Fozsus, digged) Was anciently one of the four principal Highways of England, leading through the Kingdom; which had its Name from its being supposed to be digged and made passable by the Romans, and having a Ditch upon one Side. Cowel.

Foztwean, (Sax.) Nuptial Gifts, which we call a Jointure or Stipend for the Maintenance of the Wife. — Postea sciendum est cui Foztwean pertinet, wadiet hoc Brigdunia & plogent amici sui.

Fozther or Fozdter, (From the Teuton. Fuder) Is a Weight of Lead containing eight Pigs, and every Pig one and twenty Stone and a Half; so that it is about a Tun or common Cart-load: Among the Plumbers in London it is Nineteen hundred and an Half; and at the Mines it is Two and twenty hundred Weight and a Half. Skens.

Fozbea, A Place for Burial of the Dead. Statut. Eccl. Paulin London. MS. 29.

Foundation, The Founding and Building of a College or Hospital is called Foundatio, quasi fundatio, or fundamenti locatio. Co. lib. 10. The King only can found a College; but there may be a College in Reputation, founded by others. Dyer 267. If it cannot appear by Inquisition, who it was that founded a Church or College, it shall be intended it was the King; who has Power to found a new Church, &c. Moor 282. The King may found and erect an Hospital, and give a Name to the House, upon the Inheritance of another, or licence another Person to do it upon his own Lands; and the Words, Fundo, Creo, &c. are not necessary in every Foundation, either of a College or Hospital made by the King; but it is sufficient if there be Words equivalent: The Incorporation of a College or Hospital is the very Foundation; but he who indows it with Lands is the Founder; and to the Erection of an Hospital nothing more is requisite but the Incorporation and Foundation. 10 Rep. Case of Sulton's Hosp. Persons seized of Estates in Fee-simple, may erect and found Hospitals for the Poor, by Deed enrolled in Chancery, &c. which shall be incorporated, and subject to such Visitors as the Founder shall appoint, &c. Stat. 39 Eliz. Where a Corporation is named, it is said the Name of the Founder is Parcel of the Corporation. 2 Nels. 886. Though the Foundation of a Thing may alter the Law, as to that particular Thing; yet it shall not work a general Prejudice. 1 Lill. Abr. 634.

Founder of Metal, (From the Fr. Fondre, to melt or pour) Is he that melts Metal, and makes any Thing of it by Pouring or Casting it into a Mould. 17 R. 2. c. 1. Whence is Bell-founder, a Fount of Letters, &c.

Foutcher, (Fr. Fourchir) Signifies a putting off, or delaying of an Action; and has been compared to flammering, by which the Speech is drawn out to a more than ordinary Length of Time, as by Fourchir a Suit is prolonged, which might be brought to a Determination in a shorter Space: The Device is commonly used when an Action or Suit is brought against two Persons, who being jointly concerned, are not to answer till both Parties appear; and is where the Appearance or Effoin of one, will excuse the other's Default, and they agree between themselves that one shall appear or be effoined one Day, and for Want of the other's appearing, have Day over to make his Appearance with the other Party; and at that Day allowed the other Party doth appear, but he that appeared before doth not, in Hopes to have another Day by Adjournment of the Party who then made his Appearance. Terms de Ley 356. This is called Fourcher; and in the Statute of West. 1. c. 42. it is termed Fourcher by Effoin; where are Words to this Effect, viz. Coparceners, Jointenants, &c. may not fourch by Effoin, to effoin severally; but shall have only one Effoin, as one sole Tenant. And Anno 6 Ed. 1. c. 10. it is used in like Manner: The Defendants shall be put to answer without Fourchir, &c. 23 Hen. 6. c. 2. 2 Inst. 250. Fourcher in the Latin is writ Furcare; because it is two-fold.

Fraffion. The Law makes no Fraffion of a Day; if any Offence be committed, in Case of Murder, &c. the Year and Day shall be computed from the Beginning of the Day on which the Wound was given, &c. and not from the precise Minute or Hour. 2 Harw. 163. See Co. Litt. 255.

Fraffitium,

Fraetium, Is made Use of for arable Land.—Pratum de Mura & tres Acr. terre de Fraetio. Mon. Ang. Tom. 2. 873.

Fraetura nantium, Wreck of Shipping at Sea.

Frampole fences, Are such Fences as the Tenants in the Manor of Writtel in Essex, set up against the Lord's Demains; and they are intitled to the Wood growing on those Fences, and as many Poles as they can reach from the Top of the Ditch with the Helve of an Axe, towards the Reparation of their Fences. It is thought the Word Frampole comes from the Sax. Frempul, profitable; or that it is a Corruption of Frampole, because the Poles are free for the Tenants to take: But Chief Justice Brampton, whilst he was Steward of the Court of the Manor of Writtel, acknowledged that he could not find out the Reason why those Fences were called Frampole; so that we are at a Loss to know the Truth of this Name etymologically.

Franchilanus, (Fr. Franchi, i. e. free) A Freeman.—Sciatis me dedisse, cum Villanis, & Franchilano, & cum Tenuris eorum, &c. Chart. H. 4. And we find Francus homo used for a Freeman in Domesday.

Franchise, (Fr.) Is taken for a Privilege or Exemption from ordinary Jurisdiction; as for a Corporation to hold Pleas to such a Value, &c. And some times it is an Immunity from Tribute, when it is either personal or real, that is belonging to a Person immediately; or by Means of this or that Place whereof he is Chief or a Member. Crompt. Jurisd. 141. There is also a Franchise Royal; which seems to be that where the King's Writ runs not. 21 H. 6. c. 4. But Franchise Royal is said by some Authors, to be where the King grants to one and his Heirs, that they shall be quit of Toll, &c. Bract. lib. 2. c. 5. A Franchise in general is a Royal Privilege in the Hands of a Subject; and may be vested in Bodies Politick or Corporations, either aggregate or sole, or in many Persons that are not Corporations, (as in Borough Towns, &c.) or in a single Person: And Franchises are of different Kinds; such as the Principality of Wales, Counties Palatine, Counties, Hundreds, Ports of the Sea, &c. Then there is a Franchise or Liberty of having a Leet, Manor or Lordship, as well as a Liberty to make a Corporation, and to have Cognizance of Pleas; and Bailiwicks of Liberties, the Liberty of a Forest, Chase, &c. Fairs and Markets, Felons Goods, Goods of Fugitives, Outlaws, Deadlands, Treasure Trove, Waifs, Estrays, Wracks, &c. All these come under Franchises and Liberties. F. N. B. 230. 2 Inst. 221. All Franchises and Liberties are derived from the Crown, and some are held by Charter; but some lie in Prescription and Usage, without the Help of any Charter. Finch 164. And Usage may uphold Franchises, which may be claimed by Prescription, without Record either of Creation, Allowance or Confirmation; and Wreck of the Sea, Waifs, Strays, Fairs and Markets, and the like, are gained by Usage, and may become due without any Matter of Record. 2 Inst. 281. 9 Rep. 27. But Goods of Felons and Outlaws, and such like, grow due by Charter, and cannot be claimed by Usage, &c. Ibid. It hath been adjudged, that Grants of Franchises, made before the Time of Memory, ought to have Allowance within Time of Memory in the King's Bench, or before the Barons of the Exchequer, or by some Confirmation on Record; and it is said they are not Records pleadable, if they have not the Aid of some Matter of Record within Time of Memory; and such ancient Grants, after such Allowance, shall be construed as the Law was when they were made, and not as it hath been since altered: But Franchises granted within Time of Memory are pleadable without any Allowance or Confirmation; and if they have been allowed or confirmed as aforesaid, the Franchises may be claimed by Force thereof, without shewing the Charter. 9 Rep. 27. 28. 2 Inst. 281, 494. There have been formerly several ancient Prerogatives divided from the Crown, besides the Franchises aforesaid; as Power to pardon Felony, make Justices of Assise, and of the Peace, &c. Though by the Stat. 27 H. 8. c. 24. they were resumed and reunited to the Crown; and the King cannot grant Power to another to make Strangers born, Denizens here, because such Power is by Law inseparably annexed to his Person. 7 Rep. 25. By several ancient Statutes, the Church shall have all her Liberties and Franchises inviolable: And the Lords Spiritual and Temporal shall enjoy their Liberties, &c. and the King may not deprive them of any of them. 9 H. 3. c. 1. 14 Ed. 3. 2 H. 4. c. 1. By the Statute of Magna Charta, 9 H. 3. c. 37. The Franchises and Liberties of the City of London, and all other Cities, Towns, &c. are confirmed. The 30 Ed. 1. ordains, that a Writ shall issue out to the Sheriffs of Counties, to permit all Men to enjoy their ancient Liberties and Franchises; and on Proclamation made, they shall shew their Tenures to the Justices of Assise, or forfeit their Franchises. The Franchises of Religious Houses were granted to the King, by Stat. 32 H. 8. c. 20. All Writs, Processes, &c. in Franchises, are to be made in the King's Name; and Stewards, Bailiffs, and other Ministers of Liberties, shall attend the Justices of Assise, and make due Execution of Process, &c. 27 H. 8. Some Franchises, as York, Bristol, &c. have Return of Writs, to whom Mandates are directed from the Courts above, to execute Writs and Process: And a Mayor or Bailiff of a Town, may have Liberty to keep Courts, and hold Pleas in a certain Place, according to the Course of the Common Law; and Power to draw Causes out of the King's Courts, by an exclusive Jurisdiction: But the Causes here may be removed to the superior Courts. 1 Inst. 114. 4 Inst. 87, 224. Sheriffs of Counties, within which is any Franchise, the Lord whereof is intitled to a Return of Writs, shall on his Request, appoint one or more Deputies, to reside at some Place near, there to receive all Writs in the Sheriff's Name, and under his Seal to issue Warrants for their due Execution; and the Lord Chancellor is to settle the Charges to be paid any such Deputy, &c. by 13 Geo. 2. c. 18. A Franchise hath no Relation to the County wherein it lies, as has been generally held; for it is not necessary to set forth the County when any Thing is shewed to be done within a Liberty or Franchise. Tin. 23 Car. B. R. If a Franchise fails to administer Justice within the same, the Franchise shall not be allowed; but on any such Failure, the Court of B. R. may compel the Owners of the Franchise, &c. to do Justice; for this Court ought to see Justice equally distributed to all Persons. 1 Lill. Abr. 635. Franchises may be forfeited and seized where they are abused, for Mis-user or Non-user; and when there are many Points, a Mis-user of any One will make a Forfeiture of the Whole on a Quo Warranto brought. Kitch. 65. And where Franchises come to the Crown again from whence derived, by Forfeiture, &c. they are extinguished; but in some Cases it is said they are not. For Contempt of the King's Writ, in a County Palatine, &c. the Liberties may be seized, and the Offenders fined; and the Temporalities of a Bishop, have been adjudged to be seized until he satisfied the King for such a Contempt, on Information exhibited, &c. Cro. Car. 253. The Bishop of Durham pretending he had such a Franchise, that the King's Writ was not to come there, and because one brought it thither he imprisoned him; this being proved upon an Information brought against him, it was adjudged he should pay a Fine to the King, and lose his Liberties. 2 Shep. Abr. 250. Where-ever the King is Party to a Suit, as in all Informations and Indictments, the Process ought to be executed by the Sheriff, and not the Bailiff of any Franchise, whether it have the Clause Non omittas, &c. or not; for the King's Prerogative shall be preferred to any Franchise. 2 Hawk. 284. And Sheriffs upon a Non omittas, or on a Capias Utlagatum, or Quo minus, may enter and make Arrests Arrests in any Franchife. 1 Lill. 635. If a Person claims Franchises which he ought not to have, it is a Usurpation upon the King; and not shewing his Title, the King shall take from him his Franchife. Poph. 180. 1 Bull. 54. See Quo Warranto.

Francigenæ, Was the general Appellation of all Foreigners. Vide Englery.

Francifine, Is used to denote a Freeman or Gentleman, in our ancient Authors. Fortefine.

Frank, A French Gold Coin, worth about a French Shilling; but in Computation was twenty Sols, which is a Livre, and twenty Pence in our Money.

Frankalmoin, (Libera Eleemosyna) Is a Tenure by Spiritual Service, where an Ecclesiastical Corporation, sole or aggregate, holdeth Land to them and their Successors, of some Lord and his Heirs in free and perpetual Alms: And perpetual supposes it to be a Fee-simple; though it may pass without the Word Successors. Litt. 133. 1 Inst. 94. A Lay Person cannot hold in free Alms: And when a Grant is in Frankalmoin, no Mention is to be made of all Manner of Service; for it is free from any Temporal Service, and is of the highest Nature, because it is a Tenure by Spiritual Service. Litt. 137. None can hold in Frankalmoin but by Prescription, or by Force of some Grant made before the Statutes of Mortmain, 7 Ed. 1. c. 36, and 18 Ed. 1. c. 1. so that the Tenure cannot at this Day be created, to hold of a Founder and his Heirs in free Alms: But the King is not restrained by the Statutes; nor a Subject licensed or dispensed with by the King, to make such a Grant, &c. 1 Inst. 98, 99. And if an Ecclesiastical Person holds Lands by Fealty and certain Rent, the Lord may at this Time confirm his Estate, to hold to him and his Successors in Frankalmoin; for the former Services are extinct, and nothing is reserved but that he should hold of him, which he did before; whereby this Change and Alteration is not within the Stat. 18 Ed. 1. of Quia emptores Terrarum. Litt. 540. 1 Inst. 99, 306. Tenure in Frankalmoin is incident to the Inheritable Blood of the Donor or Founder; except in Case of the King, who may grant this Tenure to hold of him and his Successors. Litt. 135. And the Reason why a Grant in Frankalmoin, since the Stat. 18 Ed. 1. is void, except in the Case of the King, &c. is because none can hold Land by this Tenure, but of the Donor; whereas the Statute injoins, that it be held of the Chief Lord, by the same Service by which the Feoffor held it; though the King may grant away any Estate, and reserve the Tenure to himself. 1 Inst. 99, 223. If any Persons that hold Lands or Tenements in Frankalmoin, make any Failure in doing such Divine Service as they ought, the Lord may make Complaint of it to the Ordinary or Visitor; which is the King, if he be Founder, or a Subject where he was appointed Visitor upon the Foundation; and the Ordinary, &c. may punish the Negligence, according to the Ecclesiastical Laws. Litt. 136. 1 Inst. 96. Also for Neglect in performing Divine Service in certain, the Lord may distrain: But Frankalmoin is said to be held by Service uncertain; and where the Tenure is tied to certain Services, as to read Prayers every Friday, &c. this is not Frankalmoin, but Tenure by Divine Service; it is Lands given in Alms, but not in free Alms. Briton, c. 66. The Tenure by Frankalmoin is an ancient Tenure, chiefly to be met with in Grants to religious Houses, Bishops, Deans, Colleges, &c. and is become out of Use.

Frank-Chafe, Is a Liberty of Free Chafe; by which all Persons that have Lands within the Compass thereof, are prohibited to cut down any Wood, &c. without the View of the Forester, though it be in their own Demesnes. Cromp. Jurisd. 187.

Frank-fee, Is where Freehold Lands are held exempted from all Services, but not from Homage. In the Register of Writs, we find that is Frank-fee, which a Man holds at the Common Law, to him and his Heirs; and not by such Service, as is required in Ancient Demesne, according to the Custom of the Manor: And that the Lands in the Hand of King Edward the Confessor, at the Making of the Book of Domesday, were Ancient Demesne, and all the rest Frank-fee; wherewith Fitzberbert agrees. Reg. Orig. 12. F. N. B. 161. And the Author of the Terms of the Law defines a Frank-fee to be a Tenure pleadable at the Common Law; and not in Ancient Demesne. Terms de Ley 358. — Feudum Francum est, pro quo nullum Servitium præstatur Domino. Frachineus, lib. 7. c. 39.

Frank-ferm, Was when Lands or Tenements were changed in the Nature of the Fee, by Feoffment, &c. out of Knight Service, for certain yearly Services. Briton, c. 66. See Fee farm.

Frank-Law, (Libera Lex) Is applied to the Benefit of the Free and Common Law of the Land. You may find what it is by the contrary, from Crompton in his Justice of Peace; where he says, he that for any Offence loseth his Frank Law, falls into these Mischiefs, viz. He may never be impanelled upon any Jury or Assize; or be permitted to give any Testimony: If he hath any Thing to do in the King's Courts, he must not attend them in Person, but appoint his Attorney therein for him: And his Lands shall be estreated, and his Body committed to Prison, &c. Cromp. Jurisd. 156. Lib. Assis. 59. See Conspiracy.

Frank-Mariage, (Liberum Maritogium) Is where a Man seized of Land in Fee-simple, gives it to another with his Daughter, Sister, &c. in Marriage; to hold to them and their Heirs: And it is a Tenure in special Tail, growing from these Words in the Gift, i. e. Sciant, &c. me A. B. dedisse & concessisse, &c. T. B. filio meo & Annæ Uxor. ejus, filie, &c. in Liberum Maritogium unum Messuagium, &c. Lit. 17. West. Symb. par. 1. lib. 2. sect. 303. The Effect of which Word is, That they shall have the Land to them and the Heirs of their Bodies; and shall do no Services to the Donor, except Fealty, until the fourth Degree. Glanvil, lib. 7. c. 18. And Fleta gives this Reason why the Heirs do no Service until the fourth Degree: Ne Donatores vel eorum hæredes per Homagii receptionem, a reversione repellantur. And why in the fourth Descent and downward, they shall do Services to the Donor; Quia in quarto gradu vehementer præsumitur, quod Terra est pro defuncti hæredum Donatorum reversura. Fleta, lib. 3. c. 11. All this appears in Brañon, lib. 2. c. 7. where it is said, that Lands in Frank-Mariage are quieta & libera ab omni singulari servitio, &c. usque ad tertium hæredem, & usque ad quartum gradum. Also Brañon divides Marriage into Liberum Maritogium and Maritogium servitio obligatum; which last was where Lands were given in Marriage, with a Reservation of the Services to the Donor, which the Donee and his Heirs were bound to perform for ever; but neither he, or the next two Heirs, were obliged to do Homage, which was to be done when it came to the fourth Degree, and then, and not before, were required to be performed both Services and Homage. Brañ. lib. 2. Lands given by one Man to another with a Wife in Frank-Mariage, amounts by Implication to a Gift in Tail; which in this Case may be created without the Words Heirs or Body. Litt. 17. Wood's Inst. 120. A Gift in Frank-Mariage might be made as well after as before Marriage: And such a Gift was a Fee-simple before the Statute of Westm. 2. but since, it is usually a Fee-tail: These Gifts were common in former Times, whereon Questions in Law did arise; but are now disused. 2 Nelf. Abr. 888.

Frank-pledge, (Franci plegium, from the French Franc, i. e. Liber, and Pledge, Fidejussor) Signifies a Pledge or Surety for the Behaviour of Freemen; it being the ancient Custom of this Kingdom, borrowed from the Lombards, that for the Preservation of the publick Peace, every Free-born Man at the Age of Fourteen, (Religious Persons, Clerks, &c. excepted) should should give Security for his Truth towards the King and his Subjects, or be committed to Prison; whereupon a certain Number of Neighbours, usually became bound one for another, to see each Man of their Pledge forth-coming at all Times, or to answer the Transgression done by any gone away; And whenever any one offended, it was forthwith inquired in what Pledge he was, and then those of that Pledge either produced the Offender within One and thirty Days, or satisfied for his Offence. This was called Frank-pledge; and this Custom was so kept, that the Sheriffs at every County-Court, did from Time to Time take the Oaths of young Persons as they grew to fourteen Years of Age, and see that they were settled in one Decenary or other; whereby this Branch of the Sheriff's Authority was called Visus franci plegii, or View of Frank-pledge. At this Day no Man ordinarily giveth other Security for the Keeping of the Peace, than his own Oath; so that none answereth for the Transgression of another, but every Person for himself. 4 Inst. 78. Living under Frank-pledge has been termed living under Law, &c. See the Statute of Visu of Frank-pledge, 18 Ed. 3. And Court-Let, Deciner, &c.

Frank-Tenement, A Possession of Freehold Lands and Tenements. See Freehold.

Frassetum, A Corruption of Fraxinetum, is taken for a Wood or woody Ground, where Albes grow. 1 Inst. 4.

Frateria, A Fraternity, Brotherhood or Society of Religious Persons, who were bound to pray for the good Health and Life, &c. of their living Brethren, and the Souls of those that were dead: In the Statutes of the Cathedral Church of St. Paul in London, collected by Ralph Baldock, Dean, 1295. there is one Chapter de Frateria Beneficiorum Ecclesie S. Pauli, &c.

Fraternities, Of Places in respect to a Trade or Mystery. Vide Corporation.

Fratres conjurati, Are sworn Brothers or Companions; sometimes those were so called who were sworn to defend the King against his Enemies. Hoveden, p. 445. Leg. W. 1.—Præcipimus ut omnes Liberi homines sint Fratres conjurati ad Monarchiam nostram & Regnum nostrum contra Inimicos pro posse suo defendendum. Leg. Ed. 1. c. 35.

Fratres pves, Were certain Friars, wearing black and white Garments; of whom Mention is made by Walsingham, p. 124.

Fratriagium, Is a younger Brother's Inheritance; and whatever the Sons or Brothers possess of the Estate of the Father, they enjoy it ratione Fratriagii, and are to do Homage to the elder Brother for it, who is bound to do Homage for the Whole to the superior Lord. Bract. lib. 2. c. 35.

Fraud, (Fraus) Is Deceit in Grants and Conveyances of Lands, and Bargains and Sales of Goods, &c. to the Damage of another Person. F. N. B. 98. Fraudulent Assurances of Lands or Goods to deceive Creditors, shall be void; and the Creditors shall have Execution thereof. 50 Ed. 3. c. 6. By the Stat. 13 Eliz. c. 5. all fraudulent Conveyances made of Lands, Goods or Chattels, to set aside or avoid Debts, as to Creditors shall be void; and by 27 Eliz. c. 4. Conveyances and Assurances of Land made to defraud Purchasers, as to such Purchasers they are declared void: And Persons justifying or putting such Grants, &c. in Use as good, and bona fide made, shall forfeit a Year's Value of the Lands, and the whole Value of Goods and Chattels, and be also imprisoned: Where Lands are conveyed with Clause of Revocation, &c. and afterwards sold for valuable Consideration, the first Conveyance shall be void against the Purchaser, but this is not to extend to Mortgages made bona fide. If a Man seized of Land in Fee, make a Feoffment of it to divers Uses, with Remainders over, &c. and with Power of Revocation by Writing under Hand and Seal; here if he for good Consideration doth enter into a Recognizance, the Land shall be charged with the same: So if A. reserves to himself Power to revoke by the Assent of B. and then bargains to another. Bridg. 22. Lanc. 22. And where one hath made an Estate with a Power of Revocation; and after with Intent to deceive a Purchaser he makes a Feoffment, &c. to a Stranger to extinct the Power, and then sells the Land for a valuable Consideration; in this Case both the Conveyances shall be fraudulent as to the Purchaser. 2 Rep. 83. The Statute of Frauds 29 Car. 2. requires that Contracts and Agreements, Leases and Devises of Lands, &c. shall be put in Writing. And Devises of Lands, Rents, &c. are deemed fraudulent and void, against Creditors upon Bonds, or other Specialties. 3 & 4 W. & M. c. 14. Also Judgments against Purchasers of Lands for a valuable Consideration, shall be deemed Judgments only from the Signing, &c. 29 Car. 2. c. 3. The Stat. 13 Eliz. makes a fraudulent Deed or Grant of Goods, &c. void against Creditors, but not against the Party himself, his Executors or Administrators, for against them it remains good: And a Conveyance, if made of Lands by Fraud, is not void by the Statute against all Persons; but only against those who afterwards come to the Land upon valuable Consideration. Cro. El. 445. Cro. Jac. 271. Grants and Conveyances are to be on good Consideration, and bona fide, or they will be fraudulent; and a Grant bona fide is made without any Trust, &c. A Grant upon good Consideration, except it be also bona fide, is not within the Proviso of the Act 13 Eliz. 3 Rep. 81. Consideration valuable is Money, Marriage, &c. and not natural Affection, &c. A Man made a Lease for twenty one Years, in Trust for his Daughter till Marriage; and if she married with his Consent, then to her during the Term; this till Marriage, has been held fraudulent as to a Purchaser: But after Marriage it is good, because Marriage is an Advancement to the Daughter, and taking Effect made it upon valuable Consideration, which a Marriage is always taken to be, and the Husband was drawn in by this Conveyance to marry her. 1 Sid. 133. It has been adjudged, That if a Father makes a Feoffment to another, for the Advancement of Daughters, or his younger Sons, or for Payment of his Debts; and afterwards infeoffs his eldest Son or Heir, that is not Fraud or Collusion within the Statute, for he is bound in Law to make Provision for his Children: But where there is a Grandfather, Father, and two Sons, and the Grandfather (living the Father) conveys his Land to either of the Sons, this is out of the Stat. 32 H. 8. because it is not a common Thing so to do, and the Father ought to have the immediate Care of his Children; though if he is dead, then it belongeth to the Grandfather. 6 Rep. 76. If a Man levy a Fine to the Use of himself for Life, Remainder to his Son in Tail, and after sells the Fee simple to another, he as a Purchaser shall avoid this Conveyance upon the Stat. 27 Eliz. because it was voluntary, and therefore fraudulent; so it had been if he had settled the Remainder on his Wife, unless there had been a Consideration on precedent Marriage. Sid. 133. 3 Salk. 174. But it was ruled by Hale Chief Justice, that a Deed may be voluntary, and not fraudulent; as where a Father having an extravagant Son, settles his Land so that he may not spend all; this is good, if there is no Consideration of Money. 1 Mod. 119. Although every voluntary Conveyance is prima facie deemed fraudulent against Purchasers, yet some Circumstances may alter the Case: An Infant promised, on his Marriage, to settle his Estate when he came of Age, upon himself and his Issue; and this was held a sufficient Consideration, though an Infant by Law is not compellable to fulfil such Promise. 2 Lev. 147. A Person, in Consideration that his Son is to marry the Daughter of A. B. covenants to stand seized of Lands to the Use of his Son for Life; and after to other Sons in Reversion or Remainder: The Uses thus limited in Remainder, shall be fraudulent as to any Purchaser of the Land, tho' the first be upon good Consideration. And altho' the Consideration of Marriage is good; if there be a Power to revoke annexed to the Deed, it will be void as to Purchasers. Lane 22. If a Man after Marriage, make a voluntary Conveyance of Land for a Jointure, or Maintenance of his Wife, and afterwards sell the Land for Money, to one that hath no Notice of it; in this Case, the Conveyance made to the Use of the Wife, shall be said to be fraudulent: And yet if a Person upon a Marriage, before the Marriage, and in Consideration thereof, or after Marriage, in Consideration of a Portion given or Money paid, convey his Land to the Use of his Wife, &c. it will not be a fraudulent Deed. 2 Cro. 158. A Feme Covert joins with her Husband in the Alienation of her Jointure, and hath a new Deed of Settlement of other Lands dated the same Day in lieu thereof, without Articles or Agreement precedent to this second Settlement; this is not fraudulent against a Purchaser, tho' the Lands in the new Settlement are more in Value than those in the first; for the old Settlement being destroyed, and a new one made on the same Day, it shall be presumed that there was an Agreement for it. 2 Lev. 70, 71. The Husband who married a Wife an Inheritor, promised, that if she would join with him in a Sale of her Land, and let him have the Money to pay his Debts, that he would leave her 400 l. at his Death; about six Months after the Lands were sold, he gave Bond to a Stranger to leave his Wife the 400 l. And it was adjudged that this was not fraudulent quoad Creditors, but good against them. 2 Lev. 148. A Person makes a voluntary Conveyance, and then mortgages the same Land, and the first Deed is upon a Trial found fraudulent; then he to whom the Deed was made exhibited his Bill in Equity to redeem the Mortgage; and it was held, that tho' the first Deed was fraudulent quoad the Mortgage Money, yet it was good to pass the Equity of Redemption. Chan. Rep. 59. Where a Lease is made with a Proviso, that if the Lessor pays 10 s. the Lease shall be void; because 10 s. is not the Value of the Lease and Land, but only limited as a Power of Revocation, it is fraudulent as to a Purchaser. Cro. Jac. 455. And if a Man makes an Assignment of his Lease, and yet keeps Possession of the Lands, the Deed of Assignment will be judged fraudulent. In Chancery it has been decreed, That if a Man conveys his Land to Friends in Trust, to the Use of his Children, &c. to defraud a Purchaser, the Trust shall go in Equity to the Purchaser; also it shall be liable for Debts, to satisfy the same. Totbil 43, 44. A Husband assigned a Term of his Wife's, in Trust for his Wife; and it was held fraudulent against Purchasers. Chan. Rep. 225. By the Common Law, an Estate made by Fraud, shall be avoided only by him who hath a former Right, Title, Interest, Debt or Demand. 3 Rep. 83. If one indebted do really sell Lands, tho' to avoid Payment of Debts; if the Vendee be not privy to the Intent, the Sale to him is good: For as to the Vendee there is no Fraud in the Case. Mich. 24 Car. B. R. A Man gives his Goods to his Son, they are nevertheless liable as to his Creditors; but if he gives them to one of his Creditors, without any Trust or Covin, it shall not be fraudulent to make him liable to other Creditors. 3 Salk. 174. If a Man is indicted, and give away his Goods to prevent a Forfeiture, the King shall have them upon an Attainder or Conviction; tho' tis otherwise if he sell them for a good Consideration to one who had no Notice of the Indictment. Ibid. If Tenant for Life commit a Forfeiture, and he in the Reversion enters, this shall be as a fraudulent Conveyance with Respect to Creditors. Vent. 257. Fraudulent Gifts, or Grants of Goods to defraud the Lord of his Heriot, shall be void; and the Value of the Goods forfeited. 13 Eliz. 5.

Gifts made in Secret are liable to Suspicion of Fraud: A general Gift of all a Man's Goods may be reasonably suspected to be fraudulent, even tho' there be a true Debt owing to the Party to whom made. 3 Rep. 80, 81. And the several Marks or Badges of Fraud, in a Gift or Grant of Goods are, if it be general, without Exception of some Things of Necessity; if the Donor still possesses and uses the Goods; if the Deed be secretly made; if there be a Trust between the Parties; or if it be made pending the Action. 3 Rep. 80, &c. And where a Person is Party to a Fraud, all that follows by Reason of that Fraud shall be said to be done by him. Cro. Jac. 469. But when Fraud is not expressly averred, it shall not be presumed; nor shall the Court adjudge it to be so, till the Matter is found by Jury. 10 Rep. 56. A poor Man was drawn in to sell an Estate, at a great Under-Value; but no Fraud appearing, tho' the Purchase was not a fair Bargain, the Seller could not be relieved in Equity, to set it aside. Preced. Canc. 206. The Chancery may decree a Conveyance to be fraudulent, merely for being voluntary, and without any Trial at Law; yet it has been insisted, that Fraud or not was triable only by a Jury. Ibid. 14, 15. A Will, as well as Deed, shall be set aside in Chancery for Fraud and Circumvention. Ibid. 123. Fraudulent Conveyances to multiply Votes at Election of Knights of the Shire, shall be taken against the Persons making them as free and absolute; and all Securities for Redeeming and Restoring, &c. to be void. Stat. 10 Ann. c. 23. A Presentation to a Benefice; or Administration of Goods, obtained by Fraud, are void; and so is Sale of Goods by Fraud, altho' in open Market, &c. Where a fraudulent Deed or Conveyance, is assigned upon a valuable Consideration, the Fraud is purged thereby. 1 Ld. Raym. 88.

Fraus Legis. If a Person having no Manner of Title to a House, procure an Affidavit of the Service of a Declaration in Ejectment, and thereupon gets Judgment; and by Virtue of a Writ of Hab. Jac. Possessionem turns the Owner out of Possession of the House, and seizes and converts the Goods therein to his own Use, he may be punished as a Felon; because he used the Process of the Law with a felonious Purpose, in fraudem Legis. Raym. 276. Sid. 254.

Fraginatum, A Wood of Ash Trees. Domesday.

Fretum, Was a Composition made by a Criminal, to be freed from Prosecution, of which the third Part was paid into the Exchequer. See Delatura.

Freditwit, A Liberty to hold Courts, and take up Amerciaments, &c. Cowel.

Free-Bench, (Francus Bancus, i. e. Sedes Libera) Is that Estate in Copyhold Lands which the Wife hath on the Death of her Husband for her Dower, according to the Custom of the Manor: But it is said the Wife ought to be espoused a Virgin; and is to hold the Land only so long as she lives sole and continent. Kitch. 102. Of this Free-Bench, several Manors have several Customs; and Fitzherbert calls it a Custom whereby in certain Cities the Wife shall have the whole Lands of the Husband for her Dower, &c. F. N. B. 150. In the Manors of East and West Enbourne in the County of Berks, and the Manor of Torre in Devonshire, and other Parts of the West of England, there is a Custom, that when a Copyhold Tenant dies, his Widow shall have her Free-Bench in all his Customary Lands, Dam sola & casta fuerit; but if she commits Incontinency, she forfeits her Estate: Yet nevertheless, on her coming into the Court of the Manor, riding backwards on a Black Ram, with his Tail in her Hand, and saying the Words following, the Steward is bound by the Custom to re-admit her to her Free-Bench; the Words are these,

Here I am,
Riding upon a Black Ram,
Like a Whore as I am:

And

*And for my Crincum Crancum,
I have lost my Binkum Bankum;
And for my Tule's Game,
Have done this wordly Shame;
Therefore pray Mr. Steward let me have my Land again.*

This is a Kind of Penance, among jocular Tenures and Customs, to purge the Offence.

Free-booter, Signifies a Person who fights without Pay, in Hopes of getting some Booty.

Freebold, (Francboldus) Is Ground claimed in some Places more or less, beyond, or without the Fence: It is said to contain two Foot and a Half, in Mon. Ang. Tom. 2. p. 141.

Free-borough-men, Were such great Men as did not engage like the Frank pledge Men for their Decennier. See Friburgh.

Free-Chapel, (Libera Capella) A Chapel so called, because it is exempt from the Jurisdiction of the Diocesan. Those Chapels are properly Free Chapels which are of the King's Foundation, and by him exempted from the Ordinary's Visitation: Also Chapels founded within a Parish for the Service of God, by the Devotion and Liberality of pious Men, over and above the Mother-Church, and indowed with Maintenance by the Founders, which were free for the Inhabitants of the Parish to come to, were therefore called Free-Chapels. Reg. Orig. 40, 41. The Free Chapel of St. Martin le Grand is mentioned in the Stat. 3 Ed. 4. c. 4. as are others likewise, by ancient Statutes: But these Chapels were given to the King, with the Chantries, &c. 1 Ed. 6. c. 14.

Freehold, (Liberum Tenementum) Is that Land or Tenement which a Man holds in Fee simple, Fee-tail, or for Term of Life. Bract. lib. 2. c. 9. And is described to be of two Sorts: Freehold in Deed, and Freehold in Law; the first being the real Possession of Lands, &c. in Fee, or for Life, and the other the Right a Person hath to such Lands or Tenements, before his Entry or Seizure. Freehold is also extended to Offices, which a Man holds either in Fee, or during Life: And in the Register of Writs it is said, that he who holds Land upon an Execution of a Statute-Merchant until he is satisfied the Debt, Tenant ut Liberum Tenementum sibi & assignatis suis, and the same of a Tenant by Elegit; but such Tenants are not Freeholders, only as Freeholders for their Time, till they have received the Profits of the Land to the Value of their Debt. Reg. Judic. 68, 73. A Lease for ninety-nine Years, &c. determinable upon a Life or Lives, is not a Lease for Life to make a Freehold, but a Lease for Years or Chattel determinable upon Life or Lives: And an Estate for One thousand Years is not a Freehold, or of so high a Nature as an Estate for Life. Co. Litt. 6. He that hath an Estate for the Term of his own Life, or the Life of another, hath a Freehold, and no other of a less Estate; tho' they of a greater Estate have a Freehold, as Tenant in Fee, &c. Litt. 57. When a Man pleads Liberum Tenementum generally, it shall be intended that he hath an Estate in Fee; and not a bare Estate for Life. Cra. Eliz. 87. An Estate of Freehold cannot by the Common Law commence in futuro; but it must take presently in Possession, Reversion, or Remainder. 5 Rep. 94. A Man made a Deed of Gift to his Son and his Heirs, of Lands after his Death, and no Livery was made; now if there had been Livery, it had been void, because a Freehold cannot commence in futuro: And it has been held, that it shall not enure as a Covenant to stand seized, by Reason of the Word Gifts; by which was intended a Transmutation of the Estate, and not to pass it by Way of Use. March Rep. 50, 51. Whatsoever is Part of, or fixed to the Freehold goes to the Heir; and Glass Windows, Wainscot, &c. affixed to the House are Parcel of the House, and cannot be removed by Tenants. 4 Rep. 63, 64. But it hath been adjudged, that if Things for Trade, &c. are fixed to the Freehold by the Lessee, he may take them down and remove them, so as he do it before the End of the Term, and he do not thereby injure the Freehold. 1 Salk. 368. Any Thing fixed to the Freehold may not be taken in Distress for Rent or in Execution, &c. But it is not Felony at Common Law, only Trespass, to steal or take any Thing annexed to the Freehold; such as lead on a Church or House, Corn or Grass growing on the Ground, Apples on a Tree, &c. Though if they are severed from the Freehold, whether by the Owner or the Thief; if he sever them at one Time, and take them away at another, it is Larceny to take them. 12 Aff. 32. 1 Hawk. 93. And to steal Lead on Houses, &c. is made Felony, by a late Statute. 4 Geo. 2. The Statute of Magna Charta, c. 29. ordains, that no Person shall be disseised of his Freehold, &c. but by Judgment of his Peers, or according to the Law of the Land; which doth not only relate to common Disseisins, but the King may not otherwise seize into his Hands the Freehold of the Subject. Wood's Inst. 614. None shall distrain any Freeholders to answer for their Freeholds, or any Thing touching the same, without the King's Writ, Stat. 52 H. 3. c. 22. Nor shall any Person be compelled to answer for his Freehold before any Lord of a Manor, &c. 15 R. 2. c. 12. Freehold Estates, of certain Values, are required by Statutes to qualify Jurors; Electors of Knights of the Shire in Parliament, &c.

Freeholders, Are such as hold any Freehold Estate. By the ancient Laws of Scotland, Freeholders were called Milites; and Freehold, in this Kingdom, hath been sometimes taken in Opposition to Villanage, it being Lands in the Hands of the Gentry and better Sort of Tenants, by certain Tenure, who were always Freeholders, contrary to what was in the Possession of the inferior People, held at the Will of the Lord. Lambard.

Freeman, (Liber homo) Is one distinguished from a Slave, that is born or made Free; and these have divers Privileges beyond others. See London.

Freight, (Fr. Fret) Signifies the Money paid for Carriage of Goods by Sea; or in a larger Sense, it is taken for the Cargo, or Burthen of the Ship. Ships are freighted either by the Ton, or by the Great; and in Respect of Time, the Freight is agreed for at so much per Month, or at a certain Sum for the whole Voyage. If a Ship freighted by the Great, happens to be cast away, the Freight is lost; but if a Merchant agrees by the Ton, or at so much for every Piece of Commodities, and by any Accident the Ship is cast away, if Part of the Goods is saved, it is said she ought to be answered her Freight pro rata: And when a Ship is insured, and such a Misfortune happens, the Insured commonly transfer those Goods over to the Assurers, towards a Satisfaction of what they make good. Lex Mercat. or Merchants Campan. 79. If Freight is agreed for the Lading and Unlading of Cattle at such a Port, and some of them die before the Ship arrives there, the whole Freight shall be paid for the Living and the Dead; but if the Agreement be for transporting them, Freight shall be only paid for the Living: And it is the same of Slaves. Ibid. 85. The Lading of a Ship, in Construction of Law, is bound for the Freight; the Freight being in Point of Payment preferred before any other Debts to which the Goods so laden are liable, tho' such Debts as to Time were precedent to the Freight: And Actions touching the same, are construed favourably for the Ship and Owners; for if four Part-Owners of Five, belonging to a Ship, settle their Accounts with the Freighters, and receive their Dues, yet the fifth Man may sue singly by himself without joining with the Rest, by the Common Law, and the Law Marine. Hill. 27 Car. 2. B. R. If Part of the Lading be on Ship-board, and through some Misfortune happening to the Merchant, he has not his full Lading aboard at the

the Time agreed, the Master shall have Freight by Way of Damage, for the Time those Goods were on Board; and is at his Liberty to contract with another, lest he lose his Season and Voyage: And where a Ship is not ready to take in, or the Merchant not ready to lade his Goods aboard, the Parties are not only so at Liberty, but the Person damnified may bring an Action against the other and recover his Damages sustained. Leg. Rhod. If the Freighter of a Ship shall lade on Board prohibited Goods, or unlawful Merchandise, whereby the Ship is detained, or the Voyage impeded; he shall answer the Freight agreed for. Style 220. And when Goods are laden aboard, and the Ship hath broke Ground, the Merchant may not afterwards unlade them; for if he then changes his Mind, and resolves not to venture, but will unlade again, by the Marine Law the Freight becomes due. If a Master freights out his Ship, and afterwards secretly takes in Goods unknown to the first Laders, by the Law Marine he forfeits his Freight: And if a Master of a Ship shall put into any other Port than what the Ship was freighted to, he shall answer Damages to the Merchant; unless he is forced in by Storm, Enemies, or Pirates; and in that Case he is obliged to sail to the Port agreed at his own Expence. Leg. Oleron. A Ship is freighted out and in, there shall be no Freight due till the Voyage is performed; so that if the Ship be cast away, coming home, the Freight outwards as well as inwards are both gone. 1 Brownl. 21. A Master of a Ship is not bound to answer Freight to the Owners for Passengers, where it appears they are not able to pay. See Charter-party.

French. King William I. called The Conqueror, being a Native of Normandy in France, caused the Laws of this Realm, in his Time, to be written and pleaded in the French Language. 3 Rep. 17. But by the Stat. 37 E. 3. 15: all Pleas that are pleaded in any of the King's Courts, shall be pleaded in the English Tongue; tho' Appeals were still to be arraigned, and the Plea of the Defendant read in French, in the same Manner as anciently. 2 Hawk. P. Fresh Distress, (Frisca Disseisina, from the Fr. Frais, i. e. Recens, & Disseisor, viz. Possessione ejicere) Signifies that Disseisin, which a Man might formerly seek to defeat of himself, and by his own Power, without resorting to the King, or the Law; as where it was not above fifteen Days old, or of some other short Continuance. Briton, c. 5. Of this Brañon writes at large, concluding it to be arbitrary. Lib. 4. c. 5.

Fresh Fine, Is that which was levied within a Year past: It is mentioned in the Statute of Westm. 2. 13 Ed. 1. c. 45.

Fresh Force, (Frisca Fortia) Is a Force newly done in any City, Borough, &c. And if a Person be disseised of any Lands or Tenements within such a City, or Borough, he who hath a Right to the Land, by the Usage and Custom of the said City, &c. may bring his Assise, or Bill of Fresh Force, within forty Days after the Force committed; and recover the Lands. F. N. B. 7. Old Nat. Br. 4. This Remedy may be also had where any Man is deposed of any Lands, after the Death of his Ancestor, to whom he is Heir; or after the Death of Tenant for Life, or in Tail, in Dower, &c. within forty Days after the Title accrued; and in a Bill of Fresh Force, the Plaintiff or Demendant shall make Protestation to sue in the Nature of what Writ he will, as Assise of Mortdancester, of Novel Disseisin, Intrusion; &c. New Nat. Br. 15. The Af-se or Bill of Fresh Force is sued out without any Writ from the Chancery; but after the Forty Days, there is to be a Writ out of the Chancery, directed to the Mayor, &c. Ibid.

Fresh Suit, or Pursuit, (Recens insecutio) Is such a present and earnest following of an Offender, where a Robbery is committed, as never ceases from the Time of the Offence done or discovered, until he be apprehended: And the Benefit of a Pursuit of a Felon is, that the Party pursuing shall have his Goods restored to him; which otherwise are forfeited to the King. Staudf. Pl. Cor. lib. 3. c. 10. and 12. When an Offender is thus apprehended, and Indictment brought against him, upon which he is convicted of the Felony, the Party robbed shall have Restitution of his Goods; and tho' the Party robbed do not apprehend the Thief presently, but that it be some Time after the Robbery, if the Party did what in him lay to take the Offender; and notwithstanding in such Case he happen to be apprehended by some other Person, it shall be adjudged Fresh Pursuit. Terms de Ley 362, 363. It has been anciently holden, that to make a Fresh Suit, the Party ought to make Hue and Cry with all convenient Speed, and to have taken the Offender himself, &c. But at this Day, if the Party hath been guilty of no gross Negligence, but hath used all reasonable Care in inquiring after, pursuing, and apprehending the Felon, he shall be allowed to have made sufficient Fresh Suit. 2 Hawk. P. C. 169. Also it is said, that the Judging of Fresh Suit is in the Discretion of the Court, tho' it ought to be found by the Jury; and the Justices may, if they think fit, award a Restitution without making any Inquisition concerning the same. Ibid. 169, 171. Where a Gaoler immediately pursues a Felon, or other Prisoner, escaping from Prison, it is Fresh Suit, to excuse the Gaoler: And if a Lord follow his Distress into another's Ground, on its being driven off the Premises, this is called Fresh Suit; so where a Tenant pursues his Cattle, that escape or stray into another Man's Lands, &c. Fresh Suit may be either within the View, or without; as to which the Law makes some Difference: And it has been said that Fresh Suit may continue for seven Years. 3 Rep. S. P. C.

Friburgh, alias Fritsburgh, (Frideburgum, from the Sax. Frid, i. e. Pax, & Borge, Fidejussor) Is the same with Frank pledge; the one being in the Time of the Saxons, and the other since the Conquest: Of these Friburghs, Brañon treats Lib. 3. Trañ. 2. c. 10. And they are particularly described in the Laws of King Edward, set out by Lambard, fol. 143. Fleta likewise writes on this Subject, lib. 1. c. 47. And Spelman makes a Difference between Friborg and Fritsburgh; saying the first signifies Libera Securitas, and the other Pacis Securitas. Altho' Friburghs or Friburghers were anciently required as principal Pledges or Sureties for their Neighbours, for the Keeping of the Peace; yet as to great Persons, they were a sufficient Assurance for themselves, and their menial Servants. Skene.

Fridstoll and Fritstoll, (Sax. Frid, Pax, & Stol, sedes) A Seat, Chair, or Place of Peace. In the Charter of Immunities granted to the Church of St. Peter in York, by Hen. 1. and confirmed Anno 5 H. 7. Fridstoll is expounded Cathedra pacis & quietudinis, &c. And there were many such in England; but the most famous was at Beverly, which had this Inscription; Hæc sedes Lapidea Freedstoll dicitur, i. e. Pacis Cathedra, ad quam reus fugiendo perveniens, omnimodam habet securitatem. Camd.

Friendless Man, Was the old Saxon Word for him whom we call an Outlaw; and it is for this Reason, because he was, upon his Expulsion from the King's Protection, denied all Help of Friends, after certain Days: Nam forisfecit amicos. Braet. lib. 3. Traet. 2. c. 12. See Friendwite.

Frater. N. B. 67, 74.* This Gage Deliverance is had on suing out Replevins, upon the Plaintiff's Praying the same: And it is said the Parties are to be at Issue, or there is to be a Demurrer in Law, before Gage Deliverance is allowed; and if a Man claim any Property in the Goods, or the Beasts are dead dead in the Pound, the Plaintiff shall not gage, &c. Kitch. 145.

Gager del Ley. In old Writings. See Wage and Wager of Law.

Gainage, (Gainagium, i. e. Plausri apparatus, Fr. Gaignage, viz. Lucrum) The Gain or Profit of tilled or planted Land, raised by Cultivating it; and the Draught, Plough, and Furniture for carrying on the Work of Tillage, by the baser Kind of Sokemen or Villains. Gainage was only applied to arable Land, when they that had it in Occupation had nothing thereof but the Profit raised by it from their own Labour, towards their Sustenance, nor any other Title but at the Lord's Will: And Gainor is used for a Sokeman, that hath such Land in Occupation. Braet. lib. 1. c. 9. Old Nat. Br. 117. The Word Gain is mentioned by West. Symb. par. 2. sect. 3. Where he says Land in Demefine, but not in Gain, &c. And in the Stat. 51 H. 3. there are these Words; no Man shall be distrained by his Beasts, that gain the Land. By the Statute of Magna Charta, c. 14. Gainage is meant no more than the Plough-Tackle, or Implements of Husbandry, without any Respect to Gain or Profit; where it is said of the Knight and Freeholder, he shall be amerced Salvo contentamento suo; the Merchant or Trader, Salvo Marchandisa sua; and the Villeins or Countrymen, Salvo Gainagio suo, &c. In which Cases it was that the Merchant and Husbandman should not be hindered, to the Detriment of the Publick, or be undone by arbitrary Fines; and the Villein had his Wainage, to the End that the Plough might not stand still; for which Reason the Husbandmen at this Day are allowed a like Privilege by Law, that their Beasts of the Plough are not in many Cases liable to Distress. See Wainage.

Also Pheasants or Partridges are not to be taken between the first of July and the last of August, on Pain of Imprisonment for a Month, unless the Offenders pay 20*s.* for every Pheasant, &c. killed: And Constables, having a Justice of Peace's Warrant, may search for Game and Nets, in the Possession of Persons not qualified by Law to kill Game, or to keep such Nets. 7 Jac. 1. c. 11. Constables by Warrant of a Justice of Peace, are to search Houses of suspected Persons for Game; and if any Game be found upon them, and they do not give a good Account how they came by the same, they shall forfeit for every Hare, Pheasant, or Partridge, not under 5*s.* nor exceeding 20*s.* And inferior Tradesmen, hunting, &c. are subject to the Penalties of the Act, and may be likewise sued for Trespass: If Officers of the Army or Soldiers kill Game, without Leave, they forfeit 5*l.* an Officer, and 10*s.* a Soldier. 4 & 5 W. & M. c. 23. Higlers, Chapmen, Carriers, Inn-keepers, Victuallers, &c. having in their Custody, Hare, Pheasant, Partridge, Heath-Game, &c. (except sent by some Person qualified to kill Game) shall forfeit for every Hare and Fowl 5*l.* to be levied by Distress and Sale of their Goods, being proved by one Witness, before a Justice; and for Want of Distress, shall be committed to the House of Correction for three Months: One Moiety of the Forfeiture to the Informer, and the other to the Poor. And selling Game, or offering the same to Sale, incurs the like Penalty; wherein Hare, and other Game found in a Shop, &c. is adjudged an Exposing to Sale: Killing Hares in the Night is liable to the same Penalties: And if any Persons shall drive wild Fowl with Nets, between the first Day of July and the first of September, they shall forfeit 5*s.* for every Fowl. 5 Ann. c. 14. 9 Ann. c. 25. And Penalties for killing and destroying Game, are recoverable not only before Justices of Peace by the several Statutes; but also by Action of Debt, Bill, Plaint or Information, in any of his Majesty's Courts at Westminster; and the Plaintiff, if he recovers, shall likewise have double Costs. 8 G. 1. c. 19. Persons qualified to keep Guns, Dogs, &c. to kill Game, are such as have a free Warren, or are Lords of Manors, or have 100*l.* per Annum Inheritance or for Life, or Lease for ninety-nine Years of 150*l.* per Annum (and by the Exception of the Act, the eldest Sons and Heirs of Esquires, or other Persons of higher Degree). And if any Person shall keep a Gun not so qualified, he shall forfeit 10*l.* And Persons being qualified may take Guns from those that are not, and break them. 22 & 23 Car. 2. c. 25. 33 H. 8. c. 6. One Justice of Peace, upon Examination and Proof of the Offence, may commit the Offender till he hath paid the Forfeiture of 10*l.* And Persons not qualified by Law, keeping Dogs, Nets, or other Engines to kill Game, being convicted thereof before a Justice of Peace, shall forfeit 5*l.* or be sent to the House of Correction for three Months; and the Dogs, Game, &c. shall be taken from them, by the Stat. 5 Ann. No Certiorari shall be allowed to remove any Conviction or other Proceeding on the Stat. 5 Ann. &c. into any Court at Westminster, unless the Party convicted become bound to the Party prosecuting with sufficient Sureties, in the Sum of 50*l.* to pay the Prosecutor his Costs and Charges, &c. after the Conviction confirmed, or a Procedendo granted. Ibid. In Convictions for keeping of Guns, the Peace is not concerned, but only the Qualification of the Persons that use them; so that it hath been adjudged the Justices of Peace have no general Power to punish the Offenders, for Want of Jurisdiction. 4 Mod. 49. But where a Person was brought before before a Justice of Peace for shooting with Hail-shot in a Hand-gun, the Justice committed him to Prison until he should pay 10*l.* &c. and having made a Record of his Conviction, it was certified upon the Return of an Habeas Corpus; and it was held, that if the Justice of Peace had pursued the Statute, no Court could discharge the Defendant. W. Jones 170. On a Certiorari to remove a Conviction before a Justice, &c. for carrying a Gun, not being qualified; it appeared upon the Return to be taken before a certain Justice of Peace, without adding Necnon ad diversas felonias & Transgressiones, audiend. assign., &c. and it was ruled that this was a good Exception upon a Certiorari to remove an Indictment taken at the Sessions; but not upon a Conviction of this Nature, because the Court can take Notice that the Statutes give the Justices Authority in these Cases. 1 Vent. 33. Sid. 419. A Person was convicted before a Justice of Peace upon the Statute, for keeping a Gun, not having 100*l.* per Ann. and the Conviction being removed into B. R. was quashed, for not saying when the Defendant had not 100*l.* a Year; for it might be he had such Estate at the Time when he kept the Gun, tho' not at the Conviction, and the Offence and Time ought to be certainly alledged. 3 Mod. 280. The Defendant not having 100*l.* per Ann. did shoot in a Gun in February, and was brought before a Justice of Peace in March following, and then by him convicted; and it was held, that as by the Statute no Time was limited when the Offender should be carried before a Justice to be examined, it therefore ought to be Instanter; which not being done, the Conviction was quashed. 4 Mod. 147. A Man was indicted for shooting of Game; but it was omitted shewing that he was not worth 100*l.* a Year; and it was ordered by the Court, that the Party should shew he was worth so much to discharge him. 2 Keb. 582. If a Person hunt upon the Ground of another, such other Person cannot justify Killing of his Dogs, as appears by 2 Roll. Abr. 567. But it was otherwise adjudged Mich. 33 Car. 2. in C. B. 2 Cro. 44. and see 3 Lev. 28. Any Man may hawk and hunt at his Pleasure in his own Lands: And the Common Law allows the Hunting of Foxes, and other ravenous Beasts of Prey, in the Ground of another Person; tho' a Man may not dig and break the Ground to unearth them, without Licence, which is unlawful; and the Owner of the Ground may maintain an Action of Trespass for it. 2 Roll. 538. Cro. Jac. 321. An Action was brought against a Person for entering another Man's Warren; the Defendant pleaded that there was a Pheasant on his Land, and his Hawk pursued it into the Plaintiff's Ground; it was resolved that this doth not amount to a sufficient Justification, for in this Case he can only follow his Hawk, and not take the Game. Pepp. 162. Tho' it is said to be otherwise where the Soil of the Plaintiff is not a Warren. 2 Roll. Abr. 567. If a Man in Hunting starts a Hare upon his own Ground, and follows and kills it on the Ground of another, yet still the Hare is his own, because of the fresh Suit; but if a Man starts a Hare upon another Person's Ground, and hunts and kills it there, he is subject to an Action, though it is seldom brought, being frivolous. Cro. Car. 553. In Action of Debt, Qui tam, &c. by a common Informer on the Stat. 5 Ann. for 15*l.* wherein the Plaintiff declared on two several Counts, one for 10*l.* for killing two Partridges, the other for 5*l.* for keeping an Engine to destroy the Game, not being qualified, &c. The Plaintiff had a Verdict for 5*l.* only: This Action was brought by Virtue of the Stat. 8 Geo. 1. Mod. Cas. in Law and Eq. 238.

To the Constables and Churchwardens of, &c.

Wilts, ff. W Hereas it hath been duly proved before me, by the Oath of, &c. That A. B. of your Parish, hath for some Time past kept and made Use of two Greybonds, &c. for killing and destroying of Game, and on the Day, &c. last past, with the said Dogs, killed one Hare in the Ground called, &c. in the Parish of, &c. aforesaid, without having any visible Estate, or being otherwise legally qualified to do the same, contrary to an Act of Parliament in that Case made: These are therefore in his Majesty's Name, to command you forthwith to levy the Sum of 5*l.* (which he hath forfeited by the Offence aforesaid) on the Goods of the said A. B. by Distress and Sale thereof; and that you do pay one Moiety of the said Forfeiture to C. D. of, &c. who informed of the said Offence, and that you do distribute the other Moiety thereof amongst the Poor of your Parish, or keep the same for their Use, according to the Direction of the Act of Parliament: And for Want of such Distress, that you do convey the said A. B. to the House of Correction, there to remain for the Space of three Months. Given, &c.

South'ton, ff. A. B. who sues as well in this Behalf for the Poor of the Parish of, &c. in the County aforesaid, as for himself, Complains of C. D. in Custody of the Marshal of the Marshalsea of our Sovereign Lord the King, before the King himself being; Of a Plea that he render to the said Poor, and to the same A. who sues as well for the said Poor, as for himself, Five Pounds of lawful Money of Great Britain, which to the said Poor, and to the said A. he owes, and unjustly detains: For that, to wit, That whereas the aforesaid C. not having Lands, Tenements, or any other Estate of Inheritance, in his own Right, or in the Right of his Wife, of the clear yearly Value of One hundred Pounds; or for the Term of his own Life; nor having a Lease or Leases of Ninety and nine Years, or for any longer Term, of the yearly Value of one hundred and fifty Pounds; nor being the Son and Heir apparent of any Esquire, or other Person of bigger Degree; nor being the Owner of any Forest, Park or Warren, stocked with Deer or Conies for his necessary Use; hath on the Day of, &c. in the Sixth Year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord George the Second, now King of Great Britain, at the Parish of, &c. aforesaid in the County aforesaid, unlawfully and unjustly had and kept Greybonds, and other Dogs called Lurchers, and unlawful Engines for the Taking, Cowfing and Destroying of Hares and Conies; and on the same Day and Year, at the said Parish of, &c. in the County aforesaid, with the said Dogs, unlawfully and unjustly took, run down, killed and destroyed (contrary to the Form of the Statute in such Case lately made and provided) several Hares, that is to say, Five Hares; whereby an Action hath accrued to the above named Poor, and to the said A. who sues as well for the said Poor, as for himself, to have and demand of the aforesaid C. the aforesaid Five Pounds: Nevertheless the said C. altho' often thereto required, hath not paid the said Five Pounds to the aforesaid Poor, and to the said A. who sues as well for the said Poor, as for himself; but hath hitherto entirely denied, and still doth deny to pay that to them, to the Damage, &c. And thereupon, as well for the Poor aforesaid, as for himself, he brings this Suit.

Game:

Game-keepers. Are those who have the Care of keeping and preserving of the Game, being appointed thereto by Lords of Manors, &c. Lords of Manors, or other Royalties, not under the Degree of an Esquire, may by Writing under Hand and Seal, authorise one or more Game-keepers; who may seize Guns, Dogs, Nets, and other Engines, made Use of to kill the Game by such Persons as are prohibited, for the Use of the Lord of the Manor, or otherwise destroy them. 22 & 23 Car. 2. c. 25. Any Lord or Lady of a Manor or Lordship, may empower his or her Game-keeper within their respective Royalties, to kill Hare, Pheasant, Partridges, &c. But if the said Game-keeper under Colour of the said Power, shall kill and afterwards sell or dispose thereof to any Person whatsoever, without the Consent of the Lord or Lady of such Manor, upon Conviction thereof, he shall be committed to the House of Correction for three Months, there to be kept to hard Labour. 5 Ann. cap. 14. By the Stat. 9 Ann. no Lord or Lady of a Manor shall make, constitute or appoint, above one Person to be Game-keeper within any one Manor, with Power to kill Game; the Name of which Game-keeper so appointed, is to be entered with the Clerk of the Peace of the County wherein the Manor lies: And if any other Game-keeper shall presume to kill any Hare, Pheasant, Partridge, &c. Or if any Game-keeper shall sell any Hare, Pheasant, &c. he shall for every Offence incur such Forfeitures, as are inflicted by the Act 5 Ann. And by 3 Geo. 1. cap. 11. no Lord of a Manor is to make or appoint any Person to be a Game-keeper, with Power to take and kill Hare, Pheasant, Partridge, or other Game, unless such Person be qualified by Law so to do, or be truly and properly a Servant to the said Lord, or immediately employed to take and kill Game for the sole Use or Benefit of the said Lord: And any Person not qualified, or not employed as aforesaid, who under Pretence of any Qualification from any Lord of a Manor, shall take or kill any Hare, &c. or keep or use any Dogs to kill and destroy the Game, shall for every such Offence incur such Forfeitures, Pains, and Penalties, as are inflicted by the Acts 5 & 9 Ann. By this last Statute, no Game-keeper can qualify any Person to kill Game, or to keep Guns, Dogs, &c. Where Game-keepers ought to have a Justice of Peace's Warrant, to take away Guns from unqualified Persons, see Comberb. 305.

Appointment of a Game-keeper by a Lord of a Manor.

TO all People to whom these Presents shall come, I T. Lord A. Lord of the Manor of B. in the County of, &c. have (by Virtue of several Acts of Parliament lately made for the Preservation of the Game) nominated, authorised and appointed, and by these Presents do nominate, authorise and appoint E. D. of, &c. to be my Game-keeper of and within my Manor, &c. in the County of, &c. aforesaid, with full Power and Authority, according to the Direction of the Statutes in that Case made, to kill Game for my Use; and to take and seize all such Guns, Greyhounds, Setting dogs, and other Dogs, Ferrets, Trammels, Hays, or other Nets, Snarves or Engines, for the Taking, Killing or Destroying of Hares, Pheasants, Partridges, or other Game, as within the said Manor of, &c. and the Precincts thereof, shall be kept or used by any Person or Persons not legally qualified to do the same: And further to act and do all and every Thing and Things which belong to the Office of a Game-keeper, pursuant to the Direction of the said Acts of Parliament, during my Will and Pleasure; for which this shall be his sufficient Warrant. Given under my Hand and Seal, &c.

Gaming, or Games unlawful, (Ludos vanos) The Playing at Tables, Dice, Cards, &c. King Ed. 3. in the 39th Year of his Reign, enjoined the Exercise of Shooting and of Artillery, and forbade the Casting of the Bar, the Hand and Foot Balls, Cock-fighting, & alios Ludos vanos; but no Effect did follow from it, till they were some of them forbidden by Act of Parliament. 11 Rep. 87. Anno 28 H. 8. Proclamation was made against all unlawful Games, and Commissions awarded into all the Counties of England, for the Execution thereof; so that in all Places, Tables, Dice, Cards and Bowls, were taken and burnt. Stow's Annals 527. And by the Statute 33 H. 8. cap. 9. Justices of Peace, and head Officers in Corporations, are empowered to enter Houses suspected of unlawful Games; and to arrest and imprison the Gamesters, till they give Security not to play for the future: Also the Persons keeping unlawful Gaming Houses, may be committed by a Justice, until they find Sureties not to keep such Houses; who shall forfeit 40 s. and the Gamesters 6 s. 8 d. a Time: And if the King licence the Keeping of Gaming-houses, it is against Law, and void. No Artificer, Apprentice, Labourer or Servant, shall play at Tables, Tennis, Dice, Cards, Bowls, &c. out of Christmas Time, on Pain of 20 s. for every Offence; and at Christmas, they are to play in their Master's House, or Pretence: But any Nobleman, or Gentleman, having 100 l. per Annum Estate, may licence his Servants or Family to play within the Precincts of his House, or Garden, at Cards, Dice, Tables, or other Games, as well among themselves, as others repairing thither. Stat. Ibid. This Act is to be proclaimed once a Quarter, in every Market-Town, by the respective Mayors, &c. and at every Assises and Sessions. A Person was convicted of keeping a Cock-pit; and the Court resolved it to be an unlawful Game, within the Statute 33 Hen. 8. and fined him 40 s. a Day. Keble 510. But to play at Dice, &c. is not unlawful in itself, though prohibited by Statutes to certain Persons, and to be used in certain Places. 2 Vent. 175. If any Person of what Degree soever, shall by Fraud, Deceit, or unlawful Device, in playing at Cards, Dice, Tables, Bowls, Cock-fighting, Horse races, Foot-races, or other Games or Pastimes, or bearing a Share in the Stakes, Betting, &c. win any Money, or valuable Thing, he shall forfeit treble the Value, one Moiety to the Crown, and the other to the Party grieved, Prosecution being in six Months; in Default whereof, the last mentioned Moiety is to go to such other Person as will prosecute within one Year, &c. 16 Car. 2. cap. 7. And by this Statute, if any Person shall play at any of the said Games, upon Tick, and not for ready Money, and lose above 100 l. upon Tick or Credit, at any one Meeting, if the Money be not paid down, his Security taken for it shall be void; and the Winner shall forfeit treble the Value of the Money won; one Moiety to the Crown, and the other Moiety for him that will sue for the same, by Action of Debt, Bill, Plaint, or Information, &c. A Watch may be lost at Gaming, which is convertible to, or may be taken for ready Money; and it is not within the Statute: A Person lost his Watch which was delivered, and after that the same Party lost 100 l. upon Tick, for which a Bond was given; and this was held good; for the Statute doth not restrain playing for ready Money, as the Watch is intended to be, but such playing only, as puts People in Debt: But it was here insisted, that if above 100 l. were lost at Play, and Part paid presently, and Bond given for the Residue, such Bond would be void by the Statute. 1 Lev. 244. 1 Lill. Abr. 645. It has been adjudged, that if A. B. lose 100 l. to one, and afterwards 100 l. to another, upon Tick or Credit, it is not within the Meaning of the Statute, because it is a several Contract; but it would be otherwise on a joint Contract: And if a Person lost 200*l.* in ready Money; and 100*l.* more, for which he gave his Note, the Note would be good, but all beyond it be void. 1 Salk. 345. A Person brought an Action for 40*l.* the Defendant pleaded it was for Money won at Play, and that at the same Time he also lost 66*l.* to another; but on Demurrer the Plaintiff had Judgment; for it was held that losing 106*l.* to several Persons at one Time, is not within the Statute 16 Car. 2. unless they are Partners in the Stakes; for then as to the Chance of the Game, they are as one Person. Mich. 13 W. 3. 1 Salk. 345. Where Security is given for Money won at Gaming to a third Person, not being privy to it, or not knowing it was won at Play, it is not within the Statute; as where the Winner being indebted to another brought the Loser to his Creditor, who entered into Bond to him, &c. 2 Mod. 297. If a Person lose Money at Play, and the Loser give the Winner a Bill for it drawn upon a third Person, who accepts the Bill; though the Acceptance of the Bill is in Nature of a new Contract, yet all is founded on the illegal Winning, and it is for the Security of the Payment of the Money lost; and therefore 'tis within the Statute: But if the Bill be assigned for a valuable Consideration to a Stranger, such Assignee not being privy to the first Wrong, as was the Winner, it shall not be within the Statute. 1 Salk. 344. By the Statute of 9 Ann. cap. 14. all Notes, Bills, Bonds, Judgments, Mortgages, or other Securities, given for Money won by playing at Cards, Dice, Tables, Tennis, Bowls, or other Games; or by Betting on the Sides of such as play at any of those Games, or for Repayment of any Money knowingly lent for such Gaming or Betting, shall be void: And where Lands are granted by such Mortgages or Securities, they shall go to the next Person, who ought to have the same as if the Grantor were actually dead, and the Grants had been made to the Person so intitled after the Death of the Person so incumbering the same. If any Person playing at Cards, Dice, or other Game, or Betting, shall lose the Value of 10*l.* at one Time, to one or more Persons, and shall pay the Money, he may recover the Money lost by Action of Debt, within three Months afterwards; and if the Loser do not sue, any other Person may do it, and recover the same, and treble the Value with Costs, one Moiety to the Prosecutor, and the other to the Poor: And the Person prosecuted shall answer upon Oath, on preferring a Bill to discover what Sums he hath won. Persons by Fraud or ill Practice, in playing at Cards, Dice, or by bearing a Share in the Stakes, &c. or by Betting, winning any Sum above 10*l.* shall forfeit five Times the Value of the Thing won, and suffer such Infamy and corporal Punishment, as in Cases of wilful Perjury, being convicted thereof on Indictment or Information; and the Penalty shall be recovered by Action, by such Person as will sue for the same. And if any one shall assault and beat, or challenge to fight any other Person, on Account of Money won by Gaming, upon Conviction thereof, he shall forfeit all his Goods, and suffer Imprisonment for two Years. Stat. 9 Ann. Also by this Statute, any two or more Justices of Peace, may cause such Persons to be brought before them as they suspect to have no visible Estates, &c. to maintain them; and if they do not make it appear that the principal Part of their Expences is got by other Means than Gaming, the Justices shall require Securities for their good Behaviour for a Twelve-month; and in Default of such Security, commit them to Prison until they find it: And Playing or Betting during the Time, to the Value of 20*l.* shall be deemed a Breach of Behaviour, and a Forfeiture of their Recognisances. Ibid. By a late Act, where it shall be proved before any Justice of Peace, that any Person hath used unlawful Games contrary to the Statute 33 Hen. 8. the Justice may commit such Offender to Prison, till he enter into a Recognisance that he shall not from thenceforth at any Time to come play at any unlawful Game. Statute 2 Geo. 2. cap. 28. For better preventing excessive and deceitful Gaming; the Ace of Hearts, Pharaoh, Basset, and Hazard, are declared to be Lotteries by Cards or Dice; and Persons setting up these Games are liable to the Penalty of 200*l.* And every Person who shall be an Adventurer, or Play or Stake therein, forfeits 50*l.* Likewise the Sale of any House, Plate, &c. in the Way of Lottery, by Cards, &c. is adjudged void, and the Things to be forfeited to any Persons that will sue for the same. 12 Geo. 2. cap. 28. The Game of Passage, and all other Games with one or more Dice, or any Thing in that Nature, having Figures or Numbers thereon, (Bagammon and Games now Played with those Tables only excepted) shall be deemed Games or Lotteries by Dice, within the 12 Geo. 2. And such as keep any Office or Table for the said Game, &c. or Play thereat, are subject to the Penalties in that Act. 13 Geo. 2. cap. 19. By the Statute 18 Geo. 2. cap. 34. Playing at, or keeping any House or Place for playing at the Game of Roulet, otherwise Roly-poly, or any other Game with Cards or Dice already prohibited, incurs the Penalties in Statute 12 Geo. 2. cap. 28. Persons losing 10*l.* and paying the same, may sue the Winner, and recover the same with Costs: And on a Bill in Equity the Court may decree the same to be paid. The Persons who have Jurisdiction to determine Informations on the Statutes against Gaming, may summon Witnesses, who, on refusing to appear and give Evidence, shall forfeit 50*l.* No Privilege of Parliament shall be allowed on Prosecution for keeping a Gaming House. Persons losing 10*l.* at one Time, or 20*l.* in twenty-four Hours, may be indicted and fined five Times the Value. It was formerly held that Indebitatus Assumpsit would lie for Money won at Gaming; though some Judges were of Opinion it would not, but special Action upon the Case. 2 Lev. 118. 2 Vent. 175. But it hath been since adjudged, that it will not lie, for there must be Work done, or some meritorious Act for which Debt lies, to maintain it: And although a Cast of the Dice, alters the Property of the Money, if it is staked down, it being then a Gift on a Condition precedent, and an Indebitatus Assumpsit lies against him who holds the Wager, because it is a Promise in Law to deliver it if won; yet in other Cases, there is no Consideration. 5 Mod. 13. Mod. Caf. 128. Common Gaming-houses are a common Nuisance in the Eye of the Law; not only because they are great Temptations to Idleness, but as they draw together great Numbers of disorderly Persons to the Disturbance of the Neighbourhood. 1 Hawk. P. C. 198. Noy had a Writ on the Statute 33 Hen. 8. to remove Bowling Alleys, &c. which were pulled down, as common Nuisances. 3 Keb. 465.

An Indictment for keeping a Gaming-house.

Southton, ff. THE Jurors, &c. present, That A. B. late of W. in the said County Inhabiter, on the Day, &c. in the Year of the Reign, &c. and on divers other Days and Times, before the Day of this Inquisition, at W. aforesaid in the said County, did maintain and keep a common Room, &c. for Gaming, and did then and there suffer divers suspected Persons unlawfully to play with Cards and Dice, as well in the Day, as in the Night-time, after lawful Hours, to the Grievance of the Inhabitants there, and to the bad Example of other Subjects of our said Lord the King, and contrary to the Statute, &c. and also against the Peace, &c.

Gang-

Gang-days, (Dies Lustrationis) And Gang-weeks are mentioned in the Laws of King Abelstan. See Rogation Week.

Gaol, (Gaola, Fr. Gaole, i. e. Garveola, a Cage for Birds) Is used metaphorically for a Prison. It is a strong Place or House for keeping of Debtors, &c. and wherein a Man is restrained of his Liberty to answer an Offence done against the Laws: And every County hath two Gaols, one for Debtors, which may be any House where the Sheriff pleases; the other for the Peace and Matters of the Crown, which is the County Gaol. Mod. Just. 230. Justices of Peace may not commit Felons, and other Criminals to the Counters in London, or other Prisons but the common Gaols, for they can legally imprison no where but in the common Gaol. Co. Litt. 9, 119. But the House of Correction, and the Counters of the Sheriffs of London, are the common Prisons for Offenders for the Breach of the Peace, &c. Sheriffs of Counties are to have the Keeping of the common Gaols; except such as are held by Inheritance. 19 Hen. 7. 10. And for the Relief of Prisoners in Gaols, Justices of Peace in Sessions have Power to tax every Parish in the County, not exceeding 8 d. per Week, leviable by Constables, and distributed by Collectors, &c. 14 Eliz. cap. 5. Offenders committed to Prison, are to bear the Charges of their Conveying to Gaol; or on Refusal, their Goods shall be sold for that Purpose, by Virtue of a Justice of Peace's Warrant; and if they have no Goods, a Tax is to be made by Constables, &c. on the Inhabitants of the Parish where the Offenders were apprehended. 3 Jac. 1. cap. 10. If a Gaol be out of Repair, insufficient, &c. the Justices of Peace in the Quarter-Sessions may agree with Workmen for Rebuilding or Repairing it; and by Warrant under their Hands and Seals, order the Sum agreed upon to be levied upon the several Hundreds and Divisions in the County, by a proportionate Rate. 11 & 12 W. 3. cap. 19.

Gaoler, Is the Master of a Prison; one that hath the Custody of the Place where Prisoners are kept. Sheriffs must make such Gaolers for which they will answer: But if there is a Default in the Gaoler, Action lies against him for an Escape, &c. 2 Inst. 592. In common Cases, the Sheriff or Gaoler are chargeable at the Discretion of the Party; though the Sheriff is most usually charged. Wood's Inst. 76. He who hath the Custody of the Gaol wrongfully, or of Right, shall be charged with the Escape of Prisoners; and if he that hath the actual Possession be not sufficient, Respondet Superior. Ibid. A Gaoler kills an unruly Prisoner, it is no Felony; but if it be by hard Usage, it is Felony and Murder. 3 Inst. 52. And if a Gaoler barbarously misuse Prisoners, he may be fined and discharged. Raym. 216. If any Person assault a Gaoler, for keeping a Prisoner in safe Custody, he may be fined and imprisoned. 1 Hawk. 48, 59. Where a Gaol is broken by Thieves, the Gaoler is answerable; not if it be broken by Enemies. 3 Inst. 52. No Fees shall be taken by Gaolers of Prisoners, but such as are allowed by Law, and the Judges, &c. are to settle the same; also the Judges may determine Petitions against Extortions of Gaolers, Bailiffs. Statute 2 Geo. 2. cap. 22. See Prisoners and Escape.

Gaol-delivery. The Administration of Justice being originally in the Crown, in former Times our Kings in Person rode through the Realm once in seven Years, to judge of and determine Crimes and Offences: Afterwards Justices in Eyre were appointed; and since Justices of Assize and Gaol-delivery, &c. A Commission of a Gaol-delivery is a Patent in Nature of a Letter from the King to certain Persons, appointing them his Justices, or two or three of them, and authorising them to deliver his Gaol, at such a Place, of the Prisoners in it; for which Purpose, it commands them to meet at such Place, at the Time they themselves shall appoint; and informs them, that for the same Purpose the King hath commanded his Sheriff of the same County to bring all the Prisoners of the Gaol, and their Attachments before them, at the Day appointed. Cromp. Jurisd. 125. 4 Inst. 168. Justices of Gaol-delivery are empowered by the Common Law to proceed upon Indictments of Felony, Treasons, &c. and to order Execution or Reprieve: And they have Power to discharge such Prisoners, as upon their Trials shall be acquitted; also all such against whom, upon Proclamation made, no Evidence appears to indict them; which Justices of Oyer and Terminer, &c. may not do, 2 Hawk. 24, 25. But these Justices have nothing to do with any Person not in Custody of the Prison, except in some special Cases; as if some of the Accomplishes to a Felony be in such Prison, and some of them out of it, the Justices may receive an Appeal against those who are out of the Prison, as well as those who are in it; which Appeal after the Trial of such Prisoners, shall be removed into B. R. and Process issue from thence against the Rest; but if those out of Prison be omitted in the Appeal, they can never be put in to any other, because there can be but one Appeal for one Felony. Fitz. Coram. 77. S. P. C. 64. Such Justices have no more to do with one let to Mainprise, than if he were at large; for such Person cannot be said to be a Prisoner, since it is not in the Power of his Sureties to detain him in their Custody: And where any Person is bailed, that he is in the Custody of his Sureties, they may detain him where they please. 2 H. P. C. 25. Though per Hale C. J. If a Person be let to Bail, yet he is in Law in Prison, and his Bail are his Keepers; and therefore the Justices of Gaol-delivery may take an Indictment against him, as well as if he was actually in Gaol. And they may take Indictments not only of Felony, but also of High Treason, if the Offenders are in Prison, and try and give Judgment upon them, like unto Commissioners of Oyer and Terminer; though it has been formerly held otherwise. 2 Hale's Hist. P. C. 35. Justices of Gaol-delivery may punish those who unduly bail Prisoners; as being guilty of a negligent Escape. S. P. C. 77. 25 Ed. 3. 39. They are also to punish Sheriffs and Gaolers, refusing to take Felons into their Custody from Constables, &c. 4 Ed. 3. 10. and have Authority to punish many particular Offences by Statute.

Garb, (Garba, from the Fr. Garbe, alias Gerbe, i. e. fascis) Signifies a Bundle or Sheaf of Corn. Chart. Forest. cap. 7. And in some Places it is taken for an Handful, viz. Garba acris sit ex triginta peccis. Fleta, lib. 2. cap. 12. Garba Sagittarum is a Sheaf of Arrows containing twenty four. Skene.

Garble, Is to sever the Dross and Dust from Spice, Drugs, &c. Garbling is the Purifying and Cleansing the Good from the Bad; and may come from the Italian Garbo, i. e. Finery or Neatness; and thence probably we say, when we see a Man in a neat Habit, that he is in a handsome Garb. Cowel.

Garbler of Spices, An Officer of Antiquity in the City of London, who may enter into any Shop, Warehouse, &c. to view and search Drugs and Spices, and garble, and make clean the same, or see that it be done. 21 Jac. 1. cap. 19. And all Drugs, &c. are to be cleansed and garbled before sold, on Pain of Forfeiture, or the Value. Stat. Ibid. But see Statute 6 Ann. cap. 16.

Garcio, (Fr. Gargon) A Groom or Servant. Pla. Cor. 21 Ed. 1. Garcio Stole, Groom of the Stole to the King: And in the Yish Language; (according to Toland) Gargon is an Appellative for any menial Servant. Kennel's Gloss.

Garciones,

Garciones, Are those Servants which follow the Camp. — Habeat Garcionem suo servitio semper attendantem. Ingulph. 886. And the Word Garciones hath been applied to the Baggage of an Army; so called a Garcionibus five militum famulis. Walsing. 242.

Garde, Gardian, &c. See Guard, and Guardian.

Gardebrache, (Fr. Gardebrace) An Armour or Vambrace for the Arm. — Chart. K. Hen. 5.

Garderobe, (Garderoba) A Closet or small Apartment, for hanging up Clothes, being the same with Wardrobe. See 2 Inft. 255.

Gardia, Is a Word used by the Feudists for Castodia. Lib. Feud. 1.

Gare, A Coarse Wool, full of staring Hairs, such as grow about the Shanks of Sheep 31 Ed. 3. cap. 8.

Garlanda, A Chaplet, Coronet, or Garland. Matt. Paris.

Garnestura, Vissuals, Arms, and other Implements of War, necessary for the Defence of a Town or Castle. Matt. Paris. Anno. 1250.

Garnish, To garnish the Heir, signifies in Law to warn the Heir. Stat. 27 Eliz. cap. 3.

Garnishment, (Fr. Garnement, from Garnir, i. e. instruere) In a legal Sense intends a Warning given to one for his Appearance, for the better furnishing of the Cause and Court. For Example; one is sued for the Detinue of certain Writings delivered; and the Defendant alledging that they were delivered to him by the Plaintiff, and another Person upon Condition, prays that the other Person may be warned to plead with the Plaintiff, whether the Conditions be performed or not; in this Petition he is said to pray Garnishment; which may be interpreted either a Warning of that other, or a Furnishing the Court with all Parties to the Action, whereby it may thoroughly determine the Cause; and until he appears and joins, the Defendant is as it were out of the Court. Crompt. Jurisd. 211. F. N. B. 106. A Writ of Scire facias is to go forth against the other Person to appear and plead with the Plaintiff; and when he comes and thus pleads, it is called Enterpleader: If the Garnishee be returned Scire feci, and make Default, Judgment will be had to recover the Writings, and for their Delivery, against the Defendant; and if the Garnishee appears and pleads, if the Plaintiff recovers, he shall have Damages. Rast. 213. 1 Brownl. 147. Garnishment is generally used for a Warning; as Garnisher le Court is to warn the Court; and Reasonable Garnishment is where a Person hath reasonable Warning. Kitch. 6. In the Statute 27 Eliz. cap. 3. we read, upon a Garnishment, or two Nibils returned, &c. And further, some Contracts are naked, sans Garnement, and some furnished, &c.

Garnishee, Is a third Person or Party in whose Hands Money is attacked within the Liberties of the City of London, by Process out of the Sheriff's Court; so called, because he hath had Garnishment or Warning, not to pay the Money to the Defendant, but to appear and answer to the Plaintiff Creditor's Suit. Vide Attachment.

Garnisture, A Furnishing or Providing. Pat. 17 Ed. 3. Vide Garnestura.

Garsumunc, Gersuma, or Gersoma, A Fine or Amercement. Domesday, Spelm. Gloss.

Garter, (Garterium, Fr. Jartier, i. e. Periscelis, Fascia poplitearia) Signifies in divers Statutes and elsewhere, a special Garter, being the Ensign of a Noble Order of Knights, instituted by King Ed. 3. called Knights of the Garter: It is also taken for the Principal King at Arms, among our English Heralds, attending upon the Knights thereof; created by King Hen. 5. and mentioned in the Statute 14 Car. 2. cap. 33.

Garth, A little Backside or Close in the North of England; being an ancient British Word, as Gardd in that Language is Garden, and pronounced and writ Garth; also a Dam or Wear, &c.

Garthman. As there are Fishgarths or Wears for catching of Fish, so there are Garthmen; for by Statute it is ordained, that no Fisher nor Garthman shall use any Nets or Engines to destroy the Fry of Fish, &c. 17 R. 2. cap. 9. And this Word is supposed to be derived from the Scottish Gart, which signifieth enforced or compelled; and Fish are forced by the Wear to pass in at a Loop where they are taken.

Gastaldus, A Governor of the Country, whose Office was only temporary, and who had Jurisdiction over the common People. Blount.

Gate, At the End of the Names of Places, signifies a Way or Path, from the Sax. Geat, i. e. Porta. The Custody of the Gates of the City of London, is granted to the Lord Mayor, &c. by Chart. King Hen. 4.

Gabel, (Sax. Gafel) Tribute, Toll, Custom or yearly Revenue; of which we had in old Times several Kinds. See Gabel.

Gabelet, (Gavelletum) Is an ancient and special Kind of Cessavit used in Kent, where the Custom of Gavelkind continues, whereby a Tenant, if he withhold his Rents and Services due to the Lord, shall forfeit his Land: It was intended where no Distress could be found on the Premises, so that the Lord might seize the Land itself in the Nature of a Distress, and keep it a Year and a Day; within which Time, if the Tenant came and paid his Rent, he was admitted to his Tenement to hold it as before; but if not, the Lord might enter and enjoy the same. 10 H. 3. 10 Ed. 2. The Lord was to seek by the Award of his Court, from three Weeks to three Weeks, to find some Distress upon the Land or Tenement, until the fourth Court; and if in that Time he could find none, at the fourth Court it was awarded that the Tenement should be seized as a Distress, and kept in the Lord's Hands a Year and a Day without manuring; and if the Tenant did not in that Time redeem it, by paying the Rent and making Amends to the Lord, the Lord having pronounced his Process by Witnesses at the next County Court, was awarded by his Court to enter and manure the Tenement as his own: And if the Tenant would afterwards have it again, he was to make Agreement with the Lord. Fitz. Cess. 60. Terms de Ley 373. Gavelletum is as much as to say to cease, or to let to pay the Rent; and Consuetudo de Gabelet was not a Rent, or Service, but a Rent or Service withheld, denied or detained, causing the Forfeiture of the Tenement. Co. Litt.

Gabelet in London, (Breve de Gavelato in London, pro redditu ibidem, quia Tenementa fuerunt indivisibilia) Is a Writ used in the Hustings of London; and the Statute of Gabelet, 10 Ed. 2. gives this Writ to Lords of Rents in the City of London, as well as in Kent: Here the Parties, Tenant and Demandant, appear by Scire facias, to shew Cause why the one should not have his Tenement again on Payment of his Rent, or the other recover the Lands, on Default thereof. Præf. Solic. 419.

Gabelgeld, Is applied to the Payment of Tribute or Toll. Mon. Ang. Tom. 3.

Gabelkind, Is said by Lambard to be compounded of three Saxon Words, Gylf, Eah, Kyn, omnibus cognatione proximit data. Verstegan calls it Gavelkind, quasi Give all kind, that is to each Child his Part: And Taylor in his History of Gavelkind, derives it from the British Gavel, i. e. a Hold or Tenure, and Canned, Generatio aut familia; and so Gavel censu might signify Tenura Generationis. But whatever is the Etymology, it signifies a Tenure or Custom, annexed and belonging to Lands in Kent, whereby the Lands of the Father are equally divided at his Death among all his his Sons; or the Land of the Brother among all the Brethren, if he have no Issue of his own. Litt. 210. In the Time of our Saxon Ancestors, the Inheritance of Lands did not descend to the eldest Son as now, but to all alike; from whence came the Custom of Gavelkind: And the Reason why this Custom was retained in Kent, is because the Kentishmen were not conquered by the Normans in the Time of William 1. For Stigand, then Archbishop of Canterbury, who commanded the Forces in the Country, ordered every Man to march with Boughs in their Hands, and meeting William they acquainted him with their Resolution of standing or falling in Defence of the Laws of their Country, and he imagining himself to be encompassed in a Wood, granted that they and their Posterity should enjoy their Rights, Liberties and Laws; some of which, particularly this of Gavelkind continues to this Day. Blount. All the Lands in England were of the Nature of Gavelkind before the Conquest, and descended to all the Issue equally; but after the Conquest (as it is called) when Knight Service was introduced, the Descent was restrained to the eldest Son, for the Preservation of the Tenure. Lamb. 167. 3 Salk. 129. In the Reign of Hen. 6. there were not above thirty or forty Persons in all Kent that held by any other Tenure than this of Gavelkind; which was afterwards altered upon the Petition of divers Kentish Gentlemen, in much of the Land of that County, so as to be descendible to the eldest Son, according to the Course of the Common Law, by the Statute 31 Hen. 8. cap. 3. Though the Custom to devise Gavelkind Land, and the other Qualities and Customs remain. 1 Inst. 140. By the Statute 34 & 35 Hen. 8. cap. 26. all Gavelkind Lands in Wales were made descendible to the Heir, according to the Common Law; whereby it appears, that the Tenure of Gavelkind was likewise in that Principality. By the Customary Tenure called Gavelkind, which is an ancient Socage Tenure, the Lands are dividable between the Heirs Male who shall inherit as Sisters do at the Common Law; and when one Brother dies without Issue, all the other Brothers are to inherit. 1 Inst. 140. But a Father having Gavelkind Lands, had three Sons, one of whom died in the Life time of his Father, leaving Issue a Daughter; and it was held that the Daughter shall inherit the Part of her Father Jure Representationis, and yet she is not within the Words of the Custom of dividing the Land between the Heirs Male, for she is the Daughter of a Male, and Heir by Representation. 1 Salk. 243. The Heir at the Age of fifteen Years, it is said, may give and sell his Lands in Gavelkind, and shall inherit. Co. Litt. 111. The Custom of Gavelkind is not altered, though a Fine be levied of the Lands at Common Law; because 'tis a Custom that runs with the Land. 6 Ed. 6. Land in Gavelkind was devised to the Husband and Wife for Life, Remainder to the next Heir Male of their Bodies, &c. They had three Sons, and it was adjudged that the eldest Son should not have the Whole. Dyer 133. A Donee in Tail, of Gavelkind Lands, had Issue four Sons; and it was held, that all should inherit: But if a Lease for Life is made of Gavelkind, Remainder to the Right Heirs of A. B. who hath Issue four Sons, in this Case the eldest Son shall inherit the Remainder, because in Case of Purchase, there can be but one right Heir. 1 Rep. 103. If Gavelkind Lands come to the Crown, and are regranted to hold in Capite, &c. the Land shall descend to all the Heirs Male as Gavelkind. 4 & 5 Mar. 2. Nels. Abr. 895. A Wife shall be indowed of Gavelkind Land, of a Moiety of the Land whereof her Husband died seized, during her Widowhood. 1 Inst. 111. And it has been adjudged, that the Widow cannot have Election to demand her Thirds or Dower at Common Law, so as to avoid the Custom, and marry a second Husband, by which she shall lose her Dower. Moor 260. But see 1 Leon. 62. The Husband shall be Tenant by the Curtesy of Half the Gavelkind Lands of the Wife, during the Time he continues unmarried, without having any Issue by his Wife; but if he marry, he shall forfeit his Tenancy by the Curtesy. 1 Inst. 111. If the Husband had Issue by his Wife, and she die, he shall be Tenant by the Curtesy of the whole Land; and though he do marry, he shall not forfeit his Tenancy. Mich. 21 Car. B. R. 1 Lill. Abr. 649. Although a Father be attainted of Treason or Felony, and hanged, the Heir of Gavelkind Land shall inherit; for the Custom is, the Father to the Bough and the Son to the Plough. Doct. & Student, cap. 10. A Rent in Fee granted out of Gavelkind Lands, shall descend in Gavelkind to all the Heirs Male, as the Lands would have done; it being of the same Nature with the Land itself. 2 Lev. 138. 1 Mod. 97. All Lands in Kent shall be taken to be Gavelkind, except those which are disgavelled by particular Statutes. 1 Mod. 98. If Lands are alledged to be in Kent, it shall be intended that they are Gavelkind; if the Contrary doth not appear. 2 Sid. 153. By Hale Chief Justice, Gavelkind Law is the Law of Kent, and is never pleaded, but presumed: And it has been held, that the superior Courts may take Notice of Gavelkind generally without pleading; though not of the special Custom of devising it, &c. which ought to be pleaded specially. But it appears by some of our Books, that the Court cannot judicially take Notice of the Custom of Gavelkind, without pleading the same; and that it ought to be set forth in the Declaration, &c. 1 Mod. 98. Cro. Car. 465. Lutw. 236, 754.

Gabelman, Is a Tenant liable to Tribute. — Villani de, &c. qui vocantur Gabelmanni. Sommer of Gavelkind, pag. 33. And hence Gavelkind has been thought to be Land in its Nature Taxable. Blount.

Gabelmed, The Duty or Work of mowing Grass, or cutting of Meadow Land, required by the Lord from his customary Tenants, Consuetudo sulcandi que vocatur Gabelmed. Somm.

Gabelsester, (Sax.) Sextarius Ve Sigalis, Is a certain Measure of Rent-Ale: And among the Articles to be charged on the Stewards and Bailiffs of the Manors belonging to the Church of Canterbury in Kent, according to which they were to be accountable, this of old was one; De Gabelsester cujuslibet Bracini braciati infra Libertatem Maneriorum, viz. unam Lagenam & dimidiam Cervisic. This Duty elsewhere occurs under the Name of Tolsester; in lieu whereof the Abbot of Abbington was wont of Custom to receive the Penny mentioned by Selden in his Dissertation annexed to Fleta, cap. 8. Nor doth it differ from what is called Oakgavel in the Glossary at the End of Hen. 1. Laws. Sax. Dict.

Gabelwerk, (Sax.) Was either Manu opera, by the Hands and Person of the Tenant, or Carropera, by his Carts or Carriages. Philips of Purvey.

Gaugetum, A Gauge or Gauging, done by the Gauger; and the true English Gauge is mentioned Rot. Parl. 35 Ed. 1.

Gauger, (Gaugeator, Fr. Gaucbir, i. e. in gyrum torquere) Signifies an Officer appointed by the King, to examine all Tuns, Pipes, Hogheads, Barrels and Tercians of Wine, Oil, Honey, &c. and to give them a Mark of Allowance, as containing lawful Measure, before they are sold in any Place: And because his Mark is a Circle made with an Iron Instrument for that Purpose, it seems to have its Name from thence. Of this Officer and his Office, we have many Statutes; as by 27 Ed. 3. cap. 8. all Wines, &c. imported, are to be gauged by the King's Gaugers, or their Deputies: By 31 Ed. 3. c. 5. Selling Wine before gauged, incurs Forfeiture of the Value. And by 23 Hen. 6. cap. 16. the Gauge Penny is to be paid

Gaugers, on gauging Wines. The 31 Eliz. ordains, that Beer, &c. imported, shall be gauged by the Master and Wardens of the Coopers Company. See 12 Car. 2. c. 4. Vide Excise.

Geaspecies. In a Charter of the Privileges of Newcastle upon Tyne, renewed Anno 30 Eliz. we find Sturgesiones, Porpecies, (i. e. Porpoises) Delphinos, Geaspecies, (viz. Grampois) &c.

Geburus, A Country Inhabitant of the same Geburship or Village; from the Sax. Gebure, a Carl, Ploughman, or Farmer. Cowel.

Geld, (Geldum) Multa, Compensatio Delicti & Pretium rei. Hence in our ancient Laws, Wergeld was used for the Value or Price of a Man slain; and Orfgeld of a Beast: Likewise Money or Tribute; for it is said, Et sint quieti de Geldis, Danegeldis, Horn-geldis, Blodwita, &c. Chart. Rich. 2. Priorat. de H. in Devon. Pat. 5 Ed. 4. Angeld is the single Value of a Thing; Twigeld, double Value, &c.

Geldable, (Geldabilis) That is liable to pay Tax or Tribute. Camden dividing Suffolk into three Parts, calls the first Geldable, because subject to Taxes; from which the other two Parts were exempt, as being Ecclesie Donatae. This Word is mentioned in the Statute 27 Hen. 8. cap. 26. But in an old MS. it is expounded to be that Land or Lordship, which is sub districtione Curie vicecom. 2 Inst. 701.—Jur. dicunt quod Prior de Sempringham tenet tres Carucatas terrae in S. & non sunt Geldabiles. Ex Rot. Hundr. in Turr. Lond. Ann. 3 Ed. 1.

Gemote, (Sax. i. e. Conventus) Omnis homo pacem habeat eundo ad Gemotum & rediens de Gemoto, Nisi probatus fur fuerit. Leg. Edw. Conf. cap. 35. See Mote.

Geneath, Villanus, as Regis Geneath is the King's Villain. LL. Ina, MS. cap. 19.

General Issue, Is a Plea to the Fact of Not guilty, in Criminal Cases, in order to Trial, by the Country, or by Peers, &c. H. P. C. 254.

Generatio. When an old Abbey or Religious House had spread itself into many Colonies, or depending Cells, that Issue or Offspring of the Mother Monastery was called Generatio, quasi proles & soboles Matricis Domus. Annual. Waverl. 1232.

Generale. The single Commons, or ordinary Provision of the Religious, were termed Generale, as their general Allowance, distinguished from their Pietantiae or Pittances; which upon extraordinary Occasions were thrown in as Over commons. In the Observances of the Cluniac Monks, they are described thus: Generale appellamus quod singulis in singulis datur scutellis: Pietantia quod in una scutella duobus. They are also described amongst other Customs. Cartular. Glasston, MS. fol. 10.

Generals of Orders, Chiefs of the several Orders of Monks, Friars, and other Religious Societies.

Geneva, A famous Strong-Water, or Spirit, put down by Statute 2 Geo. 2. Vide Distillers.

Gentleman, (Generosus) Is compounded of two Languages, from the Fr. Gentil, i. e. Honestus, vel honesto loco natus, and the Sax. Mon, a Man; as if you would say a Man well born. The Italians call those Gentil homini whom we style Gentlemen; the French likewise distinguish such by the Name of Gentilhomme: And the Spaniards keep up to the Meaning of the Word, calling him Hidalgo or Hijo d'alga, who is the Son of a Man of Account; so that Gentlemen are such whom their Blood or Race doth make known. Under the Denomination of Gentlemen, are comprised all above Yeomen; whereby Noblemen are truly called Gentlemen. Smith. de Rep. Angl. lib. 1. cap. 20, 21. A Gentleman is generally defined to be one, who without any Title, bears a Coat of Arms, or whose Ancestors have been Freemen; and by the Coat that a Gentleman giveth, he is known to be, or not to be descended from those of his Name, that lived many hundred Years since. Cicero in his Topicks, speaks thus of this Subject; Gentiles sunt, qui inter se eodem sunt nomine ab ingenuis oriundi, quorum majorum nemo servitutem servavit, qui capite non sunt diminuti. There is said to be a Gentleman by Office, and in Reputation, as well as those that are born such. 2 Inst. 668. And we read that J. Kingston was made a Gentleman by King R. 2. Pat. 13 R. 2. par. 1. Gentilis homo for a Gentleman, was adjudged a good Addition. Hill. 27 Ed. 3. But the Addition of Esquire, or Gentleman, was rare before 1 Hen. 5. though that of Knight is very ancient. 2 Inst. 595, 667.

Gentlewoman, (Generosa) Is a good Addition for the Estate and Degree of a Woman, as Generosus is for that of a Man; and if a Gentlewoman be named Spinster in any original Writ, Appeal, &c. it hath been held that she may abate, and quash the same. 2 Inst. 668.

Gentility, (Gentilitas) Is lost by Attainder of Treason, or Felony, by which Persons become base and ignoble, &c.

Genu, Is a Generation.—Succesfit Ethelbaldo Offa quinto Genu. Malmsh. lib. 4. cap. 4.

Genus, (Lat.) The general Stock, Extraction, &c. as the Word Office in Law is the Genus, or general; but the Sheriff, &c. is the Species of it, or Particular. 2 Lill. Abr. 528. See Statute.

George Noble, A Piece of Gold, current at six Shillings and eight Pence, in the Reign of King Hen. 8. Lownd's Eff. upon Coins, p. 41.

Georgia. The Sum of Twenty-six Thousand Pounds, is granted by the Land Tax Act, towards settling the new Colony of Georgia in America. Statute 8 Geo. 2. cap. 23. And Thirty Thousand Pounds further, by 9 Geo. 2. c. 34. and 10 Geo. 2. cap. 17.

Grsumma, Mentioned in Mon. Ang. Tom. 2. p. 973. See Garsummune.

Gestu & fama, An ancient Writ where a Person's good Behaviour was impeached, now out of Use. Lamb. Eiren. lib. 4. cap. 14. See Good Abearing.

Gewineda, (Sax.) Was used for the publick Convention of the People, to decide a Cause: Et pax quam Aldermannus Regis in quinque Burgorum Gewineda dabit emendatur 12 libris. LL. Ethelred. cap. 1.

Gewitnesa, The giving of Evidence. Leg. Ethel. cap. 1. apud Brompton.

Gift, (Donum) Is a Conveyance, which passeth either Lands or Goods. And a Gift is of a larger Extent than a Grant, being applied to Things moveable and immoveable; yet as to Things immoveable, when taken strictly, it is applicable only to Lands and Tenements given in Tail; but Gifts and Grants are said to be alike in Nature and often confounded. Wood's Inst. 260. A Gift may be by Deed, in Word, or in Law: All Goods and Chattels personal may be given without Deed, except in some special Cases; and a Free Gift is good without a Consideration. Perk 57. But a general Gift of all one's Goods, without any Exception, though this be by Deed, it is liable to Suspicion as fraudulent, to deceive Creditors; for by giving all a Man's Goods, there seems to be a secret Trust and Confidence implied, that the Donee shall deal favourably with the Donor, in Respect to his Circumstances. 3 Rep. 80. And therefore whenever any Gift shall be made, in Satisfaction of a Debt, it is good to make it in a publick Manner before Neighbours, that the Goods and Chattels be appraised to the full Value, and the Gift expressly made in Satisfaction of the Debt; and that on the Gift, the Donee take Possession of them, &c. Hob. 230. If a Man intending to give a Jewel to another, say to him, Here I give you my Ring, with the Ruby in it, &c. and with his own Hand delivers it to the Party; this will be a good Gift; notwithstanding the Ring shall bear any other Jewel, being delivered by the Party himself to the Person to whom given. Bac. Max. 87. And if a Person give a Horse to another, being present, and bid him take the Horse, though he call the Man by a wrong Name, it will be a good Gift: But it would be otherwise if the Horse were delivered for the Use of another Person, being absent; there a Mistake of the Name would alter the Case. Ibid. A Gift must be certain; and therefore to give or grant another his Horses or Cows, that may be spared, will be void: Though if one give to A. B. his Horse, or his Cow, he may take which he will of them. Bro. Done 19. If I give all my Money in my Purse to another, without saying how much it is; this is a void Gift, and no Action will lie for the same. Plowd. 273. As to Gifts in Law, when a Man is married to a Woman, all her Goods and Chattels by Gift in Law become the Husband's; but then he is liable for her Debts: So if a Man is made Executor of a Will, the Law gives him all the Goods and Chattels of the Testator, subject to the Testator's Debts: And if a Person make a Suit of Clothes for another, and put it upon him to use and wear, this will be a Gift or Grant in Law of the Apparel made. 1 Inst. 351. A Man by Deed did Give and Grant, Bargain and Sell, Alien, Enfeoff and Confirm to his Daughter certain Lands: But no Consideration of Money was mentioned, nor was the Deed inrolled; there was likewise no Consideration of Natural Affection expressed, (other than what was implied in naming the Grantee his Daughter) and there was no Livery indorsed, or any found to have been made; nor was the Daughter in Possession at the Time of the Deed made: And in B. R. it was adjudged by the Court that the Deed was good, and carried the Estate to the Daughter by way of Covenant to stand seized, &c. 1 Mod. Rep. 175. The Words Give and Grant, in Deeds of Gift, &c. of Things which lie in Grant, will amount unto a Grant, a Feoffment, a Gift, Release, Confirmation or Surrender, at the Election of the Party, and may be pleaded as a Gift, or Grant, Release, &c. at his Election. 1 Inst. 301. And Words shall be marshalled so in Gifts and Grants, that where they cannot take Effect according to the Letter, the Law will make such Construction as the Gift by Possibility may take Effect: Benignæ sunt Interpretationes Chartarum propter simplicitatem Laicorum, ut res, &c. Co. Litt. 183. If a Person gives or grants Land, and does not say in what Parish or County it lies; yet if there be any other Thing to describe it, as lately belonging to such a Person, &c. or other Circumstantial Matter, it may be averred where the Land lieth, and so the Gift be good. Bro. Grant, 53. 9 Rep. 47. All corporeal and immoveable Things that lie in Livery, such as Manors, Messuages, Cottages, Lands, Woods, and the like, may be given and granted in Fee, for Life, or Years at first; and be assignable over after, from Man to Man in infinitum. 1 Roll. Abr. 44. And where a Man gives and grants Wood to another on his Lands, or 20 s. for it to be received out of the same Lands, &c. here the Wood passes by the Gift presently, with Power to chuse to have the Money. Roll. Abr. 47. A Deed of Gift of Lands or Goods may be made upon Condition; and on a Gift or Sale of Goods, the Delivery of 6 d. or a Spoon, &c. is a good Seisin of the Whole. Wood's Inst. 234.

Form of a Deed of Gift of Lands and Tenements.

THIS Indenture, made the Day and Year, &c. Between A. B. of, &c. of the one Part, and T. B. of, &c. Son of the said A. B. of the other Part, Witneseth, That the said A. B. as well for and in Consideration of the Natural Love and Affection which he hath and beareth unto the said T. B. his Son, as also for the better Maintenance and Provement of the said T. B. Hath given, granted, aliened, enfeoffed and confirmed, and by these Presents doth give, grant, alien, enfeoff and confirm, unto the said *T. Glas-men, Are reckoned amongst wandering Rogues and Vagrants, by the old Statutes. 39 Eliz. and 1 Jac. 1. cap. 7.

Glebe, (Gleba) Is Church-land; Dos vel Terra ad Ecclesiam pertinens. Lyndwood says, Gleba est terra in qua consistit Dos Ecclesie; generaliter tamem sumitur pro solo vel pro terra culta: We most commonly take it for the Land belonging to a Parish Church, besides the Tithes. If any Parson, Vicar, &c. hath caused any of his Glebe Lands to be manured and sown at his own Costs, with any Corn or Grain, the Incumbents may devise all the Profits and Corn growing upon the said Glebe by Will. Statute 28 H. 8. cap. 11. And if a Parson sows his Glebe and dies, the Executors shall have the Corn sown by the Testator. But if the Glebe be in the Hands of a Tenant, and the Parson dies after Severance of the Corn, and before his Rent due; it is said, neither the Parson's Executors, or the Successor can claim the Rent, but the Tenant may retain it, and also the Crop, unless there be a special Covenant for the Payment to the Parson's Executors proportionably, &c. Wood's Inst. 163. There is a Writ grounded upon the Stat. Articuli Clerici, cap. 6. Where a Parson is distrained in his Glebe Lands by Sheriffs, or other Officers; against whom Attachment shall issue. New Nat. Br. 386, 387.

God-gild, That which is offered to God, or his Service. Sax.

Golda, A Mine, according to Blount. Concessionem quam idem Thomas fecit de Terris suis & Terris tenentium suorum, a Goldis mundandi per se & suos secundum consuetudinem, &c. Mon. Ang. Tom. 2 pag. 610.

Gold and Silver Lace and Thread, Persons that sell Orrice Lace, mixed with other Metal or Materials than Gold, Silver, Silk and Vellum, shall forfeit 2 s. 6 d. for every Ounce: And there shall be allowed at least six Ounces of Gold and Silver prepared and reduced into Plate, to cover four Ounces of Silk, except large Twist, Freeze, &c. And laying the same on greater Proportions of the Silk, or in any other Manner than directed, incurs the like Forfeiture of 2 s. 6 d. the Ounce. Copper and Lace inferior to Silver, is to be spun upon Thread, Yarn or Incle, and not on Silk; but this does not extend to Tinsel Apparel, used in Theatres. No Gold or Silver Lace, Thread, Fringe or Wire, &c. may be imported, on Pain of being forfeited and burnt, and 100 l. Penalty. Statute 15 Geo. 2. cap. 20. See Wire Drawers Embroidery.

Goldsmiths, Gold and Silver Manufactures are to be assayed by the Warden of the Goldsmiths Company in London, and marked; and Gold is to be of a certain Touch. 28 Ed. 1. cap. 20. Goldsmiths must have their own Marks on Plate, after the Surveyors have made their Assay; and false Metal shall be seized and forfeited to the King. 37 E. 3. 7. Work of Silver made by Goldsmiths, &c. is to be as fine as Sterling, except the Solder necessary; and marking other Work, incurs a Forfeiture of double Value. 2 H. 6. cap. 14. Goldsmiths shall not take above 1 s. the Ounce of Gold, besides the Fashion, more than the Buyer may be allowed for it at the King's Exchange: And if the Work of any Goldsmith be marked and allowed by the Masters and Wardens of the Mystery, and afterwards found faulty; the Wardens and Corporation shall forfeit the Value of the Thing so sold or exchanged. 18 Eliz. cap. 5. Molten Silver is not to be transported by Goldsmiths before it is marked at Goldsmith's Hall, and a Certificate made thereof on Oath; and Officers of the Customs may seize Silver shipped otherwise. 6 & 7 W. 3. cap. 17. The Cities of York, Exeter, Bristol, Chester, Norwich, and Town of Newcastle, are appointed ed Places for assaying and marking wrought Plate of Goldsmiths, &c. 12 W. 3. 4. 1 Ann. cap. 9. A Duty is granted on Silver Plate of 6 d. per Ounce; And Goldsmiths are to make Entries thereof with the Weight, on Pain of 100 l. &c. And Goldsmiths must work their Plate according to the old Standard; which is to be touched, assayed and marked before exposed to Sale. Stat. 6 Geo. 1. cap. 11. By a late Act, Gold Plate made by Goldsmiths shall contain 22 Carrats of Fine Gold; and Silver Plate 11 Ounces and two Penny Weight of Silver, in every Pound Troy, or they forfeit 10 l. And no Goldsmith shall sell any such Plate, until marked with the first Letters of the Maker's Christian and Surname, the Marks of the City of London, being the Leopard's Head, Lion Passant, &c. and those made use of by the Assayers at York, Exeter, &c. All Persons making Plate, are to enter their Marks, Names and Places of Abode in the Assay-Office; they are likewise to send with the Plate required to be marked, a particular Account thereof, in order to be entered, &c. or forfeit 5 l. The Assayers determine what Solder is necessary about Plate, and judge of the Workmanship, and for good Cause may refuse to Assay it; and if any Parcel be discovered of a coarser Alloy than the Standard, it may be broke and defaced; also the Fees for assaying and marking are particularly limited, &c. 12 Geo. 2. cap. 26.

Goldmit, or Goldwich, Perhaps a golden Mule; in the Records of the Tower, there is Mention of Consuetudo vocata Goldwith vel Goldwich.

Goliardus, Is a Jester or Buffoon, mentioned in Matt. Paris. 1229.

Good Bearing, (Bonus Gestus) Signifies an exact Carriage or Behaviour of a Subject towards the King and the People; whereunto some Persons upon their Misbehaviour are bound: And he that is bound to this, is said to be more strictly bound than to the Peace; because where the Peace is not broken, the Surety de Bono Gestu may be forfeited by the Number of a Man's Company, or by their Weapons. Lamb. Eiren. lib. 2. cap. 2. 34 Ed. 3. cap. 1.

Good Behaviour, Surety for the Good Behaviour is Surety for the Peace, and differs very little from Good Bearing. A Justice of Peace may demand it ex Officio, according to his Discretion, when he sees Cause; or at the Request of any other under the King's Protection: His Warrant also is to be issued when he is commanded to do it by Writ of Supplicavit out of the Chancery or B. R. It may be granted against any Persons, whatsoever, under the Degree of Nobility, against whom Complaint is to be made in the Court of Chancery, or in B. R.: and they may be bound there to keep the Peace. Dalt. 267, 268. The Warrant of the Justice to keep the Peace, is to be granted against Infants, and Feme Coverts, who ought to find Security by their Friends, and not be bound themselves; it may be had against the Husband, at the Request of the Wife, and against the Wife, at the Request of the Husband; against a Lunatick, that hath sometimes lucid Intervals; (but not a Non Compos., or against or for one attainted of Felony, &c.) against any Person affronting a Judge, Justice of Peace, &c. and in a Word against all Persons that are suspected to break the Peace, or that do break it by Affrays, Assaults, Battery, Wounding, Fighting, Quarrelling, Threatning to beat another, or to burn his House, Riots, &c. and in all Cases, where there is a future Danger. Dalt. 263, 264. 4 Inst. 180. Also one may be bound to his Good Behaviour for a scandalous Way of Living, for keeping Bawdy-Houses, or haunting them, Gaming Houses, &c. and so may common Drunkards, Whoremongers, and common Whores, Night-walkers, and those that live idly, Cheats, Libellers, &c. Dalt. 292, 293. A Woman who is a common Scold may be bound to the Good Behaviour: But the Statute 34 Ed. 3. cap. 1. relates only to Misbehaviours against the Publick Peace, so that it ought not to be demanded for private Defamation of another, but for Words only, which tend to the Breach of the Peace, or terrifying others, or unto Sedition, &c. 4 Inst. 181. 1 Lill. Abr. 650, 651. A Justice of Peace may not bind any Person to the Good Behaviour, upon a general Accusation made against the Party. Pastb. 23 Car. B. R. He that demands Security for the Peace, must make Oath before the Justice of Blows given, or that he stands in Fear of his Life or some bodily Hurt; or that he fears the Party will burn his House, &c. and that he doth not demand the Peace of him for any Malice or Revenge, but for his own Safety; whereupon the Justice grants his Warrant to bring the Party before him, and then Security is to be given by Recognizance for the Good Behaviour; or on Default thereof, the Party shall be committed to Gaol. 1 Inst. 293. 4 Inst. 180. And when Security for the Peace is given to the King by Recognizance in a Penal Sum, if the Peace is afterwards broken by any Act of the Party, or by his Procuring another to break it, &c. it is a Forfeiture of the Recognizance, which being brought to the next Sessions of the Peace by the Justice, the Justices in Sessions are to certify the Recognizance, with the Cause of Forfeiture, into B. R. or the Exchequer, &c. from whence Process shall go out against the Offender. Dalt. 277, 296. Justices of Peace, under Colour of their Authority, use to require the Good Behaviour of every one at their Pleasure; and if they refused, then to commit them to Prison: But if they have not good Cause to require Sureties for Good Behaviour, and the Party refusing to give it is committed to Prison, false Imprisonment well lies; for the Statute which gives the Justices that Authority, is principally against Vagabonds. 1 Lill. 651. The Surety for the Peace or Good Behaviour may be released by the Justice that took it, and the Party upon whose Complaint it was granted. Dalt. 296. But it is said such a Recognizance may not be discharged by Release of the Party himself; because the Cognisor is bound to the King, and to keep the Peace in general; though by the Death of the King, or of the Principal Cognisor, (not of the Sureties) it is discharged of Course. Roll. Rep. 199.

Goods and Chattels, (Bona & Catalla) Personal, &c. See Chattels.

Goole, (Fr. Goulet) A Breach in a Sea Bank or Wall; or a Passage worn by the Flux and Reflux of the Sea. 16 & 17 Car. 2. cap. 11.

Gorge, (From the Fr. Gort) A Wear: By Stat. 25 Ed. 3. cap. 4. it is ordained, that all Gorges, Mills, Weirs, &c. levied and set up, whereby the King's Ships and Boats are disturbed and cannot pass in any River, shall be utterly pulled down, without being renewed. Sir Edward Coke derives this Word from Gurgis, a deep Pit of Water, and calls it a Gors or Gulf; but this seems to be a Mistake, for in Domesday it is called Gourt and Gort, the French Word for a Wear. Co. Litt. 5.

Gore, A narrow Slip of Ground. Paroch. Antiq. 393.

Gote, (Sax. Gottan, i. e. Funders) A Ditch, Sluice or Gutter, mentioned in the 23 H. 8. cap. 5.

Government. In the first Year of King William and Queen Mary, an Act was made for empowering his Majesty to apprehend and detain such Persons as he should find just Cause to suspect were conspiring against the Government: By Virtue of which, those who were suspected of Treasonable Practices, were taken up and imprisoned, without Bail or Mainprise, for six Months, &c. Stat. 1 W. & M. cap. 2. A like Act of Parliament, to continue a short Time, passed passed in the Reign of Queen Anne, 6 Ann. cap. 15. And his Majesty King George the First, was impowered by Statute, to secure and detain suspected Persons, in the Time of the late Rebellion; and all Actions, Suits and Prosecutions, by Reason of any Thing done to suppress the same, and for the Service of the Government, were made void. Stat. 1 Geo. 1. cap. 8, 39. and others. Suspending the Habeas Corpus Act. See Habeas Corpus. Preaching against the Government. Vide Indictment.

Governors of the Chest at Chatham, Are Officers appointed to take Care of and relieve the poor and maimed Seamen belonging to the Navy Royal. 22 & 23 Car. 2.

Grace, Acts of Parliament for a general and free Pardon, are called Acts of Grace. 7 Geo. 1. cap. 29, &c.

Graduates, (Graduati) Are Scholars as have taken Degrees in an University. 1 Hen. 6. cap. 3.

Grasser, (Fr. Gressier, i. e. Scriba) A Notary or Scrivener, used in the Stat. 5 H. 8. cap. 1.

Grassio, Gradio, A Landgrave, or Earl—Nec Princeps, nec Grassio, banc lenitatem mutare audeat. Mon. Ang. Tom. 1. p. 100.

Grassium, A Writing Book, Register, or Cartulary of Deeds and Evidences. Annal. Eccles. Menevensis apud Angl. Sacr. par. 1. pag. 653.

Grail, (Gradale, or Graduale) A Gradual or Book, containing some of the Offices of the Roman Church.—Gradale, sic dictum, à gradalibus in tali libro contentis. Lyndewood. Provincial. Angl. lib. 3. It is sometimes taken for a Mass-book, or Part of it, instituted by Pope Celestine, Anno 430. See Stat. 37 H. 6. cap. 32.

Grain, Is the twenty-fourth Part of a Penny Weight. Merch. Dict. Also Grain signifies any Corn sown on Ground; and there is what is so called in the Top of the Ear, less than Corn. Litt. Aley's Rep. 80.

Grand Cape, Is a Writ on Plea of Land, where the Tenant makes Default in Appearance at the Day given, for the King to take the Land into his Hands, &c. Reg. Jud. 1. Vide Cape Magnum.

Grand Days, Are those Days in the Terms which are solemnly kept in the Inns of Court and Chancery, i. e. Candlemas Day in Hillary Term, Ascension Day in Easter Term, St. John the Baptist Day in Trinity Term, and All Saints Day in Michaelmas Term; which Days are Dies non Juridici, or no Days in Court.

Grand Distress, Is a Writ so called, not for the Quantity of it, for it is very short, but for its Quality, for the Extent thereof is very great, being to all the Goods and Chattels of the Party distrained within the County: It lies in two Cases, either when the Tenant or Defendant is attached, and appears not, but makes Default; or where the Tenant hath once appeared, and after makes Default, then this Writ is had by the Common Law in lieu of a Petit Cape. Stat. Westm. 1. cap. 44. 52 H. 3. cap. 9.

Grand Jury, Is the Jury that find Bills of Indictment before Justices of Peace, and Gaol-Delivery, or of Oyer and Terminer, &c. They ought only to hear Witnesses for the King; and to find a Bill on probable Evidence; because it is but an Accusation, and the Party is to be put upon his Trial afterwards. But if the Bill be against A. for Murder, and the Grand Jury on the Evidence before them, be satisfied it was Se Defendendo, &c. and so return it specially; the Court may remand them to consider better thereof, or hear the Evidence at the Bar, and accordingly direct the Grand Jury. 2 Hale's Hist. P. C. 157, 158.

But see 2 Hawk. 210. Where a Grand Jury refuses to present Things that are within their Charge, &c. a new Grand Inquest may be impanelled, to inquire of the Concealment of the former; on whose Defaults presented, they shall be amerced. Ibid. 155. Vide Indictment, and Jury.

Grand Serjeanty, An ancient Tenure, by Military Service. See Cbivarty.

Grange, (Grangia) A House or Farm where Corn is laid up in Barns, Granaries, &c. and provided with Stables for Horses, Stalls for Oxen; and other Things necessary for Husbandry.

Grangiarus, Is a Person who has the Care of such a Place, for Corn and Husbandry: And there was anciently a Granger, or Grangi-Keeper belonging to Religious Houses, who was to look after their Granges, or Farms in their own Hands. Fleta, lib. 2. cap. 8. Cartular. St. Edmund. MS. 323.

Grant, (Concessio) Signifies in the Common Law a Conveyance in Writing of Incorporeal Things not lying in Livery, and which cannot pass by Word only; as of Reversions, Advowsons in Gross, Tithes, Rents, Services, Common in Gross, &c. It has been also taken generally, for every Gift and Grant of any Thing whatsoever. 1 Inst. 172. 3 Rep. 63. And Grants are made by such Persons as cannot give but by Deed: And he that granteth is termed the Grantor; and he to whom the Grant is made is the Grantee. West. Symb. Sect. 234. Any natural Person, or corporate Body, (not prohibited by Law, as Infants, Feme Coverts, Monks, &c.) may make a Grant of Lands, and be a Grantor; and an Infant, or Woman Covert may be a Grantee. Perk. 3. 4. 43. &c. Though the Infant at his full Age may disagree to the Grant, and the Husband disagree to the Grant to his Wife. Ibid. Grants made by Persons non sana memoria, are good against themselves; but they are voidable by their Heirs, &c. A Man that is born Dumb, or Dumb and Deaf, if he have Understanding by making of Signs, he may grant his Land to another; not one who is born Deaf, Dumb and Blind also. 1 Co. Inst. 2. A Person attainted of Treason or Felony, may make a Deed of Gift or Grant, and be good against all Persons, except the King, and the Lord of whom the Lands are held; and for Relief in Prison, they may be good against them likewise. 1 Inst. 2. Perk. Sect. 26, 31. Regularly to every good Grant the following Things are requisite: 1. That there be a Person able to grant. 2. A Person capable of the Thing granted. 3. That there be a Thing grantable. 4. That it be granted in such Manner as the Law requires. 5. That there be an Agreement to and Acceptance of the Thing granted, by him to whom made. And 6. There ought to be an Attornment where needful. 1 Inst. 73. But Grants and Conveyances are good, without Attornment of Tenants, Notice being given them of the Grants, by Stat. 4 & 5 Ann. Grants are taken most strongly against the Grantor in Favour of the Grantee: The Grantee himself is to take by the Grant immediately, and not a Stranger, or any in futuro; and if a Grant be made to a Man and his Heirs, he may assign at his Pleasure, though the Word Assigna be not expressed. Litt. 1. Saund. 322. The Use of any Thing being granted, all is granted necessary to enjoy such Use: And in the Grant of a Thing, what is requisite for the obtaining thereof is included. 1 Inst. 56. So that if Timber Trees are granted, the Grantee may come upon the Grantor's Ground to cut and carry them away. 2 Inst. 309. Plowd. 15. Where the principal Thing is granted, the Incident shall pass; but the Principal will not pass by the Grant of the Incident. 1 Inst. 152. A Lord of a Manor cannot grant the same, and reserve the Court-Baron, it being inseparably incident. Ibid. 313. A Grant of a Manor, without the Words cum pertinentiis, will pass pais all Things belonging to the Manor: The Grant of a Farm will also pais all Lands belonging to it; but a Grant of a Messuage passeth only the House, Out-houses and Gardens. Owen's Rep. 51. Tot. il. Maner. de A. may be taken in the singular or plural Number; and Dashes and Abbreviations in Grants shall be so taken that the Grant be not void. 9 Rep. 48. When Lands are granted by Deed, the Houses which stand thereon will pais; Houses and Mills pais by the Grant of all Lands, because that is the most durable Thing on which they are built. 4 Rep. 86. 2 And. 123. By Grant of all the Lands, the Woods will pais: And if a Man grant all his Trees in a certain Place, this passeth the Soil; though an Exception of Wood extends to the Trees only, and not the Soil. 1 Roll. Rep. 33. Dyer 19. 5 Rep. 11. Trees in Boxes will not pais by the Grant of the Land, &c. as they are separate from the Freehold. Mod. Cases 170. A Man grants all his Wood that shall grow in Time to come; it is a void Grant, not being in Esse. 3 Leon. 57. A Grant de vestura Terræ passeth not the Freehold; and therefore the Grantee hath no Authority to dig in it by Virtue of such a Grant. Ow. 37. By the Grant of Lands in the Possession of another, it is good if such other be in Possession, let the Possession be by Right or Wrong. 1 Roll. Rep. 23. If a Grant is general, and the Lands granted restrained to a certain Vill, the Grantee shall have no Lands out of the Vill. 2 Rep. 33. If I grant all my Lands in D. which I had by the Grant of A. B. this is a good Grant of all my Lands in D. whether I had them of A. B. or any other. Mich. 2 Jac. 2. It has been held, that where a Grant is made of Lands and Tenements in D. Copyhold Lands will not pais; for they cannot pais otherwise than by Surrender. Owen 37. Where Lands are certainly described in a Grant, with a Recital as granted to A. B. &c. though they were not thus granted, it has been adjudged that the Grant was good. 10 Rep. 110. A first Description of Lands in a Grant is false, notwithstanding the second be true, nothing will pais by it; though if the first be true, and the second false, the Grant may be good. 3 Rep. 10. The Word Grant, where it is placed among other Words of Demise, &c. shall not enure to pais a Property in the Thing demised; but the Grantee shall have it by Way of Demise. Dyer 56. A Man cannot grant that which he hath not, or more than he hath: Though he may covenant to purchase an Estate, and levy a Fine to Uses, which will be good. Bac. Max. 58. A Person may grant a Reversion, as well as a Possession; but the Law will not allow of Grants of Titles only, or imperfect Interests, or of such Interests as are merely future. Ibid. A bare Possibility of an Interest, which is uncertain; a Right of Entry or Thing in Action, Cause of Suit, &c. may not be granted over to a Stranger. Perk. Sect. 65. 1 Inf. 214. 4 Rep. 66. It was formerly held, that by a Grant of all a Man's Goods and Chattels, Bonds would pais; now 'tis held the contrary, that the Words Goods and Chattels do not extend to Bonds, Deeds or Specialties, being Things in Action, unless in some special Cases. 8 Rep. 33. 1 Inf. 152. See 2 Geo. 2. cap. 25. In Grants there must be a Foundation of Interest, or they will not be binding: If a Person grants a Rent charge out of Lands, when he hath nothing in the same Land, the Grant will be void. Perk. 15. Though it is said, if a Man grant an annual Rent out of Land, wherein he hath no Kind of Interest, yet it may be good to charge the Person of the Grantor. Owen Rep. 3. A Man may grant an Annuity for him and his Heirs, to commence after his Death, and it shall charge the Heir. Bac. Max. 58. And after the Grant of an Annuity, &c. is determined, Debt lies for the Arrears; and the Person of the Tertenant will be charged.

7 Rep. 39. If a common Person grants a Rent, or other Thing that lies in Grant, without Limitation of any Estate, by the Delivery of the Deed, a Freehold passeth: But if the King makes such a Grant of a Rent, &c. it is void for Uncertainty. Danv. Rep. 45. A Grant to a Man, with a Blank for his Christian Name, is void, except to an Officer known by his Office, when it must be averred: And it is the same where the Grantee's Christian Name is mistaken. Cro. Eliz. 328. And Grants may be void by Incertainty, Impossibility; being against Law, on a wrong Title, to defraud Creditors, &c. 1 Inf. 183. Such Things as lie in Grant, may not be granted, or held without Deed: And if any Thing not grantable, is granted with other Things, the Grant will be void for all. 2 Shep. Abr. 269, 271, 273. Trusts and Confidences are personal Things, and may not be granted over to others in most Cases; as Offices of Trust, and the like: But regularly all kind of Chattels Real and Personal, are grantable. Perk. Sect. 99. Plowd. 379, 141. If one grant any Thing that lies in Livery or Grant, and that is in esse at the Time of the Grant, in Fee, or for Life, and the Estate is to begin at a Day to come; this for the most part will be void: But a Lease or Grant for Years, may be good in futuro; and may be to one for Term of Years, or Years determinable on Lives, and after to another, to begin at the End of that Estate. 5 Rep. 1. Dyer 58. Where a Man hath a Reversion after an Estate for Life of Land, and he grants a Rent out of it; the Grant is good, and will fasten upon the Land after the Estate of the Tenant for Life is ended: And if a Person grant Rents; &c. and a Stranger take them at that Time; in this Case the Grant will be good, for one may not be out of Possession of these Things but at his Pleasure. Perk. 92, 98. Of Grants some charge the Grantor with something he was not charged with before: and others discharge the Grantee of something wherewith he was before charged or chargeable. If a Man grant to me a Rent Charge; and after I grant to him, that he shall not be sued for this Rent; this is good to bar me of bringing an Action, though I may distress for the Rent still: And if one grants to his Lessee for Life or Years, that he shall not be impeached for Waite; it will be a good Discharge, and may be pleaded. 7 H. 6. 43. Bro. Grant 175. Kelw. 88. If an Estate be made of Land upon Condition, that if A. B. the Grantor pay to C. D. the Grantee 20 l. on such a Day, he shall have his Land again; they may both join and make an Estate of the Land, or charge it with any Rent, &c. before the Day of Redemption: And C. D. may also before the Day grant away his Estate to another, but it will be subject to the Condition; and if he grant a Rent to a Stranger, and A. B. doth perform the Condition, and then re-nter, he may avoid the Charge. 1 Rep. 147. 10 Rep. 48. If a Man grants that to one, that he hath granted before to another, for the like Term, &c. the second Grant will be void. Dyer 23. Perk. Sect. 102. Grants are usually made by these Words, viz. Have Given, Granted and Confirmed, &c. And Words in Grants shall be construed according to a reasonable Sense, and not be strained to what is unlikely. Hob. 304. Also it hath been adjudged, that Grants shall be expounded according to the Substance of the Deed, not the strict Grammatical Sense; and agreeable to the Intention of the Parties. 1 Inf. 146, 313.

Form of a Grant of an Annuity out of Lands.

THIS Indenture made, &c. Between A. B. of, &c. of the one Part, and C. D. of, &c. of the other Part, Witneseth, That the said A. B. for and in Consideration

Consideration of the Sum of, &c. to him in Hand paid by the said C. D. the Receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, he the said A. B. hath Given, Granted and Confirmed, and by these Presents doth Give, Grant and Confirm unto the said C. D. and his Assigns, one Annuity of, &c. to be received, taken, had, and to be issuing out of All that Messuage or Tenement situate, &c. with all and singular the Hereditaments and Appurtenances thereunto belonging, and every Part and Parcel thereof; To have and to hold the said Annuity or yearly Rent-Charge of, &c. abovementioned, and every Part and Parcel thereof, unto the said C. D. and his Assigns, for and during the natural Life of him the said C. D. Payable and to be paid in and upon, &c. yearly and every Year, by even and equal Portions. And if it shall happen the said Annuity or yearly Rent-Charge of, &c. or any Part thereof, shall be behind and unpaid, in Part or in all, by the Space of twenty one Days next after either of the said Days or Times of Payment thereof, whereon the same should or of Right ought to be paid, as aforesaid, That then and so often, and at any Time there after, it shall and may be lawful to and for the said C. D. and his Assigns, into the said Premises abovementioned, or in any Part thereof, to enter and distrain, and the Distress and Distresses then and there found, to take, lead, drive, carry away and impound, and the same in Pound to detain and keep until the said Annuity, and the Arrears thereof (if any be) together with all Costs and Charges thereabout, shall be fully paid and satisfied. And the said A. B. for himself, his Heirs and Assigns, doth covenant and grant to and with the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, that he the said A. B. his Heirs and Assigns, shall and will well and truly pay, or cause to be paid, unto the said C. D. or his Assigns, the said Annuity or yearly Rent-Charge of, &c. abovementioned, at the Days and Times and in Manner and Form above expressed, according to the true Intent and Meaning of these Presents. And also, That the said Messuage, &c. and Hereditaments abovementioned to be charged or chargeable with the said Annuity hereby granted, shall from Time to Time be and continue over and sufficient for the Payment of the said Annuity or Rent Charge of, &c. yearly, during the Life of the said C. D. In Witness, &c.

Grants of the King. The King's Grant is good for himself and Successors, though his Successors are not named. Yelv. 13. Before the Statute de prerogativa Regis, Dowers, Advowsons, and other Things, have passed by the general Grant of the King; but by that Statute they are to be granted in express Words. 1 Rep. 50. The King may not grant away an Estate-tail in the Crown, &c. And the Law takes Care to preserve the Inheritance of the King for the Benefit of the Successor. 2 And. 154. Style 263. But where the King is Tenant in Tail of Lands, of the Gift of his Ancestor; he may bar this Intail by Fine levied, and grant and render, &c. Jenk. Cent. 307. A Grant may not be made by the King which tends to a Monopoly against the Interest and Liberty of the Subject: Nor can the King make a Grant Non obstante any Statute made or to be made; if he doth, any subsequent Statute prohibiting what is granted, will be a Revocation of the Grant. 11 Rep. 87. Dyer 52. Where the King is restrained by the Common Law to make a Grant, if he makes a Grant Non obstante the Common Law, it will not make the Grant good; but when he may lawfully make a Grant, and the Law requires he should be fully apprised of what he grants, and not be deceived, a Non obstante supplies it, and makes the Grant good: If the Words are not sufficient to pass the Thing granted, a Non obstante will not help. 4 Rep. 35. Nels. Abr. 904. If a Grant is made by the King, and a former Grant is in Being of the same Thing, if it be not recited, the Grant will be void: And reciting a void Grant, when there is another good, may make the King's Grant void. Dyer 77. Cro. Car. 143. But there may be a Non obstante to a former Grant. If the King is deceived in his Grant, as where it contains more than was intended to be granted; or if there be any Deceit in the Consideration, &c. such Grant of the King is void. 5 Rep. 94. Moor 293. And the King's Grants may be void by Reason of Incertainty; as if Debts and Duties are granted, without saying in particular what Duties, &c. 12 Rep. 46. But where there is a particular Certainty preceding, they shall not be destroyed by any Incertainty or Mistake which follows: And there is a Distinction where a Mistake of Title is prejudicial to the King, and when it is in some Description of the Thing which is supplemental only, and not material or issuable. 1 Mod. 195. The King grants the Manor of D. which he has by the Attainder of a certain Person, &c. and in Fact the King hath it not so; this Grant is void. 10 Rep. 109. If the King grants a Messuage of the Value of 5*l.* a Year to A. B. and it be of the yearly Value of 10*l.* the Value being in the same Sentence with the Grant, will make it void: Though if it be mentioned in another Sentence, it may be good. Jenk. Cent. 261. The Grant of the King to a Corporation, that they shall not be impleaded for Lands, nor for any Cause arising there, elsewhere than before themselves, &c. This doth not bind the King where he is Party: And the King by his Grant cannot exclude himself from prosecuting Pleas of the Crown; for it concerns the publick Government. Kelw. 88. Dyer 376. Jenk. Cent. 190.

Guarii, (From the Fr. Gruyer) Signifies the principal Officers of the Forest in general.

Guard, (Fr. Garde, Lat. Custodia) A Custody or Care of Defence. And sometimes it is used for those that attend upon the Safety of the Prince, called the Life Guard, &c. sometimes such as have the Education and Guardianship of Infants; and sometimes for a Writ touching Wardship, as Droit de Gard, Ejection de Gard, and Ravishment de Gard. F. N. B. 139.

Guardian, (Fr. Gardein, Lat. Custos, Guardianus) Signifies him that hath the Charge or Custody of any Person or Thing; but most commonly he who hath the Custody and Education of such Persons as are not of sufficient Discretion to guide themselves and their own Affairs, as Children and Ideots, (usually the former) being as largely extended in the Common Law as Tutor and Curator among the Civilians. Blount. And a Guardian is either Legitimus, Testamentarius, Datus, or Custumarius: He that is a legitimate or lawful Guardian is de Jure Communi, or de Jure Naturali; the first as Guardian in Chivalry, in Fact or in Right; the other de Jure Naturali, as Father or Mother: A Testamentary Guardian was by the Common Law; for the Body of the Minor was to remain with him who was appointed, till the Age of Fourteen; and as for his Goods it might be longer, or as long as the Testator appointed; but as to this Matter there are several Statutes: Guardianus Datus was by the Father in his Life-time, or by the Lord Chancellor after the Death of the Father; and where there is a Guardianship by the Common Law, the Lord Chancellor can order and intermeddle; but where by Statute, he cannot remove either the Child or the Guardian: Guardianship by Custom is of Orphans by the Custom of London, and other Cities and Boroughs; and in Copyhold Manors, by the Custom it may belong to the Lord of the Manor to be Guardian himself, or to appoint one. 3 Salk. Rep. 176, 177. The Guardianships by the Common Law, are Guardians in Chivalry; (taken away by Statute) Guardians by Nature, such as the Father or Mother; Guardians in Socage, who are the next of Blood, to whom the Inheritance cannot descend, if the Father does not order it otherwise; and Guardian because of Nurture, when the Father by Will appoints one to be Guardian of his Child. 1 Inst. 88. 2 Inst. 305. 3 Rep. 37. The Duty and Office of the Guardian in Socage, is to educate the Heir, and preserve his Estate, and Writings of his Land; and not to make any Destruction on the Estate, but to manage it for his utmost Advantage. And where Land descends of the Part of the Father, there the next of Kin on the Part of the Mother shall have the Guardianship: And so on the other Side, and not such a Kinsman as may have any Benefit by his Death. 1 Cro. 825. Moor, cap. 872. The eldest Son of the Half Blood shall be Guardian in Socage to a Son by the second Venter: And the Guardianship in Socage continues till the Minor accomplishes the Age of fourteen Years, and then he may chuse his Guardian before a Judge at his Chamber, or in Court, or in the Chancery: Also after the Minor is come to the Age of fourteen, he may sue his Guardian in Socage to Account as Bailiff, &c. Cro. Jac. 219. Though a Father is Guardian by Nature, yet a Man may be Guardian to an Infant against his Father, for Prevention of Waste; which is a Forfeiture of Guardianship. Hard. 96. Guardian in Socage shall make no Waste nor Sale of the Inheritance, but keep it safely for the Heir: And where there hath been some Doubt of the Sufficiency of a Guardian in Socage, the Chancery hath obliged him to give Security. 2 Mod. 177. Also a Guardian may be ordered to enter into Security by Recognizance not to suffer a Female Infant to marry whilst in his Custody; and to permit other Relations to visit her, &c. 2 Lev. 128. And the Court of Chancery will make such Guardian give Security not to marry the Infant without the Court is first acquainted with it. 2 Cban. Rep. 237. Before the Act of 12 Car. 2. Tenant in Socage might have disposed of his Land in Trust for the Benefit of the Heir; but it is said he could not devise or dispose of the Guardianship or Custody of the Heir from the next of Kin to whom the Land could not descend, because the Law gave the Guardianship to such next of Kin. Kelw. 186. But now Tenant in Socage may nominate whom he pleases to have the Custody of the Heir, and the Land shall follow the Guardianship, as an Incident given by Law to attend the Custody; and such special Guardian cannot assign the Custody by any Act, the Trust being Personal; nor shall it go to the Executor or Administrator of the Guardian, but determines by his Death. Vaugh. 180. Dyer 189. Guardianship by Statute is by the 12 Car. 2. cap. 24. by which it is enacted, That a Father by Deed in his Life-time, or by Will, may dispose of the Custody of his Child under twenty-one Years of Age, and not married at the Time of his Death, and whether then born, or in Ventre sa Mere, during the Minority, to any Persons not Popish Recufants, who may maintain Action of Trespass, &c. against unlawful Takers away of such Children, and take into Custody their Lands, &c. And by this Statute the Father may appoint a Guardian to his Heir for any Time till he is twenty-one Years old; and such Guardian shall have the like Remedy for his Ward as the Guardian in Socage had at Common Law. 2 Nelf. Abr. 911. But if the Father appoint no Guardian to his Child, the Ordinary or Spiritual Court may appoint one for the personal Estate until the Age of Fourteen: And as to his Lands, there shall be a Guardian in Socage, &c. as heretofore. 2 Lev. 262. If a Bishop appoints a Guardian of Goods and Lands, it will be void; for it may be only of Goods and Chattels: And Guardianship is a Thing cognizable by the Temporal Courts, where a Devise is made of it, which Courts are to judge whether the Devise be pursuant to the Statute. 1 Ventr. 207. A Copyhold Tenant is not within the Statute 12 Car. 2. to dispose of the Custody of his Children; for it belongs to the Lord or others, according to the Custom of the Manor; But the Lord of a Manor hath no Power by the Common Law, without some particular Custom, to grant the Guardianship of an Infant Copyholder. 3 Lev. 395. Lutw. 1190. Guardianships are not only by the Common Law, by Statute Law, and by particular Custom; but are also distinguished into Guardian in Socage, Guardian appointed by the Father, and Guardian assigned by the Court. 1 Lill. Abr. 655. And a Father or Mother, without Assignment, are Guardians of Women, Children, &c. Stat. 4 & 5 P. & M. cap. 8. A Female Infant may be brought into Court, and asked whether she be willing to stay with her Guardian. 2 Lev. The Husband of a Woman under Age cannot disavow a Guardian made by the Court for his Wife. 1 Vent. 185. An Infant 'tis said cannot revoke the Authority of the Guardian: But the Court may discharge one Guardian, at their Discretion, and assign another; and the Justices of Nisi prius, &c. may assign a new Guardian. Palm. 252. Style 456. Noy 49. 1 Danv. Abr. 604. The Court will assign a Guardian to an Infant to sue or defend Actions, if the Infant comes into Court and desires it; or a Judge at his Chamber, at the Desire of the Infant, may assign a Person named by him to be his Guardian; but this last is no Record until entered and filed with the Clerk of the Rules: The Heir must be in Person in Court, for the Appointment of a Guardian for his Appearance. 1 Lill. 656. 2 Leon. 238. Guardians to Infants, appointed by the Court to sue, may acknowledge Satisfaction upon Record, for a Debt recovered at Law for the Infant. Trin. 23 Car. B. R. A Guardian in Socage may keep Courts in the Infant's Manors in his own Name, grant Copies, &c. He is Dominus pro Tempore, and hath an Interest in the Lands. Cro. Jac. 91. Such a Guardian may let the Land for Years, and avow in his own Name and Right; and his Lessee for Years may maintain Ejectment: But he cannot present to an Advowson, for which he may not lawfully Account; and the Infant must present of whatsoever Age. Cro. Jac. 98, 99. Though it is said if the Infant be within the Age of Discretion, his Guardian may present. 8 E. 2. 10. A Guardian for Nurture of the Minor appointed by Will, hath Power to make Leases at Will only. Cro. Eliz. 678, 734. Guardians are to take the Profits of the Minor's Lands, &c. to the Use of the Minor, and account for the same: They ought to sell all Moveables in a reasonable Time, and turn them into Land or Money, except the Minor is near of Age, and may Want such Goods himself: And they shall pay Interest for Money in their Hands, which might have been put out at Interest; in which Case it shall be presumed the Guardians made use of it themselves. 3 Salk. 177. A Guardian shall answer for what is lost by his Fraud, Negligence or Omission; but not for any casual Events, as where the Thing had been well but for such an Accident. Litt. 123. On accounting of Guardians, they shall have Allowance of Costs and Expences; and if they are robbed, &c. without any Default or Negligence, they shall be discharged thereof. 1 Inst. 89. In Guardianships of great Estates, the Guardians generally pass their Accounts yearly in the Chancery, for their better Justification when the the Minor calls them to a general Account at his full Age. By Statute, Guardians are to retain the Lands till the Heir comes of Age, and then restore the same as fully stocked, &c. as received. 9 H. 3. cap. 3. They shall sustain the Land, without Destruction of any Thing. 3 Ed. 1. cap. 21. And Persons, who as Guardians hold over, without the Consent of the Person next intitled, shall be adjudged Trespassers, and be accountable for Profits, &c. Stat. 6 Ann. cap. 18. Action of Account may be brought against the Executors or Administrators of a Guardian, &c. Stat. 4 & 5 Ann. A Guardianship of a Minor is an Interest in the Body and Lands, &c. of one within Age.

An Election of a Guardian by a Minor.

K NOW all Men by these Presents, That I A. B. Son and Heir of, &c. deceased, being now about the Age of eighteen Years, have elected and chosen, and by these Presents do elect and chuse C. D. of, &c. to be Guardian of my Person and Estate, until I shall attain the Age of twenty-one Years, and I do hereby Promise to be ruled and Governed by him in all Things touching my Welfare; and I do authorise and empower the said C. D. to enter upon and take Possession of all and every my Messuages, Lands, Tenements, Hereditaments and Premises whatsoever, situate lying and being in, &c. in the County of, &c. or elsewhere, whereunto I have or may have any Right or Title, and to let and set the same, and receive and take the Rents, Issues and Profits thereof, for my Use and Benefit, during the Term aforesaid; giving and hereby granting unto the said C. D. my full Power in the said Premises; and whatsoever he shall lawfully do or cause to be done in the Premises, by Virtue hereof, I do hereby promise to ratify and confirm. In Witness, &c.

Guardian de l'Esternary, Is the Guardian or Warden of the Stannaries, or Mines in the County of Cornwall, &c. 17 Car. 1. cap. 15.

Guardians de l'Eglise, Churchwardens who are Officers chosen in every Parish to have the Care and Custody of the Church Goods; and they may have an Action for such Goods, and have divers Powers for the Benefit of the Church. Stat. 43 Eliz. cap. 2.

Guardians of the Peace, Are those that have the Keeping of the Peace; Wardens or Conservators thereof. Lamb. Eiren. lib. 1. cap. 3.

Guardian of the Cinque Ports, Is a Magistrate that hath the Jurisdiction of the Ports or Havens, which are commonly called the Cinque Ports, who has there all the Authority and Jurisdiction the Admiral of England has in Places not exempt: And Camden believes this Warden of the Cinque Ports was first erected among us in Imitation of the Roman Policy, to strengthen the Sea-Coasts against Enemies, &c. Camd. Brit. 238.

Guardian of the Spiritualities. The Person to whom the Spiritual Jurisdiction of any Diocese is committed, during the Vacancy of the See, is called by this Name. 25 H. 8. cap. 21. The Archbishop is Guardian of the Spiritualities on the Vacancy of any See within his Province; but when the Archiepiscopal See is vacant, the Dean and Chapter of the Archbishop's Diocese are Guardians of the Spiritualities, viz. the Spiritual Jurisdiction of his Province and Diocese is committed to them. 2 Roll. Abr. 223. 25 H. 8. The Guardian of the Spiritualities it is said may be either Guardian in Law, Jure Magistratus, as the Archbishop is of any Diocese in his Province; or Guardian by Delegation, being he whom the Archbishop or Vicar General doth for the Time appoint. 13 Eliz. cap. 12. And the Guardian of the Spiritualities hath all Manner of Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction of the Courts, Power of granting Licences and Dispensations, Probate of Wills, &c. during the Vacancy, and of admitting and instituting Clerks presented; but such Guardians cannot as such consecrate or ordain, or present to any Benefices. Wood's Inst. 25, 27.

Guest, (Sax. Gest, Fr. Gist, a Stage of Rest in a Journey) A Lodger or Stranger in an Inn, &c. A Guest who hath a Piece of Plate set before him in an Inn, may be guilty of Felony in fraudulently taking away the same. 1 Hawk. P. C. 90. And a Guest having taken off the Sheets from his Bed, with Intent to steal them, carried them into another Room, and was apprehended before he could get away; this was adjudged Larceny. Ibid. 92. Action lies against an Inn-keeper, refusing a Guest Lodging, &c. See Inn.

Guidage, (Guidagium) Is an old legal Word, signifying that which is given for safe Conduct through a strange Land, or unknown Country. Est Guidagium quod datur alicui, ut tuto conducatur per terram alterius. Consuetud. Burgund. p. 119. 2 Inst. 526.

Guild, (From the Sax. Gildan, to pay) Signifies a Fraternity or Company, because every one was Gildare, i. e. to pay something towards the Charge and Support of the Company. The Original of these Guilds and Fraternities, is said to be from the old Saxon Law; by which Neighbours entered into an Association, and became bound for each other, to bring forth him who committed any Crime, or make Satisfaction to the Party injured, for which Purpose they raised a Sum of Money among themselves, and put it into a common Stock, whereout a pecuniary Compensation was made according to the Quality of the Offence committed. From hence came our Fraternities and Guilds; and they were in Use in this Kingdom long before any formal Licences were granted for them: Though at this Day they are a Company combined together, with Orders and Laws made by themselves, by the Prince's Licence. Camd. Guildam Mercatoriam, or the Merchants' Guild, is a Liberty or Privilege granted to Merchants, whereby they are enabled to hold certain Pleas of Land, &c. within their own Precinct. 37 Ed. 3. 15 R. 2. And Guildhalls are the Halls of those Societies, where they meet and make Laws, &c. for their better Government. King Ed. 3. in the 14th Year of his Reign, granted Licence to the Men of Coventry to erect a Merchants Guild, and also a Fraternity of Brethren and Sisters, with a Master or Warden, and that they might make Chantries, bestow Alms, do other Works of Piety, and constitute Ordinances touching the same, &c. And King H. 4. in the 4th Year of his Reign, gave Licence to found a Guild of the Holy Cross at Stratford upon Avon. Antiq. Warwicksh. 119, 522. Guild or Gild, is also used for a Tribute or Tax, an Amercement, &c. 27 Ed. 3. 11 H. 6. 15 Car. 2. See Geld.

Guild-hall, Or the Chief Hall of the City of London, for the Meeting of the Lord Mayor and Commonalty of the City, making Laws and Ordinances, holding of Courts, &c.—Gildarum nomine continentur non solum minores Fraternitates, sed ipse etiam Civitatum Communitates, Spelm.

Guildhalda Teutonicozum. The Fraternity of Easterling Merchants in London, called the Still-yard. 22 Hen. 8. cap. 8.

Guild-Rents, Are Rents payable to the Crown, by any Guild or Fraternity; or such Rents as formerly belonged to Religious Guilds, and came to the Crown at the general Dissolution of Monasteries, being ordered to be sold by the Stat. 22 Car. 2. cap. 6.

Guilder, Foreign Coin: The German Guilder is 3 s. 8 d. and the golden one in some Parts of Germany 4 s. 9 d. In Portugal it passes for 5 s. but the Poland

Poland and Holland Gelder is but 2 s. In Holland Merchants keep their Accounts in Guilders, &c.

Gule of August, (Gula Augusti, alias Goule de August) Is the Day of St. Peter ad Vincula, which is celebrated on the 1st of August, and called the Gule of August, from the Lat. Gula, a Throat, from this Reason, that one Quirinus a Tribune, having a Daughter that had a Dileafe in her Throat, went to Pope Alexander, the Sixth from St. Peter, and desired of him to see the Chains that St. Peter was chained with under Nero, which Request being granted, she the said Daughter kissing the Chains, was cured of her Dileafe: Whereupon the Pope instituted this Feast in Honour of St. Peter; and, as before, this Day was termed only the Calends of August, it was on this Occasion called indifferently either St. Peter's Day ad Vincula, from what wrought the Miracle, or the Gule of August, from that Part of the Virgin whereon it was wrought. Durand's Rationale Divinorum, lib. 7. cap. 19. It is mentioned F. N. B. 62. Plowd. 316. Stat. Westm. 2. cap. 30. 27 Ed. 3.

Guns. None may shoot in, or keep in his House any Gun, Hand-gun, &c. who hath not Lands to the Value of 100 l. a Year, in Pain of 10 l. Nor shall any Person shoot in such Guns, under the Length of one Yard, or three Quarters of a Yard, under the like Penalty: If any do so, one that hath 100 l. per Ann. Land, may seize the Guns unlawfully kept and used; but then he must break them within 20 Days, or shall forfeit 40 s. In Forests, Parks and Chases, those who have Power from the King to take away Guns, may retain the same. Stat. 33 H. 8. cap. 6.

Gunpowder. It is lawful for all Persons, as well Strangers as natural-born Subjects, to import any Quantities of Gunpowder, or Salt-Petre, Brimstone, and other Materials for the making thereof, and to make and sell Gunpowder, &c. Stat. 16 Car. 1. cap. 21. But no Person shall keep more than 600 lb. Weight of Gunpowder, in any Places in the Cities of London and Westminster, or the Suburbs, &c. And Persons keeping more, not removing it on Order of Justices of Peace, shall forfeit 20 s. for every hundred Weight: Gunpowder is to be carried in covered Carriages, the Barrels close jointed, or in Cases, Bags of Leather, &c. 5 Geo. 1. cap. 26. By a subsequent Act, it is unlawful for any Person to keep in London, &c. above 200 lb. Weight of Gunpowder at one Time, beyond the Space of twenty-four Hours, which incurs a Forfeiture of the Powder, or the Value: And two Justices may cause Searches to be made, and the same to be seized and removed, &c. Persons obstructing the Search, incur the Penalty of 5 l. Also none shall use Iron or Steel Hammers, where Gunpowder is, on Pain of 20 s. 11 Geo. 1. cap. 23. Persons who are no Dealers therein are not to keep above 50 lb. of Gunpowder, in London and Westminster, or if they deal in it, not more than 200 Weight longer than twenty-four Hours, though under different Roofs; or on the Thames, except in Ships passing or detained, on Pain of forfeiting all such Gunpowder, &c. A Justice of Peace may issue his Warrant to search for dangerous Quantities of Powder, and break open any Place, if there be Occasion, to seize the same; which may be removed out of the Limits aforesaid, and kept till determined in one of the Courts, whether it be forfeited, &c. And if any Persons permit others to have Gunpowder in Places not belonging to the Owners, they shall forfeit 1 s. for every Pound. Stat. 15 Geo. 2. cap. 32. No Gunpowder shall be put on board Ships, above Blackwall in the River Thames, under 5 l. Penalty for every 50 lb. Weight, &c. by 5 Geo. 2. cap. 20. By the Stat. 22 Geo. 2. cap. 38. no Person shall keep Gunpowder for more than twenty-four Hours, at one Time, in greater Quantities than 400 Weight, in any House, &c. in or within 100 Yards of any City, the Suburbs thereof, or any Market-Town; or within two Miles of any of the King's Palaces, or one Mile of any of his Magazines for Powder, or more than 3000 Weight, in any other Place whatsoever. Upon Information two Justices may grant Search Warrants, and if more found, it shall be forfeited; no greater Quantity shall be carried at one Time than 2500 Weight, in any Land Carriage, and 5000 Weight in any open Vessel; Carriages to be covered, and Barrels closely hooped. Any Person employed in any Storehouse where Gunpowder is kept, or in conveying Gunpowder from one Place to another, wilfully committing any Act whereby the Gunpowder shall be in danger of taking Fire, shall forfeit 5 s. for every 100 Weight, in such Storehouse; and in Default of Payment be committed for not exceeding six Months. No Penalty shall be incurred for keeping above 3000 Weight of Gunpowder, in any Warehouse already built for that Purpose, unless the same shall be deemed dangerous.

Gurgites, Is used as a Latin Word for Wearis: Tres Gurgites in Aqua de Monew attachiantur per Homines de Grossomonte. Black Book Hereford, f. 20. See Gorce.

Guti and Gotti, Engl. Gotbs, called sometimes Jute, and by the Romans Getae, is derived from the old Word Jet, which signifies a Giant: They were one of those three Nations or People who left Germany, and came to inhabit this Island. Leg. Edw. Confess. cap. 35.

Guttera, A Gutter or Spout to convey the Water from the Leads and Roofs of Houses: And there are Gutter Tiles, especially to be laid in such Gutters, &c. mentioned in the Stat. 17 Ed. 4.

Gwaby-merched, Is a British Word which signifies a Payment or Fine, made to the Lords of some Manors, upon the Marriage of their Tenants Daughters; or otherwise on their committing Incontinency. See Marchett.

Habeas Corpus, Is a Writ for the Bringing up a Jury, or so many of them as refuse to appear upon the Venire facias, for the Trial of any Cause brought to Issue Old Nat Br. 157. And the Habeas Corpora Juratorum in the Court of C. B. serves for the same Purpose as the Distingas Jurator. in B. R. It commands the Sheriff to have the Jurors before the Judges at such a Day, to pass on the Trial of certain Parties, in such a Cause, &c. Practif. Solic. 308, 309.

Habeas Corpus, The great Writ of English Liberty, lies where one is indicted for any Crime or Trespass before Justices of Peace, or in a Court of any Franchise, and being imprisoned for the same, hath offer'd sufficient Bail, but it is refused where bailable; he may then have this Writ out of the King's Bench to remove himself thither, and answer the Cause there. F. N. B. 250. And the Course in this Case is first to procure a Certiorari out of the Chancery, directed to the Justices for removing the Indictment into B. R. And upon that to procure this Writ to the Sheriff, for the Causing his Body to be brought at a Day. Reg. Jud. 81. This Writ is also used to bring the Body of a Person into Court, who is committed to any Gaol, either in Criminal or Civil Causes; and a Habeas Corpus will remove a Person and Cause from one Court and Prison to another. The Writ of Habeas Corpus was originally ordained by the Common Law of the Land, as a Remedy for such as were unjustly imprisoned, to procure their Liberty; and it is a mistaken Notion that this Writ is of a modern Date, and introduced with the Reign of King Charles 2. But before the Statute 31 Car. 2. 'tis true it was difficult to be obtained, because the Judges who had Authority to issue it, pretended to have Power either to grant or deny it; and the Sheriffs and Gaolers to whom the Writ was directed frequently put poor Prisoners to the Charges of a second, and third Habeas Corpus, before they would yield Obedience to the first; which being grievous to the People, the Stat. 31 Car. 2. was enacted to prevent Abuses of this Nature, and further our Laws for the Benefit of the Liberty of the Subject. Laws of Liberty, pag. 44, 45. By the Statute 31 Car. 2. c. 2. a Person in Prison may have an Habeas Corpus from any Judge, on Complaint made and View of the Copy of the Warrant of Commitment, (unless he be committed for Treason or Felony especially expressed in the Warrant, or other Offences or Matters not bailable) which Habeas Corpus shall be returnable immediately; and upon Certificate of the Cause of Commitment, the Prisoner shall be discharged on Bail to appear in the Court of B. R. the next Term, or at the next Assizes, &c. where the Offence is cognizable: And Persons committed for Treason or Felony, (especially expressed in the Warrant) on Prayer in open Court, the first Week of the Term, or Day of Sessions, &c. are to be brought to Trial; and if not indicted the next Term, or Sessions after Commitment, upon Motion the last Day of the Term, &c. they shall be let out upon Bail; except it appears upon Oath, that the King's Witnesses are not ready; and if on Prayer they are not indicted or tried the second Term after Commitment, they shall be discharged. No Persons who shall be delivered upon an Habeas Corpus, shall be committed again for the same Offence, other than by legal Order and Process of such Court where they shall be bound to appear, or other Court having Jurisdiction of the Cause; on Pain of 500*l.* And if any Person be in Prison, or any Officer's Custody, for any Criminal Matter, he shall not be removed by him into the Custody of any other Officer but by Habeas Corpus, upon

Pain of incurring the Penalty of 100*l.* for the first Offence, and 200*l.* for the second Offence, and being disabled to execute his Office. No Person shall be sent Prisoner to Ireland, Scotland, or any Place beyond the Seas in the King's Dominions; which will be false Imprisonment, on which the Prisoner may recover treble Costs, and not less than 500*l.* Damages, &c. and the Party committing or detaining him also shall incur the Penalty of a Præmunire. Judges denying a Habeas Corpus shall forfeit 500*l.* And the Officer refusing to obey it, or to deliver a true Copy of the Commitment Warrant, is liable to a Forfeiture of 100*l.* for the first Offence, &c. Stat. Ibid. This is the Substance of the Habeas Corpus Act; which hath been suspended several Times in late Reigns, on Rebellions, &c. No Writ of Habeas Corpus, or other Writ to remove a Cause out of an Inferior Court, shall be allowed, except delivered to the Judge of the Court, before the Jury to try the Cause have appeared, and before any of them are sworn. 43 Eliz. cap. 5. And Writs to remove Suits commenced in an Inferior Court of Record shall not be obeyed, unless delivered to the Steward of the Court before Issue or Demurrer joined, &c. And a Suit shall never be removed again, after a Procedendo is allowed. 21 Jac. 1. 23. Nor shall any Suit be removed where the Thing in Demand doth not exceed 5*l.* or where the Freehold, Inheritance, Title of Land, &c. are concerned. And Judges are to proceed in Suits in Inferior Courts laid not to exceed the Sum of 5*l.* although there may be Actions against the Defendant, wherein the Plaintiff's Demands may exceed that Sum, by Stat. 12 Geo. 1. cap. 29. If the Steward of an Inferior Court proceeds after an Habeas Corpus delivered and allowed, the Proceedings are void; and the Court of B. R. will award a Superfedeas; and grant an Attachment against the Steward for the Contempt. Cro. Car. 79, 296. A Habeas Corpus suspends the Power of the Court below, so that if they proceed, it is void, and coram non judice. And on a Habeas Corpus, if the Record be filed, no Procedendo can go to the Court below; but where a Record below is not filed, or not returned, it may be granted. 1 Salk. 352. A Habeas Corpus cum Causa removes the Body of the Party for whom granted, and all the Causes depending against him; and if upon the Return thereof the Officer doth not return all the Causes, &c. it is an Escape in him. 2 Lill. Abr. 2. A Judge will not grant a Habeas Corpus in the Vacation, for a Prisoner to follow his Suits; but the Court may grant a special Habeas Corpus for a Prisoner to be at his Trial in the Vacation time. Ibid. 3. And the Court may grant a Habeas Corpus to bring a Prisoner, not in Prison on Execution, out of Prison, to be a Witness at a Trial; though it is at the Peril of the Party suing out the Writ, that the Prisoner do not escape. Style 119. Trin. 1640. But no Person ought to take out a Habeas Corpus for any one in Prison, without his Consent; except it be to turn him over to B. R. or charge him with an Action in Court. 2 Lill. A Man brought into B. R. by Habeas Corpus, shall not be removed thence till he has answered there; he shall be detained until then, and after he may be removed. 1 Salk. 350. A Person is in Custody upon a Criminal, and also on a Civil Matter, if he would move himself by Habeas Corpus, there ought to be but one Habeas Corpus of the Crown Side or Plea Side, and both Causes are to be returned. Mod. Caf. 133. If there be Judgment against a Defendant in the Court of B. R. and another in C. B. on which he is in Execution in the Fleet, he may have an Habeas Corpus to remove himself into B. R. where he shall be in Custody of the Marshal for both Debts. Dyer 132. Where the Chief Justice of the Court of King's Bench commits a Person to the Marshal of the Court by his Warrant, he ought not to be brought to the Bar by Rule, but by Habeas Corpus. 1 Salk. 349. In extrajudicial Commitments, the Warrant of Commitment ought to be returned in bac verba on a Habeas Corpus; but when a Man is committed by a Court of Record, it is in the Nature of an Execution for a Contempt; and in such Case the Warrant is never returned. 5 Mod. 156. The Cause of the Imprisonment must be particularly set forth in the Return of the Habeas Corpus, or it will not be good; for by this the Court may judge of it, and with a Paratum habeo, that they may either discharge, bail, or remand the Prisoner. 2 Nelf. Abr. 915. 2 Cro. 543. If a Commitment is without Cause, or no Cause is shewn, a Prisoner may be delivered by Habeas Corpus. 1 Salk. 348. But on a Habeas Corpus granted by the Court of B. R. a Difference was made as to a Return; that where a Prisoner is committed by one of the Privy Council, there the Cause of his Commitment is to be returned particularly; but when he is committed by the whole Council, no Cause need be alleged. 1 Leon. 70, 71. And it has been adjudged, that on a Commitment by the House of Commons, of Persons for Contempt and Breach of Privilege, no Court can deliver on a Habeas Corpus: But Holt Ch. Just. was of a contrary Opinion. 2 Salk. 503, 404. A Writ of Error may be allowed by the King in such a Case, &c. and it is not to be denied ex debito Justitiæ; though it has been a Doubt, whether any Writ of Error lay upon a Judgment given on a Habeas Corpus. Ibid. A Man may not be delivered from the Commitment of a Court of Oyer and Terminer by Habeas Corpus, without Writ of Error: And where there appears to be good Cause, and a Defect only in the Form of the Commitment, he ought not to be discharged. 1 Salk. 348. If a Person be committed by the Admiralty in Execution, he is not removeable by Habeas Corpus into B. R. to answer an Action brought against him there; but it might be otherwise if an Action had been before depending. Ibid. 351. Where there is a precedent Action in B. R. to the King's Suit, on which the Party is out on Bail, Habeas Corpus may be brought by the Bail, &c. and the Prisoner turned over; though this was greatly opposed in Favour of the King's Execution. Ibid. 353. A Habeas Corpus is a prerogative Writ, which concerns the Liberty of the Subject, and must be obeyed in Counties Palatine, &c. If it is not, an Alias Habeas Corpus will issue with a great Penalty. And on the Insufficiency of the Return of an Habeas Corpus, an Alias Habeas Corpus shall be granted. 2 Cro. 543. 12 W. 3. B. R. Where an Action is founded on the Custom of London, for a Thing actionable there, and not elsewhere; if it be removed by Habeas Corpus, a Precedendo shall be granted: But the Declaration itself ought to be returned upon the Habeas Corpus, and then the Court will see what was the Cause, &c. For the Special Matter and all the Proceedings are to be in the Return in this Case; as well as in an Action on a By-Law, to take Notice thereof. Carth. 75, 76. Before a Habeas Corpus is returned and filed, it may be amended; but not afterwards. 2 Lill. Abr. 2. A Habeas Corpus is grantable, without Motion, to remove a Person upon an Arrest; but not where committed for a Crime. 1 Lev. 1. In the suing out these Writs in B. R. to remove a Cause, &c. they are first to be carried to the other Court to be allowed; and some few Days after the Delivery, the Return must be called for, and special Bail put in at a Judge's Chamber; which being done, within four Days in Term, and six Days in the Vacation, the Cause is removed to the superior Court. Practif. Solic. 262. And if the Defendant be actually a Prisoner, he shall not be delivered from Prison till the Bail on the Habeas Corpus be accepted, or justified in Court. Ibid. If a Defendant arrested cannot find Bail, and would be removed to the King's Bench or Fleet Prison, a Habeas Corpus is to be delivered there; and they will make out a Return, and send an Officer with the Defendant to a Judge's Chamber, and there a Committitur is made, whereupon the Judge's Tipstaff takes the Prisoner into Custody, and charges him in Prison; and he may agree with the Marshal or Warden, for the Liberty of the Rules, &c. Practif. Attorn. Edit. 1. p. 124. When the Defendant is in the Custody of a Bailiff, or in any other Prison, and would be turned over to the King's Bench, the Practice is the same; the Habeas Corpus directed to the Sheriff of London and Middlesex is to be delivered, and he, after Search in his Office for what Writs he hath against the Defendant, will make Return of them, and then the Bailiff or Keeper of the other Prison, who hath the Defendant in Custody, is to carry him to a Judge's Chamber, where he will be turned over, ut supra. Ibid.

Form of a Habeas Corpus returnable immediate.

GEORGE the Second, &c. To the Mayor, Aldermen, &c. Greeting: We command you, that the Body of A. B. in our Prison under your Custody detained, as 'tis said, together with the Day and Cause of his Taking and Detaining, by whatsoever Name the said A. B. shall be charged in the same, you have under safe and secure Conduct, before our beloved and faithful Philip Lord Hardwick, our Chief Justice assigned to hold Pleas before us, at his Chamber situate in Serjeants Inn in Chancery Lane, immediately after the Receipt of this Writ, to do and receive all those Things which the same our Chief Justice shall then and there consider of in this Particular, &c.

The Habeas Corpus cum Causa, to remove the Body and Cause is made out as follows:

A Writ of Habeas Corpus to remove a Cause.

GEORGE the Second, &c. To the Mayor, Aldermen, and Sheriffs of the City of London, Greeting: We command you, that you have before us at Westminster on Tuesday next after the Octave of St. Hillary, under safe and secure Conduct, the Body of C. D. who is said to be detained in our Prison under your, or one of your Custodies, together with the Day and Cause of his being taken and detained, (by whatsoever Name the said C. D. be therein charged) to answer to A. B. of a Plea, or in an Action of Debt, &c. And further to do and receive all and singular those Things, which our Court before us shall then and there consider of in this Behalf: And have you then there this Writ. Witnesses, &c.

Habeas Corpus ad prosequendum, Is to remove a Man in order to Prosecution and Trial in the proper County, &c.

Habeas Corpus ad faciendum & Recipiendum, A Writ issuing out of the Common Pleas for Defendants that are sued in Courts below, to remove their Causes into this Court: And if an Inferior Court will proceed against the Law, in a Thing of which the Justices of C. B. have Cognisance, and commit a Man thereon, they may discharge him by Habeas Corpus. 1 Mod. 235.

Habeas Corpus ad Respondendum, Lies where a Person is imprisoned upon Process at the Suit of another, in any Prison, except the King's Bench Prison; and a third Person would sue the Prisoner in B. R. this Writ removes the Prisoner from the Prison where he was into the King's Bench, to answer the Action in that Court; and for that Reason it is called Habeas Corpus ad Respondendum. 2 Lill. Abr. 4. And where a Person is in Custody in an Inferior Jurisdiction, the Plaintiff may bring his Writ returnable in B. R. and then the Defendant cannot nonsuit the Plaintiff, nor be bailed but by the Court of B. R. &c. Ibid. There is Mention in some of our our Books of a Habeas Corpus ad Subjiciendum, for a Criminal to submit to the Order of the Court.

Habeas Corpus ad Satisfaciendum, Is had against a Man in the Fleet Prison, &c. to charge him in Execution; which being delivered to the Warden will be sufficient. Practif. Attorn. Edit. 1. pag. 173.

Habendum. In every Deed or Conveyance there are two principal Parts, the Premises, and the Habendum; the Office of the First is to express the Name of the Grantor and Grantee, and the Thing granted: And the Habendum is to limit the Estate, by which the general Implication in the Premises may be qualified: As in a Lease or Grant to two Persons, if the Habendum be to one for Life, and the Remainder to the other for Life, this alters the general Implication of the Jointenancy, which would pass by the Premises, if the Habendum were not. 2 Rep. 55. And where Things which lie in Grant are conveyed to take Effect barely on Delivery of the Deed of Grants without other Ceremony; in such Case, if the Habendum be for a less Estate than in the Premises, or be repugnant to it, the Habendum is void: But when a Ceremony is requisite to the Perfection of an Estate granted, and not a bare Delivery only of the Deed; and to the Estate limited by the Habendum, nothing is required to perfect it; there though the Habendum is of a less Estate than the Premises, the Habendum shall stand good, and qualify the Estate granted in the Premises. 2 Rep. 23. 2 Nelf. 920. An Habendum may not only qualify what is granted in the Premises; but it may also enlarge what is thus granted, or explain the Premises: Though the Habendum shall never introduce one who is a Stranger to the Premises. 1 Jones 4. 3 Leon. 60. If a Bargain and Sale be made, without expressing to whom; although it were Habendum to A. B. who is a Party to the Deed, it is not good; because the Habendum is only to limit an Estate, and not to give any Thing. Cro. Eliz. 585, 903. 2 Lill. 8. If one Thing be granted in the Premises of a Deed, Habendum with another Thing, which is not appendant, &c. this other Thing shall not pass. Hob. 161, 172. None can take by any Deed, who is not named in the Premises: But though an Estate limited by the Habendum to a Man that is no Party, is void by Way of Estate; it may be good in Remainder. Hob. 313. Godb. 51. See Dred.

Habentia, Signifies Riches: In some antient Charters, Habentes Homines is taken for rich Men; and we read, Nec Rex suum passum requirat, vel Habentes Homines quos nos dicimus Feasting Men. Mon. Angl. Tom. 1. pag. 100.

Haberdaßers. If any Persons work Hats with Foreign Wool, and not having served an Apprenticeship to the Trade, &c. they shall forfeit the Goods and 5 l. And no Person may dye any Caps with Bark, &c. but only with Copperas and Gall, or Woad and Madder. Stat. 8 Eliz. cap. 7. None shall make Hats or Felts, that hath not served seven Years in Felt-making; nor retain any but Journeymen who have lawfully served; or have above two Apprentices at once, and those not for less than seven Years Time, &c. in Pain of 5 l. a Month: But Hatmakers may employ their own Children in the Trade. 1 Jac. 1. cap. 17. And the Masters and Wardens of Haberdaßers in London, calling to them one of the Company of Cappers, and another of the Hat-makers, and Mayors, &c. of Towns and Corporations, may search all Hatters, and punish them that offend, by Fines. Stat. Ibid. A Statute was lately made to prevent the Exportation of Hats out of the Plantations abroad, which may be seized, and Offenders are liable to 500 l. Penalty; and for regulating the Trade of Hat-making there, &c. See Stat. 5 Geo. 2. r. 22.

Habere facias Possessionem, Is a judicial Writ that lies where one hath recovered a Term for Years in Action of Ejectione firmæ, to put him into Possession. F. N. B. 167. And one may have a new Writ, if a former be not well executed; but where Execution is made, and the Writ returned, the Court will never grant a new Habere facias, &c. Mich. 21 Car. 1. B. R. A Sheriff delivered Possession in the Morning, by Virtue of an Habere facias Possessionem, and some Time in the same Day after he was gone, the Defendant turned the Plaintiff out of Possession; and it was held, that if he had been turned out immediately, or whilst the Sheriff or his Officers were there, an Attachment might be granted against the Defendant; for this had been a Disturbance in Contempt of the Execution; but it being several Hours after the Plaintiff was in Possession, the Court doubted, but agreed to grant a new Habere facias, &c. 1 Salk. 321. 2 Nelf. Abr. 779. If the Sheriff delivers Possession of more than is contained in the Writ of Habere facias Possessionem, an Action of the Case will lie against him; or an Assise for the Lands. Style 238. The Sheriff cannot return upon this Writ, that another is Tenant of the Land by Right, but must execute the Writ; for that will not come in Issue between the Demandant and him. 6 Rep. 52.

Habere facias Seisnam, Is a Writ directed to the Sheriff to give Seisin of a Freehold Estate recovered in the King's Courts by Ejectione firmæ, or other Action. Old Nat. Br. 154. The Sheriff may raise the Posse Comitatus in his Assistance, to execute these Writs: And where a House is recovered in a real Action, or by Ejectment, the Sheriff may break open the Doors to deliver Possession and Seisin thereof; but he ought to signify the Cause of his Coming, and request that the Doors may be opened. 5 Rep. 91. This Writ also issues sometimes out of the Records of a Fine, to give the Cognisee Seisin of the Land whereof the Fine is levied. West. Symb. par. 2. And there is a Writ called Habere facias Seisnam, ubi Rex habuit Annum, Diem & Vassum; for the Delivery of Lands to the Lord of the Fee, after the King hath had the Year, Day and Waste in the Lands of a Person convicted of Felony. Reg. Orig. 156.

Habere facias Visum, A Writ that lies in divers Cases in real Actions, as in Formedon, &c. where a View is required to be taken of the Lands in Controversy. Reg. Jud. 26, 28, &c. F. N. B.

Haketon, A military Coat of Defence. Walf. in Ed. 3.

Half-blood, Is no Impediment to Descents of Fee-simple Lands of the Crown, or to Dignities, or in Descent of Estates-tail: But in other Cases it is an Impediment. Administration is grantable to the Half-blood of the Deceased, as well as the Whole blood; and Half-blood shall come in for a Share of an Intestate's Estate, equally with the Whole-blood, they being next of Kin in equal Degree. Style 74. 1 Vent. 307. 22 Car. 2. 10. See Demy Sanguæ.

Half-decal, Signifies the Moiety, or one Half of a Thing; as Fardingdeal is a Quarter, or fourth Part of an Acre of Land, &c.

Half-mark, (Dimidia Markæ) Is a Noble, or six Shillings and eight Pence in Money. If a Writ of Right is brought, and the Seisin of the Plaintiff, or his Ancestor, be alleged, the Seisin is not traversable by the Defendant, but he must render the Half-mark for the Inquiry of the Seisin; which is as much as to say, that though the Defendant shall not be admitted to deny, that the Plaintiff or his Ancestors were seized of the Land in Question, and to prove his Denial; yet he may be allowed to tender Half a Mark in Money, to have an Inquiry made whether the Plaintiff, &c. were so seized, or not. F. N. B. 5. Old Nat. Br. 26. But in a Writ of Ad-vowson brought by the King, the Defendant may be permitted to traverse the Seisin, by Licence, obtained from the King's Serjeant; so that the Defendant shall not be obliged to proffer the Half-mark, &c. F. N. B. 31.

Half-Seal, Is what is used in the Chancery for Sealing of Commissions to Delegates, upon any Appeal to the Court of Delegates, either in Ecclesiastical or Marine Causes. Stat. 8. Eliz. c. 5.

Half-Tongue. See Medietas Linguae, as to Pleas and Trials of Foreigners.

Halke, (from the Sax. Heale, i. e. Angulus) An Hole; seeking in every Halke, &c.

Hall, (Lat. Halla, Sax. Heall) Was anciently taken for a Mansion house or Habitation, being mentioned as such in Domesday, and other Records; and this Word is retained in many Counties of England, especially in the County Palatine of Chester, where almost every Gentleman of Quality's Seat is called a Hall.

Hall, or Common Hall. There is a Common Hall for electing the Mayor, Sheriffs, and other Officers of the City of London, assembled at Guild-hall by the Lord Mayor. Ord. 7 W. 3.

Hallage, Is Toil paid for Goods or Merchandise vended in a Hall; and particularly applied to a Fee or Toll due for Cloth, brought for Sale to Blackwell-Hall in London: Lords of Fairs or Markets are entitled to this Fee. 6 Rep. 62.

Hallmote or Halimote, (Sax. Heall, i. e. Aula, & Gemote, Conventus) Was that Court among the Saxons, which we now call a Court-Baron; and the Etymology is from the Meeting of the Tenants of one Hall or Manor. The Name is still kept up in several Places in Hertfordshire; and in the Records of Hertford this Court is entered as follows, viz. Hertford Palatium, ad Halimot ibidem tent. 11 Die Octob. Anno Regni Regis Hen. 6. &c. It hath been sometimes taken for a Convention of Citizens in their publick Hall where they held their Courts, which was also called Folkmote and Halmote: But the Word Halimote is rather the Lord's Court held within the Manor, in which the Differences between the Tenants were determined. — Omnis Causa terminetur vel Hundredo, vel Comitatu, vel Halmote socam habentium, vel Dominorum Curia. Leg. Hen. 1. cap. 10.

Halymote, Is properly a Holy or Ecclesiastical Court; but there is a Court in London, formerly held on the Sunday next before St. Thomas's Day, called the Halymote or Holy Court, (Curia Sanctimotus) for regulating the Bakers of the City, &c.

Halymotefolk, Holyworkfolk, or People who enjoyed Lands by the Service of Repairing or Defending a Church or Sepulchre; for which pious Labours they were exempt from all Feodal and Military Services. It did signify such of the Province of Durham in particular, as held their Lands to defend the Corpse of St. Cutbert; and who claimed the Privilege not to be forced to go out of the Bishoprick, either by the King or Bishop. Hist. Dunelm. apud Warton Ang. Sac. par. 1. p. 749.

Ham, Is a Saxon Word, used for a Place of Dwelling; a Village or Town: And hence is the Termination mination of some of our Towns, as Nottingham, Buckingham, &c. Also a Home-clofe, or little narrow Meadow is called Ham.

Hawberk alias Hambert, (Fr. i. e. Lorica) He that holds Land in France by Finding a Coat or Shirt of Mail, and to be ready with it when he shall be called, is said to have Haubericum feudum, Fief de Haubert: And Hawberk, with our Ancestors, had the same Signification, and so it seems to be used in the Stat. 13 Ed. 1. cap. 6.

Hawks. The Stealing of an Hawk, or Concealing it, after Proclamation made by the Sheriff, is Felony with Clergy: But this extends only to long-winged Hawks, of the Kind of Falcons; and not to Goff-Hawks, or Sparrow-Hawks. 34 Ed. 3. 37 Ed. 3. cap. 19. 3 Inf. 97. None shall kill or scare away any Hawks from the Coverts where they use to breed, on Pain of 10*l.* to be recovered before Justices of Peace, and divided between the King and Profectur. Stat. 11. Hen. 7. cap. 17. A Hawk taken up must be delivered to the Sheriff, if taken by a mean Person, to be proclaimed in the Towns of the County, &c. An Action of Trover and Conversion lies for an Hawk reclaimed, and which may be known by her Vervels, Bells, &c. Hawking for Game, see Game.

Hawkers. Those deceitful Fellows who went from Place to Place, buying and selling Brass, Pewter, and other Goods and Merchandize, which ought to be utter'd in open Market, were of old so called; and the Appellation seems to grow from their uncertain Wandering, like Persons that with Hawks seek their Game where they can find it. They are mentioned Stat. 25 Hen. 8. cap. 6. and 33 Hen. 8. cap. 4. Hawkens and Pedlars, &c. going from Town to Town, or House to House, are now to pay a Fine and Duty to the King. If they travel with an Horse, Als, &c. the same is 8*l.* and if on Foot, 4*l.* and to be licensed by Commissioners appointed for that Purpose, or be liable to certain Penalties; and any Person may seize a Hawker, &c. till he produce a Licence: Travelling without Licence, shall forfeit 12*l.* and refusing to shew their Licences 5*l.* There is also a Forfeiture for lending a Licence to hire; and it shall be void. 8 & 9 W. 3. cap. 25. But Traders in the Linen and Woollen Manufactures, sending their Goods to Markets and Fairs, and selling them by Wholesale; Makers of Goods, selling those of their own Making; and Makers and Sellers of English Bone-lace, going from House to House, &c. are excepted out of the Acts, and not to be taken as Hawkers. 3 & 4 Ann. 4. 4 Geo. 1. If Hawkers and Pedlars, offer any Tea, &c. to Sale, though they have Permits, the same may be seized as forfeited, &c. by the late Act against running uncustomed Goods. 9 Geo. 2. c. 35. We now call those Persons Hawkers, who go up and down the Streets of London, crying News-Books and Papers, and selling them by Retail, and the Women and others who sell them by Wholesale from the Pres, are called Mercuries.

Hay-bote, Is a Liberty to take Thorns and other Wood, to make and repair Hedges, Gates, Fences, &c. either by Tenant for Life, or Years: It is also said to be Wood, for the making of Rakes and Forks, with which Men in Summer make Hay. See Co. Litt. 41.

Hay-market. Carts of Hay, which stand to be sold in the Hay-market, are to pay 3*d.* per Load towards the Paving and Amending the Street; and shall not stand laden with Hay after Three o'Clock in the Afternoon, &c. on Pain of forfeiting 5*s.* Hay sold in London, &c. between the first of June and last of August, being new Hay, is to weigh 60 Pounds a Truss; and old Hay the rest of the Year 56 Pounds, under the Penalty of 2*s.* 6*d.* for every Truss offer'd to Sale, &c. Stat. 2 W. & M. c. 8. 8 & 9 W. 4.

Hayward, (from the Fr. Hays, i. e. sepes, & Garde, Custodia) Is one that keeps the common Herd of Cattle of a Town; and the Reason of his being called Hayward may be, because one Part of his Office is to see that they neither break nor crop the Hedges of inclos'd Grounds, or for that he keeps the Grass from Hurt and Destruction. He is an Officer appointed in the Lord's Court: And is to look to the Fields, and impound Cattle that do trespass therein; to inspect that no Pound Breaches be made, and if any be, to present them at the Leet, &c. Kitch. 46. There may be a Custom in a Manor, to have a Surveyor of the Fields or Hayward, and for him to distrain Cattle Damage-feasant; but he must avow in the Name of him who hath the Freehold. 2 Cro. 430. See Agillarins.

HAYWARD

Hazard, Is an unlawful Game at Dice; and those that play at it are called Hazardors: And we read, Hazardor communis ludens ad falsos talos adjudicatur, quod per sex Dies in diversis locis ponatur super Collustrigium. Int. Plac. Trin. 2 Hen. 4. Suffex 10.

Headborow, (from the Sax. Head, caput, & Borge, fidejussor) Signifies him that is Head of the Frankpledge in Boroughs; and had the principal Government within his own Pledge; and as he was called Headborow, so he was also stiled Borowbead, Burfholder, Tbirdborow, Titbingman, &c. according to the Usage and Diversity of Speech in several Places. Lamb. These Headborows were the chief of the ten Pledges; the other Nine being denominated Handborows, or inferior Pledges: Headborows are now a Kind of Constables.

Headland, Is the upper Part of Ground left for the Turning of the Plough; whence the Headway. Paroch. Antiq. 587.

Head-pence, Was an Exaction of a certain Sum heretofore collected by the Sheriff of Northumberland of the Inhabitants of that County, without any Account therefore to be made to the King; which was abolished by the Stat. 23 H. 6. c. 7.

Head-Silver, Paid to Lords of Leets. See Common Fine.

Healfang or Halsfang, Is compounded of two Saxon Words Hals, i. e. Collum, and Fang, capere, and signifies that Punishment, qua alicui collum stringatur, (Collistrigium). Sometimes it is taken for a pecuniary Mult, to commute for standing in the Pillory; payable to the King or Chief Lord. Leg. H. 1. cap. 11.

Hearty-Money, A Tax. Vide Chimney Money.

Hebber-men, Fishermen, or Pochers below London-Bridge, who fish for Whittings, Smelts, &c. commonly at Ebbing Water; mentioned in one of the Articles of the Tbames Jury, at the Court of the Conservator of the River of Tbames, printed Anno 1632. And these Persons are punishable by Statute 4 H. 7. 15.

Hebbing-wears, Are Wears or Engines made or laid at Ebbing Water. 23 H. 8. 5.

Hebdomas, (Lat.) A Week. See Week.

Hebdomadus, The Week's Man, Canon or Prebendary in a Cathedral Church, who hath the Care of the Choir, and the Officers belonging to it for his own Week. Reg. Episc. Harsford. MS. See Ebdomary.

Heck, Is the Name of an Engine to take Fish in the River Ouse. 23 H. 8. c. 18.

Heccagium, Is supposed to be Rent paid to the Lord of the Fee, for Liberty to use the Engines called Hecks.

Heda, A small Haven, Wharf, or landing Place. Domesd. See Hith.

Hedagiunt, Toll or Customary Duties paid at the Hith or Wharf, for the Landing of Goods, &c. from which Exemption was granted by the King to some particular Persons and Societies. Cartular. Abbat. de Radinges, MS. f. 7.

Hedge-bote, Is necessary Stuff to make Hedges, which the Lessee for Years, &c. may of common Right take in his Ground leased. See Hay-bote.

Hedge-breakers. By the Statute 43 Eliz. cap. 7. Hedge-breakers, &c. shall pay such Damages as a Justice of Peace shall think fit; and if not able to pay the Damages, shall be committed to the Constable to be whipped. And Constables, and others, may apprehend Persons suspected of Hedge-stealing, and carry them before a Justice; where not giving a good Account how they came by Wood, &c. they are not only to make such Recompence as the Justice of Peace shall adjudge, but pay a Sum not exceeding 10 s. for the Use of the Poor, or be sent to the House of Correction for a Month, by 15 Car. 2. 2. Persons convicted of Buying stolen

Heir, (Hæres, ab hæreditate) Is he that succeeds by Descent to Lands, Tenements and Hereditaments, being an Estate of Inheritance. The Estate must be Fee, because nothing passeth Jure Hæreditatis but Fee; and by the Common Law a Man cannot be Heir to Goods and Chattels: But the Civilians call him Hæredem, qui ex Testamento succedit in Universum jus Testatoris. Some Writers have made a Distinction of Hæres sanguinis, & Hæreditatis; a Man may be Hæres sanguinis to a Father or Ancestor, and yet upon Displeasure be defeated of his Inheritance; And there is an Ultimus Hæres, being he to whom Lands come by Escheat, for Want of lawful Heirs, &c. The Lord of whom the Lands are held, or the King. Bract. lib. 7. cap. 17. Hæres, according to Sir Edw. Coke, is he qui ex justis Nuptiis procreatus est, to whom Lands and Tenements by the Act of God, and Right of Blood, do descend. Co. Litt. 7. The eldest Son, after the Death of his Father, is his Heir, &c. And if there be Grandfather, Father, and Son, and the Father die before the Grandfather, and after the Grandfather dies seized; the Land shall go to the Son or Daughter of the Father, and not to any other Children of the Grandfather. Bro. 303. And this Heir is called Hæres jure Representationis, because he doth represent his Father's Person: But if in this Case, the Father die without any Child; his next eldest Brother shall have the Land as Heir, or for Want of a Brother, it descends to the Sisters of the Father. Ibid. A Man having Issue only a Daughter, dies, leaving his Wife with Child of a Son, which is afterwards born; here the Son after his Birth is Heir to the Land, but till then the Daughter is to have it. 9 H. 6. 23. Perk. 521. There are some Persons who may not be Heirs; as a Bastard born out of lawful Wedlock; an Alien, born out of the King's Allegiance, though in Wedlock; a Man attainted of Treason or Felony, whose Blood is corrupted; these last may not be Heirs, propter Delictum; and an Alien cannot be Heir, propter Defectum Subjectionis; nor may one made Denizen by Letters Patent; though 'tis otherwise of a Person naturalized by Act of Parliament. Co. Litt. 8. 2 Danv. Abr. 552. A Bastard, by Continuance, may be Heir against a Stranger; and an Hermaphrodite may be Heir, and take according to that Sex which is most prevalent; but a Monster, that hath not human Shape cannot be Heir, although a Person deform'd may. Co. Litt. 7. 2 Danv. 553. Idcoots and Lunaticks, Persons excommunicate, attainted in Premunire, Out-laws in Debt, &c. may be Heirs. Ibid. There is a Lineal Heir, as the Son of a Person; and a Collateral Heir, as Brother, &c. Yet a Man can have no right Heir, to take Lands during his Life. Dyer 99. The Word Heir is not a good Description of a Person in the Life-time of the Ancestor; and an eldest Son shall not take by the Name of Heir in the Life-time of his Father. 2 Leon. 70. A Man cannot raise a Fee simple Estate to his right Heirs, by the Name of Heirs, as a Purchase, by Conveyance or otherwise; but in such Case the Heir shall be in by Descent: Fortior & Potentior est Dispositio Legis, quam Hominis. Hob. 30. 2 Lill. Abr. 11. By the Law of England, no Person can take to himself an Inheritance in Fee-simple by Deed; without the Word Heirs; but he may by Devise: Though in Cases where the Word Heir is wanting, it has been adjudged that if there are other Words equivalent, and the Interest in the Thing granted passeth by the Consideration only, without any further Ceremony in the Law, an Estate in Fee may pass. 2 Nelf. Abr. 928. In a Devise by Will, or Exchange, &c. the Word Heirs is not necessary: But Estates of Inheritance which are otherwise conveyed require it. Jenk. Cent. 196. The Word Heir is nomen collectivum, and extends unto all Heirs: And under Heirs, the Heirs of Heirs are comprehended in Infinitum; if Lands are given to a Man and his Heirs, all his Heirs are so totally in him, that he may give his Lands to whom he will. Trin. 23 Jac. 1. Noy 56. The Heir is favoured by the Common Law; and the Ancestor could not give away his Lands by Will from his Heir at Law, without the Consent of the Heir, till the Statute 32 H. 8. 2 Lill. 11. Hill. 23 Car. B. R. Dubious Words in a Will shall be construed for the Benefit of the Heir; and not to disinherit him: And the Heir at Law is preferred in Chancery in a doubtful Case. Noy 185. Chanc. Rep. 7. Where Lands were devised to the Heirs of J. S. then living; it was held, that his eldest Son should have them, though in Strictness he was not Heir during his Father's Life, but Heir apparent: But this was by Reason of the Words then living, which made it a Description of the Person. Preced. Canc. 57. Not only Land, but Rent not due at the Death of the Ancestor Lessor, shall go to the Heir; so Corn sown by Tenant for Years, where his Term expires before the Corn is ripe; every Thing fastned to the Freehold, Timber-Trees, Deeds belonging to the Inheritance; Deer, Conies, Pigeons, Fish, &c. 2 Nels. Abr. 927. An Heir shall enforce the Administrator to pay Debts with personal Estate, to preserve the Inheritance. Chanc. Rep. 280, 293. If an Executor hath Assets, he is compellable in Equity to redeem a Mortgage, for the Benefit of the Heir; and it is the same where the Heir is charged in Debt. Hard. 511. And when the Heir is sued for the Debt of his Ancestor, and pays it, he shall be re-imbursed by the Executor of the Obligor, who hath personal Assets. 1 Chanc. Rep. 74. But in Action of Debt brought upon a Bond against an Heir, 'tis no good Plea for the Heir to say, that the Executors have Assets in their Hands. Dyer 204. For a Creditor may sue either Heir or Executor; and Heirs and Executors are both chargeable upon Specialties. If an Heir hath Assets, and the Executor also, it is at the Election of the Oblige to have Action of Debt against the one, or the other; but he shall not charge them doubly. 2 Plowd. 433. If an Heir has made over Lands fallen to him by Descent, Execution shall be had against him to the Value of the Land, &c. if it be not sold bona fide before the Action brought, in which Case there is a Saving by the Statute 3 & 4 W. & M. cap. 14. And whether the Heir hath Lands by Descent, shall be tried and enquired of, with the Value, by a Jury, to make the Heir answerable. 5 Mod. 122. It has been held, that the Heir is never chargeable without an express Lien and Assets; and even then no longer than he hath Assets, for he is not obliged to keep them till he is charged: But if he hath Assets, he ought to plead truly, and to confess them; otherwise Judgment shall be given against him de Terris propriis; for 'tis then his Debt. Jones 88. 3 Salk. 179. When a Man recovers against an Heir, by Default or Verdict, on pleading Riens per Descent, a special Judgment de Terris Descensis, may be entered against the Heir, and the Plaintiff shall have all the Lands by Descent in Execution: Though if the Judgment be general against the Heir, without praying such special Judgment, he can have only a Moiety of the Lands by Elegit. Plowd. 439. 2 Leon. 16. Here the Plaintiff may surmise, that the Heir hath such Land by Descent, and pray to have Execution of all his Land. Dyer 149. Roll. 72. The Judgment and Execution shall be general, unless the Heir acknowledges the Action, and shews that he hath so much by Descent; but if he will not shew what he hath by Descent, he loses the Benefit of the Law. Mich. 1 W. & M. B. R. Cro. Eliz. 692. Where an Heir is sued for the Debt of his Ancestor, his Body ought not to be taken in Execution, or any other Lands which he had not by

Descent; yet if the Heir do not shew what Lands he had by Descent, it shall be intended that he had Assets to pay the Debt. Moor 522. If the Heir, in Case where the Ancestor hath bound himself and his Heirs, have never so much Land come to him by Gift in Tail, or Conveyance of the Father; and not by Descent, he is not chargeable at all: And so it is for any Estate but what is in Fee-simple; as where Lands are granted to J. S. and his Heirs during the Life of another, &c. the Heir shall not be charged for this, no more than for Land entailed. 10 Rep. 98. No Lands can be charged but Fee-simple; and therefore in a Suit against the Heir, the Judgment is only for the Land descended, and not for other Lands, &c. but where it is by his own Fault, as by a false Plea, or the like. 1 Inst. 102, 376. A Man binds himself and his Heirs in an Obligation, and hath Lands and Heirs on the Part of the Father, and the Part of the Mother; the Heirs and Lands of both, and not of one alone, must be charged in Debt: And the Plaintiff shall have several Actions; and Execution shall stay, till it may be had against both of them. 2 Rep. 25. Hob. 25. Also if one bind himself and his Heirs, and leave Land at Common Law, and Lands in Gavelkind; the Oblige must sue all the Heirs. Hob. 25. An Heir sued on a Specialty, shall have his Age; and if one of the Heirs be within Age, the Parol shall be stay'd for all. Moor; ca. 203. A collateral Heir is chargeable for the Debt of his Ancestor; but the Declaration must be special, and he is to be charged as collateral Heir, not as immediate Heir; and if a Son happens between, who dies, he must be said Uncle and Heir of the Son, who was Heir of the Debtor, &c. Cro. Car. 151. And a Child born, though he lives but an Hour, has the Fee of Lands vested in him as Heir. Hell. 134. In a Writ a Man need not shew how he is Heir; but he must in a Declaration, &c. though it is only for Form to set forth how a Person is Heir, because it is not traversable; and Heir, or no Heir, is issuable. Moor 885. If an Heir ought to confess the Debt on Action brought against him, and the Debt be not denied, it must be admitted. 1 Lutw. 442. Debt against the Heir, upon the Bond of his Ancestor, is to be brought in the Debt and Detinet, because the Heir himself is bound; and not in the Detinet only, though that is cured by a Verdict. Sid. 342. 1 Lev. 224. An Heir is not bound by the Bond of the Ancestor, unless he is expressly bound: And if in a Bond a Man binds his Heirs, but not himself, the Bond is void. 2 Saund. 136. Cro. Jac. 570. Also a Man shall never bind his Heir to Warranty, where himself was not bound: If he makes a Feoffment in Fee, and binds his Heirs only to Warranty, the Feoffment is void, for the Heir shall be bound to Warranty in such Cases only, where the Ancestor was bound, without which it cannot descend upon him. 1 Inst. 386. And Warranties and Estoppels shall descend upon the Heir general, and not upon any special Heir, &c. So that if a Man convey Land with Warranty against him and his Heirs, his Heir on the Mother's Part shall not be vouched by this, so long as there is an Heir on the Father's Part, &c. Hob. 24. A Grant of an Annuity must be for a Man and his Heirs, to bind the Heir, although there be Assets; and when he is named, the Heir shall not be bound except there be Assets. 1 Inst. 144. Where a Person covenants with another to perform any Act, if his Heir be not named, he is not bound by it: But in Covenants of others, that concern the Inheritance, the Heir shall have the Benefit of them, though not named. 5 Rep. 8. 1 Roll. Abr. 520. An Heir may enter for a Condition broken, when the Condition is annexed to Lands, and take Advantage of it; because if there had been no Condition, the Land would have descended to him: And an Heir may perform a Condition, to save the Land. 2 Nels. Abr. 929. The Heir

Heir shall not have Money due on Mortgages in Fee, if he be not particularly named, but the Executor; and if the Day be past, although the Heir be named, the Executor shall have it. 1 Inst. 210. 2 Ventr. 348. If a Person makes a Lease for Years of Lands of Inheritance, rendering Rent to his Executors and Assigns, the Heir shall have the Rent; for by the Reservation it is to continue after the Lessor's Death, and is incident to the Reversion; though it was formerly held otherwise, the Heir not being named: And where it is reserved to the Lessor and his Assigns, it is otherwise. 2 Lev. 13, 14. 12 Rep. 36. Heirs includes Assigns in Grants, &c. If a Woman keeps Land from the Heir, on Pretence of being with Child by the Heir's Ancestor, her deceased Husband, the Writ Ventre Inspeciendo is to be granted to search her, &c. that the Heir be not defrauded. F. N. B. 227. The next Heir Male is to bring Appeal for the Death of his Ancestor, &c. And Heirs may have divers Writs, as Writ of Mortdancestor, Entre ad communem Legem, In casu Proviso, and Consimili casu, Quod permittat, &c. See Dijcent, &c.

Heir apparent, Is one during the Life-time of his Ancestor; till the Ancestor's Death he is only Heir apparent, or at Law. 1 Inst. 8. Bonds and Bargains with such an Heir, to have double or treble the Money lent, after his Father's Death, &c. are set aside in Equity; but it is by paying what was lent bona fide, with Interest, if the Obligor applies for Relief: Though in case the Obligee sues, he shall not recover what was really lent; for that would be to assist Fraud. 2 Ventr. 359. 1 Vern. 141. Where young Heirs enter into any Bond, Chancery relieves against it, without Evidence of actual Imposition; because there is a supposed Distress, and Presumption of a Liableness to be her be imposed on. Barnardist. 481.

Heiress, Is a Female Heir to a Man, having an Estate of Inheritance in Lands; and where there are several joint Heirs, they are called Co-heirs or Co-heiresses. Stealing an Heiress, and marrying her against her Will, where Felony. See Forcible Marriage.

Heirloome, (From the Sax. Heier, i. e. Hæres, & Leome, Membrum) Comprehends divers Implements of Household, such as the first best Bed and other Things, which by the Custom of some Countries have belonged to a House certain Descents, and are never inventoried after the Decease of the Owner as Chattels, nor do they go to the Executor, but accrue to the Heir with the House itself by Custom, and not by the Common Law: And these are not deviseable by Testament; for the Law prefers the Custom before a Devise, which takes not Effect till after the Death of the Testator, and then they are vested in the Heir by the Custom. Co. Litt. 18, 185. But Sale in a Man's Life-time might make it otherwise. The ancient Jewels of the Crown are Heir-looms, and shall descend to the next Successor; and are not deviseable by Will. Ibid. 185. And Heir-looms in general are said to extend to all large Household Implements; of which Spelman says thus: Omne Utenfile robustius quod ab ædibus non facile revellitur, ideoque ex more quorundam locorum ad hæredem transit, tanquam membrum hæreditatis. And Sir Edw. Coke says, Consuetudo Hundredi de Stretford in Com. Oxon est, quod Hæredes Tenementorum post Mortem antecessorum suorum habebunt, &c. Principalium, Anglice, an Heir-loom, viz. de quodam genere Catallorum, Utenfilium, &c. Optimum Plaustrum, optimam Carucam, optimum Cippum, &c. Co. Litt. 18.

Hegira, The Mahometan Era, or Computation of Time, beginning from the Flight of Mahomet from Rome, 16 July, Anno 622.

Helsing, A Brass Coin among the Saxons, equivalent to our Half-penny.

Hellen-wall, Is an End Wall, that defends the Rest of the Building, from the Sax. Helan, to cover; hence a Thatcher, Slater or Tiler, who covers the Roof of a House, is in the Western Parts of England called a Hellier. Paroch. Antiq. 573.

Hemp and Flax. None may water Hemp or Flax in any River, running Water, Stream, Brook, or common Pond, where Bealls are used to be watered, but only in their several Ponds, &c. for that Purpose, in Pain of 20 s. Stat. 33 H. 8. c. 17. Persons coming from abroad, using the Trade of Hemp or Flax Dressing, and of making Thread, Weaving Cloth made of Hemp or Flax, or making Tapestry Hangings, Twine or Nexts for Fishery, Cordage, &c. after three Years, shall have the Privileges of Natural born Subjects. Stat. 15 Car. 2.

Henchman, Hengman, A German Word, signifying Domesticum; it is used for a Man that runs on Foot, attending upon a Person of Honour. 3 Ed. 4. 5. 24 H. 8. 13.

Henedpenny, A customary Payment of Money, instead of Hens at Christmas; mentioned in a Charter of King Edward 3. Mon. Angl. Tom. 2. p. 327. Du Fresno is of Opinion, it may be Hen-peny, Gallinagium, or a Composition for Eggs: But Cowel thinks it is misprinted Hened-peny, for Hewed-peny or Head-peny.

Henghen, (Sax.) A Gaol, Prison or House of Correction. Leg. H. 1. c. 65.

Heortstæte, (Sax. Heortstæst, i. e. Fix'd to the House or Hearth) Is the same with Huifstæne, the Master of a Family. LL. Canuti, cap. 40.

Heortpeny, (From the Sax. Heort, focus & Penning, Denarius) Olim Romescot, & postea Peterpence. Leg. Edgar. apud Brompt. c. 5.

Herald, Heralt, or Harold, (Ital. Heraldo, Fr. Herauld, quasi Herus altus) Signifies an Officer at Arms. Vestegan, thinks it may be derived from two Dutch Words, viz. Here, exercitus & Healt, pugil Magnanimus; as if he should be called the Champion of the Army: And the Romans called Heralds, Feciales. Polydore, lib. 19. describes them thus: Habent insuper Apparitores Ministros, quos Heraldos dicunt, quorum præfectus Armorum Rex vocatur; hii Belli & pacis Nuncios; Ducibus, Comitibusque a Rege factis insignia aptant, ac eorum funera curant. The Function of these Officers, as now exercised with us, is to denounce War, proclaim Peace, and to be employed by the King in Martial Messages: They are Examiners and Judges of Gentlemens Coats of Arms, and Conservers of Genealogies; and they marshal the Solemnities at the Coronations, and Funerals of Princes, and other great Men. The three Chief of these Heralds, are called Kings at Arms; of which Garter is the Principal, instituted by King Henry 5. whose Office is to attend the Knights of the Garter at their Solemnities, and to marshal the Funerals of the Nobility: And King Edw. 4. granted the Office of *King of Herald*s to one Garter, cum Fendis & Proficiis ab antiquo, &c. The next is Clarencieux or Clarentius, ordained by Edward 4. who attaining the Dukedom of Clarence by the Death of George his Brother, whom he beheaded for aspiring to the Crown, made the Herald which belong'd to that Dukedom a King at Arms, and called him Clarencieux; his proper Office is to marshal and dispose the Funerals of all the lesser Nobility, Knights and Esquires, through the Realm, on the South Side of Trent. The Third is Norroy, quasi North Roy, whose Office and Business is the same on the North Side of Trent, as Clarentius on the South, which is intimated by his Name, signifying the Northern King, or King at Arms of the North Parts. These three Officers are distinguished as follows, viz. Garter Rex Armorum Anglicorum indefinite; Clarencieux, Rex Armorum partium Australium: Norroy, Rex Armorum partium Borealium. Besides the Kings at Arms, there are Six inferior Heralds, according to their Original, as they were created to attend Dukes and Great Lords, in Martial Expeditions, i. e. York, Lancaster, Chester, Windsor, Richmond and Somerſet; the Four former inſtituted by King Edward 3. and the Two latter by Edward 4. and Henry 8. To theſe, upon the Coming of King George 3. on Account of his Hanoverian Dominions, a new Herald was made, called Hanover Herald; and another ſtilled Glouceſter, King at Arms. Anno 11 Geo. 1. And laſtly, to the ſuperior and inferior Heralds, are added Four others, called Marſhals or Purſuivants at Arms, who commonly ſucceed in the Places of ſuch Heralds as die, or are preferred; and they are Blue Mantle, Rouge Croſs, Rouge Dragon, and Port-cullis; all equip'd with proper Enſigns, Badges and Diſtinctions. The ancient Heralds have been made a Corporation or College under the Earl Marſhal of England, with certain Privileges by the Kings of this Realm: Conceſſerunt, &c. Heraldi Armorum, & omnes alii Heraldii, Proſectores ſive Purſuivandi Armorum, qui pro tempore fuerint, imperpetuum, ſint unum Corpus Corporatum, in re, facta, & nomine; habeantque ſucceſſionem perpetuam, nec non quoddam ſigillum commune, &c. Dat. &c. Spelm. Gloſſ. Herald's Court of Honour. See Honor-Courts.

Herbage, (Herbagium) Is the green Paſture and Fruit of the Earth, provided by Nature for the Bite or Food of Cattle: And it is uſed for a Liberty that a Perſon hath to feed his Cattle in the Ground of another Perſon; or in the Foreſt, &c. Crompt. Jurisd. 197.

Herbagium anterius, The firſt Crop of Grains or Hay, in Oppoſition to the ſecond Cutting, or Aſter-Matb. Paroch. Antiq. 459.

Herbinger or Herbinger. (From the Fr. Herberger, i. e. Hospitio accipere) Signifies an Officer of the King's Houſhold, who goes before and allots the Noblemen, and thoſe of the King's Retinue, their Lodgings. It has been alſo taken for an Inn-keeper, who has the Care of Lodging and Harbouring his Gueſts. Kitch. 176.

Heremach, An ancient Word ſignifying Archdeacon.

Hereſſita, A Soldier hired for the Wars, departing without Licence; from the Sax. Here, and Sliten to depart, or Slitan, ſcindere, diſſolvere. 4 Inſt. 128. This Word is alſo writ Hereſſa; and Hereſſiz.

Hereſy, (Hæreſis) Is an Opinion contrary to ſound Principles of Religion; among Proteſtants it is taken for a falſe Opinion repugnant to any eſſential Point of Doctrin of the Chriſtian Faith revealed in Scripture, and obſtinately maintained and perſiſted in, by ſuch as profeſs the Name of Chriſt. Some Authors ſay 'tis properly the Obſtinacy that makes the Crime of Hereſy, and not the Error; for when a Man is humble, and ingenuous, and deſires to receive further Light and Information, giving every Thing urged againſt him its due Weight; he is not guilty of Hereſy. There is no expreſs Law or Statute that determines what ſhall be called Hereſy, it being impoſſible to ſet down all the particular Errors which may be ſaid to be Heretical, concerning which there have been ſo many Diſputes: Yet as the Stat. 1 Eliz. cap. 1. directed the High Commiſſion Court, (ſince aboliſhed) to reſtrain the ſame to what had been adjudged ſo by the Authority of the Scriptures; or by the firſt four General Councils, or any other general Council wherein it was declared Hereſy by expreſs Words of Scripture; or as ſhould be determined to be ſuch by Parliament, the Convocation aſſenting: Theſe Rules may be a good Direction to the Judges of the Eccleſiaſtical Courts in Relation to Hereſy. 3 Inſt. 40. H. P. C. 3, 4. Opinions condemned by Scripture, or the four firſt General Councils, viz. of Nice, Ephesus, Constantinople and Chalcedon, ſhall be accounted Hereſy. Jenk. Cent. 210. See 12 Rep. 57. The Archbiſhop, or Biſhop of every Dioceſe, have Power to convict any for Hereſy; this is by the Common Law. And by the 23 Hen. 8. c. 9. the Archbiſhop of either Province may cite any Perſon before him for Hereſy, if the immediate Ordinary or Biſhop conſent thereto; or do not his Duty in puniſhing the ſame. The Convocation may declare what Tenets are Heretical; and ſome ſay that an Heretick may be convicted before an Archbiſhop and Biſhops, &c. at a general Convocation; but it is ſaid to be a Queſtion of late, whether they have Power to convene and convict the Heretick. 2 Roll. Abr. 226. 1 Hawk. P. C. 4. The Temporal Courts cannot take Cogniſance of any Perſon for Hereſy, by Indictment or otherwiſe; but they may incidently adjuſt whether any Tenet be Hereſy or not, as in a Quare Impedit, where the Biſhop pleads, that he reſuſed the Clerk for Hereſy, &c. 5 Rep. 58. And if a Perſon in Maintenance of his Errors ſets up Conventicles, and raiſes Faſtions, to the Diſturbance of the publick Peace; he may be fined and imprifoned, upon an Indictment at the Common Law. 2 Hawk. 4. Hereſy was anciently Treaſon, according to Lord Finch; and the Punishment for Hereſy was Burning, by Force of the Writ de Heretico Comburendo; but the Heretick forfeited neither Lands nor Goods, becauſe the Proceedings againſt him were only pro ſalute Animæ. H. P. C. 5. 3 Inſt. 43. Raym. 407. By the Stat. 29 Car. 2. c. 9. the Proceedings on the Writ de Heretico Comburendo, and all Punishments by Death in Purſuance of any Eccleſiaſtical Cenſures, are taken away: And all the old Statutes which gave Power to arreſt or imprifon Perſons for Hereſy, &c. are repealed: But by the Common Law, an obſtinate Heretick being excommunicate, is ſtill liable to be imprifoned by Virtue of the Writ de Excommunicato capiendo, till he make Satisfaction to the Church. And denying the Truth of the Christian Religion, or the Divine Authority of the Holy Scriptures, &c. is liable, for the second Offence, to three Years Imprisonment, and divers Disabilities, by Stat. 9 & 10 W. 3. c. 32.

Writ

Heretick, (Hæreticus) Is one that adheres to and is convicted of Heresy, or that maintains any Opinions or Principles contrary to the Christian Religion: And a Person is not an Heretick by doing a Thing condemned or forbidden by the Gospel; but by an Obstinate Adherence to an Opinion, opposite to some Article of the Christian Faith. See Hæretico Comburendo.

Heretoch (From the Sax. Here, exercitus, and to-gen, ducere) The General of an Army; a Leader or Commander of military Forces. LL. Ed. Conf. c. 35. Du Cange says, the Heretochii were the Barons of the Realm.——Interjuncti Episcopi, Comites, Vicecomites, Heretochii, &c. Leg. H. 1.

Heretum, A Court or Yard for drawing up the Guards or military Retinue, which usually attended our Nobility. Hist. Dunelm.

Hergripa, (Sax. Hær, capillus, and grypan, capere) Signifies the Pulling any one by the Hair; which was punishable by the Laws of Hæn. 1. c. 94.

Herigaldis, A Sort of Garment called by that Name. Blount.

Heriot, (Heriotum) Is in the Sax. Heregeat, Bellius apparatus, derived from Here, i. e. Exercitus, an Army, and Geat, sufus, effusus, quasi fuerit quid in Exercitum erogatum; and signified originally a Tribute given to the Lord of a Manor for his better Preparation for War. By the Laws of Canutus, at the Death of the great Men of this Realm, so many Horses and Arms, were to be paid as they were in their respective Life times obliged to keep for the King's Service. Spelm. Sir Edw. Coke makes Heriot, or Heregat, (from Herus Lord) the Lord's Beast: And it is now taken with us for the best Beast, whether it be Horse, Ox, or Cow, that the Tenant dies possessed of, due and payable to the Lord of the Manor; and in some Manors, the best Goods, Piece of Plate, &c. Kitch. 133. There is Heriot-Service, or Heriot-Custom: Heriot-Service is payable on the Death of Tenant in Fee-simple; and Heriot-Custom upon the Death of Tenant for Life: When a Tenant holds by Service to pay a Heriot at the Time of his Death, which Service is expressed, and especially reserved in the Deed of Feoffment, this is Heriot-Service; and where Heriots have been customarily paid Time out of Mind, after the Death of Tenant for Life, this is Heriot Custom. Co. Litt. 185. Heriots by Custom are commonly paid for Copyhold Estates; and if an Heriot is reserved upon a Lease, it is Heriot-Service, and incident to the Reversion. Lutw. 1366, 1367. For a Heriot goes with the Reversion, as well as Rent; and the Grantee of the Reversion shall have it. 2 Saund. 166. Although a Heriot reserved upon a Lease is called an Heriot-Service; yet it is not like the Case where a Man holds Land by the Service of paying an Heriot, &c. because where a Heriot is reserved on Lease, the proper Remedy is either a Distress, or Action of Covenant grounded on the Contract; for the Lessor cannot seize, as the Lord of a Manor may do, the Beast of his Tenant who holds of him by Heriot-Service. Keilw. 82, 84. There may be a Covenant in Leases for Lives, &c. to render the best Beast, or so much in Money for an Heriot, at the Election of the Lessor; in which Case the Lessor must give Notice which he will accept, before Action may be brought for it, or a Distress taken, &c. 2 Lill. Abr. 10. For Heriot-Service, the Lord may distrain any Beast belonging to the Tenant on the Land: Also it has been held, that the Lord may distrain any Man's Beasts which are upon the Land, and retain them 'till a Heriot is satisfied. 1 Inst. 185. Litt. Rep. 33. And if the Tenant deviseth away all his Goods, &c. yet the Lord shall have his Heriot on the Death of the Tenant. Stat. 13 Eliz. cap. 5. For Heriot-Custom, the Lord is to seize, not distrain; and he may seize the best Beast, &c. though out of the Manor, or in the King's Highway, because he claims it as his proper Goods, by the Death of the Tenant, which he may seize in any Place where he finds it. Kitch. 267. 2 Inst. 132. 2 Nelf. Abr. 931. The Lord may properly seize for Heriot-Custom; and take a Distress for Heriot-Service: And for Heriot-Custom, he may seize any where; but for Heriot-Service, on the Land only: Though it has been adjudged, that a Heriot Custom or Service, may be seized any where; but one cannot distrain for them out of the Manor. Plowd. 96. Keilw. 84. 1 Salk. 356. Where a Woman marries and dies, the Lord shall have no Heriot-Custom, because a Feme Covert can have no Goods to pay as a Heriot. 2 Leon. 239. And when a Heriot is to be paid by a certain Life of his own Goods, an Assignee is not liable to pay the Heriot; his Goods not being the Goods of such Life. Cro. Car. 313. 2 Nelf. 932. If the Lord purchase Part of the Tenancy, Heriot-Service is extinguished; but it is not so of Heriot-Custom. 8 Rep. 105. There is this Difference between Heriot and Relief; Heriot has been generally a Personal, and Relief always a predial Service.

Herischild, (From the Sax. Here, and Scyld, i. e. Scutum) Military Service, or Knight's Fee.

Heristall, (Sax. Here, an Army; and Stall, Statio) A Cattle. Blount.

Hermaphrodite, (Hermaphroditus) A Person that is both Man and Woman. Lit. Diç. And as Hermaphroditus partake of both Sexes; they may give or grant Lands, or inherit as Heirs to any, and shall take according to the prevailing Sex. 1 Inst. 2. 7.

Herruer, Among the Saxons was a great Lord; from the Sax. Hera, i. e. Major, and Mære, Dominus.

Hermitage, (Hermitagium) The Habitation of a Hermit; The Hermitory is said to be the same; but in an old Charter Mention is made of Capella, sive Hermitorium, where it should signify a Place of Prayer belonging to an Hermitage. See Heremitorium.

Herring Silber, Seems to be a Composition in Money, for the Custom of paying such a Number of Herrings, for the Provision of a religious House, &c. Placit. Term. St. Trin. 18 Ed. 1.

Herrings. It is unlawful to buy or sell Herrings at Sea, before the Fishermen come into the Haven, and the Cable of the Ship be drawn to the Land. 31 Ed. 3. Stat. 2. No Herrings shall be sold in any Vessel, but where the Barrel contains 32 Gallons, and Half Barrel and Firkin accordingly; and they must be well packed, of one Time's Packing and Salting, and be as good in the Middle as at the Ends, on Pain of forfeiting 3 s. 4 d. a Barrel, &c. by Stat. 22 Ed. 4. cap. 2. The Vessels for Herrings are to be marked with the Quantity, and Place where Packed; and Packers to be appointed and sworn in all Fishing Ports, &c. under the Penalty of 100 l. Stat. 15 Car. 2. cap. 16.

Hesta, Is a Corruption of the Lat. Hæsta, signifying a little Loaf of Bread.

Hestcorn. King Atbelstane in his Return from the North, after a Victory, went to Beverly, where he gave to God, &c. Quasdam avenas, vulgariter dictas Hestcorne, percipiendas de Dominiis & Ecclesiis in illis partibus, quas, &c. Mon. Angl. Tom. 2. p. 367.

Hestha, A Capon or young Cockerill.—Quando Rex ibi veniebat, reddebat ei unaquæque Carucata 200 Hesthas. Domesday.

Hewelbooth,

Heubelbooth, (From the Sax. Healf, i. e. Dimidium, & Borgh, Debitor vel Fidejussor) A Surety for Debt, Quia qui fide jubet, Debitorem se quodammodo constituit. Du Freine.

Hexam and Hexamshire, Anciently Hagstald, was a County of itself, and likewise a Bishoprick, endowed with great Privileges: But by the Stat. 14 Eliz. c. 13. it is enacted, that Hexam and Hexamshire, shall be within and accounted Part of the County of Northumberland. 4 Inst. 22.

Heymestus, A Net for catching of Conies; a Hay-Net. Placit. Temp. Ed. 3.

Hidage, (Hydagium) Was an extraordinary Tax, payable to the King for every Hide of Land. Bracton writes of it thus: Sunt etiam quedam communes Prestationes, quæ servitia non dicuntur, nec de Consuetudine veniunt, nisi cum necessitas intervenerit, vel cum Rex venerit; sicut sunt Hidagia, Coragia, & Carvagia, ex consensu communi totius Regni introducta, &c. Bract. lib. 2. cap. 6. This Taxation was levied not only in Money, but Provision of Armour, &c. And when the Danes landed at Sandwich, in the Year 994. King Ethelred taxed all his Land by Hides, so that every 310 Hides found one Ship furnished; and every 8 Hides found one Jack and one Saddle, to arm for the Defence of the Kingdom, &c. Sometimes the Word Hidage was used for the being quit of that Tax; which was also called Hidegild, and interpreted from the Saxon, a Price or Ransom paid to save one's Skin or Hide from Beating. Sax. Dict. See Danegeld.

Hide of Land, (Hyda Terra, Sax. Hydeland, from Hyden, tegere) Is such a Quantity of Land as might be plowed with one Plough in a Year; or as much as would maintain a Family. Terms de Ley. Crompton in his Jurisd. says, it contains an hundred Acres; and others hold it to be four Yard-Lands: But Sir Edw. Coke said, that a Hide, or Plough-Land, Yard-Land, &c. contain no certain Number of Acres. Co. Litt. 69. The Distribution of England by Hides of Land is very ancient; Mention being made thereof in the Laws of King Ina, cap. 14.

Hide and Gain, Signified arable Land; to gain the Land, being as much as to till it. Co. Lit. 85.

Hidel, A Place of Protection or Sanctuary. Stat. 1 H. 7. cap. 6.

High Treason, (Læsa Majestas.) See Treason.

Highway, (Via Regia) Is a Passage for the King's People, for which Reason it is called the King's Highway; but the Freehold of the Soil is in the Lord of the Manor, or the Owner of the Land on each Side; and if there are Trees and other Profits there, they belong to him. Dalt. 76. Our Books mention three Kinds of Ways. 1st, A Foot-way, which is called Iter, quod est jus eundi vel ambulandi hominis. 2d, A Foot-way and Horse-way, which is termed Albus ab agendo; and this is called a pack and prime Way, because it is both a Foot-way, which was the first or prime Way, and a pack or drift Way also. 3d, Via, or Aditus, which contains the other two, and likewise a Cart-way, &c. And this is either the King's Highway for all Men, or Communis strata, belonging to a City or Town, &c. and is called by our ancient Writers Chimin, being a French Word for a Way. Co. Lit. 56. Any one of the aforementioned Ways, may properly be called the Highway; if common to all the King's People; and so may a private Way that leads from Town to Town, and is a Thorough-fare: If a Way leads to a Market-Town, is a Way for Travellers, and has a Communication with a great Road, &c. it is a Highway; but if it leads only to a Church, a Village, or the Fields, &c. there it is a private Way. Co. Lit. 56. Ventr. Rep. 189. A Foot-way common to all People, is a Highway, although it do not lead to a Market-Town: A common Street is a Highway; and so may a River be said to be, that is common to all Men. Ibid. Highways which lead from one Town to another; and those Highways that are Drift-ways, or Cart-ways, leading from Market to Market, that are Ways for all Travellers, and great Roads, or do communicate with them, are only under the Care of Surveyors, as to Reparation, &c. 2 Inst. 38. 1 Ventr. 189. A Highway lying within a Parish, the whole Parish is of common Right to repair it; except it appear that it ought to be repaired by some particular Person either ratione Tenuræ, or by Prescription. 1 Ventr. 183. Style 163. The King by the Common Law may award his Commission for amending the Highways and Bridges throughout the Realm. Dalt. 77. And all the Country ought to make good the Reparations of a Highway, where no particular Persons are bound to do it; by Reason the whole Country have their Ease and Passage by the said Way. Co. Rep. 13. By the ancient Common Law, Villages are to repair their Highways, and may be punished for their Decay; and if any do injure, or straiten the Highway, he is punishable in the King's Bench, or before Justices of the Peace, in the Court-Leet, &c. 27 Aff. 63. Cromp. Jurisd. 76. A Hamlet within a Parish is not obliged to repair a Highway, except it be by Prescription, or for some other special Reason; because of common Right the whole Parish is charged with it: But though a Hamlet be not bound to the Repairs of common Right, yet a Vill may. Style 163. Private Ways are to be repaired by the Village or Hamlet where they lie; and sometimes by particular Persons. 1 Ventr. 189. Where a Parish is indicted for not repairing a Highway, they cannot plead Not guilty, and give in Evidence that such a one is bound to repair it, either by Tenure, or Prescription; for the Parish is chargeable de Communi jure, and they must plead the Prescription, &c. if they would discharge themselves. 1 Ventr. 256. 1 Mod. 112. The General Issue Not guilty, goes only to the being in Repair, or not; and a special Justification ought not to be given in Evidence upon the General Issue. 1 Salk. 287. On Indictment against a Parish, they can give nothing in Evidence upon Not Guilty, but that the Way is in Repair: Though where a private Person is indicted for not repairing a Highway, he may give in Evidence that another is to repair, because he is not bound of common Right as a Parish is. Mich. 8 W. 3. 3 Salk. 183. Though a Highway be not set forth in the Indictment to lead to any Market-Town, it has been adjudged no Objection; for every Highway leads to some Market-Town, or Vill, &c. Nor is it necessary to shew that the Prosecutors of a Man, for not amending an Highway, are Surveyors, &c. 2 Roll. Rep. 412. But the Indictment must shew with Certainty, in what Place a Nuisance was done, the Extent of it, &c. And the Fact is to be set forth in proper Terms, that the Court may judge of it. 1 Hawk. P. C. 220. An Indictment concerning the Highways ought to set forth that it is the King's Highway, and for all the King's liege People; or it may be quashed. Co. Litt. 56. Cro. Eliz. 63. The Indictment must shew from what Place to what Place the Highway leads, &c. Hill. 9 W. Style 356. Upon an Indictment for not repairing a Highway, if the Defendant produce a Certificate before Trial, that the Way is repaired, he shall be admitted to a Fine: But after Verdict, the Certificate is too late, for then he must have a Consent to the Sheriff, who ought to return that the Way is repaired, because the Verdict, which is a Record, must be answered by a Record. Raym. 215. And where the Defendants, indicted for not repairing a common Foot-way, confessed the Indictment, and submitted to a Fine; it was held, that the Matter was

was not ended by their being fined, but that Writs of Distringas shall be awarded in infinitum, 'till the Court of B. R. is certified that the Way is repaired, as it was when it was at best; but the Defendants are not bound to put it in better Repair than it has been Time out of Mind. 1 Salk. 358. If a Defendant hath made a Higbway, as good as it is capable of being made, it was said in an extraordinary Case, this shall not discharge him, on an Information against him; though it may be a Mitigation of his Fine. 3 Salk. 183. Also it is no Excuse for the Inhabitants of a Parish indicted at Common Law, for not repairing the Higbways, that they have done the Work required by Statute; for the Statutes are made in Aid of the Common Law: And when the Statute-Work is not sufficient, Rates and Assessments are to be made. Dalt. c. 26. The Presentment of a Justice of Peace on the Statute of 5 Eliz. upon his own Knowledge of a Higbway out of Repair, is of the same Effect as a Presentment of twelve Men; but the Authority of Justices of Peace is limited only to common Higbways, and not to private Ways; and the Presentment of the Justices may be traversed by the Defendants, &c. On a Presentment of a Higbway out of Repair, and that the Inhabitants of such a Parish ought to repair it; upon a Traverse to this Presentment, the Jury found it was not a common Higbway: And it was adjudged that the Inhabitants ought to have pleaded Reparare non debent, and that such a Person, naming him, ought to repair; but by taking this Traverse, the Presentment is admitted to be good. 4 Mod. 38. A Presentment before Justices of Peace of a Way out of Repair, &c. may be removed into B. R. And an Indictment for not repairing of Higbways, may be thus removed by Certiorari: But by the Statute 3 & 4 W. & M. all Matters concerning Higbways, &c. are to be tried and determined in the County where they lie; and no Presentment, Indictment, or Order made by Virtue of this Act, shall be removed by Certiorari out of the County. Though if the Right or Title to repair such Ways come in Question, upon Suggestion and Affidavit made thereof, a Certiorari may be had to remove the Indictment into B. R. notwithstanding the aforesaid Statute 5 & 6 W. & M. cap. 11. In Cases of Trials on Indictments, relating to the Higbways, those Persons in the Parish who are no way liable to the Reparations will be good Evidence; but Persons chargeable to the same will not. Hill. 14 & 15 Car. 2. See Stat. 1 Ann. c. 18. A Person may be indicted for not repairing a House standing upon a Higbway, which is ruinous, and like to fall down, to the Danger of Travellers, whatever be his Tenure, which in such Case is not material. 1 Salk. 357. And in Respect of Inclosure of Land, wherein a Way lies, particular Persons may be liable to the general Charge of repairing a Higbway, H. P. C. 144. 8 H. 7. 5. If any Person inclose any Part of a Higbway, or Waste adjoining, he thereby takes upon him to keep the Way in Repair; but if afterwards he lays it open again, he shall be discharged from the Reparation, and the Parish is to repair it. 1 Sid. 464. Cro. Car. 306. Where a Man encloses his Land on both Sides of a Higbway, though he makes the Way better than was before, by the Enclosure, he is bound to keep it in Repair at his own Charges; and the Country is freed from the Charges of it, which before was bound to do it: And if a Person enclose Land of one Side of the Way only, and it was anciently enclosed of the other Side; he that makes the new Inclosure, is to repair the whole Way; though if there hath not been any Inclosure of the other Side, then but half of the Way is to be repaired by him. Cro. Car. 366. 2 Saund. 160. 1 Dawv. Abr. 783. When any Person turns a Higb- way, or encloses a Field to his own Benefit, leaving a Way, he is to repair the Way at his own Charge, and make it passable, although it were foundrous before. Cro. Car. 306. If a Higbway leading through a Field is foundrous, Travellers may go out of the Track-way, notwithstanding there be Corn sown: And where it hath been used Time out of Mind for the King's Subjects to go by Outlets on the Lands next the Higbway, when the Way is foundrous, the Outlets are a Part of the Way, for the good Passage is the way. Yelv. 141. Trin. 10 Car. B. R. 1 Dawv. 712. If there be a common Foot-way through a Close by Prescription, and the Owner of the Close ploughs up the Way, and sows it, and lays Thorns at the Side of it, Passengers may go over another Foot-way in the same Close, without being Trespassers. Yelv. 142. And if a Higbway is not sufficient, any Passenger may break down the Inclosure of it, and go over the Land, and justify it till a sufficient Way is made. 3 Salk. 182. One Higbway cannot lawfully be stopped, and another laid out, without the King's Licence upon a Writ of Ad quod Damnum, after Return of the Inquisition. Cro. Car. 266. Vaugh. 341. But this in some Measure is altered by the Statute 8 & 9 W. 3. To change an ancient Higbway, there must be this Writ; or the Subjects cannot justify going there, nor are they liable to repair it, or the Hundred answerable for Robberies, &c. Vaugh. Ibid. Erecting a Gate cross a Higbway, though not locked, but opening and shutting at Pleasure, is esteemed a Nuisance; for it is not so free and easy a Passage, as if there had been no Gate: And the usual Way of redressing Nuisances of this Kind, is by Indictment; but every Person may remove the Nuisance, by cutting or throwing it down, if there be Occasion so to do; and it hath been held, that although there are many Gates cross Higbways, they must be anciently set up, and it shall be intended by Licence from the King upon the Writ Ad quod Damnum. Cro. Car. 184. All Manner of Injuries to Higbways which render them less commodious to Travellers, are adjudged Nuisances; as Laying Logs of Timber in Ways, Erecting Gates, or making Hedges overthwart them; Permitting Boughs of Trees to hang over the Road; Digging Ditches, &c. 2 Roll. Abr. 137. If a Carrier carries an excessive Weight, as more than twenty Hundred, and thereby spoils the Way; this is a Nuisance. Mich. 17 Car. And drawing with more Horses than allowed by Law, to the Injury of the Higbways; or with Wheels under such Breadth, &c. is punishable, and liable to certain Forfeitures of Horses, by Stat. 1 Geo. 1. c. 11. 5 Geo. 1. c. 12. A Nuisance in a Higbway is punishable by Indictment, Information, &c. And if in a common or private Way, by Action on the Case; and if a private Way in a Vill, &c. be ruinous and out of Repair, every Inhabitant has a Right to bring an Action. 1 Vent. 208. For avoiding Multiplicity of Suits, Indictments, &c. are to be had for Nuisances in Higbways, and not Actions; but for any particular Damage, not common to others, a Man shall have Action on the Case. 1 Inst. 56. An old Law has ordered that the Higbways should be enlarged, and all the Bushes and small Wood near to be cut down, that there might be no hiding Places for Thieves within 200 Foot of either Side; and if by Default of the same, any Robbery were done, the Lord of the Place to make it good; and if any Murder, he shall be fined, &c. Stat. 13 Ed. 1. c. 5.

For repairing Higbways, by Statute 2 & 3 P. & M. cap. 8. it is enacted, That Constables and Churchwardens of Parishes, calling together the Parishioners, shall yearly elect two honest Persons to be Surveyors of the Higbways, who are authorized to order and direct the Persons and Carriages that shall be employed in the Works for the Amendment of the Higbways; and the Persons chosen shall take upon them the Execution of the Office, on Pain of forfeiting 20*s*. Also Days are to be appointed for Working on the Repairs of Higbways; on which every Person having a Plough-land, (formerly 100 Acres, now 50*l. per Annum*) or keeping a Draught or Plough, shall send out one Wain or Cart, furnished with Horses, Oxen, Tools, &c. and two able Men with the same, on Pain of 10*s*. for every Default; and every Houholder, Cottager and Labourer, shall work on the said Days for the Amendment of the Higbways, under the Penalty of 1*s*. 6*d. per Day*. Stewards of Leets are empowered to inquire of all Offences against this Statute, and to assess Fines and Amerciaments; in Default thereof, the Justices of Peace in their Sessions are to inquire of the said Offences: And the Fines, which are leviabie by Distress, and all Forfeitures, shall go towards the Repairing of the Higbways. By the 18 Elix. cap. 10. Persons having a Plough-land in several Parishes, shall be charged with a Team only where they reside; but every Person occupying and keeping in his Hands several Plough-lands, in several Towns, or Parishes, shall be chargeable to find in each Town where the Lands lie, one Wain, &c. And it has been adjudged, that he who occupies several Plough-lands, ought to send a Team for each, whether he keep any Draught or not; that he who keeps a Draught and but two Horses, is obliged to give his Attendance with it for repairing of the Higbways; and a Clergyman keeping a Coach and Horses, not a Team, is bound to set out a Wain towards the Repairs of the Higbways; a Coach and Horses doing as much Damage to the Ways as a Cart and Horses; and Clergymen are not exempted from the publick Duties of the Nation. Raym. 186. Dalt. 105. 1 Lev. 139. A Man keeps a Cart for Hire, and goes with one or two Horses; he shall send his Cart for the Amendment of the Higbways, with as many Horses as he goes withal: And Brickmakers, &c. in Middlesex, have been adjudged to send so many Draughts as they keep. Mich. 27 Car. 2. If a Man hath Plough-lands, though he hath no Draughts; or if he hath Draughts, and no Lands, he must send out Teams: But in such Places where there is no Use of Carts and Teams for the Amendment of Higbways, the Inhabitants shall send Horses or other Carriages with able Persons to work, under certain Penalties, by Stat. 22 Car. 2. cap. 12. And this Statute gives Power to Justices of Peace in their Sessions, to inquire into the Value of Lands given for the Maintenance of Higbways, &c. and to see that they are let to the full Value, and the Rents and Profits duly applied. And likewise the Justices at their general Quarter-Sessions, on their being satisfied that the common Higbways cannot be repaired by Force of the Laws in Being, may cause one or more Assessments to be made and levied upon the Inhabitants, Owners and Occupiers of Lands, Tenements and Hereditaments, or any personal Estate, usually rated to the Poor, towards the Repairing such Higbways; and such Assessments shall be levied by Distress and Sale of Goods of the Persons assessed, not paying the same within ten Days, &c. Stat. Ibid. And it has been resolved, that it is the Occupier, and not the Owner of Land, who is chargeable with the Repairs of Higbways: But it is otherwise where there is no Occupier, and the Owner suffers the Lands to lie fresh, &c. For in such Case he shall be charged as if he had occupied them. 2 Roll. Rep. 412. Palm. 389. By 5 Elix. c. 13. Surveyors of the Higbways may take and carry away the small broken Stones of any Quarry, being already dug, without the Licence of the Owners, for the Amendment of the Higbways; and they may dig Gravel in the Ground of any Person adjoining to the Higbway, not being a Garden, Meadow, &c. provided they make not above one Pit of ten Yards square in one Ground, and such Pits be filled up in one Month; and may gather Stones upon any Lands in the Parish, to be employed in the Amendment of the Ways: And the Surveyors are also empowered to turn any Water-course or Spring, being in any Higbways, into the Ditches of the Grounds adjoining. The Hedges and Ditches adjoining to the Higbways, shall from Time to Time be kept low and scoured; and the Trees and Bushes growing in Higbways cut down, that the Ways may lie open: There shall be six Days yearly appointed to be employed in the Reparation and Amendment of the Higbways; of which Notice shall be given in the Church the next Sunday after Easter: And Surveyors of the Higbways are to present Defaults within one Month, to the next Justice of Peace, on Pain of forfeiting 40*s*. and the said Justice shall certify the said Presentment to the next General Sessions of the Peace, at which Sessions the Offender shall be fined; also here the Presentment of a Justice in Sessions on his own Knowledge, shall be a good Conviction, whereupon Fines may be assessed on Offenders, &c. and this Statute is made perpetual by 29 Elix. c. 5. Justices of Peace, &c. are to appoint particularly the six Days for working on the Higbways by Statute, and not generally between such a Time and such a Time; which Appointment is ill, and Persons are not bound to come thereon. 1 Salk. 357. The Stat. 3 & 4 Will. & Mar. cap. 12. ordains, That all the Laws and Statutes concerning the Repairing of the Higbways, not thereby repealed or altered, shall be put in Execution: And on the 26th of December yearly, the Parish Officers and Inhabitants of every Parish are to assemble and make a List of the Names of Persons having 10*l. per Annum*, or personal Estate of 100*l.* or who rent 30*l. per Ann.* or if there be none such, of the most sufficient Inhabitants, and shall return the said List to two Justices of Peace at a special Sessions to be held on the 3d of January, or within 15 Days after; who are by Warrant to appoint two or more to be Surveyors of the Higbways in every Parish, &c. for the ensuing Year: And if any Surveyor, being served with the Warrant of Appointment of the Justices, shall neglect or refuse to take upon him the Office, he shall forfeit 5*l.* and the Justices shall nominate another, &c. And every Surveyor shall within fourteen Days after the Acceptance of his Office, and afterwards every four Months, view the Higbways and Roads, and make a Presentment of the Condition thereof, on Oath, to some Justice; and give Notice of such Defects and Annoyances, as he shall find, the next Sunday after Sermon; and if they are not removed or amended within thirty Days after, then the Surveyor shall do the same, and be reimbursed his Charges by the Party who should have done it: The Justices of Peace in their respective Divisions, are to hold a special Sessions once in four Months for the Higbway, and summon Surveyors, at which they shall make Presentments; and account for Money coming to their Hands, which ought to be employed in amending the Higbways: And on Oath made by Surveyors of Sums expended for Materials, &c. to mend the Ways, the Justices in their special Sessions may cause a Rate to be made to reimburse the same; also they may make a Rate for reimbursing any Inhabitant of a Parish on whom a Fine shall be levied: And in their General Quarter-Sessions, by Force of this Act, they may order Assessments to be made on Lands, Tenements, &c. not exceeding 6*d.* in the Pound, &c. Every Cart way leading to a Market-Town must be eight Foot wide at least, and as near as may be level; and no Caney shall be under three Foot wide. Laying in any Higbway not twenty Foot broad, any Stone, Timber, Dung, or other Matter to obstruct it, incurs a Penalty of 5 s. and the Occupier of Lands adjoining may remove and convert the same to his own Use; and no Tree or Bush shall be permitted to grow in, or spread or hang over such Way, under the like Penalty. Surveyors neglecting their Duty, required by this Statute, shall forfeit 40 s. and Justices of Peace 5 l. and Offences against this Act are to be prosecuted in six Months, &c. By 8 & 9 W. 3. c. 16. Justices of Peace at their Quarter-Sessions have Power to order the Enlarging of any Highway; so as the Ground taken in do not exceed eight Yards in Breadth, and they do not pull down any House, or take away the Ground of any Garden, &c. And a Jury shall be impanelled to inquire of the Value of the Ground taken into Highways, and assess Damages as a Recompence for Injuries; on the Payment of which, the Interest of such Ground shall be devoted out of the Owners, and the Ground be taken to be a publick Way: The Justices may also cause Assessments to be made upon the Occupiers of Lands, &c. for the Purchase of the said Ground to enlarge the said Highways. And Persons aggrieved by the Order of Justices in their Quarter-Sessions for enlarging Highways, may appeal to the Judges of Assize at the next Assizes, &c. Surveyors of the Highways, by Precept from the Justices in their special Sessions, are to fix a Stone or Post with Inscriptions in large Letters, where two or more cross Ways meet; as a Direction to Travellers to the next Market-Town, to which each of the Ways lead, on Pain of forfeiting 10 s. to be employed in erecting such Post: And if any Person shall pull up, cut down, or remove any Post, Block, or great Stone, or other Security set up for securing Horse and Foot Causes, he shall forfeit 20 s. leviable by Distress, &c. 7 & 8 W. 3. cap. 29. The 1 Geo. 1. c. 52. enacts, that the Laws for repairing of Highways shall be put in Force; and Surveyors of the Highways are every four Months, or oftner, if required by two Justices of Peace, to view all Highways, &c. and give an Account of their State and Condition to the Justices at their next special Sessions, under the Penalty of 5 l. And the Justices in their special Sessions may order the Reparation of such great Roads as most want Repairing to be first amended, and in what Manner. The Surveyors shall take the first and most convenient Time of the Year for Repairing the Highways, and perfect the same before Harvest; and Fines, &c. are to be rightly applied for the Repairs of the Highways. Justices of Peace at their Quarter-Sessions may make Assessments for Reparation of Highways, according to the Proportion limited by the Stat. 3 & 4 Will. & Mar. although the Statute-Work hath not been performed; but Money raised shall not excuse the working on the Ways. Persons neglecting to scour Ditches, thirty Days after Notice given thereof by the Surveyors, shall forfeit 2 s. 6 d. for every eight Yards not scoured: And permitting Soil to lie in the Highways, incurs a Forfeiture not exceeding 5 l. nor under 20 s. And the Surveyors are to scour and keep open such Ditches; or may make new ones through the adjoining Lands, and to remove all Annoyances out of the Highways. Justices of Peace in Cities and Corporations are empowered to execute the Laws relating to the Highways. Appeal lies from the special Sessions, to the Quarter-Sessions; and Persons sued for what they do in Pursuance of the Statutes, may plead the General Issue, and give the Act and the special Matter in Evidence, &c. By the 7 Geo. 2. c. 9. Where any Highways are deep and sounderous, and the Hedges adjoining high, preventing their Drying by the Wind, &c. being presented at the next Sessions, the Justices of Peace there may order such Hedges to be new made, or cut lower by the Owner, in proper Season; in Default whereof, thirty Days after Notice, the Surveyors shall cause the same to be done, and Owners to repay them the Charge; or the Money expended may be levied by Justice's Warrant, by Distress, &c. See Turnpikes, Waggon.

Form of an Indictment for not Repairing of a Highway.

THE Jurors, &c. That the common King's Highway leading from and to, &c. in the Parish of M. in the County aforesaid, the Day and Year, &c. was and still is in great Decay, for Default of due Reparation and Amendment thereof, so that the Subjects of our Lord the King, passing or travelling through or along that Way, without Danger cannot pass through the same, to the great Damage and common Nuisance of all the liege Subjects of our said Lord the King passing through that Way: And that the Inhabitants of the Town of, &c. of Right and by ancient Custom ought to repair, and amend the said Highway, when and so often as should be necessary; against the Peace, &c.

Highwaymen. A Reward of 40 l. is given for the Apprehending and Taking of a Highwayman, to be paid within a Month after Conviction, by the Sheriff of the County, &c. Stat. 4 & 5 W. & M. Vide Robbery.

Hiis testibus, Words anciently added in Deeds, after the In cujus rei Testimonium; which Witnesses were first called, then the Deed read, and their Names entered down: But this Clause of Hiis Testibus in the Deeds of Subjects, has been disused since the Reign of King Hen. 8. Co. Lit. 6.

Hindeni Homines, (From the Sax. Hindene, i. e. Societas) A Society of Men: And in the Time of the Saxons, all Men were ranked into three Classes, and valued, as to Satisfaction for Injuries, &c. according to the Class they were in; the highest Class were valued at Twelve hundred Shillings, and were called Twelfbindmen; the middle Class valued at Six hundred Shillings, and called Sexbindmen; and the lowest, at ten Pounds, or Two hundred Shillings, called Twybindman: And their Wives were termed Hinda's. Brompt. Leg. Alfred. cap. 12, 30, 31.

Hine, (Sax.) A Servant, or one of the Family; but it is properly a Term for a Servant in Husbandry, and he that oversees the Rest is called the Master-hine. Stat. 12 R. 2. c. 4.

Hinesfare, (Sax. Hine, a Servant, and Fare, a Going or Passage) Signifies the Loss or Departure of a Servant from his Master. — Si quis occidit hominem Regis & facit Heinfarum, dat Regi 20 s. &c. Domeday.

Hinegeld, Significat quietantiam Transgressionis illate in servum transgredientem. MS. Arth. Trevor, Ar.

Hirciscunda, Is the Division of an Inheritance among Heirs. Sax.

Hireman, A Subject, from the Sax. Hiran, i. e. Obedire, to obey; or it may be one who serves in the King's Hall, to guard him, from Hird, Aula, and Man, Homo.

Hith, or Hyth, (Sax.) A Port, Wharf, or little Haven, to embark or land Wares at; as Queen-bith, &c. Mon. Angl. Tom. 2. p. 142.

Hlaford. (Sax. signifying bountiful) Is the same as Dominus in Latin, i. e. Lord. Leg. H. 1.

Hlafordfocna, The Lord's Protection. — Nec Dominus homini libero Hlafordfocnam probibeat. Leg. Adelftan. cap. 5.

Hlafocner, (From the Sax. Laga, Lex, and Socn, Libertas) The Benefit of the Law.

Hloth, An unlawful Assembly from the Number of Seven to Thirty-five; and where one was accused of being in a Rout or Riot, he was to clear himself by a Mulet called Hlothbota or Hlothbote. Sax.

Hoardmen, Are an ancient Fraternity, who deal in Sea-Coal, at Newcastle upon Tyne. Stat. 21 Jac. 1. cap. 3.

Hoblers

Hoblers or Hobblers, (Hobelarii) Were Light Horsemen; or certain Tenants bound by their Tenure to maintain a little light Horse, for giving Notice of any Invasion made by Enemies, or such like Peril towards the Sea-side; of which Mention is made in the Stat. 18 Ed. 3. c. 7. 25 Ed. 3. c. 8. Camd. Britan. 272. They were to be Ad omnem motum agiles, &c. And we read, Duravit vocabulum usque ad etatem H. 8. Gentsdarmes and Hobelours. Spelm.

Hock-Tuesday-Money, A Duty formerly paid to the Landlord, for giving his Tenants Leave to celebrate that Day, on which the English Conquered and expelled the Danes; being the second Tuesday after Easter Week.

Hocketor; or Hocquetteur, Is an old French Word for a Knight of the Post; also a decayed Man. 3 Inf. 175.

Hoga, Hogium, Hoch, A Mountain or Hill, from the Germ. Hoogh, altus; or from the Sax. Hou. — Edwinus invenit quendam Hogam, &c. Et ibi edificavit quendam villam quam vocavit Stanhogiam, postea Stanhow. Du Cange.

Hogafter, (Hogastrum) A little Hog; it also signifies a young Sheep: Tertium ovile pro Hogastris annatis Et juvenibus. Fleta, lib. 2. c. 79.

Hogenhine, (Sax.) Is he that comes Guest-wise to an Inn or House, and lies there the third Night, after which he is accounted of that Family. BraE. lib. 3. See Third Night Awn-bind.

Hoghead, A Vessel of Wine, or Oil, &c. containing in Measure 63 Gallons; Half a Pipe, and the fourth Part of a Ton. 1 R. 3. c. 13.

Hokeday, Called otherwise Hock Tuesday, (Dis Martis, quam Quindenam Pasche vocant) Was a Day so remarkable in ancient Times, that Rents were reserved payable thereon; And in the Accounts of Magdalen College in Oxford, there is a yearly Allowance pro Mulieribus Hockantibus, in some Manors of theirs in Hampshire, where the Men hock the Women on Monday, & contra on Tuesday; the Meaning of it is, that on that Day the Women in Merriment stop the Ways with Ropes, and pull Passengers to them, desiring something to be laid out in pious Uses. See Hock-Tuesday Money.

Hold, (Sax. Hold, i. e. Summus Præpositus) A Bailiff of a Town, or City: Others are of Opinion that it signifies a General; for Hold in Saxon is also summus Imperator.

Holidays, Appointed by Statute. See 5 & 6 Ed. 6, &c.

Holm, (Sax. Hulmus, insula amnica) An Isle or Fenny Ground, according to Bede; or a River Island. And where any Place is called by that Name, or this Syllable is joined with any other in the Names of Places, it signifies a Place surrounded with Water; as the Flatholmes and Stepholmes in the Severn near Bristol: But if the Situation of the Place is not near the Water; it may then signify a hilly Place; Holm in Saxon being also a Hill or Cliff. — Cum duobus Holmis in Campis de Wedone. Mon. Angl. Tom. 2. pag. 262.

Holt, (Sax.) A Wood: Wherefore the Names of Towns beginning or ending with Holt, as Buckholt, &c. denote that formerly there was great Plenty of Wood at those Places.

Homage, (Homagium) Is a French Word derived from Homo, because when the Tenant does his Service to the Lord, he says, I become your Man. Co. Litt. 64. In the Original Grants of Lands and Tenements by way of Fee, the Lord did not only oblige his Tenants to certain Services; but also took a Submission with Promise and Oath, to be true to him as their Lord and Benefactor: And this Submission, which is the most honourable, being from a Freehold Tenant, is called Homage. Stat. 17 Ed. 2. The Lord of the Fee for which Homage is due, takes Homage of every Tenant, as he comes to the Land or Fee: But Women perform not Homage but by their Husbands, as Homage especially relates to Service in War; and a Corporation cannot do Homage, which is Personal, and they cannot appear but by Attorney: Also a Bishop, or religious Man, may not do Homage, only Fealty; but the Archbishop of Canterbury does Homage on his Knees to our Kings at their Coronation; and it is said the Bishop of the Isle of Man does Homage to the Earl of Derby; though Fulbec reconciles this, when he says that a religious Man may do Homage, but may not say to his Lord, Ego devenio homo vester, I become your Man, because he has professed himself to be God's Man, but he may say, I do unto you Homage, and to you shall be faithful and loyal. Britton, cap. 68. There is Homage by Ligeance: Homage by Reason of Tenure; and Homage Ancestrel: Homage by Ligeance is inherent and inseparable to every Subject. Homage by Tenure, is a Service made by Tenants to their Lords according to the Statute; and Homage Ancestrel, is where a Man and his Ancestors have Time out of Mind held their Land of the Lord by Homage, and such Service draws to it Warrant from the Lord, and Acquittal of all other Services to other Lords, &c. BraE. lib. 3. F. N. B. 269. Litt. Sect. 85. But according to Sir Edw. Coke, there must be a double Prescription for Homage Ancestrel, both in the Blood of the Lord, and of the Tenant; so that the same Tenant and his Ancestors, whose Heir he is, is to hold the same Land of the same Lord and his Ancestors, whose Heir the Lord is, Time out of Memory, by Homage, &c. and therefore there is but little Land holden by Homage Ancestrel; though in the Manor of Whitney in Herefordshire, there is one West who holds Lands by this Tenure. Co. Litt. Homage Tenure is incident to a Freehold, and none shall do or receive Homage, but such as have Estates in Fee-simple, or Fee-tail, in their own Right or Right of another. Kitch. 131. Seisin of Homage is Seisin of Fealty, and inferior Services, &c. And the Lord only shall take Homage, and not the Steward, whose Power extends but to Fealty. 4 Rep. 8. When a Tenant makes his Homage to the Lord, he is to be ungirt, and his Head uncovered, and his Lord shall sit, and he shall kneel, and hold his Hands together between his Lord's Hands, and say; I become your Man from this Day forward, for Life, for Member, and for worldly Honour, and unto you shall be true and faithful, and bear you Faith for the Lands that I hold of you, (saying the Faith that I owe to our Sovereign Lord the King:) And the Lord so sitting shall kiss the Tenant, &c. 17 Ed. 3. Litt. Sect. 85.

Homage Jury, Is a Jury in a Court-Baron, consisting of Tenants that do Homage to the Lord of the Fee; and these by the Fendiffs are called Parisi Curie: They enquire and make Presentment of Defaults and Deaths of Tenants, Admittances and Surrenders, in the Lord's Court, &c. Kitch.

Homager, Is one that does or is bound to do Homage to another.

Homagio respectuando, Was a Writ to the Escheator, commanding him to deliver Seisin of Lands to the Heir of the King's Tenant, notwithstanding his Homage not done. F. N. B. 269. And the Heir at full Age was to do Homage to the King, or agree with him for respiting the same. New Nat. Br. 563.

Homagium reddere, To renounce Homage; was when the Tenant or Vassal made a solemn Declaration of disowning his Lord, for which there was a set Form and Method prescribed by the Fendatory Laws. BraE. lib. 2. c. 35.

Homeseken, A Freedom that a Man hath in his House or Home; which, as commonly said, should be his Castle, and not be invaded. See Hamsoken.

Homestall,

Homestall, Is taken for a Mansion-house. Vide Frumtol.

Homicide, (Homicidium) Signifies the Slaying of a Man; and is divided into Voluntary and Cajual: Voluntary Homicide is that which is done with Deliberation, and a set Purpose to kill; and Cajual Homicide is where the Death of a Man happens by Chance, without any Intention to kill: The Former done out of Malice is Murder; and the Latter may be Manlaughter, Chantemedry, &c. Glanvil, lib. 1. cap. 3. Weff's Symb. Sect. 37. Co. Litt. lib. 3. cap. 8. See Murder, &c.

Hominiatio, Is the Mustering of Men; according to Mr. Tate in MS.

Homine Eligendo ad custodiendam peciam Agilli pro mercatoribus editi, Is a Writ directed to a Corporation, for the Choice of a new Person to keep one Part of the Seal appointed for Statutes-Merchant, when a Former is dead, according to the Statute of Alton Burnel. Reg. Orig. 178.

Homine capto in Withernamium. Is a Writ for the Apprehending of one who has taken any Man or Woman, and conveyed him or her out of the County, so that they cannot be replevied by Law. Reg. Orig. 79.

Homine Replegiando, Is an ancient Writ for bailing a Man out of Prison: It lies where a Person is in Prison, not by special Commandment of the King, or his Judges, or for any Crime or Cause irreplevisable, directed to the Sheriff to cause him to be replevied: And if the Sheriff return on a Homine Replegiando, that the Defendant hath enslained the Plaintiff's Body, so that he cannot deliver him; then the Plaintiff shall have a Capias in Withernam to take the Defendant's Body, and keep it quousque, &c. And if the Sheriff return Non est Inventus on that Writ against the Body, the Plaintiff shall have a Capias against the Defendant's Goods, &c. F. N. B. 66. New Nat. Br. 151, 152. Where one Man takes away secretly, or keeps in his Custody another Man against his Will, upon Oath made thereof, and a Petition to the Lord Chancellor, he will grant a Writ of Replegiari facias, with an Alias and Pluries, upon which the Sheriff returns an Elongatus, and thereupon issues out a Capias in Withernam: And when the Party is taken, the Sheriff cannot take Bail for him; but the Court where the Writ is returnable may, if they think fit, grant a Habeas Corpus to the Sheriff to bring him into Court and bail him, or remand him. 2 Lill. 23. In a Homine Replegiando it hath been adjudged, that it doth not differ from a common Replevin, on which the Sheriff must return a Deliberari feci, or an Excuse why he doth not: That where he cannot make Deliverance, if he return an Elongatus, the Defendant is not concluded by that Return to plead Non cepit; and after the Return of an Elongatus, and a Capias in Withernam, if the Defendant pleads this Plea, he shall be bailed, for the Withernam is no Execution: And after a Defendant is bailed upon the Capias in Withernam, there may be a new Withernam against him. 2 Salk. 581. And it was held, that in a Homine Replegiando after an Elongatus returned, if the Defendant comes in gratis, and calls for a Declaration, and pleads Non cepit, he shall not be obliged to give Bail; but if he come in upon the Return of the Capias, he must give Bail, and shall not be admitted to it till he call for a Declaration, and plead Non cepit. Ibid. The Sheriff returned an Elongavit in a Homine Replegiando, and then a Capias in Withernam went forth; afterwards the Defendant having entered an Appearance, moved for a Superseatas to the Withernam, and offered to plead Non cepit; which was opposed, unless he would give Bail to deliver the Person, in Case the Issue was found against him: Though it was ruled, that if any Property had been pleaded in the Party, then the Defendant ought to give Bail to deliver him; but he says he bath not the Person, and therefore Non cepit is a proper Plea, and he shall put in Bail to appear de die in diem. 4 Mod. 183. In this Case the Defendant shall not be compelled to Gage Deliverance; and a Superseatas was granted to the Withernam. 5 W. & M.

Homines, Were a Sort of Feudatary Tenants, who claimed a Privilege of having their Causes and Persons tried only in the Court of their Lord: And when Gerrard de Camvil, Anno 5 R. 1. was charged with Treason and other Misdemeanors, he pleaded that he was Homo Comitibus Jobannis, &c. and would stand to the Law and Justice of his Court. Paroch. Antiq. 152.

Homo. This Latin Word includes both Man and Woman, in a large or general Understanding. 2 Inst. 45.

Hondhabend. (Sax. Hond, i. e. Hand, and babens) See Handbabend.

Honey. All Vessels of Honey are to be mark'd with the Name of the Owner, and be of such a Content, under Penalties; and if any Honey sold, be corrupted with any deceitful Mixture, the Seller shall forfeit the Honey, &c. Stat. 23 Eliz. c. 8.

Honour, (Lat. Honor) Is especially used for a more noble Seignior or Lordship, on which other inferior Lordships and Manors do depend, by Performance of Customs and Services. Originally no Lordships were Honours but such as belong'd to the King; though afterwards they were given in Fee to Noblemen: And it appears, that Honours have been created by Act of Parliament; for by the Statute 31 Hen. 8. cap. 5. the Manor of Hampton-Court, with divers Manors and Lands thereto annexed, were made an Honour; so Amptbill in the County of Bedford, and Grafton in Northumberland are Honours. 33 H. 8. c. 37, 38. and by 37 H. 8. cap. 18 the King is empowered by Letters Patent to erect four several Honours, viz. Westminster, Kingston upon Hull, St. Osibe and Donnington. There are divers Honours in England besides these; as Lancaster, Clare, Wallingford, Nottingham, West and East Greenwich, Bedford, Windsor, Montgomery, Gloucester, Arundel, Leicester, Hereford, Chester, Warwick, and a great many others mentioned by Authors, and in ancient Records. 4 Inst. 224. This Word is taken in the same Signification in other Nations as with us; (but anciently Honor and Baronia signified the same Thing). Uti Manerium plurimis gaudet (interdum Feodis, sed plerumque) Tenementis, consuetudinibus, servitiis, &c. Ita Honor plurima completitur Maneria, plurima Feoda Militararia, plurima Regalia, &c. dictus etiam olim est Feodum Regale, tentusque semper a Rege in Capite. Spelm. A Name of Dignity or Honour may be entailed upon one and the Heirs Male of his Body; also it may be forfeited at the Common Law, and by the Stat. 26 H. 8. c. 13. as an Hereditament. 2 Nels. Abr. 934.

Honour-Courts, Are Courts held within such Honours, mentioned in the Stat. 33 Hen. 8. cap. 37. And there is a Court of Honour of the Earl Marshal of England, &c. which determines Disputes concerning Precedency and Points of Honour. 2 Harok. P. C. 11. This Court of Honour, which is also exercised to do Justice to Heralds, is a Court by Prescription, and has a Prison belonging to it, called the White Lyon in Southwark. 2 Nels. 935.

Honourary Services, Are those as are incident to the Tenure of Grand Serjeanty, and commonly annexed to some Honour. Stat. 12 Car. 2. c. 29.

Hops. A Statute was formerly made against bringing any Hops mix'd with Soil, &c. into this Kingdom from Foreign Parts, on Pain to forfeit them; and Persons using such Hops, to lose the Value. Stat. 1 Jac. 1. c. 18. There is a Duty of 1 d. in the Pound imposed on Hops; and using Storehouses without giving Notice, &c. incurs a Penalty of 50*l.* and privately conveying away Hops from the Place of their Growth, is liable to a Forfeiture of 5*s.* for every Pound. Stat. 9. Ann. c. 12. The Duty on Hops is continued; Places where they grow to be entered, on Pain of 40*s.* an Acre: And Notice given of Bagging the Hops, &c. by 1 Geo. 1. cap. 2. If any Person shall mix Ingredients with Hops to alter the Colour or Scent, he shall forfeit 5*l.* for every Hundred Weight; leviable by Justices of Peace. See Stat. 7 Geo. 2. c. 19. Cutting Hop-binds on Poles, Felony. 6 Geo. 2. cap. 37.

Hora Aurora, The Morning Bell, or what we now call the Four o'Clock Bell, was called anciently Hora Aurora; as our Eight o'Clock Bell, or the Bell in the Evening was called Ignitegium or Coverfeu. Cowel.

Hordera, (From the Sax. Hord, Thesaurus) A Treasurer: And hence we have the Word Hord or Hoard, as used for Treasuring or laying up a Thing. Leg. Adelftan. cap. 2.

Hordeum Palmale, and Hordeum Quadragesimale, Beer-Barley, of a large spreading Ear like a Hand; which in Norfolk is termed Sprat-Barley and Battledore, and in the Marches of Wales, Cymridge. Chart. Dat. 43 Ed. 4.

Horn with Horn, (Cornutum cum Cornuto) Is when there is Common per Cause de Vicinage, or an Intercommoning of borned Beasts. The promiscuous Feeding of Bulls and Cows, &c. that are allowed to run together upon the same Common, is called Horn with Horn, or Horn under Horn; And in the Constitutions of Robert Bishop of Durham, Anno 1276. where the Inhabitants of several Parishes let their common Herds run Horn with Horn upon the same open large Common; that there might be no Dispute about the Right of Tithes, the Bishop ordained, that the Cows shall pay Tithe to the Minister of the Parish where the Owner lived. Spelm.

Hornagium, Is supposed to be the same with Horn-geld.

Horngeld, (from the Sax. Horn, Cornu and Geld, i. e. Solutio) Signifies a Tax within the Forest, to be paid for borned Beasts. Cromp. Jurisd. 197. And to be Free of it is a Privilege granted by the King.

Quietum esse de omni Collectione in Foresta de Bestiis Cornutis, &c. 4 Inst. 306. Et sint Quietis de omnibus Geldis, Danegeldis, Wodgeldis, Horngeldis, &c. Chart. H. 3.

Horners, No Stranger was to buy any English Horns gathered or growing in London, or within twenty-four Miles thereof, by the Stat. 4 Ed. 4. c. 8. And none may sell English Horns unwrought to any Stranger, or send them beyond Sea, on Pain of forfeiting double Value: The Wardens of Horners in London may search all Wares, &c. 7 Jac. 1. cap. 14.

Hors de son Fee, (Fr. i. e. out of his Fee) Is an Exception to avoid an Action brought for Rent or Services, &c. issuing out of Land, by him that pretends to be the Lord; for if the Defendant can prove that the Land is without the Compass of his Fee, the Action falls. Broke. In an Avowry, a Stranger may plead generally Hors de son Fee; and so may Tenant for Years: And such Stranger to the Avowry, being made a Party, is at Liberty to plead any Matter in Abatement of it. 9 Rep. 30. 2 Mod. 104. A Tenant in Fee-simple ought either to disclaim, or plead Hors de son Fee. 1 Danv. Abr. 655.

Horses, were not to be convey'd out of the Realm without the King's Licence, &c. on Pain of Forfeiture, by an ancient Statute, 11 H. 7. c. 13. Persons having Lands of Inheritance in Parks, &c. are to keep two Mares apt to bear Foals thirteen Hands high, for the Increase of the Breed of Horses, on Pain of 40*s.* for every Month they are wanting;

and not suffer them to be leaped by stoned Horses under fourteen Hands, on a certain Penalty. 27 Hen. 8. c. 6. And for the Preservation of a Strong Breed of Horses, Stone Horses above two Years old are to be fifteen Hands high, or they shall not be put into Forests or Commons, where Mares are kept, upon Pain of Forfeiture; and scabbed or infected Horses shall not be put into common Fields, under the Penalty of 10*s.* leviable by the Lord of the Leet. 32 H. 8. c. 13. Stealing of any Horse, Gelding or Mare, is Felony without Benefit of Clergy: But Accessories to this Offence are not excluded Clergy. 1 Ed. 6. cap. 12. 2 & 3 Ed. 6. c. 23. And if any Horse that is stolen be not sold according to the Stat. 2 & 3 P. & M. c. 7. the Owner may take the Horse again where ever he finds him, or have Action of Detinue, &c. To prevent Horses being stolen and sold in private Places, the 2 & 3 P. & M. provides, that Owners of Fairs and Markets shall appoint Toll-takers or Book keepers, who are to enter the Names of Buyers and Sellers of Horses, &c. And to alter the Property, the Horses must be rid or stand in the open Fair one Hour; and all the Parties to the Contract must be present with the Horse. And by 31 Eliz. cap. 12. Sellers of Horses are to procure Vouchers of the Sale to them; and the Names of the Buyer, Seller and Voucher, and Price of the Horse are to be entered in the Toll-taker's Book, and a Note thereof delivered to the Buyer: And if any Person shall sell a Horse without being known to the Book-keeper, or bringing a Voucher; or if any one shall vouch without knowing the Seller; or the Book-keeper shall make an Entry without knowing either; in either of these Cases the Sale is void, and a Forfeiture is incurred of 5*l.* A Horse stolen, though sold according to the Direction of the Act, may be redeemed and taken by the Owner within six Months, repaying the Buyer what he shall swear he gave for the same. Stat. Ibid.

Horses hired. Action of Trespass and the Case lies for abusing a Horse hired, by immoderate Riding, &c. And a Difference has been made in our Law betwixt Hiring a Horse, and Borrowing one to go a Journey; for in the first Case the Party may set his Servant, &c. upon the Horse, but not in the second. 1 Mod. 210.

Horses for the King's Service. None shall take the Horse of any Person to serve the King, without the Owner's Consent, or sufficient Warrant, on Pain of Imprisonment, &c. Stat. 20 R. 2. c. 5.

Horse-Races, for small Sums having encouraged Idleness, and impoverish'd the meaner Sort of People; it is ordain'd, that no Person shall run any Horse at a Race, unless it be his own, nor enter more than one Horse for the same Plate, upon Pain of forfeiting the Horses; and no Plate is to be run for under 50*l.* on the Penalty of 200*l.* Also every Horse-Race must be begun and ended in the same Day, &c. Stat. 13 Geo. 2. cap. 19. Stat. 18 Geo. 2. c. 34.

Hosellers, (Fr. Hosteliers) Is used for Inn keepers: And in some old Books the Word Hostlers is taken in the same Sense. 31 Ed. 3. c. 2. The Executors of Hostlers are not chargeable, for their Faults. 1 Keble. 682.

Hospes generalis, A great Chamberlain.—
Volumus, quantum ad Hospitia pertinet, omnes indifferenter nostro Hospiti generali obediant, &c. Du Cange.

Hospitalers, (Hospitularii) Were a certain Order of Religious Knights in this Kingdom, so called because they built an Hospital at Jerusalem wherein Pilgrims were received. The Institution of their Order was first allowed by the Pope in the Year 1118. and confirmed by Parliament with many Privileges and Immunities; and Pope Clement the 5th transferred the Templers to them; which Order, by a Council Council held at Vienna, he afterwards suppressed. These Hospitalers were otherwise stiled Knights of St. John of Jerusalem; they are mentioned in the Stat. 13 Ed. 1. c. 42. and 9 H. 3. c. 37. And all the Lands and Goods of these Knights here in England, were given to the King, by the Stat. 32 H. 8. c. 34.

Hospitals. Any Person seized of an Estate in Fee-simple, may by Deed inrolled in Chancery erect and found an Hospital for the Sustainance and Relief of the Poor, to continue for ever; and place such Heads, &c. therein as he shall think fit: And such Hospital shall be incorporated, and subject to such Visitors, &c. as the Founder shall nominate; also such Corporations have Power to take and purchase Lands not exceeding 200 l. per Annum, so as the same be not holden of the King, &c. and to make Leases for twenty-one Years, reserving the accustomed yearly Rent: But no Hospital is to be erected, unless upon the Foundation it be endowed with Lands or Hereditaments of the clear yearly Value of 10 l. per Annum. Stat. 39 Eliz. c. 5. It has been adjudged upon this Statute, that if Lands given to an Hospital be at the Time of the Foundation or Endowment of the yearly Value of 200 l. or under, and afterwards they become of greater Value by good Husbandry, Accidents, &c. they shall continue good to be enjoyed by the Hospital, although they be above the yearly Value of 200 l. And Goods and Chattels, (Real or Personal) may be taken of what Value soever. 2 Inst. 722. And if one give his Land then worth 10 l. a Year to maintain Poor, &c. and the Land after comes to be worth 100 l. a Year, it must all of it be employed to increase their Maintenance, and none of it may be converted to private Use. 8 Rep. 130. Also if one devise the Rent of his Land for such Uses, it shall be taken largely for a Devise of the Rent then reserved, or afterwards to be reserved upon an improved Value. 9 Jac. Such only are to be Founders of Hospitals within the Act 39 Eliz. as are seized of any Estate in Fee, and who give the same at the first Foundation of the Hospital to the Incorporation of the Hospital, &c. But if a Man, as a Citizen of London, by Will devise that his Executors shall lay out 1000 l. in the Purchase of Lands, &c. and that an Hospital shall thereupon be built and incorporated for the Sustainance and Relief of poor impotent People, and dieth, whereupon the Executors purchase Lands of such a Value, and cause the Estate to be conveyed to certain Persons and their Heirs, and build an Hospital; in this and the like Cases, the Persons that have the Estate in the Lands are by the Purview of this Statute to be Founders, and do all Things that the Founder is appointed to do. Inst. 724. If one devise so much a Year for the Poor, &c. leaving Assets in Goods, this is good, and the Executors will be forced to buy as much Land, and to assure it to that Use. Trin. 15 Car. And if a Devise be to the poor People maintained in the Hospital of St. Laurence in Reading, &c. (where the Mayor and Burgesses capable to take in Mortmain, do govern the Hospital) albeit the Poor not being a Corporation, are not capable by that Name to take; yet the Devise is good, and Commissioners appointed to inquire into Lands given to Hospitals, &c. may order him that hath the Land to assure it to the Mayor and Burgesses for the Maintenance of the Hospital. 43 Eliz. A Deed of Gift to a Parish generally, to maintain Poor or other charitable Use, is not good: But a Devise by Will is good, and the Churchwardens and Overseers shall take it in Succession; and in London the Mayor and Commonalty. 40 Aff. 26. A Gift must be to the Poor, and not to the aged or impotent of such a Parish, without expressing their Poverty; for Poverty is the principal Circumstance to bring the Gift within the Stat. 43 Eliz. Although at Common Law a Corporation may be of an Hospital, that is in possession of certain Persons to be Governors of the Hospital, and not of the Persons placed therein: The safest Way upon the Act 39 Eliz. is first to prepare the Hospital, and to place the Poor therein, and to incorporate the Persons therein placed; and after the Incorporation to convey the Lands, Tenements, &c. to the said Corporation, by Bargain and Sale, or otherwise, between the Founder of the one Part, and the Master and Brethren, &c. of the other Part, in Consideration of 5 s. in Hand paid by the Master of the said Hospital, &c. 2 Inst. 724, 725. And the Founder cannot erect an Hospital for Years, Lives, or any other limited Time, but it must be for ever, according to the Stat. 39 Eliz. which Statute for erecting of Hospitals is made perpetual by 21 Jac. 1. c. 1.

THIS Indenture, made, &c. Between A. B. of &c. Esq; of the one Part, and C. D. E. F. G. H. &c. of, &c. of the other Part, Witnesseth, That whereas the said A. B. being seized in Fee-simple, of and in a certain Messuage and Lands of the yearly Value of, &c. situate, lying and being in, &c. and now in the Possession of him the said A. B. of his charitable Affection and Disposition, hath erected and founded several Buildings and Edifices upon the said Land adjoining to the aforesaid Messuage together with the same, to be an Hospital for the Sustainance and Relief of twenty poor and impotent Persons, to have Continuance for ever. And the said A. B. doth by these Presents found, erect and establish the same for an Hospital of poor and impotent People for ever; and according to the Power given to the said A. B. by the Statute in that Case provided, the said A. B. doth by these Presents, covenant and grant, to and with the said C. D. E. F. and G. H. &c. and hereby limit and appoint, that the said Hospital, and the poor and impotent Persons therein now plac'd by the said A. B. viz. J. K. L. M. N. O. P. R. S. T. &c. together with the said C. D. E. F. G. H. &c. and their Successors, shall for ever hereafter be incorporated by the Name of the Master and Brethren of the Hospital of, &c. in the County aforesaid. And further, the said A. B. doth by these Presents make and appoint the said C. D. to be the present Master of the said Hospital, and the said E. F. G. H. I. K. L. M. N. O. P. R. S. T. &c. to be the present Brethren of the said Hospital, and by the Name of Master and Brethren of the said Hospital, they shall have full Power and lawful Capacity and Ability to purchase, take, hold, receive and enjoy, and to have to them and their Successors for ever, as well Goods and Chattels, as Lands, Tenements and Hereditaments, being Freehold, of any Person or Persons whatsoever, according to the Form and Effect of the Statutes in that Case made: And that the same Hospital, and the Persons so being incorporated, founded and named, shall have full Power, and lawful Authority, by the said Name of Master and Brethren, &c. to sue and be sued, implead and be impleaded, to answer and be answered unto, in all Manner of Courts and Places, as well Temporal as Spiritual, in all Manner of Suits whatsoever, and of what Kind or Nature soever such Suits or Actions may or shall be. And the said A. B. doth by these Presents covenant and grant, and hereby appoint, that the said Master and Brethren, and their Successors for ever hereafter, shall have a common Seal with, &c. engraven thereon, whereby the said Master and Brethren, and their Successors shall or may seal any Instrument or Writing touching the same Corporation, and the Lands, Tenements and Hereditaments, Goods, or other Things thereto belonging, or in any wise touching or concerning the same: And that it shall be lawful for the said A. B. during his Life, upon the Death or Removal of the said Master, or any of the said Brethren, to place one other in the Room of him that dieth or is removed; and after the Death of the said said A. B. it shall be lawful for the Rector or Parson of the Parish of, &c. aforesaid, and the Churchwardens of the same Parish for the Time being, for ever after the Decease of the said A. B. upon the Death or Removal of the Master, or any of the Brethren of the said Hospital, to place one other in the Room of him that dies, or is removed, successively for ever. And the said A. B. doth further hereby declare and appoint, that it shall be lawful for him the said A. B. during his Life, and for the Rector or Parson of the Parish of, &c. aforesaid, for the Time being, after the Decease of the said A. B. to visit the said Hospital and inspect into the Government and State thereof: And lastly, that the Rents and Profits of the said Messuage and Lands abovementioned, shall be yearly, &c. paid to the Master of the said Hospital, and his Successors, and be applied for the Maintenance of the twenty Brethren and poor impotent Persons aforesaid, and their Successors, and to and for no other Purpose whatsoever. In Witness, &c. See 10 Rep. 17 & 34. for a Form of a Deed of Bargain and Sale.

By 39 Eliz. c. 6. and 43 Eliz. c. 4. Commissions may be awarded to certain Persons to inquire of Lands or Goods given to Hospitals; and the Lord Chancellor is empowered to issue Commissions to Commissioners for inquiring by a Jury, of all Grants, Abuses, Breaches of Trust, &c. of Lands given to charitable Uses, who may make Orders and Decrees concerning the same, and the due Application thereof; and the Commissioners are to decree, that Recompence be made for Fraud and Breaches of Trust, &c. so as their Orders and Decrees be certified into the Chancery; and the Lord Chancellor shall take Order for the Execution of the said Judgments and Decrees, and after Certificate may examine into, annul, or alter them agreeable to Equity, on just Complaint: But this does not extend to Lands given to any College or Hall in the Universities, &c. nor to any Hospital, over which special Governors are appointed by the Founders; and it shall not be prejudicial to the Jurisdiction of the Bishop or Ordinary, as to his Power of Inquiry into and reforming Abuses of Hospitals, by Virtue of the Stat. 2 Hen. 5. &c. These Commissioners may order Houses to be repaired, by those who receive the Rents; see that the Lands be let at the utmost Rent; and on any Tenant's committing Waste, by cutting down and Sale of Timber, they may decree Satisfaction, and that the Lease shall be void. Hill. 11 Car. Where Money is kept back, and not paid, or paid where it should not, they have Power to order the Payment of it to the right Use: And if Money is detained in the Hands of Executors, &c. any great Length of Time, they may decree the Money to be paid with Damages for detaining it. Duke Read. 123. See 4 Rep. 104. The Hospital of St. Cross near Winchester, and several other large Hospitals, were anciently founded by particular Statutes, or Acts of Parliament. And King Charles the first granted to the Mayor and Commonalty of London the keeping of Bethlem Hospital, and the Manors and Lands belonging to it. Chart. K. Cha. 1. Also there is now an Hospital in London for Foundling Children, under the Care of Governors and Guardians, who may purchase Lands or Tenements to the Value of 4000 l. a Year: And they are to receive as many such Children, as they think fit, which may be brought to the Hospital, and shall there be bred up and employ'd, or plac'd Apprentice to any Trade, or the Sea Service, the Males till the Age of 24, and Females till 21. They may likewise be let out or hired, &c. 13 Geo. 2. cap. 29. See Bath.

Hospitium, Hath been used in the same Sense with Procuracion or Visitation Money. Brompt. 1193.

Hospitalium, A Right to have Lodging and Entertainment; reserved by Lords in the Houses of their Tenants. Cartular. Radinges, MS. 157.

Hostie, Host Bread, or consecrated Wafers in the Holy Eucharist: And from this Word Hostia, Mr. Somner derives the Sax. Husel, used for the Lord's Supper, and Hustian to administer that Sacrament; which were kept long in our old English, under Houfel, and to Houfal. Paroch. Antiq. 270.

Hospitalaria, Was a Place or Room in Religious Houses allotted to the Use of receiving Strangers. Cartular. Eccles. Elien. MS. 34.

Hospitalarius, An Officer appointed for the Care of the Hospitalaria.

Hotchpot, (In partem positio) Is a Word brought from the Fr. Hotchepot, used for a confused mingling of divers Things together, and among the Dutch it signifies Flesh cut into Pieces, and sodden with Herbs or Roots; but by a Metaphor it is a Blending or Mixing of Lands given in Marriage, with other Lands in Fee falling by Descent: As if a Man seized of thirty Acres of Land in Fee, hath Issue only two Daughters, and he gives with one of them ten Acres in Marriage to the Man that marries her, and dies seized of the other twenty Acres: Now she that is thus married, to gain her Share of the rest of the Land, must put her Part given in Marriage in Hotchpot, i. e. she must refuse to take the sole Profits thereof, and cause her Land to be mingled with the other, so that an Equal Division may be made of the whole between her and her Sister, as if none had been given to her; and thus for her ten Acres she shall have fifteen, otherwise her Sister will have the twenty Acres of which her Father died seized. Litt. 55. Co. Litt. lib. 3. cap. 12. This seems to be a Right of waving a Provision, made for a Child in a Man's Life-time, at his Death, though as it depends upon Frank Marriage, and Gifts of Lands therein, it now seldom happens. But there is a bringing of Money into Hotchpot, upon the Clauses and Intent of the Act of Parliament for Distribution of Intestates Estates. 22 & 23 Car. 2. Where a certain Sum is to be raised, and paid to a Daughter for her Portion, by a Marriage Settlement; this has been Decreed to be an Advancement by the Father in his Life-time, within the Meaning of the Statute, though future and contingent; and if the Daughter would have any further Share of her Father's Personal Estate, she must bring this Money into Hotchpot; and shall not have both the one and the other. Abr. Cas. Eq. 253. See 2 Vern. 638. By the Custom of London, there is likewise a Term of Hotchpot, where the Children of a Freeman are to have an equal Share of one third Part of his Personal Estate, after his Death. Preced. Canc. 3.

Hobel, (Mandra) Is a Place wherein Husbandmen set their Ploughs and Carts out of the Rain or Sun. Law Lat. Dict.

Houndlow-Heath, A large Heath containing 4293 Acres of Ground, and extending into several Parishes; so much thereof as is the King's Inheritance, and fit for Pasture, Meadow, or other several Grounds, shall be of the Nature of Copyhold Lands; or the Steward of the Manor may let it for twenty-one Years, &c. and the Lessees may improve the same. Stat. 37 H. 8. c. 2.

Hour, (Hora) Is a certain Space of Time of sixty Minutes, twenty-four of which make the natural Day. It is not material at what Hour of the Day one is born. 1 Inst. 135. Vide Fraction.

Houfage, Is a Kind of Fee paid for Houfing Goods by a Carrier, or at a Wharf or Key, &c. Shep. Epit. 1725.

Houfe, (Domus) A Place of Dwelling or Habitation; also a Family or Household. Every Man has a Right a Right to Air and Light, in his own House; and therefore if any Thing of infectious Smell, be laid near the House of another, or his Lights be stopped up and darkned, by Buildings, &c. they are Nuisances punishable by our Laws. 3 Inft. 231. 1 *Danv. House of Correction. Justices of Peace in their Quarter-Sessions, are to make Orders for erecting Houses of Correction, and the Maintenance and Government of the same; and for the Punishment of Offenders committed thither. 39 Eliz. cap. 4. In every County of England there shall be a House of Correction built at the Charge of the County, with Conveniences for the setting of People to work, or every Justice of Peace shall forfeit 5 l. And the Justices in Sessions are to appoint Governors or Masters of such Houses of Correction, and their Salaries, &c. which are to be paid Quarterly by the Treasurer out of the County Stock: These Governors are to set the Persons sent on Work, and moderately correct them, by Whipping, &c. and to yield a true Account every Quarter-Sessions of Persons committed to their Custodies; and if they suffer any to escape, or neglect their Duty, the Justices may fine them. 7 Jac. 1. and 14 Geo. 2. The House of Correction is chiefly for the punishing of idle and disorderly Persons; Parents of Bastard Children, Beggars, Servants running away; Trespassers, Rogues, Vagabonds, &c. Poor Persons refusing to Work are to be there whipped, and set to Work and Labour: And any Person who lives extravagantly, having no visible Estate to support himself, may be sent to the House of Correction, and at Work there, and may be continued there until he gives the Justices Satisfaction in Respect to his Living; but not be whipped. 2 Bull. 351. Sid. 281. A Person ought to be convicted of Vagrancy, &c. before he is ordered to be whipped. Ibid. Bridewell is a Prison for Correction in London, and one may be sent thither. Styl. 27. By the Stat. 17 Geo. 2. c. 5. Upon Presentment of the Grand Jury, the Justices at Sessions may build, or purchase Land for building, or enlarge, buy or hire fit Houses of Correction. And the Justices are to take Care that the Houses of Correction be provided with proper Materials for relieving, employing and correcting Persons sent to the same: And two Justices shall visit the same twice or oftener in a Year, and examine into the Estate and Management thereof, and report the same at the Sessions. The Governor or Master of a House of Correction misbehaving himself, may be fined or turned out, at the Discretion of the Justices. Offenders liable to be sent to the House of Correction, where the Time and Manner of their Punishment is not expressly limited by Law, may be committed until the next Sessions, or until discharged by due Course of Law. See County Rates.

House-bote, Signifies Estovers, or an Allowance of Timber out of the Lord's Woods, &c. for the repairing and upholding of a House or Tenement: And this House-bote is said to be two-fold, viz. Esto- verium edificandi, and Ardendi. Co. Litt. 41. See Common of Estovers.

House-breaking, or Robbing of Houses. The Robbing any Person in his Dwelling House, the Dweller, his Wife, Children, or Servants being therein, and put in Fear; this requires that there be something taken, but not an actual Breach of the House: But if they are not put in Fear, there must be a Breaking, and also a taking of Something, to make it Felony excluded Clergy. Stat. 23 H. 8. 5 & 6 Ed. 6. 1 Hale's Hist. P. C. 548. Vide Burglary.

Householder, (Pater-familias) Is the Occupier of a House, a House-keeper or Master of a Family.

Hue and Cry, (Harefum & Clamor) From the Fr. Huer & Crier, both signifying to cry out aloud, is a Pursuit of one who hath committed Felony by the Highway; for if the Party robbed, or any in the Company of one murdered or robbed, come to the Constable of the next Town, and require him to raise Hue and Cry, or to pursue the Offender, describing him and shewing (as near as he can) which Way he is gone, the Constable ought forthwith to call upon the Parish for Aid in seeking the Felon; and if he be not found there, then to give the next Constable Warning, and he the next, until the Offender be apprehended, or at least thus pursued to the Sea-side. Bract. lib. 3. Stat. 13 Ed. 1. of Winton, c. 3. 28 Ed. 3. cap. 11. 27 Eliz. c. 13. 3 Inft. 117. The Scotch make Hue and Cry where a Robbery is done, by Horsemen and by blowing a Horn, and making an Oatcry; after which, if the Offender will not yield himself to the King's Bailiff, he may be lawfully slain, &c. And no Hue and Cry by our Law shall be a good and lawful Hue and Cry, unless made by Horsemen and Footmen, &c. Hue and Cry is the Pursuit of an Offender from Town to Town, till he is taken; which all Persons who are present where a Felony is committed, or a dangerous Wound given, are by Law bound to raise against the Offenders who escape; also a Man may raise Hue and Cry against one who sets upon him in the Highway to rob him; and Hue and Cry shall be levied upon any Stranger who will not obey the Arrest of the Watch in the Night; and in Forests, &c. against Offenders: But if a Man take upon him to levy Hue and Cry, without sufficient Cause, he shall be punished for the same. 2 Hawk. H. C. 75. A Person that levies Hue and Cry, according to Lord Chief Justice Hale, ought to give Notice to the Constable of a Felony committed, and such reasonable Assurance thereof, as the Case will bear; if he knows the Name of him who did it, he must tell the Constable the same; and if he know it not, but can give a Description of him, then he must describe his Person, Habit, or Horie, or such Circumstances as he knows, which may conduce to his Discovery: If the Felony be done in the Night, so that these Things are unknown, he is to mention the Number of Persons, or the Way they took; and if none of all these can be discovered, the Party must acquaint the Constable with the Fact, and desire him to search in his Town, and make Hue and Cry after such as may be probably suspected, &c. 2 Hale's Hist. P. C. 100, 101. If Hue and Cry be not against a Man certain, but by Description of his Person, Clothes, &c. it justifies the Constable, or other Persons following it, in apprehending the Person so described: And in Case of a Hue and Cry once raised and levied, on Supposal of Felony done, though in Truth there was none, yet those that pursue it may proceed as if there had been really a Felony; for being levied upon such Information, it is sufficient, if that is false. Ibid. 103. And there are two Kinds of Hues and Cries; by the Common Law, and by Statute; one for the King, and the other for the Party; and refusing to make Hue and Cry is punishable by Fine and Imprisonment, &c. 2 Inst. 172. By Statute of Westm. 1. 3 Ed. 1. c. 9. All Persons are to be ready at the Summons of the Sheriff, and Cry of the County, to pursue and arrest Felons and Robbers, &c. or be fined to the King: And if Default be in the Lord of a Franchise, the King shall seize his Franchise; but if in the Bailiff, he shall be imprisoned for a Year, and fined, &c. If the Inhabitants of any Hundred, after the Hue and Cry is made, neglect to pursue it, they shall answer one Moiety of the Damages recoverable against the Hundred where a Robbery is committed. 27 Eliz. c. 13. And if the County will not produce the Bodies of the Offenders, the whole Hundred shall be answerable for Robberies there committed, &c. 13 Ed. 1. Where a Robbery is done on the Highway, in the Day-time, of any Day except Sunday, the Hundred where committed is answerable for it: But Notice is to be given of it, with convenient Speed, to some of the Inhabitants of the next Village, to the Intent that they may make Hue and Cry for the apprehending of the Robbers, or no Action will lie against the Hundred: And in the making Hue and Cry, diligent Search is to be made in all suspected Houses and Places, and not only Officers, but all others who shall pursue the Hue and Cry, may arrest all such Persons as in their Search and Pursuit they shall find suspicious, and carry them before some Justice of the Peace of the County where taken, to be examined where they were at the Time of the Robbery, &c. for in this Case, the Arrest of a Person not guilty is lawful. 13 Ed. 1. 27 Eliz. And if any of the Robbers are taken within forty Days, and convicted, the Hundred shall be excused; if not, after the forty Days past, the Party robbed is to make Oath before a Justice of Peace of the County where the Robbery was done, of the Time and Place of the Robbery, and of what Sum he was robbed, and that he knew none of the Robbers; and then in twenty Days he may bring his Action against the Hundred by Original Writ, &c. which must be sued out within a Year after the Robbery: If a Recovery is had against the Hundred, the Sheriff may levy his Execution, which is a Charge upon the Lands, on any one or more Inhabitants in the Hundred; but Justices of Peace at their Sessions, may make a Rate or Tax upon the whole Hundred, to pay and reimburse it; and Constables, &c. of every Town and Parish are to levy it proportionably on all the Inhabitants; also the like Tax may be made for a Moiety of Damages leviable where any Default shall be of fresh Pursuit after Hue and Cry made. 27 Eliz. 3 Lev. 320. 7 Rep. 7. By a late Statute, no Process is to be served against the Hundred, &c. for a Robbery committed, but on the High Constable, who shall give Notice of it in one of the principal Market-Towns, &c. and then enter an Appearance, and defend the Action; and if the Plaintiff recovers, Execution shall not go against any Inhabitant, or the Constable, but instead of serving it, the two next Justices are to cause a Taxation to be made upon every Parish within the Hundred, which shall be levied on the Inhabitants by Constables, and the Money paid over to the Sheriff, to the Use of the Party recovering, and the High Constable as to his Expences, &c. And the Person robbed is in twenty Days to give publick Notice in the Gazette, describing the Circumstances of the Robbery; and enter into Bond to pay Costs, if Verdict be against him, &c. and no Hundred is chargeable, where any Robbers are taken in forty Days after such Notice; also all Constables, &c. shall make Hue and Cry, or neglecting it shall forfeit 5 l. And a Reward of 10 l. is given, to be paid by the Hundred, for apprehending any Robber within the Time limited, and levied by the Justices as the other Money. Stat. 8 Geo. 2. c. 16. By the Stat. 22 Geo.

2. c. 24. No Person shall recover on any of the Statutes of Hue and Cry, above 200 l. unless the Person or Persons so robbed shall at the Time of such Robbery be together in Company, and be in Number two at the least, to attest the Truth of his or their being so robbed. By the Stat. 22 Geo. 2. c. 46. No Writ of Execution against the Inhabitants of a Hundred shall be levied on any particular Inhabitant or Inhabitants, but two Justices shall cause a Taxation to be made and levied, for raising as well the Costs and Damages recovered, as all such necessary Expences as any Inhabitant has been at in defending the Action, being proved on Oath, and the Attorney's Bill taxed; which Sums so levied shall be paid to the Sheriff, who shall pay the same over without Fee or Reward. If he that is robbed, after Hue and Cry, makes no further Pursuit after the Robbers, Action lies against the Hundred. 4 Leon. 180. The Party robbed is not bound to pursue the Robbers himself, or to lend his Horse for that Purpose; but still has his Remedy against the Hundred, if they are not taken: Though if any of them are taken, either within forty Days after the Robbery, or before the Plaintiff recovers, the Hundred is discharged. Sid. 11. It has been held, that an Action lies against the Hundred for a Robbery in the Day-time, although not in the King's Highway, but in a private Way. Hill. 1 Ann. 1 Mod. 221. But not for a Robbery in the Morning, before it is light; and yet where it is before Sun-rising, or after Sun-set, if it be so light that a Man's Face may be known, it well lies. 7 Rep. 6. Cro. Jac. 106. If a Party be robbed in the Night-time, when Persons are at Rest, the Hundred is not chargeable: And where a Person is seized by Day-light, but robbed in the Night, he is without Remedy. 3 Leon. 350. Though where Robbers forced a Coach out of the Way, in the Day-time, and afterwards robbed it in the Night, this was held a Robbery in the Day, and that Action lay against the Hundred. 1 Sid. 263. When a Man is robbed on a Sunday, on which Day Persons are supposed to be at Church, and none ought to travel, the Hundred is not liable. 27 Eliz. But where a Robbery is done on a Sunday, though the Hundred is not chargeable, Hue and Cry shall be made, by Stat. 29 Car. 2. c. 7. And if a Person be robbed going to Church in a Country Town or Village, on a Sunday, which is a religious Duty required by Law, it has been lately held an Action lies against the Hundred; but not if one be robbed on that Day in other travelling for Pleasure, &c. which is prohibited by Statute. 6 Geo. 1. C. B. per King, Chief Justice. And it was formerly ruled by three Judges on the Statute of Winton, where a Man was robbed on a Sunday, in Time of Divine Service, and made Hue and Cry, that the Hundred should be charged; for many Persons are necessitated to travel on this Day, as Physicians, &c. 2 Cro. 496. 2 Roll. 59. Godb. 280. See 2 Nels. Abr. 937, 938. If a Person be robbed in a House, where he is presumed to be at Safety by his own Care, the Hundred is not chargeable: A Robbery must be an open Robbery, that the Country may take Notice of it, to make the Hundred answerable. 7 Rep. 6. A Man is set upon and assaulted by Robbers in one Hundred, and carried into a Wood, &c. in another Hundred, near the Highway, and there robbed, the Action shall be brought against the Hundred where the Robbery was done, as particularly expressed in the Statute, and not the Hundred where the Man was taken or assaulted; because the Assault is not the efficient Cause of the Robbery, as a Stroke is in Case of Murder. Hill. 1 Ann. B. R. 2 Salk. 614. But where Goods are taken from a Man in one Hundred, and opened in another, where they are first taken or seized, they are stolen, and the Robbery is committed. 2 Lill. Abr.

Abr. 27. If a Servant is robbed of his Master's Money, he may sue the Hundred on the Statute of Winton of Hue and Cry; or the Master may bring the Action, and the Man making Oath of the Robbery, and that he knew none of the Robbers, is sufficient without the Oath of the Master. Goldf. 24. Cro. Car. 26, 37, 336. Where a Servant is robbed, he must be examined and sworn; but if the Master be present, it is a Robbery of him. Shorv. 241. 1 Leon. 323. If a Quaker be robbed, or a Man's Servant being a Quaker, and either refuse to take the Oath of the Robbery, and that he did not know any of the Robbers, the Hundred is not answerable; for the Statute of Eliz. was made to prevent Combination between Persons robbed and the Robbers. 2 Salk. 613. But the Master's Oath where his Servant is a Quaker, or otherwise, and being robbed in his Presence, will maintain the Action in his own Name. Carth. 146. And a Plaintiff had Judgment on his own Oath, though his Servant that was robbed with him, knew one of the Robbers. When a Carrier is robbed of another Man's Goods, he or the Owner may sue the Hundred; but the Carrier is to give Notice, and make Oath, &c. though the Owner of the Goods brings the Action. 2 Saund. 380. Receivers General of Taxes, &c. being robbed, there must be Three in Company at least to make Oath of the Robbery to maintain an Action against the Hundred. Stat. 6 Geo. 1. If an Action against the Hundred be discontinued, on a new Action brought, there must be a new Oath taken within forty Days before the last Action brought. Sid. 139. In Action upon the Statute of Hue and Cry, the Declaration is good, though the Plaintiff doth not say, that the Justice of Peace who took the Oath lived prope locum where the Robbery was committed. Mich. 6 W. And Oath was made before a Justice of Peace of the County where the Robbery was done, in a Place of another neighbouring County; and it was held good. Cro. Car. 211. If a Justice of Peace refuses to examine a Person robbed, and to take his Oath, Action on the Statute lies against the Justice. 1 Leon. 323. It is safe to say the Plaintiff gave Notice at such a Place, near the Place where the Robbery was done; and though that Place where Notice is given be in another Hundred or County, yet it is good enough; for a Stranger may not know the Confines of the Hundred or County. Cro. Car. 41, 379. 3 Salk. 184. If there be a Mistake of the Parish in the Declaration where the Robbery was, if it be laid in the right Hundred, it is well enough. 2 Leon. 212. And though the Party puts more in his Declaration than he can prove, for so much as he can prove it shall be good. Cro. Jac. 348. Upon a Trial in these Cases, the Party must file his Original, and be sure to have a true Copy thereof, and Witnesses to prove it; and he must also have the Affidavit or Oath, and a Witness to prove the Taking it. 2 Lill. Abr. 25. In these Actions, poor Persons in a Hundred, and Servants, are good Witnesses for the Hundred; but not those Householders as are worth any Thing. 1 Mod. 73. And as Proof cannot be otherwise for the Plaintiff, he is allowed to be a Witness in his own Cause.

Hundred, (Hundredum, Centuria) Is a Part of a County, so called, because it contained ten Tithings, and a Hundred Families; or for that it found the King one Hundred able Men for his Wars. These Hundreds were first ordained by King Alfred, the 29th King of the West Saxons; who took the Form of dividing Counties into Hundreds for better Government, from the Constitution of Germany, where Centa or Centena is a Jurisdiction over an Hundred Towns; and has the Punishment of capital Crimes. After the Division of England into Counties by the aforementioned King, and the Government of each County given to a Sheriff; those Counties were subdivided into Hundreds, of which the Constable was the chief Officer: And the Grants of Hundreds at first proceeded from the King to particular Persons. 9 Co. 25. The Jurisdiction of the whole County remained to the Sheriff, until K. Ed. 2. granted some Hundreds in Fee; and all Hundreds which were not before that Time granted by the Crown in Fee, were by Statute joined to the Office of Sheriff. By the Statute 14 Ed. 3. c. 9. Hundreds which were severed from the Counties were rejoined to the same; but neither of the Statutes extend to a Grant of the King of an Hundred in Fee, with Retorna Brevium. 1 Vent. 399. 2 Nelf. Abr. 942. Hundreds it is said, are Parcel of the Crown; and by the Grant of an Hundred a Leet passes, and an implied Power of making a Bailiff to execute Process, &c. But a Hundred cannot at this Day be separated from the County except such as were granted by King Edward 3. or his Ancestors; it may not now be by Grant or Prescription, though formerly derivative out of the County. 3 Mod. 199. Our Hundreds keep the Name, and remain in some Sort the same, as originally used; but their Jurisdiction is devolved to the County Court, some few excepted, which have been by Privilege annexed to the Court, or granted to some great Subjects, and remain still in the Nature of a Franchise: This has been ever since the Statute 14 Ed. 3. whereby the Hundred Courts anciently farmed out by the Sheriff to other Men, were reduced all or the most Part to the County Court, and so continue at present; so that where there are now any Hundred Courts, they are several Franchises, wherein the Sheriff hath nothing to do by his ordinary Authority, unless they of the Hundred refuse to do their Duty. West. Symb. lib. 4. sect. 288. There were formerly Justices of Hundreds. And the Word Hundredum is sometimes taken for an Immunity or Privilege, whereby a Man is quit of Money or Customs due to the Hundreds. See Turn. Hundred chargeable for Robberies, vide Hue and Cry.

Hundredors, (Hundredarii) Are Persons serving on Juries, or fit to be impanelled thereon for Trials, dwelling within the Hundred where the Land in Question lies. Stat. 35 H. 8. c. 6. And Default of Hundredors was a Challenge or Exception to Panels of Sheriffs, by our Law; till the Stat. 4 & 5 Ann. cap. 16. ordained, that to prevent Delays by Reason of Challenges to Panels of Jurors for Default of Hundredors, &c. Writs of Venire facias for Trial of any Action in the Courts at Westminster, shall be awarded of the Body of the proper County where the Issue is triable. Hundredor also signifies him that hath the Jurisdiction of the Hundred; and is in some Places applied to the Bailiff of an Hundred. 13 Ed. 1. c. 38. 9 Ed. 2. 2 Ed. 3. Horn's Mirror, lib. 1.

Identitate nominis. Is a Writ that lies for him who is taken and arrested in any personal Action, and committed to Prison for another Man of the same Name; in such Case he may have this Writ directed to the Sheriff, which is in Nature of a Commission to inquire, whether he be the same Person against whom the Action was brought; and if not, then to discharge him. Reg. Orig. 194. F. N. B. 267. Mich. 25 H. 8. But when there are two Men of one Name, and one of them is sued without any Name of Place, or Addition to distinguish him, this Writ will not lie; and where there are Father and Son, &c. of the same Name, if there is no Addition of Junior, the Person sued is always taken for Senior, and if the Younger be taken for him, he may have False Imprisonment. Hob. 330. A Writ de Identitate Nominis, it is said, hath been allowed after Verdict and Judgment. Cro. Jac 623. It lies also for wrongfully seizing Lands or Goods of a Person outlawed, for want of a good Declaration of his Name; and Officers shall take Security, to answer the Value of what is seized, if the Party cannot discharge it, on Pain of double Damages. Stat. 37 Ed. 3. c. 2. And this Writ shall be maintainable by Executors, &c. by Stat. 9 H. 6. c. 4.

Idiot. (Lat. Idiota, Indotus) Is used in our Law, for one who is a natural Fool from his Birth. By the Statute 17 Ed. 2. c. 9. The King shall have the Custody of the Lands of an Idiot or natural Fool, taking the Profits during his Life, without committing Waste, and finding him and his Family Necessaries; and after his Death shall render the Lands to the right Heir: And the King shall also have the Custody of the Body, Goods and Chattels of an Idiot, after Office found, &c. The Custody of the Body and Goods of the Idiot are given to the King by the Common Law; as the Custody of the Lands is by the Statute de Prærogativa Regis, and the Use of them is in the King; but the Freehold is in the Idiot: If he alien his Land, the King shall have a Sciens facias against the Alienee, and reise the same into his Hands, and the Inheritance shall be vested in the Idiot; but this must be after he is found by Inquisition to be an Idiot. 13 Eliz. Dyer 302. 5 Rep. 125. It has been adjudged, that the King shall have the Profit of an Idiot's Lands only from the Time of the Inquisition; but to prevent Incumbrances made by the Idiot, it shall have Relation to the Time of his Birth. 8 Rep. 170. By his Prerogative, and Jure Protectionis sue Regis, the King hath the Lands, and it is said the sole Interest in granting the Estate of an Idiot, but not of a Lunatick: Though if a Copyholder be Idiot, his Copyhold Estate shall be ordered by the Lord; and not by the King. Co Litt. 126. Dyer 302. If a Person had once Understanding, and became a Fool by Chance or Misfortune; the King shall not have the Custody of him. Staudf.

Prærog. c. 9. 4 Rep. 124. And if one have so much Knowledge as to measure a Yard of Cloth, number twenty Pence, or rightly name the Days of the Week, or to beget a Child, &c. whereby it may appear he hath some Light of Reason, he shall not be accounted an Idiot by the Laws of the Realm. 4 Rep. Though where there was a general Finding of an Idiot, and afterwards said for so many Years, and not from his Nativity; it was held good, and that what followed was Surplusage. 3 Mod. 43. Idiots not having Understanding, are incapable to make a Will or Testament; and their Deeds, Grants and Conveyances are voidable, or may be made void: But what they do concerning Lands, &c. in a Court of Record, as Fines, Recoveries, Judgments, Statutes, &c. by them suffered and entered into, shall bind themselves, and all others claiming under them. Yet the Judges ought not to suffer an Idiot to do any such Act. 1 Inst. 247. 2 Inst. 483. 5 Rep. 111. 4 Rep. 125. 12 Rep. 124. By a late Statute Persons being Idiots, Lunaticks, or Non compos Mentis, who are seized or possessed of Estates in Fee, or for Life or Years, in Trust or by Way of Mortgage, are enabled to make Conveyances or Assignments of such Estates, in such Manner as the Lord Chancellor shall direct, on hearing of the Parties for whom such Idiots or Lunaticks shall be seized in Trust, &c. which Conveyances shall be good in Law, as if the Idiots, &c. had been of sound Mind: And they may be compelled to convey such Estates, in like Manner as other Persons. Stat. 4 Geo. 2. c. 10. If an Idiot contracts Matrimony, it will bind him, and his Issues will be legitimate: And Idiots shall be bound to pay for Necessaries. 1 Rol. Abr. 357. 2 Sid. 112. A Discent on a Disseisin, may take away the Entry of an Idiot; but after his Death his Heir may enter, &c. 4 Rep. 125. Also where an Heir is an Idiot, though of any Age, any Person may make a Tender for him. 1 Inst. 206. Idiots cannot appear by Attorney, but when they sue or defend any Action, they must appear in Person, and the Suit be in their Names, but followed by others. 2 Sid. 112, 335. Idiots, &c. ought not to be prosecuted for any Crime; because they want Knowledge to distinguish Good and Evil. 1 Inst. 247. 3 Inst. 4, 108.

Idesta inquirendo vel Examnando. Is a Writ to examine whether a Person be an Idiot. The King having the Protection of his Subjects, and the Government of their Lands who are naturally defective in their Understanding; for this Purpose the Writ de Idiota Inquirendo, &c. is issued, directed to the Sheriff to call before him the Party suspected of Idiocy, and to examine him and inquire by a Jury of twelve Men, who are to be on their Oaths, whether the Party is an Idiot, or not, viz. If he be of sufficient Understanding and Discretion to manage his Estate, or not so; and if from his Birth he hath been a perfect Idiot, by Reason whereof the Custody of his Lands and Tenements ought to belong to the King; or if by any Misfortune, he hath fell into such Infirmity, &c. and by what, &c. and of his Age, and Lands, and who holds them, &c. and when the Inquisition is taken, the Sheriff is to certify it into the Chancery: And the Party may be afterwards examined by the Lord Chancellor, &c. F. N. B. 232. Reg. Orig. 267. 9 Rep. 31.

Ides. (Idus) Are eight Days in every Month, so called; being the eight Days immediately after the Nones. In the Months of March, May, July and October, these eight Days begin at the eighth Day of the Month, and continue to the fifteenth Day: In other Months they begin at the sixth Day, and last to the Thirteenth. But it is observable, that only the last Day is called Ides, the first of these Days is the Eighth Ides, the second Day the Seventh, the Third the Sixth, i. e. the eighth, seventh, or sixth Day before the Ides; and so it is of the Rest of the Days; Wherefore when we speak of the Ides of any Month in general, it is to be taken for the Fifteenth or Thirteenth of the Month mentioned. See Calends.

Idoneum se facere, (Idoneus, used for Innocens) Is to purge himself by Oath of a Crime, whereof he is accused. Leg. H. 1. c. 75. But he is said in our Law to be Idoneus Homo, that has these three Things, Honesty, Knowledge and Ability; and if an Officer, &c. be not Idoneus, he may be discharged. 8 Rep. 41. See Presentation.

Iejunium, (Purgatio per Jejunium) We read of in the Laws of Canutus, cap. 7.

Jesfaile, Is compounded of the Fr. J'ay faille, i. e. Ego lapsus sum, and signifies an Oversight in Pleading or other Law Proceedings. It is when the Parties to any Suit have gone so far that they have joined Issue, which shall be tried, or is tried by a Jury or Inquest, and this Pleading or Issue is so badly pleaded or joined, that it will be Error if they proceed; then some of the Parties may by their Counsel shew it to the Court, as well after Verdict given and before Judgment, as before the Jury are charged; the Shewing of which Defects by the Counsel was often, when the Jury came into Court to try the Issue, by saying, This Inquest ye ought not to take; and if after Verdict, by saying, To Judgment ye ought not to go, &c. Therefore for avoiding the frequent Delays in Suits by such Suggestions, several Statutes have been made. Terms de Ley 401. If the Plaintiff in an Action declares upon a Promise to find the Plaintiff, his Wife, and two Servants with Meat and Drink for three Years, upon Request; and the Defendant pleads that he promised to find the Plaintiff and his Wife with Meat, &c. absque hoc, that he promised to find for two Servants, and the Plaintiff replies, that he did promise to find, &c. for three Years next following; Et hoc petit, &c. and thereupon a Verdict is found for the Plaintiff; yet he shall not have Judgment; for the Promise in the Replication is not the same with that in the Declaration, which was traversed by the Defendant, and so there is no Issue join'd, and therefore it is not helped by Statute. Mich. 19 & 20 Eliz. 3 Leon. 66. In an Assumpsit, the Defendant pleads Not guilty, and thereupon Issue is joined, and found for the Plaintiff; he shall have Judgment, though this is an improper Issue in this Action, for as there is a Deceit alledged, Not guilty is an Answer thereto, and it is but an Issue mis-joined, which is aided by Statute. Cro. Eliz. 407. If in Debt upon a single Bill, the Defendant pleads Payment, without an Acquittance, and Issue is join'd and found for the Plaintiff; though the Payment without Acquittance is no Plea to a single Bill, he shall have Judgment, because the Issue was joined upon an Affirmative and a Negative, and a Verdict for the Plaintiff. Mich. 37 & 38 Eliz. 5 Rep. 43. An ill Plea and Issue may be aided by the Statute of Jesfaile, after a Verdict: And if an Issue joined be uncertain and confused, a Verdict will help it. Cro. Car. 316. Hob. 113. The Statutes likewise help when there is no Original; and where there is no Bill upon the Fine, it is aided after Verdict by Statute: But when there is an Original, which is ill, that is not aided. Cro. Jac. 185, 480. Cro. Car. 282. The Statute of Jesfaile 16 & 17 Car. 2. helps a Mistrial in a proper County; but not where the County is mistaken. 1 Mod. 24. And these are the Statutes of Jesfaile, which help Errors and Defects by Mispleading in Records, Procefs, Misprisions of Clerks, &c. By 32 H. 8. c. 30. it is enacted, that if the Jury have once passed upon the Issue, though afterwards there be found a Jesfaile in the Proceedings, yet Judgment shall be given according to the Verdict. The 18 Eliz. c. 14. ordains, that after Verdict given in any Court of Record, there shall be no Stay of Judgment, or Reversal for Want of Form in a Writ, Count, Plea, &c. or for Want of any Writ original or judicial; or by Reason of insufficient Returns of Sheriffs, &c. But this is not to extend to Appeals of Felony, Indictments, &c. By the 21 Jac. 1. c. 13. if a Verdict shall be given in any Court of Record, the Judgment shall not be stayed or reversed for Variance in Form between the original Writ or Bill and the Declaration, &c. or for Want of Averment of the Party's being living, so as the Person is proved to be in Life; or for that the Venire facias is in Part mis-awarded; for Misnomer of Jurors, if prov'd to be the Persons returned; Want of Return of Writs, so as a Panel of Jurors be returned and annexed to the Writs; or for that the Return Officer's Name is not set to the Return, if Proof can be made that the Writ was returned by such Officer, &c. The Stat. 16 & 17 Car. 2. c. 8. enacts, that Judgment shall not be stayed or reversed after Verdict in the Courts of Record at Westminster, &c. for Default in Form; or for that there are not Pledges to prosecute upon the Return of the original Writ, or because the Name of the Sheriff is not returned upon it; for Default of alledging the Bringing into Court of any Bond, Bill or Deed, or of alledging or Bringing in Letters Testamentary, or of Administration; or for the Omission of Vi & Armis, or contra pacem; mistaking the Christian Name or Surname of either Party, or the Sum of Money, Day, Month or Year, &c. in any Declaration or Pleading, being rightly named in any Record, &c. preceding; nor for Want of the Averment of hoc paratus est verificare, or for not alledging prout patet per Recordum; for that there is no right Venire, if the Cause was tried by a Jury of the proper County or Place; nor any Judgment after Verdict, by Confession, Cognovit actionem, &c. shall be reversed for Want of Misericordia or Capiatur, or by Reason that either of them are entered, the one for the other, &c. But all such Defects, not being against the Right of the Matter of the Suit, or whereby the Issue or Trial are altered, shall be amended by the Judges: Though not in Suits of Appeal of Felony, Indictments, Informations on penal Statutes, which are excepted out of the Act. The 22 & 23 Car. c. 4. made this Act perpetual. By 4 & 5 Ann. c. 16. all the Statutes of Jesfaile shall extend to Judgments entered by Confession, Nil dicit, or Non sum Informatus in any Court of Record; and no such Judgment shall be reversed, nor any Judgment or Writ of Inquiry of Damages thereon shall be stayed for any Defect which would have been aided by those Statutes, if a Verdict had been given; so as there be an original Writ filed, &c. The 5 Geo. 1. c. 13. ordains, that after Verdict given, Judgment shall not be stayed or reversed for Defect in Form or Substance, in any Bill or Writ, or for Variance therein, from the Declaration or any other Proceedings. See Error.

Jetsen, Jetson, or Jetsam, (From the Fr. Jeter, i. e. ejicere) Is any Thing thrown out of a Ship, being in Danger of Wreck, and by the Waves driven to Shore. 5 Rep. 106. See Flotjam.

Jesuits,

Jesuits, &c. Born in the King's Dominions and ordained by the pretended Jurisdiction of Rome, remaining in England, or coming from beyond Sea into this Kingdom, and not submitting to some Bishop or Justice of Peace within three Days, and taking the Oaths, are guilty of High Treason; and Receivers, Aiders and Harbourners of them, are guilty of Felony. Stat. 27 Eliz. c. 2. Persons knowing Priests, Jesuits, &c. and not discovering them to a Justice of Peace, shall be fined and imprisoned. 22 Car. 22.

Jews, (Judæi) In former Times the Jews and all their Goods were at the Disposal of the Chief Lord where they lived; who had an absolute Property in them; and they might not remove to another Lord without his Leave: And we read that K. Henry 3. sold the Jews for a certain Term of Years to Earl Richard his Brother. They were distinguished from the Christians, in their Lives-time, and at their Deaths; for they wore a Badge on their outward Garments, in the Shape of a Table, and were fined if they went abroad without such Badges; and they were never buried within the Walls of any City, but without the same, and anciently not permitted to Burial in the Country. Matt. Paris. 521, 606, &c. There were particular Judges and Laws by which their Causes and Contracts were decided, and there was a Court of Justice assigned for the Jews. 4 Inst. 254. A Jew may be a Witness by our Laws, being sworn on the Old Testament. But by our ancient Books, Jews, Hereticks, &c. are adjudged out of the Statutes allowing Benefit of Clergy. 2 Hawk. P. C. 338. The 53 H. 3. is called Provisio de Judæismo; and by the Statute 18 Ed. 1. the King had a Fifteenth granted him pro expulsione Judæorum. In the 16th Year of Edw. 1. all the Jews in England were imprisoned; but they redeemed themselves for a vast Sum of Money: Notwithstanding which Anno 19. of that King, he banished them all. Stow's Surv. Lond. B. 3. p. 54. And they remained in Banishment 364 Years; till Oliver Cromwell restored them to their Trade and Worship here. Jewels. All Diamonds and other Jewels may be imported or exported without paying any Custom Duty, &c. But not to make void Duties granted the East-India Company, for Jewels brought from Places in their Limits. Stat. 6 Geo. 2. c. 7. See Jocalia.

Ignis Judicium, Purgation by Fire, or the old judicial fiery Trial.

Ignitegium, The Evening Bell to put out the Fire, in the Time of Will. 1. called The Conqueror. See Curfew.

Ignoramus, (i. e. We are ignorant) Is used by the Grand Jury impanelled on the Inquisition of Causes criminal, when they reject the Evidence as too weak or defective to make good the Presentment against a Person, so as to put him on the Trial, in which Case they write this Word on the Bill of Indictment; the Effect whereof is, that all farther Inquiry and Proceedings against that Party, for that Fault wherewith he is charged, is thereby stopped, and he is delivered without further Answer. 3 Inst. 30.

Ignorance, (Ignorantia) Which is Want of Knowledge of the Law, shall not excuse any Man from the Penalty of it. Every Person is bound at his Peril to take Notice what the Law of the Realm is; and Ignorance of it, though it be invincible, where a Man affirms that he hath done all that in him lies to know the Law, will not excuse him. Doct. & Stud. 1. 46. And an Infant of the Age of Discretion shall be punished for Crimes, though he be ignorant of the Law; but Infants of tender Age, have Ignorance by Nature to excuse them; so Persons Non Compos have Ignorance by the Hand of God. Stat. Compan. 83, 84. Though Ignorance of the Law excuseth not, Ignorance of the Fact doth: As if a Person buy a Horse or other Thing in open Market, of one that had no Property therein, and not knowing but he had Right; in that Case he hath good Title, and the Ignorance shall excuse him. Doct. & Stud. 309. But if the Party bought the Horse out of the Market; or knew the Seller had no Right, the Buying in open Market, would not have excused. Ibid. 5 Rep. 83. Also where a Man is to enter into Land, or seise Goods, &c. he must see that what he does be rightly done, or his Ignorance shall be no Excuse. Wood's Inst. 608.

Isleild Street, One of the four famous Ways that the Romans made in England. See Watling Street.

Illeivable, A Debt or Duty that cannot, or ought not to be levied; as Nihil set upon a Debt is a Mark for illeviable.

Illiterature. If an illiterate Man be to seal a Deed, he is not bound to do it, if none be present to read it, if required; and reading a Deed false, will make it void. 2 Rep. 3, 11. A Man may plead Non est factum to a Deed read false; as where a Release of an Annuity was read to an illiterate Person, as a Release of the Arrears only, &c. agreed to be released. Moor 148. If there is a Time limited for a Person to seal a Writing, in such Case Illiterature shall be no Excuse, because he might provide a skilful Man to instruct him; but when he is obliged to seal it upon Request, &c. there he shall have convenient Time to be instructed. 2 Nels. Abr. 946.

Illuminare, To illuminate, or draw in Gold and Colours the initial Letters and occasional Pictures in manuscript Books. Brompt. Anno 1076.

Imbargo, (Span. in Lat. Navium detentio) Is a Stop, Stay, or Arrest upon Ships or Merchandise, by publick Authority. Stat. 18 Car. 2. c. 5. This Arrest of Shipping is commonly of the Ships of Foreigners in Time of War and Difference with States to whom they are belonging: But by an ancient Statute, foreign Merchants in this Kingdom are to have forty Days Notice to sell their Effects and depart, on any Difference with a foreign Nation. 27 Ed. 3. c. 17. The King may grant Imbargoes on Ships, or employ the Ships of his Subjects, in Time of Danger, for the Service and Defence of the Nation; but a Warrant to stay a single Ship, on a private Account, is no legal Imbargo. Moor 892. Carth. Rep. 297. Prohibiting Commerce in the Time of War; or of Plague, Peitilence, &c. is a Kind of Imbargo on Shipping.

Imbassing of Money, (from Adultero to corrupt or mingle) Signifies to mix Species with an Alloy below the Standard of Sterling; which the King by his Prerogative may do, and yet keep it up to the same Value as before: Imbassing of it, is when 'tis raised to a higher Rate, by Proclamation. 1 Hale's Hist. P. C. 192.

Imbezle, To steal, pilfer, or purloin; or where a Person entrusted with Goods, wastes and diminishes them. The Word Imbezle is mentioned in several Statutes, particularly relating to Workers of Wool, &c. as the Stat. 7 Jac. 1. c. 1. 14 Car. 2. c. 31. and 1 Ann. By the former of which, Imbezlers of Wool, Yarn, or other Materials for making of Cloth, are to make Satisfaction, or be whipp'd and put in the Stocks; and by the latter they are to forfeit double Damages, and be committed to the House of Correction till paid, &c. By a late Statute, Persons that imbezil or illegally dispose of any Woolen, Linen, Linen, Fustian, Cotton, or Iron Materials; or Gloves, Leather, Shoes, &c. they are intrusted to work up, shall forfeit double the Value or be sent to the House of Correction, and there whipped, and kept to hard Labour fourteen Days; and for a second Offence, forfeit four times the Value, &c. And Buyers and Receivers are liable to the same Penalties. Stat. 13 Geo. 2. c. 8. If any Servant imbezils, purloins, or makes away his Master's Goods, to 40*s.* Value, it is made Felony without Benefit of Clergy, by 12 Ann. c. 7.

Immunities. King Hen. 3. by Charter granted to the Citizens of London, a general Immunity from all Tolls, &c. except Customs and Prifage of Wine. Cit. lib. 94.

Impalare, Is to put in a Pound, by the Laws of Hen. 1. c. 9.

Impanel, (Impanellare Juratis) Signifies the Writing and Entering into a Parchment Schedule by the Sheriff, of the Names of a Jury summoned to appear for the Performance of such publick Service as Juries are employed in. Impanulari was sometimes a Privilege granted that a Person should not be impanelled or returned upon a Jury.—Non Ponatur nec Impanuletur in aliquibus Juratis, &c. Paroch. Antiq. 657. See Panel.

Imparance, (Interlocutio, vel Licentia Interrogandi) Is derived from the Fr. Parker, to speak, and in the Common Law is taken for a Petition in Court of a Day to consider, or advise what Answer the Defendant shall make to the Action of the Plaintiff; being a Continuance of the Cause 'till another Day, or a larger Time given by the Court. And Imparance is either General or Special; General, when it is set down and entered in general Terms, without any special Clause, thus; and now at this Day, to wit, on Thursday next after the Octaves of St. Hillary, in this same Term, until which Day the aforesaid C. D. the Defendant had Licence to imparle to the Bill aforesaid, and then to answer, &c. Special Imparance, is where the Party desires a farther Day to answer, adding also these Words; Saving all Advantages, as well to the Jurisdiction of the Court, as to the Writ and Declaration, &c. Kitch. 200. This Imparance is had on the Declaration of the Plaintiff; and special Imparance is of Use where the Defendant is to plead some Matters which cannot be pleaded after a general Imparance. 5 Rep. 75. Imparance is generally to the next Term; and if the Plaintiff amend his Declaration after delivered or filed, the Defendant may imparl to the next Term afterwards, if the Plaintiff do not pay Costs; but if he pay Costs, which are accepted, the Defendant cannot imparl. 2 Lill. Abr. 35. Also if the Plaintiff declares against the Defendant, but doth not proceed in three Terms after; the Defendant may imparl to the next Term. Ibid. The not delivering a Declaration in Time is sometimes the Cause of Imparance of Course: And where the Defendant's Case requires a special Plea, and the Matter which is to be pleaded is difficult; the Court will, upon Motion, grant the Defendant an Imparance, and longer Time to put in his Plea, than otherwise by the Rules of the Court he ought to have: If the Plaintiff keeps any Deed, or other Thing from the Defendant, whereby he is to make his Defence, Imparance may be granted till the Plaintiff delivers it to him, or brings it into Court, and a convenient Time after to plead. Hill. 22 Car. 1. B. R. An Imparance being pray'd on a Defendant's Appearing to answer an Information, it was said Imparance was formerly from Day to Day, but now from one Term to another, on the Crown Side; and it was ruled that the Defendant should have the same Time to imparl that the Process would have taken up, if he had stood out till the Attachment or Capias; for when he comes in upon that, he must plead instante. 1 Salk. 367.

Mod. Cases 243. And if Process had been continued, he might have been brought in the same Term upon an Attachment; and then there could be no Imparance, but he ought to plead instante. 2 Nels. Abr. 947. There are many Cases wherein Imparances are not allow'd; no Imparance is granted in an Homine Replegiando; or in an Affise, unless on good Cause shewn: Nor shall there be an Imparance in Action of special Clavum fregit; though it is allowed in general Actions of Trespals. Hill 9 W. 3. 3 Salk. 186. Where an Attorney, or other privileged Person of the Court, sues another, the Defendant cannot imparl, but must plead presently: If the Plaintiff sues out a special Original, wherein the Cause of Action is expressed, and the Defendant is taken on a special Capias, he shall not have an Imparance, but shall plead as soon as the Rules are out. 2 Lill. 35, 36. As to Pleadings on Imparances; a Plea to the Jurisdiction, may not be pleaded after general Imparance. Raym. 34. After Imparance, the Defendant cannot plead in Abatement; if he doth; and the Plaintiff tenders an Issue, whereupon the Defendant demurs, and the Plaintiff joins in Demurser, such Plea is not peremptory; because the Plaintiff ought not to have joined in Demurrer, but to have moved the Court, that the Defendant might be compelled to plead in Chief. Allen 65. Though a Defendant may not plead in Abatement after a general Imparance; yet if it appear by the Record that the Plaintiff hath brought his Action before he had any Cause, the Court ex Officio will abate the Writ. 2 Lev. 197. The Defendant cannot have Oyer of a Deed in a common Case, after Imparance: And a Tender after Imparance, is naught. 2 Lev. 190. Lutw. 238. If it appears upon the Record, that an Imparance was due, and denied, it is Error; but then such Error must appear on the Record. 3 Salk. 168. It has been held, that if the Defendant doth not appear on a Dies Datus, the Plaintiff shall not have Judgment by Default, as he may on Imparance; because the Dies Datus is not so strong against him as an Imparance; and therefore the Plaintiff must take Process against the Defendant for not Appearing at the Time. Moor 79. 2 Nels. 947. By late Orders of Court, where a Defendant is arrested by Process out of B. R. in which the Cause of Action is specially expressed; or a Copy of Process is delivered, and the Plaintiff hath declared; the Defendant shall not have Liberty of Imparance, without Leave first granted, but shall plead within the Time allowed a Defendant prosecuted by original Writ. Ord. Hill. 2 Geo. 2. And upon all Processes returnable the first, or second Return of any Term, the Declaration shall be delivered with Notice to plead in eight Days after Delivery, where the Defendant lives above twenty Miles from London, &c. without any Imparance; and on Default of Pleading, the Plaintiff may sign Judgment. Ord. Cur. Trin. 5 & 6 Geo. 2.

Imparancee, (As Parson Imparancee) Is he that is inducted into and in Possession of a Benefice. See Parson.

Impeachment, (from the Lat. Impetere) Is the Accusation and Prosecution of a Person for Treason, or other Crimes and Misdemeanors. Any Member of the House of Commons may not only impeach any one of their own Body, but also any Lord of Parliament, &c. And thereupon Articles are exhibited on the Behalf of the Commons, and Managers appointed to make good their Charge and Accusation; which being done in the proper Judicature, Sentence is passed, &c. And it is observed, that the same Evidence is required in an Impeachment in Parliament, as in the ordinary Courts of Justice: But not in Bills of Attainder. State Trials, Vol. 4. 311. Vol. 1. 676. No Pardon under the Great Seal, can be pleaded to an Impeachment by the Commons in Parliament. 12 W. 3. c. 2.

Impeachment of Waste, (Impetio Vasti, from the Fr. Empeschement, i. e. Impedimentum) Signifies a Restraint from committing of Waste upon Lands or Tenements; or a Demand of Recompence for Waste done by a Tenant that hath but a particular Estate in the Land granted: But he that hath a Lease to hold without Impeachment of Waste, hath by that such an Interest given him in the Land, &c. that he may make Waste without being impeached for it; that is, without being question'd, or any Demand of Recompence for the Waste done. 11 Rep. 82.

Impediments in Law, Persons under Impediments are those within Age, under Coverture, Non compos mentis, in Prison, beyond Sea, &c. who, by a Saving in our Laws, have Time to claim and prosecute their Rights, after the Impediments removed, in Case of Fines levied, &c. 1 R. 3. c. 7. 4 H. 7. c. 24. See Stat. Limitations 21 Jac. 1.

Impediatus, Impediati Canes, Dogs lawed in the Forests. Vide Expeditus.

Imperial, A Sort of very fine Cloth. Cowel.

Impeccatus, Impeached or accused. Pat. 18 Edw. 1.

Impetration, (Impetratio) Signifies an Obtaining any Thing by Request and Prayer: And in our Statutes it is a Pre-obtaining of Church Benefices in England from the Court of Rome, which belong to the Gift and Disposition of the King, and other Lay Patrons of this Realm; the Penalty whereof was the same with Provisors. 25 Ed. 3. 38 Ed. 4. cap. 1.

Impierment, Is used for Impairing or Prejudicing; as to the Impierment and Diminution of their good Names, &c. 23 Hen. 8. c. 9.

Implead, To sue or prosecute by Course of Law; from the Fr. Plaider.

Implements, (From the Lat. Impleo, to fill up) Things of necessary Use in any Trade or Mystery, without which the Work cannot be performed; also the Furniture of an House, as all Household Goods, Implements, &c. And Implements of Household are Tables, Presses, Cupboards, Bedsteads, Wainscot, and the like: In this Sense, we find this Word often in Gifts and Conveyances of Moveables. Terms de Ley 403.

Implication, Is where the Law doth imply something that is not declared between Parties in their Deeds and Agreement: And when our Law giveth any Thing to a Man, it giveth Implicitly whatsoever is necessary for the Enjoying the same. The Want of Words in some Cases may be help'd by Implication; and so one Word or Thing, or one Estate given, shall be implied by another: And there is an Implication in Wills and Devises of Lands, whereby Estates are gained; as if a Husband devises the Goods in his House to his Wife, and that after her Decease his Son shall have them, and his House; though the House be not devised to the Wife by express Words, yet it has been held that she hath an Estate for Life in it by Implication, because no other Person could then have it, and the Son and Heir being excluded, who was to have nothing 'till after her Decease. 1 Vent. 223. But where it may be reasonably intended, that the Devisor meant as well the one as the other, in such Case his Intention shall never be construed in Prejudice to the Heir at Law: For Instance; A Man devised Part of his Lands to his Wife for Life, and that the same and all the Rest of his Lands should remain to his youngest Son, and the Heirs of his Body, after the Death of the Wife; now here was no express Devise of the Rest of the Lands to his Wife, and she shall not have them by Implication, because the eldest Son and Heir at Law was not excluded, who shall have them during the Life of the Wife, till the Devise to the youngest Son takes Effect, for they shall descend to the Heir in the mean Time. Moor 123. Though Croke, who reports the same Case, says, it was adjudged the Wife should have the Whole. Cro. Eliz. 15. Estates for Life, and Estates-tail, may be raised by Implication in Wills; a Testator had three Sons, the eldest Son dying, leaving his Wife with Child, to whom the Father devised an Annuity in Ventre sa mere, and if his middle Son died before he had any Issue of his Body, Remainder over, &c. And it was resolved, that such Son had an Estate-tail by Implication. Moor 127. It is said, a Fee simple Estate shall not arise by Implication in a Will; though there is a perpetual Charge imposed by the Devisor on the Devisee, &c. Bridgm. 103. Also it hath been adjudged, that where a particular Estate is devised by Will expressly, a contrary Intent shall not be implied by any subsequent Clause. And Implication is either necessary, or possible; and where ever an Estate is raised by that Means in a Will, it must be by a necessary Implication; for the Devisee must necessarily have the Thing devised, and no other Person whatsoever can have it. 1 Salk. 236. 2 Nelf. Abr. 494. No Implication shall be allowed against an express Estate, limited by express Words, to drown the same. Salk. 266. There are Conditions and Covenants, implied by Law in Deeds and Grants: And Implication will sometimes help Law Proceedings, and supply Defects. See Intendment and Use.

Importation, (Importatio) Is where Goods and Merchandise are brought into this Kingdom from other Nations. 12 Car. c. 4.

Impost, (Fr. from the Lat. Impono, i. e. Injungere) Is a Tribute or Custom; but more particularly that Tax which the King receives for Merchandise imported into any Port or Haven: And it may be distinguished from Customs, which are rather the Profits arising to the King from Goods exported. 3 Eliz. c. 5.

Impossibility. A Thing which is impossible in Law, is all one with a Thing impossible in Nature: And if any Thing in a Bond or Deed be impossible to be done, such Deed, &c. is void. 21 Car. 1. B. R. Yet where the Condition of a Bond becomes impossible by the Act of God, in such Case it is held the Obligor ought to do all in his Power towards a Performance: As when a Man is bound to enfeoff the Obligee and his Heirs, and the Obligee dies, the Obligor must enfeoff his Heir. 2 Co. Rep. 74.

Impress-Money, (From the Preposition In, and Fr. Press, paratus) Is Money paid at the Inliting of Soldiers.

Imprecabilis, Signifies invaluable, in which Sense it is often mentioned in Matt. Paris.

Impressment, (Fr.) A Print, or Impression; and the Art of Printing, also a Printing-houie are called Imprimery. Stat. 14 Car. 2. c. 33.

Impressi, Are those who side with, or take the Part of another, either in his Defence, or otherwise. — Omnes Homines & Impressi Domini Ludovici, &c. Matt. Westm. — Nos erimus Impressi Regis, &c. Matt. Paris. 127.

Imprisonment, (Imprisonamentum) Is a Restraint of a Man's Liberty under the Custody of another; and extends not only to a Gaol, but a House, Stocks, or where a Man is held in the Street, &c. for in all these Cases the Party so restrained is said to be a Prisoner, so long as he hath not his Liberty freely to go about his Business as at other Times. 1 Inst. 253. Imprisonment according to Law, is according to the Common or Statute Law, or the Custom of England; or by Process, and Course of Law. 2 Inst. 46, 50, 282. And no Person is to be imprisoned, but as the Law directs either by Command and Order of a Court of Record, or by lawful Warrant, or the King's Writ; by which one may be lawfully detained to answer the Law. 2 Inst. 46. 3 Inst. 209. At Common Law, a Man could not be imprisoned in any Case unless he were guilty of some Force and Violence; for which his Body was subject to Imprisonment, as one of the highest Executions of the Law: But Imprisonment is inflicted by Statute in many Cases. 3 Rep. 11. Though see Magna Chart. 9 H. 3. c. 29. When ever the Common Law, or any Statute doth give Power to imprison, there it is lawful and justifiable; but he that doth it in Pursuance of a Statute, must be sure exactly to follow the Statute in the Order and Manner of doing thereof. Dyer 204. 13 E. 11. A Justice of Peace may cause Offenders to be imprisoned; and may himself require any Man to give Security of the Peace or Good Behaviour, where he hath Cause, and if he refuse may imprison him. Bro. Tres. 177. If a Warrant of Commitment be for Imprisoning a Man until farther Order, &c. it has been held ill; for it should be till the Party is delivered by due Course of Law. 1 Roll. Rep. 337. It is the same when a Person is imprisoned on a Warrant, without shewing any Cause for which he is committed: And where a Person was committed to Prison by Warrant from a Secretary of State, without assigning any Cause, &c. it was adjudged, that he ought to be discharged for that Reason; but then another Warrant was returned of the same Secretary, in which the first Warrant was recited, and that upon farther Examination, he commanded the Gaoler to detain him safely, for Suspicion of High Treason; and it was said this was no Cause to detain him, because this second Warrant refer'd to the First, which was no Warrant at all; besides, there was no special Cause of Suspicion alledged, nor for what Species of Treason. Palm. 558. 1 Roll. Rep. 219. In all Actions Quare Vi & Armis, if Judgment be given against the Defendant, he shall be fined and imprisoned, because to every Fine Imprisonment is incident; and therefore where the Defendant is fined for a Contempt to any Court of Record, he may be imprisoned till the Fine is paid. 8 Rep. 60. In what Cases Persons imprisoned may be delivered on Bail; or by the Habeas Corpus Writ, &c. See Bail and Habeas Corpus.

Impropriation. Is properly so called when a Benefice Ecclesiastical is in the Hands of a Layman; and Appropriation, when in the Hands of a Bishop, College or Religious House, though sometimes they are confounded. There are computed to be in England 3845 Impropriations, and on the Dissolution of Monasteries they were granted to Lay Persons by the King's Patents, &c. 31 H. 8. Vide Appropriation.

Impuimentum. The Improvement of Lands. Cartular. Abbat. Glasston. MS. pag. 50.

In auter Droit. In another's Right; as where Executors or Administrators sue for a Debt or Duty, &c. of the Testator or Intestate.

Inborow and Outborow. (Sax.) The Barony belonging to Patrick, Earl of Dunbar, says Camden, was Inborow and Outborow, between England and Scotland; that is, (as he believe:) he was to allow and observe the Ingress and Regress of those Persons that travelled between the two Kingdoms; for Englishmen, in ancient Time, called an Entry, or Fore-court of a House, Inborow. Camb Britan.

Incastellare. To reduce a Thing to serve instead of a Castle; and it is often applied to Churches. — Qui post mortem Patris Ecclesiam Incastellatam retinebat. Gervas. Dorob. Anno 1144.

In casu Consumiti, & Probato. See Casu Consumiti, &c.

Incendiaries. Burning of Houses maliciously, to extort Sums of Money from those, whom the Malefactors should spare, was made Treason the first Year of King H. 6. 1 Hale's Hist. P. C. 270. The like Offences of firing Houses, and sending Letters demanding Money of Persons, &c. is Felony, by Stat. 9 Geo. 1. Vide Waltham Blacks.

Incertainty, Is that which opposeth Certainty, where a Thing is so ambiguously set down, that one cannot tell how to understand it: And this is said to be the Mother of Contention. The Questions of Incertainty arise sometimes on Matter of Record; as Writs, Counts, Pleas, Verdicts, &c. and sometimes on Deeds or Writings, or upon Contracts, &c. 5 Rep. 121. Plowd. 25. In Law Proceedings, Incertainty will make them void; for all Proceedings at Law are to be certain and affirmative, that the Defendant may be at a Certainty as to what he should answer, &c. Plowd. 84. If the Count and Verdict in an Appeal be uncertain, there can be no Judgment given thereon; and it is the same on an Indictment. 3 Mod. 121. Incertainty in Deeds renders them void; but sometimes a Term for Years granted by Lease, may be made certain by Reference to a Certainty; and Incertainty may be reduced to Certainty, by Matter ex post facto, Implication, &c. Plowd. 6, 273. 6 Rep. 20. If there are two Men of one Name, and a Devise of Lands, &c. is to one of that Name, without any Distinction, it will be void for Incertainty; though perhaps an Averment may make it good. 2 Bull. 180. Incertainty in Declarations of Uses of Fines of Lands, &c. is rejected in Law; for otherwise there would be no certain Inheritances. 9 Rep.

Incantator. (Incantator) Is he that by Charms conjures the Devil; Qui Carminibus vel Cantuunculis Demonem adjurat; And they were anciently called Carmina, by Reason in those Days their Charms were in Vers. 3 Inst. 44.

Incantress. (Incantatrix) A Woman that uses Charms and Incantations. See Conjuration.

Inchartare. Signifies to give or grant any Thing by an Instrument in Writing: Concessit ipsi Comitum Terram ipsam & inchartavit, ut Possessio sua, &c. Matt. Paris. Anno 1252.

Inch of Candle. Is the Manner of selling Goods by Merchants; which is done thus: First, Notice is to be given upon the Exchange, or other publick Place, of the Time of Sale; and in the mean Time, the Goods to be sold are divided into Lots, printed Papers of which, and the Conditions of Sale, are also forthwith published; and when the Goods are exposed to Sale, a small Piece of Wax Candle, about an Inch long, is burning, and the last Bidder when the Candle goes out, is entitled to the Lot or Parcel so exposed. If any Difference happens in adjusting to whom a Lot belongs, where several bid together, the Lot is to be put up again; and the last Bidder is bound to stand to the Bargain, and take the Lot, whether good or bad. In these Cases, the Goods are set up at such a Price; and none shall bid less than a certain Sum, more than another hath before, &c. Merch. Dict.

Incident. (Incident) Is a Thing necessarily depending upon, appertaining to, or following another that is more worthy or principal. A Court-Baron is inseparably incident to a Manor; and a Court of Piepowders to a Fair: These are so inherent to their Principals, that by the Grant of one the other is granted; and they cannot be extinct by Release, or saved by Exception, but in special Cases. Kitch. 36. 1 Inst. 151. Rent is incident to a Reversion; Timber-Trees are incident to the Freehold, and also Deeds and Charters, and a Way to Lands; Fealty is incident to Tenures; Distress to Rent and Amercement, &c. 1 Inst. 151. Tenant for Life or Years, hath incident to his Estate, Estovers of Wood. 1 Inst. 41. And there are certain Incidents to Estates-tail; as to be dispensable of Waste, to suffer a Recovery, &c. 1 Inst. 224. 10 Rep.

Rep. 38, 39. Incidents are needful to the Bene esse of that to which they are incident; and the Law is tender of them. Hob. 39, 40

Inclausa, A Home-Cloie, or Inclosure near the House. Paroch. Antiq. pag. 31.

Inclosures. The throwing down Inclosures, is an Offence punishable by our ancient Laws and Statutes 13 Ed. 1. c. 46. But if a Lord of a Manor inclose Part of the Waite or Common, and doth not leave sufficient Room for the Commoners; they may break down such Inclosure, or have Writ of Athie. 3 & 4 Ed. 6. Large Wastes or Commons in the West-Riding of the County of Yorke, with the Content of the Lords of Manors, &c. may be inclosed, a sixth Part whereof shall be for the Benefit of poor Clergymen, whose Livings are under 40 l. a Year, to be settled in Trustees, who may grant Leases for twenty-one Years, &c. Stat. 12 Ann. cap. 4.

Incompatible, Incompatibilitas Beneficiorum, Is when Benefices cannot stand one with another, if they be with Cure and of such a Value in the King's Books. Whitlock's Read. p. 4.

Incontinency, (Incontinentia) Where Persons are vitiosus, and have no Command of themselves, is a Crime that may be committed in several Cases, and there are divers Degrees thereof: As in Case of Bigamy, or having more Wives than one; Rapes of Women; Sodomy, or Buggery; getting Bastards, &c. all which are punished by Statute. See 25 H. 8. c. 6. 18 Eliz. c. 7. 1 Jac. 1. Incontinency of Priests, is punishable by the Ordinary, by Imprisonment, &c. 1 H. 7. c. 4.

Incopolitus, Is made Use of for a Proctor, or Vicar. Leg. Hen. 1.

Incrementum, Increase or Improvement; to which was opposed Decrementum or Abatement.—Reddendo antiquam firmam & de Incremento xi s. Paroch. Antiq. 164. And we read Dedi A. B. quoddam Incrementum terræ meæ apud, &c. where it is meant a Parcel of Ground inclosed out of a Common, or improved.

Incroachment, (Fr. Accroachment, i. e. a Grasping of a Thing) Signifies an unlawful Gaining upon the Right or Possession of another Man. As where a Man sets his Hedge or Wall too far into the Ground of his Neighbour, that lies next to him, he is said to make Incroachment upon him: And a Rent is said to be incroached, when the Lord by Distress or otherwise compels his Tenant to pay more than he owes; and so of Services, &c. 9 Rep. 33. And sometimes this Word is applied to Power; for the Spencers, Father and Son, it is said, incroached unto them Royal Power and Authority, Anno 1 Ed. 3. And the Admirals and their Deputies did incroach to themselves divers Jurisdictions, &c. 15 R. 2. c. 3.

Incumbent, (From the Lat. Incumbo, to mind diligently) Is a Clerk who is resident on his Benefice with Cure; and is so called, because he does or ought to bend all his Study to the Discharge of the Cure of the Church to which he belongs. Co. Litt. 119. Where an Incumbent is put out without due Process, he shall be at large to sue for his Remedy at what Time he pleaseth, &c. Stat. 4 H. 4. cap. 22. See Church.

Incurrumentum, The Incurring or being subject to a Penalty, Fine or Amercement: So Incurri alicui is to be liable to another's legal Censure or Punishment.—Statutum est quod ejusmodi Tenentes capitalibus Dominis vel Regi incurrantur. Westm. 2. cap. 37.

Indebitatus Assumpsit, Is used in Declarations and Law Proceedings, where one is indebted unto another in any certain Sum; and the Law creates it: It is also an Action thereupon. Practif. Attorn. Edit. 1. pag. 73. And it has been held, that the Action upon an Indebitatus Assumpsit lies in no Case, but where Debt will lie for the same Thing. 1 Salk. 23. See Assumpsit.

Indecimable, (Indecimabilis) That is not Tithable, or by Law ought not to pay Tithes. 2 Inst. 490.

Indefissible, Is what cannot be defiated or made void; as a good and Indefissible Estate, &c.

Indefensus, A Word signifying one that is impleaded, and refuseth to make Answer: Et predictus J. nihil seiscit dicere contra sectam dicti Richardi, nec voluit ponere se in Inquisitionem aliquam; Consideratum est quod tanquam Indefensus fit in misericordia; &c. Mich. 50 H. 3. Rot. 4.

Indemnity. On the Appropriation of a Church to any College, &c. when the Archdeacon loses for ever his Induction Money, the Recompence he receives yearly out of the Church so appropriate, as 12 d. or 2 s. more or less, as a Pension agreed at the Time of the Appropriating, is called Indemnity. MS. in Bibl. Cotton. p. 84. There is an Indemnity from Penalties; of Persons who have neglected to read the Morning and Evening Prayers, according to the Book of Common Prayer, and to subscribe the Declaration, &c. See Stat. 9 Geo. 2. c. 6.

Indenture, (Indentura) Is a Writing containing some Contract, Agreement or Conveyance between two or more Persons, being indented in the Top answerable to another Part, which hath the same Contents. Co. Litt. 229. If a Deed or Writing begins, This Indenture, &c. and is not indented, it is no Indenture; but it may work as a Deed Poll: But if the Deed is actually indented, and there are no Words importing an Indenture, it is nevertheless an Indenture in Law. Wood's Inst. 223. Cro. Eliz. 472. A Deed of Bargain and Sale of Freehold Lands, &c. must be by Indenture, inrolled, &c. Stat. 27 H. 8. cap. 16. Words in Indentures, though of one Party only, are binding to both Parties. Cro. Eliz. 202, 657.

Indicabit, Is a Writ or Prohibition that lies for a Patron of a Church, whose Clerk is sued in the Spiritual Court by another Clerk for Tithes, which do amount to a fourth Part of the Profits of the Advowson; then the Suit belongs to the King's Courts, by the Stat. Westm. 2. c. 5. And the Patron of the Defendant, being like to be prejudiced in his Church and Advowson, if the Plaintiff recovers in the Spiritual Court, hath this Means to remove it to the King's Court. Reg. Orig. 35. Old Nat. Br. 31. This Writ may be also purchased by the Parson sued; and is directed as well unto the Judge of the Court, as unto the Party Plaintiff, that they do not proceed, &c. But it is not to be had before the Defendant is libelled against in the Spiritual Court, the Copy of which ought to be produced in Chancery, before the Indicavit is granted: And this Writ must be brought before Judgment given in the Spiritual Court; for after Judgment there, the Indicavit is void. New Nat. Br. 66, 101. The Writ Indicavit doth not lie of a less Part of the Tithes, &c. than a fourth Part of the Church; if they are not so much, this being furnished by the other Party, a Consultation shall be had. Ibid. The Patron of the Clerk who is prohibited by the Indicavit, may have his Writ of Right of the Advowson of Dismes, &c.

Indico. For the encouraging the making of Indico in the British Plantations in America, by the Stat. 21 Geo. 2. c. 30. a Præmium of 6 d. per Pound is allowed on the Importation of such Indico.

Indiction, (Indictio, ab indicendo) Was the Space of fifteen Years, by which Computation Charters and publick Writings were dated at Rome; and likewise anciently in England, which we find not only in the Charters of King Edgar, but of King Hen. 3. And by this Account of Time, which began at the Dismission of the Nicene Council, every Year still increased one till it came to Fifteen; and then returned again, making the First, second Indiction, tion, &c. Dat. apud Chippenham, 18 Die Aprilis, Indictione nona, Anno Dom. 1266.

Indictment, (Indicamentum, from the Fr. Enditer, i. e. deferre nomen alicujus) Is a Bill or Declaration of Complaint drawn up in Form of Law, exhibited for some Offence criminal or penal, and preferred to a Grand Jury; upon whose Oath it is found to be true, before a Judge or others, having Power to punish or certify the Offence. Terms de Ley 293. Lambard says, an Indictment is an Accufation, at the Suit of the King, by the Oaths of Twelve Men of the same County wherein the Offence was committed, returned to inquire of all Offences in general in the County, determinable by the Court, into which they are returned, and their Finding a Bill brought before them to be true: But when such Accufation is found by a Grand Jury, without any Bill brought before them, and afterwards reduced to a formed Indictment, it is called a Presentment; and when it is found by Jurors returned to inquire of that particular Offence only which is indicted, it is properly called an Inquisition. Lamb. lib. 4. cap. 5. And by Pulton, an Indictment is an Inquisition taken and made by twelve Men, at the least, thereunto sworn, whereby they do find and present, that such a Person, of such a Place, in such a County, and of such a Degree, hath committed such a Treason, Felony, Trespass, or other Offence, against the Peace of the King, his Crown and Dignity. Pult. 169. An Indictment, by Lord Chief Justice Hale, is nothing else but a plain, brief, and certain Narrative of an Offence committed by any Person, and of those necessary Circumstances, that concur to ascertain the Fact and its Nature: And there is great Strictness required in Indictments, where Life is in Question; and therefore very nice Exceptions thereto, are of later Times allowed. 2 Hale's Hist. P. C. 168, 169. A Bill of Indictment is said to be an Accufation for this Reason; because the Jury that enquireth of the Offence, doth not receive it, until the Party that offereth the Bill appearing subscribes his Name, and offers his Oath for the Truth of it: But it differs from an Accufation in this, that the Preferrer of the Bill is not tied to the Proof of it, upon any Penalty, except there appear Conspiracy. Staundf. P. C. lib. 2. cap. 23. Although a Bill of Indictment may be preferred to a Grand Jury upon Oath, they are not bound to find the Bill, if they find Cause to the contrary; and though a Bill of Indictment be brought unto them without Oath made, they may find the Bill if they see Cause: But it is not usual to prefer a Bill unto them before Oath be first made in Court, that the Evidence they are to give unto the Grand Inquest to prove the Bill is true. Pasch. 23 Car. B. R. 2 Lill. Abr. 44. The Grand Jury are to find the Whole in a Bill, or reject it, and not find specially for Part, &c. 2 Hawk. P. C. 210. According to the Common Law, every Indictment must be found by Twelve Men at the least, every one of whom ought to be of the same County, and returned by the Sheriff, or other proper Officer, without the Nomination of any other, and to be Freemen, not under any Attainder of Felony, nor Outlaws, &c. And any one under Prosecution for a Crime, before he is indicted, may except against or challenge any of the Persons returned on the Grand Jury; as being outlawed, returned at the Instance of the Prosecutor, or not returned by the proper Officer, &c. 2 Hawk. 215. By Statute, no Indictment shall be made but by Inquest of lawful Men returned by Sheriffs, &c. 11 H. 4. cap. 2. And if a Person not returned by the Sheriff on a Grand Jury, procures his Name to be read among those of others who were actually returned, whereupon he is sworn of the Jury; he may be indicted for it and fined, and the Indictment found by such a Jury shall be void. Stat. 11 Hen. 4. cap. 9. 12 Rep. 98. 3 Inst. 33. Sheriffs had formerly Power to take Indictments; which they did by Roll inded, one Part whereof remained with the Indictors. 13 Ed. 1. and 1 Ed. 3. Justices of Peace have no Power relating to Indictments for Crimes, but what is given them by Act of Parliament: And it is said Justices of Peace in Sessions, cannot on an Indictment try and determine the Offence in one and the same Sessions in which the Offenders are indicted. Hill. 11 Car. Cro. Car. 430, 448. And Indictments before Justices of Peace, &c. may be removed into the Court of B. R. by Certiorari: But an Indictment removed by Certiorari into B. R. may be sent back again into the County or Place whence removed, if there be Cause to do it. Mich. 22 Car. Before the Stat. 3 H. 7. c. 1. it was the common Practice not to try any Man upon an Indictment of Murder, before the Year and Day were passed, to bring an Appeal, lest that Suit should be prevented: And Appeals are to be generally preferred to Indictments. 3 H. 7. 2 Hawk. 214. As an Appeal is ever the Suit of the Party; so an Indictment is always at the Suit of the King. 1 Inst. 126. And till the Statute 1 Ed. 6. if a Man had been indicted and convicted of Felony, &c. and the King had died before Judgment, no Judgment could be given, because it was at the Suit of the King; and the Authority of the Judges who should give the Judgment was determined by his Death: But by that Statute Judgment may be given in the Time of another King. 7 Rep. 29. An Indictment is the King's Suit; for that the Party who prosecutes it, is a good Witness to prove it: And no Damages can be given to the Party grieved upon an Indictment or other criminal Prosecution, unless particularly grounded on some Statute; but the Court of B. R. by the King's Privy Seal may give to the Prosecutor a third Part of the Fine assessed for any Offence; and the Fine to the King may be mitigated, in Regard to the Defendant's making Satisfaction to a Prosecutor for Costs of the Prosecution, and Damages sustained by the Injury received. 2 Hawk. 210. No Man may be put upon his Trial for a capital Offence, except on an Appeal or Indictment, or something equivalent thereto. H. P. C. 210. And all Indictments ought to be brought for Offences committed against the Common Law, or against some Statute; and not for every slight Misdemeanor. Trin. 23 Car. B. R. 2 Lill. 44. Where a Statute appoints a Penalty to be recovered by Bill, Pleint, or Information, it cannot be by Indictment, but as directed to be recovered: An Indictment will not lie where another Remedy is provided by Statute. Cro. Jac. 643. 3 Salk. 187. Indictments are for the Benefit of the Common-wealth, and the publick Good; and to be preferred for Criminal, not Civil Matters: They may be of High Treason, Petit Treason, Felony, Trespass, and in all Sorts of Pleas of the Crown; but not of Injuries of a private Nature, which do not concern the King, and the publick. 1 Inst. 126, 303. 4 Rep. 44. An Indictment lies against one for assaulting and stopping another on the Highway, being a Breach of the Peace. Hill. 22 Car. It lies for cheating a Person at Play, with false Dice, or any other Cheating: But it is not indictable for one Man to make a Fool of another, in the Case of Cheats getting Money, &c. though Action may be brought. 2 Lill. 44. 1 Salk. 479. Indictment will not lie for a private Nuisance, wherein Action on the Case only lies; and where a Person is indicted for Trespass, which is not indictable at Law, but for which Action should be had; or if a Man be indicted for scandalous Words, as Calling another Rogue, &c. such Indictments are not good; for private Injuries are to be redressed by private Actions. 2 Lill. Abr. 42. But where a Person is beaten, he may proceed for this Trespass by Indictment, or Information, as well as Action; but not both Ways. Pasch. 24 Car. B. R. And where in an Action on the Case, a Defendant justifies for Words, as calling the Plaintiff Thief, &c. if on the Trial it be found for the Defendant, Indictment may be brought forthwith to try the Plaintiff for the Felony.

Felony. Mich. 22 Car. B. R. 2 Lill. 44. By Holt Chief Justice: If a Civil Action of Trover be brought for Goods taken, after Recovery the Party may be indicted for Trespass or Felony, for the same Taking: But if the first Prosecution had been Criminal, as an Indictment for Trespass, &c. and the Crime appears to be Felony; there you cannot have Verdict or Judgment on the Indictment for Trespass till the Felony is tried, it being the inferior Offence. Mod. Caf. 77. And 'tis said that Trover lies not for Goods stolen, until the Offender is convicted, &c. on Indictment of Felony. 1 Hale's Hist. P. C. 546. A Parson may be indicted for Preaching against the Government of the Church, the Civil and Ecclesiastical Government being so incorporated together, that one cannot subsist without the other; and both centre in the King; wherefore to speak against the Church, is within the Statute 13 Car. 2. Sid. 69. 2 Nelf. Abr. 959. And a Parson was indicted for pronouncing Absolution to Persons condemned for Treason, at the Place of Execution, without shewing any Repentance. 5 Mod. 363. Also a Parson hath been indicted, and fined, &c. for Drinking Healths to the Memory of Traitors. 3 Mod. Rep. 52. Indictments ought to be more certain than common Pleadings in Law, because they are more penal, and to be more precisely answered unto. Hill. 23 Car. B. R. They must be precise and certain in every Point, and charge some Offence in particular, and not a Person as an Offender in general, or set down Goods, &c. stolen, without expressing what Goods; and it ought to be laid positively, not by Way of Recital, &c. or be supplied by Implication. Cro. Jac. 19. 2 Hawk. P. C. 225, 226. Indictments must set forth the Christian Name, Surname, and Addition of the Place of Residence of the Offender; the Certainty of the Time when the Offence was done, as the Day, Year, &c. and the Town or Place where; the Nature of the Offence; whether Treason, Felony, &c. and the Value of the Thing by which it is committed, &c. And in Indictment of Murder, the Length and Depth of the Wound is to be expressed: The Value of Things stolen is to be specified, that it may appear whether Grand or Petit Larceny; and of the Thing that does the Felony, which is forfeited to the King; and the Dimensions of a Wound must be expressed, that it may be judged whether mortal. 1 Hen. 5. cap. 5. 2 Inst. 318. H. P. C. 264. Wiff's Symb. Sect. 70. In Treason, according to our old Books, the Indictment must say Proditorie, and conclude contra Libertatem suam debitam; in Murder, it is to say Murdravit; and if the Killing was by Shooting, or with the Hand, &c. it must say Percussit; in Burglary, Burglariter, or Burgulariter; in Rape, Rapuit; in Felony, Felonice; in Larceny, Felonice cepit; Mohem, Mayhemavit, &c. And in all these Cases, and in Trespasses, the Indictment ought to be Vi & Armis, and conclude contra pacem, which are Words to shew an Offence generally; and if the Offence is created by Statute, it must conclude contra formam Statuti, &c. 4 Rep. 39, 48. 5 Rep. 121. H. P. C. 206. These Words the Law hath appropriated for the Description of Offences, and none other will supply them: But the Omission of Vi & Armis & contra pacem, is helped by Statute 4 & 5 Ann. False Latin, in the former Course of Proceedings, did not hurt an Indictment, if by any Intendment it could be made good; but if any Word was not Latin, or allowed by Law as a Word of Art; or if it had been insensible in a Point material, the Indictment was insufficient. 5 Rep. 121. 2 Cro. 108. 3 Cro. 465. An Indictment should not be set aside for a false Concord between the Substantive and Adjective, &c. the Expressions being significant to make the Sense appear. 5 Co. Rep. 121. But an Indictment against Two or more, laying the Fact in the singular Number, as if against one, hath been held insufficient for the Incertainty. 2 Hawk. 238. A Misnomer of the Defendant's Surname, will not abate the Indictment, as it will in Case of the Name of Baptism; and if there be a Mistake in Spelling, if it sounds like the true Name, it is good. 1 Hen. 5. A Person may be indicted for Felony against an unknown Person; and when the Name of one killed is unknown, or Goods are stolen from a Person that cannot be known, it is sufficient to lay in the Indictment that one unknown was killed by the Person indicted, or that he stole the Goods of one unknown. Wood's Inst. 624. But though an Indictment may be good for stealing the Goods cujusdam ignoti, of a Person unknown, yet a Property must be proved in some Body at the Trial; otherwise it shall be presumed to be in the Prisoner by his pleading Not guilty. Mod. Caf. in L. & E. 249. Where a Person injured is known, his Name ought to be put into the Indictment. 2 Hawk. 232. If an Indictment be generally of Offences at several Times, without laying any one of them on a certain Day; as if it be laid between such a Day and such a Day, it hath been adjudged that the Indictment is void: But a Mistake in not laying an Offence on the very same Day, on which it is afterwards proved upon the Trial, is not material upon Evidence. 2 Hawk. 236. And it is said, the Crown is not bound to set forth the very Day, when Treason, &c. was committed: Evidence may be given of a treasonable Conspiracy, &c. at any Time before or after the Time alledged in the Indictment; where it is laid on such a Day and divers other Days as well before as after, because the Time is only a Circumstance, and of Form some Day must be alledged; but it is not material. 1 Salk. 288. If no Town or Place be named where the Fact was done, the Indictment shall be void; though a Mistake of the Place in laying the Offence, is of no Signification on the Evidence, if the Fact is proved at some other Place in the same County. H. P. C. 264. 1 Hen. 5. cap. 5. Indictments for Facts committed ought to be laid in the County where done; and the Town or Parish in which committed to be set forth, &c. And if upon Not guilty pleaded to an Indictment, it shall appear that the Offence was done in a County different from that in which the Indictment was found, the Defendant shall be acquitted. H. P. C. 203. Kel. 15. At Common Law, if a Man had died in one County of a Wound received in another, he could not regularly be indicted in either County, the Offence not being compleat in either; and no Jury could inquire of what happened out of the Limits of their own County: But by the Statute 3 Ed. 6. cap. 24. the Offence is to be indicted and tried by Jurors of the County where the Death happens. 2 Hawk. 220. It has been held, if a Person steals Goods in one County, and carries them into another, he may be indicted in the other County: And if a Person steals my Goods from another, who had stolen them before, he may be indicted as having stolen them from me, because in Judgment of Law, the Possession as well as Property always continued in me. 1 Hawk. 90. If there be an Accessary in one County, to a Felony committed in another, the Accessary may be indicted and tried in the same County wherein he was Accessary. Stat. 2 & 3 Ed. 6. Husband and Wife may commit a Trespass, Felony, &c. and be indicted together; so for keeping a Bawdy-house, though the House be the Husband's. Hob. 95. 1 Salk. 382. If an Offence wholly arises from any joint Act that is criminal of several Defendants, they may be all charged in one Indictment jointly and severally, or jointly only; and some of the Defendants may be convicted, and others acquitted; for the Law looks on the Charge as several against each, though the Words of it purport a joint Charge against all: In other Cases, the Offences of several Persons must be laid several, because the Offence of one cannot be the Offence of another; and every Man ought to answer severally for his own Crime. 2 Hawk. 240. A Person cannot be indicted barely of Suspicion of Felony; but of the Crime itself: And three Offences may be joined in an Indictment, and the Party convicted of one Offence, though he is found Not guilty of the others. 1 Hale's Hist. P. C. 561, 610. On penal Statutes, several Things shall not be joined in the Indictment, &c. except it be in Respect of some one Thing, to which all of them have Relation. 2 Hawk. 241. When an Indictment is drawn upon a Statute, it ought to pursue the Words of it, if a private Act; but it is otherwise on a general Statute: It is best not to recite a publick Statute; the Recital is not necessary, for the Judges are bound ex Officio to take Notice of all publick Statutes, and Mis-recitals are fatal; so that it is the surest Way only to conclude generally Contra formam Statuti, &c. 4 Rep. 48. Though there be no Necessity to recite a publick Statute in an Indictment, yet if the Profecutor take upon him to do it, and materially vary from the substantial Part of the Purview of the Statute, and conclude Contra formam Statuti, prædicti, he vitiates the Indictment. Plov. d. 79, 83. Cro. Eliz. 236. But many Mis-recitals may be salved by a general Conclusion Contra formam Statuti, without adding prædicti, &c. And Mistakes may be helped by the constant Course of Precedents upon such Statutes. 2 Hawk. 247. An Indictment is to bring the Fact making an Offence, within all the material Words of the Statute, or the Words, Contra formam Statuti, will not make it good. Ibid. 249. If a Word of Substance be omitted in the Indictment, the whole Indictment is naught; but it is otherwise where a Word of Form is omitted, or there is an Omission of a synonymous Word, where the Sense is the same, &c. Ibid. 246. Judgment shall not be given by Statute, upon an Indictment which doth not conclude contra formam Statuti: And Judgment by Statute shall never be given on an Indictment at Common Law, as every Indictment which doth not thus conclude shall be taken to be. 2 Hawk. 251. But where Persons are indicted on the Statute of Stabbing, and the Evidence is not sufficient to bring them within the Statute; they may be found Guilty of general Manslaughter at Common Law, and the Words contra formam Statuti, be rejected as useless: In some other Cases the same has been also adjudged; though formerly it was held, that an Indictment grounded on a Statute, which would not maintain it, could not in any Case be maintained as an Indictment at Common Law. Ibid. Indictments may be amended the same Term wherein brought into Court, and not after: But criminal Profecutions are not within the Benefit of the Statutes of Amendments; so that no Amendment can be made to an Indictment, &c. but such only as is allowed by the Common Law. 2 Lill. 45. 2 Hawk. 244. The Body of a Bill of Indictment removed into B. R. may not be amended, except from London where a Tenor only of the Record is removed; though the Caption of an Indictment from any Place may, on Motion, be amended by the Clerk of the Assises, &c. so as to make it agree with the original Record. Ibid. And Captions of Indictments ought to set forth the Court in which, and the Jurors by whom, and also the Time and Place, at which the Indictment was found; and that the Jurors were of the County, City, &c. Also they must shew that the Indictment was taken before such a Court as had Jurisdiction over the Offence indicted. 2 Hawk. 253. While the Jury who found a Bill of Indictment is before the Court, it may be amended by their Consent in Matter of Form, the Name, or Addition of the Party, &c. Kel. 37. Clerks of the Assise and of the Peace, &c. drawing defective Bills of Indictments, shall draw new Bills without Fee, and take but 2 s. for drawing any Indictment against a Felon, &c. on Pain of forfeiting 5 l. Stat. 10 & 11 W. 3. cap. 23. If one material Part of an Indictment is repugnant to or inconsistent with another, the Whole is void; but where the Sense is plain, the Court will dispence with a small Impropriety in the Expression. Ibid. 228, 229. And many Objections to Indictments, are over-ruled. 5 Rep. 120. Where an Indictment is void for Insufficiency; or if the Trial is in a wrong County, another Indictment may be drawn for the same Offence, whereby the Insufficiency may be cured; and the Indictment may be laid in another County, 'tis said, though Judgment be given. 4 Rep. 40. H. P. C. 244. By the Common Law, the Court may quash any Indictment for Insufficiency, as will make the Judgment thereon erroneous: But the Court may refuse to quash an Indictment preferred for the publick Good, though it be not a good Indictment, and put the Party to traverse or plead to it. Mich. 22 Car. B. R. Also the Court will grant Time for the King's Counsel to maintain an Indictment, if they desire it. Judges are not bound ex debito Justitiæ to quash an Indictment; but may oblige the Defendant either to plead or demur to it; and where Indictments are not good, the Parties indicted may avoid them by Pleading. 2 Lill. 42. 2 Hawk. 258. The Court doth not usually quash Indictments for Forgery, Perjury, and Nulances, notwithstanding the Indictments are faulty; and it is against the Course of the Court to quash an Indictment for Extortion. 2 Lill. 41. 5 Mod. 31. If an Indictment be good in Part, though the other Part of it is naught, the Court will not quash it; for if an Offence sufficient to maintain the Indictment be well laid, 'tis good enough, although other Facts are ill laid. Latch 173. Popb. 208. 1 Salk. 384. One that is convicted upon an erroneous Indictment, cannot after the Conviction move to have the Indictment quashed; but must bring his Writ of Error to reverse the Judgment given against him upon the Indictment. Mich. 22 Car. B. R. An Indictment is quashed for the Insufficiency in it; or because no good Judgment can be given upon it: But if Judgment be given upon an erroneous Indictment, it is good against the Party till reversed by Writ of Error. 2 Lill. 43. If the Party indicted is outlawed upon the Indictment, the Court will not quash the Indictment, though erroneous; but will force the Party outlawed to bring his Writ of Error to reverse the Outlawry. Mich. 24 Car. B. R. The Stat. 7 W. 3. cap. 3. ordains, That no Indictment for Treason, &c. or any Process thereon, shall be quashed, on Motion of the Prisoner, or his Counsel, for Mis-writing, false Latin, &c. unless Exception be made before Evidence given in Court; nor shall any such Defect, &c. after Conviction, be Cause to arrest Judgment; though any Judgment given upon such Indictment may be reversed on a Writ of Error, &c. By the Statute of Hen. 5. Indictments shall abate for Omissions, by the Exception of the Party; and if no Advantage be taken by Exception, but he appears and pleads, he loses the Benefit of the Law. 2 Inst. 670. A Person indicted of Felony, &c. may plead generally Misnomer, or wrongful Addition; a former Acquittal or Conviction; a Pardon, or other special Plea; or the General Issue; or may plead any Plea in Abatement of the Indictment, &c. 2 Hawk. 259. One indicted for Felony may have Counsel assigned him to speak for him in Matter of Law only. 2 Lill. 44. And all Persons indicted for High Treason, shall have a Copy of the Indictment before Trial, to advise with Counsel. &c. And such Indictments are to be found in three Years after the Offence committed, except it be against the King's Person. 7 W. 3. Persons indicted of Treason must be by the Oaths of two Witnesses; but in other Cases one Witness is enough. After a Person

Person is indicted for Felony, the Sheriff is commanded to attach his Body by a Capias; and on Return of a Non est Inventus, a second Capias shall be granted, and the Sheriff is to seize the Offender's Chattels, &c. And if on that Writ a Non est Inventus is returned, an Exigent shall be awarded, and the Chattels be forfeited, &c. Stat. 25 Ed. 3. If an innocent Person be indicted of Felony, and will not suffer himself to be arrested by the Officer who has a Warrant for it, he may be killed by the Officer, if he cannot be otherwise taken; for there is a Charge against him upon Record, to which at his Peril he is bound to answer. Fitz. Coron. 179, 261. A Person may be indicted twice at the same Time, where he hath committed two Felonies, and if he hath his Clergy for one, he may be hanged for the other. Kel. 30. And if there is an Indictment and Inquisition against one for the same Offence, one found by the Coroner's Inquest, and another by the Grand Jury, he may be tried on both at the same Time: But if he be tried and acquitted upon the one, it may be pleaded in Bar on Trial for the other. Kel. 108. 1 Salk. 382. An Indictment being found in the proper County, may be heard and determined in any other County, by special Commission. 3 Inst. 27. When a Person is convicted upon an Indictment for Trespass or Misdemeanor, he is to appear in Court, on Judgment pronounced; and the Court having set a Fine upon him, will commit him in Execution, &c. 2 Lill. Abr. 41. Forms of Indictments, see Murder, Felony, Burglary, &c.

Indictor, Is he that indicteth another Man for any Offence; and Indictus is the Party that is indicted. 1 Ed. 3. cap. 11. 21 Jac. 1. c. 8.

Indorsement, (Indorsamentum) Signifies any Thing written on the Backside of a Deed; and Receipts for Consideration Money, and the Sealing and Delivery, &c. on the Back of Deeds, are called Indorsements. West's Symb. par. 2. sect. 157. On Sealing of a Bond any Thing may be indorsed or subscribed upon the Back thereof, as Part of the Condition, and the Indorsement and that shall stand together. Moor 679. There is also an Indorsement of Bills or Notes, of what Part thereof is paid, and when, &c. And in another Sense it is a Writing a Man's Name only on the Backside of Bills of Exchange, which passing from one Man to another, all the Indorsers are answerable as well as the Drawer. 3 & 4 Ann. c. 9.

Inducement, Is what is alledged as a Motive or Incitement to a Thing; and in Law is used specially in several Cases, viz. there is Inducement to Actions, to a Traverse in Pleadings, a Fact or Offence committed, &c. Inducements to Actions need not have so much Certainty as in other Cases: A general Indebitatus is not sufficient, where it is the Ground of the Action; but where it is but the Inducement to the Action, as in Consideration of forbearing a Debt till such a Day, (for that the Parties are agreed upon the Debt) this being but a collateral Promise, is good without shewing how due. Cro. Jac. 548. 2 Mod. 70. A Man ought to induce his Traverse when he denies the Title of another, because he should not deny it till he shew some colourable Title in himself; for if the Title traversed be found naught, and no Colour of Right appears for him who traversed, there can be no Judgment given: But an Inducement cannot be traversed, because that would be a Traverse after a Traverse, and quitting a Man's own Pretence of Title, and falling upon another. Cro. 265, 266. 3 Salk. 357. An Inducement to a Traverse must be such Matter as is good and justifiable in Law. Cro. Eliz. 829. There is an Inducement to a Justification, when what is alledged against it is not to the Substance of the Plea, &c. Cro. Jac. 138. Moor 847. 2 Nels. Abr. 986.

Induction, (Inductio, i. e. a Leading into) Is the Giving a Parson Possession of his Church: And after the Bishop hath granted Institution, he issues out his Mandate to the Archdeacon to induct the Clerk, who thereupon either does it personally, or usually commissions some neighbouring Clergyman for that Purpose; which is compared to Livery and Seisin, as it is a Putting the Minister in actual Possession of the Church, and of the Glebe Lands, which are the Temporalities of it. This Induction is done in the following Manner: One of the Clergymen commissioned takes the Person to be inducted by the Hand, lays it on the Key of the Church, and pronounces these Words: By Virtue of this Commission, I induct you into the real and actual Possession of the Rectory of, &c. with all its Appurtenances. Then he opens the Church door, and puts the Parson into Possession thereof, who commonly tolls a Bell, &c. and thereby shews and gives Notice to the People that he hath taken corporal Possession of the said Church: If the Key of the Church door cannot be had, the Clerk to be inducted may lay his Hand on the Ring of the Door, the Latch of the Church-Gate, on the Church-Wall, &c. and either of these are sufficient: Also Induction may be made by Delivery of a Clod, or Turf of the Glebe, &c. Countr. Pars. Compan. 21, 22. Ordinarily the Bishop is to direct his Mandate to the Archdeacon, as being the Person who ought to induct or give Possession unto the Clerks instituted to any Churches within his Archdeaconry: But 'tis said, the Bishop may direct his Mandate to any other Clergyman to make Induction. 38 Ed. 3. cap. 3. And by Prescription, others as well as Archdeacons may make Inductions. Pars. Counsel. 8. An Induction made by the Patron of the Church, is void; but Bishops and Archdeacons may induct a Clerk to the Benefices of which they are Patrons, by Prescription, &c. 11 Hen. 4. The Dean and Chapter of Cathedral Churches are to induct Prebends; though it hath been held, if the Bishop doth induct a Prebend, it may be good at the Common Law. 11 Hen. 4. 7. 11 Hen. 6. In some Places a Prebend shall be in Possession without any Induction; as at Westminster, where the King makes Collation by his Letters Patent. If the King grants one of his free Chapels, the Grantee shall be put in Possession by the Sheriff of the County, and not by the Bishop: And no Induction is necessary to a Donative, where the Patron by Donation in Writing puts the Clerk into Possession, without Presentation, &c. 11 Hen. 4. If the Authority of the Person who made the Mandate for Induction, determines by Death or Removal, before the Clerk is inducted, the Induction afterwards will be void; as where before it is executed, a new Bishop is consecrated, &c. But if the Archbishop, during the Vacancy of a See, as Guardian of the Spiritualities, issue a Mandate to induct a Clerk to a Church, it is good though not executed before there is a new Bishop. 2 Lev. 199. 1 Ventr. 309. Induction is a temporal Act; and if the Archdeacon refuse to induct a Parson, or to grant a Commission to others to do it, Action of the Case lies against him, on which Damages shall be recovered; and he may likewise be compelled by Sentence in the Ecclesiastical Court to induct the Clerk, and shall answer the Contempt. 12 Rep. 128. It is Induction makes the Parson compleat Incumbent, and settles and and fixes the Freehold in him; and a Church is full by Induction, which cannot be avoided but by Quare Impedit at Common Law. 4 Rep. 79. 2 Plowd. 529. Hob. 15. A Bishop sued in the Court of Audience, to repeal an Institution, after Induction had, and a Prohibition was granted; because an Institution is not examinable in the Spiritual Court after Induction, but then a Quare Impedit lies. Moor 860. 'Tis not the Admission and Institution, but Induction to a second Benefice, which makes the first void, in Case of Pluralities, &c. Moor 12.

In esse, Is any Thing in Being; and the Learned make this Distinction between Things in esse and in posse; as a Thing that is not, but may be, they say is in posse or in potentia; but what is apparent and visible, they alledge is in esse, viz. that it has a real Being, whereas the other is casual, and but a Possibility. A Child before he is born or conceived, is a Thing in posse; after he is born, he is said to be in esse, or actual Being. The Words in esse are mentioned in the Statute 21 Jac. 1. cap. 2. And where there must be Persons in esse, to take by Grants, &c. See Grants and Wills.

Infalifatio, Was an ancient Punishment of Felons, by throwing them among the Rocks and Sands, customarily used in Port-Towns. It is the Opinion of some Writers, that Infalifatus did imply some capital Punishment, by exposing the Malefactor upon the Sands, till the next Tide carried him away; of which Custom it is said there is an old Tradition; however the Penalty seems to take Name from the Norman Falese or Falsia, which signified not only the Sands, but rather the Rocks and Cliffs adjoining; or impending on the Sea-shore. Mon. Aug. Jour. 2. pag. 165. — *Commisit Feloniam ob quam fuit suspensus, utlagatus, vel alio modo morti damnatus, &c. vel apud Dover Infalifatus, apud Southampton submersus, &c. Infamy, Which extends to Forgery, Perjury, Gross Cheats, &c. disables a Man to be a Witness, or Juror; but a Pardon of Crimes restores a Person's Credit to make him a good Evidence. 2 Hawk. P. C. 432, 433. Judgment of the Pillory makes Infamy by the Common Law; but by the Civil and Canon Law, if the Cause for which the Person was convicted was not infamous, it infers no Infamy. 3 Lev. 426.

Infangthef, Infangenetheof, (From the Saxon Fang or Fangen, i. e. capere, and Tbesf, Fur) Signifies a Privilege or Liberty granted unto Lords of certain Manors, to judge any Thief taken within their Fee. Braut. lib. 3. cap. 35. In some ancient Charters, it appears that the Thief should be taken in the Lordship, and with the Goods stolen, otherwise the Lord had not Jurisdiction to try him in his Court; though by the Laws of King Edward the Confessor, he was not restrained to his own People or Tenants, but might try any Man who was thus taken in his Manor: 'Tis true afterwards, the Word Infangthef signified Latro captus in terra alicujus feitus de aliquo Latrocinio, de suis propriis hominibus. 1 & 2 P. & M. c. 15. The Franchises of Infangthef and Outfangthef, to be heard and determined in Court-Bafons, are antiquated, and gone long since. 2 Inst. 31.

Infant, (Infans) In our Law is a Person under twenty-one Years of Age, whose Acts are in many Cases either void, or voidable. 1 Inst. 171. All Gifts, Grants, &c. of an Infant, which do not take Effect by Delivery of his Hand, are void; and if made to take Effect by Delivery of his own Hand, are voidable by himself, and his Heirs, and those which shall have his Estate. 8 Rep. 44. Where an Infant makes a Deed and delivers it within Age, though he afterwards delivers it again at full Age, this second Delivery and Deed are void; for the Deed must take Effect from the first Delivery. 3 Rep. 35. If an Infant bargain and sell Lands by Deed indented and inrolled, he may avoid it. 2 Inst. 673. And if an Infant makes a Feoffment, he may enter and avoid it; and if he dies, his Heir may enter, or have a Dum fuit infra Etatem, &c. 1 Inst. 247, 248. An Infant seized in Fee makes a Feoffment and dies, his Heir shall enter; and it is the same if seized in Tail Male. 8 Rep. 42. And Privies in Blood, as the Heir general or special, may avoid a Conveyance made by their Ancestor during his Infancy. Ibid. But Privies in Estate, such as the Donor of an Estate tail where the Tenant in Tail dies without Issue; or Privies in Law, as the Lord by Escheat where there is no Heir, shall not avoid a Conveyance made by an Infant. 8 Rep. 43, 44. If a Man within Age seized in Right of his Wife, makes a Feoffment and dies, his Heir cannot enter and avoid it, because no Right descends to him; for the Baron, if he had lived, could have entered only in Right of his Wife. 8 Rep. 43. And no Person shall take Advantage of the Infancy of his Ancestor, but he that hath a Right descending to him from that Ancestor; though the Heir may take the Benefit of a Condition, notwithstanding no Right descended to him from his Ancestors. 8 Rep. 44. If Husband and Wife are both within Age, and they by Indenture join in a Feoffment, and the Husband dies, the Wife may enter and avoid the Deed, or have a Dum fuit infra Etatem. 1 Inst. 337. Though if there be two Joint-tenants within Age, and one of them makes a Feoffment in Fee of the Moiety during his Infancy, and dies, the Survivor cannot enter; but the Feoffor of the Esfeor may enter into the Moiety, &c. 8 Rep. 43. If an Infant exchanges Lands with another, and the other enters, the Infant may have Assise. 18 Ed. 4. 2. And where an Infant leases for Years, he may affirm the Lease, or bring Trespass against the Lessee for the Occupation. 18 Ed. 4. Bra. Trespas 338. A Lease made by an Infant reserving Rent, is voidable; but if there be no Rendering Rent, it is absolutely void. Litch 199. If an Infant makes a Lease paying Rent, and after his coming of Age he accepts the Rent, the voidable Lease is made good; and an Infant's Lease in Ejectment is good. 2 Lill. Abr. 55. 3 Salk. 196. A Lease made to an Infant may be avoided by waving the Land before the Rent-Day: But if where a Lease for Years is made to an Infant, rendering Rent, after the Infant's coming of full Age he continues the Possession of the Land, this will make him chargeable with the Rent incurred during his Infancy. Cro. Jac. 320. An Infant cannot surrender a future Interest, by taking a new Lease; his Surrender by Deed and by Acceptance of a second Lease, are void, except there be an Increase of the Term; or a Decrease of the Rent; for where there is no Benefit comes to him, his Acts are merely void. Cro. Car. 502. If an Infant surrenders a Lease for Years to him in Reversion, this is void, and cannot be made good by any Agreement at full Age. Roll. Abr. 728. An Infant may purchase, being intended for his Benefit; yet at his full Age he may confirm, or avoid it, by Agreement or otherwise; and if he agrees not when at Age; his Heirs after him, may disagree to the same. 1 Inst. 2, 172. An Infant's Feoffment, or other Deed, may be avoided by Plea or Entry, after or before he is of full Age; but his Acts on Record, as his Fine levied, Recovery suffered, or Statute acknowledged, must be avoided by Matter of Record, viz. by Writ of Error, or Audita Querela, during his Minority. 3 Salk. 196. 1 Inst. 380. An Infant confessed Judgment in an Action of Debt brought against him; and it was held, Audita Querela did not lie upon this Judgment, though it would on a Statute or Recognizance; but the Party ought to bring a Writ of Error in the Exchequer Chamber, by Virtue of the Statute 27 Eliz. Moor 460. Infants ought not to be received to levy Fines, though if they they are admitted, their Fines are good and unavoidable, unless reversed during their Minority. 1 Inst. 233. If an Infant levy a Fine before the Justices, and the Cognisees will not have it ingrossed till after he is of Age; on producing a Note of the Caption, his Age may be examined; whereupon he may bring Writ of Error. Moor 189. But where an Infant may levy a Fine, he may declare the Uses of it also by Deed: And the Infant's Declaration of Uses, shall be good and binding to the Infant and his Heirs, so long as the Fine continues unreversed. Hob. 224. 2 Leon. 193. 2 Rep. 58. 10 Rep. 42. It was held formerly that an Infant appearing by Guardian, could not suffer a Common Recovery. 10 Rep. 42. Though since it hath been allowed in many Cases, and by all the Judges, that an Infant may suffer a Common Recovery by Guardian, and he shall not avoid it; for by Intendment he shall have Recompence in Value; and if it is not for the Good of the Infant, he may have Recompence over against his Guardian. 2 Danv. Abr. 772. A Common Recovery may be had against an Infant, being examined sole & secreta; and he may suffer a Recovery by Guardian in open Court. Hob. 169. 2 Bull. 255. 2 Nelf. Abr. 994. A Recovery was suffered by an Infant by his Guardian. 1 Leon. It has been agreed, that if an Infant appear by Guardian, and suffer a Common Recovery, it shall not be reversed for Error: But if he appear by Attorney, and suffer a Recovery, it is otherwise; for in such Case he may reverse it by Error when of full Age, because it may be tried by a Jury whether he was an Infant when he made the Letter of Attorney, or not; whereas in the other Case it must appear by Inspection, which cannot be after full Age. Sid. 321. 2 Nelf. 995. A Recovery or Judgment by Default against an Infant, is erroneous; but the Infant must reverse it by Writ of Error during his Minority. Wood's Inst. 605. And if the Default be after Appearance, the Judgment shall not be reversed. Dyer 104. If an Infant appears by Attorney, and not by Guardian, it is Error; for which a Judgment may be reversed. 2 Nelf. 998. But if an Infant appearing per Guardianum comes of Age pending the Suit, he may then plead per Attoratum. Moor 665. An Infant is to sue by Prochein Amy, or Guardian; but always defend by Guardian. 1 Inst. 135. He is not to appear by Attorney in his own Right; but if he be joint Executor with others of Age, they may make an Attorney for him: Resolved where three Executors brought an Action by Attorney, one being within Age. 2 Saund. 242. Though it was lately adjudged, that an Infant may neither sue nor be sued as Executor by Attorney; for the Infant's Disability is adherent to his Person, and he has no Power to make an Attorney in any Case, who would not be answerable to him. Fitzgib. 1; 2. Mich. 1 Geo. 2. And it hath been held, if an Action be brought against three several Defendants, and one of them is an Infant, they may not all appear by Attorney; but he within Age must appear by Guardian, or it will be Error to reverse the Judgment. Syde 400. 1 Dev. 294. If Baron and Feme, where the Feme is an Infant, appear by Attorney, it is Error. 5 Mod. 209. When the Defendant in an Action is an Infant, the Plaintiff shall have six Years to bring his Action in after the Defendant comes of Age: And if the Plaintiff be an Infant, he hath six Years likewise after his Age to sue by the Statute of Limitations. Lutw. 243. And Infants are not bound by Nonclaim, &c. on Fines levied by others, within five Years, by the Stat. 13 Ed. 1. Nonclaim shall not bind an Infant, nor any Negligence, &c. be imputed to him; except in some particular Cases, viz. in Case of a Fine where the Time begins in the Life of the Ancestor; or of an Appeal of Death of his Ancestor, where he brings not his Appeal within a Year and a Day, &c. 1 Inst. 246, 380. Wood's Inst. 13. Laches shall prejudice an Infant, if he presents not to a Church in six Months. Litt. 402. All Acts of Necessity bind Infants; as Presentations to Benefices, Admittances and Grants of Copyhold Estates, and Assenting to Legacies, &c. 3 Salk. 196. Conditions annexed to Lands, whether the Estate come by Grant or Discent, bind Infants: And where the Estate of an Infant is upon Condition to be performed by the Infant, if the Condition is broken during the Minority, the Land is lost for ever. 1 Inst. 233, 380. Though a Statute is not extendible against an Infant, yet Chancery will give Relief against Infants. 1 Lev. 198. And by Statute 7 Ann. c. 19. Infants seized of Estates in Fee in Trust, or in Mortgage, on Petition of the Person for whom the Infant is seized in Trust, or the Mortgagee, &c. by Order of the Court of Chancery, may make Conveyances of such Estates, as Trustees or Mortgagees of full Age. An Infant is much favoured by the Law; and therefore it doth give him many Privileges above others: If an Infant make Default in a real Action, he shall not lose his Land, as another Man shall do; one who is an Infant shall not be amerced, nor find Pledges like one of full Age; and if he be Bail, he may be discharged by Audita Querela, &c. 1 Inst. 272. 8 Rep. 61. On his Default at the Grand Cape, the Infant by Writ of Error may reverse the Judgment given against him; unless it be in Case of a Judgment in Dower. Dyer 104. Fenk. Cent. 47, 319. But an Infant may be disseised of his Lands: And a Warranty that descendeth upon an Infant, may bar him of his Entry; so a Remitter upon him; contra of a Descent: And if an Infant hath Franchises or Liberties, and do abuse or misuse them, he shall forfeit them as a Man of full Age may do. 1 Inst. 3: 133. 1 And. 311. Bro. 48. An Infant may bind himself Apprentice, and if he serve seven Years, have the Benefit of his Trade: If he be guilty of Misbehaviour, the Master may correct him; or complain to a Justice of Peace, and have him punished. Cro. Car. 179. Stat. 5 Eliz. And an Infant may bind himself to pay for Necessaries, as Meat, Drink, Apparel and Learning; but not by Bond with Penalty; though a Bill for Necessaries, without a Penalty, for the very Sum due, 'tis said, will bind him. 2 Inst. 483. 1 Roll. Abr. 729. 1 Lev. 86. Infants are not obliged to pay for Clothes, unless it be averred for their own Wearing, and that they were convenient and necessary for them to wear, according to their Degree and Estate. Cro. Jac. 560. Though upon Promise of an Infant to pay a Taylor for making of Clothes, it need not be averred for necessary Clothes, &c. Noy 85. Money laid out for Necessaries for an Infant, hath been allowed; when Money lent for that Purpose hath not. 5 Mod. 368. The Infant may buy, but cannot borrow any Money to buy Necessaries; for the Law will not trust him with Money, but at the Peril of the Lender, who must lay it out for him in Necessaries, or see it thus laid out. 1 Salk. 386. Where Money is lent to an Infant, who employs it in buying Necessaries, yet he is not liable; because the Foundation of the Contract is the Lending. 1 Salk. 279. One lends a Sum of Money to an Infant, to pay a Debt for Things necessary, as the Infant may misapply it, he is therefore not liable at Law; yet he must be so in Equity, for that in this Case the Lender of the Money stands in the Place of the Person paid, viz. the Creditor for Necessaries; and shall recover in Chancery, as the other would by Law. 1 Peer Williams 559. An Infant is not bound by an Account concerning Necessaries for his Family, &c. for he may be mistaken in an Account; and no Contract binds him but what concerns his Person. 2 Roll. Rep. 271. Latch 189. If an Infant makes a Contract Contract pro Victu & Vestitu, this shall be binding: And a Promise by an Infant to another, that if he will find him Meat, Drink and Washing, and pay for his Schooling, that he will pay him such a reasonable Sum yearly, Action one the Case lies upon this Promise. 2 Daru. 768. Trin. 3 Car. But in other Cases, it is otherwise; though a Promise of a Person when at full Age, for Consideration during Infancy, shall be binding, and Assumpsit lieth. 2 Lev. 144. 3 Leon. 215. A Person gave a Note, a few Days after of Age, for Things he had during his Infancy; on extraordinary Circumstances, Equity set it aside: Though it's true, if an Infant takes up Goods, or borrows Money, and after he comes to Age, gives his Note or Promise for the Money, that is good at Law: But to prevent the Ruin of Infants, it may be convenient to give Relief. Barnardist. 4, 6. If an Infant delivers Money with his own Hand, it is voidable, and to be recovered by Action of Account. The Infant sells Goods to another; he may make the Sale void, or have Debt, &c. for the Money. Hob. 77. 18 Ed. 4. 2. Also Trespass lies for taking the Goods; but if he deliver the Thing with his own Hands, the Vendee is excused of the Trespass: If an Infant sell a Horse, he may take it again, &c. Roll. 736. 3 Rep. 13. Hob. 96. Action will not lie against an Infant for Goods sold to him, to sell in his Shop. Cro. Jac. 494. And if one delivers Goods to an Infant, knowing him to be such, the Infant shall not be charged in Trover and Conversion: But it is otherwise if delivered to him, not knowing him to be an Infant. 1 Sid. 129. Action lies not against an Infant Inn keeper, for Goods lost. 2 Daru. 769. If an Infant accepts a Bill of Exchange, he may plead Infancy upon an Action brought against him. Trin. 3 W. 3. 3 Salk. 197. And if a Trespass be done to an Infant, and he submits to an Award, it is said the Award shall not be binding to him. 2 Daru. 770. Agreements, &c. made by an Infant, although he be within a Day of his full Age, shall not bind him. Plowd. 364. Where an Infant enters into Bond, pretending to be of full Age, though he may avoid it by pleading his Infancy, yet he may be indicted for a Cheat. Wood's Inst. 585. Infants committing a Trespass against the Person or Possession of another, must answer for the Damage in a Civil Action. Hob. 134. 2 Roll. Abr. 547. And Infants being Tenants for Life or Years, are punishable for Waste: An Infant shall be punished for Battery, Slander, Cheating with false Dice, Perjury, not going to Church, &c. 3 Salk. 196. Infants under fourteen Years of Age are not generally punishable capitally for Crimes committed; but if they are of that Age, or under those Years, having Maturity of Discretion, they may be punished as Felons: But Execution of these for Felony is oftentimes respited in order to a Pardon; and if an Infant apparently wanting Discretion, be found guilty of Felony, the Justices may dismiss him without Pardon. 1 Inst. 247. Doct. and Stud. c. 26. 1 Hawk. 2. An Infant is incapable of being a Parson, Juror, Attorney, Steward, Bailiff, &c. But he may be a Mayor, Sheriff, Gaoler, &c. Ca. Lit. 3. 3 Salk. 195. See Age, and Heir apparent.

Infants when of Age. An Infant has been adjudged of Age the Day before his Birth-Day, for the Law will not make a fraction of a Day; and therefore, where a Person was born the third of September, and the second of September 21 Years after he made his Will, it was held good; and that he was then of Age to devise his Lands. 1 Ld. Raym. 480. And it is said such Will shall take Effect though the Devisor dies by Six at Night of that Day. 2 Raym. 1096.

Infancy of the King. The King cannot be an Infant by our Law. 1 Inst. 43. And he shall never avoid his Grants, &c. in Respect of Infancy; for he cannot be a Minor, being as King a Body Politick. 2 Daru. Abr. 767. The Acts of a Mayor and Commonalty shall not be avoided by Reason of Infancy of the Mayor. Cro. Car. 557.

Infestions, By casting Garbage and Dung into Ditches, &c. how punished. See Stat. 12 R. 2.

Infidels, (Infideles) Heathens; who may not be Witnesses by the Laws of this Kingdom, because they believe neither the Old or New Testament to be the Word of God, on one of which, Oaths must be taken. 1 Inst. 6. 2 Hawk. P. C. 434.

Insult of Actions. The Lord of the Soil may have a special Action against him who shall dig Soil in the King's Highway: But one Subject may not have his Action against another for common Nuisances; for if he might, then every Man would have it, and so the Actions would be infinite, &c. 1 Co. Inst. 56. 9 Rep. 113.

Infirmary, (Infirmarius) In Monasteries there was an Apartment allotted for infirm or sick Persons; and he who had the Care of the Infirmary was called Infirmarius. Matt. Paris. Anno 1252.

In forma Pauperis, Suing Actions in. See Forma Pauperis.

Information, (Informatio) For the King, is the same which for a common Person is called Declaration; and it is not always brought directly by the King, or his Attorney General, and the Clerk of the Crown-Office, but frequently by some other Person, who informs as well for the King as for himself, upon the Breach of some Penal Law or Statute, wherein a Penalty is given to the Party that will sue for the same: And it differs from an Indictment, which is found by the Oaths of twelve Men; and this is only the Allegation of the Officer, &c. Terms de Ley 406. Informations are either at the Suit of the King, or at the Suit of the King and of the Party, which is called an Information Qui tam, because the Informer prosecutes tam pro Domino Rege quam pro seipso; but these Informations will not lie on any Statute, which prohibits a Thing, as being an immediate Offence against the publick Good in general, under a certain Penalty, unless the Whole or Part of such Penalty be expressly given to him who will sue for it, because otherwise it goes to the King, and nothing can be demanded by the Party. 2 Hawk. P. C. 265. The King shall put no one to answer for a Wrong done principally to another, without Indictment or Presentment; though of common Right Informations, or Actions in the Nature thereof, may be brought for Offences against Statutes, whether mentioned or not in such Statutes, whose other Methods of Proceeding are not particularly appointed. Ibid. 260. And wherever a Matter concerns the publick Government, and no particular Person is entitled to an Action, there an Information will lie. 1 Salk. 374. There may be an Information for the King against a Criminal, as well as Indictment; but it doth not lie for a Capital Crime except on the Statutes against Bankrupts, who may be convicted of Felony by Indictment or Information, by 5 Geo. 1. c. 4. Wood's Inst. 630. It hath been alledged, that Informations began in the Reign of King Hen. 7. and are new Things with Respect to Indictments, and carry Hardships with them, &c. But it was adjudged, that the old Statutes enact, that Proceedings shall be by Presentment or Indictment; an Information by the Attorney General is no more than a Presentment, and that Informations were at Common Law. 5 Mod. 459. An Information may be brought for Offences and Misdemeanors by the Common Law; as for Batteries, Conspiracies, seducing Persons, Nuisances, Contempts, Libelling, seditious Words, Abusing the King's Commission to the Oppression of the Subject, &c. And in very many Cases by Statute, wherein the Offender is liable to a Fine, or other Penalty.

Finch

Fitch 340. Show. 109. For Words spoke of a deceased King, which advance pernicious Doctrine and evil Tenets, and have an Influence on the present Government, &c. an Information lies, on which the Offender may be fined, and also corporally punished. 2 Ld. Raym. 879. If the Marshal of B. R. misde demans himself in his Office, he who is prejudiced by it may prefer an Information against him in that Court, where he shall be fined and ordered to make Satisfaction. Hil. 23 Car. B. R. For obtaining a Judgment against a Woman before Marriage, by Cheating and Fraud, whereby her Husband's Lands were afterwards extended, adjudged that Information lay, and the Judgment should be set aside, &c. Sid. 431. Information may be brought against the Inhabitants of any Town for not repairing of Highways; for going armed in Affray of the Peace, &c. and in general for any Offences against the publick Good, or against the Principles of Justice, Information lies; though not where a Complaint is trifling or vexatious, or wholly of a private Nature. 2 Hawk. 260, 262. If a Person exhibits his Information only for Vexation, the Defendant may bring Information against the Informer upon the Statute 18 Eliz. c. 5. 2 Bull. 28. An Information upon a Penal Statute must be sued in one of the Superior Courts, and cannot be brought in any Inferior Court, because the King's Attorney cannot be there to acknowledge or deny, as he can in a Superior Court. Cro. Jac. 538. All Informations on Penal Statutes, brought by an Informer where a Sum certain is given to the Prosecutor, must be brought in the proper County where the Offence was committed; and within a Year after the same: But a Party grieved, who is not a common Informer, is not obliged to bring his Information in the proper County, but may inform in what County he pleases. Stat. 31 Eliz. c. 3. Cro. Eliz. 645. And the King may exhibit an Information in two or three Years, and be good; though it will be naught in an Informer. Cro. Jac. 366. Where an Information is given by Statute, to be prosecuted at the Assizes, &c. the Informer on filing his Information must make Oath before a Judge, that the Offence laid in the Information was not committed in any other County than that mentioned in the Information; and that he believes the Offence was committed within a Year next before the Filing of the Information. 21 Jac. 1. c. 4. And when an Information is ordered to be filed upon an Affidavit made, the Court will not suffer the Prosecutor to put any more or other Matter into the Information than what only is in his Affidavit. Mich. 9 W. 3. B. R. It has been resolved, that the Stat. 21 Jac. 1. restrains the Jurisdiction of B. R. in Actions of Debt by common Informers, and that they cannot bring Debt upon the Statute in that Court, unless the Cause of Action arise in the County where the King's Bench sits; but must in other Cases prosecute by Information before Justices of Assize, &c. as the Statute directs. 1 Salk. 373. Offences created since the Statute 21 Jac. 1. cap. 4. are not within that Statute, to be prosecuted in the County where the Fact was done; so that Informations on subsequent penal Statutes are not restrained thereby. Ibid. By the Stat. 18 Eliz. cap. 5. Informers are to exhibit their Suits in proper Person, by Way of Information, or Original Action; they are not to compound with the Defendant, without the Consent of the Court, on Pain of 10 l. Penalty, Pildory, &c. And if they discontinue or are Nonsuit, the Court shall immediately assign Costs to the Defendant: But this Statute and the 21 Jac. 1. c. 4. do not extend to Informations of Officers, nor on the Statutes of Maintenance, Champerty, concerning Concealments of Customs, &c. and it extendeth not to Parties grieved, and those to whom any Forfeiture is given in certain. Ibid. The 4 & 5 W. & M.

c. 18. enacts, That Informations brought in the Crown-Office, for Trespass, Battery, &c. are to be by Order of Court; and Recognizances to be entered into of 20 l. Penalty for the Informer to prosecute with Effect, &c. And in Case any Person against whom such Information shall be exhibited shall appear and plead to Issue, and the Prosecutor do not proceed to Trial within a Year after Issue joined; or if it shall pass for the Defendant, or the Informer procure a Nolle prosequi, &c. the Court is to award the Defendant Costs; except it be certified that there was reasonable Cause for the Information. An Informer upon a popular Statute shall never have Costs, if not given by Statute; but the Party grieved in Action on the Statute shall, where a certain Penalty is given. 2 Hawk. 273. Informations by the Attorney General remain as they were at Common Law, notwithstanding the Statute 4 & 5 W. & M. And when the Attorney General exhibits an Information, he does it ex Officio; whereas when the Clerk of the Crown does it, it is generally by Order of Court. 5 Mad. 464. Where a Penalty is divided by Statute between the King and the Informer, if the King prefers his Information before the Informer, he shall have the whole Penalty: But if the Informer prefers his Information first, the King cannot hinder him from his Proportion. 2 Lill. Abr. 60. If an Informer dies, the Attorney General may proceed in the Information for the King: Nonsuit of an Informer is no Bar against the King; and if the King's Attorney enter a Nolle prosequi, it is not any Bar quoad the Informer. Cro. El. 583. 1 Leon. 119. If two Informations are had on the very same Day, they mutually abate one another; because there is no Priority to attach the Right of the Suit in one Informer, more than in the other. Hob. 138. An Information hath somewhat in it of an Indictment, viz. to allege the Offence in particular, and also something in Nature of an Action, to demand what is due; and if the Informer make no Demand, or demand what appears not to be his due, the Information is ill. Hob. 242. The same Certainty is requisite in an Information as in an Indictment; and all the material Parts of the Crime must be as precisely found in one as the other. 2 Hawk. 261. If an Information contain several Offences against a Statute, and be well laid as to some of them, but defective as to the rest, the Informer may have Judgment for such as is well laid. Ibid. 266. After a Plea pleaded to an Information for any Crime, the Defendant by Favour of the Court may appear by Attorney; also the Court may dispense with the personal Appearance before Plea pleaded, except in such Cases where a personal Appearance is required by some Statute: And it is the same of Indictments for Crimes under the Degree of Capital. Ibid. 273. If a Defendant plead Nil debet to an Information Qui tam, &c. it is safest to say he owes nothing to the Informer, nor the King, which is an Answer to the Whole. On Breach of a Statute alledged from a Matter in pais, the Defendant may plead that he owes nothing, or Not guilty, &c. And if there be more than one Defendant, they ought to plead severally and not jointly. Not guilty: But if it be alledged from a Matter of Record, the Record not being triable by the Country, but by itself, such Plea is not good. 2 Hawk. 276. Bra. Issues. 23. A Prior Suit depending, a Pardon or Release may be pleaded to an Information: And if the Defendant hath Matter to plead in his Discharge, it hath been held that he ought to plead it specially, and cannot give it in Evidence; though this seems to be contrary to the Statute 21 Jac. 1. A Replication to an Information on a special Plea in the Courts at Westminster, is to be made by the Attorney General, and before Justices of Assize, by the the Clerk of the Assise: Though the Replication to a General Issue in an Information Qui tam in the Courts at Westminster, may be made in the Name of the Attorney General only; and in Actions Qui tam, most of the Precedents are, that the Replication is to be made by the Plaintiff. 2 Hawk. 277. A Demurrer may be to an Information Qui tam, without the Attorney General. Ibid. Informations are not quashed for Insufficiency, like Indictments; but the Defendant must demur to them. Pas. 1650. 2 Lill. 59. Fines assessed in Court by Judgment on an Information, cannot be afterwards qualified or mitigated. Cro. Car. 251. The Stat. 9 Ann. c. 20. makes the Proceedings upon Informations in the Nature of a Quo Warranto more speedy and effectual. Vide the Stat. &c.

Form of an Information by the Attorney General.

BE it remembered, That D. R. Esq; the Attorney General of our Sovereign Lord the King, who prosecutes for our said Lord the King, being present in this Court, the Day of, &c. in his own Person for the said Lord the King, gave the Court here to understand and be informed; That whereas all that, &c. yet one A. C. and B. D. little regarding the Laws and Statutes of our Lord the King that now is, but intending, &c. with Force and Arms, the Day and in the Year, &c. before the Day of exhibiting this Information, entered and intruded in and upon, &c. And the same Trespass hitherto and yet continues, in Contempt of the said Lord the King, and against his Laws: Whereupon the said Attorney General, of our said Lord the King that now is, for the said Lord the King prays the Advice of this Court in the Premises; and that the said A. C. and B. D. may come here to answer our said Lord the King, &c. Upon which, &c. and the Sheriffs of the said County, that they attach the said A. and B. in Form aforesaid, so as, &c.

An Information for Frauds committed in the Revenue.

BE it remembered, That A. B. who prosecutes as well for our Lord the King as for himself, came before our sovereign Lord the King at Westminster, the Day, &c. this same Term, in his proper Person; and as well for our said Lord the King as for himself, giveth the Court here to understand and be informed, That one C. D. of, &c. Merchant, on the first Day of April in the Year, &c. and the Day of, &c. then next following, in a certain Ship called the P. of S. brought into this Kingdom of England, into the Port of, &c. by Way of Merchandising, thirty Hogheads of Tobacco, of the Value, &c. as of the proper Goods of the said C. And the said thirty Hogheads of Tobacco out of the said Ship in the Port aforesaid, to Land there carried, on the Days and Times aforesaid, and the same then took away from thence, the Custom, Subsidy and Poundage, and other Duties to our said Lord the King therefore due, not being paid, nor any Agreement or Composition had or made with the Collector thereof, with or by the Knowledge or Consent of the Comptroller or Supervisor in that Behalf assigned, or of one of them therein, against the Form of the Statute in that Case made and provided: Whereupon the said A. B. who prosecutes as well, &c. prays the Advice of this Court; and that the said C. may forfeit the Goods and Merchandises aforesaid, according to the Form of the Statute aforesaid, and that the said A. the Moiety of the Value of the said Goods so forfeited may have, &c. And also that the said C. may come here into this Court, to answer of and upon the Premises, &c. and there are Pledges of prosecuting John Doe and Richard Roe. And hereupon it is commanded to the said C. that all other Things omitted, and all Excuses laid aside, he be in his proper Person before our Lord the King at Westminster on the Day, &c. next coming, to answer as well to our said Lord the King, as to the said A. who prosecutes, &c. of and in the Premises, and farther to do and receive what the Court of our said Lord the King now here shall consider of in this Particular, &c.

Informet, (Informator) Is a Person as informs against or prosecutes in any of the King's Courts those that offend against any Law or Penal Statute; and no Man may be an Informer who is disabled by any Misdemeanor. Stat. 31 Eliz. c. 5.

Infotiatum, Is one Part of the Digests of the Civil Law; according to Benedi, Abbot of the Monastery of Peterborough, in the Reign of K. Hen. 3.

Infugate, Signifies to put to Flight. Leg. Camuti, cap. 32.

Infula, Was anciently the Garment of a Priest, like that which we now call a Cassock; sometimes it is taken for a Coif.

Inge. This Syllable in the Names of Places, denotes Meadow or Pasture; and in the North, Meadows are called the Inges from the Sax. Ing, i. e. pratam.

Ingenium, Is an Instrument used in War, Arts & Ingenio confectum; from whence 'tis said we derive the Word Engine.

Ingenuitas, Used for Liberty given to a Servant by Manumission. Leg. H. 1. c. 89.

Ingenuitas Regni: Ingenui, Liberi & Legales Hamines; Freeholders, and the Commonalty of the Kingdom; And sometimes this Title was given to the Barons and Lords of the King's Council. Eadmer. Hist. Nov. fol. 70.

Ingress, Egress and Regress, Words in Leases of Land, to signify a free Entry into, Going forth of, and Returning from some Part of the Lands let; as to get in a Crop of Corn, &c. after the Term expired.

Ingressu, Is a Writ of Entry, whereby a Man seeks Entry into Lands or Tenements; and lies in many Cases, having as many different Forms: This Writ is also called Præcipe quod reddat, because these are formal Words inserted in all Writs of Entry. See Entry.

Ingressus. The Relief which the Heir at full Age paid to the Head Lord, for Entering upon the Fee, or Lands fallen by the Death or Forfeiture of the Tenant, &c. was sometimes called Ingressus. Blount.

In gross. Advowson in gross, Villain in gross, &c. See Gross.

Ingrosset, (Ingrossator) Is one that buys and sells any Thing by Wholesale; and whoever shall get into his Hands by Buying, Contract or Promise, other than by Demise, Grant or Lease of Lands, any Corn growing, or other Corn or Grain; Butter, Cheese, Fish, or other dead Victuals whatsoever, within the Realm of England, to the Intent to sell the same again, shall be reputed an unlawful Ingrosser, by Stat. 5 & 6 Ed. 6. c. 14. Such Victual only as is necessary for the Food of Man, is within the Purview of the Statute; and therefore Apples and Fruits are not within the Meaning of it; and it has been holden, that Hops are not within the Statute. 3 Inst. 195. H. P. C. 152. Cro. Car. 231. The Buying of Corn to make Starch of it, and then to sell it, is not within the Intent of the Statute; because it is not bought to be sold again in the same Nature it was bought, but to be first altered by a Trade or Science; and by the like Reason the Buying of Corn to make Meal of it, and then to sell it, is said not to be within the Act; and Buying of Barley, with an Intent to make it into Malt, and after that to sell it, had no Need of the Exception made for it in the said Statute. 1 Hawk. P. C. 237. Foreign Corn and Victuals, except Fish and and Salt, are exempted, and not within the Penalty of the Statute 13 Eliz. cap. 25. And licensed Badgers are excepted; as are likewise Fishmongers, Butchers, Poulterers, &c. buying any Thing in their own Faculties, otherwise than by Forestalling, and selling the same again at reasonable Prices by Retail. 1 Hurck. 240. Any Merchant, whether a Subject or Foreigner, bringing Victuals, or other Merchandise into this Kingdom, may sell the same in Gross; but he that buys them of him cannot do so, because by such Means the Price will be inflated, for the more Hands any Merchandise passeth through, the dearer it must grow, as every one will make a Profit of it: And if this were allowable, a rich Man might ingross into his Hands a whole Commodity, and then sell it at what Price he should think fit; which is of such bad Consequence, that the bare ingrossing of a whole Commodity with Intent to sell it at an unreasonable Price, is an Offence indictable at Common Law, whether any Part thereof be sold by the Ingrosser, or not. 3 Inst. 196. Cro. Car. 231, 232. The Punishment of this Offence by Statute, is Forfeiture of the Goods for the first Offence, and two Months Imprisonment; double Value and six Months Imprisonment for the second Offence; and Loss of all Goods, and Imprisonment at the King's Pleasure, &c. for the third Offence. See Forestaller.

Ingrosser of Deeds, Is a Clerk that writes Records or Instruments of Law in Skins of Parchment.

Ingrossing of a Fine. The making of the Indentures by the Chirographer, and Delivery of them to the Party to whom the Fine is levied. F. N. B. 147.

Inhabitant, Is a Dweller or Householder in any Place; as Inhabitants in a Vill, are the Householders in the Vill. 2 Inst. 702.

Inheritance, (Hereditas) Is a Perpetuity in Lands or Tenements, to a Man and his Heirs: And the Word Inheritance is not only intended where a Man hath Lands or Tenements by Descent of Heritage; but also every Fee simple, or Fee tail, which a Person hath by Purchase, may be said to be an Inheritance, because his Heirs may inherit it. Lit. Sect. 9. And one may have Inheritance by Creation; as in Case of the King's Grant of Peerage, by Letters Patent, &c. Inheritances are Corporeal or Incorporeal; Corporeal Inheritances relate to Houses, Lands, &c. which may be touched or handled; and Incorporeal Inheritances are Rights issuing out of, annexed to or exercised with Corporeal Inheritances, as Advowsons, Tithes, Annuities, Offices, Commons, Franchises, Privileges, Services, &c. 1 Inst. 9. 49. There is also several Inheritance, which is where two or more hold Lands severally; if two Men have Lands given to them and the Heirs of their two Bodies, these have joint Estate during their Lives; but their Heirs have several Inheritances. Kitch. 155. Without Blood none can inherit; and therefore it is that he who hath the whole and entire Blood, shall have an Inheritance before him who hath but Part of the Blood of his Ancestor. 3 Rep. 41. The Law of Inheritance prefers the first Child before all others; the Male before the Female; and of Males the first born, &c. And as to Inheritances, if a Man purchases Land in Fee, and dies without Issue, those of the Blood of the Father's Side shall inherit, if there be any; and for Want of such, the Land shall go to the Heirs of the Mother's Side: But if it come to the Son by Descent from the Father, the Heirs of the Mother shall not inherit it. Plowd. 132. Lit. 4. 12. Goods and Chattels cannot be turned into an Inheritance. 3 Inst. 19, 126. See Descent and Fee-Estate.

Inhibition, (Inhibitio) Is a Writ to forbid a Judge from farther Proceeding in a Cause depending before him, being in Nature of a Prohibition. 9 Ed. 2. c. 1. 24 Hen. 8. c. 12. 15 Car. 2. c. 9. F. N. B. 39. An Inhibition is most commonly issuing out of a Higher Court Christian to an interior, upon an Appeal: And Inhibitions are likewise on the Visitations of Archbishops and Bishops, &c. This Inhibition is either Hominis or Juris; 'tis Ne visitationem facias, vel aliquam Jurisdictionem Ecclesiasticam vel contentio-nem voluntariam habeas: Thus when the Archbishop visits, he inhibits the Bishop; and when a Bishop visits, he inhibits the Archdeacon; and this is to prevent Confusion, and continues till the last Parish is visited. Now after such Inhibition by an Archbishop, if a Lapse happens, the Bishop cannot institute, because his Power is suspended; but the Archbishop is to do it, &c. 2 Inst. 601. Pasch. 13 Car. B. R. 3 Salk. 201.

Inhoc, or Inhoke, (From In, within, and hoke a Corner or Nook) Signifies any Corner or Part of a common Field ploughed up and sowed with Oats, &c. and sometimes fenced in with a dry Hedge, in that Year wherein the rest of the same Field lies fallow and common. It is called in the North of England an Intock, and in Oxfordshire a Hitchin; and no such Inhoke is now made without the joint Consent of all the Commoners, who in most Places have their Share by Lot in the Benefit of it, except in some Manors, where the Lord has a special Privilege of so doing. Kenner's Paroch. Antiq. 297, &c. and his Glossary.

Injunction, (Injunctio) Is a Kind of Prohibition granted in divers Cases; it is generally grounded upon an Interlocutory Order or Decree out of the Court of Chancery or Exchequer, to stay Proceedings in Courts at Law; and sometimes it is issued to the Spiritual Courts. West Symb. S. 2. 25. It is likewise sometimes used to give Possession to a Plaintiff, for Want of the Defendant's Appearance, and may be granted by the Chancery or Exchequer to quiet Possession of Lands; also where a privileged Person of the Chancery is sued elsewhere; and to stay Waste, &c. Injunction lies, If a Defendant by his Answer in Chancery, swears a certain Sum of Money is due to him, the Court will often not grant an Injunction, unless the Money be brought into Court: And an Injunction is obtained by Order, either upon Matter confessed, or upon some Matter appearing of Record, or by Deed, Writing or other Evidence shewn in Court, from whence there is a Probability that the Party ought to be discharged in Equity; and sometimes it is granted before Answer, when 'tis usually only until Answer, and further Order, &c. A Delay of Proceedings for a considerable Time, is good Cause for setting aside and dissolving an Injunction to stay Proceedings at Law; but an Injunction may be revived on Cause shewn, and sometimes the Court will revive it though dissolved, where the Plaintiff's Case is hard, or Equity is evidently on his Side. Pract. Sol. 124, 125. If an Injunction be for staying of Waste, there must be Affidavit made of Waste committed in Houses, Lands, &c. belonging to the Complainant: And if it be to stay Suits in other Courts, it is granted on suggesting some Matter, by Reason of which the Complainant is not able to make his Defence in the other Court, as for Want of Witnesses, &c. or for that he is prosecuted at Law for what in Equity he ought not to pay; or that the other Court acts erroneously, denies him some rightful Advantage, and that if the Rigour of the Law takes Place, it is against Equity and good Conscience, &c. Ibid. If an Attorney proceeds at Law, after he is served with an Injunction to stay Proceedings, on Affidavit made thereof Interrogatories are to be exhibited against him, to which he must answer on Oath; and if it appears that he was duly served with the Injunction, and hath proceeded afterwards contrary thereto, thereto, the Court of Chancery will commit the Attorney to the Fleet-Prison for the Contempt. 2 Lill. Abr. 64. But if an Injunction be granted by the Court of Chancery in a Criminal Matter, the Court of B. R. may break it, and protect any that proceed in Contempt of it. Mich. Ann. Mod. Cas. 16. If a Cause at Law be at Issue, the Injunction may give Leave to go to Trial, and stay Execution, &c. The Writ of Injunction is directed to the Party proceeding, ac omnibus & singulis Consiliar. Attorn. Sollicitat' suis quibuscunque, &c. and concludes, Injungen' Præcipimus quod ab omni ulteriori prosecutione quacunquæ ad communem Legem de, pro vel concernen. aliquib. Materiis in querimon. content. &c. desistatis & quilibet vestrum desistat, sub pœn. &c.

Injury, (Injuria) Is a Wrong or Damage to a Man's Person or Goods. The Law punisheth Injuries; and so abhors them, that it grants Writs of Anticipation for their Prevention, in Cases of Combinations and Confederacy, &c. Stud. Comp. 93. But the Law will suffer a private Injury rather than a publick Evil; and the Act of God, or of the Law, doth Injury to none. 4 Rep. 124. Co. Rep. 148.

Inlagation, (Inlagatio, from the Sax. In lagiam, i. e. Inlagare) Signifies a Restitution of one outlawed, to the Protection of the Law, and Benefit of a Subject. Braët. lib. 3. tract. 2. cap. 14. Leg. Canul. par. 1. c. 2.

Inlagh, (Inlagatus, vel Homo sub Lege) Is he that is of some Frank Pledge, and not Outlawed. It seems to be the contrary to Uttagh. Braët. tract. 2. lib. 3. c. 11.

Inland, Is said to be Terra Dominicalis, pars Manerii Dominica, terra interior vel inclusa; for that which was let to Tenants was called Outland. In an ancient Will there are these Words; To Wulfee I give the Inland or Demeans, and to Elsey the Utlands or Tenancy. Testam. Britterici. This Word was in great Use among the Saxons, and often occurs in Domesday.

Inland Trade, A Trade wholly managed at Home in one County. Merch. Dict.

Inlashed, (From the Fr. Enlasse) Intangled or ensnared; it is used in the Champion's Oath. 2 Inst. 247.

Inmates, Are those Persons that are admitted to dwell with and in the House of another, and not being able to maintain themselves. Kitch. 45. These Inmates are generally idle Persons harboured in Cottages; wherein it hath been common for several Families to inhabit, by which the Poor of Parishes have been increased; but suffering it is an Offence by Statute, liable to a Forfeiture of 10 s. a Month, inquirable of in the Court Leet, &c. Stat. 31 Eliz. c. 7. If one have a House wherein he dwells, and lets Part of it, so that there are several Doors into the Street; it is now as two Houses, and the Under-Tenant shall not be accounted an Inmate: But 'tis otherwise if there be but one outer Door for both Families. 2 Co. Inst. 378. A Man keeps his Daughter that is married, and her Husband, &c. by Covenant, and they have some Rooms in his House, they are not Inmates; though if they live in one Cottage, and part the House between them, and Diet themselves severally, they will be Inmates within the Statute. Kitch. 45. If a Person take another to Table with him; or let certain Rooms to one to dwell in, if he be of Ability, and not poor, he is no Inmate. Ibid. See Cottage.

Innings, Lands recovered from the Sea in Romney Marsh, by Draining: Ancient Records make Mention of the Innings of Archbishop Becket, Boniface, and others; and at this Day there is Elderton's Innings, &c. Where they are rendered profitable and termed Gainage Lands. Vide Law Sewers 31.

Innonia, (From the Sax. Innan, i. e. Intus) An Inclosure. Spelm. Gloss.

Innotescimus. This Word and Vidimus are all one; it signifies Letters Patents, so called, which are always of a Charter of Peoffment, or some other Instrument, not of Record, concluding innotescimus per presentes, &c.

Innovations, Are thought dangerous by our Laws; and the ancient Judges of the Law have ever suppressed them, lest the Quiet and Certainty of the Common Law should be disturbed. Co. Lit. 379. In the Reign of King Ed. 3. the Judges said, we will not change the Law, which always hath been used; and in the Time of K. H. 4. they declared it would be better that it should be turned to a Default, than that the Law should be changed, or any Innovation made. Ibid. 303.

Innotiare, To purge one of a Fault, and make him innocent. Leg. Etbetred. c. 10.

Inns, (Hospitia) Were instituted for Lodging and Relief of Travellers; and at Common Law any Man might erect and keep an Inn or Alehouse to receive Travellers, but now they are to be licensed and regulated by Statute, by Justices of Peace, who are to take Recognizances for keeping good Orders, &c. 5 & 6 Ed. 6. c. 25. And if the Keeper of an Inn harbours Thieves or Persons of a scandalous Reputation, or suffers frequent Disorders in his House; or sets up a new Inn, in a Place where there is no Manner of Need of one, to the Hindrance of other ancient and well governed Inns; or keep it in a Situation wholly unfit for such a Purpose, he may by the Common Law be indicted and fined. H. P. C. 146. Dalt. 33, 34. Inn-keepers not selling their Hay, Oats, Beans, &c. and all Kinds of Victuals for Man and Beast, at reasonable Prices, having Respect to the Price sold in the Markets adjoining, without taking any Thing for Litter, they shall be fined for the first Offence, and for the second be imprisoned for a Month; and for the third stand on the Pillory, &c. Stat. 21 Jac. 1. c. 21. Rates and Prices may be set on all the Commodities sold by Inn-keepers; and if they extort any unreasonable Rates, they may be indicted. 2 Cro 609. Caribrew 150. If one who keeps a common Inn, refuse to receive a Traveller as a Guest into his House, or to find him Victuals or Lodging, upon his tendering a reasonable Price for the same; the Inn-keeper is liable to render Damages, in an Action at the Suit of the Party grieved, and may also be indicted and fined at the Suit of the King: And it is said, he may be compelled by the Constable of the Town to receive and entertain such a Person as his Guest; and that it is not material whether he have any Sign before his Door or not, if he make it his common Business to entertain Travellers. 1 Hawk. P. C. 225. Action of the Case on an implied Assumpsit will lie against the Guest for Things had, where the Inn-keeper is obliged by Law to furnish him with Meat, Drink, &c. And when a Guest calls for any Thing at an Inn, the Inn-keeper may justify Detaining of a Horse, or other Thing, till he is paid his just Reckoning. Dyer 30. By the Custom of the Realm, if a Man lies in an Inn one Night, the Inn-keeper may detain his Horse until he is paid for the Expences; but if he gives the Party Credit for that Time, and lets him depart without Payment, then he hath waived the Benefit of the Custom, and must rely on his other Agreement. Trin. 9 Geo. 1. Mod. Cas. in L. & E. 172. A Person brings his Horse to an Inn, and leaves him in the Stable there; the Inn-keeper may keep him till the Owner pay for the Keeping: And if he eat out as much as he is worth, the Master of the Inn, after a reasonable reasonable Appraiment, may sell the Horse and pay himself. Yelv. 66. But if one bring several Horses to an Inn, and afterwards takes them all away but one; the Inn-keeper may not sell this Horse for Payment of the Debt for the others; but every Horse is to be sold to satisfy what is due for his own Meat: 1 Bull. 207, 217. If any Theft be committed on a Guest that lodgeth in an Inn, by the Servants of the Inn, or by any other Persons, (not the Guest's Servant or Companion) the Inn-keeper is answerable in Action on the Case: But if the Guest be not a Traveller, but one of the same Town, the Master of the Inn is not chargeable for his Servant's Theft; and if a Man is robbed in a private Tavern, the Master is not chargeable. 8 Rep. 32, 33. In this Action the Inn-keeper shall not answer for any Thing that is out of his Inn, but only for such Things as are infra Hospitium, the Words of the Writ being corum Bona & Catalla infra Hospitia illa existentia, &c. But if the Inn-keeper put the Guest's Horse to Grass, without Orders for it, and the Horse is stolen, he shall make it good. 8 Rep. 34. The Inn-keeper shall not be charged, unless there be some Default in him or his Servant; for if he that comes with the Guest, or who desires to lodge with him, steal his Goods, the Host is not chargeable: Though if an Inn-keeper appoint one to lie with another, he shall answer for him. 2 Shep. Abr. 334. Although the Guest deliver not his Goods to the Inn-keeper to keep, &c. if they be stolen, he shall be charged: Not where the Hostler requires his Guest to put them in such a Chamber under Lock and Key; if he suffers them to be in an outward Court; &c. Ibid. Any Person found tipping in an Inn, is adjudged within the Statutes against Drunkenness. 21 Jac. 1. 1 Car. 1. And Inn-keepers or Alehouse keepers, permitting tipping in their Houses, are liable to the Penalty of 10*s.* &c. by Statute 1 Jac. 1. c. 9. 1 Car. 1. c. 14. See Action on the Case and Guest.

Inns of Court, (Hospitia Curiae) Are so called, because the Students therein do not only study the Laws to enable them to practice in the Courts at Westminster; but also pursue such other Studies, as may render them better qualified to serve the King in his Court. Fortescue, cap. 49. Of these (says Sir Edward Coke) there are four well known, viz. The Inner Temple, Middle Temple, Lincoln's Inn and Gray's Inn; which with the two Serjeants Inns; and eight Inns of Chancery, viz. Clifford's Inn, Symond's Inn, Clement's Inn, Lyon's Inn, Furnival's Inn, Staple's Inn, Barnard's Inn, and Thavie's Inn; (to which is since added New Inn) make the most famous University for Profession of the Law, or of any one human Science in the World. Co. Litt. Our Inns of Court, or Societies of the Law, which are famed for their Production of learned Men, are governed by Masters, Principals, Benchers, Stewards, and other proper Officers; and have the Chief of them Chapels for Divine Service, and all of them publick Halls for Exercises, Readings and Arguments, which the Students are obliged to perform and attend for a competent Number of Years, before admitted to speak at the Bar, &c. These Societies or Colleges, nevertheless are no Corporation, nor have any judicial Power over their Members, but have certain Orders among themselves, which by Consent, have the Force of Laws; for lighter Offences, Persons are only excommunicated, or put out of Commons; for greater they lose their Chambers, and are expelled; and when expelled out of one Society, shall never be received by any of the others. All the lesser Inns of Chancery, are mostly inhabited by Attornies, Solicitors, and Clerks, and belong to some or other of the Principal Inns of Court, who have been used to send yearly some of their Barristers to read to them. Fortescue.

Innuendo, (From Innuo, to nod or beckon with the Head to one) Is a Word used in Declarations and Law Pleadings, to ascertain a Person or Thing which was named before; as to say he (Innuendo the Plaintiff) did so and so, when as there was Mention before of another Person. 4 Rep. 17. An Innuendo is in Effect no more than a Prædict, and cannot make that certain which was uncertain before; and the Law will not allow Words to be enlarged by an Innuendo, so as to support an Action of the Case for speaking of them. Hob. 2, 6, 45. 5 Mod. 345. An Innuendo may not enlarge the Sense of Words, nor make a Supply, or alter the Case, where the Words are defective. Hutt. Rep. 44. In Slander, both the Person and scandalous Words ought to be certain, and not want an Innuendo to make them out; If a Plaintiff declares that the Defendant said these Words, Tbou art a Thief and stolest a Mare, &c. (Innuendo the Plaintiff) without an Averment that the Words were spoken eidem Querenti, this is not good; because it doth not certainly appear of whom they were spoken, and the Innuendo doth not help it. Pasch. 11 Car. B. R. 1 Danv. Abr. 158. And if the Plaintiff alledge that the Defendant said to him, Tbou art a forsworn Man, and didst make a false Oath against me before Justice Scawen, (Innuendo Scawen, a Justice of Peace) A Juror doth not lie, for it is not shewn that Scawen was a Justice of Peace, otherwise than by the Innuendo, and there may be a Man whose Name is Justice Scawen. Mich. 35 Car. 2. 3 Lev. 166. Also if one say of another he hath forsworn himself, (Innuendo before Justices of Assize, &c.) this Innuendo shall not make the Words actionable. 1 Danv. 157. A Man shall not be punished for Perjury, by the Help of an Innuendo. 5 Mod. 344. And an Innuendo will not make Action for a Libel good; if the Matter precedent imports not Scandal, &c. to the Damage of the Party. Mich. 5 Ann. Where Action lies without any Innuendo, an Innuendo shall be repugnant and void. 1 Danv. 158.

Inoperatio, Is one of the legal Excuses to exempt a Man from appearing in Court: Causæ quæ ad excusationem sufficiunt, &c. hoc est, vel Infirmittatis, vel Domini Necessitatis, vel contramandationis, vel Regis implacitationis, vel Inoperationis causâ, viz. on the Days in which all Pleadings are to cease, or in diebus non Juridicis. Leg. H. 1. c. 61.

Inordinatus, Was anciently taken for one who died intestate; it is mentioned in Matt. Westm. 1246.

Inpeny and Outpeny, Money paid by the Custom of some Manors on the Alienation of Tenants, &c.——Inpeny and Outpeny consuetudo talis est in Villa de East Radham, de omnibus Terris quæ infra Burgagium tenentur, viz. Quod ipse, qui vendiderit vel dederit dictam Tenuram alicui, dabit pro exitu suo de eadem tenurâ unum Denarium, & simile pro ingressu alterius, & si prædicti Denarii à retro fuerint, Ballivus Domini distringet pro eisdem Denariis in eadem Tenura. Regist. Prior. de Cokesford, p. 25.

Inquest, (Inquisitio) Is an Inquisition of Jurors, in Causes Civil and Criminal, on Proof made of the Fact on either Side, when it is referred to their Trial, being impanelled by the Sheriff for that Purpose; and as they bring in their Verdict, Judgment passeth; For the Judge saith, the Jury finds the Fact thus, then is the Law thus, and so we judge. Staundf. P. C. lib. 3. c. 12. There is an Inquest of Office, as well as on an Issue or the Mife of the Party, &c. as in Cases of Appeals of Robbery, the fresh Suit to entitle Restitution of Goods, is to be enquired of by Inquest of Office, which Inquest is chiefly for the Satisfaction of the Conscience of the Judges. 2 Hawk. P. C. 169. Whether a Criminal be a Lunatick or not, shall be tried by an Inquest of Office, returned by the Sheriff of the County; and if it be found by the Jury that he only feigns himself Lunatick, and he refuses to plead, he shall be dealt with as one standing mute. H. P. C. 226. 1 And. 107. Where a Person stands mute without making any Answer, the Court may take an Inquest of Office, by the Oath of any twelve Persons present, if he do so out of Malice, &c. But after the Issue is joined, when the Jury are in Court, if there be any Need for such Inquiry, it shall be made by them, and not by an Inquest of Office. 2 Hawk. P. C. 327. If a Person attainted of Felony escape, and being retaken, denies he is the same Man, Inquest is to be made of it by a Jury before he is executed. Ibid. 463. By Magna Charta, nothing is to be taken for Inquest of Life or Member. 9 H. 3. c. 26.

Inquirendo. This is an Authority given in general to some Person or Persons, to inquire into something for the King's Advantage. Reg. 72.

Inquisition, Is a Manner of Proceeding by Way of Search or Examination, and used in the King's Behalf, in Temporal Causes and Profits, in which Sense it is confounded with Office. Stauf. Prærog. 51. This Inquisition is upon an Outlawry found; in Cases of Treason and Felony committed; upon a Felo de se, &c. to entitle the King to Forfeitures of Lands and Goods: And there is no such Nicety required in an Inquisition as in Pleading; because an Inquisition is only to inform the Court how Process shall issue for the King, whose Title accrues by the Attainder, and not by the Inquisition; and yet in the Cases of the King and a common Person, Inquisitions have been held void for Incertainty. Lane 39. 2 Nels. Abr. 1088. It is said there are two Sorts of Inquisitions, one to inform the King, the other to vest an Interest in him; the one need not be certain, but the other must, and where an Inquisition finds some Parts well, and nothing as to others, it may be helped by Melius Inquirendum. 2 Salk. 469. There is a judicial Writ Ad Inquirendum, to inquire by a Jury into any Thing touching a Cause depending in Court; and Inquisition is had upon Exents of Land, Writs of Elegit, where Judgment is had by Default, and Damages and Costs are recovered, &c. Finch 484. 2 Lill. Abr. 65.

Inquisition, Ex Officio Mero, Is one Way of proceeding in Ecclesiastical Courts. Wood's Infl. 596. And formerly the Oath Ex Officio was a Sort of Inquisition.

Inquisitors, (Inquisitores) Are Sheriffs, Coroners super visum Corporis, or the like, who have Power to inquire in certain Cases; and by the Statute of Westm. 1. Inquirors or Inquisitors are included under the Name of Ministri. 2 Inft. 211.

Inrollment, (Inrotulatio) Is the Registering or Entering in the Rolls of the Chancery, King's Bench, Common Pleas or Exchequer, or by the Clerk of the Peace in the Records of the Quarter-Sessions, of any lawful Act; as a Statute or Recognizance acknowledged, a Deed of Bargain and Sale of Lands, &c. An Inrollment of a Deed may be either by the Common Law, or according to the Statute: And Inrollments of Deeds ought to be made in Parchment, and recorded in Court, for Perpetuity's Sake, Trin. 23 Car. Pasch. 24 Car. 1. B. R. But the Inrolling a Deed doth not make it a Record, though it thereby becomes a Deed recorded; for there is a Difference between Matter of Record, and a Thing recorded to be kept in Memory; a Record being the Entry in Parchment of Judicial Matters controverted in a Court of Record, and whereof the Court takes Notice; whereas an Inrollment of a Deed is a private Act of the Parties concerned, of which the Court takes no Cognizance at the Time of doing it, although the Court gives Way to it. Mich. 21 Car. 1. 2 Lill. Abr. 69. Every Deed before it is inrolled, is to be acknowledged to be the Deed of the Party before a Master of the Court of Chancery, or a Judge of the Court wherein inrolled; which is the Officer's Warrant for the Inrolling of the same: And the Inrollment of a Deed, if it be acknowledged by the Grantor, will be good Proof of the Deed itself upon a Trial. Ibid. A Deed may be inrolled without the Examination of the Party himself; for it is sufficient if Oath is made of the Execution of the Deed: If two are Parties, and the Deed is acknowledged by one, the other is bound by it: And if a Man lives in New York, &c. and would pass Lands in England, a nominal Person may be joined with him in the Deed who may acknowledge it here, and it will be binding. 1 Salk. 389. If the Party dies before it is inrolled, it may be inrolled afterwards: And Inrollments of Deeds operates by Virtue of the Statute of Inrollments; but if Livery and Seisin, &c. be had before the Inrolling, it prevents the Operation of the Inrollment, and the Party shall be in by that, as the more worthy Ceremony to pass Estates. 1 Leon. 5. 2 Nels. Abr. 1010. Although Inrollment, or Matter of Record, shall not be tried per Pais, yet the Time when the Inrollment of a Deed was made shall be thus tried. 2 Lill. 68. See Bargain and Sale.

Inrollment, Is ordained in divers Cases by Statute: Of Bargains and Sales by 27 H. 8. c. 16. Deeds in Corporations, &c. 34 & 35 H. 8. c. 22. Of Writings in the Counties of Lancaster and Chaster, &c. 5 Eliz. c. 26. Grants from the Crown of Felons Goods, &c. 4 & 5 W. & M. cap. 22. Of Deeds and Wills made of Lands of Papists. 3 Geo. 1. c. 18.

Inscriptions, Were written Instruments by which any Thing was granted; as Inscriptiones Monasterii, &c. Blount.

Institutum, Evil Advice or Counsel. — Multaque Regis Infilia adversus Anglos dederunt. Sim. Duacelm. Ann. 1003. Insiarius is an evil Counsellor: Filius Regis cum suis Consiliariis, & Insiariis, &c.

Insimul computassent, Is a Writ or Action of Account, which lies not for Things certain but only for Things uncertain. Broke Acco. 81. The common Declaration upon an Insimul computassent is to say, That the Plaintiff and Defendant, such a Day, Year and Place, Insimul inter se computaverunt de Diversis Denariorum summis per ipsum (the Defendant) eidem (the Plaintiff) præantea ibidem debuit, & insulat. existen' & super compoto illo idem (the Defendant) adunc & ibidem inventus fuit in Arreragiis erga eundem (the Plaintiff in so much) prædiditque Defensente sic in Arreragiis invent. existen. adunc & ibidem in Consideratione inde super se Assumpsit, &c.

Insimul tenuit, Is one Species of the Writ of Formedon, brought against a Stranger by a Coparcener on the Possession of the Ancestor, &c. See Formedon.

Insinuation, (Insinatio) Is a Creeping into a Man's Mind or Favour covertly; mentioned in the Stat. 21 Hen. 8. cap. 5. Insinuation of a Will is among the Civilians, the first Production of it; or leaving it in the Hands of the Register, in order to its Probate.

Insolvent Debtors, Unable to pay their Debts, &c. See Debtors.

Insupermus,

Inſpeximus, Is a Word used in Letters Patent giving Name to them, being the ſame with Exemplification, and called Inſpeximus, becauſe it begins Rex omnibus, &c. Inſpeximus Irrotulamentum quarund. Litterar. Patenti, &c. 5 Rep.

Inſtallment, A Settlement, Eſtabliſhing, or ſure Placing in; as Inſtallment into Dignities, &c. 20 Car. 2. c. 2.

Inſtant, (Lat. Inſtans, Inſtans) Is defined by the Logicians to be, Unum indiviſibile in Tempore, quod non eſt Tempus, nec pars Temporis, ad quod tamen partes Temporis copulantur; and though it cannot be actually divided, yet in Intendment of Law it may, and be applied to ſeveral Purpoſes: He who lays violent Hands upon himſelf commits no Felony 'till he is dead, and when dead he is not in Being ſo as to be termed a Felon; but he is ſo adjudged in Law eo Inſtante, at the very Inſtant of this Fact done. And there are many other like Caſes where the inſtant Time that is not dividable in Nature, in the Conſideration of the Mind is divided. Plowden's Com.

Inſtanter, (Lat.) Inſtantly or preſently. Law. Lat. Dict.

Inſtaurum, Is uſed in ancient Deeds for a Stock of Cattle; and we read of Staurum and Inſtauramentum, properly young Bealts, Stare or Breed. Mon. Angl. Tom. 1. pag. 548. Inſtaurum was commonly taken for the whole Stock upon a Farm, as Cattle, Waggon, Ploughs, and all other Implements of Husbandry. Fleta, lib. 2. cap. 72. And Inſtaurum Eccleſiæ is applied to the Books, Veſtments, and all other Utenſils belonging to a Church. Synod. Ext. Ann. 1287.

Inſtirpare, To plant or eſtabliſh. — Non ſecurum eſt Gentem externam & turbidam Inſtirpare. Brompt. 935.

Inſtitution, (Inſtitutio) Is when the Biſhop ſays to a Clerk, who is preſented to a Church Living, Inſtituo te rectorum talis Eccleſiæ, cum Cura animarum, & accipe curam tuam & meam: Or it is a Faculty made by the Ordinary, whereby a Parſon is approved to be inducted to a Rectory or Parſonage. If the Biſhop upon Examination finds the Clerk preſented capable of the Benefice, he admits and inſtitutes him; and Inſtitution may be granted either by the Biſhop under his Episcopical Seal; or it may be done by the Biſhop's Vicar General, Chancellor or Commiſſary; and if granted by the Vicar General, or any other Substitute, their Acts are taken to be the Acts of the Biſhop: Alſo the Inſtrument or Letters Teſtimonial of Inſtitution may be granted by the Biſhop, though he is not in his Dioceſe; to which ſome Witneſſes ſhould ſubſcribe their Names. 1 Inſt 344. Clergym. Law. 109. The Biſhop by Inſtitution transfers the Cure of Souls to the Clerk; and if he reſuſeth to grant Inſtitution, the Party may have his Remedy in the Court of Audience of the Archbiſhop, by Duplex Quereſa, &c. for Inſtitution is properly cogniſable in the Eccleſiaſtical Court: Where Inſtitution is granted and ſuſpected to be void for Want of Title in the Patron, &c. a Superinſtitution hath been ſometimes granted to another, to try the Title of the preſent Incumbent by Ejectment. 2 Roll. Abr. 220. 4 Rep. 79. Taking a Reward for Inſtitution incurs a Forfeiture of double Value of one Year's Profit of the Benefice, and makes the Living void. Stat. 31 Eliz. c. 6. On Inſtitution the Clerk hath a Right to enter on the Parſonage houſe and Glebe, and take the Tithes; but he cannot grant, let, or do any Act to charge them, till he is inducted into the Living: He is compleat Parſon as to the Spirituality, by Inſtitution; but not as to the Temporality, &c. By the Inſtitution he is only admitted ad Officium, to pray and preach; and is not entitled ad Beneficium, until formal Induction. Plowd. 528. The Church is ſull by Inſtitution againſt all common Perſons, ſo that if another Perſon be afterwards inducted, it is void, and he hath but a meer Poſſeſſion; but a Church is not ſull againſt the King till Induction. 2 Inſt. 358. 1 Roll. Rep. 151. When a Biſhop hath given Inſtitution to a Clerk, he iſſues his Mandate for Induction; and if the Archbiſhop ſhould inhibit the Archdeacon to induct the Clerk thus inſtituted, he may do it notwithstanding. 4 Rep. The firſt Beginning of Inſtitutions to Benefices, was in a National Synod held at Westminster, Anno 1124. For Patrons did originally fill all Churches by Collation and Livery; till this Power was taken from them by Canons. Selden's Hiſt. of Tithes, cap. 6 & 9 pag. 375. See Induction.

Inſuper, Is uſed by Auditors in their Accounts in the Exchequer; as when ſo much is charged upon a Perſon as due on his Account, they ſay ſo much remains inſuper to ſuch an Accountant. 21 Jac. 1. cap. 2.

Inſurance, Is where a Man for a Sum of Money paid him by a Merchant obliges himſelf to make good the Loſs of a Ship, &c. ſo far as the Value of the Premium extends. Inſurances are either Publick or Private; the firſt done at the publick Office of Aſſurance, and the Latter agreed upon between Merchant and Merchant in private: And all Inſurances, whether publick or private, muſt be made upon the Ship, or on the Goods, or upon Ship and Goods: And ſome Inſurances are to Places certain, and others General; in trading Voyages, where Ships deliver their Goods, at one Port, and take in freſh Cargoes, and then proceed to other Places, &c. which being dangerous, the Premium runs higher than that of any other certain Voyage. Merch. Compan. 90. Any Man may make a private Policy of Inſurance; and there is no fixed Price for the Rates of Inſurances, which riſe and fall according to the State of the Nation in Peace or War, the Season of the Year, and other various Occurrences: In former Wars the Rates of Inſurance on a good Ship, from London to any Port or Place in the East-Indies, &c. and back, was 16 per Cent. but in the late War, in the Reign of K. William, the Premium of Inſurance for the like Voyage was about 22 per Cent. And when a Ship hath been long miſſing, and no Advice can be had where ſhe is, the Premium in Time of War will run very high; ſometimes 30 or 40 per Cent. but then theſe Words are inſerted in the Inſurance, Loſt or not Loſt; and in ſuch Caſe, if it happens at the Time the Subscription is made, that the Ship is caſt away, the Inſurers muſt answer: But if the Party that cauſed the Inſurance to be made, ſaw the Ship wrecked, or had certain Intelligence of it, ſuch Subscription will not be Obligatory; ſo likewiſe if the Inſured having a rotten Ship, ſhall inſure upon the ſame more than ſhe is worth, and afterwards going out of the Port ſhe is ſunk or wrecked, this will be adjudged fraudulent, and not oblige Inſurers to answer. Mich. 26 Car. 2. B. R. And wilfully Caſting away, or making Holes in the Bottom of a Ship, &c. with Deſign to prejudice any Inſurers, Merchants, &c. is made Felony by Stat. 1 Ann. and 11 Geo. 1. Subſcriptions for Inſurances are generally for certain Sums; as 100 l. or 500 l. &c. at the Premium current; and if a Man inſures Goods to the Value of 5000 l. and he hath but 2000 l. remitted, now he having inſured a real Adventure, if a Loſs happens, by the Law Marine, all the Inſurers are compellable to answer pro rata: Though this is more by the Cuſtom of Merchants than by Law; and by ſome Opinions, only the firſt Subſcribers, who underwrit ſo much as the real Adventure amounted to, are to be made liable, and the Reſt to have their Premiums deducted, and be diſcharged. Grot. Introd. Jur. Holl. 212. If a Merchant freights out Wool, &c. which occasions a Forfeiture of Ship and Lading; or if he lades contraband Goods knowingly, and afterwards inſures the ſame, and they are ſeized by the King's Officers; the Inſurers are not liable to bear the Loss: But if Goods insured are not contraband at the Time of the Lading and Insurance, and after become such, if they are then seized, the Insurers are answerable. 12 Car. 2. 32. And if Goods and Merchandise be lawfully insured, and afterwards the Ship becomes disabled, by Reason of which, with the Consent of the Supercargo or Merchant, they are re-laden into another Vessel; and that Vessel proves the Ship of an Enemy, by Reason of which, on her Arrival, she is subject to Seizure; in this Case it is said the Insurers are liable, for that is an Accident within the Intention of the Policy of Insurance, which mentions Dangers of Seas, Enemies, &c. Yet where Goods are insured in a Ship bound to any foreign Port, and in the Voyage she happens to be leaky or receive other Damage, and another Vessel is freighted for the Preservation of the Goods; and then the second Vessel is lost at Sea, it is said the Insurers are discharged without a special Clause to make them liable. Lex Mercat. or Mercb. Compan. 93. If a Ship be insured from the Port of London to any foreign Place, and before the Ship breaks Ground she happens to take Fire, and is consumed, the Insurers are not obliged to answer, unless the Words of the Insurance are At and from the Port of London; for the Adventure did not commence till the Ship was gone from thence: Though if the Ship had broken Ground, and afterwards been driven by Storm back to the Port of London, and there had took Fire, the Insurers must answer. Rot. Scaccar. 15 Car. 2. Goods are stolen or imbezilled on Ship board, the Master, and not the Insurers are liable: And when Insurers are to answer, and it happens that some Part only of the Effects insured are lost, as in the Case of Ejections in a Storm, or other such Accidents; then the Insurers make an Average of it, and each Man pays so much per Cent. in Proportion to the Sum for which he subscribed. If a Ship arrives safe, after the Adventure is born, generally the Insurers receive their Money; but if a Loss happens, the Premium is deducted with the usual Abatement, and the Insured receive about 80 per Cent. &c. And when Advice is received of the Loss of the Ship or Goods, Application is to be made to the Insurers, and the Vouchers to be produced; with which, if they are satisfied, they will pay the Money; but if they have reasonable Ground to scruple it, the Insured must wait a convenient Time, till the Insurers can obtain a more satisfactory Advice; or if nothing can be heard of the Ship in any reasonable Time, the Insurers are obliged forthwith to pay the Money: Though if after that the Ship shall arrive in Safety, the Money is to be returned them by the Insured. Merc. Compan. 91, 96, 97. A Merchant having insured the greatest Part of the Adventure of a Ship, if Advice is received of a Loss, but with Hope of Recovery, whereby such Merchant would have the Assistance of the Insurers; he has a Privilege to make a Renunciation of the Lading to the Insurers, and to come in himself in the Nature of an Insurer, for so much as shall appear he hath born the Adventure of, beyond his Part of the Value insured. Insurance may be made on Men's Heads; as where a Man is in Danger of being taken into Slavery by the Moors, whereby a Ransom must be paid for his Redemption, he may advance a Premium, in Consideration of which the Insurer must answer the Ransom secured, if there be a Caption. Micb. 29 Car. B. R. Also Mens Lives may be insured at Land: And Policies of Insurance are used in other Matters, where Damage is feared; in Case of Houses or Goods, from Loss by Fire, &c. By the Stat. 19 Geo. 2. c. 37. No Assurance shall be made by any Person on any Ship belonging to his Majesty or his Subjects, (except Privateers, and by the Owners of them) or on any Goods laden on board such Ship, Interest or no Interest, or without further Proof of Interest than the Policy, or by Way of Gaming or Wagering, or without Benefit of Salvage to the Affurer. And every such Assurance shall be void. Re-assurance shall not be made except the Affurer becomes insolvent, and then but to the Value before assured, and to be expressed in the Policy to be Re-assurance. The Plaintiff in any Action upon a Policy of Assurance, shall within fifteen Days after Request, declare what Sums he hath assured in the Whole, or borrowed at Respondentia or Bottomree for the Voyage. Any Person sued on a Policy of Assurance may bring the Money into Court, and if the Plaintiff shall refuse to accept it, and the Jury shall not assess more Damages than the Money brought into Court, the Plaintiff shall pay Costs. See Bottomree.

Form of a Policy of Insurance.

K NOW all Men by these Presents, That A. B. of, &c. Merchant, as well in his own Name, as for and in the Name and Names of all and every other Person and Persons, to whom the same may or shall appertain, doth make Assurance and hereby cause himself and them, and every of them, to be *insured, lost or not lost, at and from the Port of London to, &c. in the Kingdom of, &c. and at and from thence back to London, upon the Body, Tackle, Apparel, Ordnance, Munition, Artillery, and other Furniture of and in the good Ship Elizabeth, Burden, &c. or thereabouts, whereof, &c. is Master, and also upon all Kinds of Goods and Merchandizes shipped on board the said Ship; beginning the Adventure upon the said Ship and Goods, from and immediately following the Day of the Date hereof, and so to continue and endure, until the said Ship, with her said Tackle, Apparel, &c. shall be arrived back at London, and both there moored at Anchor twenty four Hours. And it shall be lawful for the said Ship in this Voyage to proceed and sail to, and touch and stay at, any Ports or Places whatsoever, especially at, &c. without Prejudice to this Insurance; and the said Ship and Goods, &c. for so much as concerns the Insured, is and shall be rated and valued at, &c. Sterling, without further Account to be given by the Affurers for the same. And touching the Adventures and Perils, which the Insurers are content to bear, and do take upon us, they are of the Seas, Men of War, Fire, Enemies Pirates, Rovers, Thieves, Letters of Mart, and Reprisals at Sea, Arrests, Restraints and Detainments of all Kings, Princes and People, of what Nation, Condition or Quality soever, Barratry of the Master and Mariners, and all other Losses and Misfortunes that shall come to the Hurt or Damage of the said Ship, &c. or any Part thereof. And in Case of any Misfortune, it shall be lawful for the Insured, their Factors, Servants and Assigns, to sue, labour, and travel for, in and about the Defence, Safeguard, and Recovery of the said Ship, &c. or any Part thereof, without Prejudice to this Insurance; to the Charges whereof we the Insurers will contribute each of us according to the Rate and Quantity of his Sum herein assured. And so we the Insurers are contented, and do hereby promise, and bind ourselves, each for his own Part, our Heirs, Executors, Goods and Chattels, to the Insured, their Executors, Administrators and Assigns, for the true Performance of the Premises, confessing ourselves paid the Consideration due to us for this Insurance, by, &c. at and after the Rate of, &c. per Cent. and in Case of Loss, to abate, &c. And to pay without farther Proof, &c. more than this present Policy, any Use or Custom to the contrary notwithstanding. In Witness, &c.*

By 43 Eliz. c. 12. an Office of Insurance was erected for deciding of Differences arising upon Policies of Insurance in London; and a Court was to be held for that Purpose by Virtue of a Standing Commission issued out by the Lord Chancellor to the Judge of the Court of Admiralty, the Recorder of London, two Doctors of the Civil Law, and two Common Lawyers, and eight Merchants; which Commissioners were to meet weekly, and to have Power to summon and examine Witnesses, and hear and determine all Causes in a summary Way, subject to Appeal to the Lord Chancellor, &c. And by Stat. 14 Car. 2. c. 25. several additional Privileges were granted to this Court, which was a Court of Equity, as well as of Law; but now there is no such Court in Being, and Causes of this Nature are tried in the ordinary Courts. The 6 Geo. 1. c. 18. empowers his Majesty to grant two Charters for Insurance of Ships and Merchandize, &c. and to incorporate the Adventurers, in Consideration of a large Sum of Money advanced; and all other Corporations for Insurance, and their Policies, are declared void. By 11 Geo. 1. c. 30. Policies of Insurance shall be made out and stamped in three Days after Ships are insured, on Pain of 100 l. and promissory Notes for Insurance shall be void, and nothing recovered thereon. Where any Person undertakes the Insuring of Wool to be transported, or agrees to pay Money for such Insurance, he is liable to forfeit 500 l. But one may be discharged of this Penalty, and have likewise the whole Forfeiture, on discovering, and convicting the other guilty Party, in six Months. Stat. 2 Geo. 2. c. 21.

Intakers, Were a Kind of Thieves in the Northern Parts of England, so called, because they did take in and receive such Booties as their Confederates the Outpartners brought to them from the Borders of Scotland; they are mentioned 9 H. 5. cap. 7.

Intendment of Law, (Intellectus Legis) The Understanding, Intention, and true Meaning of the Law. Co. Lit. 78. Intendment shall sometimes supply that which is not fully expressed or apparent, and when a Thing is doubtful in some Cases, Intendment may make it out; also a great many Things shall be intended after Verdict, in a Cause, to make a good Judgment: But Intendment cannot supply the Want of Certainty in a Charge in an Indictment for any Crime, &c. 5 Rep. 121. 2 Hawk. P. C. 227, 441. Sometimes a Thing is necessarily intended by what precedes or follows it; and where an indifferent Conclusion may have two Intendments, the Rule is to take it most strongly against the Plaintiff. Show. 162. Though if a Plaintiff declares, that the Defendant is bound to him by Obligation, it shall be intended that the Obligation was sealed and delivered: If one is bound in a Bond to another, and in the Solvend. of the Bond it is not expressed unto whom the Money shall be paid, or it said to the Obligor; the Law will intend it is to be paid to the Obligee: And where no Time is limited for Payment of the Money, it shall be intended to be presently paid. 2 Lill. Abr. 71. Pasch. 24 Car. B. R. The Intent of Parties in Deeds, Contracts, &c. is much regarded by the Law; though it shall not take Place against the direct Rules of Law: The Law doth not in Conveyances of Estates, admit them regularly to pass by Intendment and Implication; in Devises of Lands, they are allowed, with due Restrictions. Vaugh. 261, 262. Where Seisin of an Inheritance is once alledged; it shall be intended to continue till the contrary is shewed. Jones 181. And a Court pleaded generally to be held secund. Consuetud. shall be intended held according to the Common Law. Com. Law Com. Plac. 276. Goldsb. 111. On an Act of Parliament, the Intent may be put in Issue; but the Common Law doth not allow of it. Jenk. Cent. 87, 88. See Implication.

Intendment of Crimes. In ancient Times felonious Attempts, intending the Death of another, were adjudged Felony; for the Will was taken for the Fact. Brañ. 1 E. 3. But at this Day the Law does not generally punish Intendments to do ill, if the Intent be not executed; except it be in Case of Treason, where Intention proved by Circumstances shall be punished as if put in Execution. 3 Inst. 108. And if a Person enter a House in the Night, with Intent to commit Burglary, it is Felony: And by Statute, maliciously Cutting off or Disabling any Limb or Member, with an Intent to disfigure, &c. is Felony. Plowd. 474. 23 Car. 2. c. 1. Where Assault and Intent to commit Robbery on the Highway, is made Felony and Transportation, see 7 Geo. 2. c. 21. Intention of Force and Violence makes Riots criminal. 3 Inst. 9. Also where Men do Evil, and say they intend none; or if the Intention be only to beat, and they kill a Person, they are to be punished for the Crime done. Plowd. 345. And if a Man entering a Tavern, &c. commit a Trespass, the Law will judge that he intended it. 8 Rep. 147. Vide Murder.

Intercommoning, Is where the Commons belonging to two Manors lie contiguous, and the Inhabitants of both have, Time out of Mind, depastured their Cattle in each of them. Terms de Ley 411.

Interdict, Is an Ecclesiastical Censure, by which Persons are prohibited to hear Divine Service, or to have the Sacraments administered them, or Burial. The Canon Law, with which the Common Law agrees, defines it thus: Interdictio est Censura Ecclesiastica prohibens Administrationem Divinorum: And so it is used in the Statute 22 H. 8. c. 12. There is an Interdict of Places as well as of Persons; an Interdict of Place is when Divine Service is forbidden to be had in such a Church, and is only with Regard to that Church or Place, so that the Persons may be received into another Church, though not into their own; but an Interdict of Persons follows them wherever they remove: And by a mixed Interdict, both the People and the Church, &c. are subjected to this Censure. Sometimes an Interdict is a general Excommunication of a whole Kingdom or Country: And Knighton tells us, that Anno 1208, the Pope excommunicated King John of England, and all his Adherents, Et totam Terram Anglicanam supposuit Interdicto, which begun the first Sunday after Easter, and continued above six Years; during all which Time nothing was done in the Churches besides Baptism and Confessions of dying People. The Form of an Interdict, as set down by Du Cange, is as follows, viz.

IN the Name of Christ, We the Bishop, in Behalf of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, and of St. Peter, the Chief of the Apostles, and in our own Behalf, do excommunicate and interdict this Church, and all the Chapels therunto belonging, that no Man from henceforth may have Leave to sing Mass, or to bear it, or in any wise to administer any Divine Office, nor to receive God's Tithes without our Leave; and whosoever shall presume to sing or bear Mass, or perform any Divine Office, or to receive any Tithes contrary to this Interdict, on the Part of God the Father Almighty, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, and on the Behalf of St. Peter, and all the Saints, let him be accursed and separated from all Christian stian Society, and from Entering into Holy Mother Church, where there is Forgiveness of Sins; and let him be Anathema Maranatha for ever with the Devils in Hell. Fiat, Fiat, Fiat. Amen.

This severe Church Censure hath been of long Time difused.

Interdicted of Water and Fire, Were anciently thote Persons who suffered Banishment, for some Crime; by which Judgment, Order was given, that no Man should receive them into his House, but deny them Fire and Water, the two necessary Elements of Life, which amounted as it were to a Civil Death; and this was called Legitimum Exilium, says Livy.

Interest, (Interesse) Is commonly taken for a Chattel Real, as a Lease for Years, &c. and more particularly for a future Term; in which Case, it is said in Pleading, that one is possessed De Interesse Termini. Therefore an Estate in Lands is better than a Right or Interest in them: Though in legal Understanding an Interest extends to Estates, Rights and Titles, that a Man hath in or out of Lands, &c. so as by Grant of his whole Interest in such Land, a Reversion therein as well as Possession in Fee simple shall pass. Co. Litt. 345.

Interest of Money, As distinguished from the Principal, what lawful, &c. See Usury.

Interlocutory Order, (Ordo Interlocutorius) Is that which decides not the Cause, but only some incidental Matter, which happens between the Beginning and End of it; as where an Order is made in Chancery, for the Plaintiff to have an Injunction, &c. till the Hearing of the Cause: This, or any such Order, not being final, is Interlocutory.—Ordo Interlocutorius non definit Controversiam, sed aliquid obiter, ad Causam pertinens, decernit. Lanc. Inst. Juris Canon. lib. 3.

Interlopers, Persons that intercept the Trade of a Company of Merchants. Merch. Diſt.

Interpleader In Actions, see Enterpleader.

Interrogatories, Are particular Questions demanded of Witnesses brought in to be examined in a Cause, especially in the Court of Chancery. And these Interrogatories must be exhibited by the Parties in Suit on each Side; which are either direct for the Party that produces them, or counter on Behalf of the adverse Party; and generally both Plaintiff and Defendant may exhibit, direct and counter, or cross Interrogatories. They are to be pertinent, and only to the Points necessary, and either drawn or perused by Counsel, and be signed by them; if they are leading, viz. such as these, Did you not do or see such a Thing, &c. the Depositions on them will be suppressed; for they should be drawn, Did you see, or did you not see, &c. without leaning to either Side; and not only where they point more to one Side of the Question than the other; but if they are too particular, they will be likewise suppressed: The Commissioners, &c. who examine the Witnesses on the Interrogatories, must examine to one Interrogatory only at a Time; they are to hold the Witnesses to every Point interrogated; and take what comes from them on their Examinations, without asking any idle Questions, or putting down any impertinent Answers not relating to the Interrogatories, &c. Practif. Atorn. first Edit. 225. See Depositions.

Intertiare, In the Saxon Laws signified to sequester, or put into a third Hand; as when any Thing was stolen and sold to another, and afterwards demanded by the right Owner of him in whose Possession it was found, it was then usual to sequester the Thing to a third Person, who was allowed to keep it till the Buyer produced the Seller, and so on to the Thief. Leg. Inæ, c. 27, 52. LL. Ed. Confess. c. 25.

Intestates, (Intestati) Those that die without making any Will or Disposition of their Estates. Formerly he who died Intestate was accounted by the Churchmen damned, because he was obliged by the Canons to leave at least a tenth Part of his Goods to pious Uses, for the Redemption of his Soul; and whoever neglected so to do, was adjudged to take no Care of his Salvation; and no Difference was made between a Suicide and an Intestate; for as the one forfeited his Goods to the King, so by the other they were forfeited to the chief Lord: But because it often happened by sudden Diseases, that People died without making any Distribution of their Goods to pious Uses; therefore by subsequent Canons, the Bishops had Power to make such a Disposition, as the Intestate himself was bound to do; and 'tis said by this Means the Spiritual Court came first to have Jurisdiction in Testamentary Cases. Matt. Paris. Anno 1190. By the Stat. Westm. 2. Goods of Intestates were to be committed to the Ordinary, to answer the Debts of the Deceas'd, &c. And the 22 & 23 Car. 2. cap. 10. appoints a Distribution of Intestate's Estates, after Debts and Funeral Expences are paid, among the Wife and Children of the Deceas'd; or for Want of such, the next of Kin, &c. And the Act of Parliament doth immediately, upon the Death of the Intestate, vest an Interest in the Persons intitled; so that if any one dies before the Distribution, though within the Year, his Share shall go to his Executors or Administrators; and not to the Survivors and next of Kin to the Intestate. 1 Lill. Abr. 487. If a Man makes a Will and Executors, and they refuse the Executorship, in such Case he dies quasi Intestatus. 2 Inst. 397. See Administrators.

Intestates Estates, Are the Goods and Chattels of Persons dying Intestate. 2 Lill. Abr. 73.

Intrare Mariscum, Signifies to drain any low Ground, and by Dikes, Walls, &c. take in and reduce it to Herbage or Pasture; whence comes the Word Innings. Will. Thorn.

Intrusion, (Intrusio) Is when the Ancestor dies seized of any Estate of Inheritance, expectant upon an Estate for Life, and then Tenant for Life dies, between whose Death and the Entry of the Heir, a Stranger intrudes. Co. Lit. 227.—Intrusio est, ubi quis, cui nullum jus competit in re nec scintilla juris, possessionem vacuum ingreditur, &c. Bract. lib. 4. cap. 2. By which Intrusion signifieth an unlawful Entry into Lands or Tenements void of a Possessor, by him that hath no Right unto the same: And the Difference between an Intruder and an Abator is this, that an Abator entreteth into Lands void by the Death of a Tenant in Fee; and an Intruder enters into Land void by the Death of Tenant for Life or Years. F. N. B. 203. And there is a Writ of Intrusion, that lies where the Tenant for Life, &c. dies; but if a Man doth intrude after the Death of such a Tenant, he in Reversion in Tail, shall not have this Writ, but is put to his Formedon: For it lieth only for him who hath the Reversion in Fee-simple, &c. after the Death of Tenant for Life, or in Dower, &c. New Nat. Br. 509. Also one having such a Fee Estate in Remainder, shall have Writ of Intrusion; and the Assignee of the Remainder may bring it, as well as an Heir, &c. Ibid. As he that enters and keeps the right Heir from the Possession of his Ancestor is an Intruder punishable by Common Law; so he that enters upon the King's Lands and takes the Profits, is an Intruder against the King. Co. Litt. 277. For this Intrusion Information may be brought; but before Office found, he who occupies the Land shall not be said to be an Intruder, for Intrusion cannot be but where the King is actually possessed, which is not before Office; though the King is entitled to the mesne Profits after the Tenant's Estate ended. Moor 295. By Stat. 21 Jac. 1. cap. 14. the Defendants may plead the General Issue in Informations of Intrusion, brought on Behalf of the King, and retain their Possession till Trial; where the King hath been out of Possession, and not received the Profits for twenty Years: And no Scire facias shall Issue, where-whereupon the Subject shall be forced to special Pleading, &c.

A Writ of Intrusion.

GEORGE the Second, &c. To the Sheriff of W. Greeting: Command A. B. that he render to C. D. one Messuage and two Acres of Land with the Appurtenances in, &c. which he claimeth to be his Right and Inheritance, and into which the said A. hath no Entry but by Intrusion, which into that he made after the Death of L. B. to whom R. D. Father or Brother of the said C. whose Heir he is, that demised for the Life of the said L. B. as he saith, &c.

Intrusion de Catd, Was a Writ that lay where the Infant within Age entered into his Lands, and held out his Lord. Old Nat. Br. 90.

Intrusione, Is the Writ brought against an Intruder; by him that hath Fee-simple, &c. New Nat. Br. 453.

Inbadiare, To engage or mortgage Lands; and Invadations were Mortgages of Land.—Confirmamus eis omnes Donationes, venditiones, & Invadationes, &c. Mon. Ang. Tom. 1. pag. 478.

Inbadiatus, Is when a Person accused of any Crime, on it's not being fully proved, was put sub debita fidejussione. Blount.

Invasiones, In the Inquisition of Serjeancies and Knights Fees, Anno 12 & 13 of King John, there are some Titles called Invasiones; & Invasiones super Regem.

Inventiones, Is used in ancient Charters for Treasure-trove, Money or Goods found by any Persons, and not challenged by the Owner; which by the Common Law is due to the King, who grants the Privilege to some particular Subjects.—Quod habeant Inventiones suas in Mari & in Terra. Chart. K. Ed. 1. to the Barons of the Cinque Ports.

Inventory, (Inventorium) Is a List or Schedule containing a true Description of all the Goods and Chattels of a Person deceas'd at the Time of his Death, with their Value apprais'd by indifferent Persons; which every Executor or Administrator ought to exhibit to the Bishop or Ordinary at such Time as he shall appoint. West. Symb. lib. 2. pag. 696. By 21 H. 8. c. 5. Executors and Administrators are required to make and deliver in upon Oath to the Ordinary, Inventories indented, of which one Part shall remain with the Ordinary, and the other Part with the Executor or Administrator: And the Intention of this Statute was for the Benefit of the Creditors and Legatees, that the Executor or Administrator might not conceal any Part of the personal Estate from them: Though as to the Valuation it is not exclusive, but the real Value found by a Jury; if they are undervalued, the Creditors may take them as apprais'd; and if over-valued, it shall not be prejudicial to the Executor. 2 Nelf. Abr. 1015. But though generally all the personal Estate of the Deceas'd, of what Nature or Quality soever, ought to be put into the Inventories; yet Goods given away in the Life time of the deceas'd Person, and actually in the Possession of the Party to whom given, and the Goods to which a Husband is entitled as Administrator to his Wife, are not. 3 Bulstr. 355. And notwithstanding the Law requires that the Inventories be exhibited within three Months after the Death of the Person, if it is done afterwards, it is good, for the Ordinary may dispence with the Time, and even whether it shall be exhibited, or not; as where Creditors are paid, and the Will perform'd, &c. Raym. 470. These Inventories proceed from the Civil Law; and whereas by the old Roman Law, the Heir was obliged to answer all the Testator's Debts, Julianian ordained, that Inventories should be made of the Substance of the Deceas'd, and he should be no further charged. Justin. Inst. See Executor.

In ventre sa mere, (Fr.) In the Mother's Belly, relating to which there is a Writ mentioned in the Register of Writs, and in 12 Car. 2. c. 24. Infant in ventre sa mere, is where a Woman is with Child at the Time of her Husband's Death; which Child, if he had been born, would be Heir to the Land of the Husband: And this is sometimes privily, and sometimes open and visible. 1 Shep. Abr. 142. And the Law hath Consideration of such a Child, on Account of the apparent Expectation of his Birth: For a Devise to an Infant in ventre sa mere, shall be good by way of future executory Devise. Raym. 164. He may be vouched in his Mother's Belly; and Action lies for Detainment of Charters from him as Heir, &c. Hob. 222. Dyer 186. And in all Cases, where a Daughter or Female, comes into Land by Descent; there the Son born after, shall oust her and have the Land. 3 Rep. 61. Plowd. 375. But if the Daughter and Female Heir, cometh to Land in Nature of a Purchaser; as on a Will of Lands given to J. S. and his Heirs, and he hath a Daughter when the Devisor dies, his Wife being then with Child of a Son; in this Case the Daughter shall enjoy the Land, and not the after-born Son. 3 Rep. 61. 5 E. 4. 6. 9 H. 7. 24.

Invertare, To verify or make Proof of a Thing. Leg. Inæ, cap. 16.

Invest and Investiture, (From the Fr. Investit) Signifies to give Possession: Some define it thus, Investitura est alicujus in suum jus Introductio; a Giving Livery of Seisin or Possession. The Customs and Ceremonies of Investiture or giving Possession, were long practised with great Variety: At first Investitures were made by a Form of Words; and afterwards by such Things which had most Resemblance to what was to be transferred; as Lands passed by the Delivery of a Turf, &c. which was done by the Grantor to the Person to whom the Lands were granted: But in After-Ages, the Things by which Investitures were made, were not so exactly observ'd. Ingulph. pag. 901. In the Church, it was the Custom of old for Princes to promote such as they liked to Ecclesiastical Benefices, and declare their Choice and Promotion by Delivery to the Persons chosen of a Pastoral Staff and Ring; the one a symbolical Representation of their Spiritual Marriage with the Church; and the other of their Pastoral Care and Charge, which was term'd Investiture; after which they were consecrated by Ecclesiastical Persons. Hoveden tells us, that our King Richard being taken by the Emperor, gave this Kingdom to him, & Investit eum inde per Pileum suum; and that the Emperor immediately afterwards returned the Gift; Et Investit eum per duplicem Crucem de auro. Hoved. 724. And Walsingham says, that John Duke of Lancaster was invested Duke of Aquitaine, per Virgam & Pileum, pag. 343.

Inbitatoria & Uentarium, Those Hymns and Palms that were sung in the Church to invite the People to Prayer: They are mentioned in the Statute of St. Paul's MS.

Inboice, A particular Account of Merchandise, with its Value, Custom and Charges, &c. sent by a Merchant to his Factor or Correspondent in another Country. Stat. 12 Car. 2. c. 34.

Jobber, Is used for one that buys or sells Cattle for others. 22 & 23 Car. 2. And there are Stockjobbers, who buy and sell Stocks for other Persons, &c.

Jocalia, (Fr. Joyaux) Jewels; derived from the Lat. Focus, Foculus, and Focula, which comprehend every Thing that delighteth; but in a special and more restrain'd Sense, it signifies those Things which are Ornaments to Women, and which in France they call their own; as Diamonds, Ear-Rings, Bracelets, &c. But in this Kingdom, a Wife shall not be entitled titled to Jewels, Diamonds, &c. on the Death of her Husband, unless they are suitable to her Quality, and the Husband leaves Assets to pay Debts, &c. 1 Roll. Abr. 911.

Jocarius, A Jester; as in an old Deed we read of Jocarius Dom. Abbatis; and Joculator Regis, the King's Jester. Domesd.

Jocus partitus, Is when two Proposals are made to a Person, and he hath Liberty to chuse which he pleases. — Nec potest transigere, nec pacisci, nec Jocum partitum facere, &c. Bracl. lib. 4. tracl. 1. cap. 32.

Joinder, Is the Coupling or Joining of two in a Suit or Action against another: Duorum in eadem Actione conjunctio. F. N. B. 118. In all Personal Things, where Two are chargeable to Two, the one may satisfy it, and accept of Satisfaction, and bind his Companion; and yet one cannot have an Action without his Companion, nor both only against one. 2 Leon. 77. In joint Personal Actions against two Defendants, if they plead severally, and the Plaintiff is nonsuit by one before he hath Judgment against the other, he is barred against both. Hob. 180. A Covenant to Two, not to do a Thing without their Consent; one of them may bring an Action for his particular Damage. 2 Mod. 82. If a Man covenants with two or three severally, which he may do, and it differs from a Bond; here it was held, they could not join in Action of Covenant. March 103. But a Person, in Consideration of a Sum of Money paid to him by A. and B. promises to procure their Cattle distrained to be delivered; if they are not delivered, one joint Action lies by the Parties, for the Consideration cannot be divided. Style 156, 203. 1 Danv. Abr. 5. And if one Jointenant of Goods is robb'd, both may join in an Action: And where two Joint-owners of a Sum of Money are robb'd upon the Highway, they are to join in one Action against the Hundred. Latch 127. Dyer 307. 'Tis otherwise if they have several Properties. Ibid. Upon a joint Grievance all Parties may join; as the Inhabitants of a Hundred, &c. And where an Action against Owners of a Ship, in Case of Goods damaged, &c. is quasi ex Contractu, it must be brought against all of them. 3 Lev. 258. 3 Mod. 321. 2 Salk. 440. Though one Partner acts in Trade, where there are many Partners, Actions are to be brought against all the Partners jointly for his Acts. 1 Salk. 292. If two Men are Partners, and one of them sells Goods in Partnership, Action for the Money must be brought in both their Names. Godb. 244. But where there are two Partners in Merchandise, and one of them appoints a Factor, they may have several Writs of Account against him, or they may join. Moor 188. And if one of the Merchants dies, the Survivor is to bring the Action. 2 Salk. 444. If one Man calls two other Men Thieves, they shall not join in an Action against him; and one joint Action will not lie against several Persons for Speaking the same Words: For the Wrong done to one is no Wrong to the other; and the Words of the one are not the Words of the other. 1 Danv. 5. Palm. 313. So it is in Assault and Battery. On a joint Trespass the Plaintiff may declare severally; but it remains joint till severed by the Declaration. 2 Salk. 454. A Man cannot declare in an Action against one Defendant for an Assault and Battery, and against another for Taking away his Goods; because the Trespasses are of several Natures. But where they are done by two Persons jointly at one Time, they may be both guilty of the Whole. Styl. 153. 10 Rep. 66. If two Men procure another to be indicted falsely of Barrettry, he may have Action against them both jointly; and it is the same if Two conspire to maintain a Suit, though one only gives Money, &c. Latch 262.

Joint Actions. In Personal Actions, several Wrongs may be join'd in one Writ; but Actions founded upon a Tort, and on a Contract, cannot be joined, for they require different Pleas and different Procefs. 1 Keb. 847. 1 Ventr. 366. And where there is a Tort by the Common Law, and a Tort by Statute, they may not be joined; though where several Torts are by the Common Law, they may be joined, if Personal. 3 Salk. 203. A general Action of Trespass, and special Action of the Case, may be joined in one Action: Trover and Assumpsit may not be joined; but in an Action against a common Carrier, the Plaintiff may declare in Case upon the Custom of the Realm, and also upon Trover and Conversion, for Not guilty answers to both. 1 Danv. Abr. 4. And any Actions may be joined, where the Plea of Not guilty goes to all. 8 Rep. 47. But as to Carriers, see 1 Ventr. 365. And Judgment was arrested in Assumpsit, in such a Case. 1 Salk. 10. Ejectment and Battery cannot be joined; but after Verdict, where several Damages were found, the Plaintiff was allowed to release those for the Battery, and had Judgment for the Ejectment. 1 Danv. 3. Although Persons may join in the Personality, they shall always sever in Actions concerning the Realty; and Waste being a mix'd Action favouring of the Realty, that being more worthy draws over the Personality with it, in any Action brought. 2 Mod. Rep. 62. A Person cannot as Administrator, &c. join an Action for the Right of another, with any Action in his own Right; because the Costs will be entire, and it cannot be distinguished how much he is to have as Administrator, and how much for himself. 1 Salk. 10.

Joinder of Counties. There can be no Joinder of Counties for the Finding of an Indictment: Though in Appeal of Death, where a Wound was given in one County, and the Party died in another, the Jury ought to be returned jointly from each County, before the Statute 2 & 3 Ed. 6. c. 24. But by that Statute the Law is altered; for now the Whole may be tried either on Indictment or Appeal, in the County wherein the Death is. 2 Hawk. P. C. 523, 403. Where several Persons are arraigned upon the same Indictment or Appeal, and severally plead Not guilty, the Prosecutor may either take out Joint Venire's or several. H. P. C. 256. But after a Joint Venire, several ones cannot be taken out.

Joint Executors, Are accounted in Law but as one single Person, and Acts done by any of them shall be taken to be the Acts of every one of them; for they all represent the Person of the Testator. 2 Nels. Abr. 1026. If two Joint Executors have a Lease for Years, one of them may sell the Term without the other's Joining, because both are possessed of it as one Person in Right of the Testator; and this is the Reason why one of them cannot assign the Term to the other; and for which Cause one Joint Executor cannot compel his Companion to account. Cro. Eliz. 347. Sid. 33. If one joint Executor gives an Acquittance or Release, the other is bound by it; as they are but one Executor to the Testator, wherefore each hath an Authority over the whole Estate. 2 Brownl. 183. Kelw. 23. But if a Release is procured of one joint Executor by Fraud, for a less Sum than due; Relief may be had in Equity: And joint Executors shall not be charged by the Acts of their Companions, any further than they are actually possess'd of the Goods of the Testator. Moor 620. Cro. Eliz. 318. 2 Leon. 209. Though if joint Executors, by Agreement among themselves, agree, that each shall intermeddle with such a Part of the Testator's Estate; in this Case each of them shall be chargeable for the Whole by the Agreement as to Receipts, &c. Hardr. 314. Also it has been decreed in Chancery, that if two or more Executors join in a Receipt, and one of them only receives the Money, each of them is liable for the Whole, as to Creditors at Law; but as to Legatees, and those who claim Distribution, who have no Remedy but in Equity, the Receipt of one Executor shall not charge the other. 1 Salk. 318. Two joint Executors cannot plead distinct Pleas, because their Testator, if Living, who was but one Person, on Action brought against him, could have but one Plea. Reym. 123. Where two joint Executors have commenced a Suit, and one of them dies pending the Action, it shall abate, though he so dying had been summoned and severed; the Law is the same where they are Defendants: And all the Executors are to be named in an Action brought by joint Executors, or the Action shall abate; but where one Executor is under Age, if it be specially set forth in the Declaration, it may be good, though he be not joined in the Action. 2 Nels. 1027. It is held, where there are two joint Executors, and one has possessed himself of a Mosey of the Goods, and then dies, in that Case the Survivor shall have all. 2 P. Williams 352. See Executors.

Joint Fines. If a whole Vill is to be fined, a Joint Fine may be laid, and it will be good for the Necessity of it; but in other Cases, Fines for Offences are to be severally imposed on each particular Offender, and not jointly upon all of them. 1 Rol. Rep. 33. 11 Rep. 42. Dyer 211.

Joint Judgments. May be sometimes had: If Offences of several Persons arise from a joint Criminal Act, without any Regard to any particular personal Default or Defect of either of the Defendants; as the joint Keeping of a Gaming-house; or unlawful Hunting and carrying away Deer; or for Maintenance, Extortion, &c. an Indictment or Information may charge the Defendants jointly. 1 Vent. 302. 2 Hawk. P. C. 240. When there are more Defendants than one in an Information, they may not exhibit a Joint Plea of Not guilty; but are to plead severally, that neither they nor any of them are guilty; &c. 21 H. 6. 20. 2 Roll. Abr. 707.

Joint Lives. A Bond was made to a Woman Dum sola, to pay her so much yearly as long as she and the Obligor should live together, &c. Afterwards the Woman married, and Debt being brought on this Bond by Husband and Wife, the Defendant pleaded, that he and the Plaintiff's Wife did not live together; but it was adjudged that the Money should be paid during their joint Lives, so long as they were living at the same Time, &c. 1 Lutw. 555. And a Person in Consideration of Receiving the Profits of the Wife's Lands on Marriage, during their joint Lives, was to pay a Sum of Money yearly, in Trust for the Wife, though it was not said every Year during, &c. It was held, that the Payment shall be intended to continue every Year also during their joint Lives. 1 Lutw. 459. Lease for Years to Husband and Wife, if they or any Issue of their Bodies should so long live, has been adjudged so long as either the Husband, Wife, or any of their Issue should live; and not only so long as the Husband and Wife, &c. should jointly live. Moor 339. The Word Or may be taken disjunctively or distributively for either; when the Word And, which requires a Joining and Coupling, shall not.

Jointenants. (Simul Tenentes, or Qui conjunctim tenent) Are those that come to, and hold Lands or Tenements jointly by one Title; and these Jointenants must jointly plead, and be jointly sued and impleaded, which Property is common to them and Coparceners; but Jointenants have a sole and peculiar Quality of Survivorship, which Coparceners have not; for if there be two or three Jointenants, and one has Issue and dies, he, or those Jointenants that survive shall have the whole. Litt. 277, 280. 1 Inst. 180. They are called Jointenants, not only because Lands are conveyed to them jointly by one and the same Title; but for that they take by Purchase only; whereas an Estate in Coparcenary is always by Descent. Ibid. Where a Man is seized of Lands and Tenements, and makes a Feoffment to Two or more, and their Heirs; or makes a Lease to them for Life; or where Two or more have a joint Estate in Possession, in a Chattel Real or Personal; or a joint Estate in a Debt, Duty, Covenant, Contract, &c. it is a Jointenancy, and the Part of him that dieth goeth not to his Heir or Executor; but the Whole to the Survivors or Survivor: But an Exception is to be made as to joint Merchants, for their Stock or Debts which they have in Partnership; which go to the Executor of him that dies, by the Law Merchant, and not the Survivor. Litt. 277, 281. 1 Inst. 181. If a Father make a Deod of Bargain or Sale of Lands to his Son, To hold to him and his Heirs, &c. to the Use of the Father and Son, and their Heirs and Assigns for ever, they are Jointenants. 2 Cro. 83. And if the Father devise Lands to his Eldest and other Sons, they are Jointenants and not Tenants in Common. Goldf. 28. Popb. 52. And a Man having only two Daughters, who were his Heirs, devised his Land to them and their Heirs; and it was adjudged they were Jointenants, because they have it by the Devise in another Manner than the Law would have given it them; which would have been as Coparceners by Descent; but here the Survivor shall have the Whole. Cro. Eliz. 431. A Man devised Lands to his Wife for Life, and after her Death to his three Daughters, and the Heirs Males of their Bodies, &c. The Wife and the two eldest Daughters died; and it was held that the surviving Daughter should have the Whole for her Life, the three Sisters being Jointenants for Life, and several Tenants in Tail of the Inheritance. Lee 47. A Devise to two jointly and severally is a Jointenancy. Popb. 52. If Lands are devised to Two equally, and their Heirs, they are Jointenants; but if it had been to Two, equally to be divided between them, it generally makes a Tenancy in Common. 2 And. 17. But by Holt Ch. Justice, the Words Equally to be divided, do not make a Tenancy in Common in a Deed, but a Jointenancy; though they might in a Will. 1 Salk. 390. And it is said a Term for Years of Goods devised to Two equally, makes a Tenancy in Common, and not Jointenancy; but Land devised to Two equally, makes a Jointenancy. 3 Cro. 697. 3 Salk. 205. A Devise to Two equally to be divided, Habendum to them and the Heirs of the Survivor, is a Jointenancy. Style 211, 434. Lands are given by Will to two Persons, and the Survivor of them, and their Heirs, equally to be divided between them Share and Share alike; it is held that the first Part of the Devise makes them Jointenants for Life, and the latter Words import a Tenancy in Common, so as they are Tenants in Common of the Inheritance. 2 Petre Williams 280, 282. Where a Person devised, that all his Estate at a certain Place, should after his Wife's Decease, come to and be equally divided among other Relations, and their Heirs for ever: In this Case of Jointenancy, nothing shall survive but what did originally vest in the first Takers; and if the Persons all die before the Time their Interests commence, the Lands will never be vested in them. Barnardist. 396. One by Will gives the Residue of his personal Estate to three Persons, it is a Jointenancy, and the Survivor takes the whole; and where a Surplus of such Estate is devised to A. and B. after the Debts and Legacies are paid, on one's Dying, it will survive. 2 Petre Williams 347. Two or more purchase Land, and advance the Money in equal Parts, and take a Conveyance to them and their Heirs; this makes a Jointenancy with the Chance of Survivorship: But where the Proportions of Money are not equal, they are in Nature of Partners; and though the legal Estate survives, the Survivor shall be as a Trustee for the others, in Respect of the Sums paid by each. Abr. Cas. Eq. 291. So if where two having purchased jointly, afterwards one lays out a considerable Sum on Improvements, &c. and dies, in Equity it shall be a Lien on the Lands, and a Trust for the Representative of him that advanced it. Ibid. A Rent of 10 l. a Year is granted to A. and B. to hold to one until he marry, and to the other till he is presented to such a Church; it was holden they were Jointenants, and that if either of them die before Marriage or Presentment, the Rent shall survive. 1 Inst. 180. If Lands are given to two Men, and the Heirs of their Bodies, the Remainder to them and their Heirs; they shall be Jointenants for Life, Tenants in Common of the Estate-tail, and Jointenants of the Fee-simple. 1 Co. Inst. 183. But where a Remainder is limited to the right Heirs of two Persons, in this Case they shall take severally, though the Words be joint. 5 Rep. 8. Land is granted to a Man, and such Woman as shall be his Wife; here is no Jointenancy, but the Man will have the Whole: Though if one make a Feoffment in Fee to the Use of himself, and of such Wife as he shall after marry, for their Lives; when he takes a Wife, they are Jointenants. Co. Litt. 188. 1 Rep. 101. One Person is in by the Common Law, and another by Limitation of Use, yet they may be Jointenants by Virtue of a Deed of Grant, &c. Jenk. Cent. 330. Lands given in the Premises of a Deed to Three, to hold to one for Life, Remainder to another for Life, Remainder to the Third for Life, they are not Jointenants, but shall take successively. Dyer 160. There may be a Jointenancy, though there is not equal Benefit of Survivorship on both Sides. 1 Inst. 181. When a Fee-simple Estate is limited by a new Conveyance, there one may have the Fee, and another an Estate for Life; but when two Persons are Tenants for Life first, and one of them gets the Fee simple, there the Jointure is severed. 2 Rep. 6. If a Reversion descend upon one Jointenant, the Jointure is severed, and by Operation of Law they are then Tenants in Common. 1 Bulst. 113. And a Diversity has been taken, that where the Reversion comes to the Freehold, the Jointure is destroyed; but when the Freehold comes to him in Reversion, and to another, it is otherwise. Cro. Eliz. 470, 743. Two Infants are Jointenants, and one of them makes a Feoffment of his Moiety; this will be a Severance of the Jointenancy. Bro. Jointen. 13. A Jointenant in Fee grants a Lease for Life, and then dies; it severs the Jointure: Though if the Tenant for Life die before either of the Jointenants, then it is in Statu quo prim. Co. Litt. 193. If there be two Jointenants in Fee, and one makes a Lease for Life to a Stranger, the Freehold and Reversion is severed from the Jointure: But in Case one such Jointenant leases for Years, the Jointure of the Inheritance is not severed; and the other Jointenant shall have the Reversion by Survivorship. Lut. 729, 1173. Two Jointenants are of a Lease for twenty-one Years, and one lets his Part but for three Years, the Jointure is severed, so that Survivorship shall not take Place. 1 Inst. 188, 192. In Case three Persons are jointly interested in a Term, and one of them Mortgages his third Part; by this it has been held, the Jointenancy was severed. 1 Salk. 158. But where one Jointenant of Lands, in order to sever the Jointenancy, and provide for his Wife, makes a Deed of Gift of his Moiety to her; this being made to the Wife, and so void in Law, cannot be made good. Preced. Canc. 124. If two Jointenants be of a Term, and one commits Felony, or is outlawed, &c. the Jointure will be severed; for the King shall have the Moiety by the Forfeiture: And if the Jointenancy is of personal Things, all will be forfeited. Plowd. 410. Where there are several Jointenants in Fee-tail, and some of them suffer a common Recovery of the Whole, the Estate of the others is turn'd to a Right; and contingent Remainders may be destroy'd, and a new Estate gained thereby. Sid. 241. And if one Jointenant levies a Fine, it severs the Jointenancy; but it doth not amount to an actual Turning out of his Companion. 1 Salk. 286. A Jointenant in Fee makes a Lease for Years of the Lands to begin presently, or in futuro, and dies, it is a Severance of the Jointenancy, and cannot be avoided by the Survivor; because immediately by Force of the Lease, the Lessee hath a Right in the same Land, of all that to the Lessor belongs. Litt. 286. And it has been held, that where a Jointenant in Fee or for Life, makes a Lease for Years to commence after his Death, it is good against the Survivor. 2 Cro. 91. 2 Nels. Abr. 1037. But it has been also adjudged not good. Moor 776. Noy 157. See 2 Fern. 323. If there are two Jointenants for Life, it is said each of them hath an Estate for his own Life, and for the Life of his Companion; and for that Reason, if one of them make a Lease, it shall continue not only during the Life of the Lessor, but after his Death during the Life of his Companion, as long as the original Estate out of which it was derived: Though it hath been resolved, that such a Jointenant hath only an Estate for his own Life, and a Possibility of surviving his Companion to be entitled to his Part, and therefore if he grants over his Estate, that Possibility is gone; and if he dies, the Estate of the Grantee shall revert to him in Reversion. 1 Roll. 441. Jones 55. 3 Salk 204, 205. If one Jointenant grants a Rent-charge, &c. out of his Part, and dies, the Survivor shall have the whole Land discharged: For he hath the Land by Survivorship; and not Disceins from his Companion. Litt. 286. 1 Co. Inst. 184. And if one Jointenant in Fee make a Lease for Years, reserving a Rent, and dieth, the Survivor shall have the Reversion, but not the Rent, because he claims by Title paramount. 1 Inst. 185. Jointenants, as to the Possession of Lands in Jointure, are seized by Intireties of the Whole, and of every Part equally, (and the Possession of one Jointenant is the Possession of both) but as to the Right of the Land, they are seized only of Moieties, and therefore if one grant the Whole, a Moiety only passeth. 1 Bulst. 3. Cro. Eliz. 809. Jointenants cannot singly dispose of more than the Part that belongs to them; where they join in a Feoffment, in Judgment of Law each of them gives but his respective Part; and so it is of a Gift in Tail, Lease for Life, &c. And for a Condition broken, they shall only enter on a Moiety of the Lands. 1 Inst. 186. Every Jointenant hath a Right as to his own Share, to several Purposes, as to give, lease, forfeit, &c. But a Devise of Land, whereof the Devisor is jointly seized, is void; the Will not taking Effect till after Death, and the Title of the Survivor cometh by the Death. 1 Inst. 186. Litt. 287. One Jointenant may lease to his Companion: But one Jointenant cannot make a Feoffment, or grant to another Jointenant, though he may release. 1 Vent. 78. Raym. 187. By whatever Means one Jointenant comes to the Estate of his Companion, by Conveyance, &c. from him, it may enure by Way of Release. 2 Cro. 649. Action of Trespass or Trover may not be brought by one Jointenant against his Companion, because the Possession of one is the Possession of the other. 1 Salk. 290. Before the Stat. 3 & 4 Ann. c. 16. one Jointenant had no Remedy against his Companion to recover Damages for what he had received more than his Share; and a Jointenant might prejudice his Companion in the Personalty, by Reason of the Privy and Trust between them, though not in the Realty; but that

Statute

Statute gives Action of Account to one Jointenant or Tenant in Common, his Executors or Administrators, against the other as Bailiff or Receiver; his Executors, &c. One Jointenant may distrain for Rent alone; and he may avow in his own Right, and as Bailiff to the others, but he cannot avow solely; and he may not bring Debt alone. 5 Mod. 73. 150. If a Jointenant in Fee simple is indebted to the King, and dieth; the Lands cannot be extended in the Hands of the Survivor, who claimeth not from his Companion, but from the Feoffor, &c. 1 Inst. 185. Where there are two Jointenants, and one is indebted to the King, and dieth, the other shall hold the Land discharged of the Debt: But if Husband and Wife have a Term jointly, and the Husband is indebted to the King, and dieth, in such Case the Term shall be subject to the Debt, because the Husband might have disposed of the whole Estate. Plowd. 321. Judgment in Action of Debt is had against one Jointenant for Life, who before Execution releases to his Companion; adjudged that the Moiety is still liable to the Judgment during the Life of the Releasee; but if he had died before Execution, the Survivor should have had the Land discharged of the Debt and Judgment. 6 Rep. 78. Husband and Wife were Jointenants, and Action was brought against the Husband alone, who made Default; thereupon the Wife prayed to be received; but it was not allowed, because she was not a Party to the Writ; but he in Reversion may be received, and plead Jointenancy in Abatement of the Writ. Moor 242. If a Feme Sole and A. B. purchase a Term for Years jointly, and afterwards they intermarry, the Jointenancy continues. Dyer 318. 2 Nell. Abr. 1035. And where there are two Women Jointenants of a Lease for Years, and one taketh Husband, and dies, the Term shall survive; if the Husband hath not aliened her Part, and severed the Jointure: But it is otherwise in Case of Goods, vested in the Husband by Marriage. 1 Inst. 185. If a Jointenant doth not alienate his Part, to bar the Survivorship; Jointenants sometimes enter into Covenants not to take Advantage of each other by Survivorship. Wood's Inst. 148. When there are two Jointenants, and one aliens his Part, the Alienee and the other Jointenant are Tenants in Common; for they claim by several Titles. Litt. 292, 319, 321. And Jointenants and Tenants in Common of Inheritance, by Statute are to make Partition, as Coparceners; also Jointenants and Tenants in Common for Life or Years, may be compelled to do the same by Writ of Partition, &c. 31 H. 8. c. 1. 32 H. 8. c. 32. 8 & 9 W. 3. c. 31.

The King cannot be Jointenant with any Person, because none can be equal with him. 1 Inst. 1. Finch 83. And a Corporation cannot be jointly seised of any Estate with another. 2 Lev. 12.

Jointures of Lands. A Jointure is a Settlement of Lands and Tenements made to a Woman in Consideration of Marriage; or it is a Covenant, whereby the Husband or some Friend of his, assureth to the Wife, Lands or Tenements, for Term of her Life: It is so called, either because it is granted Ratione Juncturae in Matrimonio, or for that Land in Frank Marriage was given jointly to Husband and Wife, and after to the Heirs of their Bodies, whereby the Husband and Wife were made as it were Jointenants during the Coverture. 3 Rep. 27. By some a Jointure is defined to be a Bargain and Contract of Livelihood, adjoined to the Contract of Marriage; being a competent Provision of Freehold Lands or Tenements, &c. for the Wife, to take Effect after the Death of the Husband, if she herself is not the Cause of the Determination or Forfeiture of it. 1 Inst. 36. 4 Rep. 2, 3. And to the Making of a perfect Jointure within the Statute

27 H. 8. c. 10. to bar Dower, several Things are to be observed: 1. It must be made to take Effect for the Life of the Wife in Possession or Profit, presently after the Decease of her Husband. 2. It is to be for the Term of her own Life, or a greater Estate; but it may be limited to continue no longer than she remains a Widow, &c. 3. It must be made for herself, and to none other in Trust for her. 4. It is to be expressed to be in Satisfaction of her whole Dower, and not a Part of it. 5. It may be made before or after Marriage: If it be made before, the Wife cannot waive it, and claim her Dower at Common Law; but if it be made after Marriage, she may, at the Husband's Death; unless the Jointure be made by Act of Parliament. 1 Inst. 36. 4 Rep. 1. All other Settlements in Lieu of Jointure, not made according to the Statute, are Jointures at Common Law, and no Bars to Claim of Dower: And a Jointure was no Bar of Dower before this Statute; as a Right or Title to a Freehold cannot be barred by Acceptance of a collateral Satisfaction. 1 Inst. 36. A Father made a Settlement to the Use of himself for Life, and afterwards to the Use of his Son and his Wife, for their Lives, for the Jointure of the Wife; this was adjudged no Jointure to bar the Wife of her Dower, because it might not commence immediately after the Death of the Husband, who might die in the Life-time of the Father. 2 Cro. 489. So if a Feoffment be made to the Use of the Husband for Life, Remainder to another for Years, Remainder to the Wife for Life for her Jointure. Ibid. But a Feoffment in Fee upon Condition that the Feoffee shall make another Feoffment to the Use of the Son of the Feoffor, and to his the Son's Wife in Tail, Remainder to the right Heirs of the Feoffor, which Feoffment is made accordingly; this is a good Jointure within the Statute, and Bar to the Dower of the Wife. Moor 28. An Estate settled in Jointure, coming from the Ancestors of the Wife, and not of the Purchase of the Husband or his Ancestors, is not within the Statute 11 H. 7. as to Discontinuances, Alienations, &c. Where a Father of the intended Wife, in Consideration of Marriage, &c. covenanted to assure Lands to the Husband and Wife, his, the Covenantor's Daughter, and the Heirs of her Body, &c. this was held no Jointure, within the Meaning of the Statute 11 H. 7. c. 20. being an Advancement of the Woman by her own Father. 2 Cro. 264. 2 Lill. Abr. 80. And an Estate in Fee simple conveyed to a Woman for her Jointure, was not any Jointure within that Statute; which never extended to Lands granted to Women in Fee: But an Estate in Fee, conveyed to a Woman for her Jointure, and in Satisfaction of her Dower, is a Jointure within the Statute 27 H. 8. 4 Rep. 3. Yet an Estate for Life is the usual Jointure: And an Estate for Life upon Condition, may bar the Wife if she accepts it; as a Jointure to a Woman on Condition to perform the Husband's Will, was judged good, where the Wife entered and agreed to the Estate. 3 Rep. 1, 2, &c. If no Inheritance is reserved to the Husband and his Heirs, but the Estate is limited to the Wife for Life, or in Tail, the Remainder to a Stranger; it is not a Jointure within the Statute 11 H. 7. though made by the Husband or his Ancestor. Cro. Eliz. 2. A Husband covenanted to stand seised of Lands, to the Use of himself and his Heirs, till the Marriage should take Effect; and afterwards to himself, his Wife, and their Heirs; and it was adjudged a good Jointure within the Statute 27 H. 8. Dyer 248. A Devise to a Wife for Life, or in Tail, for her Jointure, is good within this Statute: But a Devise to a Wife generally, without expressing what Estate, is not good; because it cannot be averred to be for her Jointure. 3 Rep. 1. Though where an Assurance was made to a Woman, and it was not expressed to be made for her Jointure; it was held it might be averred to be made for that Purpose, which is not traversable. Owen 33. If Land is devised by the Husband to the Wife by Will, it is but a Benevolence: Yet if a Husband devises Land to his Wife, for Life, &c. as a Jointure in Satisfaction of Dower, and she accepts it after his Death, she will be barred. Bro. Dow. 69. 4 Rep. 4. Dyer 220. A Man makes his Wife a Jointure after Marriage; and afterwards by Will devises, that she shall have a third Part of all his Lands, with her Jointure; here the Wife will have the third Part of all as a Legacy, and if she waves her Jointure, she may have a third Part of the Residue for Dower. Dyer 62. If a Master in Consideration of Service done by his Servant, grants Lands to the Servant and a Woman he intends to marry, and the Heirs of their Bodies, creating an Estate tail; this is not a Jointure; not being a Gift of the Husband, or any of his Ancestors, but of his Master, and in Consideration of Service, which will not make the Husband such a Purchaser as the Law requires. Moor 683. But as to Considerations, if an Estate is settled in Jointure upon a Woman, in Consideration of Money paid, and also of a Marriage to be had; the Marriage shall be looked upon to be the Consideration. Cro. Jac. 474. A Husband, Tenant in Tail, Remainder to his Wife for Life, makes a Feoffment in Fee to the Use of himself and his Wife for Life, for her Jointure; it is no Bar to the Wife's Dower, because it may be avoided by a Remitter to her first Estate for Life. Moor 872. If Lands are conveyed to a Woman before Marriage, in Part of her Jointure only, and after Marriage other Lands are granted in full; it is said she may waive and refuse the Lands conveyed to her after Coverture, and retain her first Jointure Lands and Dower also. 3 Rep. 1, 5. 2 Nels. Abr. 1039. Where a Jointure is made of Lands, according to the Direction of the Statute of H. 8. before Coverture, and after the Husband and Wife alien them by Fine, she shall not have Dower in any other Lands of her Husband; but 'tis otherwise where the Jointure is made after Marriage, when the Wife's Estate is waivable, and her Election of choosing comes not till the Death of the Husband. 1 Inst. 36. A Man levies a Fine of his Land, and it is granted back again to him and his Wife for her Jointure, and to the Heirs of the Husband; then he and his Wife levy a Fine to another Use, the Wife if she survive her Husband, will have Dower notwithstanding the Fine. 1 And. 350. If the Husband make a Lease of Lands to his Friends, for any Number of Years, in Trust for his Wife and Children, that she shall have 100*l.* a Year out of it, or in any such Manner; by this she may have the Provision, which is no Jointure, and likewise her Dower. By Bridgman Ch. Just. An Estate is made to Husband in Tail, with Remainder to the Wife for Life, and Remainder to others; this is not such a Jointure, as with her Acceptance within the Statute will hinder her from Dower; and though the Husband die without Issue, it will not help it, but the Wife shall be endowed in his other Land: But if the Estate were made to the Husband and Wife for their Lives, it would be otherwise. 13 Jac. 1. B. R. 2 Step. Abr. 74. After the Death of the Husband, the Wife may enter into her Jointure, and is not driven to a real Action, as she is to recover Dower by the Common Law; and upon a lawful Eviction of her Jointure, she shall be endowed according to the Rate of her Husband's Lands, whereof she was dowable at Common Law. 1 Inst. 37. Stat. 27 H. 8. If she be evicted of Part of her Jointure, she shall have Dower pro tanto. A Wife's Jointure shall not be forfeited by the Treason of the Husband: But Feme Coverts committing Treason or Felony, may forfeit their Jointures; and being convict of Recusancy, they shall forfeit Two Parts in Three of their Jointures and Dower, by Statute 3 Jac. 1. c. 4.

If a Woman conceals her Jointure, and brings Dower and recovers it, and then sets up her Jointure, she is barred of her Jointure; and by bringing Writ of Dower for her Thirds, the Wife waives the Benefit of Entry into Lands, so as to hold them in Jointure. Cro. Eliz. 128, 137. 3 Rep. 5. See Marriage.

Jointress or Jointress, Is she who hath an Estate settled on her by the Husband to hold during her Life, if she survive him. 17 H. 8. c. 10. 1 Inst. 46. When Estates settled on a Wife are a Jointure, if the Jointress makes any Alienation of them by Fine, Feoffment, &c. with another Husband, it is a Forfeiture of the same; but if they are not a Jointure by Law, it is otherwise. 2 Nels. 1040. A Jointress within the Statute may make a Lease for forty Years, &c. if she so long live; and also for Life, and be no Forfeiture, though she levies a Fine Sur Cognissance de Droit, &c. Cro. Jac. 688. 3 Rep. 50. 1 Lill. 81. In other Cases, if she levies a Fine, it is a Forfeiture; and if a Jointress within the Statute 11 H. 7. c. 20. suffer a Recovery covinously to bar the Heir, the Heir may enter presently, &c. 2 Leon. 206. 1 Plowd. 42.

Journeys Accounts, (Distæ Computatæ) Is a Term in the Law thus understood; if a Writ abates by the Death of the Plaintiff or Defendant, or for false Latin, Want of Form, &c. the Plaintiff shall have a new Writ by Journeys Accounts, i. e. within as little Time as he possibly can after the Abatement of the first Writ; and this second Writ shall be a Continuance of the Cause, as if the first Writ had not been abated. Terms de Ley 414. When the new Writ is purchased, which must be recenter, the Plaintiff is to recite in an Entry upon the Roll, that the former Writ was abated, and shew for what: Super quo per Dietas Computat. recenter tulit quoddam aliud Breve, &c. 6 Rep. 10. This Writ is to be brought presently; and fifteen Days is held a convenient Time for the Purchase of the new Writ. 2 Lill. Abr. 83. 1 Lut. 297. Judicial Writs shall never be had by Journeys Accounts; because they never abate for Form. 6 Rep. 10. The Abatement of the Writ must be without the Default of the Plaintiff, or a second Writ may not be purchased by Journeys Accounts: If a Writ abates for the Plaintiff's Default, in his mistaking the Name of the Vill, &c. he shall not have a Writ of Journey's Accounts; but where it abates by Default of the Clerk, for any Variance or Want of Form, in such Case he may have it. 6 Rep. 10. And when an Outlawry is discharged or reverted, the Plaintiff may have Writ of Journeys Accounts; for there is no Default in him. Cro. Jac. 590. The Writ must be brought for the same Thing, and in the same Court, as the first Writ.

Iſle, (Insula) Is Land incloſed in and invironed with the Sea, or freſh Water. There are ſeveral Iſlands belonging to England; as the Iſles of Jerſey and Guernſey, Iſle of Man, &c. The Iſles of Jerſey and Guernſey are not bound by our Acts of Parliament, except they are ſpecially named; nor do our original Writs run into thoſe Iſlands: But the King's Commiſſion under the Great Seal runs there, to redreſs any Injuries or Wrongs; yet the Commiſſioners muſt judge according to the Laws and Cuſtoms of thoſe Iſles: And for Controverſies ariſing in Law, among the King's Subjects in the Iſles of Jerſey and Guernſey, &c. the King and his Privy Council are the proper Judges, without Appeal. 4 Inft. 286, 287. Wood's Inſt. 2. 458. Iſſue, (Exitus, from the Fr. Iſſuer, i. e. Emanare) Hath divers Significations in Law, as ſometimes it is taken for the Children begotten between a Man and his Wife, ſometimes for Profits growing from Amerciaments and Fines; and ſometimes for the Profits of Lands and Tenements: But it generally ſignifies the Point of Matter, iſſuing out of the Allegations and Pleas Pleas of the Plaintiff and Defendant in a Cause, to be tried by a Jury of twelve Men. 1 Inst. 126. 11 Rep. 10. The Issues concerning Causes are of two Kinds; upon Matter of Fact, or Matter of Law: An Issue in Fact is where the Plaintiff and Defendant have agreed upon a Point to be tried by a Jury; and Issue in Law is where there is a Demurrer to a Declaration, Plea, &c. and a Joinder in Demurrer, which is an Issue at Law to be determined by the Judges. 1 Inst. 71, 72. As to Issues of Fact, viz. whether the Fact is true or false, which are triable by the Jury, they are either General or Special; General, when it is left to the Jury to try whether the Defendant hath done any such Thing as the Plaintiff lays to his Charge; as when he pleads Not guilty to a Trespass, &c. Special is when some special Matter, or material Point alledged by the Defendant in his Defence, is to be tried; as in Assault and Battery, where the Defendant pleads that the Plaintiff struck first, &c. 1 Inst. 126. And when special Matter is alledged by the Defendant, both Parties join thereupon, and so go to a Trial by the Jury, if it be Quaestio facti; or to a Demurrer, if it be Quaestio juris. There is also a General Issue, where the Defendant may give the special Matter in Evidence, for Excuse or Justification, by Virtue of several Statutes, made for avoiding of Prolivity and Captiousness of Pleading; and upon the General Issue in such Cases, the Defendant may give any Thing in Evidence, which proves the Plaintiff hath no Cause of Action. 1 Inst. 283. Matter amounting to the General Issue, and special Matter of Justification, have been joined in one entire Plea, and held good. 3 Lew. 41. And where there is an Issue upon Not guilty, and there are other Issues upon Justifications, the Trial of the General Issue of Not guilty is but Matter of Form, and the Substance is upon the special Matter. Cro. Jac. 599. In real Actions, Causes grown to Issue are tried by a Jury of twelve Men of the County where the Cause of Action arises; and in criminal Cases, Issues ought to be tried in the County where the Offence was committed; but this hath admitted of some Alteration by Statute. 3 Inst. 80, 135. 2 Rep. 93. The Place ought not to be made Part of the Issue; in a transitory Action; it is not material, as it is in Real and Mix'd Actions. Trin. 24 Car. B. R. If the Place is material, and made a Part of the Issue, there the Jury cannot find the Fact in another Place, because by the special Pleading, the Point in Issue is restrained to a certain Place; but upon the General Issue pleaded, the Jury may find all local Things in another County; and where the Substance of the Issue is found, it is good, and the Finding more may be Surplusage. 6 Rep. 46. If an Issue is of two Matters in two Counties, Trial may be in one County, by the Stat. 21 Jac. for that Statute extends to Cases where the Matter in Issue arises in two Counties, and the Trial is by one only, as well as were the Matter in Issue arises in two Places in one County, and the Trial is by one. 2 Lew. 121. 2 Nels. Abr. 1050. Every Issue is to be joined in such a Court that hath Power to try it, otherwise the Issue is not well joined; for if the Cause cannot be tried, the Issue is fruitless, and if it be tried, the Trial is coram non judice. 21 Car. B. R. 2 Lill. Abr. 84. Where an Issue is not joined, there cannot be a good Trial, nor ought Judgment to be given. 2 Nels. Abr. 1042. All Issues are to be certain and single, and joined upon the most material Thing in the Cause; that all the Matter in Question between the Parties may be tried. 23 Car. B. R. 2 Lill. 85. An immaterial Issue joined, which will not bring the Matter in Question to be tried, is not helped after Verdict by the Statute of Jesuits; but there must be a Repleader: But an unformal Issue is helped. 18 Car. 2. B. R. The Statute 32 Hen. 8. c. 30. helps Misjoining of Issues. A Repleader may be awarded after Verdict, for the Badness and Uncertainty of the Issue: And a Judgment may be reversed in Error; being on an immaterial Issue. 2 Lutw. 1608. 2 Lew. 194. On a joint Trespass by many Persons, there must be only one Issue joined: And if several Offences are alledged against the Defendant, he ought to take all but one by Protestation, and offer an Issue upon that one, and no more. Moor 80. But in Action for Damages, according to the Loss which the Plaintiff hath sustained, every Part ought to be put in Issue. 1 Saund. 269. In Action upon the Case for Service done for a Time certain, the Defendant ought to put in Issue all the Time alledged in the Declaration. 2 Lutw. 268. And upon a General Issue in Waste, the Plaintiff must shew his Title. Ibid. 1547. Though when any special Point is in Issue, the Plaintiff is not obliged to set forth any other Matter. Cro. Eliz. 320. If there are several Things in a Declaration, upon which an Issue may be joined, and it is joined in any of them, it is good; and an Affirmative and an implied Negative will make a good Issue. Style 151, 210. There must be in every Issue an Affirmation on the one Part, as that the Defendant owes such a Debt, &c. and a Denial on the other Part, as that he oweth not the Debt, &c. And though the Matter contradicts, yet there must be a Negative and Affirmative of it, to make a right Issue. 1 Ventr. 213. Also a Negative should be as broad and full as the Affirmative, or it is no Negative to make an Issue; as if a Defendant pleads a Grant of four Acres, and two Acres only are denied, &c. 1 Roll. Rep. 86. It has been held, that Issue ought not to be joined on a Traverse only, without answering in the Affirmative, &c. 2 And. 6. 102. But where the Matter, which is the Gift or Cause of the Action is found, it has been adjudged good after Verdict, though there was no Negative and Affirmative to make the Issue; as where in Debt upon Bond the Defendant pleads Payment, and concludes to the Country, without giving the Plaintiff Opportunity to deny the Payment, if the Jury in such Case find the Money paid, it is good after Verdict. Sid. 341. If several Issues are joined, and the Jury give a Verdict but as to one of them, the Whole is discontinued: And where there are two Issues joined, one good and the other bad, if entire Damages are given upon the Trial on both Issues, it will be Error; but if several Damages are found, the Plaintiff may release the bad Damages, and have Judgment for the Rest. 2 Lill. Abr. 87, 88. And it is said Judgment may be entered as to one Part of the Issue; and a Nolle prosequi to another Part of the same Issue, where it may be divided. Pasch. 23 Car. B. R. There may be a Plea to Issue to Part, and a Demurrer to Part; which have no Dependence on each other. 1 Saund. 338. Where the Declaration of the Plaintiff is good, and the Plea of the Defendant is ill; if the Plaintiff in his Replication tender an Issue upon such ill Plea, and a Trial is had, and it is found for the Plaintiff, he shall have Judgment. Cro. Car. 18. And when a Plea is naught, that the Plaintiff might have demurred upon it, and he doth not, but takes Issue, and it is found for the Defendant; this is aided by the Statute of Jesuits, and the Defendant shall have Judgment: So likewise where the Replication is naught, and Issue is taken upon it, and found for the Plaintiff, he shall have Judgment. Cro. Eliz. 455. Cro. Jac. 312. If Issue be taken on a dilatory Plea, &c. and found against the Defendant, final and peremptory Judgment shall be given; but it is otherwise upon a Demurrer. Raym. 118. A good Issue is offered to the Defendant, he ought not to plead over; and if he plead over, the Plaintiff shall have Judgment. 1 Saund. 338, 318. If he does not join Issue, but demurs, it is the same. Lutw. A Plea being pleaded to the Plaintiff's Declaration, and the Plaintiff's Attorney's Hand Hand set to it, then the Issue is joined between the Plaintiff and Defendant, and not before: And the Plaintiff's Attorney is also to be paid by the Defendant's Attorney for entering the Plea; and for Paper-Books, in special Pleadings, &c. 2 Lill. 87, 88. And when Issue is joined between the Parties, it cannot be afterwards waved, if it be a good Issue, without the Consent of both Parties: But where the Defendant pleads the General Issue, and it is not entered; he may within four Days of the Term, waive that Issue, and plead specially; and when the Defendant pleads in Abatement, he may at any Time after waive his Plea of special Matter, and plead the General Issue, unless there be a Rule made for him to plead as he will stand by it. 12 W. 3. B. R. 3 Salk. 211. If the Plaintiff neglects to enter the Issue, the Term it is joined, the Defendant in the first five Days of the next Term, may alter his Plea, and plead de novo: And if the Plaintiff will not try the Issue after joined, in such Time as he ought by the Course of the Court, the Defendant may give him a Rule to enter it; which if he does not he shall be nonsuit, &c. 2 Lill. 84. In the Joining of Issue, the Common Law requires, 1st, a Plea sufficient in Law; and 2dly, a Traverse in contradictory Terms; otherwise the Verdict of the Jury is of no Force. Jenk. Cent. 69. And if the Tender of the Issue comes on the Part of the Plaintiff, the Form of it is; And this he prays may be inquired by the Record; or by the Country; and when on the Part of the Defendant, And of this he puts himself upon the Country; and the Plaintiff likewise, &c.

Issues on Sheriffs; Are for Neglects and Defaults, by Amercement and Fine to the King, levied out of the Issues and Profits of their Lands; and double or treble Issues may be laid on a Sheriff for not returning Writs, &c. But they may be taken off before estreated into the Exchequer, by Rule of Court, on good Reason shewn. 2 Lill. Abr. 89. Issues shall be levied on Jurors, for Non appearance; though on reasonable Excuse proved by two Witnesses, the Justices may discharge the Issues. Stat. 35 Hen. 8. cap. 6. Jubilee, (Annus Jubilæus) The most solemn Time of Festival at Rome, when the Pope gives his Blessing and Remission of Sins. It was first instituted by Boniface the 8th, in the Year 1300, who granted a plenary Indulgence and Remission of Sins to all those that should visit the Churches of St. Peter and St. Paul at Rome in that Year, and stay twelve fifteen Days; and this he ordered to be observed once in every hundred Years; which Pope Clement the 6th reduced to fifty Years, Anno 1350. and to be held upon the Day of Circumcision of our Saviour: And Urban the 4th in the Year 1389, ordained it to be kept every thirty three Years, that being the Age of our Saviour: After which, Pope Sixtus the 6th, reduced it to twenty-five Years. In Imitation of the Grand Jubilee of Rome, the Monks of Christ-Church in Canterbury, every fiftieth Year invited a great Concurrence of People to come thither, and visit the Tomb of Thomas Becket. And King Edw. 3. in the fiftieth Year of his Age, which was 1362, caused his Birthday to be observed at Court, in the Nature of a Jubilee; giving Pardons, Privileges, and other civil Indulgencies.

Jubileus. Because when the Jubilee was first instituted, it was ordered to be kept every hundred Years; therefore Jubileus signified afterwards a Man one hundred Years old.

Judge, (Judex) Is a Chief Magistrate in the Law, to try Civil and Criminal Causes, and punish Offences. He is appointed with a certain Jurisdiction; and our King hath the Nomination and Appointment of Judges. 2 Inst. 56. A Judge at his Creation takes an Oath, That he will serve the King, and indifferently minister Justice to all Men, without Respect of Persons, take no Bribe, give no Counsel where he is a Party, nor deny Right to any, though the King by his Letters, or by express Words command the contrary, &c. and he is answerable in Body, Land and Goods. 18 Ed. 3. c. 1. Judex est Lex Loquens, and ought to judge by Laws, and not by Examples: By Glauvil a Judge is called Justicia in abstracto, because he should be as it were Justice itself Co. Lit. 71. 7 Rep. 4. And all the Commissions of Judges are bounded with this Limitation, FaZuri quod ad Justitiam pertinet secundum Legem & Consuetudinem Angliæ. There are ancient Precedents of Judges, that were fined when they transgressed the Laws, though commanded by Warrants from the King; and it is said that Earl Typtest, who was a Chancellor, was beheaded, for acting upon the King's Warrant against the Law. Burnet's Rich. 11. pa. 38. The Judges are to give Judgment according to Law and what is alledged and proved: And they have a private Knowledge, and a judicial Knowledge, though they cannot judge of their own private Knowledge, but may use their Discretion; but where a Judge has a judicial Knowledge, he may and ought to give Judgment according to it. Plowd. 82. King Henry 4. demanded of Judge Gascoigne, if he saw one in his Presence kill A. B. and another Person who was not culpable, should be indicted of this, and found Guilty before him, what he would do in this Case; To which he answered, That he ought to respite the Judgment against him, and relate the Matter to the King, in order to procure him a Pardon; for there he cannot acquit him, and give Judgment according to his private Knowledge. Ibid. And the same King Henry, when his eldest Son the Prince, was by the Lord Chief Justice committed to Prison, for a great Misdemeanor, thanked God that he had a Son of that Obedience, and a Judge of that Courage and Impartiality. Stow. The King in all Cases doth judge by his Judges; who ought to be of Counsel with Prisoners: And if they are doubtful or mistaken in Matter of Law, a Stander by may be allowed to inform the Court, as Amicus Curie. 2 Inst. 178. Our Judges are to execute their Offices in proper Person, and cannot act by Deputy, or transfer their Power to others; as the Judges of Ecclesiastical Courts may. 1 Roll. Abr. 382. Bro. Judges, 11. Yet where there are divers Judges of a Court of Record, the Act of any one of them is effectual; especially if their Commission do not expressly require more. 2 Hawk. 3. Though what a Majority rules when present, is the Act of the Court. If on a Demurrer or special Verdict, the Judges are divided in Opinion, two against two, the Cause must be adjourned into the Exchequer Chamber. 3 Mod. 156. And a Rule is to be made for this Purpose, and the Record certified, &c. 5 Mod. 335. In Fines levied all the Judges of C. B. ought to be particularly named: But Writs of Certiorari to remove Records out of that Court, &c. are directed to the Chief Justice, without naming his Companions. 1 H. 7. 27. Jenk. Cent. 167. When a Record is before the Judges, they they ought ex officio to try it: And they are to take Notice of Statutes, and of the Terms, &c. Ibid. 298, 215. No Judge of any Court is compellable to deliver his Opinion before-hand, in Relation to any Question which may after come judicially before him. 3 Inst. 29. Judges of the Common Law, have no ordinary Jurisdiction to examine Witnesses at their Chambers; though by Consent of Parties, and Rule of Court, they may on Interrogatories; and some Things done by Judges at their Chambers, in Order to Proceedings in Court, are accounted as done by the Court. They are to have a Paper of the Causes, which are to be spoken to in Court, sent to them by the Attornies the Day before spoken to, that they may be prepared; and where special and doubtful Matter arises upon reading the Record of a Cause, so that the Judges are not for the Present satisfied of the Law, they will order Paper-Books to be made and delivered them, by the Attornies on both Sides, containing Copies of the Record, that they may the better consider of the Matters in Dispute. 2 Lill. Abr. 90, 91. A Judge shall not be generally excepted against, or challenged; or have any Action brought against him, for what he does as Judge. 1 Inst. 294. 2 Inst. 422. And to kill a Judge of either Bench, or of Assize, &c. in his Place administering Justice, is Treason: Also drawing a Weapon only upon a Judge, in any of the Courts of Justice, the Offender shall lose his Right-hand, forfeit his Lands and Goods, and suffer perpetual Imprisonment, 25 Ed. 3. cap. 2. 2 Inst. 549. Judges are not in any Way punishable for a mere Error of Judgment: And no Action will lie against a Judge for an erroneous Judgment; or for a wrongful Imprisonment, &c. 2 Hawk 4. 1 Mod. 184. The Judges of Courts of Record are freed from all Prosecutions whatsoever, except in the Parliament, where they may be punished, for any Thing done by them in such Courts as Judges; this is to support their Dignity and Authority, and draw Veneration to their Persons, and Submission to their Judgments: But if a Judge will so far forget the Dignity and Honour of his Post, as to turn Solicitor in a Cause which he is to judge, and privately and extrajudicially tamper with Witnesses, or labour Jurors, he may be dealt with according to the same Capacity to which he so basely degrades himself. 12 Rep. 24. Vaugh. 138. S. P. C. 173. Judgment, (Judicium, quasi Juris dictum) Is the Determination or Sentence of the Judges upon the Suit, &c. and the antient Words of Judgments are, Consideratum est per Curiam, &c. because Judgment is ever given by the Court upon due Consideration had of the Record and Matter before them. 1 Inst. 39. Of Judgments some are final, and some not, &c. And a Judgment may be given not only upon Trial of the Issue; but by Default, Nihil dicit, Confession, or on Demurrer; and Outlawry is a Judgment in it self. 1 Inst. 167. 2 Inst. 236. Finch 457. There is likewise Judgment for Departing in Despight of the Court, without Leave in common Recoveries, &c. And after an Issue joined in a Cause to be tried by the Plaintiff and Defendant, the Plaintiff may, if he will, without going to Trial or any Verdict, accept of a Judgment from the Defendant, which Judgment must be by Relicta Verificatiōe cognovit actionem: But on this Judgment Error may be brought without putting in of Bail, which it may not on Judgment after Verdict. 2 Lill. Abr. 104. Judgment is sometimes had with a cessat Executio; and if the Defendant gives a Judgment, with Stay of Execution, till a certain Day, the Plaintiff may notwithstanding sue forth a Capias or Fieri facias into the County where the Action is laid, returnable before the Day, to enable him at that Day to take a Testatum against the Defendant; though he shall not in that Case sue out a Capias to warrant a Scire facias against the Bail. Pasch. 22 Car. 2. If Debt be brought against an Executor upon the Bond of the Testator, and he pleads Plene Administravit, this is a Confession of the Debt; and the Plaintiff may have Judgment with a Cessat Executio till the Defendant hath Assets. 4 Rep. 2 Nelf. Abr. 1052. On Interlocutory Judgments, upon dilatory Pleas, it is in many Cases Respondeat Ouster, to answer over; and if the Plaintiff or Defendant die after interlocutory Judgment, the Action shall not abate. Stat. 8 & 9 W. 3. cap. 10. Judgment upon a Demurrer to a Declaration, &c. is no Bar to any other Action; because it is not on the Merits, and the Plaintiff may afterwards make his Declaration right, and then proceed. 2 Lill. 113. But other Judgments may be pleaded in Bar to any other Action for the same Cause; and Judgment in an inferior Court, may be alledged in Bar to an Action in a superior Court. 2 Lev. 93. A Judgment on Nil dicit, in Case, Trespas, or Covenant, &c. is not a perfect Judgment until Writ of Enquiry of Damages taken out and executed upon it, of which Notice is to be given the Defendant, and the Time of Execution, &c. But in Debt, it is a perfect Judgment as soon as signed, &c. and there needs no Writ of Enquiry. 2 Lill. 105. Where Damages are given upon a Judgment without Trial, there shall issue out a Writ of Enquiry of Damages; and when Judgment is given on Trial of the Issue, the Court gives Damages, without Writ of Enquiry. 1 Inst. 167. Judgment final ought not to be given upon Default in real Actions; but a Grand Cape upon Default before Appearance, and a Petit Cape on Default after Appearance. 1 Lev. 105. In every Case the Party in Judgment ought to be in Misericordia, or a Capiatur be against him; unless the Defendant comes primo die placiti, and confesses the Action; or it may be assigned for Error ror by either Party. Cro. Jac. 211. And if in Debt, Part is found for the Plaintiff, and the Defendant acquitted of the Residue, the Judgment must be Quod Quer. in Misericordia for that Part whereof the Defendant is acquitted. Cro. Eliz. 699. But the Statute 4 & 5 W. & M. takes away the Capiatur in Trespas, Assault, false Imprisonment, &c. and there is in Lieu thereof 6 s. 8 d. paid to the Secondary for the Fine before he signs Judgment. All Judgments given in any Court of Record, must be duly entered: The Plaintiff's Attorney, four Days after the Postea is brought into Court, if the Rule for Judgment is out, may enter Judgment for his Client by the Course of the Court. 2 Lill. Abr. 95. After a Rule to sign Judgment, there ought to be four Days exclusive of the Day on which the Rule was made, before the Judgment is signed, that the Party may have a reasonable Time to bring Writ of Error: In C. B. they never give Rules for signing Judgment, but stay till the quarto die post, which makes but four Days inclusive. Mod. Caf. 241. A Plaintiff got his Judgment signed on the very Day, but it was not executed till after the sixth Day, so that the Defendant had Time enough to bring a Writ of Error, or move any Thing in Arrest of Judgment: But the Court of B. R. held the Signing of the Judgment to be irregular, it being before the Day allowed by the Rules of the Court; and though Execution was taken out afterwards, the Judgment was set aside. 5 Mod. Rep. 205. Judgment cannot be entered until after the Postea is brought in and entered in the Office, and a Rule given thereupon for the Defendant to shew Cause why Judgment should not be entered against him; and that he may have Liberty to find out what he can to arrest the Judgment. 2 Lill. 115. If a Disfringas is returnable within Term, and the Party, &c. is tried two or three Days only before the End of the Term, the Judgment shall be entered that very Term, though there be not four Days to move in Arrest of Judgment. 1 Salk. 77. But if Verdict be given after Term, no Judgment can be given on it till the next Term following; for the Judgment is the Act of the Court, and the Court sits not but in Term. Mich. 22 Car. B. R. If Verdict pass for the Plaintiff, and he will not enter his Judgment; the Defendant by Motion of Court may oblige him to it. 2 Lill. Abr. 97. The Defendant may enforce the Plaintiff to enter his Judgment, to the End he may plead it to another Action. Latch 216. 1 Danv. 722. Palm. 281. Judgments are not only to be signed by a Judge, but entered of Record; before which they are not Judgments: And in a Judgment given to recover a Sum of Money, the Sum must be entered in Words at Length; and not in Figures, which may be easily altered; and a Judgment was reversed, because the Time when given was in Figures, and the Sum recovered expressed in Figures, &c. But the Court may amend their Judgments of the same Term, because the Term is but as one Day in Law; though they may not do it in another Term. 2 Lill. 103. 3 Lev. 430. If a Judgment be unduly obtained, the Court will vacate the Judgment, and restore the Party damnified; if not punish the Offender: But it is against the Course of the Court to vacate a Judgment the last Day of the Term. Pasch. 1656. By Statute, if the Plaintiff die before Judgment, it shall not hinder the Judgment being entered, provided it be done within two Terms after Verdict. 17 Car. 2. cap. 8. A Judgment entered in C. B. shall relate to the Effoin Day of the Term, and be a Judgment from that Time: But a Judgment in B. R. shall relate only to the first Day of the Term. Cro. Car. 102. If a Rule be given for the Defendant to plead at a certain Day, and he do not plead accordingly, the Plaintiff may enter Judgment against him, without moving the Court; though in real Actions, and criminal Causes, on Indictments, &c. there must be Motion in Court for a peremptory Rule. 2 Lill. 116. Yet a Plaintiff, after he hath signed Judgment against the Defendant, may waive it if he will, and accept of a Plea from the Defendant. Trin. 23 Car. B. R. If a Judgment be obtained, but the Plaintiff doth not take out Execution within a Year and a Day, the Judgment must be revived by Scire facias: And if the Judgment be not above seven Years standing, a Scire facias may be had to revive it without Motion. Pasch. 24 Car. B. R. If any Thing be entered in a Judgment, which is not mentioned in the Plaintiff's Declaration, the Judgment is not good. 2 Lill. 104. And where it appears upon the Record, that the Plaintiff hath no Cause of Action, he shall never have Judgment. 8 Rep. 120. Also if it appeareth to the Court that the Plaintiff hath recovered a Verdict without Cause of Action, the Court may give Judgment for the Defendant. 1 Plowd. 66. Although it appear to the Court that the Defendant's Title is not good, if the Plaintiff in his Declaration hath not set forth a good Title for himself, the Court shall never give him Judgment. 2 Lill. 98. Though the Plaintiff destroys the Defendant's Title, if he gives him another Title by Pleading, &c. the Defendant shall have Judgment; for the Court are to judge upon the whole Record. 8 Rep. 90. But if Action of Trespas is brought for Trespas done in Lands belonging to such a House, and it appears at the Trial that the Plaintiff had no Title to the House, the Court cannot give Judgment to turn him out of Possession, because that was not judicially before them. 3 Salk. 213. In Debt on Specialty, the whole and exact Sum must be demanded; or the Judgment upon it will not be good. 3 Mod. 41. If more be in the Judgment than the Plaintiff demands, it is erroneous; though this may be helped by a remisit Dampna for Part. 2 Lill. 27. Where one recovers on Action for divers Things, and hath Verdict upon the Whole, but doth waive some one or more of the Things for which his Action was brought, and hath a special Judgment; in this Case he must release his Damages to all, and yet he may have Costs of Suit. Ibid. If Issue is found against one Party in a Suit, and not against the other, Judgment may be for the Plaintiff to recover against him where the Matter is found; and a Nil capiat per Billam be entered against the Plaintiff as to the other. 1 Saund. 216. And when several Damages are recovered against several Defendants, the Plaintiff may enter a Nolle Prosequi as to one of the Defendants, &c. and have Judgment against one only for the Damages against him. 3 Mod. 101. In Trespas and Assault against three Persons, they plead severally, and are found Guilty and entire Damages are given, the Judgment is good; and where there is but one Judgment for the Damages against several, the Plaintiff may make his Election against which he will take his Judgment. Cro. Jac. 384. Cro. Eliz. 118. If one entire Judgment is given against two several Persons, and one of them is an Infant, the whole Judgment is void; (which being entire cannot be divided) except the Infant be joint Executor with the other Party. 2 Lill. 100. When a Judgment is entire, it cannot be divided, to make one Part of it good, and another Part thereof erroneous; but if it be not an entire Judgment, it may. Ibid. On Action where Damages are to be recovered, if the Declaration be good in Part, and insufficient in Part, and the Defendant Demurs upon the entire Declaration; the Plaintiff shall have Judgment for that which is well laid, and be barred for the Rest. 2 Saund. 379. And if in Action of Debt upon three Bonds, it appears that one of them is forfeited, &c. the Plaintiff shall have Judgment for the other two. 1 Saund. 286. Where a Judgment is partly by the Common Law, and partly by Statute, the Judgment at Common Law may remain and be compleat, without the other. 1 Salk. 24. Every Judgment ought to be compleat compleat and formal: One Judgment cannot determine another Judgment; and the Judges will not give a Judgment against Law, although the Plaintiff and Defendant do agree to it. 1 Salk. 213. Cro. Eliz. 817. Trin. 23 Car. B. R. In Actions personal, Judgment given against the Plaintiff upon any Plea to Bar him, is peremptory. Jenk. Cent. 52. If the Defendant doth not deny the Debt, or other Matter in Suit, but endeavours to elude the Action by insufficient Pleading: In this Case, if it be found for the Plaintiff, he shall have Judgment; but not vice versa, if for the Defendant, because the Matter of the Suit is not fully and sufficiently denied, but in some Measure confessed by the insufficient Plea. Ibid. 70. Judgment may not be given for the Plaintiff upon an insufficient Bar, if the Replication be so, and shew no Title; but a Judgment shall not be set aside for Mispleading a Point collateral to the Issue. Hob. 8, 128. In Debt upon an Obligation, the Defendant pleaded that he delivered it on a Condition to be performed by the Plaintiff, which he had not done, and therefore it was not his Deed; the Jury found for the Defendant, that the Condition was not performed, yet the Plaintiff had Judgment: For the Defendant's Plea confesses it to be his Deed, and the Verdict does not disprove it, and Issue is Deed or no Deed, &c. Jenk. Cent. 102. Here the Plaintiff hath his Judgment upon the Defendant's Confession, not upon the Verdict. Ibid. A Judgment contrary to the Verdict found in the Cause is generally void; for it is to be warranted by the Verdict. Mich. 22 Car. B. R. If a Verdict is imperfect, Judgment cannot be given upon it; and for the Incertainty of the Verdict, Judgment may be void. 2 Lill. 111. Raym. 220. Action of Debt lies upon a good Judgment, as well after Writ of Error brought as before. Raym. 100. 2 Mod. 127. And 'tis said Debt lies in the Marshall's, or in any other Courts, upon a Judgment in B. R. or C. B. and if a Nul tiel Record is pleaded, the Issue shall be tried by Certiorari and Mittimus out of the Chancery. 1 Salk. 209. Though 'tis held otherwise. 439. In Actions of Debt upon Bonds, a Rule may be made to stay Proceedings on Payment of Principal, Interest and Costs; but not in Actions of Debt upon Judgments; yet the Defendant may plead a Tender & uncove prist. Mod. Ca. 60. If a Judgment is recovered jointly against three Defendants, the Plaintiff cannot bring Action of Debt upon that Judgment against one alone. 2 Leon. 220. And it has been held, that there is this Difference where Execution is sued out upon a Judgment, and where an Action of Debt is brought upon it; that if the Plaintiff brings Debt, he must have good Ground for his Action, or he shall not recover; but he may have Execution upon a voidable Judgment; and it shall stand good till the Judgment is reversed. 1 Leon. 82. A Plaintiff shall not have a new Action of Debt on the same Bond, &c. after Judgment had on it, as long as the Judgment is in Force. 6 Rep. 2. 2 Nels. Abr. 1056. An erroneous Judgment in Chancery, is reversible in B. R. Dyer 315. And if the House of Lords reverse a Judgment of B. R. the Lords are to enter the new Judgment, and not the Court of B. R. who by the first Judgment had executed their Authority. Trin. 6 Ann. B. R. 1 Salk. 403. Judgments are to continue, till they shall be attained by Error. Stat. 4 H. 4. cap. 23. And after Verdict given in any Court of Record, there shall be no Stay of Judgment, for Want of Form in a Writ, Count, &c. or mistaking the Name of either Party, Sum of Money, Day, Month, Year, &c. rightly named in any Writ or Record preceding, &c. 18 Eliz. cap. 14. 16 & 17 Car. 2. The Stat. 8 & 9 W. 3. orders Judgment for Costs, upon Demurrers, and on suing Writs of Error, where the former Judgment is affirmed, &c. And the Statutes of Jeofails extend to Judgments upon Nihil dicit, Confession, & Non sum Informatus, &c. 4 & 5 Ann. See Error, Jeofail and Issue.

Judgments acknowledged for Debts. The Course for one to acknowledge a Judgment for Debt, is for him that doth acknowledge it to give a general Warrant of Attorney to any Attorney or some particular Attorney of that Court where the Judgment is to be acknowledged, to appear for him at his Suit, against the Party who is to have the Judgment acknowledged unto him; and also to file common Bail, and receive a Declaration, and then plead Non sum Informatus, &c. or to let it pass by Nihil dicit; whereupon Judgment is entered for Want of a Plea. 2 Lill. 105. If one gives a Warrant of Attorney to confess Judgment, and dies before it is confessed, this is a Countermand of the Warrant. 1 Ventr. 310. And if a Feme Sole gives Warrant of Attorney to confess Judgment, and marries before it is entered, the Warrant is also countermanded; and Judgment shall not be entered against Husband and Wife. 1 Salk. 399. A Man under Arrest gives Warrant of Attorney to confess a Judgment in B. R. if no Attorney for the Defendant is then present, the Court of B. R. on a Supposition that the Judgment was obtained by Force or Fear, will set aside the same. 1 Salk. 402. It has been adjudged, that if one under Arrest gives a Warrant to confess Judgment, if an Attorney be not by, it is ill: And to it is if one be seemingly discharged, with Design that he should give a Warrant of Attorney to confess a Judgment: But if one arrested by Process of an inferior Court, gives a Warrant for confessing Judgment in that Court, B. R. will not set it aside, though an Attorney be not present. Mich. 2 Ann. Mod. Cas. 85. And where one has been in Prison some Time, and he confesses Judgment to his Creditor voluntarily, that Judgment shall stand, although there be no Attorney. Farely's Rep. 115. A Judgment confessed upon Terms, being in Effect conditional, the Court will see the Terms performed: But where a Judgment is acknowledged absolutely, and a subsequent Agreement is made, this does not affect the Judgment, and the Court will take no Notice of it. Ibid. 400. A Man gave Bond and Judgment, defeasanced upon Payment of Money on such a Day, and it was agreed that Execution should not be sued out before; but a Fieri facias was sued out a Month before and executed, upon Demand and Non payment of the Money: And though this was a Breach of the Agreement, since it was for a just Debt, the Court would not undo any Thing, for Fear it should frustrate the Judgment. Mod. Cas. 49. If a Warrant be to enter Judgment as of such a Term, or any Time after, the Attorney may enter it at any Time during Life; but without those Words the Judgment must be entered the Term expressed in the Warrant: And if no Term be mentioned, it may be intended the next Term. 1 Mod. 1. Or it has been held, it may be entered within a Year after the Date of it: And if Judgment upon a Warrant of Attorney be not entered within the Year, it cannot be done without Leave of the Court, on Motion and Affidavit made of the Party's being living, and the Debt not satisfied. 2 Lill. Abr. 118. 2 Shov. 253. It is dangerous to take a Judgment acknowledged in the Vacation, as of the preceding Term; and if any such Judgment be taken, the Warrant of Attorney to confess the same must bear Date before, or in the Term whereof it is confessed: But the safest Way is to make it a Judgment of the subsequent Term; though common Practice is otherwise. 2 Lill. 103. By Holt Chief Justice, if one will enter a Judgment as of a precedent Term, he must actually enter it before the Effim Day of the succeeding Term: And if Judgment be signed in Hillary Term, and in the subsequent Vacation the Defendant sells Lands, if before the Effim of Easter Term, the Plaintiff enters his Judgment, it shall affect the Lands in the Hands of the Purchaser; and if one enters Judgment so in Vacation, when the Party is dead, the Judgment shall shall be good by Relation, if he was living in the precedent Term. 1 Salk. 401. Law Securities 74. On Complaints for Delay of Entering Judgments, the same shall be examined into by Commissioners and ordered to be entered, &c. by the Statute 14 Ed. 3. and by 29 Car. 2. c. 3. Judges that sign Judgments of Lands, are to set down the Day of the Month and Year of their so doing upon the Paper or Record; and they are to be Judgments against Purchasers bona fide only from that Signing. If any Person having acknowledged or suffered a Judgment as a Security for Money, afterwards on borrowing other Money of another, mortgage his Lands, &c. without giving Notice of such Judgment, unless he pay it off in six Months, he shall forfeit his Equity of Redemption; &c. 4 & 5 W. & M. The particular Times of entering Judgments of Debt, by Confession, Non sum Informatus, &c. and docketing them after every Term, by the Clerks of Courts, &c. is directed under the Penalty of 100 l. by Stat. 4 & 5 W. & M. cap. 20. And no Judgment shall affect Purchasers of Lands or Mortgagees till docketed; nor have any Preference against Heirs, Executors, &c. in the Administration of Estates. Ibid. Upon signing Judgment 6 s. 8 d. to be paid the proper Officer, in Satisfaction of the Capiatur Fine, &c. 5 & 6 W. & M. c. 12. To Search for Judgments a Fee is paid of 4 d. a Term.

Form of a Warrant of Attorney to confess Judgment.

To Mr. A. B. and C. D. Attornies of his Majesty's Court of Common Pleas at Westminster, or to any other Attorney of the same Court.

THESE are to desire and authorize you, (or any other Attorney of the said Court of Common Pleas) to appear for me E. F. of, &c. in the said Court, this present Easter-Term, or any other subsequent Term, at the Suit of G. H. of, &c. and thereupon to confess Judgment against me unto the said G. H. by Non sum Informatus, Nil dicit, or otherwise, in an Action of Debt for 500 l. of lawful British Money, together with Costs of Suit: And for your or any of your so doing, this shall be your sufficient Warrant. In Witness, &c.

On Judgments, a Release of Errors is usually entered into at the Time of the Warrant of Attorney given, or Judgment had. And in case of several Judgments, if Two are given in one Term, and the last is first executed, that Creditor hath the best Title. Litch 53. When a Judgment is satisfied, it is to be acknowledged on Record by Attorney, &c. Acknowledging a Judgment in the Name of another, who is not privy or consenting to the same, is Felony. Stat. 21 Jac. 1. cap. 26.

Judgment in criminal Cases. No Man can be Attainted of Treason or Felony, but on Judgment by express Sentence, or by Outlawry, or Abjuration. 2 Hawk. 447. And a Person shall not have two Judgments for one Offence; for in Outlawry which is a Judgment, Execution shall be awarded against the Offender, but no Sentence pronounced. Finch 389, 467. But one convicted of a scandalous Libel, had Judgment to pay a Fine, and to go to all the Courts in Westminster-Hall with a Paper in his Hat signifying his Crime; and on his Behaving impudently, his Punishment was increased. 1 Salk. 401. No Judgment or Punishment can be inflicted unknown to our Laws; but only by Act of Parliament. Dalij. 20. And the Law makes no Distinction, in fixed and stated Judgments, between a Peer and a Commoner; or between a common and ordinary Case and one extraordinary. 2 Hawk. 443. Judgment cannot be given for a corporal Punishment, in the Absence of the Party. 1 Salk. 400. Though Persons may have Judgment to be fined in their Absence, having a Clerk in Court to undertake for the Fine. 1 Salk. 56. Judgment in High Treason is for the Offender to be drawn, hanged, his Entrails taken out and burnt, his Head cut off, and Body quartered, &c. In Petit Treason, to be drawn to the Place of Execution and hanged: And a Woman in all Cases of High and Petit Treason, to be drawn and burnt. A Man or Woman for Felony, is to be hanged by the Neck till dead. Misprision of Treason is liable to Imprisonment for Life. In Præsumptio, the Party offending is to be out of the King's Protection, and his Body to remain in Prison during the King's Pleasure, &c. And for Misprision of Felony, Fine and Imprisonment is inflicted. 2 Hawk. 443, 444. For Crimes and Misdemeanors of an infamous Nature; Perjury or Forgery at Common Law, Gross Cheats, Conspiracy, keeping Bawdy-houses, &c. the Judgments are discretionary in the Court, by Fine, Pillory, Whipping, &c. 2 Hawk. 445.

Also Jersey hath a Bailiff and twelve Jurats, or sworn Assisants, to govern that Island. The Name is taken from the French; for in France, among others, there are Mayor & Jurats, &c. They are mentioned in the Stat. 2 & 3 Ed. 6. c. 30. And see 13 Ed. 1. cap. 26.

Juridical Days, (Dies Juridici) Days in Court, on which the Law is administered. See Day.

Jurisdiction, (Jurisdicatio) Is an Authority or Power, which a Man hath to do Justice, in Causes of Complaint brought before him: Of which there are two Kinds; the one, which a Person hath by Reason of his Fee, and by Virtue thereof doth Right in all Plaints, concerning the Lands within his Fee; the other is a Jurisdiction given by the Prince to a Bailiff, as divided by the Normans; and by him whom they called a Bailiff, we may understand all that have Commission from the King to give Judgment in any Cause. Custum. Normand. cap. 2. The Courts and Judges at Westminster have Jurisdiction all over England; and are not restrained to any County or Place: But all the other Courts are confined to their particular Jurisdictions; which if they exceed, whatever they do is erroneous. 2 Lill. Abr. 120. There are three Sorts of Inferior Jurisdictions; the First whereof is Tenere Placita, which is the lowest, and the Party may either sue there, or in the King's Courts: The second is Conusance of Pleas; and by this a Right is vested in the Lord of the Franchise to hold Pleas; and he is the only Person that can take Advantage of it, by claiming his Franchise: The third Sort is an Exempt Jurisdiction; as where the King grants to some City, that the Inhabitants shall be sued within their City, and not elsewhere; though there is no Jurisdiction, which can withstand a Certiorari to the superior Courts. 3 Salk. 79, 80. And a Court shall not be presumed to have a Jurisdiction, where it doth not appear to have one. 2 Hawk. 59. If an Action is brought in a Corporate Town, and the Plaintiff sheweth not that the Matter arises infra Jurisdictionem of the Court, it will be wrong, though the Town be in the Margin; but the County serves in the Margin for the Superior Courts. Jenk. Cent. 322. Although a Case be debated and have Judgment in the Spiritual Court, yet the King's Courts may afterwards discuss the same Matter. Artic. Cleri. Stat. 9 Ed. 2. c. 6. In some Causes, the Spiritual and Temporal Courts have a concurrent Jurisdiction. See Courts, &c.

Juris utrum. Is a Writ which lies for the Parson of the Church, whose Predecessor hath alienated the Lands and Tenements thereof. F. N. B. 48. And the Writ Juris utrum, shall be granted to try whether free Alms belong to a Church, where they are transferred, &c. by Stat. 18 Ed. 1. c. 24. If a Man intrude into Lands and Tenements, after the Death of a Parson, the Successor shall have this Writ: So if a Parson be disseised of Lands, Parcel of his Rectory, and dieth, his Successor shall have a Juris utrum. New Nat. Br. 109. But if a Person receive Rent of the Tenant of the Land, which is alienated by his Predecessor, he shall not himself have a Writ of Juris utrum; but his Successor shall have it. Ibid. 111. A Vicar shall have a Juris utrum against a Parson for the Glebe of his Vicarage, which is Part of the same Church: And the Plaintiff ought to be named Parson or Vicar, or such Name in Right of which he bringeth his Action. Ibid.

Jurox, (Jurator) Is one of those Persons that are sworn on a Jury; and the Law requires the Returning of able and sufficient Jurors. 16 & 17 Car. 2.

Jury, (Jurata, from the Lat. Jurare, to swear) Signifies a certain Number of Men sworn to inquire of and try the Matter of Fact, and declare the Truth upon such Evidence as shall be delivered them in a Cause: And they are sworn Judges upon Evidence in Matters of Fact. The Privilege of Trial by Jury, is of great Antiquity in this Kingdom; some Writers will have it that Juries were in Use among the Britains; but it is more probable that this Trial was introduced by the Saxons: Yet some say that we had our Trials by Jury from the Greeks; (the first Trial by a Jury of Twelve, being in Greece.) By the Laws of King Ethelred, it is apparent that Juries were in Use many Years before the Conquest; and they are as it were incorporated with our Constitution, being the most valuable Part of it; for without them no Man's Life can be impeached, (unless it be by Parliament) and no one's Liberty or Property ought to be taken from him. And these Juries are not only used in the Circuits of the Judges, but in other Courts and Matters: As if a Coroner inquire how a Person killed came by his Death, he doth it by Jury; and the Justices of Peace in their Quarter-Sessions, the Sheriff in his County-Court, the Steward of a Court-Leet or Court-Baron, &c. if they inquire of any Offence, or decide any Cause between Party and Party, they do it in like Manner: And at the General Assises there are usually many Juries, because there are a great many Causes, both Civil and Criminal, commonly to be tried; whereof one is called the Grand Jury, and the rest Petit Juries, of which it is said there should be one for every Hundred. Lamb. Eiren. pag. 384. Anciently the Jury as well in Common Pleas, as Pleas of the Crown, were twelve Knights, according to Glanvill and Bracton: And to make a Jury in a Writ of Right, called the Grand Assise, there must be Sixteen, viz. four Knights, and twelve others. Finch 412. The Grand Jury generally consists of twenty-four Men of greater Quality than the other, chosen indifferently out of the whole County by the Sheriff; and the Petit Jury consisteth of twelve Men, of equal Condition with the Party indicted, impanelled in Criminal Cases, called the Jury of Life and Death: The Grand Jury finds the Bills of Indictment against Criminals, and the Petit Jury convicts them by Verdict, in the Giving whereof all the Twelve must agree; and according to their Verdict the Judgment passeth. 3 Inst. 30, 31, 221. By the Common Law Jurymen are to be returned, in all Cases for Trial of General Issues, from the County where the Fact was done. S. P. C. 154. And Jurymen are to be Freemen, indifferent, and not outlawed or infamous; Aliens, Men attainted of any Crime, ought not to serve on Juries; and Infants, Persons seventy Years old, Clergymen, Apothecaries, &c. are exempted by Law from serving upon Juries. 3 Inst. 221. 2 Inst. 447. Barons of the Realm, and all above them, are not to serve in any ordinary Jury; and others may have this Privilege by Writ, or the King's Grant, &c. 6 Rep. 53. 1 Brownl. 30. But such as have Charters of Exemption, shall notwithstanding be sworn upon great Assises, and in Attaints, &c. when their Oath is requisite. 52 H. 3. c. 14. By Statute, Jurors empanelled are to be the next Neighbours, most sufficient and least suspicious; or the Officer shall forfeit double Damages. 28 Ed. 1. cap. 9. Their Qualification by 13 Ed. 1. was 40 s. per Annum Estate; which was increased to 4 l. per Annum by 27 Elix. cap. 6. and is made 10 l. per Annum Freehold or Copyhold within the same County, by 4 & 5 W. & M. cap. 24. But all Cities, Boroughs, and Corporate Towns, are excepted out of this last Act: And Trials of Felons in Corporations may be by Freemen worth 40 l. in Goods, by the 23 Hen. 8. c. 13. Panels of Juries returned to inquire for the King, may be reformed by the Judges of Gaol-delivery, &c. 3 Hen. 8. c. 12. Jurymen not appearing shall forfeit Issues, if they have no reasonable Excuse for their Defaults, viz. 5 s. on the first Writ, upon the second 10 s. and the third Writ 13 s. 4 d. 35 H. 8. cap. 6. Though no Jury is to appear at Westminster for a Trial, when the Offence was committed thirty Miles off; except the Attorney General require it. 18 Elix. cap. 5. Constables of Parishes, &c. at Michaelmas Quarter-Sessions yearly, are to return to the Justices of Peace, Lists of the Names and Places of Abode of Persons qualified to serve on Juries, between the Age of Twenty-one and Seventy, attested upon Oath, on Pain of forfeiting 5 l. And the Justices of Peace shall order order the Clerk of the Peace to deliver a Duplicate of those Lists to the Sheriff, &c. And Sheriffs are to impanel no other Persons, under the Penalty of 20*l.* &c. 7 & 8 W. 3. cap. 32. 3 Ann. cap. 18. No Sheriff, Bailiff, &c. shall return any Person to serve on a Jury, unless he hath been duly summoned six Days, before the Day of Appearance; nor shall take any Money or other Reward to excuse the Appearance of any Juryman, on Pain of forfeiting 10*l.* 4 & 5 W. & M. If a Trial is for any Thing which concerns the Sheriff or under-Sheriff, the Coroner is to return the Jury. And the Process to bring in the Jury in B. R. is a Distingas jurat', and in C. B. Venire fac' & Habeas Corpora Jurator': Upon the Venire, the Sheriff, &c. returns the Jury in a Pannel, or little Piece of Parchment, annexed to the Writ, and then goes the Writ of Habeas Corpora to bring in the Jury; and where after Issue joined, a Suit is continued on the Roll, the Process is to be continued from Time to Time against the Jurors. Br. Discontin. If the Sheriff return twelve Jurors only according to the Writ, where he ought to have returned twenty four, according to Usage, for speeding the Trial in Case of Challenge, Death, or Sicknets, &c. he shall be amerced. Jenk. Cent. 172. And the first twelve Men returned upon a Jury that do appear, are to be sworn and try the Cause, if not challenged, &c. 2 Lill. Abr. 126. But great Alteration is made in this Part of our Law, by the late Statute. Lists of Jurors qualified according to the Acts 4 & 5 W. & M. 7 & 8 W. 3. and 4 Ann. are now to be made from the Rates of each Parish, and fixed on the Doors of Churches, &c. twenty Days before the Feast of St. Michael, that publick Notice may be given of Persons qualified omitted, or of Persons inserted who are not so, &c. and the Lists being set right by the Justices of Peace in Quarter-Sessions, Duplicates are to be delivered to the Sheriffs of Counties, by the Clerks of the Peace; the Names contained in which shall be entered alphabetically by the Sheriffs in a Book, with their Additions, and Places of Abode, &c. If any Sheriff shall return other Persons to serve on Juries; or the Clerk of the Assise record any Appearance, when the Party did not appear, they shall be fined by the Judges, not above 10*l.* nor less than 40*s.* The like Penalty for taking Money to excuse Persons from serving; and the Sheriffs may be fined 5*l.* for returning Jurors, who have served two Years before, &c. Sheriffs, on the Return of Writs of Venire facias, are to annex a Panel of the Names of a competent Number of Jurors named in the Lists, not less than forty-eight in any County, nor more than seventy-two (without Direction of the Judges) who shall be summoned to serve at the Assises, &c. and the Names of the Persons impanelled shall be writ in several distinct Pieces of Paper, of equal Size, and be delivered by the Under-Sheriff to the Judge's Marshal, who is to cause them to be rolled up all in the same Manner, and put together in a Box; and when any Cause shall be brought on, some indifferent Person is to draw out twelve of the said Papers of Names, who not being challenged, shall be the Jury to try the Cause; but if any Persons are challenged and set aside, or shall not appear, then a further Number to be drawn till there is a full Jury, &c. Where a Cause comes on, before the Jury in any other have given their Verdict, the Court shall order twelve of the Residue of the Papers to be drawn, &c. And Jurors making Default in Appearance, shall be fined, not exceeding 5*l.* nor under 40*s.* Stat. 3 Geo. 2. c. 25. Persons having Estates for Five hundred Years, or ninety-nine Years, or other Term determinable on Lives, &c. of the yearly Value of 20*l.* are declared Qualified to serve on Juries, and to be inserted in the Freeholders Book, &c. And Sheriffs of any County, or City, shall not impanel Persons on any Jury for the Trial of Capital Offences, that would not be qualified in Civil Causes: In London, Jurors to be House-keepers, having Lands or Goods worth 100*l.* who may be examined on Oath, &c. Ibid. Leacholders on Leases where the Rent is 50*l.* a Year, are liable to serve upon Juries in the County of Middlesex; but no Person shall be returned as a Juror, that hath served two Terms before in that County, by Stat. 4 Geo. 2. c. 7. Vide the Statutes. Either the Plaintiff or Defendant may use their Endeavours for any Juryman to appear; but one who is not a Party to the Suit, may not: And an Attorney was thrown over the Bar, because he had given the Names of several Persons in Writing to the Sheriff, whom he would have returned on the Jury, and the Names of others whom he would not have returned. Mocr 882. If a Juryman appear, and refuse to be sworn, or refuse to give any Verdict, if he endeavours to impose upon the Court, or is guilty of any Misbehaviour after Departure from the Bar, he may be fined, and Attachment issue against him. 2 Hawk. P. C. 145, 146. After a Juror is sworn, he may not go from the Bar until the Evidence is given, for any Cause whatsoever, without Leave of the Court; and with Leave he must have a Keeper with him. 2 Lill. 123, 127. A Witness may not be called by the Jury to recite the same Evidence he gave in Court, when they are gone from the Bar. Cro. Eliz. 189. Nor may a Party give a Brief or Notes of the Cause to the Jury to consider of; if he doth, he and the Jurors may be fined. Moor 815. The Jurymen are not to meddle with any Matters which are not in Issue; but they may find a Thing of their own Knowledge, which is not given in Evidence. 3 Leon. 121. When the Evidence is given, the Jury are to be kept together till they bring in their Verdict, without Speech with any, and without Meat or Drink, Fire or Candle, otherwise than with Leave of the Court, by Consent of the Parties; and the Court may give them Leave to eat or drink at the Bar, but not out of Court. 1 Inst. 227. If Jurymen after sworn, either before or after they are agreed of their Verdict, eat and drink, the Verdict may be good; but they are finable: And if it be at the Charge of either Parties, the Verdict is void. Dalif. 10. Cro. Jac. 21. If they agree to cast Lots for their Verdict, or to bring in Guilty or Not Guilty, as the Court shall seem inclined, they may be fined. 2 Lev. 205. Cro. Eliz. 779. But a Jury have been permitted to recall their Verdict; as where one was indicted of Felony, the Jury found him Not Guilty, but immediately before they went from the Bar, they said they were mistaken, and found him Guilty, which last was recorded for their Verdict. Plowd. 211. Juries are finable, if they are unlawfully dealt with to give their Verdict; but they are not finable for giving a Verdict contrary to the Evidence, or against the Direction of the Court; for the Law supposes the Jury may have some other Evidence than what is given in Court, and they may not only find Things of their own Knowledge, but they go according to their Consciences. Vaugh. 153. 3 Leon. 147. It has been held, where a Person was acquitted of a Robbery by the Jury, that the Court of B. R. may impose a Fine on a Jury, who finds a Verdict contrary to the Direction of the Judges, though Justices of Assise could not fine them, only for Misdemeanors in Eating, or Drinking, &c. Bendl. 153. 2 Nels. Abr. 1061. Attaint may lie against a Jury in a Civil Cause, for going contrary to Evidence, in Case of any Corruption. Vaugh. 144. And Jurors are subject to no Prosecution for giving their Verdicts, except by Way of Attaint for a false Verdict; in which Case being found Guilty, they are punishable by Loss of Lands and Goods, their Houses to be rased, and their Bodies cast into Prison, and the Party is to be restored to all that he lost by the Verdict; but this Punishment is altered by the Stat. 23 Hen. 8. cap. 3. 2 Hawk. 147. For a false Verdict, in that Point which is merely out of the Issue, the Jury may not be sued. Hob. 114, 227, 53. If a Jury find Matter not in Issue or pertinent, it will be void: So if it be against Law and Sense. Ec. They are to adjudge upon the Evidence given; but the Jurors may not contradict what is agreed in Pleading between the Parties; if they do, it shall be rejected; and where the Jury finds the Fact, but conclude upon it contrary to Law, the Court may reject the Conclusion. 1 And. 41. 10 Rep. 56. Co. Litt. 22. Hob. 222. The Jury may find a Thing done in another County, upon a General Issue; and foreign Matters done out of the Realm, Ec. Moor. ca. 238. Godb. 33. Jurors having once given their Verdict, although it be imperfect, shall not be sworn again in the same Issue, unless it be in Assise. 2 Cro. 210. If a Juryman is guilty of Bribery, he is disabled to be of any Assises or Juries, and to be imprisoned and ransomed at the King's Will. 5 Ed. 3. cap. 10. Jurymen accused of Bribery, are to be tried presently by a Jury then taken. 34 Ed. 3. cap. 8. And if a Juror takes any Thing of either Party to give his Verdict, he shall pay ten Times as much as taken; or suffer a Year's Imprisonment. 38 Ed. 3. cap. 12. But Jurymen, where there is a full Jury, and they try the Cause, are to have their Charges allowed them. 2 Lill. 125. If a Jury take upon them the Knowledge of the Law, and give a general Verdict, it is good; but in Cases of Difficulty it is best and safest to find the special Matter, and leave it to the Judges to determine what is the Law upon the Fact. 1 Inst. 30. A Jury sworn and charged in Case of Life and Member, cannot be discharged till they give a Verdict: In Civil Cases, it is otherwise; as where Nonuits are had, Ec. And sometimes when the Evidence hath been heard, the Parties doubting of the Verdict, do consent that the Jury shall be drawn or discharged. 1 Inst. 154, 227.

Special Jury, Is where it has been conceived an indifferent impartial Jury would not be returned between Party and Party by the Sheriff; then the Court upon Motion orders the Sheriff to attend the Secondary of B. R. with his Book of Freeholders of the County, and the Secondary in the Presence of the Attornies on both Sides, is to strike a Jury: And when a Cause of Consequence is to be tried at the Bar, the Court of B. R. on Motion and Affidavit made, will make a Rule for the Secondary to name forty-eight Freeholders; and each Party is to strike out Twelve, one at a Time, the Plaintiff or his Attorney beginning first, and the Remainder are to be the Jury for the Trial; and this is called a Special Jury. Trin. 23 Car. B. R. 2 Lill. 123. The Nomination of a Special Jury before the Secondary, is to be in the Presence of the Attornies on each Side; but if either of them refuse to come, then the Secondary may proceed ex parte, and he shall strike Twelve for the Attorney who makes Default. Trin. 8 W. 3. B. R. It has been also adjudged, that if a Rule is made for a Special Jury, and it is not expressed that the Master of the Office or Secondary shall strike forty-eight Freeholders, and that each of the Parties shall strike out Twelve; in such Case the Master may strike the Twenty-four, and neither of the Parties strike out any. 1 Salk. 405. This is never done in a capital Cause. T. Jones 222. A Special Jury may be granted to try a Cause at Bar, without the Consent of Parties; but never at the Nisi prius, unless good and sufficient Cause be shewn by Affidavit. Pasch. 10 Geo. 1. A Rule may be made for a good Jury, and that a Special Verdict may be found, Ec. Mod. Caf. in L. & E. 221. By the late Act, in Trials of Issues on Indictments, Ec. and in all Actions whatsoever, on the Motion of any Prosecutor, Plaintiff or Defendant, Ec. the Courts at Westminster may order a Special Jury to be struck, in such Manner as upon Trials at Bar: And when any Special Jury shall be ordered by Rule of the said Courts in any Cause arising in any City, Ec. the Jury is to be taken out of Lists or Books of Persons Qualified, which shall be produced and brought by Sheriffs, Ec. before the proper Officer, as the Freeholders Book is for striking Juries in Causes arising in Counties. Stat. 3 Geo. 2. The Justices of Assise for the Counties Palatine of Chester, Lancaster, Ec. upon Motion in Behalf of the King, or any Prosecutor, or Defendant, in an Indictment, Information, or any Suit, may appoint a Jury to be struck for Trial of Issues in like Manner as Special Juries in the Courts of Law at Westminster. 6 Geo. 2. c. 23. And by this Statute, the 3 & 4 Geo. 2. are made perpetual. Touching the Affairs of Merchants, where two Merchants are Plaintiff and Defendant, a Jury of Merchants may be returned to try the Issue between them. The Court was moved that a Jury of Merchants might be returned to try an Issue between two Merchants, and it was granted; because it was conceived they might have better Knowledge of the Matters in Difference than others who were not of that Profession. Hill. 21 Car. B. R. When an Alien is Plaintiff or Defendant in a Cause, the Jury ought to be half Foreigners, and half English; but it is not necessary that the Foreigners be all of the same Country. 2 Lill. 125. And if the Trial is by all English Jurors, it is not Error; where the Party slips his Time, and does not pray Trial by an equal Number of Aliens, Ec. See Challenge, Verdict.

Trial by Jury, Was anciently called Duodecim virale Judicium.

Turrock, Is said to be a Kind of Cork, mentioned in the Statute 1 R. 3. c. 8.

Jus, Signifies Law or Right, Authority and Rule. Litt. Dist.

Jus accrescendi, Is the Right of Survivorship between Jointenants. Litt. 280. 1 Inst. 180.

Jus Anglozum. The Laws and Customs of the West Saxons, in the Time of the Heptarchy, by which the People were for a long Time governed, and which were preferred before all others, were termed Jus Anglorum.

Jus Coronæ, The Right of the Crown; and it is Part of the Law of England, though it differs in many Things from the general Law relating to the Subject. 1 Inst. 15. The King may purchase Lands to him and his Heirs, but he is seised thereof in Jure Coronæ; and all the Lands and Possessions whereof the King is thus seised, shall follow the Crown in Descents, Ec.

Jus Duplicatum, Is where a Man hath the Possession of any Thing, as well as a Right to it. Bracl. lib. 2.

Jus Hereditatis, The Right or Law of Inheritance.

Jus Habendi & Retinendi, Right to have and retain the Profits, Tithes, and Offerings, Ec. of a Rectory or Parsonage. Hugh's Parson's Law 188.

Jus Patronatus, Is a Commission granted by the Bishop to some Persons to inquire into who is the rightful Patron of a Church. If two Patrons present their Clerks, the Bishop shall determine who shall be admitted by Right of Patronage, Ec. on Commission of Inquiry of six Clergymen, and six Laymen, living near to the Church; who are to inquire on Articles as a Jury, Whether the Church is void? Who presented last? Who is the rightful Patron, Ec. But if Coparceners severally present their Clerks, the Bishop is not obliged to award a Jus Patronatus, because they present under one Title; and are not in like Case where two Patrons present under several Titles. 5 Rep. 102. 1 Inst. 116. The Awarding a Jus Patronatus is not of Necessity, but at the Pleasure of the Ordinary, for his better Information who hath the Right of Patronage; for if he will at his Peril take Notice of the Right, he may admit the Clerk of either of the Patrons, without a Jus Patronatus. 1 Leon. 168. A Bishop may award a Jus Patronatus with a solemn Premonition to all Persons, Quorum Interest, &c. where he knows not who is the Patron, to give Notice of an Avoidance by Deprivation, &c. Hob. 318. This Inquiry by Jus Patronatus is to excuse the Ordinary from being a Disturber.

Jus Possessionis, A Right of Seisin or Possession; and a Parson hath a Right to the Possession of the Church and Glebe, for he hath the Freehold, and is to receive the Profits to his own Use. Parf. Law. 188.

Jus Presentationis, The Right of the Patron of presenting his Clerk unto the Ordinary to be Admitted, Instituted and Inducted into a Church. Ibid.

Jus Recuperandi, Intransi, &c. A Right of Recovering and entering Lands, &c.

All these Rights, following the Relation of their Objects, are the Effects of the Civil Law. Co. Litt. 266.

Justa, A certain Measure of Liquor, Quasi Justa Mensura; being as much as was sufficient to drink at once. Mon Angl. Tom. 1. pag. 149.

Justs, (Fr. Jouste, i. e. Decursus) Were Exercises between martial Men and Persons of Honour, with Spears on Horseback; and differed from Tournaments, which were all Sorts of military Contentions, and consisted of many Men in Troops; whereas Justs were usually between two Men singly. They are mentioned in the Stat. 24 H. 8. c. 13. and are now disused. See Tournament.

Justice, (Justitia) Is a constant righteous Inclination to give every one his due; or the Act of doing what is Right and just. Chamb. The Delaying Justice is an Obstruction to and Kind of Denial thereof; but this is understood, of unnecessary and unjust Delay, for sometimes it is convenient for the better finding out the Truth, and Preparation of Parties, that they may not be surpris'd. Fortescue's Laud. Leg. Angl.

Justice, (Justiciarius) Signifies an Officer deputed by the King to administer Justice, and do Right by Way of Judgment; and is called Justice, because in ancient Time the Latin Word for him was Justicia, and for that he hath his Authority by Deputation, and not Jure Magistratus. Glanvil. lib. 2. c. 6. In the King's Bench and Common Pleas, there are Chief Justices; the former of which, is called Capitalis Justiciarius Banci Regii, vel ad Placita coram Rege tenenda, hath the Title of Lord whilst he enjoys his Office, and is stiled Capitalis Justiciarius, because he is Chief of the Reit; and for this Reason he hath usually the Title of Lord Chief Justice of England. This Justice was anciently created by Letters Patent under the Great Seal; but is now made by Writ in this short Form: Rex, &c. Roberto Raymond Mil. Salutem, Sciatis quod constituimus vos Justiciarium nostrum Capitelem ad Placita coram nobis Tenenda, quandiu vos bene gesseritis, &c. Teste, &c. And the ancient Dignity of this supreme Magistrate was very great; he had the Prerogative to be Vicegerent of the Kingdom, when any of our Kings went beyond Sea, being chosen to this Office out of the greatest of the Nobility; and had the Power alone, which afterwards was distributed to three other great Magistrates, that is, he had the Power of the Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, of the Chief Baron of the Exchequer, and the Master of the Court of Wards; and he commonly sat in the King's Palace, and there executed that Authority which was formerly performed per Comitum Palatii, in determining Differences which happened between the Barons and other great Persons of the Kingdom, as well as Causes Criminal and Civil between other Men: But King Richard 1st, first diminished his Power, by appointing two other Justices; to each whereof he assigned a distinct Jurisdiction, viz. to one the North Parts of England, and to the other the South; and in the Reign of K. Edward 1. they were reduced to one Court, with a further Abridgment of their Authority, both as to the Dignity of their Persons, and Extent of their Jurisdiction; for no more were chosen out of the Nobility as anciently, but out of the Commons, who were Men of Integrity, and skilful in the Laws of the Land; whence it is said the Study of the Law dates its Beginning. Origines Judiciales. In the Time of King John, and other of our ancient Kings, it often occurs in Charters of Privilege, Quod non ponatur responderi, nisi coram nobis, vel Capitali Justicia nostra: And this high Officer hath at this Time a very extensive Power and Jurisdiction in Pleas of the Crown; and is particularly intrusted with not only the Prerogative of the King, but the Liberty of the Subject. The Chief Justice of the Common Pleas hath also the Title of Lord whilst he is in Office, and is called Dominus Justiciarius Communium Placitorum, vel Dominus Justiciarius de Banco; who with his Assistants did originally, and doth yet, hear and determine all Common Pleas, in Civil Causes, as distinguished from the King's Pleas, or Pleas of the Crown. Brad. lib. 3. The Chief Justices are installed or placed on the Bench by the Lord Chancellor; and the other Justices by the Lord Chancellor and the Lord Chief Justices. Besides the Lords Chief Justices, and the other Justices of the Courts at Westminster, there are many other Justices commissioned by the King to execute the Laws; as Justices of Assize, of the Forest, of Nisi Prius, Oyer and Terminer, &c. all of them treated of under their Heads; and Justices of Peace, &c.

Justices of the Peace, (Justicarii ad Pacem) Are those that are appointed by the King's Commission to keep the Peace of the County where they dwell; and are rather Commissioners of the Peace, of whom some of the greater Quality are of the Quorum, because Business of Importance may not be dispatched without the Presence of them, or one of them. Justices of Peace, Polidore Virgil tells us, had their Beginning in the Reign of William 1st, called the Conqueror; but Sir Edward Coke was of Opinion, that in the sixth Year of K. Ed. 1. Prima fuit Institutio Justiciariorum pro Pace conservanda. Mr. Prynne affirms, that in the Reign of King Hen. 3. after the Agreement made between that King and his Barons, Guardians ad Pacem conservandam were constituted: And Sir Henry Spelman differs from both these, being of Opinion that they were not made until the Beginning of the Reign of King Ed. 3. when they were thought necessary for suppressing Commoions, which might happen upon the Dethroning of King Ed. 2. It is certain the general Commission of the Peace, by Statute, began 1 Ed. 3. Though before that Time there were particular Commissions of the Peace to certain Men, in certain Places; though not throughout England. 2 Nels. Abr. 1063. Heretofore there were Conservators of the Peace at the Common Law, elected by the County, upon a Writ directed to the Sheriff: But the Election of Conservators is transferred by Statutes from the People, to the King; and at length Justices of Peace are created Conservators of the Peace by Commission or Letters Patent under the Great Seal: The Power of constituting them is only in the King; though they are generally made at the Discretion of the Lord Chancellor or Lord Keeper, by the King's Leave; and the King may appoint in every County in England and Wales as many as he shall think fit. 1 Inst. 174. 175. At first the Number of Justices was not above three or four in a County. 18 Ed. 3. Afterwards the Number was limited to six in every County;

County; whereof two were to be of the best Quality, (such as we now call of the Quorum) two Men of the Law, and two others. And after there was to be one Lord, and three or four of the most worthy of the County, with some learned in the Law. 34 Ed. 3. By the Statute 14 R. 2. eight Justices of Peace were to be assigned in every County: And the Number of Justices has greatly increased since their first Institution; Mr. Lambard above one hundred Years ago complaining of their excessive Number; and after him the learned Spelman takes Notice that there were above Threescore in each County: They are now without Limitation; and their prodigious Increase with the unsuitable Appointment many Times made of Persons for this Trust, hath rendered the Office contemptible in the Eye of our best Gentry, for whom it was originally intended: And therefore it hath been proposed, that in each County there should be eight Honorary Justices constituted of Men of Quality, who should not be obliged to an Attendance any farther than their Zeal for Justice, and Love for their Country shall incline them; and the like Number of acting Justices, Gentlemen capable of Business, who should constantly attend, and be intitled to a Reward for their Pains, and upon any Neglect be subject to Penalties. Lambard's Just. By Statute, Justices of Peace must be resident in the County; are to be the most sufficient Persons, and of the best Reputation; and they are to have 20 l. per Annum in Lands as a Qualification, and if they act without such Qualification, (except Lawyers) they shall forfeit the Sum of 20 l. And they were formerly to be allowed 4 s. a Day during their Attendance at the Quarter-Sessions, to be paid by the Sheriffs of Counties. 12 R. 3. 2 H. 5. 18 H. 6. Attornies, &c. are incapable to be in the Commission of the Peace. 5 Geo. 2. c. 18. By the Stat. 18 Geo. 2. c. 20. No Person shall be capable of being a Justice of Peace, or acting as such, who shall not have, in Law or Equity, for his own Use in Possession, a Freehold, Copyhold, or customary Estate for Life, or some greater Estate, or for Years determinable upon a Life or Lives, or 21 Years, in Lands, &c. of the clear yearly Value of 100 l. over and above all Incumbrances, Rents and Charges; or intitled to the immediate Reversion or Remainder in Lands, &c. of 300 l. per Ann. and who shall not take the Oath in this Act mentioned, under the Penalty of 100 l. to be recovered by Action of Debt, and the Proof of the Qualification to lie on the Defendant; and if he insists on any Lands not mentioned in the Oath, he is to give Notice of them; and Lands not mentioned in the Oath or Notice are not to be allowed. This Act not to extend to Cities or Towns, &c. the Board of Green Cloth, or the two Universities. Justices of Peace are to hold their Sessions four Times a Year, i. e. the first Week after Michaelmas, the Epiphany, Easter, and St. Thomas called Becket, being the 7th of July. Stat. 2 H. 5. They are Justices of Record, for none but Justices of Record can take a Recognizance of the Peace: And their Power arises from their Commission, or from Statutes. By Virtue of these Words in their Commission, viz. Sciatis quod assignavimus vos conjunctim & divisim & quemlibet vestrum Justiciarios nostros ad Pacem nostram in Comitatu nostro s. Conservandam, &c. every Justice of Peace hath a separate Power, and may do all Acts concerning his Office apart and by himself; and even may commit a Fellow Justice upon Treason, Felony, or Breach of the Peace: And this is the ancient Power which Conservators of the Peace had at Common Law. But it has been held, that one Justice of the Peace cannot commit another Justice, for Breach of the Peace; though the Justices in Sessions may do it. Lamb. Just. 385. Jenk. Cent. 174. By Virtue of another Assignavimus, or Clause in the Commission, two or more Justices of the Peace (one of the Quorum) have a joint Power to inquire by Jury of all Offences mentioned in the Commission; to take Indictments, and grant Process thereupon; and to hear and try Offences; which are Matters to be transacted at the Quarter-Sessions. And by the Statutes they may act in many Cases where their Commission doth not reach; the Statutes themselves being a sufficient Commission. Lamb. lib. 4. Wood's Inst. 79, 80. The Stat. 4 H. 7. c. 12. 33 H. 8. c. 19. and 37 H. 8. c. 7. give them a further general Power than is expressed either in their Commission, or in any particular Statute. The particular Statutes are to be executed as they direct; wherein if no express Power is given to any one Justice, he can admonish only, and if not obeyed, may make Presentment of the Offence upon the Statute, and with his Fellow-Justices hear and determine it in Sessions; or he may bind the Offender to the Peace, or the good Behaviour: Some Statutes empower one Justice of Peace alone to act; some require two, three, four Justices, &c. And where a special Authority is given to Justices of Peace, it must be exactly pursued; or the Acts of the Justices will not be good. 2 Salk. 475. A Justice of Peace's Oath for the Execution of his Office, is as follows: 'You shall swear, 'That in the Office of a Justice of Peace in and 'for the County of. &c. in all and every the Articles in his Majesty's Commission enjoined and to 'you directed, you will do equal Right to the 'Rich and Poor, according to your Knowledge, and 'the Laws and Statutes of this Realm; you shall 'not be Counsel to any Person, in any Quarrel depending before you; you shall hold your Sessions 'according to the Direction of the Statutes in that 'Case made; and you shall cause to be entered the 'Issues, Fines and Amerciaments that shall happen 'to be made, and all Forfeitures, without any 'Concealment, and send an Account of them to 'the King's Exchequer; you shall not spare any one 'for Gift or other Cause, nor take any Thing for 'doing the Business of your Office, but the Fees 'and Allowances accustomed and fixed by Acts of 'Parliament, &c. And in all Things you shall well 'and truly do and execute the Office of a Justice of Peace.' Dalt. Just. If a Justice of Peace does not observe the Form of Proceeding directed by Statute, it is coram non judice, and void: But if he acts according to the Direction of the Statutes, neither the Justices in Sessions nor B. R. can reverse what he has done. Jones 170. The Power of Justices is Ministerial when they are commanded to do any Thing by a superior Authority, as by the Court of B. R. &c. In all other Cases they act as Judges: But they must proceed according to their Commission, &c. And a Justice is to exercise his Authority only within the County where he is appointed by his Commission; not in any City which is a County of itself or Town Corporate, having their proper Justices, &c. though in other Towns and Liberties he may. Dalt. When a Justice of Peace acts to compel another to perform any Thing required by Law, as where he imprisons or commands any one to be imprisoned, &c. he cannot act out of the Jurisdiction of his County; but he may take Informations any where to prove Offences in the County where committed, and he principally resides, or take a Recognizance to prosecute. Cro. Car. 213. And by a late Statute, Justices of any County, dwelling in a City that is in itself a County within the County at large, may grant Warrants, take Informations, make Orders, &c. at their own Dwelling-Houses, though out of the County, &c. 9 Geo. 1. c. 7. Also Justices of Peace may do all Things relating to the Laws for Relief of the Poor, the Passing and Punishing Vagrants, the Repairs of the Highways, or concerning cerning Parochial Taxes or Rates, although such Justices are rated to the Taxes, within any Place where they execute their Office: But no Justice shall act in determining any Appeal to the Quarter-Sessions, from any Order that relates to the Parish where he is so charged. Stat. 16 Geo. 2. c. 18. On Appeals to Justices of Peace in the Sessions, they are to cause Defects in Form in Orders, &c. to be rectified without Charge, and then determine the Matters according to the Merits of the Case; and their Proceedings shall not be removed into B. R. without entering into Recognizance of 50*l.* to prosecute with Effect, and pay Costs if affirmed, &c. by Statute 5 Geo. 2. c. 19. No Certiorari shall issue to remove any Order, made by Justices of Peace of any County, &c. or at the Quarter-Sessions, unless it be applied for within six Months, and proved on Oath that six Days Notice in Writing was given to the Justices, by whom the Order was made, that they or the Parties concerned may shew Cause against it. 13 Geo. 2. c. 18. A Man may be a Justice of Peace in one Part of Yorkshire, and yet be no Justice of Peace in every Part of the County; this County being divided into separate Ridings. Hill. 22 Car. B. R. Justices of Peace have Power by their Commission to hear and determine Felonies and Trespases, &c. 13 Ed. 3. c. 2. But this is by a special Clause in their Commission; otherwise they cannot do it. H. P. C. 165. And if a Commission of Oyer and Terminer issues to hear and determine Felonies, that determines the Commissions of Justices of Peace as to Felonies, though not as to the Peace, &c. The Stat. 1 & 2 Ph. & M. c. 13. directs Justices of Peace to take Examinations in Cases of Felony and Murder, and to certify them to the Justices of Gaol Delivery, &c. since which they forbear to try great Felonies. H. P. C. 166. Justices of Peace may take an Information against Persons committing Treason; issue Warrants for their Apprehension, and commit them to Prison, &c. They commit all Felons in order to Trial; and bind over the Prosecutors to the Assizes: And if they do not certify Examinations and Informations to the next Gaol Delivery; or do not bind over Prosecutors, &c. they shall be fined. Dalt. c. 11. For Petit Larceny, and small Felonies, the Justices in their Quarter-Sessions may try Offenders; other Felonies being of Course try'd at the Assizes: And in Case of Felonies, and Pleas upon Penal Statutes, they cannot hold Cognizance without an express Power given them by the Statutes. Justices of Peace in their Sessions cannot try a Cause the same Sessions, without Consent of Parties, &c. for the Party ought to have convenient Time, or it will be Error. Cro. Car. 317. Sid. 334. Nor can the Sessions of Justices refer a Matter which ought to be tried, to be determined by another Sessions; yet they may refer a Thing to another to examine, and make Report to them for their Determination. 2 Salk. 477. The Sessions is all as one Day, and the Justices may alter their Judgments at any Time while it continues. Ibid. 494. 'Tis incident to the Office of a Justice of Peace to commit Offenders: And a Justice may commit a Person that doth a Felony in his own View, without Warrant; but if it be on the Information of another, he must make a Warrant under Hand and Seal for that Purpose. If a Justice issues a Warrant to arrest a Felon, and the Accusation be false, the Justice is excused, where a Felony is committed: If there be no Accusation, Action will lie against the Justice. 1 Leon. 187. A Justice makes a Warrant to apprehend a Felon, though he is not indicted, he who executes the Warrant shall not be punished; And if one brings another before a Justice on Suspicion of Felony, notwithstanding it happen to be without just Cause, no Action lies: 13 Rep. 76. Cro.

Jac. 432. If Complaint and Oath be made before a Justice of Peace, by one, of Goods stolen, and that he suspects they are in such a House, and shews the Cause of his Suspicion; the Justice may grant a Warrant to the Constable, &c. to search in the Place suspected, and seize the Goods and Person in whose Custody they are found, and bring them before him, or some other Justice, to give an Account how he came by them; and farther to abide such Order, as to Law shall appertain. But in this Case, a general Warrant to search all Places, whereof a Person and Officer have Suspicion; though Warrants of this Kind have been granted, yet it is not safe to grant them. 2 Hale's Hist. F. C. 114. The Search on these Warrants, ought to be in the Day-time, and Doors may be broke open by Constables, to take the Goods; which are to be deposited in the Hands of the Sheriff, &c. till the Party robbed hath prosecuted the Offender, to have Restitution. Ibid. 150, 151. A Justice of Peace may make a Warrant to bring a Person before himself only, and it will be good; though it is usual to make Warrants to bring the Offenders before him or any other Justice of the County, &c. And if a Justice directs his Warrant to a private Person, he may execute it. 5 Rep. 60. 1 Salk. 347. If a Justice grants his Warrant beyond his Authority, the Officer must obey; but if it be where the Justice has no Authority, the Officer is punishable if he executes it. Justices of Peace may make and persuade an Agreement in petty Quarrels and Breaches of the Peace, where the King is not intitled to a Fine: Though they may not compound Offences, or take Money for making Agreements. Noy 103. Justices may not intermeddle with Property; if they do, Action lies against them and the Officers who execute their Orders. 3 Salk. 217. But for Detainer of Goods, in small Matters of poor People, not of Ability to go to Law, in some Places Justices interpose and grant Warrants to do Justice. Mod. Just. 167. A Justice of Peace hath a discretionary Power of binding to the good Behaviour; and may require a Recognizance with a great Penalty of one for his Keeping of the Peace, where the Party bound is a dangerous Person, and likely to break the Peace, and do much Mischief. Pasch. 1652. 2 Lill. Abr. 131. And where a Person is to be bound to the good Behaviour, for Default of Sureties he may be committed to Gaol. But a Man giving Security for keeping the Peace in B. R. or the Chancery, may have a Superseades to the Justices in the Country not to take Security; and so where a Person hears of a Warrant out against him, gives Surety of the Peace to any other Justice, &c. If one make an Assault upon a Justice of Peace, he may apprehend the Offender, and send him to Gaol till he finds Sureties for the Peace; and a Justice may record a forcible Entry upon his own Possession: In other Cases he cannot judge in his own Cause. Wood's Inst. 81. Where a Man abuseth a Justice by Words, before his Face or behind his Back, in Relation to his Office, he may be bound to the good Behaviour; and if a Justice of Peace be abused in the Execution of his Office, the Offender may be also indicted and fined. Cromp. 149. 4 Rep. 16. To say of a Justice of Peace he doth not understand Law, &c. is indictable: And Contempts against Justices are punishable by Indictment and Fine at the Sessions. 3 Mod. 139. 1 Sid. 144. But abusing a Justice out of his Office, by Words that do not relate to his Office, seems to stand only as in the Case of other Persons. Justices shall not be regularly punished for any Thing done by them in Sessions as Judges: And if a Justice of Peace be sued for any Thing done in his Office, he may plead the general Issue, and give the special Matter in Evidence; and if a Verdict goes for him, or the Plaintiff be Non-suited, he he shall have double Costs. Stat 21 Jac. 1. Though if a Justice of Peace is guilty of any Misdemeanor in his Office, Information lies against him in B. R. where he shall be punished by Fine and Imprisonment. Sid. 192. If a Person be never summoned by Justices of Peace, to be heard and make his Defence, before the Justices make any Order against him, it is a Misbehaviour for which an Information will lie against them: But it has been held, that it is not absolutely necessary to set it out in the Order. Trin. 11 Geo. 1. The Court of B. R. will grant an Information against a Justice of Peace on Motion, for sending a Servant to the House of Correction without sufficient Cause; if the Justice do not shew good Cause, &c. Mod. Caf. in L. and E. 45, 46. And for Contempt of Laws, &c. Attachment may be had against Justices of Peace in B. R. on Motion of the Attorney General, &c. A Justice of Peace fined a Thousand Marks, for corrupt Practices, see 1 Keb. 727. If a new Commission is made and granted for Justices of Peace, out of which some of the Justices in the old Commission are omitted, yet what Acts they do as Justices are lawful till the next Sessions, at which the new Commission is published, and when the new Commission is published, they are to take Notice of it, and not act further. Moor 187. By granting a new Commission, Discharge under the Great Seal, Accession of another Office, and by the Death of the King, the Power and Offices of Justices of Peace determine. 4 Inst. 165. But till then they are empowered to act in a great many particular Cases by Statute, as follows. viz.

Justices of Peace are to license Alehouses, and issue Warrants to levy the Penalty of 20s. on Persons keeping Alehouses without Licence; 10s. on Victuallers, &c. permitting Tipling, and 3s. 4d. on Tiplers; also a Sum not above 40s. nor under 10s. for selling Ale in Vessels not mark'd, or under Measure; and they are to take Recognisances for good Order; suppress unlawful Alehouses, &c. 5 & 6 Ed. 6. 21 Jac. 1. 3 Car. 1. 11 & 12 W. 3. Justices of Trail-ballon, Were Justices appointed by King Ed. 1. during his Absence in the Scotch and French Wars. They were so stiled, says Hollinshed, of trailing or drawing the Staff of Justice; or for their summary Proceeding, according to Sir Edward Coke, who tells us, they were in a Manner Justices in Eyre; and it is said, they had a Baston, or Staff delivered to them as the Badge of their Office, so that whoever was brought before them was Trail'd ad Baston, traditus ad Baculum; whereupon they had the Name of Justices de Trail-Baston, or Justiciarii ad trabendum Offendentes ad Baculum vel Ballon. Their Office was to make Inquisition through the Kingdom on all Officers and others, touching Extortion, Bribery, and such like Grievances; of Intruders into other Mens Lands, Barretors, Robbers and Breakers of the Peace, and divers other Offenders; by Means of which Inquisitions, some were punished with Death, many by Ransom, and the rest flying the Realm, the Land was quieted, and the King gained great Riches towards the Support of his Wars. Mut. Westm. Anno 1305. A Commission of Trail Baston was granted to Roger de Grey, and others his Associates, in the Reign of King Edw. 3. Spelm. Gloss.

Justice-Seat, Is the highest Court that is held in a Forest, and always held before the Lord Chief Justice in Eyre of the Forest, upon Warning forty Days before; and there Fines are set for Offences, and Judgments given, &c. Marewood's Forest Law, c. 24. The Fine and Amercement of the Justices in Eyre, for false Judgment, or other Trespas, shall be assessed by the said Justices upon the Oaths of Knights, and other honest Men, and be estreated into the Exchequer. Stat. 3 Ed. 1. c. 18. And Justices in Eyre shall appoint a Time for delivering in all Writs by the Sheriff, &c. 13 Ed. 1. c. 10.

Justicier, A Justice or Justicer; as the Lord Birmingham was Justicier of Ireland. Cron. Angl. In the Court of King's Bench, Justice was anciently administered sometimes by the King, and sometimes by the High Justicier; who was an Officer of very great Authority. 2 Harok. 6.

Justicies, Is a Writ directed to the Sheriff in some special Cases by Virtue of which he may hold Plea of Debt in his County Court for a large Sum; whereas otherwise by his ordinary Power he is limited to Sums under 40 s. F. N. B. 117. Kitch. 74. It is called Justicies, because it is a Commission to the Sheriff to do a Man Justice and Right, beginning with the Word Justicies, &c. Bract. lib. 4. makes Mention of a Justicies to the Sheriff of London, in a Case of Dower; and it lies in Account, Annuity, Customs and Services, &c. New Nat. Br. In Debt, the Writ runs thus: The King, To the Sheriff of S. Greeting: We command you, that you Justice A. B. that justly and without Delay he render to C. D. such Pounds, which to him he oweth, as it is said, and as reasonably he can shew, that he ought to render him; that no more Clamour thereof we may hear, for Default of Justice, &c.

Justification, (Justificatio) Is a Maintaining or Shewing good Reason in Court why one did such a Thing which he is called to answer. Broke. And Pleas in Justification, are to set forth some special Thing, whereby the Party justifies what he hath done, concerning Lands or Goods; as that he did it by Authority: And this may be by the Law, or from another Person; wherein to make it right, there must be good Authority, which is to be exactly pursued. Sherp. Epitom. 1041. Justification may be in Trespas, and under Writs, Procces, &c. But a Person cannot justify a Trespas, unless he confesseth it; for he ought to plead the special Matter, and confess and justify what he hath done: And where it cannot be pleaded, Justification may be given in Evidence. 3 Salk. 218. Where a Defendant justifies in Trespas, on his Possession, by Virtue of any Estate, he must shew his Title; but when the Matter is collateral to the Title to the Land, it is otherwise. 2 Mod. 70. If a Sheriff, or other Officer, justifies by Virtue of any returnable Writ, he is to shew that the Writ was returned; though he need not, if the Writs are not returnable Writs. 1 Salk. 409. And it must be shewed from what Courts Writs issue. Ibid. 517. Justification may be by the Command of an Officer, to aid him; but the Command is traversable: If a Justification is made for several Causes, and some of them are good, and some not good; that shall not make the whole Justification void, but for these only, and it shall be good for the rest. 2 Nels. Abr. 1067. When the Action concerns a transitory Thing, if the Defendant do justify the Taking or Doing in one Place; this is a Justification in all Places: If the Action concern a local Thing, a Justification in one Place is not a Justification in another Place; for in the former Case the Place is not material, but the meer Doing or Taking of the Thing is the Substance; and in the latter the Place is material, as the Defendant may be able to justify as to one Place, and not in another. Palch. 24 Car. B. R. 2 Lill. Abr. 134. If the Matter of the Justification is local, there the Defendant ought to shew the Cause specially and traverse the Place; but not where it is transitory. Cro. Eliz. 667. If one have Corn upon the Lands of another, and he take it, and the Owner of the Ground sues him, he must justify, and may not plead Not guilty. 5 Rep. 85. In Action for entering a Close, and taking Corn; the Defendants may justify they did it as Servants to the Parson; and that the Corn was Tithe, severed from the Nine Parts, &c. Though this was said to amount only to the General Issue. 2 Keb. 44. A Man may plead in Justification, that Land is his Freehold, on making an Entry thereon, &c. That one entered a House, to apprehend a Felon; or by Warrant, to levy a Forfeiture; to take a Distress, &c. And in Assault, that he did it by Necessity, &c. Lib. Ent. Slep. Epitome 1041. Words spoken may be justified, because spoken in a legal Way; and for Words the Defendant may justify in an Action; but not in an Indictment, &c. 1 Darv. 162. 3 Salk. 226. There is a justifiable Homicide, &c. and justifiable Assault. See Assault.

Justificatores, (Justificatores) Are a Kind of Compurgators, or those that by Oath justify the Innocency, or Oaths of others; as in the Case of Waging of Law: And we read in Spelman, who leaves this Word without Explication. — Will. Rex Angliæ H. Camerario & Justificatoribus suis, omnibus suis fidelibus Nos. Salutem: Inquire per Comitatum quis justius hujusmodi Forisfacturam haberet tempore Patris mei, sive Abbas Ramefiæ, &c.

Justitia, A Judge; also a Statute or Ordinance; and sometimes a Jurisdiction, as anciently used. Leg. Hen. 1. c. 42. See Justice.

Justicias facere, Signifies to hold Plea of any Thing. Selden.

Keels, To carry Coals, &c. Vide 6 & 7 W. 3.

Keep, A strong Tower or Hold in the Middle of any Castle or Fortification, wherein the Besieged make their last Efforts of Defence, was formerly in England called a Keep: And the inner Pile within the Castle of Dover, erected by K. Hen. 2. about the Year 1153. was termed the King's Keep; so at Windfor, &c. It seems to be something of the Nature with what is called abroad a Citadel.

Keeper of the Forest, (Custos Forestæ) Or chief Warden of the Forest, hath the principal Government over all Officers within the Forest; and warns them to appear at the Court of Justice Seat, on a general Summons from the Lord Chief Justice in Eyre. Manwood, Part 1. p. 156.

Keeper of the Great Seal, (Custos magni sigilli) Is a Lord by his Office, stiled Lord Keeper of the Great Seal of England, and is of the King's Privy Council: Through his Hands pass all Charters, Commissions and Grants of the King, under the Great Seal; without which Seal many of those Grants and Commissions are of no Force in Law, for the King is by Interpretation of Law a Corporation, and passeth nothing but by the Great Seal, which is as the Publick Faith of the Kingdom, in the high Esteem and Reputation justly attributed thereto. The Great Seal consists of two Impressions, one being the very Seal itself with the Effigies of the King stamped on it; the other has an Impression of the King's Arms in the Figure of a Target, for Matters of smaller Moment, as Certificates, &c. that are usually pleaded Sub pede Sigilli. And anciently when the King travelled into France or other Foreign Kingdoms, there were two Great Seals; one went with the King, and another was left with the Custos Regni, or the Chancellor, &c. If the Great Seal be altered; the same is notified in the Court of Chancery, and publick Proclamation made thereof by Sheriffs, &c. 1 Hale's Hist. P. C. 171, 174. The Lord Keeper of the Great Seal, by Statute 5 Eliz. c. 18. hath the same Place, Authority, Preheminence, Jurisdiction and Execution of Laws, as the Lord Chancellor of England hath, and he is constituted Per traditionem magni sigilli, &c. and by taking his Oath. 4 Inst. 87.

Keeper of the Privy Seal, (Custos privati sigilli) Is that Officer through whose Hands all Charters, Pardons, &c. pass, signed by the King, before they come to the Great Seal; and some Things which do not pass that Seal at all: He is also of the Privy Council, but was anciently called only Clerk of the Privy Seal; after which, he was named Gardien del Privy Seal; and lastly, Lord Privy Seal, and made one of the Great Officers of the Kingdom. 12 R. 2. c. 11.

Kerbert, Signifies a Custom to have a Cart-way; or a Commutation for the customary Duty for Carriage of the Lord's Goods. Cowel.

Kernellate domum, (From Lat. Crena, a Notch) To build a House formerly with a Wall or Tower, Kernelled with Crannies or Notches, for the better Convenience of shooting Arrows, and making other Defence. Du Fresne derives this Word from Quarnellus, or Quadranellus, a four-square Hole or Notch; ubicunque patent Quarnelli five fenestre: And this Form of Walls and Battlements for military Uses might possibly have its Name from Quadrellus a four-square Dart. It was a common Favour granted by our Kings in ancient Times, after Castles were demolished for Prevention of Rebellion, to give their chief Subjects Leave to fortify their Mansion-Houses with Kernelled Walls.—*Licentiam dedimus Jobanni de H. Keyus, A Guardian, Warden or Keeper. Mon. Ang. Tom. 2. p. 71. And in the Ile of Man the twenty-four chief Commoners, who are the Conservators of the Liberties of the People, are called the Keys of the Island.

Kichel, A Plum-Cake, given by Godfathers and Godmothers to their God-Children on asking them Blessing; according to old Custom. Blount.

Kidders, Are those that badge or carry Corn, dead Victuals, or other Merchandise, up and down to sell; every Person being a common Badger, Kidder, Lader or Carrier, says the Statute 5 Edw. cap. 12.

Kiddle or Kidel, (Kidellus) A Dam or Wear in a River, with a narrow Cut in it, for the laying of Pots and other Engines to catch Fish. The Word is ancient, for in Magna Charta, c. 24. we read, Omnes Kidelli deponantur per Thamesiam & Medweyam, & per totam Angliam, nisi per Costeram Maris: And by King John's Charter, Power was granted to the City of London, De Kidellis amovendis per Thamesiam & Medweyam. A Survey was ordered to be made of the Weirs, Mills, Stanks and Kidels in the great Rivers of England. 1 Hen. 4. Fishermen of late corruptly called these Dams Kettels; and they are much used in Wales, and on the Sea-Coasts of Kent.

Kidnapping, Is a Stealing and Conveying away of a Man, Woman or Child; and is an Offence at Common Law, punishable by Fine, Pillory, &c. Rayn. 474. Also if a Master of a Ship, &c. shall, during his being abroad, force any Man ashore, and willingly leave him behind, he shall suffer three Months Imprisonment. 11 & 12 W. 3. c. 7.

Kindred, Are a certain Body of Persons of Kin or related to each other. There are three Degrees of Kindred in our Law; one in the Right Line descending, another in the Right Line ascending, and the Third in the Collateral Line; and the Right Line descending, wherein the Kindred of the Male Line are called Agnati, and of the Female Line Cognati, is from the Father to the Son, and so on to his Children in the Male and Female Line; and if no Son, then to the Daughter, and to her Children in the Male and Female Line; if neither Son nor Daughter, or any of their Children, to the Nephew and his Children, and if none of them to the Niece and her Children; if neither Nephew nor Niece, nor any of their Children, then to the Grandson or Granddaughter of the Nephew; and if neither of them, to the Grandson or Granddaughter of the Niece; and if none of them, then to the Great Grandson or Great Granddaughter of the Nephew and of the Niece, &c. & sic ad infinitum. The Right Line ascending is directly upwards; as from the Son to the Father or Mother; and if neither Father nor Mother, to the Grandfather or Grandmother; if no Grandfather or Grandmother, to the Great Grandfather or Great Grandmother; if neither Great Grandfather or Great Grandmother, to the Father of the Great Grandfather, or the Mother of the Great Grandmother; and if neither of them, then to the Great Grandfather's Grandfather, or the Great Grandmother's Grandmother; and if none of them, to the Great Grandfather's Great Grandfather, or Great Grandmother's Great Grandmother, & sic in infinitum. The Collateral Line is either descending by the Brother and his Children downwards, or by the Uncle upwards: It is between Brothers and Sisters, and to Uncles and Aunts, and the rest of the Kindred, upwards and downwards, a cross and amongst themselves. 2 Nelf. Abr. 1077, 1078. If there are no Kindred in the Right descending Line, the Inheritance of Lands goes to the collateral Line; but it never ascends in the Right Line upwards, if there are any Kindred of the collateral Line, though it may ascend in that Line: And there is this difference between the Right Line descending and the collateral Line; that the Right of Representation of Kindred in the Right descending Line reaches beyond the Great Grandchildren of the same Parents; but in the collateral Line,

it doth not reach beyond Brothers and Sisters Children; for after them there is no Representation among Collaterals. In the Right ascending Line the Father or Mother are always in the first Degree of Kindred; and by the Civil Law, if the Son died without Issue, his Father or Mother succeeded, and after them his Brother or Sister, Uncle, Aunt, &c. But in Case of Purchase by the Son, if he died without Issue, his Father or Mother could not inherit, but his Brother or Sisters, &c. by which it appears, that the Father cannot succeed the Son immediately, though he is the next of Kin. It is a constant Rule in the collateral Line, that they who are of the Whole Blood are first admitted; but after Brothers and Sisters Children, the nearest in Degree in Kindred is to be considered, and not whether they are of the Whole or Half Blood; as for Instance; there were two Brothers of the Whole Blood, and one of the Half Blood, those of the Whole Blood died, each of them leaving Issue a Son, then one of the Sons died without Issue; in this Case his Uncle of the Half Blood shall be admitted before the other surviving Son of his Brother by the whole Blood: Yet if a Man purchase Lands and dies without Issue, it shall never go to the half Blood in the collateral Line; though it is otherwise in Case of a Descent from a common Ancestor. 2 Nels. Abr. Ibid. The Children of the Brothers and Sisters of the Half Blood, shall exclude all other collateral Ascendants, as Uncles and Aunts, and all remoter Kindred of the whole Blood in the collateral Line; but then the Brothers of the half Blood, and their Children, shall succeed equally per Stirpes, and not per Capita, according to the distinct Number of their several Persons. Ibid. There are several Rules to know the Degrees of Kindred; in the ascending Line, take the Son and add the Father, and it is one Degree ascending, then add the Grandfather, and it is a second Degree, a Person added to a Person in the Line of Consanguinity making a Degree; and if there are many Persons, take away one, and you have the Number of Degrees, as if there are four Persons, it is the third Degree, if five the Fourth, &c. so that the Father, Son, and Grandchild, in the descending Line, though three Persons, make but two Degrees: To know in what Degree of Kindred the Sons of two Brothers stand, begin from the Grandfather and descend to one Brother, the Father of one of the Sons, which is one Degree, then descend to his Son the Ancestor's Grandson, which is a second Degree; and then descend again from the Grandfather to the other Brother, Father of the other of the Sons, which is one Degree, and descend to his Son, &c. and it is a second Degree; thus reckoning the Person from whom the Computation is made, it appears there are two Degrees, and that the Sons of two Brothers are distant from each other two Degrees: For in what Degree either of them is distant from the common Stock, the Person from whom the Computation is made, they are distant between themselves in the same Degree; and in every Line the Person must be reckoned from whom the Computation is made. If the Kindred are not equally distant from the common Stock; then in what Degree the most remote is distant, in the same Degree they are distant between themselves, and so the Kin the most remote maketh the Degree; by which Rule, I, and the Grandchild of my Uncle, are distant in the third Degree, such Grandchild being distant three Degrees from my Grandfather, the nearest common Stock. Wood's Inst. 48, 49. The Common Law agrees in its Computation with the Civil and Canon Law, as to the right Line; and only with the Canon Law as to the collateral Line. Ibid.

King, (Rex, from Lat. Rege to Rule, in Sax. Cuning or Coning) Is a Monarch or Potentate, who rules singly and sovereignly over a People; or he that has the highest Power and Rule in the Land. The King is the Head of the Commonwealth; and the learned Bracon tells us, Rex est Vicarius & Minister Dei in Terra, omnes quidem sub eo, & ipse sub nullo nisi tantum sub Deo. Braet. lib. 1. c. 8. But our King on his Coronation, takes an Oath of the following Purport, viz. To govern the People of this Kingdom, according to the Statutes in Parliament agreed on, and the Laws and Customs of the same; to his Power cause Law and Justice in Mercy to be executed in all his Judgments; to maintain to the utmost of his Power the Laws of God, the true Profession of the Gospel, and the Protestant reformed Religion established by Law; and preserve to the Bishops and Clergy their Rights and Privileges, as by Law are appertaining to them: This is the obligatory Oath of our Kings, as regulated to be taken by 1 W. & M. And the Coronation Oaths, in former Times, were undoubtedly a Contract between the King and the People in this Nation. The Nature of the Government of our King, says Fortescue, is not only Regal, but Political: If it were merely the former, Regal, he would have Power to make what Alterations he pleased in our Law, and impose Taxes and other Hardships upon the Subject, whether they would or no; but his Government being Political, he cannot change the Laws of the Realm, without the People's consenting thereto, nor Burthen them against their Wills. Fortescue's Laud. Leg. Angl. 17. It is also said by the same Writer, that the King is appointed to protect his Subjects in their Lives, Properties and Laws; for which End and Purpose he has the Delegation of Power from the People: Likewise our King is such by the Fundamental Law of the Land; by which Law the meanest Subject enjoys the Liberty of his Person, and Property in his Estate; and it is every Man's Concern to defend these, as well as the King in his lawful Rights. Fortescue. A late Author has endeavour'd to prove the original Contract between the King and the People, from the Prophet Samuel's Conference with the Israelites; who refused a King offered unto them, and insisted upon one like all the other Nations: And taking Notice of the Breaches made in the Constitution of this Kingdom in several Reigns, and the Necessity of their being redressed, affirms that it is the original Power and Constitution of the States of the Kingdom, to re institute the regal Estate, as well where Kings act arbitrarily and break through the Constitution, as where there is no immediate Heir to succeed the King, so that the Throne is actually vacant; and without this I take it there is no perfect Constitution. Britann. Constitut. In King John's Magna Charta of Liberties, there was a Clause making it lawful for the Barons of the Realm to chuse twenty five Barons to see the Charter observed by the King; with Power, on any Justice or other Minister of the King's failing to do Right, and acting contrary thereto, for four of the said Barons to address the King, and pray that the same might be remedied; and if the same were not amended in forty Days, upon the Report of the four Barons to the Rest of the Twenty-five, those twenty-five Barons with the Commonalty of the whole Land, were at Liberty to distress the King, take his Castles, Lands, &c. until the Evils complain'd of should be remedied, according to their Judgment; saving the Person of the King, Queen, and their Children: And when the Evils were redressed, the People were to obey the King as before. King John's Magna Chart. cap. 73. But this Clause, and some others in Favour of Liberty, are omitted out of King Henry 3d's Magna Charta; though in a Statute made at Oxford, Anno 42 Hen. 3. to reform Misgovernments, it was enacted, that twenty-four Great Men should be named, Twelve by the King, and Twelve by the Parliament, to appoint Justices, Chancellors, and other Officers, to see Magna Charta observed. The Barons Wars mentioned in our ancient Histories, seem to have proceeded in some Measure from a like Power granted to them as by the Charter of King John; and probably the Parliament's Wars from their Example. Sir Edward Coke tells us, that if there be a King reigning in Possession of the Crown, although he be but Rex de facto, and not de Jure, yet he is Seignior le Roy; and another that hath Right, if he be out of Possession, is not within the Meaning of the Stat. 11 H. 7. c. 1. for the Subjects to serve and defend him in his Wars, &c. And a Pardon, &c. granted by a King de Jure, that is not likewise de facto, is void. 3 Inst. 7. A King that usurps the Crown, grants Licenses of Alienation or Echeats, it will be good against the rightful King; so of Pardons, and any Thing that doth not concern the King's ancient Patrimony, or the Government of the People: Judicial Acts in the Time of such a One, bind the right King and all who submitted to his Judicature. The Crown was tossed between the two Families of York and Lancaster many Years; and yet the Acts of Royalty done in the Reign of the several Competitors, were confirmed by the Parliament: And these Resolutions were made, because the common People cannot judge of the King's Title, and to avoid Anarchy and Confusion. Jenk. Cent. 130, 131. Every King for the Time being, has a Right to the People's Allegiance, who 'tis said are bound by the Statute 11 H. 7. to defend him in his Wars against every Power whatsoever, and shall incur no Pains or Forfeitures thereby. 1 Hawk. P. C. 36. And a King out of Possession, we are bound by the Duty of our Allegiance to resist. Ibid. But in the Case of King Charles the Second, who was kept out of the Exercise of the Kingly Office by Traitors and Rebels, it was adjudged that he was King both de facto and de Jure; and all the Acts which were done to the Keeping him out, were High Treason. Kel. Rep. 15. There may be some Kings de facto, to whom it may be dangerous to do any Service, viz. Such as shall depose a rightful King: And according to the Lord Chief Justice Hale, if the right Heir of the Crown be in actual Exercise of the Sovereignty in one Part of the Kingdom, and a Usurper in the Exercise of it in another, the Law adjudgeth him in the Possession of the Crown that hath the true Right; and the other is not a King de facto, but a Disturber and no King: This was the Case between King Ed. 4. and Hen. 6. And the like was held as to Queen Mary, who openly laid Claim to the Crown, and was proclaimed Queen; at the same Time the Lady Jane was proclaimed Queen at London on the Nomination of King Ed. 6. so that both being de facto in Possession of the Crown, the Law adjudged the Possession in Mary, who had the Right to the same. State Trials 932. It is High Treason to conspire against the King, Queen, &c. And a Person may be guilty of Treason against a King, though he be not in the Possession of the Crown. The Dignity of the King of England is Imperial; and our Kings have placed on their Heads an Imperial Crown: King Edgar wrote himself Imperator & Dominus, &c. But no King of England used any Seal of Arms till the Reign of Rich. 1. before that Time, the Seal was the King sitting in a Chair of State on one Side of the Seal, and on Horseback on the other Side; but this King sealed with a Seal of two Lions, and King John was the first that bare three Lions, and afterwards Ed. 3. quarter'd the Arms of France, which has been continued down to this Time. Also King Henry 8. was the first to whom Majesty was attributed; before which our Kings were called Highness, &c. Lex Constitut. 47, 48. The eldest Son of the King of England is Prince of Wales, Duke of Cornwall, &c. and the younger Sons are born Dukes and Earls of what Places the King pleases. K. Hen. 2. took his Son into a Kind of subordinate Regality with him, so that there was Rex Pater and Rex Filius; but he did not devert himself of his Sovereignty, but reserved to himself the Homage of his Subjects. And notwithstanding this King, by Consent of Parliament, created his Son John King of Ireland; and King Rich. 2. made Robert de Vere Duke of Ireland; and Edw. 3. made his eldest Son Lord of Ireland, with Royal Dominion; yet it has been held, that the King cannot regularly make a King within his own Kingdom. 4 Inst. 357, 360. Hen. de Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick, was by King Henry 6. Crown'd King of Wight Island; but it was resolved, that this could not be done without Consent of Parliament, and even then our greatest Men have been of Opinion, that the King could not by Law create a King in his own Kingdom, because there cannot be two Kings of the same Place: And afterwards the same King Henry made the same Earl of Warwick Primus Comes totius Angliæ. A King cannot resign or dismiss himself of his Office of King, without the Consent of his Parliament; nor could Hen. 2. without such Consent, divide the Sovereignty: There is a sacred Band between the King and his Kingdom, that cannot be dissolved without the free and mutual Consent of both in Parliament; and though in Foreign Kingdoms there have been Instances of voluntary Cessions and Resignations, which possibly may be warranted by their several Constitutions, by the Laws of England, the King cannot resign his Sovereignty without his Parliament. Sir Matt. Hale's Hist. Coronæ. If a King hath a Kingdom by Title of Descent, where the Laws have taken good Effect and Rooting; or if a King Conquers a Christian Kingdom, after the People have Laws given them for the Government of the Country to which they submit, no succeeding King can alter the same without the Parliament. Coke's 7 Rep. 17. It is nevertheless held, that conquered Countries may be governed by what Laws the King thinks fit, and that the Laws of England do not take Place in such Countries, until declared so by the Conqueror, or his Successors; here in case of Infidels their Laws do not cease, but only such as are against the Law of God; and where the Laws are rejected or silent, they shall be governed according to the Rule of Natural Equity. 2 Salk. Rep. 411, 412, 666. Our Kings have distributed their whole Power of Judicature to the Courts of Justice; which Courts by immemorial Usage have gained a known and stated Jurisdiction, that no King can alter without an Act of Parliament. 2 Hawk. P. C. 2. But as it has been resolved, that the Successor of every King begins his Reign on the very Day that the former King died; therefore all Patents of Judges, Sheriffs, Justices of Peace, &c. determine by the Death of the King. Though vide Stat. 1 Ann. c. 8. The Kings of England not having the whole Legislative Power, if the King and Clergy make a Canon, though it binds the Clergy in re Ecclesiastica, it does not bind Laymen; for they are not represented in the Convocation, but in Parliament: In the primitive Church, the Laity were present at all Synods; and when the Empire became Christian, no Canon was made without the Emperor's Consent, and indeed the Emperor's Consent included that of the People, he having in himself the whole Legislative Power; but the Kings of this Kingdom have it not. 2 Salk. Rep. 412, 673. Religion, Justice, and Truth, are the Supporters of the Crowns of Kings. See Crown.

Great

King's Prerogative. The Statute of the King's Prerogative 17 Ed. 2. contains not the King's whole Prerogative, but only so much thereof as concerns the Profit of his Coffers, for his Prerogative extends much further; and the King hath divers Rights of Majesty peculiar to himself, which the Learned in the Law term Sacra Sacrorum, viz. Sacred and inseparable, and which are many and various. Staundf. Prerog. Reg. Plowd. 314. Sir Henry Spelman calls the King's Prerogative, Lex Regie Dignitatis; and a great many Prerogatives arise to the King from the Reason of the Common Law; which allows that to be Law almost in every Case for the King, which is not so for the Subject: But the King's Prerogative does not extend to any Thing injurious to his Subjects; for the King by our Law can do no Wrong. Finch 85. 1 Inst. 19. The King's Prerogative is incident to his Crown, and as ancient as that itself; and hath in it a Prescription, and is not only the Law of the Exchequer, but the Law of the Land: This Prerogative of the King is of a very large Extent; it reacheth to all Persons Ecclesiastical and Civil, as he is Persona mixta, so is his Power and Prerogative. 7 Rep. 14. It is the King's Royal Prerogative to make War or Peace: And as Head of the State he calls, continues, prorogues and dissolves Parliaments; and all Statutes are to have his Royal Assent, which he may refuse to give to a Bill; though his Denial is not an express Negative, but that he will advise upon it. 1 Inst. 110, 165. His Proclamation in calling or dissolving Parliaments, declaring War and Peace, &c. has the Effect of a Law; but he cannot by Proclamation introduce new Laws, yet he may enforce old ones discontinued. 3 Inst. 162. 2 Inst. 743. It was anciently held, that the King might suspend or alter any particular Law that was hurtful to the Publick: And he may dispense with a Penal Statute, wherein his Subjects have not any Interest. 4 Inst. 7. Rep. 36. Acts of Parliament do not bind the King, if he be not specially named; unless they concern the Commonwealth, suppress Wrong or Fraud, &c. in which Cases they do; but he may take the Benefit of any Statute, though not named. 5 Rep. 14. 11 Rep. 71. 7 Rep. 32. And a Prerogative given generally to one King, or any Thing to be done to one, goes of Course to others. Raym. 212. He determines Rewards and Punishments; moderates Laws, and pardons Offenders: But the King cannot pardon Murder, where Appeal is brought by the Subject. 2 Inst. 316. And Pardons of Felony, &c. shall be granted only where the King may lawfully do it, according to his Coronation Oath. 14 Ed. 3. The King may lay Imbargo's on Shipping; but then it must be pro bono Publico, and not for the private Advantage of any particular Traders. 1 Salk. 32. And though the King hath an Interest in every Subject, and a Right to his Service; he cannot discharge the Right of a Subject, or hinder him of a Remedy the Law gives him. Holt Ch. Just. 1 Salk. 19, 168. It is held that the King is Custos totius Regni Angliæ: And he may, if he see Cause, open or shut the Sea-Ports, and forbid the Passage of his Subjects over Sea without License, &c. 12 Rep. 34. He may not dispose of the Ports to any Subject; but shall appoint Officers for the Custody thereof, under him. 11 Rep. 86. It is his Prerogative alone to dispose and govern the Militia of the Nation: And he hath the Command of all Forts, and Places of Strength, &c. and Authority in making and calling of Ordnance. 21 Jac. 1. c. 3. The King is the Fountain of Honour, and has the sole Power of conferring Dignities and honourable Titles; as to make Dukes, Earls, Barons, Knights of the Garter, &c. He names, creates, makes and removes the great Officers of the Government. 1 Inst. 165. All Writs, Processes, Commissions, &c. are in the King's Name: and he may make Courts, which shall proceed according to the Common Law. Jent.

Cent. 285. He may create Universities, Colleges, Counties, Boroughs, Fairs, Markets, &c. No Forest, Chase or Park, can be made, or Castle built, without the King's Leave. 4 Inst. 294. The King may incorporate a whole City, Parish, &c. or Part of it, and grant and annex to such Corporations divers Franchises: Though they may not, under Colour thereof, set up a Monopoly. Godb. 253. Nov. 182. And he may incorporate a Town, and enable them to chuse Burgesses of Parliament; but this Part of the Prerogative of increasing the Number of Parliament-men, seems to be given up by late Kings. Hob. 14. As supreme Head of the Church, our King hath Power to call a national or provincial Council; and by his Royal Assent the Canons made in Convocation have the Force of Laws: And to him the last Appeal is made. Danv. 73. 4 Inst. 325. He hath the supreme Right of Patronage all over England; and is the Founder and Patron of all Bishopricks, &c. so that none can be made Bishop but by his Nomination: He not only founds Churches, but licenses others to found them, exempt from the Ordinary's Jurisdiction; and he hath the Tithes of Forests and Places extraparochial, which he may grant by Letters Patent: Also the King shall pay no Tithes; though his Lessee shall pay them. Wood's Inst. 18. 1 Cro. 511. The King hath Power to make an Alien free born, and to grant Letters of safe Conduct to foreign Parts: He can put a Value upon the Coin, which is made by his Authority; and make foreign Coin current by Proclamation: And to make Money, the Law gives the King all Mines of Gold and Silver. Plowd. 314. He is the General Guardian of Ideots and Lunaticks; and shall have the Lands of Felons, &c. convict; also the Goods of Felons and Fugitives; Goods and Chattels of Pirates; Wreck of the Sea, &c. Stat. 17 Ed. 2. cap. 1. 9 H. 3. 4 Inst. 136. The King is Lord paramount of all the Lands in England; and all Estates for Want of Heirs, or by Forfeiture escheat to him: All Lands are said to be holden of the King; as by Construction of Law they are originally derived from the Crown. 1 Inst. 1. Lands in the King's Possession, are free from Tenure; and the King may not be Jointenant with any. Finch 83. The Grant of the King is taken most strongly against a Stranger, and favourably for him: And he may avoid his own Grants for Deceit, &c. Plowd. 243. The King may grant a Thing in Action, which another cannot; and reserve a Rent to a Stranger, &c. He cannot grant or take any Land (not cast upon him by Descent) but by Matter of Record: And the King may not grant an Annuity to charge his Person, which is not chargeable like the Person of a Subject; though he may grant it out of the Revenues of Excise, &c. 4 Rep. 54. 2 Inst. 186. 1 Salk. 58. Where the Title of the King and of a common Person concurs, his Title shall be preferred. 1 Inst. 30. No Distress can be made upon the King's Possession; but he may distrain out of his Fee in other Lands, &c. and may take Distresses in the Highway. 2 Inst. 131. An Heir shall pay the King's Debt, though he is not named in the Bond: And the King's Debt shall be satisfied before that of a Subject, for which there is a Prerogative Writ. 1 Inst. 130, 385. By the Stat. 25 Ed. 3. c. 19. a common Person may sue the King's Debtor, notwithstanding he hath a Protection, and recover Judgment against him; but he cannot have Execution, unless he give Security to pay the King's Debt: If he take out Execution before, and levy the Money, the same may be seized to satisfy the Debt of the King. Godb. 290. 2 Nelf. Abr. 1031, 1082. If a Debtor has not a Writ of Protection, he may be in Execution for a common Person as well as the King: And it hath been adjudged, that although the King hath a Prerogative by the

the Common Law, to have his Debt first satisfied, that must be when it is in equal Degree with the Debt of his Subject; and by the Stat. 33 H. 8. c. 39. the King's Debt shall be preferred, so as there is no Judgment, &c. Cro. Car. 283. Hardr. 23. Goods and Chattels may go in Succession to the King; though they may not to any other sole Corporation. 1 Inst. 90. In whatsoever Hands the Goods of the King come, their Lands are chargeable, and may be seized for the same: And the King is not bound by Sale of his Goods in open Market. 2 Inst. 713. No Prescription of Time runs against the King; he is not within the Statute of Limitation of Actions. 11 Rep. 74. Action lies not against the King; but a Petition instead of it, to him in the Chancery: And it is lawful for any Subject to petition the King for Redress, where he finds himself grieved by any Sentence or Judgment. 2 Inst. 187. Hob. 220. There are no Costs against the King; no Entry will bar him; and no Judgment is ever final against him, but with a Salvo Jure Regis: And in the Case of others, the King may issue a Command to the Judges, not to proceed till he is advised; where his Title may be prejudiced, &c. Litt. 178. Finch 460. The King's Title is not to be tried, without Warrant from the King, or Assent of the Attorney General. 2 Inst. 424. The King may have such Process in his Suit, as no other Person but himself can have in any Case. 1 Rep. 18. Finch 476. He may plead several Matters, without being double, and the Parties shall answer them all. Bro. Doubl. pl. 57. And in his Pleading, he need not plead an Act of Parliament, as a Subject is bound to do. 4 Rep. 75. The King may sue in what Court he pleases, and cannot be nonsuit, as he is supposed to be present in all his Courts: He is not bound to join in Demurrer on Evidence; and the Court may direct the Jury to find the Matter specially. Finch 82. 5 Rep. 104. The King's only Testimony of any Thing done in his Presence, is of as high a Nature and Credit as any Record; whence it is, that in all original Writs or Precepts sent out for the Dispatch of Justice, he useth no other Witnesses than himself, as Teste meipso, &c. The King cannot be a Minor; and in him the Law will see no Defect, Negligence, or Folly. 1 Inst. 41, 57. There are some other Prerogatives belonging to our Kings; but the Judges at Westminster ought to judge of Matters of Prerogative relating to the King, as they do Matters concerning other Persons. Noy 181. Plowd. 136. The King may not by Petition, Bill, &c. dispose of any Man's Lands or Goods: Nor shall he take that he hath Right to, which is in the Possession of another, but by due Course of Law. Winch 9. He may not command a Man to Prison, against the Writs and Process of Law. 12 Rep. 66. The Law is the Rule of the King's Prerogative; which ought to be grounded upon Antiquity, or otherwise it may be an Inroad on the Liberty of the Subject. Rex est anima Legi, & Lex est anima Regi. 2 Inst. 262. See Debit to the King, Grants of the King, &c.

King's Bench, (Bancus Regius, from the Sax. Banca, a Bench or Form) Is the Court or Judgment Seat where the King of England was sometimes wont to sit in his own Person; and was therefore moveable with the Court or King's Household, and called Curia Domini Regis, or Aula Regis: And by Stat. 28 Ed. 1. c. 5. this Court is to follow the King. King Hen. 3. sat in Person with the Justices in Banco Regis several Times, being seated on a High Bench, and the Judges in a lower one at his Feet: And the King's Bench was originally the only Court in Westminster Hall; out of which the Courts of Common Pleas and Exchequer seem to have been derived. 2 Hawk. P. C. 6. This Court hath supreme Authority, the King being still presumed by Law to sit there as Judge of the Court, though he doth judge by his Judges; and the Proceedings are supposed to be Coram nobis, that is before the King himself, for which Reason all Writs in this Court are made so returnable, and not coram Justitiariis nostris, as is the Form in the Common Pleas. 4 Inst. 73. It consists of a Lord Chief Justice (who is Lord Chief Justice of England) created by Writ; and three other Justices created by Letters Patent; and according to ancient Writers, the Lord Chief Justice hath had three, four, or five Justices for his Assistants. Fortescue, cap. 51. The Justices of B. R. are the Sovereign Justices of Oyer and Terminer, Gaol-Delivery, and of Eyre, and Coroners of the Land; and their Jurisdiction is general all over England: By their Presence the Power of all other Justices in the County, during the Time of this Court's Sitting in it, is suspended; for in Praesentia Majoris cessat Potestas minoris; but such Justices may proceed by Virtue of a special Commission, &c. H. P. C. 156. 4 Inst. 73. 2 Hawk. P. C. 32. It is these Justices who have a Sovereign Jurisdiction over all Matters of a criminal and publick Nature, judicially brought before them, to give Remedy either by the Common Law or by Statute: And their Power is Original and Ordinary; when the King hath appointed them, they have their Jurisdiction from the Law. 1 Hawk. 152. 4 Inst. 74. Whatsoever Crime is against the publick Good, though it doth not injure any particular Person, comes within the Cognisance of the Justices of this Court; and no private Subject can suffer any Kind of unlawful Violence or Injury against his Person, Liberty, or Possessions, but he may here have a proper Remedy, and not only for Satisfaction of Damages, but the exemplary Punishment of the Offender: This Court is the Custos morum of all the Subjects of the Realm; and where it meets with any Offence contrary to the first Principles of common Justice, may inflict a suitable Punishment. 2 Hawk. 6. It is in the Discretion of the Justices of B. R. to inflict Fine and Imprisonment, and infamous Punishment on Offenders; and they may commit to any Prison they think fit, and the Law doth not suffer any other Court to remove or bail any Persons imprisoned by them. 1 Sid. 145. 1 Mod. 666. The Court of B. B. may proceed on Indictments found before other Courts, and removed into this in the same Manner as on Indictments or Informations commenced in this Court; though the Court before whom such Indictments were found be determined, &c. And notwithstanding certain Justices were appointed to execute a Statute on which the Proceedings were had; nor doth a Statute, which appoints certain Crimes to be tried before certain Judges, exclude the Jurisdiction of the Judges of B. R. without express negative Words: But if a Statute creates a new Offence, no Way taken Notice of by the Common Law, and erects a new Jurisdiction for its Punishment, &c. it may be otherwise. 2 Hawk. P. C. 7. The Stat. of 8 H. 6. which provides an Inquiry and Restitution in forcible Entry, appropriates it to Justices of Peace; and other Commissioners have no Power to inquire thereof: But the Judges of B. R. are within this Statute; for the King sits there, and where he sits est plenitudo potestatis. Kelw. 159. Jenk. Cent. 197. In the County where the King's Bench sits, there is every Term a Grand Inquest, who are to present all Criminal Matters arising within that County, and then the same Court proceeds upon Indictments so taken; or if in Vacation, there be any Indictment of Felony before the Justices of Peace, Oyer and Terminer or Gaol-Delivery there sitting, it may be removed by Certiorari into B. R. and there they proceed de die in diem, &c. 2 Hale's Hist. P. C. 3. To this Court it regularly belongs to examine Errors of all Judges and Justices in their Judgments and Proceedings; the Court of Exchequer excepted. F. N. B. 20, 21. It hath been held, that a Writ of Error lies in B. R. of an Attainder before the Lord High Steward. 1 Sid. 208. And upon Judgment given in the Chancery, as well as other Courts,

Writ

Writ of Error in some Cases will lie returnable in the Court of King's Bench. Practis. Attorn. 1st Edit. 185. But on Proceedings in B. R. by original Writ, Error lies not but to the Parliament. The Court of B. R. being the highest Court of Common Law, hath Power to reform inferior Courts, reverse erroneous Judgments given therein, and punish the Magistrates and Officers for Corruption, &c. 2 Hawk. 8. It may award Execution, not only against Persons attainted there, but also against Persons attainted in Parliament, or any other Court; when the Record of their Attainder or a Transcript is removed, and their Persons brought thither by Habeas Corpus. Cro. Car. 176. Cro. Jac. 495. Pardons of Persons condemned by former Justices of Gaol-Delivery, ought to be allowed in B. R. the Record and Prisoner being removed thither by Certiorari and Habeas Corpus. 2 Hawk. 27. This Court grants Habeas Corpus's to relieve Persons wrongfully imprisoned; and may bail any Person whatsoever: A Person illegally committed to Prison by the King and Council, or either House of Parliament, may be bailed in B. R. and in some Cases on legal Commitments; also Persons committed by the Lord Chancellor, &c. 2 Hawk. 110, 111. Writs of Mandamus are granted by this Court, to restore Officers in Corporations, Colleges, &c. unjustly turn'd out; and Freeman wrongfully disfranchised: Also Quo Warranto's against Persons or Corporations, usurping Franchises and Liberties against the King; and on Misuser of Privileges, to seize the Liberties, &c. And in B. R. the King's Letters Patent may be repealed by Scire facias, &c. This Court in ancient Times was ordinarily exercised in all Criminal Matters, and Pleas of the Crown; leaving private Contracts and civil Actions to the Common Pleas, and other Courts. 4 Inst. 70. It is now divided into a Crown-side and a Plea-side; the one determining Criminal, and the other Civil Causes: The Crown-side determines all Criminal Matters, (wherein the King is Plaintiff) as Treasons, Felonies, Murders, Rapes, Robberies, Riots, Breaches of the Peace, and all Causes prosecuted by Way of Indictment, Information, &c. And into the Court of B. R. Indictments from all Inferior Courts and Orders of Sessions, &c. may be removed by Certiorari; and Inquisitions of Murder are certified of Course into this Court, as it is the supreme Court of Criminal Jurisdiction: Hence also issue Attachments, for disobeying Rules or Orders, &c. 4 Inst. 71, 72. On the Plea-side, it holds Plea of all personal Actions prosecuted by Bill or Writ, as Actions of Debt, Detinue, Covenant, Account, Actions upon the Case, and all other personal Actions, Ejectment, Trespass, Waste, &c. against any Person in the Custody of the Marshal of the Court, as every one sued here is supposed to be; and in all personal Actions for or against any Officer, Minister or Clerk of the Court, who in respect of their necessary Attendance have the Privilege of the Court. Ibid. It has been held, that Action upon the Statute of Winchester, of Robbery, does not lie by Original in the Court of B. R. because it is a Common Plea; but it has been adjudged otherwise, and allowed on Bill. 2 Danv. Abr. 279, 282. An Appeal in B. R. must be arraigned on the Plea-side; except it come in by Certiorari, when it is said it ought to be arraigned on the Crown-side. 2 Hawk. 308. Where the Court of B. R. proceeds on an Offence committed in the same County wherein it sits, the Process may be made returnable immediately; but when it proceeds on an Offence removed by Certiorari from another County, there must be fifteen Days between the Telle and Return of every Process, &c. 9 Rep. 118. 1 Inst. 134. 1 Sid. 72. The Court of B. R. may sit and hear and determine Causes, after Term is ended. Jenk. Cent. 62.

The Officers of the King's Bench are, on the Crown-side, the Clerk of the Crown, and the Secondary of the Crown: And on the Plea-side there are a great many Clerks and Officers; as two chief Clerks or Prothonotaries, and their Secondary and Deputy, the Custos Brevirum, two Clerks of the Papers, the Clerk of the Declarations, Signer and Sealer of Bills, the Clerk of the Rules, Clerk of the Errors, the Clerk of the Bails, Filixers, the Marshal of the Court, and the Cryer. The Prothonotaries are Masters of the King's Bench Office, and their Clerks are the proper Attornies here, who enter all Declarations, Pleas, and other Proceedings. Their Secondary constantly attends the Sitting of the Court, to receive Matters referred to him by the Judges, to be examined and reported to the Court; he signs all Judgments, taxes Costs, and gives Rules to answer, &c. And he also informs the Court in Point of Practice. Their Deputy has the Custody of the Stamp, for signing all Writs, &c. and keeps Remembrances of all Records; Writs return'd are filed in his Office, and common Bails, &c. The Custos Brevium files Originals and other Writs whereon Proceedings are had to Outlawry; examines and seals all Records of Nisi prius for Trials at the Assises, and has several Clerks under him for making up Records throughout England. The Clerks of the Papers make up the Paper-Books of all special Pleadings and Demurrers, which the Plaintiff's Attorney commonly speaks for, and afterwards gives Rule for the Defendant's Attorney to bring to him again to be entered, &c. The Clerk of the Declarations files all Declarations, and continues them on the Back from the Term of Declaring till Issue is joined. The Signer and Sealer of Bills keeps a Book of Entry of the Names of the Plaintiffs and Defendants in all such Writs and Processes; and the Defendants enter their Appearances with him. The Clerk of the Rules takes Notice of all Rules and Orders made in Court, and afterwards draws them up and enters them in a Book at large; and with him also are given all Rules of Course on a Capi Corpus, Habeas Corpus, Writs of Inquiry, &c. and he or the Clerk of the Papers files all Affidavits used in Court, and makes Copies of them. The Clerk of the Errors allows all Writs of Error, and makes Superſedeas's thereupon into any County, and transcribes and certifies Records. The Clerks of the Bails and Posteas, file the Bail-Pieces, and mark the Posteas, &c. The Filixers of Counties make the mesne Process after the Original, in suing to the Outlawry; and have the Benefit of all Process and Entries thereupon. The Marshal, by himself or Deputy always attends the Court, to receive into his Custody such Prisoners as shall be committed. The Cryer makes Proclamations of Summoning and Adjourning the Court, calls Nonsuits, and swears Jurymen, Witnesses, &c.

King's Household. In the Reign of King Ed. 3. 16,000*l.* per Annum and no more, was appointed for the King's Household: And Anno 29 H. 6. the Charge of the Household was reduced to 12,000*l.* a Year. But in Q. Elizabeth's Reign, the Profits of the Kingdom being very much advanced, 40,000*l.* per Annum was allowed for her Household. And on the Restoration of K. Charles 2. the Parliament for the Honour of the King and Kingdom, settled on his Majesty 200,000*l.* per Annum. In the Reigns of King William 3. and Queen Anne 700,000*l.* a Year was allotted for the Support of the Household, and ordinary Charge of the Civil List. And his Majesty King George 1. had the like Sum of 700,000*l.* per Annum settled upon him by Parliament, arising out of the Duties of Excise, Wine-Licence, Post-Office, &c. Also to his present Majesty K. George 2. The Duty of Excise on Ale, Beer, &c. is granted with a further Subsidy of Tonnage, and the yearly Sum of 120,000*l.* out of the Aggregate Fund, for Support of the Household and Dignity of the Crown; so as to make the Revenue 800,000*l.*

800,000*l.* per Annum, and Deficiencies to be made good by Parliament. See the Statutes 13 & 14 W. 3. 1 Ann. c. 7. 1 Geo. 1. 1 Geo. 2. c. 1.

King's Palace, The Limits of the King's Palace at Westminster, extends from Charing-Cross to Westminster Hall, and shall have such Privileges as the ancient Palaces. Stat. 28 H. 8. If any Person shall strike another in the King's Palace, he shall have his Right-hand cut off, be imprisoned during Life, and also be fined. 32 H. 8. c. 12.

King's Militer, Is the Money which is paid to the King in the Court of Common Pleas, for a Licence granted to any Man to levy a Fine of Lands, Tenements or Hereditaments to another Person: And this must be compounded according to the Value of the Land, in the Alienation Office, before the Fine will pass. 2 Inst. 511. 6 Rep. 39, 43.

Kintal, Is a Weight in Merchandise. See Quintal.

Kintledge, A Term used among Merchants and Sea-faring Persons, for a Ship's Ballast. Merch. Dict.

Kipe, (From the Saxon, Cypa) Is a Basket or Engine made of Osiers, broad at one End, and narrower by Degrees, used in Oxfordshire and other Parts of England for the Taking of Fish; and fishing with those Engines is called Kipping. We read that no Salmon shall be taken between Gravesend and Henly upon Tbams in Kipper-time, viz. between the 3d of May and the Epiphany. Rot. Parl. 50 Ed. 3.

Kirby's Quest, Is an ancient Record remaining with the Remembrancer of the Exchequer; so called from its being the Inquest of John de Kirby, Treasurer to King Ed. 1.

Kirk-mote, A Synod; and sometimes it has been taken for a Meeting in the Church or Vestry. Blount.

Knave, An old Saxon Word, which had at first a Sense of Simplicity and Innocence, for it signified a Boy; Sax. Knapa, whence a Knave-Child, i. e. a Boy, distinguished from a Girl in several old Writers; afterwards it was taken for a Servant Boy, and at length for any Servant Man: Also it was applied to a Minister or Officer, that bore the Weapon or Shield of his Superior, as Scild Knapa, whom the Latines called Armigerum, and the French, Escuyer, 14 E. 3. c. 3. And it was sometimes of old made Use of as a titular Addition; as Johannes C. filius Willielmi C. de Derby, Knave, &c. 22 Hen. 7. 36. The Word is now perverted to the hardest Meaning, viz. A false and deceitful Fellow.

Knighth, (Sax. Cnyt, Fr. Chevalier, Lat. Miles, & Equus Auratus, from his gilt Spurs usually worn) In its Original it is said to be properly a Servant; but there is now but one Instance where 'tis so taken, and that is of Knights of the Shire, who serve for their Country in Parliament: In all other Cases it signifies one that bears Arms, who for his Virtue and martial Prowess, is by the King singled from the Rank of Gentlemen, and exalted to a higher Step of Dignity. He who served the King in any Civil or Military Office, was anciently called Miles, which is often mentioned in the old Charters of the Anglo Saxon Kings; but the Word was after restrained to him that served only upon some military Expedition, or rather to such who by Reason of their Tenure were bound to serve in the Wars; (for formerly all Persons having a Knights Fee of Land might be compelled to be made Knights, as appears by the Stat. 1 Ed. 2. repealed by 17 Car. 1.) And he that by his Office or Tenure was obliged to perform any military Service, was furnished by the Chief Lord with Arms, and so adoptatur in militem; which the French call Adouber, and we to Dub such a Person a Knight, &c. The Manner of making Knights is thus, shortly express'd by Camden: Nostri vero temporibus, qui Equestrum Dignitatem suscipit, flexis genibus leviter in humero percutitur. Princeps his verbis Gallice affatur: Sus vel Sois Chevalier au nom. de Dieu, i. e. Surge aut sis Eques in nomine Dei:

This is meant of Knights Bachelors, which is the lowest, but most ancient Order of Knighthood with us. Of Knights there have been reckoned two Sorts, Knights Spiritual and Temporal; the Spiritual Knights, are so called by Divines in Regard of their Spiritual Warfare; the Temporal Knighthood, consists of Knights of the Sword, Knights Baneret, of the Bath, Knights of the Garter, &c. Selden's Titles of Honour, pag. 770. The Privilege belonging to Knights. See Ferne's Glory of Generosity 116.

Knights-Baneret, (Milites Vexillarii) Are made only in Time of War, and is a high Honour: And though Knighthood is commonly given for some personal Merit, which therefore dies with the Person; yet John Coupland, for his valiant Service performed against the Scots, had the Honour of Baneret conferr'd on him, and his Heirs for ever, by Patent. 29 Ed. 3. See Baneret.

Knights of the Bath, (Milites Balnei) Have their Names from their Bathing the Night before their Creation. In ancient Times before Knights went into the Service, it was usual for them to go into a Bath and wash themselves, and afterwards they were girt with a Girdle; which Custom was constantly observed, especially at the Inauguration of our Kings, on which Times Knights were made, who for that Reason were called Knights of the Bath: This Order of Knights was introduced by King Hen. 4. and revived in the Reign of King Geo. 1. with great Ceremony; thirty-seven of these Knights being then made, having each three honorary Esquires; and they now wear a red Ribbon a cross their Shoulders; have a Prelate of the Order, who is the Bishop of Rockester, several Heralds, and other Officers, &c.

Knights of the Chamber, (Milites Camerae) Seem to be such Knights Bachelors as are made in Time of Peace, because Knighthed in the King's Chamber, and not in the Field: They are mentioned in Rot. Parl. 28 Ed. 3. 2 Inst. 666.

Knights of the Garter, (Equites Garterii, or Periscelidis) Are an Order of Knights, founded by King Ed. 3. who after he had obtained many notable Victories, for furnishing this honourable Order, made Choice in his own Realm, and all Europe, of Twenty five the most excellent and renowned Persons for Virtue and Honour, and ordained himself and his Successors, Kings of England, to be the Sovereigns thereof, and the rest to be Fellows and Brethren Smith's Repub. Ang lib. 1. cap. 20. And according to Camden and others, this Order was instituted upon King Edward the Third's having great Success in a Battle, wherein the King's Garter was used for a Token: But Polydore Virgil gives it another Original, and says, that this King in the Height of his Glory, the Kings of France and Scotland being both Prisoners in the Tower of London at one Time, first erected this Order, Anno 1350, from the Countess of Salisbury's dropping her Garter, in a Dance before his Majesty, which the King taking up, and seeing some of his Nobles smile, he said Honi soit qui mal y pense, interpreted; Evil be to him that Evil thinketh, which has ever since been the Motto of the Garter, declaring such Veneration should be done to that silken Tie, that the best of them should be proud of enjoying their Honours that Way. Camden in his Britannia saith, that this Order of Knights received great Ornament from King Ed. 4. And King Charles 1. as an Addition to the Splendor, ordered all the Knights Companions to wear on their upper Garment, the Cross incircled with the Garter and Motto. The Honourable Society of this Order is intitled to St. George; and they are a College or Corporation, having a great Seal, &c. The Site of the College is the Royal Castle of Windsor, with the Chapel of St. George, and the Chapter-house in the said Castle, for their Solemnity on St. George's Day, and at their Feasts and Installations. Besides the King their Sovereign, and Twenty-five Companions, Knights of the Garter, they have a Dean and Canons, &c. and twenty-six poor Knights, that have no other Subsistence but the Allowance of this House, which is given to them in Respect of their daily Prayer to the Honour of God and St. George; and these are vulgarly called Poor Knights of Windsor. There are also certain Officers belonging to the Order; as Prelate of the Garter, which Office is inherent to the Bishop of Winchester for the Time being; the Chancellor of the Garter, who is the Bishop of Sarum; Register, always Dean of Windsor; the Principal King at Arms, called Garter, to manage and marshal their Solemnities; and the Usher of the Garter, being likewise Usher of the Black Rod. A Knights of the Garter wears daily Abroad, a blue Garter decked with Gold, Pearl, and precious Stones on the Left-Leg; and in all Places of Assembly, upon his Coat on the Left side of his Breast, a Star of Silver Embroidery; and the Picture of St. George, enamelled upon Gold and beset with Diamonds, at the End of a blue Ribbon that crosses the Body from the Left-Shoulder; and when dressed in his Robes, a Mantle, Collar of SS, &c.

Knights-fee, was heretofore so much Inheritance in Land, as was sufficient to maintain a Knights. This was 20*l.* a Year, by the Statute 1 Ed. 2. c. 1. But Sir Thomas Smith in his Repub. Angl. rates it at 40*l. per Ann.* And Sir Edward Coke says a Knights Fee contained 680 Acres. 2 Inst. 596. And when the Estate of a Knights was esteemed 20*l.* by the Year, then the State of a Baron was 400 Marks; that of an Earl 400*l. per Ann.* of a Marquess 800 Marks; and 800*l.* a Year for a Duke. 2 Co. Inst. 7, 8, 9. In England, at the Time of William called the Conqueror, there were sixty thousand two hundred and fifteen Knights-Fees; whereof Twenty eight thousand and fifteen were in the Possession of Religious Houses. Stow's Annals 285. Brañ. lib. 5.

Knights of St. John of Jerusalem, (Milites Sancti Johannis Hierosolymitani) Had their Beginning about the Year 1119, and their Denomination from John, Patriarch of Alexandria, though vowed to St. John Baptist, their Patron. They had one general Prior, for the Government of the whole Order within England and Scotland; who was the first Prior of England, and sat in the Lords House of Parliament. Their primary Foundation and Abode was first in Hierusalem, and then in the Ile of Rhodes, until they were expelled thence by the Turks; since which their Chief Seat is the Ile of Malta. See 32 H. 8. and Hospitalers.

Knights of Malta. These Knights took their Name and Original from the Time of their Expulsion from Rhodes, Anno 1523. The Island of Malta was then given them by the Emperor Charles 5. where they now reside, and are therefore called Knights of Malta: They have done great Exploits against the Infidels, especially in the Year 1595.

Knights of Rhodes. The Knights of St. John of Jerusalem, after they removed to Rhode Island. 32 H. 8. c. 24.

Knights Service, (Servitium Militare) Was a Tenure whereby several Lands in this Kingdom were held of the King; which drew after it Homage, and Service in War, Escuage, Wardship, Marriage, &c. The Knights Service in Capite, or in Chief, was Service, by which the Tenant was bound to serve the King in his Wars: And if he held of a common Person, then he was to go with his Lord in the Wars. But it is taken away by Statute 12 Car. 2. cap. 24. See Chivalry.

Knights of the Shire, (Milites Comitatus) Otherwise called Knights of Parliament, are two Knights or Gentlemen of Worth, chosen on the King's Writ, in pleno Comitatu, by the Freeholders of every County that can dispend 40*l.* a Year; and these, when every Man that had a Knights Fee was customarily constrained to be a Knights, were obliged to be Milites gladio cincti, for so runs the Writ at this Day; but now Notabiles Armigeri may be chosen. Stat. 1 Hen. 5. c. 1. 10 H. 6. c. 2. 23 H. 6. c. 6. Their Expences were to be born by the County, during their Sitting in Parliament, by the 35 H. 8. c. 11. And as to their Qualifications, they are to have 600*l. per Annum* Freehold Estate, &c. Vide 9 Ann. c. 5. and Parliament.

Knights Templars, (Milites Templarii) Were a Religious Order of Knights, instituted in the Year of our Lord 1119, and so called, because they dwelt in Part of the Buildings belonging to the Temple at Jerusalem, and not far from the Sepulchre of our Saviour: They entertain'd Christian Strangers and Pilgrims, and in their Armour led them through the Holy Land, to view the sacred Monuments of Christianity, without Danger from Infidels. This Order was far spread in Christendom, particularly here in England, where it flourished in the Time of King Hen. 2. And had in every Nation a particular Governor or Master, but at length some of them at Jerusalem falling away to the Saracens from Christianity, the whole Order was suppressed by Clemens quintus, Anno 1307. And their Substance given partly to the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem, and partly to other Religious. Cassan. de gloria Mundi, par. 9. These Knights at first wore a white Garment; and afterwards in the Pontificate of Pope Eugenius, it was ordained that they should wear a Red Cross: In ancient Records they were also called Fratres Militie Templi Solomonis. Mon. Angl. Tom. 2. p. 554.

Knights of the Thistle. The honourable the Scotch Knighthood, the Knights whereof wear a Green Ribbon over their Shoulders, and are otherwise honourably distinguished.

Knights-Court, An Honour Court held by the Bishop of Hereford at his Palace there, twice a Year; wherein Lords of Manors, and their Tenants holding by Knights Service of the Honour of that Bishoprick, were Suitors. Butterfield's Surv. 244.

Knights-gild, Was a Gild or Company in London, consisting of nineteen Knights, which King Edgar founded, giving them a Portion of void Ground lying within the Walls of the City, now called Potoken Ward. Stow. 151.

Known-men. The Lollards in England, called Hereticks, for opposing the Church of Rome before the Reformation, went commonly under the Name of Known men, and Just Fast-men; which Title was first given them in the Diocese of Lincoln, by Bishop Smith, Anno 1500.

Labozartis, Is an ancient Writ against Persons refusing to serve and do Labour, who have no Means of Living; or against such as having serv'd in the Winter, refuse to serve in the Summer. Reg. Orig. 189.

Labourers.

Labourers, Conspiring together concerning their Work or Wages, shall forfeit 10 l. for the first Offence, 20 l. for the Second, &c. And if not paid, be set on the Pillory. Stat. 2 & 3 Ed. 6. c. 15. Justices of Peace, and Stewards of Leets, &c. have Power to hear and determine Complaints relating to Nonpayment of Labourers Wages. 4 Ed. 4. 1. And Labourers taking Work by the Great, and leaving the same unfinished, unless for Non-payment of Wages, or where they are employed in the King's Service, &c. are to suffer one Month's Imprisonment, and forfeit 5 l. The Wages of Labourers is to be yearly assessed for every County by the Sheriff, and Justices of Peace in the Easter Sessions, and in Corporations by the Head Officers, under Penalties. 5 Elix. cap. 4. And the Sheriff is to cause the said Rates and Assessments of Wages to be proclaimed. 1 Jac. 1. c. 6. All Persons fit for Labour, shall be compelled to serve by the Day, in the Time of Hay or Corn Harvest; and Labourers in the Harvest-time may go to other Counties, having Testimonials. From the Middle of March to the Middle of September, Labourers are to work from Five a Clock in the Morning till Seven or Eight at Night, being allowed two Hours for Breakfast and Dinner, and half an Hour for Sleeping the three hot Months; and all the rest of the Year from Twilight to Twilight, except an Hour and a Half for Breakfast and Dinner, on Pain of forfeiting 1 d. for every Hour absent. 4 Elix. If any Labourer shall make an Assault upon his Master, he shall suffer and be punished as a Servant making such Assault. Ibid. By the Stat. 12 Geo. 1. c. 34. 22 Geo. 2. c. 27. All Contracts of Journeymen employed in any Woollen, Linen, Silk, Leather, or Iron, &c. Manufactures for raising Wages, lessening the Hours of Work, &c. are illegal, and the Offenders shall be sent to the House of Correction for three Months.

Lacerta, A Word signifying a Fathom. Domesday.

Laches, (From the Fr. Lajber, i. e. Laxare, or Lafche, ignavus) In our Law signifies Slackness or Negligence; as it appears in Littleton, where Laches of Entry is a Neglect in the Heir to enter. And probably it may be an old English Word; for when we say there is Laches of Entry, it is all one as if it were said, there is a Lack of Entry; and in this Signification it is used, Litt. 136. No Laches shall be adjudged in the Heir within Age; and regularly Laches shall not bar either Infants or Feme Coverts, for not Entry or Claim, to avoid Descents; but Laches shall be accounted in them, for Non-performance of a Condition annexed to the State of the Land. Co. Lit. 146.

Lafordswick, (Sax. Hlaford, i. e. Dominus, and Swic, proditio, Infidelitas erga Dominum) A Betraying one's Lord or Master. This Word is found in King Cnutus's Laws, c. 61. And in the Laws of King Hen. 1. Quaedam Placita emendari (viz. Quaedam Crimina expiari) non possunt, Husbrech, Open-theft, Eberemorth, & Lafordswick. Leg. H. 1. c. 13.

Laga, (Sax. Log) Signifies Law: And from hence we deduce Saxonlage, Danelage, &c.

Lagan, Is Goods sunk in the Sea, from the Sax. Liggan cubare: When Mariners in Danger of Shipwreck cast Goods out of the Ship, and because they know they are heavy and sink, fasten a Buoy or Cork to them, that they may find and have them again; if the Ship be lost, these Goods are called Lagan, and so long as they continue upon the Sea, belong to the Lord Admiral; but if they are cast away upon the Land, they are then a Wreck, and belong to the Lord intitled to the same. 5 Co. Rep. 106. At first Lagan was that Right which the Chief Lord of the Fee had to take Goods cast on Shore by the Violence of the Sea, &c. Bract lib. 3. cap. 2.

Lageman (Logamannus) Homo habens Legem, or Homo Legalis seu Legitimus; such as we call now, Good Men of the Jury. The Word is frequently used in Domesday, and the Laws of Edward the Confessor, cap. 38. thus: Postea inquisisset Justitia per Lagamannos, & per Meliores homines de Burgo, &c. Sir Edw. Coke says, a Lageman was he who had Socam & Sacram super Homines suos, i. e. that had a Jurisdiction over their Persons and Estates; of which Opinion were Somner and Lambard, and that it signified the Thanes, called afterwards Barons, who sat as Judges to determine Mens Rights in Courts of Justice. In Senatus consult. de Monticulis Wallie, cap. 3. it is said Let twelve Lagbmen, which Lambard renders Men of Law, viz. Six English and six Welsh, do Right and Justice, &c. Blount.

Lagen, (Lagena) In ancient Time was a Measure of Wine, &c. the Lieutenant of the Tower has the Privilege to take unam Lagenam Vini, ante malum & retro, of all Wine Ships that come up the Thames: And Sir Peter Leicester, in his Antiquities of Cheshire, interprets Lagena Vini, a Bottle of Wine. Donatio insuper de Sex Lagenis olei annuatim. Chart. 2 Ed. 3.

Lagday, or Labday, A Time of open Court. See Law day.

Lagblite, Lagblite, Lablite, (Sax. Leg, Lex, & Slite, Ruptio) A Breaking or Transgressing of the Law; and sometimes the Punishment inflicted for so doing. Leg. H. 1. c. 13.

Lain, A broad Way in a Wood; the same with Lada. Mon. Ang. Tom. 1. pag. 483.

Lairwite, Lecherwite, and Legergeldum, from the Sax. Lagan, i. e. Concumbere, & Wite, Mulcta) Pœna vel Mulcta Offendentium in Adulterio & Fornicatione; and the Privilege of punishing Adultery and Fornication did anciently belong to the Lords of some Manors, in Reference to their Tenants. Flota, lib. 1. c. 47. 4 Inst. 206.

Lammas-Day, Is the first of August, so called quasi Lamb-mass; on which Day the Tenants that held Land of the Cathedral Church of York, (which is dedicated to St. Peter ad Vincula) were bound by their Tenure to bring a live Lamb into the Church at High Mass. It is otherwise said to come from the Sax. Hlaffmaste, viz. Loaf-mass, as on that Day the English made an Offering of Bread made with new Wheat. 23 Hen. 8. c. 4.

Lamps. House-keepers in London, and within the weekly Bills of Mortality, living in Streets, are to hang out Lamps every Night till Twelve a Clock, from Michaelmas to Lady-day, under the Penalty of 2 s. for every Default. Stat. 2 W. & M. By the Stat. 17 Geo. 2. c. 29. Such convenient Number of Lamps as the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of London shall think proper, shall be erected in such Places as to them shall seem meet; and they are to make Rates not exceeding 6 d. in the Pound, nor above 50 s. a Year on any one Person. The Alderman of each Ward, with the Consent of his Deputy Deputy and Common Council-men, or the major Part of them, may contract for the Lamps, &c. Willfully breaking or extinguishing any Lamp incurs the Penalty of 40 s. for the first, 50 s. for the second, and 3 l. for the third Offence.

Lancaster, Was erected into a County Palatine Anno 50 Ed. 3. and granted by the King to his Son John for Life, that he should have Jura Regalia, and a King-like Power to pardon Treasons, Outlawries, &c. and make Justices of Peace and Justices of Assise within the said County, and all Processes and Indictments to be in his Name; but these Royalties are abridged by the Stat. 27 H. 8. c. 24. There is a Seal for the County Palatine, and another for the Dutchy, i. e. Such Lands as lie out of the County Palatine, and yet are Part of the Dutchy; for such there are, and the Dukes of Lancaster held them, but not as Counties Palatine, for they had not Jura Regalia over those Lands. 2 Lutw. 1236. 3 Salk. 110, 111. The Statute 37 H. 8. c. 16 annexes Lands to the Dutchy of Lancaster, for the Enlargement of it. Fines levied before the Justices of Assise of Lancaster, of Lands in the County Palatine, shall be of equal Force with those acknowledged before the Justices in the Common Pleas. 37 H. 8. c. 19. And Process against an Outlawed Person in the County Palatine of Lancaster, is to be directed to the Chancellor of the Dutchy, who shall thereupon issue like Writs to the Sheriff, &c. 5 & 6 Ed. 6. 26. The Statute 17 Car. 2. concerning Causes of Replevin shall be of Force in the Court of Common Pleas for the County Palatine of Lancaster. 19 Car. 2. 5. By the Stat. 17 Geo. 2. c. 7. The Chancellor or Vice-chancellor may by Commission empower Persons to take Affidavits in any Cause, &c. depending in the Chancery or Courts of Sessions, in any Plea whatsoever Civil or Criminal.

Lanceti, These were Agricola quidam, sed ignotæ speciei. Spelm.

Land, (Terra) Signifies generally not only arable Ground, Meadow, Pasture, Wood, Moors, Waters, &c. but also Messuages and Houses; for in conveying the Land, the Buildings pass with it. Co. Lit. 4. 19. In a more restrained Sense it is arable Ground: And the Land of every Man in the Law is said to be inclosed from other, though it lie in the open Field; so that for any Trespass therein, he shall have the Writ Quare Clausum fregit, &c. Doct. and Stud. 8. In a Grant, Land may extend to Meadow, or Pasture, &c. But in Writs and Pleadings, it signifies arable only. 1 Vent. 260.

Landbooc, (From the Sax. Land and Boc, Liber) Was a Charter or Deed whereby Land was held. Sic Anglo-Saxones Chartas & Instrumenta nuncuparunt, prædiorum cessiones, jura & firmitates continentia. Spelm. Gloss.

Landcheap, (Sax. Land-cep, from Ceapan, to buy and sell) An ancient customary Fine, paid at every Alienation of Land lying within some Manor, or Liberty of a Borough; as at Malden in Essex, there is to this Day a Custom called by the same Name, that for certain Houses and Lands sold within that Place, thirteen Pence in every Mark of the Purchase-Money shall be paid to the Town; and this Custom of Land cheap, they claim (inter alia) by a Grant from the Bishop of London, made Anno 5 H. 4.

Landca, A Ditch in Marshy Lands to carry Water into the Sea. — Vera judicia & awarda faciat de Vallis, Landeis, & Watergagiis. Du Cange.

Landfricus, The Lord of the Soil. Leg. Eitelred. cap. 6.

Landegandman, Was one of the inferior Tenants of a Manor; it is used in Custumar. de Hecham. Spelm.

Land-gable, A Tax or Rent issuing out of Lands; according to Domesday, Censu prædialis vel tributum, quod à prædiis colligitur: And it is said to be a Quit-Rent for the Site of a House, or the Land whereon it stood, being the same with what we now call Ground-Rent. Domesd. Lincoln.

Landmeters, Agrimensores, Measurers of Land, so called of old; Landimera autem est Terræ limes vel Meta: From the Sax. Gemæra, i. e. Terminus; and hence we say Meers.

Landirecta. In the Saxon Times the Duties which were laid upon all that held Land, were term'd Trinoda necessitas, viz. Expedition, Burghbote and Brigbote; which Duties the Saxons did not call Servitia: because they were not Feodal arising from the Condition of the Owners, but Landirecta, Rights that charged the very Land, whoever did possess it. Spelm. of Feuds.

Landlord, Is he of whom Lands or Tenements are holden; and a Landlord may distrain on the Lands of common Right, for Rent, Services, &c. Co. Litt. 57, 205. In London if a Tenant commit Felony, &c. whereby his Goods and Chattels become forfeit; the Landlord shall be paid his Rent for two Years, before all other Debts except to the King, out of the Goods found in the House. Priv. Lond. 75.

Land-Tax, Granted by Parliament. Vide Tax.

Land-tenant, Is he that possesses Land let, or hath it in his manual Occupation. 14 Ed. 3. Stat. 1. cap. 3. See Tenant.

Langemanns, Are Lords of Manors, as interpreted by Sir Ed. Coke. 1 Inst. 5. They are mentioned in Domesd.

Langeolum, An under Garment made of Wool, formerly worn by the Monks, which reach'd down to their Knees; so called because Lanea fit. Mon. Angl. Tom. 1. pag. 419.

Lanis de crescentia Walfæ traducendis absque Custuma, &c. An ancient Writ that lies to the Customer of a Port, to permit one to pass Wool without paying Custom, he having paid it before in Wales. Reg. Orig. 279.

Lano niger, A Sort of base Coin, formerly current in this Kingdom. Memorand. in Scaccario. Mich. 22 Ed. 1.

Lapis Marmorius, A Marble Stone about twelve Foot long and three Foot broad, placed at the upper End of Westminster-hall, where was likewise a Marble Chair erected on the Middle thereof, in which our Kings anciently sat at their Coronation Dinner, and at other Times the Lord Chancellor. — Qui quidam Henricus de Cliff, (Clericus Rotulorum) in Magna Aula Westm. apud Lapidem Marmorium in præsentia Domini Cancellarii, præstitit Sacramentum, &c. Claus. Ed. 2. m. 1. Dorfo. Over this marble Table are now erected the Courts of Chancery and King's Bench. Orig. Juridical. 37.

Lapse, (Lapsus) Is a Slip or Omission of a Patron to present to a Church, within Six Months after it becomes void; in which Case we say, that Benefice is in Lapse or lapsed. 13 Eliz. c. 12. And Lapse is defined to be a Title given to the Ordinary to collate to a Benefice, on the Patron's Negligence in Presenting within six Months; and also to be a Devolution of a Right of Presenting from the Patron to the Bishop; from the Bishop to the Archbishop; and from the Archbishop to the King. Wood's Inst. 158. If after an Avoidance, the Patron doth not present in six Months, the Ordinary hath the next six Months to collate to the Benefice; and if he doth not collate in six Months, then the Metropolitan hath further six Months; and if he doth not collate within his six Months, it then devolves to the Crown. 2 Roll. Abr. 360. Hob. 30 4 Rep. 17. And the Computation of the six Months is by the Kalenda Months, exclusive of the Day in which the Church becomes void. 6 Rep. 62. Where a Patron presents his Clerk before the Bishop hath collated, the Presentation is good good notwithstanding the six Months are past, and shall bar the Bishop, who cannot take any Advantage of the Lapse: And so if the Patron makes his Presentation before the Archbishop hath collated, though twelve Months are past: But if the Bishop collates after twelve Months, this bars not the Archbishop. 2 Roll. Abr. 369. 2 Inst. 273. If a Bishop doth not collate to Benefices of his own Gift, they lapse at the End of six Months to the Archbishop; and if the Archbishop neglects to collate within six Months, to a Benefice of his Gift, the King shall have it by Lapse. Dr. & Stud. cap. 36. And if a Church continues void several Years by Lapse, the Successor of the King may present. Cro. Car. 258. But if the King hath a Title to present by Lapse, and he suffers the Patron to present, and the Presentee dies, or resigns before the King hath presented, if the Presentation is real and not by Covin, he hath lost his Presentation, for Lapse is but for the first and next Turn; and by the Death of the Incumbent, a new Title is given to the Patron; though it has been adjudged that the King in such Case may present at any Time as long as that Presentee is incumbent. 2 Cro. 216. 7 Rep. Moor 244. When the Patronage of the Church is litigious, and one Party doth recover against the other in a Quare Impedit, if the Bishop be not named in the Writ, and six Months pass while the Suit is depending, Lapse shall incur to the Bishop: If the Bishop be named in the Writ, then neither the Bishop, Archbishop or King, can take the Benefice by Lapse; and yet it is said if the Patron within the six Months brings a Quare Impedit against the Bishop, and then the six Months pass without any Presentation by the Patron, Lapse shall incur to the Bishop. 2 Roll. Abr. 365. 6 Rep. 52. 1 Inst. 344. Hob. 270. Though where the Bishop is a Disturber, or the Church remains void above six Months by his Fault, there shall be no Lapse. 1 Inst. 344. A Clerk presented being refused by the Bishop for any sufficient Cause, as Illiterature, ill Life, &c. he is to give the Patron Notice of it, that another may be presented in due Time, otherwise the Bishop shall not collate by Lapse; because he shall not take Advantage of his own Wrong, in not giving Notice to the Patron as he ought to do by Law. Dyer 292. And if an Avoidance is by Resignation, which must necessarily be to the Bishop by the Act of the Incumbent; or by Deprivation, which is the Act of the Law, Lapse shall not incur to the Bishop, till six Months after Notice given by him to the Patron: When the Church becomes void by the Death of the Incumbent, &c. the Patron must present in six Months without Notice from the Bishop, or shall lose his Presentation by Lapse. Dyer 293, 327. 1 Inst. 135. 4 Rep. 75. In the Cases of Deprivation and Resignation, where the Patron is to have Notice before the Church can lapse, the Patron is not bound to take Notice from any Body but the Bishop himself, or other ordinary, which must be personally given to the Party, if he live in the same County; and such Notice must express in certain the Cause of Deprivation, &c. If the Patron live in a foreign County, then the Notice may be published in the Parish Church, and affixed on the Church door. Cro. Eliz. 119. Dyer 328. In such Cases that there ought to be Notice, if none is given by the Bishop or Archbishop in a Year and half, whereby Lapse would come to the King if it had been given; here the Lapse ariseth not to the King, when no Title arose to the inferior Ordinary. Dyer 340. And it has been adjudged, that Lapse is not an Interest, like the Patronage, but an Office of Trust reposed by Law in the Ordinary; and the End of it is, to provide the Church a Rector, in Default of the Patron: And it cannot be granted over; for the Grant of the next Lapse of such a Church, either before it falls or after, is void. F. N. B. 34. Also if Lapse incurs, and then the Ordinary dies, the King shall present, and not the Ordinary's Executors, because it is rather an Administration, than an Interest. 25 Ed. 3. 4. Mallor. 2. Imped. 118. A Lapse may incur against an Infant or Feme Covert, if they do not present within six Months. 1 Inst. 246. But there is no Lapse against the King, who may take his own Time, and Pleinarty shall be no Bar against the King's Title, because Nullum tempus occurrit Regi. 2 Inst. 273. Dyer 351. By Presentation and Institution, a Lapse is prevented; though the Clerk is never inducted: And a Donative cannot lapse, either to the Ordinary or the King. 2 Inst. 273.

Larceny, (Fr. Larracin, Lat. Latrocinium) Is a Theft or Felony of another's Goods, in his Absence; and in Respect of the Thing stolen, it is either great or small: Grand Larceny is a felonious Taking and carrying away the personal Goods of another, above the Value of 12 d. not from the Person, or by Night, in the House of the Owner; and Petit Larceny is when the Goods stolen do not exceed the Value of 12 d. It agrees with Grand Larceny in all Things except only the Value of the Goods; so that wherever any Offence would be Grand Larceny, if the Thing stolen was above 12 d. Value, it is Petit Larceny, if it be but of that Value, or under. H. P. C. 60, 69. If two Persons steal Goods to the Value of 13 d. it is Grand Larceny in both; and if one at different Times steals divers Parcels of Goods from the same Person, which together exceed the Value of 12 d. they may be put together in one Indictment, and the Offender found Guilty of Grand Larceny; but this is very seldom done: On the contrary, the Jury sometimes, where it is an Offender's first Offence, &c. find it specially, as they may, that the Goods are but of 10 d. Value; whereby it will be only Petit Larceny, though the Offender is indicted for stealing Things of the Value of 30 or 40 s. H. P. C. 70. Pult. 125. 3 Inst. 109 Hist. Rep. 66. And Grand Larceny is a Felony punished with Death; Petit Larceny only with Whipping, or other Corporal Punishment, &c. But the Offenders may have the Benefit of Transportation by Statute. There is not only Simple Larceny, by taking away the Goods of another, but a mix'd or complicated Larceny, which has a further Degree of Guilt in it, and is either a Taking from the Person, or from the House; as in Case of Robbery, Burglary, &c. Also there is a Private Larceny from a Man's Person, without his Knowledge; or an Open Larceny with his Knowledge; Private, by picking the Pocket, &c. Openly, where a Thief takes off my Hat, or Periwig, from my Head, and runs away with it: And as to Private Larceny from the Person above 12 d. it is excluded Clergy, if laid in the Indictment as done clam & secreta, &c. according to the Words of the Stat. 8 Eliz. but otherwise it is not: Open Larceny with Knowledge, by the Common Law is within the Benefit of Clergy. H. P. C. 75. Dalt. cap. 110. 3 Inst. 68. Lyer 224. Of all moveable Goods, the Property whereof is in any Person, Felony, or Larceny may be committed; as Money, Household-stuff, Hay, Corn and Trees severed from the Ground, &c. But the Goods stolen must be merely Personal, to make it Larceny; for if it be of any Thing in the Realty, or fixed to the Freehold; as Corn, or Fruit growing, not severed, Lead on a Church, &c. it is not Larceny. 3 Inst. 109. 8 Rep. 33. Dalt. 372. And of Paper and Parchment, on which Conveyances are written concerning Lands, or Obligations, &c. Larceny cannot be committed. Wood's Inst. 366. But see Stat. 2 Geo. 2. c. 15. as to stealing of Bonds and Notes; and the 4 Geo. 2. c. 32. against gainst stealing and taking away Lead, or Iron Bars from Houses, &c. Where a Person finds the Goods of another that are lost, and converts them to his own Use, it is no Larceny. H. P. C. 61. To take away Goods the Owner of which is unknown, sometimes is no Larceny; such as Treasure-Trove, Wrecks, Waifs, Strays, before Seizure by the Person who hath a Right to the same; though in other Cases, a Man may be guilty of Larceny in taking away Goods, the Owner whereof is not known. Dalt. 370. 3 Inst. 208. H. P. C. 67. And in some extraordinary Cases, the Law will rather feign a Property, where in Strictness there is none, than suffer an Offender to escape Justice. 1 Hawk. P. C. 94. A Man may commit Larceny by taking away his own Goods in the Hands of another; where the Owner delivers Goods to a Carrier, and afterwards secretly steals them from him, with an Intent to charge him for them, &c. because the Carrier had a special Property, and the Possession for a Time. 3 Inst. 110. Dalt. 373. Pult. 126. To make the Crime of Larceny, there must be a felonious Taking; or an Intent of stealing the Thing, when it comes first to the Hands of the Offender, at the very Time of the Receiving. 3 Inst. 107. Dalt. 367. And if one intending to steal Goods, gets Possession of them by Ejectment, Replevin, or other Process at Law unduly obtained, by false Oath, &c. it is a felonious Taking. 3 Inst. 64. Kel. Rep. 43, 44. If a Man hath Possession of Goods once lawfully, though he afterwards carry them away with an ill Intention, it is no Larceny: Where a Taylor imbezils Cloth delivered to him, to make a Suit of Clothes, &c. it is not Felony. H. P. C. 61. 5 Rep. 31. And if I lend a Person my Horse to go to a certain Place, and he goes there, and then rides away with him, it is not Larceny; but Remedy is to be had by Action for the Damage: Though if one comes on Pretence to buy a Horse, and the Owner gives the Stranger Leave to ride him, if he rides away with the Horse, it is Felony; for here an Intention is implied. Wood's Inst. 364, 365. In the above Cases, there is a lawful Possession by Delivery, to extenuate the Offence: But Persons having the Possession of Goods by Delivery, may in some Instances be guilty of Felony, by taking away Part thereof; as if a Carrier open a Pack, and take out Part of the Goods; a Miller, who has Corn to grind, takes out Part of the same, with an Intent to steal it, &c. In which Cases, the Possession of Part, distinct from the Whole, was gained by Wrong, and not delivered by the Owner, &c. H. P. C. 62. S. P. C. 25. 1 Hawk. P. C. 90. If a Lodger hath the Possession of Goods and Furniture in a House, by the Consent and Delivery of the Owner, the Taking away, Imbeziling or Purloining thereof, with an Intent to steal them, is Felony and Larceny. Stat. 3 & 4 W. & M. cap. 9. And by Statute, if a Servant being of the Age of 18 Years, and not an Apprentice, goes away with Goods of his Master or Mistress delivered him to keep; or being in his Service imbezils them, or converts them to his own Use, with Intention to steal them, it is Felony, if the Goods are of the Value of 40 s. or above. 21 H. 8. c. 7. Also if one Servant delivers the Goods to another Servant, this is a Delivery by the Master; yet if the Master or another Servant delivers a Bond, or Cattle to sell, and the Servant goes away with the Bond, and receives the Money thereon due, or receives the Money for the Cattle sold, and goes away with the same, this is no Felony or Larceny within the Statute. Dalt. 388. H. P. C. 62. 3 Inst. 105. So if a Servant receives his Master's Rents; for the Master did not deliver the Money to the Servant, and it must be of Things delivered to keep: And if Goods delivered to the Servant to keep, are under 40 s. Value, and he goes away with them, this is only a Breach of Trust, by Reason of the Delivery; but if the Goods were not delivered to him, it is Felony and Larceny to go away with or imbezil them, though under the Value of 40 s. &c. Dalt. 369. See 12 Ann. c. 7. A Person that hath the bare Charge of Goods, and not the Possession; as a Butler that hath the Charge of Plate, a Shepherd of Sheep, a Servant who hath the Charge of a Chamber by Delivery of the Key to him, &c. may be guilty of Larceny. 3 Inst. 108. If the Goods of a dead Person are stolen, it is Felony and Larceny: But where Servants in a House imbezil them after their Master's Decease, this seems not to be Felony, because the Things were in some Measure in their Custody; though if they appear not on Proclamation, they shall be attainted of Felony, by Statute 33 H. 6. c. 1. 1 Hale's Hist. P. C. 515. A Man puts a Child of seven Years old to take Goods and bring them to him, and he carries them away; the Child is not guilty by Reason of his Infancy, yet it is Larceny in the other. Ibid. 514. If a Man reduced to extreme Necessity (not owing to his own Unthriftiness) steals Victuals merely to satisfy his present Hunger, and keep him from Starving, by our ancient Books, this is neither Felony nor Larceny. 1 Hawk. P. C. 93. An Acquittal of Larceny in one County, may be pleaded in Bar of a subsequent Prosecution for the same Stealing in another County: And an Averment that the Offences in both Indictments are the same, may be made out by Witnesses, or Inquest of Office, without putting it to Trial by Jury; though that of later Years hath been the usual Method. 2 Hawk. P. C. 370. But it is no Plea in Appeal of Larceny, that the Defendant hath been found Not guilty in Action of Trespass brought against him by the same Plaintiff for the same Goods, for Larceny and Trespass are entirely different; and a Bar in an Action of an inferior Nature, will not bar another of a superior. Ibid. 371. If a Person be indicted for Felony or Larceny generally, and upon the Evidence it appears that the Fact is but a bare Trespass, he cannot be found Guilty, and have Judgment on the Trespass, but ought to be indicted anew; though it may be otherwise where the Jury find a special Verdict, or when the Fact is specially laid, &c. In Trespass where the Taking is felonious, no Verdict ought to be given, unless the Defendant hath before been tried for the Felony. 2 Hawk. 440. All Felony includes Trespass, so that if the Party be Guilty of no Trespass in taking the Goods, he cannot be guilty of Felony or Larceny in carrying them away; and in every Indictment of Larceny, there must be the Words Felonice cepit & asportavit, &c. H. P. C. 61. 1 Hawk. 89. See Felony.

Latheve, Leidgreve or Tritingrebe, Was an Officer under the Saxon Government, who had Authority over a third Part of the County; and whose Territory was therefore called Triting, otherwise a Leid or Leitben, in which Manner the County of Kent is still divided; and the Rapes in Suffex seem to answer the same. As to the Jurisdiction of this Officer, those Matters that could not be determined in the Hundred-Court, were thence brought to the Triting, where all the principal Men of three or more Hundreds being assembled by the Latbreve or Tritingreve did debate and decide it; or if they could not, then the Latbreve sent it up to the County-Court, to be there finally determined.—Suoque olim subaudiens magistratui quem Ledgrevium appellabant. *Spelm. ant. Latin. There are three Sorts of Latin. 1. Good Latin, allowed by Grammarians and Lawyers. 2. False or incongruous Latin, which in Times past would abate original Writs; though not make void any judicial Writ, Declaration or Plea, &c. And 3. Words of Art, known only to the Sages of the Law, and not to Grammarians, called Lawyers Latin. 1 Lill. Abr. 146, 147. Stat. 36 Ed. 3. Formerly the Use of a Word not Latin at all, or so in the Sense in which used, might in many Cases be helped by an Anglice; though where there was a proper Latin Word for the Thing intended to be expressed, nothing could help an improper one. 2 Hawk. P. C. 239. And when there was no Latin for a Thing, Words made which had some Countenance of Latin, were allowed good, as Velvetum, Anglice Velvet, &c. 10 Rep. 133. See Judicium, and Process.

Latinarius, An Interpreter of Latin, or Latiner, from the Fr. Latinier; and heretofore he that understood Latin, which in the Time of the Romans was the prevailing Language, might be a good Interpreter. 2 Co. Inst. 515.

Latitat, Is a Writ whereby all Men are originally called to answer in personal Actions in the King's Bench; having its Name upon a Supposition that the Defendant doth lurk and lie hid, and cannot be found in the County of Middlesex to be taken by Bill, but is gone into some other County, to the Sheriff of which this Writ is directed, to apprehend him there. F. N. B. 78. Terms de Ley 421. The Original of it is this; In ancient Time, while the King's Bench was moveable, when any Man was sued, a Writ was sent forth to the Sheriff of the County where the Court was resident called a Bill of Middlesex, to take him; and if the Sheriff returned Non est inventus, then was a second Writ sued out, that had these Words, Cum Testatum est quod Latitat, &c. and thereby the Sheriff was commanded to attach the Party in any other Place, where he might be found: And when the Tribunal of the King's Bench came to be settled at Westminster, the same Course was observed for a long Time; but afterwards, by the Contrivance of Clerks, it was devised to put both these Writs into one, and so attach the Defendant upon a Fiction that he was not in the County of Middlesex, but lurking elsewhere; and that therefore he was to be apprehended by the Sheriff of the County where he was suspected to be and lie hid. It is called a Testatum Writ, issuing out of B. R. grounded upon a Bill of Middlesex, supposed to be sued out before, and returned Non est inventus: And a Latitat out of the King's Bench is in Nature of the Original Writ Clausum fregit, on which the Practice is in the Common Pleas. 2 Lill. Abr. 147. A Latitat cannot issue into the County of Middlesex, except the Court remove out of Middlesex into another County, for in the County where the Court of B. R. is, the Process must be by Bill, and out of the County by Latitat. Ibid. If the Writ of Latitat is issued during Term-Time, the Teste thereof is to be the first Day of the Term; and if in the Vacation, it must be the last Day of the Term preceding: A Note is to be made of it on Paper for the Officer, and the Latitat being filled up, is to be carried with the Note to the King's Bench Office, and there the Writ is signed; from whence it is carried to the Seal-Office, where it is sealed, and the Day stamped on the Back side; and then a Warrant is to be procured from the Sheriff of the County to execute the Writ. Practif. Solic. 217. And when any Person shall sue forth of B. R. any Latitat, Alias and Pluries against any Person, who thereupon appears and puts in Bail; if the Plaintiff do not declare within three Days, or after Declaration he discontinues, &c. the Judges shall award Damages. Stat. 8 Eliz. c. 2.

Form of a Writ of Latitat out of B. R.

GEORGE the Second, by the Grace of God, King of Great Britain, France and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c. To the Sheriff of South-ton Greeting: Whereas we lately commanded our Sheriff of Middlesex, that he should take C. D. and E. F. if they should be found in his Bailiwick, and safely keep them, so that he might have their Bodies before Us at Westminster, at a certain Day now past, to answer to A. B. in a Plea or Action of Trespass; and also to a Bill of the said A. to be exhibited against the said C. according to the Custom of our Court before us, for a Debt of Ten Pounds: And our said Sheriff of Middlesex, at that Day made a Return to us, that the said C. and E. were not to be found in his Bailiwick; whereupon on the Behalf of the said A. it is testified in our Court before us, that the said C. and E. lurk and wander up and down in your County. Therefore we command you, that you take them, if they are to be found in your Bailiwick, and keep them safely, so as you have their Bodies before us at Westminster, on Wednesday next after three Weeks of Saint Michael, to answer to the said A. in the Plea and Bill aforesaid; and have you there then this Writ. Witness Robert Lord Raymond at Westminster, the Day, &c.

Law, (In Sax. Lag, Lat. Lex, from Lego or Legendo, choosing, or rather à Ligando, binding) Is the Rule and Bond of Men's Actions: Or 'tis a Rule for the well governing of a Civil Society, to give to every Man that which doth belong to him. According to Bracton, Lex est Sanctio justa, jubens Honesta & prohibens Contraria: And the Divine Schoolman says, Lex Humana est quoddam dictamen rationis, quo diriguntur humani actus. The Law is Rectum, as it discovers that which is crooked or wrong; and these three Qualities are incident to the Law, viz. It must be Justa, Jubens Honesta, Prohibens Contraria: And Justa requires five Properties; Possibilis, Necessaria, Conveniens, Manifesta, nullo privata commodo. 2 Co. Inst. 56, 587. Laws are said to be Arbitrary, or Natural Laws; the last of which are essentially just and good, and bind every where and in all Places where they are observed: Arbitrary Laws are either concerning such Matter as is in itself morally indifferent, in which Case both the Law and the Matter, and Subject of it is likewise indifferent, or concerning the natural Law itself, and the Regulating thereof; and all arbitrary Laws are founded in Convenience, and depend upon the Authority of the Legislative Power which appoints and makes them, and are for maintaining publick Order: Those which are natural Laws, are from God; but those which are arbitrary, are properly human and positive Institutions. Selden on Fortescue, cap. 17. The learned Selden tells us, that the Laws of any Country began, when there first began to be a State in the Land: And that we may consider the World as one universal Society, and then that Law by which Nations are governed, is called Jus gentium; if we consider the World as made up of particular Nations, the Law which regulates the publick Order and Right of them, is termed Jus publicum; and that Law which determines the private Rights of Men, is called Jus civile. Ibid. No Law can oblige a People without their Consent; now this Consent is either Verbis or Factis, i. e. it is expressed by Writing, or implied by Deeds and Actions; and where a Law is grounded on an implied Assent, rebus & factis, it is either Common Law, or Custom; if it is universal, it is Common Law; and if particular to this or that Place, then it is Custom. 3 Salk. Rep. 112. The Law in this Land hath been variable; the Roman Laws were in Use anciently in Britain, when the Romans had several Colonies here, each of which was governed by the Roman Laws: Afterwards we had the Laws called Merchenlage, West Saxonlage and Danelage; all reduced into a Body, and made one by King Edw. Confess. Magn. Chart. cap. 1. & 14. Camd. Britan. 94. At present the Laws of England are divided into three Parts: 1. The Common Law, which is the most ancient and general Law of the Realm, and common to the whole Kingdom; being appropriate thereto, and having no Dependence upon any Foreign Law whatsoever. 2. Statutes or Acts of Parliament, made and passed by the King and the Lords and the Commons in Parliament; being a Reserve for the Government to provide against new Mischiefs arising through the Corruption of the Times: And by this the Common Law is amended where defective, for the Suppression of publick Evils; though where the Common Law and Statute Law concur or interfere, the Common Law shall be preferred. 3. Particular Customs; but they must be particular, for a general Custom is Part of the Common Law of the Land. Co. Litt. 15, 115. There is another Division of our Laws, more large and particular; as into the Prerogative or Crown Law; the Law and Custom of Parliament; the Common Law; the Statute Law; Reasonable Customs; the Law of Arms, War and Chivalry; Ecclesiastical or Canon Laws; Civil Law, in certain Courts and Cases; Forest Law; the Law of Marque and Reprisal, the Law of Merchants; the Law and Privilege of the Stannaries, &c. But this large Division may be reduced to the common Division; and all is founded on the Law of Nature or Reason, and the revealed Law of God, as all other Laws ought to be. 1 Co. Inst. 11. The Law of Nature, is that which God at Man's Creation infused into him, for his Preservation and Direction; and this is Lex æterna, and may not be changed: And no Laws shall be made or kept, that are expressly against the Law of God, written in his Scripture; as to forbid what he commandeth, &c. 2 Shep. Abr. 356. As to the Law of Nature, it is generally the Law of all Places, Persons and Times, without Alteration; and has the same Force all the World over: But it is limitable, as Circumstances require; and limited Law of Nature, is the Law now used in every State. All Laws derive their Force a Lege Nature; and those which do not, are accounted as no Laws. Fortescue. No Law will make a Construction to do wrong: And there are some Things that the Law favours, and some it dislikes; it favoureth those Things that come from the Order of Nature. 1 Inst. 183, 197. Also our Law hath much more Respect to Life and Liberty, Freehold, Inheritance, Matters of Record, and of Substance; than to Chattels, Things in the Personalty, Matters not of Record, or Circumstances. Ibid. 137. 4 Rep. 124. The Use of the Law is to secure the Property of what we enjoy; and the Objects of it concern Persons, their Estates, Crimes and Misdemeanors, Courts of Justice, &c. See Common Law.

Law Hath also a special Signification, wherein it is taken for that which is lawful with us, and not elsewhere; as Tenant by the Curtesy of England, is called Tenant by the Law of England.

Law of Arms, (Lex Armorum) Is that Law which gives Precepts how to proclaim War, make and observe Leagues and Treaties, to assault and encounter an Enemy, and punish Offenders in the Camp, &c. The Law and Judgment of Arms are necessary between tween two strange Princes of equal Power, who have no other Method of determining their Controversies, because they have no superior or ordinary Judge, but are supreme and publick Persons; and by the Law of Arms, Kings obtain their Rights, Rebels are reduced to Obedience, and Peace is established: But when the Law of Arms and War do rule, the Civil Laws are of little or no Force. Treat. Law. 57. It is a Kind of Law among all Nations, that in Case of a solemn War, the Prince that conquers gains a Right of Dominion, as well as Property over the Things and Persons he has subdu'd; and 'tis for this Reason, because both Parties have appealed to the highest Tribunal that can be, viz. the Trial by Arms and War; wherein the great Judge and Sovereign of the World, in a more especial Manner, seems to decide the Controversy. Hale's Hist. L. 73, 74. Common Things concerning Arms and War, are under the Cognifance of the Constable and Marshal of England. 13 R. 2.

Law-Books. All Books writ in the Law, are either Historical, as the Year-Books; Explanatory, such as Stauford's Treatise of the Prerogative Royal; Miscellaneous, as the Abridgments of the Law; or Monological, being on one certain Subject, such as Lambard's Justice of Peace, &c. Fulbeck's Parall. cap. 3. And our Books of Reports, have such great Weight with the Judges, that many of them are as highly valued, as the Responfa Prudentum among the Romans, which were Authoritative. Wood's Inst. 10. Authors of Law-Books. Lawless Court, Is a Court held on Kingshill, at Rochford in Essex, on Wednesday Morning next after Michaelmas Day yearly, at Cock crowing; at which Court, they whisper, and have no Candle, nor any Pen and Ink, but a Coal: And he that owes Suit or Service there, and appears not, forfeits double his Rent: This Court is mentioned by Camden, who says, that the servile Attendance was imposed on the Tenants, for conspiring at the like unseasonable Time to raise a Commotion. Camd. Britan. 441. It belongs to the Honour of Raligh, and is called Lawless, because held at an unlawful Hour; or Quia dicta sine Lege. The Title of it is in Rhime, and in the Court-Roll runs thus:

Lease, (From Locatio Letting, or rather Dimissio, from the Fr. Laisser, i. e. Dimittere, to depart with) Is a Demise or Letting of Lands, Tenements or Hereditaments to another, for Term of Life, Years, or at Will, for a Rent reserved. Co. Litt. 43. Leases are either in Writing, or by Word of Mouth, when they are called Leases Parol; and it is said not to be material whether any Rent is reserved upon a Lease for Life, or Years, except in the Case of Leases by Tenant in Tail, &c. according to the Statute 32 H. 8. A Lease for Life requires Livery of Seisin; and generally to the Making of a good Lease, several Things necessarily concur; there must be a Lessor, not restrained to make a Lease; a Lessee not disabled to receive it; a Thing demised which is demisable, and a sufficient Description of the Thing demised, &c. If it be for Years, it must have a certain Commencement and Determination, it is to have all the usual Ceremonies, as Sealing, Delivery, &c. and there must be an Acceptance of the Thing demised. Litt. 56. 1 Inst. 46. Plowd. 273, 523. A Demise having no certain Commencement is void: For every Contract sufficient to make a Lease, ought to have Certainty in Commencement, in the Continuance, and in the End. Vaugb. 85. 6 Rep. 35. A Lease at Will is at the Will of the Lessor or Lessee; or regularly at the Will of both Parties. 1 Inst. 55. All Estates, Interests of Freehold, or Terms for Years in Lands, &c. not put in Writing, and signed by the Parties, shall have no greater Effect than as Estates at Will; unless it be of Leases not exceeding three Years from the Making, wherein the Rent reserved shall be Two Thirds of the Value of the Thing demised. Stat. 29 Car. 2. cap. 3. Leases exceeding three Years must be made in Writing, and if the Substance of a Lease be put in Writing, and signed by the Parties, though it be not sealed, it shall have the Effect of a Lease for Years, &c. Wood's Inst. 266. Articles with Covenants to let and make a Lease of Lands, for a certain Term, at so much Rent, hath been adjudged a Lease. Cro. Eliz. 486. In a Covenant with the Words Have, Possess and Occupy Lands, in Consideration of an yearly Rent, without the Word Demise; and it was held a good Lease: And a Licence to occupy, take the Profits, &c. which passeth an Interest amounts to a Lease. 3 Bull. 204. 3 Salk. 223. If I say, you shall have a Lease of my Lands in D. for Years, paying 20 s. a Year Rent, make such Lease, and I will seal it; it is a good Lease Parol. Moor, cap. 31. An Agreement of the Parties, that the Lessee shall enjoy the Lands, will make a Lease: But if the Agreement hath a Reference to the Lease to be made, and implies an Intent not to be perfected till then; it is not a perfect Lease until made afterwards. Bridg. 13. 2 Shep. Abr. 374. If a Man on Promise of a Lease to be made to him, lays out Money on the Premises, he shall oblige the Lessor afterwards to make the Lease; the Agreement being executed on the Lessee's Part: Where no such Expence hath been, a bare Promise of the Lease for a Term of Years, though the Lessee have Possession, shall not be good without some Writing. Preced. Can. 561. A Person seised of an Estate in Fee simple, in his own Right, of any Lands or Tenements, may make a Lease of it for what Lives or Years he will; and he that is seised of an Estate tail in Lands, may make a Lease of it for his own Life, but not longer; except it be by Fine or Recovery, or Lease warranted by the Stat. 32 H. 8. And if Tenant in Tail, or for Life, make a Lease generally, it shall be construed for his own Life. 1 Inst. 42. He that is seised of an Estate for Life, may make a Lease for his Life, according as he is seised; also he may make a Lease for Years of the Estate, and it shall be good as long as the Estate for Life doth last: One possessed of Lands for Years, may make a Lease of all the Years, except one Day, or any short Part of the Term; it is to be granted for a less Term than the Maker hath in the Lands; for if all the Estate is granted, it is an Assignment: And if Lessee for Years makes a Lease for Life, the Lessee may enjoy it for the Lessor's Life, if the Term of Years lasts so long; but if he gives Livery and Seisin upon it, this is a Forfeiture of the Estate for Years. Wood's Inst. 267. Jointenants, Tenants in Common, and Coparceners, may make Leases for Life, Years, or at Will, of their own Parts, and shall bind their Companions: And in some Cases, Persons as are not seised of Lands in Fee, &c. may make Leases for Life or Years, by special Power enabling them to do it, when the Authority must be exactly pursued. Ibid. But there is a Difference, where there is a general Power to make Leases, and a particular Power. 8 Rep. 69. A Lease for Life cannot be made to commence in futuro, by the Common Law; because Livery cannot be made to a future Estate: Though where a Lease is made for Life, Habendum at a Day to come, and after the Day, the Lessor makes Livery, there it shall be good; and a Lease in Reversion may be made for Life, which commences at a Day that is future. 5 Rep. 94. Hob. 314. 1 Inst. 5. A Lease for Years may begin from a Day past, or to come, as Michaelmas last, Christmas next, three or four Years after, or after the Death of the Lessor, &c. Though a Term cannot commence upon a Contingency, which depends on another Contingency. 1 Inst. 5. 1 Rep. 156. If one make a Lease for Years; after the Death of A. B. if he die within ten Years; this is a good Lease, in Case he dies within that Time, otherwise not. Plowd. 70. And where a Man has a Lease of Lands for eighty Years, and he grants it to another to hold for thirty Years, to begin after his Death; it will be good for the whole thirty Years, provided there be so many of the eighty to come at the Time of the Death of the Lessor. Bro. Grant, 54. 1 Rep. 155. A Lease made from the Lessor's Death, until Anno Domini 1760 is good: And if a Lease be during the Minority of J. S. or until he shall come to the Age of Twenty one Years; these are good Leases; and if he die before his full Age, the Lease is ended. Hob. 174. A Person grants a Rent of 20 l. a Year, till an hundred Pounds be paid, 'tis a Lease of the Rent for five Years. Co. Litt. 42. If a Man makes a Lease of Land to another, until he shall levy out of the Profits one hundred Pounds, or he is paid that Sum, &c. This will be a Lease for Life, determinable on the Payment of the hundred Pounds, if Livery and Seisin be made: But if there is no Livery, it will not be good for Years, but void for Incertainty. 21 Aff. 18. Plowd. 27. 6 Rep. 35.

A Lease

A Lease for Years to such Person as A. B. shall name, is not good: Though it may be for so many Years, as he shall name; not as shall be named by his Executors, &c. for it must be in the Life-time of the Parties. Hob. 173. Moor, cap. 911. And if a Man makes a Lease to another for so many Years as a third Person shall name, when the Years are named by such Person, it is good for so many Years. 1 Inst. 45. So if a Person lets his Lands for as many Years as he hath in the Manor of D. and he hath then a Term for ten Years, this is a good Lease for ten Years; and in the like Cases, by referring to a Certainty, it may be made good and certain. Ibid. A Lease may be made for Life or Years, of any Thing that lies in Livery or Grant; but Leases for Years ought to be made of such Lands, &c. whereunto the Lessor may come to distrain; not of Incorporal Inheritances. 1 Inst. 47. And they may be for the Term of one thousand Years, or any Number of Years, Months or Weeks; or be from Week to Week, &c. for one, two or three Years, and be good for those Years: And a Tenant for Half a Year, or a Quarter of a Year, is Tenant for Years. 1 Inst. 6. If one makes a Lease for a Year, and so from Year to Year, it is a Lease for two Years; and afterwards it is but an Estate at Will. 1 Mod. 4. 1 Lutw. 213. And if from three Years to three Years, it is a good Lease for six Years: Also if a Man make a Lease for Years, without saying for how many, it may be good for two Years, to answer the plural Number. Wood's Inst. 265. A Lessee hath a Term for a Year by Parol, and so from Year to Year, so long as both Parties please; if the Lessee enters on a second Year, he is bound for that Year, and so on: And if there is a Lease by Deed for a Year, and so from Year to Year as long as both Parties agree, this is binding but for one Year; though if the Lessee enters upon the second Year, he is for that Year bound: If 'tis for a Year, and so from Year to Year, so long as both Parties agree till six Years expire; this is a Lease for six Years, but determinable every Year at the Will of either Party: But if it is for a Year, and so from Year to Year till six Years determine, this is a certain Lease for six Years; adjudged by Holt Chief Justice. Mod Ca 215. If A. make a Lease of Land to B. for ten Years; and it is agreed between them, that he shall pay fifty Pounds at the End of the said Term, and if he do so, and pay fifty Pounds at the End of every ten Years; then the said B. shall have a perpetual Demise and Grant of the Lands, from ten Years to ten Years continually following. extra memoriam hominum, &c. Though this be a good Lease for the first ten Years; as for all the rest it is uncertain and void: By Covenant a further Lease may be made for the like Term of Years. Plowd. 192. 2 Shep. Abr. 376. A Parson makes a Lease of his Glebe for so many Years as he shall be Parson, this cannot be made certain; but if he makes a Lease for three Years, and so from three Years to three Years, so long as he shall be Parson, it is a good Lease for six Years, if he continue Parson so long. 6 Rep. 35. 3 Cro. 511. And if one make a Lease for twenty-one Years, if the Lessee shall so long live; this is a good Lease for Years, and a Certainty in an Uncertainty. 1 Inst. 46. A Lease made to a Man for seven Years, if D. shall live so long, who is dead when the Lease is made; by this the Lessee hath an absolute Lease for seven Years. 9 Rep. 63. Lease for Life is granted, and says that if the Lessee within one Year do not pay 20 s. then he shall have but a Lease for two Years; here if he pays not the Money, he shall have only the two Years, although Livery of Seisin be had thereon. 1 Inst. 218. If a Lease be made to A. B. during his own Life, and the Lives of C. and D. it is one entire Estate of Freehold, and shall continue during the three Lives, and the Life of the Survivor of them; and though the Lessee can have it no longer than his own Life, yet his Assignee shall have the Benefit of it so long as the other two are living. 5 Rep. 13. Moor 32. Where one grants Land by Lease to A. B. and C. D. to hold to them during their Lives, although the Words and the longest Liver of them be omitted, they shall hold it during the Life of the longest Liver. 5 Rep. 9. A Lease is made to a Person for sixty Years, if A. B. and C. D. so long live; and afterwards A. B. dies, by his Death the Lease is determined. Though if the Lease be made to one for the Lives of A. B. and C. D. the Freehold doth not determine by the Death of one of them; and if in the other Case of a Term, the Words or either of them be inserted in the Lease, it will be good for both their Lives. 13 Rep. 66. A Lease was made to a Man for ninety-nine Years, if he should so long live; and if he died within the Term, the Son to have it for the Residue of the Term: This was adjudged void as to the Son, because there can be no Limitation of the Residue of a Term which is determined. Cro. Eliz. 216. But if the Words of the Lease be, To hold during the Residue of the ninety nine Years, and not during the rest of the Term, in this Case it may be good to the Son also. 1 Rep. 153. Dyer 253. A Lease was made for Twenty-one Years, if the Lessee lived so long, and in the Service of the Lessor; the Lessor died within the Term, and yet it was held that the Lease continued, for it was by the Act of God that the Lessee could serve no longer. Cro. Eliz. 643. If a Lease be to a Man, and to her whom he shall take to be his Wife, it is void: Because there ought to be such Persons at the Time of the Commencement of the Lease which might take. 4 Leon. 158. When a Lease in Reversion is granted as such after another Lease, and that Lease is void by Rasure, &c. the reversionary Lease, expectant upon the Lease for Years that is void, is void also. Cro. Car. 289. But where a Man recites a Lease, when in Truth there is no Lease; or a Lease which is void, and misrecites the same in a Point material, and grants a further Lease to commence after the Determination thereof; in such Case the new Lease shall begin from the Time of Delivery. Dyer 93. 6 Rep 36. Vaugh. 73, 80, &c. A Lease that has an impossible Date for its Commencement, is said to be void; and an uncertain Limitation makes the Lease void, because it being Part of the Agreement, the Court cannot determine what the Contract was. 1 Mod. 180. Though it hath been adjudged, where a Lease bears a Date which is impossible, the Term shall begin from the Delivery, as if there was no Date. 1 Inst. 40. If a Lease be to hold from the Day of the Date, the Day itself is excluded; otherwise the Day of Delivery is inclusive. 5 Rep 2. A Man makes a Lease for Years to one, and afterwards makes a Lease for Years to another of the same Land; the second Lease is not void; but shall be good for so many Years thereof, as shall come after the first Lease ended. Noy's Max. 67. And if one make a Lease for Years, and afterwards the Lessor enters upon the Lands let, before the Term is expired, and makes a Lease of these Lands to another; this second Lease is a good Lease until the Lessee doth re-enter, and then the first Lease is revived, and he is in thereby. 2 Lill. Abr. 152. It hath been held, that a Lease may be void as to one, and stand good to another: And Leases voidable, or void for the Present, may after become good again. 1 Inst. 46. 3 Rep. 51. If a Lease be made to two, to hold to them and two others, it is voidable as to the two other Persons; and when the two first die, the Lease is at an End. 2 Leon. 1. A Lease which is only voidable, and not absolutely void, must be made void by the Lessor by Re-entry;

but if a Lease be void absolutely, there needs no Re-entry: And as a voidable Lease is made void by Re-entry, and putting out the Lessee; so it is affirmed, by accepting and receiving the Rent, which acknowledges the Lessee to be Tenant. 21 Car. B. R. 2 Lill. 149. If a Lessor accepts of Rent of an Assignee of a Lease, having Knowledge of the Assignment, he may not afterwards charge the Lessee with the Rent in Action of Debt. 3 Rep. 23. And where a Lessee for Years accepts of a less Term from the Lessor, even by Word, it is said this is a Surrender of the Term which he had by Deed. Style 448. When a Term for Years in Lease, and a Fee-simple, meet in one Person, the Lease is drowned in the Inheritance; yet in some Cases it may have Continuance, to make good Charges and Payments, &c. Poph. 39. 2 Nell. Abr. 1100. If a Lease for Years is made to a Man and his Heirs, it shall go to his Executors. 1 Inst. 46, 388. And a Lease for Years, notwithstanding it be a very long Lease, cannot be entailed; but may be assigned in Trust, to several Uses. 2 Lill. Abr. 150. If such a Lease comes to be limited in Tail, the Law allows not a present Remainder to be limited thereupon. Ibid. Lessee for Years, though for never so great a Term, has only a Chattel; but Tenant for Life hath a Freehold. 1 Inst. 6. A Lease is sealed by the Lessor, and the Lessee hath not sealed the Counterpart, Action of Covenant may be brought upon the Lease against the Lessor: But where the Lease is sealed by the Lessee, and not the Lessor, nothing operates, Yelv. 18. Owen 100. If the Lessor only seal one Part of the Lease, the Lessee is as much bound by it as if he did seal it. Finch 109. A Man out of Possession, cannot make a Lease of Lands, without entring and sealing the Lease upon the Land. Dalif. 81. The Lessee is to enter on the Premises let; and such Lessee for Years is not in Possession, so as to bring Trespass, &c. until actual Entry; but he may grant over his Term before Entry. 1 Inst. 46. 2 Lill. 160. A Lessee of a future Interest never enters by Virtue of his Term, but enters before, and continues after the Commencement of the Term; and if then the Lessor ousts him, the Lessee may assign over his Term off from the Land. 1 Lev. 47. But a Lease to begin at Michaelmas, if the Lessee enters before Michaelmas, and continues the Possession immediately, it is a Disseisin. Ibid. 46. If a Lease be made of a Close of Land, by a certain Name, in the Parish of A. in the County of B. whereas the Close is in another County, the said Parish extending into both Counties; such a Lease is good to pass such Land: Though where a House is leased without a Name, and the Parish is mistaken; it hath been held otherwise. Dyer 292, 276. Land and Mines are leased to a Tenant; this only extends to the open Mines, and the Lessee shall not have any others, if there are such: And if Land and Timber are demised, the Lessee is not empowered to sell it. 2 Lev. 184. 2 Mod. 193. A Man makes a Lease of Lands for Life, or Years, the Lessee hath but a special Interest in the Timber-Trees, as annexed to the Land, to have the Malt and Shadow for his Cattle; and when they are severed from the Lands, or blown down with Wind, the Lessor shall have them as Parcel of his Inheritance. 4 Rep. 62. 11 Rep. 81. If an House falls down by Tempest, &c. the Lessee hath an Interest to take the Timber to re edify it for his Habitation. 4 Rep. 63. And every Lessee for Years, &c. may take of Timber necessary Ploughbote, House bote, Fire bote, &c. without doing Waste. 1 Inst. 41. And Tenants suffering Houses to be uncovered, or in Decay; taking away Waincot, &c. fixed to the Freehold, unless put up by the Lessee, and taken down before the Term is expired; cutting down Timber-Trees to sell; permitting young Trees to be destroyed by Cattle, &c. Ploughing up Ground that Time out of Mind hath not been Ploughed; not keeping Banks in Repair, &c. are Waste. 1 Inst. 52. Dyer 37. 1 Salk. 368. Lessees are bound to repair their Tenements, except it be mentioned in the Lease to the contrary. Noy's Max. Though a Lessee for Years is not obliged to repair the House let to him which is burnt by Accident; if there be not a special Covenant in the Lease, that he shall leave the House in good Repair at the End of the Term: Yet if the House be burnt by Negligence, the Lessee shall repair it, although there be no such Covenant. Pafcb. 24 Car. B. R. A Lessee at Will is not bound to sustain or repair, as Tenant for Term of Years is: If the House of such a Tenant is burnt down by Negligence, Action lies not against the Tenant; but Action lies for voluntary Waste, in pulling down Houses, or cutting Wood, &c. 5 Rep. 13. By Stat. 6 & 10 Ann. c. 14. No Action shall be brought against any Person in whose House any Fire shall accidentally begin, or any Recompence be made by such Person for Damage; so as not to extend to, or make void any Agreement between Landlord and Tenant; and negligent Firing of Houses is liable to Penalties. A Lessor who hath Fee, cannot reserve Rent to any other but himself, his Heirs, &c. And if he reserves a Rent to his Executors, the Rent shall be to the Heir, as Incident to the Reversion of the Land. 1 Inst. 47. The Lessor may take a Distress on the Tenements letten for the Rent; or may have Action of Debt for the Arrears, &c. Also Land leased shall be subject to those lawful Remedies which the Lessor provides for the Recovery of his Rent, Possession, &c. into whose Hands soever the Land comes. Cro. Jac. 300. And as to the Lessee, if Lessee for Years loses his Lease, if it can be proved that there was such a Term let to him by Lease, and that it is not determined, he shall not lose his Term; so it is of any other Estate in Lands, if the Deed that created it be lost, for the Estate in the Land is derived from the Party that made it, and not from the Deed otherwise than instrumentally and declarative of the Mind and Intent of the Party, &c. 2 Lill. Abr. 152. If a Person be in Possession of the Lands of another, and hath usually paid Rent for them; the Proof of a Quarter or Half Year's Rent paid, will be good Evidence of a Lease at Will, though it cannot be expressly proved that the Lands were demised at Will to him in Possession; it shall be presumed the Rent was received by the Owner of the Land upon some private Contract. Ibid. 151. Lands are leased at Will, the Lessee cannot determine his Will before or after the Day of Payment of the Rent, but it must be done on that very Day; and the Law will not allow the Lessee to do it to the Prejudice of the Lessor, as to the Rent; nor that the Lessor shall determine his Will to the Prejudice of the Lessee, after the Land is sowed with Corn, &c. Sid. 339. Lev. 109. For where Lessee at Will sows the Land, if he does not himself determine the Will, he shall have the Corn: And where Tenant for Life sows the Corn, and dies, his Executors shall have it; but it is not so of Tenant for Years, where the Term ends before the Corn is ripe, &c. 5 Rep. 116. The Lessor and Lessee, where the Estate is at Will, may determine the Will when they please; but if the Lessor doth it within a Quarter, he shall lose that Quarter's Rent; and if the Lessee doth it, he must pay a Quarter's Rent. 2 Salk. 413. By Words spoken on the Ground by the Lessor, in the Absence of the Lessee, the Will is not determined; but the Lessee is to have Notice. 1 Inst. 55. If a Man makes a Lease at Will, and dies, the Will is determined; and if the Tenant continues in Possession, he is Tenant at Sufferance. Ibid. 57. But where a Lessor makes an Estate at Will to two or three three Persons, and one of them dies; it has been adjudged this doth not determine the Estate at Will. 5 Rep. 10. Tenant at Will grants over his Estate to another, it determines his Will. 1 Inst. 57. No Tenant shall take Leases of above two Farms, in any Town, Village, &c. nor hold two, unless he dwell in the Parish, under Penalties and Forfeitures, by Stat. 25 H. 8. c. 13. See 21 H. 8. cap. 13. There is a late Statute for the more effectual preventing Frauds committed by Tenants; and for the more easy Recovery of Rents, and Renewal of Leases; by which Chief Leases of Lands may be renewed on Surrender, without the surrendring of the Under Leases, &c. 4 Geo. 2. c. 28. And how Leases of Lands, &c. left uncultivated, may become void, for Non-payment of Rent, on view of two Justices of Peace, &c. by the late Act 11 Geo. 2. cap. 19. See the Purport of these Statutes, under Rent.

Leases by Statute. There are three Kinds of Persons, who may make Leases for Life or Years by Statute, that could not do so heretofore, viz. Tenants in Tail, Husband and Wife of the Wife's Land, and Persons seised of Land in Right of the Church. By the Stat. 32 H. 8. c. 18. Tenants in Tail are enabled to make Leases on the following Conditions, i. e. They are to be made by Deed indented; to begin from the Time of Making, or some short Time after, as Michaelmas next, &c. If there be an old Lease in Being, it must be absolutely surrendered, or expire within a Year after the making of the New; they must not exceed three Lives or twenty-one Years, from the making, or be for both, but may be for less Terms; they are to be of Lands manurable or corporeal, out of which a Rent may be legally issuing; and of such Lands or Tenements which have been most commonly let to Farm by the Space of twenty Years; the accustomed yearly Rent, paid within twenty Years is to be reserved; and they are not to be made without Impeachment of Waste, &c. It has been held on this Statute, that where a new Thing is demised with Lands accustomedly let, though there be great Increase of Rent, the Lease is void: But more Rent than the accustomed Rent, may be reserved. 5 Rep. 5. 6 Rep. 37. And the Leases according to the Statute bind the Issues in Tail; but not those in Reversion or Remainder: For if Tenant in Tail makes a Lease warranted by the Statute, and dies without Issue, the Lease as to him in Reversion or Remainder is void; though by a common Recovery, Leases may be made to bind him in Remainder, &c. Wood's Inst. 267. A Guardian during the Minority of an Infant Tenant in Tail, who was but one Year old, made a Lease for twenty Years; and it was adjudged not good by the Stat. 32 H. 8. to bind the Issue in Tail; and it is the same in the Case of Tenant in Dower, Tenant by the Curtesy, or Husband seised in Right of his Wife, because they have no Inheritance. Dyer 271. The Statute impowers a Husband to make Leases of Land in Tail, held in his Wife's Right, so as in such Leases the Conditions aforementioned are observed, and the Wife be made a Party to and seal the Leases; and the Rent is to be reserved to the Husband and Wife, and her Heirs, &c. If a Lease of the Wife's Land is not warranted by the Statute, it is a good Lease against the Husband, though not against the Wife: The Husband and Wife cannot bind him in Reversion or Remainder. 1 Inst. 362. Bishops, Spiritual Persons, &c. seised in Fee in Right of their Churches, may make Leases of their Spiritual Livings for three Lives, or one and twenty Years, having all the Qualities required by the Statute, in case of Leases made by Tenants in Tail. 32 H. 8. And Leases otherwise made are to be void; but not against the Bishops, &c. making them, only against their Successors. 3 Rep. 59. A Bishop, &c. may make Leases of Lands for twenty-one Years, or three Lives, according to the Statute, without Confirmation of Dean and Chapter; and at Common Law might make them for any longer Time, without Limitation, with Confirmation of Dean and Chapter; but this is restrained by the Statutes 1 Eliz. c. 19. and 13 Eliz. c. 10. Such Confirmation will now make good concurrent Leases for twenty-one Years, &c. upon Leases for Years; though a Bishop cannot make a concurrent Lease for Life or Lives. Wood's Inst. 273. If a Bishop have two Chapters, as there may be two or more to one Bishoprick; both Chapters must confirm Leases made by the Bishop. 1 Inst. 131. A Lease by a Bishop made to begin presently for twenty-one Years, when there is an old Lease in Being, is good, notwithstanding the Statute of 1 Eliz. Moor, ca. 241. But if such Lease is to commence at a Day to come, it will be void. 1 Leon. 44. Lease for three Lives of a Bishop of Tithes, is void against the Successor; although the usual Rent be duly reserved. Moor, ca. 1078. 2 Cro. 173. Leases of a Dean and Chapter are good, without Confirmation of the Bishop. Dyer 273. 2 Nels. Abr. 1096. Where there is a Chapter, and no Dean, they may make Grants, &c. and are within the Statute. 1 Mod. 204. And a Prebendary is seised in Right of the Church within the Equity of the Statute 32 H. 8. 4 Leon. 51. A Prebendary's Lease confirmed by the Archbishop, who is his Patron, is good without Confirmation of Dean and Chapter. 3 Bulstr. 290. But where a Prebendary made a Lease for Years of Part of his Prebend, and this was confirmed by Dean and Chapter; because it was not confirmed likewise by the Bishop, who was Patron and Ordinary of the Prebend, the Lease was adjudged void. Dyer 60. If a Prebendary hath Rectories in two several Dioceses belonging to his Prebend, and his Lease of them is confirmed by the Bishop, Dean and Chapter of the Diocese of which he is Prebendary, it is good, though not confirmed by the other. Sid. 75. A Chancellor of a Cathedral Church may make a Lease, and 'tis said it will be good against the Successor, though not confirmed, &c. Ibid. 158. If a Parson or Vicar makes a Lease for Life or Years, of Lands usually letten, reserving the customary Rent, &c. it must be confirmed by Patron and Ordinary, for they are out of the Statute 32 H. 8. And if the Parson and Ordinary make a Lease for Years of the Glebe to the Patron; and afterwards the Patron assigns this Lease to another, such Assignment is good, and is a Confirmation of that Lease to the Assignee. 5 Rep. 15. Ancient Covenants in former Leases may be good to bind the Successor, so as to discharge the Lessee from Payment of Pensions, Tenths, &c. but of any new Matter they shall not. 1 Vent. 223. By the Stat. 13 Eliz. c. 20. the Lease of a Parson is not good for any longer Time than the Parson's Residence upon his Living, without Absence fourscore Days in any Year; and an Incumbent offending contrary to this Act, shall lose a Year's Profit of the Benefice, &c. 4 Rep. 403. A Lease for Years of a spiritual Person, will be void by his Death, if it is not according to the Statutes; and a Lease for Life is voidable by Entry, &c. of the Successor: And so in like Cases, Leases not warranted by Statute, are void or voidable on the Deaths of the Makers: Acceptance of Rent on a void Lease shall not bind the Successor. 2 Cro. 173. On College Leases, a third Part of the Rent is to be reserved in Corn, &c. 18 Eliz. c. 6. By 14 Eliz. c. 11. it is ordained, that the 13 Eliz. c. 10. shall not extend to Leases of the Masters and Fellows of Colleges, &c. of Houses in Corporation Towns, which may be made for forty Years, &c. But the 18 Eliz. c. 11. makes void Leases of Masters and Fellows of Colleges, Deans and Chapters, Masters of Hospitals, &c. where another Lease for Years is in Being, and not to be expired or surrendered within three Years; and Leases of such Persons are to be made for twenty-one Years or three Lives, reserving the accustomed Rents, &c. Bishops are out of this Statute. If a Bishop be not Bishop de Jure, Leases made by him to charge the Bishoprick, are void; though all judicial Acts by him are good. 2 Cro. 353. And where a Bishop makes a Lease, which may tend to the Diminution of the Revenues of the Bishoprick, &c. which should maintain the Successor; there the Deprivation or Translation of the Bishop, is all one with his Death. 1 Inst. 329. Also all Assurances and Demises of Bishops Lands to the King, shall be void. 1 Jac. 1. c. 3. Persons for whose Lives Estates are held by Lease, &c. remaining beyond Sea, or being absent seven Years; if no Proof be made of their being alive, shall be accounted dead. 19 Car. 2. c. 6.

Leases of the King. Leases made by the King, of Part of the Duchy of Cornwall, are to be for three Lives, or thirty-one Years, and not be made dispensable of Waste, whereon the ancient Rent is to be reserved; and Estates in Reversion, with those in Possession, are not to exceed three Lives, &c. 13 Car. 2. c. 4. All Leases and Grants made by Letters Patent, or Indentures under the Great Seal of England, or Seal of the Court of Exchequer, or by Copy of Court Roll, according to the Custom of the Manors of the Duchy of Cornwall, not exceeding one, two or three Lives, or some Term determinable thereon, &c. are confirmed; and Covenants, Conditions, &c. in Leases for Lives or Years, shall be good in Law, as if the King were seised in Fee simple. Stat. 1 Jac. 2. c. 9. See 5 & 6 W. & M. c. 18. 12 Ann. c. 22. And Leases from the Crown of Lands in England and Wales, and under the Seals of the Duchy of Lancaster, &c. for one, two or three Lives, or Terms not exceeding fifty Years, are allowed Time for Inrollment, &c. by 10 Ann. c. 18. Leases made by the Prince of Wales of Lands, &c. in the Duchy of Cornwall, for three Lives, or Thirty one Years, on which is reserved the most usual Rent paid for the greatest Part of twenty Years before, shall be good against the King, the Prince and their Heirs, &c. and the Conditions of such Leases be as effectual, as if the Prince had been seised of an absolute Estate in Fee simple in the Lands. Stat. 10 Geo. 2. c. 29.

Form of a Lease of a House in London.

THIS Indenture made the Day, &c. Between A. B. of, &c. of the one Part, and C. D. of, &c. of the other Part, Witnesseth, That for and in Consideration of the Rent and Covenants herein after reserved and contained, on the Part and Behalf of the said C. D. his Executors and Administrators, to be paid, kept and performed, be the said A. B. hath demised, granted, and to Farm letten, and by these Presents doth demise, grant, and to Farm let unto the said C. D. All that Messuage or Tenement, situate, &c. and known by the Sign of, &c. with all and singular Cellars, Sollars, Chambers, Rooms, Lights, Ways, Waters, Easements, Profits, Commodities and Appurtenances, to the said Messuage or Tenement belonging or appertaining; together with the Use of the Goods in the Schedule hereto annexed mentioned; To have and to hold the said Messuage or Tenement, and all and singular the Premises, with their and every of their Appurtenances herein before mentioned, or intended to be hereby demised unto the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, from the Feast of, &c. for and during and unto the full End and Term of fourteen Years, from thence next ensuing, and fully to be compleat and ended: Yielding and paying therefore yearly and every Year, during the said Term, unto the said A. B. his Executors, Administrators or Assigns, the Rent or Sum of twenty Pounds of lawful Money of Great Britain, on the four most usual Feasts or Terms in the Year, (that is to say) the Feast of St. Michael the Archangel, the Birth of our Lord Christ, the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, and the Nativity of St. John the Baptist, by even and equal Portions. And if it shall happen the said yearly Rent of twenty Pounds, or any Part thereof, shall be behind and unpaid by the Space of eight and twenty Days next after any of the said Feast-Days, on which the same ought to be paid as aforesaid, (being lawfully demanded) that then and at all Times then after, it shall and may be lawful to and for the said A. B. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, into the said demised Messuage or Tenement and Premises, or into any Part thereof, in the Name of the Whole, to re enter, and the same to have again, reposses and enjoy, as in his and their former Estate, and the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, thereout and from thence to expel and put out; any Thing herein contained to the contrary thereof in any wise notwithstanding. And the said C. D. for himself, his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, doth covenant and grant to and with the said A. B. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, by these Presents, that be the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators or Assigns, shall and will, during the said Term hereby demised, well and truly pay, or cause to be paid unto the said A. B. his Executors, Administrators or Assigns, the said yearly Rent or Sum of twenty Pounds, on the Days and Times, and in Manner and Form above-mentioned, for Payment of the same, according to the Reservation thereof as aforesaid, and the true Intent and Meaning of these Presents. And also, that be the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, or some or one of them, shall and will, at his or their own proper Costs and Charges, well and sufficiently repair, uphold, support, maintain and keep the said Messuage, or Tenement and Premises, with the Glass Windows, Pavements, Privies, Sinks, Gutters, and Wydraughts belonging to the same, in, by, and with all and all Manner of needful and necessary Reparations and Amendments whatsoever, when and as often as Need or Occasion shall be or require during the Term, (the Casualty of Fire, which may burn down or destroy the said Messuage or Tenement and Premises, or any Part thereof, only excepted;) And the said Messuage or Tenement and Premises, being so well and sufficiently repaired, upheld, supported, maintained and kept, at the End of the said Term, or other sooner Determination of this present Demise, unto the said A. B. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, shall and will peaceably and quietly leave and yield up (except as is before excepted) and shall and will then also leave unto the said A. B. his Executors, &c. all such Goods as are mentioned in the said Schedule hereto annexed, in as good Condition as they are now in, reasonable Usage of them, &c. excepted. And further, That it shall and may be lawful to and for the said A. B. his Executors, Administrators or Assigns, or any of them, with Workman or others, or without, twice in every Year, during the Continuance of this Demise, at seasonable Times in the Day time, to enter and come into and upon the said demised Premises, or any Part thereof, and view, search and see the State and Condition of the Reparations of the same; and of all Defects, Defaults, and Want of Repairs, then and there found, to give or leave Notice or Warning in Writing, at and upon the said demised Premises, to and for the said C. D. for the Repairing and Amending of the same within the Space of three Months then next following: In which said Space or Time of three Months, after every or any such Notice or Warning, be the said C. D. for himself, his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, doth hereby covenant and grant to and with the said A. B. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, well and sufficiently to repair and amend the Defects and Want of Reparations so to be found as aforesaid, (except as is before excepted); And also, that be the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, shall and will at all Times hereafter, during the Term hereby demised, bear, pay and discharge all Taxes, Charges, Impositions and Parish Duties, which shall be taxed, charged, imposed, or assessed upon the said Messuage or Tenement aforesaid, or any any Part thereof. And the said A. B. for himself, his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, doth covenant and grant to and with the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, that he the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, paying the said yearly Rent of twenty Pounds above reserved in Manner aforesaid, and performing all and every the Covenants and Agreements herein before contained, which on his or their Parts and Behalves, are or ought to be paid, done and performed, shall and may peaceably and quietly, have, hold, use, occupy, possess and enjoy the said Messuage or Tenement and Premises hereby demised, for and during the Term hereby granted, without any lawful Let, Suit, Trouble, or Interruption of or by the said A. B. his Executors, Administrators or Assigns, or any of them, or by any other Person or Persons lawfully claiming, or to claim by, from, or under him, them, or any of them, or by or through his, their, or any of their AEs, Means or Procurement. In Witness, &c.

A Lease for Ninety-nine Years, if three Lives live so long.

THIS Indenture made, &c. Between A. B. of, &c. Esq; of the one Part, and C. D. of, &c. Yeoman, of the other Part, Witnesseth, That the said A. B. as well for and in Consideration of the Surrender of a former Lease granted by, &c. unto the said C. D. of the Messuage or Tenement and Premises herein after demised, for the Term of Ninety-nine Years, determinable on the Decease of, &c. as also for, and in Consideration of the Sum of, &c. of lawful British Money to him the said A. B. in hand paid by the said C. D. at and before the Sealing and Delivery of these Presents, the Receipt whereof he the said A. B. doth hereby acknowledge, and thereof doth acquit and discharge the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, by these Presents; hath demised, granted, and to Farm letten, and by these Presents doth demise, grant, and to Farm let, unto the said C. D. All that Messuage or Tenement, with all those Lands, &c. situate, lying and being in, &c. And all Houses, Out-houses, Ways, Waters, Water-courses, Easements and Appurtenances, &c. to the said Messuage or Tenement, Lands and Premises belonging or any Ways appertaining, (except all Timber Trees, and Trees fit and proper to be raised and preserved for Timber, now standing, growing or being, or which shall hereafter stand, grow or be, in or upon the said Premises, or any Part thereof; with free Liberty for the said A. B. his Heirs and Assigns, to fell, cut down, take and carry away the same, at all seasonable Times); To have and to hold the said Messuage or Tenement, Lands and Premises above granted, and every Part and Parcel thereof with the Appurtenances, (except before excepted) unto the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, from the Day of the Date of these Presents, for and during, and unto the full End and Term of Ninety-nine Years, from thence next ensuing, and fully to be compleat and ended, if he the said C. D. and E. his Wife, and T. D. his Son, or any or either of them, shall so long happen to live; Yielding and Paying therefore yearly, during the said Term, unto the said A. B. his Heirs and Assigns, the Rent of, &c. at and upon the Feasts of, &c. by even and equal Portions: And also Yielding and Paying at and upon the Death or Decease of the said C. D. the best Beast or Goods of the said C. D. or the Sum of, &c. for and in the Name of an Heriot; and also at and upon the Death or Decease of the said E. his Wife, (she dying after the said C. D.) the best Beast or Goods, or the Sum of, &c. for and in the Name of another Heriot; and also at and upon the Death or Decease of the said T. D. (he dying successively after the said C. D. and E.) the best Beast or Goods, or the Sum of, &c. for and in the Name of another Heriot: And doing Suit and Service to and at all and every the Court and Courts of the said A. B. his Heirs and Assigns, to be from Time to Time, during the said Term, holden in and for the Manor of, &c. and there be ordered and justified in all Things touching the said Premises, as other the Tenants of the said Manor, for their respective Estates are, shall or ought to be. And if it shall happen the said yearly Rent of, &c. or Sums of Money reserved for Heriots, or any Part thereof, to be behind and unpaid by the Space of twenty-one Days next after either of the said Feasts or Days of Payment on which the same ought to be paid as aforesaid, (being lawfully demanded) and no sufficient Distress or Distresses, in or upon the said Premises, can or may be found whereby the same may be levied, that then and from thenceforth it shall and may be lawful to and for the said A. B. his Heirs and Assigns, into the said Messuage or Tenement, Lands and Premises hereby demised, with the Appurtenance, to re-enter, and the same to have again, re-possess and enjoy, as in his or their former Right and Estate; any Thing herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding. And the said C. D. for himself, his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, doth covenant and grant to and with the said A. B. his Heirs and Assigns, that he the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, shall and will well and truly pay or cause to be paid unto the said A. B. his Heirs or Assigns, the said yearly Rent and Heriots above reserved, at the Days and Times, and in the Manner and Form above expressed, according to the true Intent and Meaning of these Presents. And also, that he the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, at his and their own proper Costs and Charges, shall and will from Time to Time, and at all Times, during the said Term hereby granted, well and sufficiently repair, maintain, sustain, uphold, amend, hedge, ditch, cleanse and keep the said Messuage or Tenement, Lands and Premises hereby demised, and every Part and Parcel thereof, with the Appurtenances, in and with all Manner of needful and necessary Reparations and Amendments whatsoever, when and as often as Need shall require; and the same so well and sufficiently repaired, maintained, sustained, upheld, amended, hedged, ditched, cleansed and kept, at the End, Expiration or other Determination of the said Term hereby granted, unto the said A. B. his Heirs and Assigns, shall and will peaceably and quietly leave and yield up. And the said A. B. for himself, his Heirs and Assigns, doth covenant and grant to and with the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, by these Presents, that (by and under the yearly Rent, Heriots, Covenants and Agreements before, in and by these Presents mentioned and contained) he the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, shall and may peaceably and quietly have, hold, occupy, possess and enjoy the said Messuage or Tenements, Lands and Premises above mentioned, and every Part and Parcel thereof with the Appurtenances (except before excepted) for and during the said Term hereby granted, without any Interruption or Denial of the said A. B. his Heirs or Assigns, or of any other Person or Persons whatsoever lawfully claiming or to claim any Right, Title or Interest, from, by or under him, them, or any or either of them. In Witness, &c.

A Freehold Lease for three Lives, Differs from the preceding Chattel Lease only in this, viz. That the Habendum is to the Lessee, his Heirs and Assigns, for and during the natural Lives of him the said C. D. E. his Wife, and T. D. his Son, and during the Life natural of every and either of them longest living. And in every Covenant, the Lessee covenants for himself, his Heirs and Assigns; and the Covenants are the same as in the foregoing Lease; with the Addition of a Letter of Attorney at the End, to deliver Possession and Seisin, as in a Deed of Feoffment.

Lease and Release, Is a Conveyance of Right or Interest in Lands or Tenements, to another that hath the Possession thereof. Accomp. Conv. 1 Vol. 129. Though the Deed of Feoffment was the usual Conveyance at Common Law; yet since the Stat. of H. 8.

of Uses, the Conveyance by Lease and Release has taken Place of it, and is become a very common Assurance to pass Lands and Tenements; for it amounts to a Feoffment, the Use drawing after it the Possession without actual Entry, &c. and supplying the Place of Livery and Seisin, required in that Deed: In the making it, a Lease or Bargain and Sale for a Year, or such like Term, is first prepared and executed; to the Intent that by Virtue thereof the Lessee may be in actual Possession of the Lands intended to be conveyed by the Release, and thereby and by Force of the Statute 27 H. 8. c. 10. for transferring of Uses into Possession, be enabled to take and accept a Grant of the Reversion and Inheritance of the said Lands, &c. to the Use of himself and his Heirs for ever: Upon which the Release is accordingly made, reciting the Lease, and declaring the Uses: And in these Cases, a Pepper-Corn Rent in the Lease for a Year is a sufficient Reservation to raise an Use, to make the Lessee capable of a Release. 2 Ven. 35. 2 Mod. 262. When an Estate is conveyed by Lease and Release, in the Lease for a Year there must be the Words Bargain and Sell for Money, and 5 s. or any other Sum, though never paid, is a good Consideration, whereupon the Bargainee for a Year is immediately in Possession on the Executing of the Deed, without actual Entry: If only the Words Demise, Grant and to Farm Let are used, in that Case the Lessee cannot accept of a Release of the Inheritance until he hath actually entered and is in Possession. 2 Lill. Abr. 435. But where Littleton says, that if a Lease is made for Years, and the Lessor releases to the Lessee before Entry; such Release is void, because the Lessee had only a Right, and not the Possession; and such Release shall not enure to enlarge the Estate, without the Possession: Though this is true at Common Law, it is not so now upon the Statute of Uses. 2 Mod. 250, 251. And if a Man make a Lease for Life, Remainder for Life, and the first Lessee dieth; on which, the Lessor releases to him in Remainder, before Entry; this is a good Release to enlarge the Estate, he having an Estate in Law capable of Enlargement by Release, before Entry had. 1 Inst. 270. No Person can make a Bargain and Sale, who hath not Possession of the Lands: But it is not necessary to Reserve a Rent therein; because the Consideration of Money raises the Use. If a Lease be without any such Consideration, the Lessee hath not any Estate till Entry, nor hath the Lessor any Reversion; and therefore a Release will not operate, &c. 1 Inst. 270, 278. Cro. Jac. 159. 1 Mod. 263. On Lease at Will, a Release shall be good by Reason of the Privy between the Parties: But if a Man be only Tenant at Sufferance, the Release will not Enure to him; and as to the Person who hath the Reversion it is void, for such Tenant hath not any Possession, there being no Estate in him. Litt. Sect. 461, 462. Cro. Eliz. 21. Dyer 251. It is necessary in all Cases where a Release of Lands is made, that the Estate be turned to a Right; as in a Disseisin, &c. where there are two Rights, a Right of Possession in the Disseisor, and a Right to the Estate in the Disseisee; now when the Disseisee hath released to the Disseisor, here the Disseisor hath both the Rights in him, viz. The Right to the Estate, and also to the Possession: Or else it is requisite that there be Privy of Estate between the Tenant in Possession and the Releasor; for a Release will not operate without Privy. 2 Lill. 435. A Release made by one that at the Time of the Making thereof had no Right, is void; and a Release made to one that at the Time of Making thereof hath nothing in the Lands, is also void, because he ought to have a Freehold, or a Possession, or Privy. Noy's Max. 74. He that makes a Release must have an Estate in himself, out of which the Estate may be derived to the Lessee; the Lessee is to have an Estate in Possession in Deed or in Law, in the Land whereof the Release is made, as a Foundation for the Release; there must be Privy of Estate between the Releasor and Lessee; and be sufficient Words in Law not only to make the Release, but also to create and raise a new Estate, or the Release will not be good. 1 Inst. 22. A Release to a Man and his Heirs will pass a Fee simple; and if made to a Man, and the Heirs of his Body, by this the Lessee hath an Estate-tail: But a Release of a Man's Right in Fee-simple, is not sufficient to pass a Fee-simple. 1 Inst. 273. And if a Person release to another all his Right which he hath in the Land, without using any more Words, as To hold to him and his Heirs, &c. the Lessee hath only an Estate for Life. Dyer 253. A Release made to a Tenant in Tail, or for Life, of Right to Land, shall extend to him in Remainder or Reversion. 1 Inst. 267. By Release of all a Man's Right unto Lands, all Actions, Entries, Titles of Dower, Rents, &c. are discharged; though it bars not a Right that shall descend afterwards: And a Release of all Right in such Land, will not discharge a Judgment not executed; because such Judgment doth not vest any Right; but only makes the Land liable to Execution. 8 Rep. 151. 3 Salk. 298. 'Tis said a Release of all one's Title to Lands, is a Release of all one's Right. Litt. 509. 1 Inst. 292. By a Release of all Entries, or Right of Entry, a Man hath into Lands, without more Words, the Releasor is barred of all Right or Power of Entry into those Lands; and yet if a Man have a double Remedy, viz. a Right of Entry, and an Action to recover, and then release all Entries, by this he is not barred and excluded his Action; nor doth a Release of Actions bar the Right of Entry. Plowd. 484. 1 Inst. 345. A Release made by Deed Poll, of Right to Lands, &c. needs no other Execution than Sealing and Delivery; and will operate without Consideration: But 'tis convenient to put a valuable Consideration therein; lest it should be judg'd fraudulent by Statute. Litt. Sect. 445. Lill. Convey. 248, 230. Cro. Jac. 270. A Release that doth enure by Way of Passing away an Estate, or Extinguishment, may be made upon Condition or with a Defeasance, so as the Condition, &c. be contained in the Release, or delivered at the same Time with it: And there may be a Recital, Covenants, Warranty, &c. inserted in this Release; though it is said the Deed is good, without any such Additions. Accom. Convey. Vol. 1. In a Lease and Release to make a Tenant to the Præcipe to suffer a Recovery, where the Release is made to A. B. and his Heirs, (viz. the Tenant to the Præcipe) it must be also said to the Use of him the said A. B. and his Heirs and Assigns for ever; for the Lessee must be absolute Tenant of the Freehold. 2 Vent. 312. Lill. Conveyanc. 251. And a Release made on Trust, must be to A. B. his Heirs and Assigns, to the only Use and Behoof of the Lessee, his Heirs and Assigns for ever; in Trust for C. D. who is to be a Party to the Deed, and the Purchase Money to be paid by the Cestui que Trust: If the Words to the Use, &c. are not inserted in the Release, the Estate doth not execute by the Statute of Uses, and the Trust is void. Lill. Ibid. 251, 233. A Lease and Release make but one Conveyance, being in the Nature of one Deed. 1 Mod. 252.

Form of a Lease for a Year, to ground a Release.

THIS Indenture made, &c. Between A. B. of &c. of the one Part, and C. D. of, &c. of the other Part, witnesseth, that the said A. B. for and in Consideration of the Sum of 5 s. of lawful British Money to him in Hand paid by the said C. D. the Receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, he the said A. B. hath granted, bargained gained and sold, and by these Presents doth grant, bargain and sell unto the said C. D. All that Messuage or Tenement, commonly called or known, &c. with the Rights, Members and Appurtenances, situate, lying and being in, &c. in the County of, &c. And all Houses, Edifices, Buildings, Gardens, Orchards, Lands, Meadows, Commons, Pastures, Feedings, Trees, Woods, Underwoods, Ways, Paths, Water, Water-courses, Easements, Profits, Commodities, Advantages, Emoluments and Hereditaments whatsoever to the said Messuage or Tenement belonging, or in any wise appertaining, or which now are or formerly have been accepted, reputed, taken, known, used, occupied or enjoyed, to or with the same, or as Part, Parcel or Member thereof, or any Part thereof; and the Reversion and Reversions, Remainder and Remainders, Rents and Services of the said Premises above-mentioned, and of every Part and Parcel thereof; with the Appurtenances: To have and to hold the said Messuage or Tenement, Lands, Hereditaments and Premises above mentioned, and every Part or Parcel thereof, with the Appurtenances unto the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, from the first Day of this Instant, &c. for and during and unto the full End and Term of one whole Year, from thence next and immediately ensuing and following, and fully to be compleat and ended: Yielding and paying therefore one Pepper-Corn in and upon the Feast of St. Michael the Archangel, if demanded: To the Intent that by Virtue of these Presents, and by Force of the Statute for transferring of Uses into Possession, be the said C. D. may be in the actual Possession of all and singular the said Premises above-mentioned, with the Appurtenances, and thereby be enabled to accept and take a Grant and Release of the Reversion and Inheritance thereof, to him and his Heirs, to the only proper Use and Beboof of him the said C. D. his Heirs and Assigns for ever. In Witness, &c.

Form of a Release and Conveyance of Lands.

THIS Indenture made, &c. Between A. B. of, &c. of the one Part, and C. D. of, &c. of the other Part, Witneseth, that the said A. B. for and in Consideration of the Sum of Five hundred Pounds of lawful Money of Great Britain, to him in Hand paid by the said C. D. the Receipt whereof the said A. B. doth hereby confess and acknowledge, and for divers other good Causes and Considerations him thereunto moving; be the said A. B. hath granted, bargained and sold, aliened, released and confirmed, and by these Presents doth fully, freely and absolutely grant, bargain and sell, alien, release and confirm unto the said C. D. (in his actual Possession now being, by Virtue of a Bargain and Sale to him thereof made for one Year, by Indenture bearing Date the Day next before the Day of the Date of these Presents, and by Force of the Statute for transferring of Uses into Possession) and to his Heirs and Assigns for ever, All that Messuage or Tenement, commonly called or known, &c. with the Rights, Members and Appurtenances thereof, situate, lying and being in, &c. And all Houses, Edifices, Buildings, Gardens, Orchards, Lands, Meadows, Commons, Pastures, Feedings, Trees, Woods, Underwoods, Ways, Paths, Waters, Water-courses, Easements, Profits, Commodities, Advantages, Emoluments and Hereditaments whatsoever to the said Messuage or Tenement belonging, or in any wise appertaining, or which now are or formerly have been accepted, reputed, taken, known, used, occupied or enjoyed, to or with the same, or as Part, Parcel or Member thereof, or of any Part thereof; and also the Reversion and Reversions, Remainder and Remainders, Rents and Services of all and singular the said Premises above mentioned, and of every Part and Parcel thereof, with the Appurtenances; and also all the Estate, Right, Title, Interest, Claim and Demand whatsoever, as well in Equity as in Law, of him the said A. B. of, in and to all and singular the said Premises, and of, in and to every Part and Parcel thereof, with the Appurtenances;

and also all Deeds, Evidences and Writings, touching or concerning the said Premises only, or only any Part thereof, together with true Copies of all other Deeds, Evidences and Writings, which do concern the said Premises, or any Part thereof jointly, with any other Lands or Tenements, now in the Custody or Possession of him the said A. B. or which he can or may get or come by without Suit in Law; the said Copies to be made and written at the Request, Costs and Charges of the said C. D. his Heirs and Assigns; To have and to hold the said Messuage or Tenement, Lands, Hereditaments, and all and singular the Premises above-mentioned, and every Part and Parcel thereof, with the Appurtenances, unto the said C. D. his Heirs and Assigns, to the only proper Use and Beboof of the said C. D. his Heirs and Assigns for ever. And the said A. B. for himself, his Heirs and Assigns, doth covenant and grant to and with the said C. D. his Heirs and Assigns, that be the said A. B. now is the true, lawful and rightful Owner of the said Messuage, Lands, Tenements, Hereditaments and Premises above mentioned, and of every Part and Parcel thereof, with the Appurtenances. And also that be the said A. B. now is lawfully and rightfully seized in his own Right, of a good, sure, perfect, absolute and indefeasible Estate of Inheritance in Fee-simple, of and in all and singular the Premises above mentioned, with the Appurtenances, without any Manner of Condition, Mortgage, Limitation of Use and Uses, or other Matter, Cause or Thing, to alter, change, charge, or determine the same. And that be the said A. B. now hath good Right, full Power, and lawful Authority, in his own Right, to grant, bargain, sell, and convey the said Messuage, Lands, Tenements, Hereditaments, and all and singular the Premises above-mentioned, with the Appurtenances, unto the said C. D. his Heirs and Assigns, to the only proper Use and Beboof of the said C. D. his Heirs and Assigns for ever, according to the true Intent and Meaning of these Presents. And also that be the said C. D. his Heirs and Assigns, shall and may at all Times for ever hereafter, peaceably and quietly have, hold, occupy, possess and enjoy all and singular the said Messuage, Lands, Tenements, Hereditaments and Premises above-mentioned, with the Appurtenances, without the Let, Trouble, Hindrance, Molestation, Interruption, and Denial of him the said A. B. his Heirs or Assigns, and of all and every other Person or Persons whatsoever: And that freed and discharged, or otherwise well and sufficiently saved and kept harmless and indemnified of and from all former and other Bargains, Sales, Gifts, Grants, Leases, Mortgages, Jointures, Dowers, Uses, Wills, Intails, Fines, Post-Fines, Issues, Amerciaments, Seizures, Bonds, Annuities, Writings Obligatory, Statutes Merchant and of the Staple, Recognizances, Extents, Judgments, Executions, Rents and Arrearages of Rent, and of and from all other Charges, Estates, Rights, Titles, Troubles and Incumbrances whatsoever had, made, committed, done or suffered, or to be had, made, committed, done, or suffered, by the said A. B. or any other Person or Persons whatsoever, claiming or to claim, by, from or under him, them, or any of them. And further, that be the said A. B. and his Heirs, and all and every other Person and Persons and his and their Heirs, any Thing having or claiming in the said Premises above-mentioned, or any Part thereof, by, from or under him, shall and will from Time to Time, and at all Times hereafter, upon the reasonable Request, and at the Costs and Charges of the said C. D. his Heirs or Assigns, make, do and execute, or cause or procure to be made, done and executed, all and every such further and other lawful and reasonable Acts and Acts, Thing and Things, Device and Devices, Conveyance and Conveyances in the Law whatsoever, for the further, better, and more perfect granting, conveying and assuring of all and singular the said Premises above-mentioned, with the Appurtenances, unto the said C. D. his Heirs and Assigns, to the only proper Use and Beboof of the said C. D. his Heirs and Assigns for ever, as by the said C. D. his Heirs or Assigns, or his or their Counsel learned in the Law, shall be reasonably devised or advised and required. And lastly, it is covenanted, granted, concluded cluded and agreed upon by and between the said Parties to these Presents, and the true Meaning hereof is, and it is hereby so declared, that all and every Fine and Fines, Recovery and Recoveries, Assurance and Assurances, Conveyance and Conveyances in the Law whatsoever already had, made, levied, suffered, executed and acknowledged, or at any Time hereafter to be had, made, levied, suffered, executed and acknowledged, by and between the said Parties to these Presents, or either of them, or by or between them, or either of them, and any other Person or Persons whatsoever, of the said Premises above mentioned, with the Appurtenances, or any Part thereof, either alone by itself, or jointly with any other Lands, Tenements or Hereditaments, shall be and enure, and shall be adjudged, esteemed and taken to be and enure, as for and concerning all and singular the Premises above mentioned, with the Appurtenances, to and for the only proper Use and behoof of the said C. D. his Heirs and Assigns for ever, according to the true Intent and Meaning of these Presents, and to and for none other Use, Intent or Purpose whatsoever. In Witness, &c.

Leat, A Trench to convey Water to or from a Mill; mentioned in the Stat. 7 Jac. 1. c. 19.

Leather. There are several Statutes relating to Leather; as the 27 H. 8. c. 14. directs Packers to be appointed for Leather to be transported: But the 18 Eliz. c. 9. prohibits the Shipping of Leather, on Penalty of Forfeiture, &c. Though by 20 Car. c. 5. Transportation of Leather is allowed to Scotland, Ireland, or any foreign Country, paying a Custom or Duty; which Statute is continued by divers subsequent Acts. No Person shall ingross Leather to sell again, under the Penalty of Forfeiture: None but Tanners are to buy any rough Hides of Leather, or Calves-Skins in the Hair, on Pain of Forfeiture; and no Person shall foretell Hides, under the Penalty of 6 s. 8 d. a Hide. Leather not sufficiently tanned, is to be forfeited. In London, the Lord Mayor and Aldermen are to appoint and swear Searchers of Leather, out of the Company of Shoemakers, &c. And also Triers of insufficient Leather; and the same is to be done by Mayors, &c. in other Towns and Corporations; and Searchers allowing insufficient Leather, incur a Forfeiture of 40 s. Shoemakers making Shoes of insufficient Leather, are liable to 3 s. 4 d. Penalty. 1 Jac. 1. c. 22. Red tanned Leather is to be brought into open Leather Markets, and searched and sealed before exposed to Sale, or shall be forfeited; and Contracts for Sale otherwise to be void. 13 & 14 Car. 2. c. 7. Hides of Leather are adjudged the Ware and Manufacture of the Carrier, and subject to Search, &c. All Persons dealing in Leather may buy tanned Leather searched in open Market; and any Person may buy or sell Leather Hides or Skins by Weight. 1 W. & M. c. 33. Duties are granted on Leather, and Entries to be made of Tan-Yards, under the Penalty of 50 l. and Tanners and Leather-Dressers using any private Tan-Yards, or concealing Skins, &c. shall forfeit 20 l. leviable by Justices of the Peace, by Distress, &c. 9 Ann. c. 11. Lecturer, (Frælector) A Reader of Lectures; and in London, and other Cities, there are Lecturers who are Assistants to the Rectors of Churches in Preaching, &c. These Lecturers are chosen by the Vestry, or chief Inhabitants of the Parish, and are usually the Afternoon Preachers: The Law requires, that they should have the Consent of them by whom they are employed, and likewise the Approbation and Admission of the Ordinary; and they are, at the Time of their Admission, to subscribe to the Thirty-Nine Articles of Religion, &c. required by the Stat. 14 Car. 2. They are to be licensed by the Bishop, as other Ministers, and a Man cannot be a Lecturer without a Licence from the Bishop or Archbishop; but the Power of a Bishop, &c. is only as to the Qualification and Fitness of the Person, and not as to the Right of the Lectureship; for if a Bishop determine in Favour of a Lecturer, a Prohibition may be granted to try the Right. Mitch. 12 W. 3. B. R. If Lecturers preach in the Week Days, they must read the Common Prayer for the Day when they first preach, and declare their Assent to that Book; they are likewise to do the same the first Lecture Day in every Month, so long as they continue Lecturers, or they shall be disabled to preach till they conform to the same: And if they preach before such Conformity, they may be committed to Prison for three Months, by Warrant of two Justices of Peace, granted on the Certificate of the Ordinary. 13 & 14 Car. 2. c. 4. Right Clerg. 338. Where Lectures are to be preached or read in any Cathedral or Collegiate Church, if the Lecturer openly at the Time aforesaid, declare his Assent to all Things in the Book of Common Prayer, it shall be sufficient; and University Sermons or Lectures are excepted out of the Act concerning Lectures. There are Lectures founded by the Donations of pious Persons, the Lecturers whereof are appointed by the Founders; without any Interposition or Consent of Rectors of Churches, &c. though with the Leave and Approbation of the Bishop; such as that of Lady Moier at St. Paul's, &c.

Legabitis, Signifies what is not entailed as Hereditary; but may be bequeathed by Legacy, in a Last Will and Testament. Articuli propositi. in Parlamento coram Rege, Anno 1234.

Legacy, (Legatum) Is a particular Thing given by a Man's Last Will and Testament; and he to whom such Legacy is given, is called a Legatee; and there is a Residuary Legatee. It seems necessary, that the Legatee should be born at the Time of making the Will; and it has been adjudged where Legacies were given to a Man's Children, that those who were born afterwards should have no Share thereof. 1 Bull.

1 Bulst. 153. But it has been otherwise decreed in Chancery. 1 Ch. Rep. 301. A Man devised 200 l. a-piece to the two Children of A. B. at the End of ten Years after the Death of the Testator; afterwards the Children died within the ten Years; and it was held a lapsed Legacy: For there is a Difference where a Devise is to take Effect at a future Time, and where the Payment is to be made at a future Time; and whenever the Time is annexed to the Legacy itself, and not to the Payment of it, if the Legatee dies before the Time happens, 'tis a lapsed Legacy. 2 Salk. 415. A Bequest of Money to one at the Age of twenty-one, or Day of Marriage, without saying to be paid at that Time, and the Legatee dies before the Term; this is a lapsed Legacy: And so 'tis if the Devise had been to her when she shall marry; or when a Son shall come of Age, and they die before. Godb. 182. 2 Vent. 342. But a Devise of a Sum of Money, to be paid at the Day of Marriage, or Age of twenty one Years; if the Legatee die before either of these happen, the Legatee's Administrator shall have it, because the Legatee had a present Interest, though the Time of Payment was not yet come; and 'tis a Charge on the Personal Estate which was in Being at the Testator's Death; and if it were discharged by this Accident, then it would be for the Benefit of the Executor, which was never intended by the Testator. 2 Ventr. 366. 2 Lev. 207. A Father bequeathed Goods to his Son, when he should be of the Age of twenty-one Years, and if he die before that Time, then his Daughter should have them; afterwards the Father died, and then the Son died before he was of Age; adjudged, that the Daughter should have the Goods given in Legacy immediately, and not stay till her Brother would have been of Age, if he had lived. 1 And. 33. And where a Legacy was devised to an Infant, to be paid when he shall come of Age, and he died before that Time; it was ruled that his Administrator should have it presently, and not stay until the Infant should have been of Age, if he had lived. 1 Leon. 278. In a Case of this Nature, it has been decreed in Equity, that although the Administrator should have the Legacy, yet he must wait for it till such Time as the Child would have come to twenty-one. 2 Vern. 199. Where a Legacy is to arise out of the Real Estate, it shall not go to the Representative of the Legatee; but sink in the Inheritance: And yet where 1000 l. was given by a Person out of Lands, to his Daughter, and Interest to be computed from his Death, &c. here though the Legatee died before the Time appointed for paying the same, it was held the Legacy should be raised notwithstanding; and the Lord Chancellor said, that this Legacy was a vested one. 2 Vern. Rep. 617. Barnardist. 328, 330. A Person by Will, &c. gives a Portion or Legacy to a Child, payable at twenty-one Years of Age, out of a real and personal Estate, and the Child dies before the Legacy becomes payable; in that Case, so much thereof as the personal Estate will pay, shall go to the Child's Executors or Administrators: But so far as the Legacy is charged upon the Land, 'tis said it shall sink. 2 P. Williams 613. Also if a Legacy be given to one, to be paid out of such a Fund, and the same fails; it has been resolved, that it ought to be paid out of the Personal Estate, and the failing of the Manner appointed for Payment shall not defeat the Legacy. 1 Peere Williams 779. One by Will disposes of his Estate in Legacies, and afterwards by Parol, or Word of Mouth, gives a Bill for a certain Sum, to be delivered over to another, if he the Testator should die of that Sickness; this is adjudged good, but it being in the Nature of a Legacy, may be deemed fraudulent against Creditors. Ibid. 405, 406. If a Legacy when due be paid to the Father of an Infant, it is no good Payment; and the Executor may be obliged in Equity to pay it over again: And where any Legacy is bequeathed to a Feme Covert, paying it to her alone, is not sufficient, without her Husband. 1 Vern. 261. As an Executor is not obliged to pay a Legacy, without Security given him by the Legatee to refund, if there are Debts, because the Legacy is not due till the Debts are paid, and a Man must be just before he is charitable; so in some Cases, the Executor may be compelled to give Security to the Legatee for the Payment of his Legacy; as where a Testator bequeathed 1000 l. to a Person, to be paid at the Age of Twenty one, and made an Executor, and died, afterwards the Legatee exhibited a Bill in Equity against the Executor, setting forth that he had wasted the Estate, and praying that he might give Security to pay the Legacy when it should become due; and it was ordered accordingly. 1 Ch. Rep. 136, 257. If a Legacy is devised, and no certain Time of Payment, and the Legatee is an Infant, he shall have Interest for the Legacy from the Expiration of one Year after the Testator's Death; for so long the Executor shall have, that he may see whether there are any Debts, and no Laches shall be imputed to the Infant: But if the Legatee be of full Age, he shall have no Interest but from the Time of the Demand of his Legacy: Where a Legacy is payable at a Day certain, it must be paid with Interest from that Day. 2 Salk. 415. 2 Nels. Abr. 1114. A Person gives a Legacy charged upon Land, which yields Rents and Profits, and there is no Day of Payment mentioned, the Legacy shall carry Interest from the Testator's Death, because the Land yields Profit from that Time: Though were it charged on the Personal Estate, and the Will mentions no Time for paying it, there the Legacy bears Interest only from the End of a Year, after the Death of the Testator; which is said to be the settled Difference. 2 Peere Williams 26. It has been decreed in Equity, that although a Legacy be devised to be paid at a certain Time, it carries Interest only from such Time as it is demanded: 'Tis otherwise of a Debt; and in such Case Non payment at the Day, has been held no Breach, without Demand and Refusal. Preced. Canc. 161. See Abr. Caf. Eq. 286. One having a Legacy given him, payable within a Year, knew nothing of it till a great while afterwards, when the Executor published it in the Gazette; here Chancery would allow no Interest but the bare Legacy. Preced. Canc. 11. The Assent or Agreement of the Executor is first to be obtained before any Legacy can be taken; until then the Legatee may not meddle with the Legacy, because the Executor is to pay Debts before Legacies, &c. Wood's Inst. 329. And this is the Reason why no Property can be transferred to the Legatee, without the Executor's Assent: If the Executor refuses to assent to a Legacy, he may be obliged to it by a Court of Equity, or the Spiritual Court. March, Rep. 19. Legacies being Gratuitous, and no Duties, Action will not lie at Common Law for the Recovery of a Legacy; but Remedy is to be had in the Chancery or Spiritual Court. Allen 38. The Cognizance of a Legacy properly belongs to the Spiritual Courts, for such Bequests were not good by the Common Law; but this is to be understood, where a Legacy is devised generally: If 'tis payable out of the Land, or out of the Profits of the Land, an Action of the Case lies at Common Law; but the usual Remedy is in Chancery. Sid. 44. 3 Salk. 223. By Holt Ch. Just. A Legatee may maintain an Action of Debt at Common Law against the Owner of Land, out of which the Legacy is to be paid; and since the Statute of Wills gives him a Right, by Consequence he shall have an Action at Law to recover it. 2 Salk. 415. And sometimes the Common Law takes Notice of a Legacy, not directly, but in a collateral Way; as where the Executor promised to pay the Money, if the Legatee would forbear to sue for the Legacy, this was adjudged a good Consideration to ground an Action; but that it would not lie for a Legacy in Specie, which would be to devest the Spiritual Court of what properly belonged to their Jurisdiction, by turning Suits which might be brought there into Actions on the Case. Raym. 23. If Security is given by Bond to pay a Legacy, in such Case an Action at Law is the proper Remedy; by giving the Bond, the Legacy is as it were extinct, and becomes a Debt at Common Law, and the Legatee can never afterwards sue for it in the Spiritual Court. Yelv. 39. For the Recovery of a Debt or such like Thing in Action, given by Way of Legacy, it is best to make the Legatee Executor as to that Debt, &c. or he must have a Letter of Attorney to sue in the Executor's Name. Wood's Inst. 330. Where a Testator gives his Debtee a Legacy greater than his Debt, it shall be taken in Satisfaction of it: Though where the Legacy is less, it shall not be deemed as any Part thereof; but as a Legacy is a Gift, sometimes the Legatee has been decreed both 1 Salk. 155. 2 Salk. 508. If a greater Legacy, is given by a Codicil, to the same Person that was Legatee in the Will, it shall not be a Satisfaction, unless so expressed. 1 Peere Williams 424. The Name of a Legatee being very falsly Spelt, it was referred to a Master in Chancery, to examine who was the Person intended. Ibid. 425. Some Persons are incapable of taking by Legacy, by several Statutes; as the 13 W. 3. c. 6. relating to Officers, Lawyers, &c. not taking the Oaths; and 5 Geo. 1. c. 27. concerning Artificers going abroad, &c. Legate, (Legatus) An Ambassador or Pope's Nuncio. And there are two Sorts of Legates, a Legate a Latere, and Legatus natus; the Difference between whom is thus: Legatus a Latere was usually one of the Pope's Family vested with the greatest Authority in all Ecclesiastical Affairs over the whole Kingdom where he was sent; and during the Time of his Legation, he might determine even those Appeals which had been made from thence to Rome: Legatus natus had a more limited Jurisdiction, but was exempted from the Authority of the Legate a Latere; and he could exercise even his Jurisdiction in his own Province. The Popes of Rome had formerly in England the Archbishops of Canterbury their Legatos natos; and upon extraordinary Occasions, sent over Legatos a Latere.

Leposo amobendo, An ancient Writ that lies to remove a Leper or Lazar, who thrusts himself into the Company of his Neighbours in any Parish, either in the Church, or at other publick Meetings, to their Annoyance. Reg. Orig. 237. The Writ lieth against those Lepers that appear outwardly to be such, by Sores on their Bodies, Smell, &c. and not against others: And if a Man be a Leper, and keep within his House, so as not to converse with his Neighbours; he shall not be removed. New Nat. Br. 521.

Le Roy le veut, Words by which the Royal Assent is signified by the Clerk of the Parliament to publick Bills; and to a private Bill the King's Answer is, Soit fait comme il est desire.

Le Roy se Wifera. And by these Words to a Bill, presented to the King by his Houses of Parliament, are understood his Denial of that Bill.

Lesstage, Mentioned in some Writers, is the same as Lastage.

Lesucs or Letbes, Is a Word signifying Pastures, in many Places of England, and often inserted in Deeds and Conveyances. Domesd.

Lectare Jerusalem. Was used for the customary Oblations made on Midlent Sunday, when the proper Hymn was Lectare Jerusalem, &c. by the Inhabitants within a Diocese to the Mother Cathedral Church; and these voluntary Offerings on that Day, were by Degrees settled into an annual Composition or pecuniary Payment, charged on the Parochial Priest, who was presumed to receive them from the People of his Congregation, and obliged to return them to the Cathedral Church; and this among other Burdens was at length thrown on the oppress'd Vicars, as appears by the Ordination of the Vicarage of Erdele, in the Archdeaconry of Huntingdon. Anno 1290, where it is provided, Qui quidem Vicarius solvet Synodalia, Lectare Jerusalem, &c. From the ancient Custom of Processions at that Time, began the Practice which is still retained in many Parts of England, of Moisbering, or going to visit Parents on Midlent Sunday. See Quadragesimalia.

Letters of Absolution, (Literæ Absolutivæ) Or absolatory Letters, were such in former Times, when an Abbot released any of his Brethren ab omni subjectione & Obedientia, &c. And made them capable of entering into some other Order of Religion. Mon. Fa-verhamensi, pag. 7.

Letter of Attorney, (Literæ Attornati) Is a Writing, authorising an Attorney to do any lawful Act in the Stead of another: As to give Seisin of Lands; receive Debts, or sue a third Person, &c. And Letters of Attorney are either General or Special. West. Symb. par. 1. Stat. 7 R. 2. c. 13. The Nature of this Instrument is to give the Attorney the full Power and Authority of the Maker, to accomplish the Act intended to be perform'd: And sometimes these Writings are revocable, and sometimes not so; but when they are revocable, it is usually a bare Authority only; and they are irrevocable when Debts, &c. are assigned to another, in which Case the Word irrevocable is inserted. In Cases of Letters of Attorney, the Authority must be strictly pursued: If it be to deliver Livery and Seisin of Lands between certain Hours, and the Attorney doth it before or after; or in a Capital Messuage, and he does it in another Part of the Land, &c. the Act of the Attorney to execute the Estate shall be void. Plowd. 475. But notwithstanding the ancient Opinions for pursuing Authorities with great Strictness and Exactness, yet in Case of Livery and Seisin they have been always favourably expounded of later Times, unless where it hath appeared, that the Authority was not pursued at all; as if a Letter of Attorney be made to three, two cannot execute it, because they are not the Parties delegated, and they do not agree with the Authority. 2 Mod. Rep. 79. Where the Attorney does less than the Authority mentions, it is void: It is said if he doth more, it may be good for so much as he had Power to do. 1 Inst. 258. There were two Attornies made jointly and severally, to deliver Seisin of Lands, &c. and one of them delivered Seisin of Part of the Land, and after another Attorney being Tenant thereof for Years, gave Livery of the other Part of the Land: This was held good, though made at several Times. 1 And. 247. And if a Man make a Deed of Feoffment of Lands in divers Counties, with such a Letter of Attorney, the Livery must be at several Times; otherwise it cannot be made. Ibid. See 1 Leon. 260, 192. If a Mayor and Commonalty make a Feoffment of Lands, and execute a Letter of Attorney to deliver Seisin; the Livery and Seisin, after the Death of the Mayor, will be good, by Reason the Corporation dieth not. 1 Inst. 52. In other Cases, by the Death of the Party giving it, the Power given by Letter of Attorney generally determines. A Person made a Letter of Attorney to a Creditor to receive all his Wages and Pay due from a Ship, and afterwards died at Sea; this Authority was adjudged to be so determined, that all the rest of the Creditors should have a Share in his Administration. Proced. Canc. 125. 2 Vern. 391.

Letters Claus, (Literæ Clausæ) Close Letters, oppos'd to Letters Patent; being commonly sealed up with the King's Signet or Privy Seal; whereas the Letters Patent are left open and sealed with the Broad Seal.

Letter of Credit, Is where a Merchant or Correspondent writes a Letter to another, requesting him to credit the Bearer with a certain Sum of Money. Merch. Dia.

Letters of Exchange, (Literæ Cambii) Reg. Orig. 194. See Bills of Exchange.

Letter of Licence, Is an Instrument or Writing made by Creditors to a Man that hath failed in his Trade, allowing him longer Time for the Payment of his Debts, and protecting him from Arrests in going about his Affairs. These Letters of Licence give Leave to the Party to whom granted to resort freely to his Creditors, or any others, and to compound Debts, &c. And the Creditors covenant, that if the Debtor shall receive any Molestation or Hindrance from any of them, he shall be acquitted and discharged of his Debt against such Creditor, &c. See my Accomp. Conveyanc. Vol. 1.

Letters of Marque, Are extraordinary Reprisals for Reparation to Merchants taken and despoiled by Strangers at Sea, grantable by the Secretaries of State, with the Approbation of the King and Council; and usually in Time of War, &c. Lex Mercat. 173. If a Letter of Marque wilfully and knowingly take a Ship and Goods belonging to another Nation, not of that State against whom the Commission is awarded, but of some other in Amity, this amounts to a downright Piracy. Roll. Abr. 530. See Reprisal.

Letters Patent, (Literæ Patentis) Sometimes called Letters Overt, are Writings of the King sealed with the Great Seal of England, whereby a Person is enabled to do or enjoy that which otherwise he could not; and so called, because they are open with the Seal affixed, and ready to be shewn for Confirmation of the Authority thereby given. 19 H. 7. cap. 7. And we read of Letters Patent to make Denizens, &c. 32 Hen. 6. c. 16. 19 Hen. 3. c. 18. Letters Patent may be granted by common Persons, but in such Case they are properly Patents; yet for Distinction, the King's Letters Patent have been called Letters Patent Royal. Anno 2 H. 6. c. 10. Letters Patent conclude with Teste me ipso, &c. 2 Inst. 78. See Patents.

Levant and Couchant, Is a Law-Term for Cattle that have been so long in the Ground of another, that they have lain down, and are risen again to feed; in ancient Records writ Levantes & Couchantes. When the Cattle of a Stranger are come into another Man's Ground, and have been there a good Space of Time, (supposed to be a Day and a Night) they are said to be Levant and Couchant. Terms de Ley 424. 2 Lill. Abr. 167. Beasts of a Stranger on the Lord's Ground may be distrained for Rent, though they have not been Levant and Couchant; but it is otherwise if the Tenant of the Land is in Fault in not keeping up his Mounds, by Reason whereof the Beasts escape upon the Land. Wood's Inst. 190. See Distress.

Lebanum, (From the Lat. Levare, to make lighter) Is leavened Bread.

Levari facias, A Writ directed to the Sheriff for levying a Sum of Money upon a Man's Lands and Tenements, Goods and Chattels, who has forfeited his Recognisance. Reg. Orig. 298. This Writ is given by the Common Law, before the Statute Westm. 2. cap. 18. gave the Writ of Elegit; and a Levari facias commands the Debt to be levied de exitibus & proficuis Terræ, &c. And Cattle of a Stranger on the Land have been held Issues of the Land, which is Debtor. 1 Salk. 395. On a Judgment in an inferior Court, and a Levari facias, whereupon a Warrant was made to levy the Debt de Terris & Catallis, it was adjudged that the Precept ought to be to levy the Money de Terris, Bonis & Catallis, &c. 2 Lutw. 1410. A Levari facias in Debt lies against a Parson, directed to the Bishop, &c. to levy the Money of his Spiritual Goods. 13 H. 4. 17. When a Year and Day is past, after the Day of Payment by the Recognisance, there should be anciently a Writ of Debt; but now a Scire facias, &c.

Form of a Writ of Levari facias.

GEORGE the Second, &c. To the Sheriff of S. Greeting: Because A. B. of, &c. ought to have paid C. D. twenty Pounds, at the Feast of St. Michael, in the Year of our Reign, &c. as it appears to us by Inspection of the Rolls of our Chancery, and that hath not yet paid to him, as is said: We command you, that the aforsaid Money of the Lands, Goods and Chattels of the said A. in your Bailiwick, without Delay, you cause to be levied, so that you may have it in our Chancery the Morrow of the Nativity of St. John Baptist next coming, whereforever then it shall be, to the aforsaid C. there to be delivered; and this in no wise omit: And have you there this Writ, &c.

There is a Levari facias damna Diffessoribus, for the levying of Damages, wherein the Disseisor has formerly been condemned to the Disseisee. Reg. Orig. 214. Also Levari facias Residuum debiti, to levy the Remainder of a Debt upon Lands and Tenements, or Chattels of the Debtor, where Part has been satisfied before. Reg. Orig. 299. And a Levari facias quando Viccomes retornavit quod non habuit emptores, commanding the Sheriff to sell the Goods of the Debtor, which he has taken, and returned that he could not sell. Reg. Orig. 300.

Leys. Pasture Grounds in several Counties of this Kingdom are called Leys, and so used in Domesd.

Libel, (Libellus) Signifies literally a little Book; but by Use, it is the original Declaration of any Action in the Civil Law. 1 Hen. 5. cap. 3. 2 Ed. 6. c. 13. It signifieth also a scandalous Report of any Man spread abroad, or otherwise unlawfully published, and then called Famosus Libellus, an infamous Libel: And this is either in Scriptis, aut sine Scriptis; in Scriptis is when any Writing is composed or published to another's Disgrace, &c. And sine Scriptis, where the Person is painted in a shameful Manner, with a Fool's Coat, Asses Ears, &c. or a Gallows, or other ignominious Sign is fixed at his Door. 3 Inst. 174. Seneca calls defamatory Libels Contumeliosi Libelli, and Brazen Carmina Famosa; contumelious Libels, and infamous Rhimes, which flow from Malice; and the Romans would not permit their Lives and Fame to be subject to the Injury and Scandal of Poets; for they made an Ordinance, that whosoever should presume to compose any such Verses, were to be punished with Death. Treat. of Laws 75. 'Tis observed in our Law, that a Libel is the greatest Degree of Scandal, and does not die like Words which may be forgot, an Action for which is confined to the Person; but the Cause of Action for Scandal in a Libel survives. 5 Rep. 125. A Libel in a strict Sense is a malicious Aspersion of another, expressed in Printing or Writing; and tending either to blacken the Memory of one who is dead, or the Reputation of one that is alive, and to expose him to publick Hatred, Contempt, or Ridicule: But in a larger Signification, it may be applied to any Defamation whatsoever. Ibid. 121. All Libels are made against private Men, or Magistrates, and publick Persons; and those against Magistrates deserve the greatest Punishment: If a Libel be made against a private Man, it may excite the Person libelled, or his Friends, to revenge and break the Peace; and if against a Magistrate, it is not only a Breach of the Peace, but a Scandal to the Government, and stirs up Sedition. Ibid. And although a private Person or Magistrate be dead at the Time of Making the Libel, yet it is punishable; as it has a Tendency to the Breach of the Peace. Hob. 215. And with Regard to this Consideration, it is far from being a Justification of a Libel, that the Contents thereof are true, or that the Person upon whom made had a bad Reputation; since the greater Appearance there is of Truth in any malicious Investive, so much the more provoking it is. 5 Rep. 125. Moor 627. It is not material whether the Matter be true or false, if the Prosecution be by Information or Indictment; but in Action on the Case, one may justify that the Matter is true. 5 Rep. 125. Hob. 253. When any Man finds a Libel, if it be against a private Person, he ought to burn it, or deliver it to a Magistrate; and where it concerns a Magistrate, he should deliver it presently to a Magistrate. Ibid. If a Libel be found in a House, the Master cannot be punished for Framing, Printing and Publishing it; but it is said he may be indicted for having it, and not delivering it to a Magistrate. 1 Vent. 31. If a Printer print a Libel against a private Person, he may be indicted and punished for it; and so he may who prints a Libel against a Magistrate, and much more one who does it against the King and State: Nor can a Person in such a Case excuse himself by saying they were dying Speeches, or the Words of dying Men; for a Man may at his Death justify his Villany; and he who publishes it is punishable: And it is no Excuse for the Printing or Publishing a Libel, to say that he did it in the Way of Trade, or to maintain his Family. State Trials, 1 Vol. 982, 986. Also if Bookfellers, &c. publish or sell Libels, though they know not the Contents of them, they are punishable. It has been resolved, that where Persons write, print, or sell, any Pamphlets, scandalizing the Publick, or any private Persons, Persons, such libellous Books may be seized, and the Persons punished by Law; and all Persons exposing any Books to Sale, reflecting on the Government, may be punished: Also Writers of News, though not scandalous, seditious, or reflecting on the Government, if they write false News, are indictable and punishable. State Trials, 2 Vol. 477. One was indicted for a Libel in scandalizing the King's Witnesses, and reflecting on the Justice of the Nation, and had Judgment of Pillory and Fine. Ibid. 3 Vol. 50. A Person for libelling the Lord Chancellor Bacon, affirming that he had done Injustice, and other scandalous Matter, was sentenced to pay 1000*l.* Fine, to ride on a Horse with his Face to the Tail from the Fleet to Westminster, with his Fault written on his Head, to acknowledge his Offence in all the Courts at Westminster, stand in the Pillory, and that one of his Ears should be cut off at Westminster, and the other in Cheapside, and to suffer Imprisonment during Life. Popb. 135. One who exhibited a Libel against a Lord Chief Justice, directed to the King, calling the Chief Justice, Traitor, perjured Judge, &c. had Judgment to stand in the Pillory, was fined 1000 Marks, and bound to the Good Behaviour during Life. Cro. Car. 125. The Petition of the Seven Bishops in the Reign of King James 2. against the King's Declaration, setting forth, that it was founded on a dispensing Power, which had been declared illegal in Parliament, &c. was called a seditious Libel against the King; and they refusing to give Recognizances to appear in B. R. were committed to the Tower; but being after tried at Bar, were acquitted. 3 Mod. 212. The Printing of a Petition to a Committee of Parliament, (which would be a Libel against the Party complained of, were it made for any other Purpose) and delivering Copies thereof to the Members of the Committee, is not the Publication of a Libel, being justified by the Order and Course of Proceedings in Parliament. 1 Hawk. P. C. 196. And scandalous Matter in legal Proceedings by Bill, Petition, &c. in a Court of Justice, amounts not to a Libel, if the Court hath Jurisdiction of the Cause. Dyer 285. 4 Rep. 14. But he who delivers a Paper full of Reflections on any Person, in Nature of a Petition to a Committee, to any other Persons except the Members of Parliament who have to do with it, may be punished as the Publisher of a Libel. 1 Hawk. 196. And by the better Opinion, a Person cannot justify the Printing any Papers which import a Crime in another, to instruct Counsel, &c. but it will be a Libel. Sid. 414. Sending an abusive Letter to one, without publishing it to others, is no Libel; but if it be sent to a third Person, or any Ways dispersed, it is a Publication of the Libel: And though sending a scandalous Letter to the Party himself is not a Libel, nor can any Action be brought upon it, because it is no Publication; yet it is an high Offence. 12 Rep. 34. 1 Lew. 139. 2 Brownl. 157. It is an Offence against the King's Peace, punishable by Indictment; and if Copies of it are afterwards dispersed, it aggravates the Crime, or rather makes it a new Crime, for which the Party may have an Action. Popb. 35. Hob. 62. Writing a Letter to a Man, and abusing him for his publick Charities, &c. is a libellous Act, punishable by Indictment. Hob. 215. And a private Libel, for a private Matter, as a Letter scandalizing a Person courting a Woman, is indictable, and fineable to the King. Sid. 270. No Writing is esteemed a Libel, unless it reflect upon some particular Person; and a Writing full of obscene Ribaldry, is not punishable by any Prosecution at Common Law; but the Author may be bound to the Good Behaviour, as a Person of evil Fame. 1 Hawk. 195. Where a Writing inveighs against Mankind in general, or against a particular Order of Men, this is no Libel; it must descend to Particulars and Individuals, to make it a Libel. Trin. 11 W. 3. B. R. But a general Reflection on the Government is a Libel, though no particular Person is reflected on: And the Writing against a known Law is held to be criminal. State Trials, 4 Vol. 672, 903. According to Holt C. Just. scandalous Matter is not necessary to make a Libel; it is enough if the Defendant induces an ill Opinion to be had of the Plaintiff, &c. And if a Man speak scandalous Words, unless they are put in Writing, he is not guilty of a Libel; for the Nature of a Libel consisteth in putting the infamous Matter into Writing. 2 Salk. 417. 3 Salk. 226. A defamatory Writing, expressing only one or two Letters of a Man's Name, if it be in such a Manner that from what goes before and follows after, it must be understood by the natural Construction of the Whole, to signify and point at such a particular Person, is as properly a Libel as if the whole Name were expressed at large. Trin. 12 Ann. 1 Hawk. 194. Printing or Writing may be libellous, though the Scandal is not charged directly, but obliquely and ironically; and where a Writing pretends to recommend to one the Characters of several great Men for his Imitation, instead of taking Notice of what they are generally famous for, pitches on such Qualities only which their Enemies charge them with the Want of; as by proposing such a one to be imitated for his Learning, who is known to be a good Soldier, but an illiterate, &c. this will amount to a Libel. Ibid. In the making of Libels, if one Man dictates, and another writes a Libel, both are guilty; for the Writing after another shews his Approbation of what is contained in the Libel; and the first Reducing a Libel into Writing may be said to be the Making it, but not the Composing: If one repeats, another writes, and a third approves what is written; they are all Makers of the Libel; because all Persons who concur to an unlawful Act are guilty. 5 Mod. 167. The Making a Libel is the Genus; and Composing and Contriving is one Species; Writing, a second Species; and procuring to be written, a Third; and one may be found guilty of Writing only, &c. 2 Salk. 419. If one writes a Copy of a Libel, and does not deliver it to others, the Writing is no Publication: But it has been adjudged, that the Copying a Libel, without Authority, is Writing a Libel, and he that thus writes it, is a Contriver; and that he who hath a written Copy of a known Libel, if it is found upon him, this shall be Evidence of the Publication; but if such Libel be not publicly known, then the bare having a Copy is not a Publication. 2 Salk. 417. 2 Nels. Abr. 1122. Writing a Copy of a Libel is Writing of a Libel, as it has the same pernicious Consequence; and if the Law were otherwise, Men might write Copies, and print them with Impunity. 2 Salk. 419. And when a Libel appears under a Man's own Hand-writing, and no Author is known, he is taken in the Manner, and it turns the Proof upon him; and if he cannot produce the Composer, it is hard to find that he is not the very Man. Ibid. If one reads a Libel, or hears it read, and laughs at it, it is not a Publishing; for before he reads or hears it read, he cannot know it to be a Libel: Though if he afterwards reads or repeats it, or any Part thereof, in the Hearing of others, it is a Publication of it; yet if Part of it be repeated in Mirth, without any malicious Purpose of Defamation, it is said to be no Offence. 9 Rep. 59. Moor 862. Every one convicted of Publishing a Libel, ought to be esteemed the Contriver or Procurer: The Procurer and Writer of a Libel have been held to be both Contrivers; also the Procuring another to publish it, and the Publisher, are both Publishers: And the Contriver, Procurer, and Publisher of a Libel, are punishable by Fine, Imprisonment, Pillory, or other corporal Punishment, at the Discretion of the Court, according to the Heinousness of the Crime, &c. Moor 627. 5 Rep. 125. 3 Insh. 174. 3 Cro. 17. In Informations and Law Proceedings there are two Ways of describing a Libel, by the Sense, and by the Words;

Words; the first is cujus Tenor sequitur, and the second Quæ sequitur in hæc Anglicana verba, &c. in which the Description is by particular Words, and whereof every Word is a Mark, so that if there is any Variance, it is fatal; in the other Description by the Sense, it is not material to be very exact in the Words, because the Matter is described by the Sense of them. 2 Salk. 660. One great Intention of the Law in prohibiting Libels against Persons, is to restrain Men from endeavouring to make themselves their own Judges of Complaints, and to oblige them to refer the Decision thereof to the Law, &c.

Libel, in the Spiritual Court. If upon a Libel for any Ecclesiastical Matter, the Defendant make a Surmise in B. R. to have a Prohibition, and such Surmise be insufficient, the other Party may shew it to the Court, and the Judges will discharge it. 1 Leon. 10, 128. This Libel used in Ecclesiastical Proceedings, consists of three Parts. 1. The major Proposition, which shews a just Cause of the Petition. 2. The Narration or minor Proposition. 3. The Conclusion, or conclusive Petition, which conjoins both Propositions, &c. and the Form of it is as follows: In the Name of God, Amen, Before you the Worshipful T. F. Doctor of Laws, Principal Official of the Consistory Court of York, &c. The Party C. D. against A. B. alledgeth, complaineth, and propoundeth, &c. Imprimis, he doth propound, that the said C. D. was and is a Man very honest, just and upright, of good Fame, Life and Conversation, aspersed or defamed with no Crime, except what is afterwards mentioned; and is commonly reputed and esteemed as such, &c. Item, That notwithstanding the Premises, the said A. B. out of a malign Spirit, in the Month of, &c. in this present Year 1734, within the Parish of, &c. maliciously, and with an Intent of defaming and injuring the said C. D. hath defamed and injured him, and said some reproachful and defamatory Words of and against him the said C. D. and especially these Words following, viz. That, &c. (here set forth the Words) and the Party doth propound and Article, as to such Time and Manner of speaking the Words, &c. Wherefore, Proof being made in and upon the Premises, the Party C. D. doth request and petition that the said A. B. for such his Rashness, may be corrected and punished; and also that he may be condemned in Charges, made in this Cause on the Behalf of the said C. D. &c. (or to disown the said defamatory Words, &c.) or otherwise that Right and Justice may be administered, &c.

Libera Batella, Signifies a free Boat. — Per Liberam Batellam, hoc est, habere unam Cymbam ad Piscand. subter Pontem Cestriæ, &c. & ibidem cum omni genere retium. Plac. in Itin. apud Cestriam. 14 H. 7.

Libera Chasca habenda, Is a judicial Writ granted to a Person for a free Chase belonging to his Manor; after Proof made by Inquiry of a Jury, that the same of Right belongs to him. Reg. Orig. 36.

Libera Piscaria, A Free Fishery, which being granted to one, he hath a Property in the Fish, &c. 2 Salk. 637. See Fishing.

Libet Taurus, A free Bull. Compertum per Jur. quod Will. de H. fuit seistus de Libero Tauro habendo in, &c. Ideo Consideratum est, quod prædictus Will. recuperet damna sua quæ taxantur per Jur. ad ius. pro imparcatione ejusdem Tauri, &c. Norf. 16 Ed. 1.

Liberate, Is a Writ that lies for the Payment of a yearly Pension, or Sum of Money granted under the Great Seal, and directed to the Treasurer and Chamberlains of the Exchequer, &c. for that Purpose. In another Sense it is a Writ to the Sheriff of a County, for the Delivery of Possession of Lands and Goods extended, or taken upon the Forfeiture of a Recognizance. Also a Writ issuing out of the Chancery directed to a Gaoler for Delivery of a Prisoner that hath put in Bail for his Appearance. F. N. B. 132.

4 Inst. 116. This Writ is most commonly used for Delivery of Goods, &c. on an Extent; and by the Extent the Conusee of a Recognizance hath not any absolute Interest in the Goods, until the Liberate. 2 Lill. 169. It has been adjudged, that where an Extent is upon a Statute-Merchant, there needs no Liberate, for the Sheriff may deliver all in Execution without it; but where an Extent is upon a Statute Staple, or a Recognizance, there must be a Return made of such an Extent, and then a Liberate before there can be a Delivery in Execution. 3 Salk. 159. See Extent.

Liberatio, Is taken for Money, Meat, Drink, Clothes, &c. yearly given and delivered by the Lord to his Domestick Servants. Blount.

Libertate probanda, Is an ancient Writ that lay for such as being demanded for Villeins offered to prove themselves free; directed to the Sheriff that he should take Security of them for the Proving of their Freedom before the Justices of Assize, and that in the mean Time they should be unmolested. F. N. B. 77. Villenage, and the Appendixes thereof, viz. Writs De nativo habendo, Libertate probanda, &c. were of old great Titles in the Books of the Law, but are now antiquated.

Libertatibus allocandis, A Writ lying for a Citizen or Burgefs, impleaded contrary to his Liberty, to have his Privilege allowed. Reg. Orig. 262. And if any do claim a special Liberty to be impleaded within a City or Borough, and not elsewhere, there may be a special Writ de Libertatibus allocandis, to permit the Burgefses to use their Liberties, &c. These Writs are of several Forms, and may be used by a Corporation, or by any single Person, as the Case shall happen New Nat. Br. 509, 510. The Barons of the Cinque Ports, &c. may sue forth such Writs, if they are delayed to have their Liberties allowed them. Ibid.

Libertatibus exigendis in Itinere, An ancient Writ whereby the King commands the Justices in Eyre to admit of an Attorney for the Defence of another Man's Liberty. Reg. Orig. 19.

Libertas Ecclesiastica, Church Liberty, is a frequent Phrase in old Writers who treat of Ecclesiastical Immunities. The Right of Investiture, extorted from our Kings by the Papal Power, was at first the only Thing challenged by the Clergy as their Libertas Ecclesiastica; but by Degrees under the Title of Church Liberty, they contended for a Freedom of their Persons and Possessions from all secular Power and Jurisdiction, as appears by the Canons and Decrees of the Councils held by Boniface, Archbishop of Canterbury, at Merton, Anno 1258. And at London, A. D. 1260, &c.

Liberty, (Libertas) Is a Privilege held by Grant or Prescription, by which Men enjoy some Benefit beyond the ordinary Subject. Braë. But in a more general Signification; it is said to be a Power to do as one thinks fit; unless restrained by the Law of the Land: And it is well observed, that human Nature is ever an Advocate for this Liberty; it being the Gift of God to Man in his Creation, and therefore every Thing is desirous of it, as a Sort of Restitution to it's Primitive State. Fortescue 96. 'Tis upon that Account the Laws of England in all Cases favour Liberty, and which is counted very precious, not only in Respect of the Profit which every one obtains by his Liberty; but also in Respect of the Publick. 2 Lill. Abr. 169. The People of this Kingdom, are to enjoy their ancient Liberties, without Impeachment, by the Statute of Magna Charta. No Freeman shall be imprisoned or condemned, without Trial by his Peers, or the Law. Magn. Chart. c. 19. Likewise no Person is to be arrested, &c. without Process at Law: And Matters which concern Liberty are to be speedily determined, &c.

Liberty

Liberty to hold Pleas. Signifies to have a Court of one's own; and to hold it before a Mayor, Bailiff, &c. See Francife.

Libtatum, The Manner of Bewitching any Person; also a barbarous Sacrifice. Leg. Atbelstan. 6.

Libra pensæ, A Pound of Money in Weight: In former Times, it was usual not only to tell the Money, but to weigh it; for besides the King, several Cities and Places, and some Noblemen, had their Mints and the Coinage of Money, which being often very bad, therefore although the Pound consisted of 20 s. as now, they weighed it notwithstanding. Gale's Hist. Britan. 761. We read in Domesday Register, reddidit nunc trigint. Libras arfas & pensatas; and that sometimes People took their Money ad Numerum, by Tale, in the current Coin upon Content; and sometimes they rejected the common Coin by Tale, and would melt it down to take it by Weight ad Scalam, when purified from the Dross, and too great Alloy; for which Purpose they had in those Days always a Fire ready in the Exchequer to burn the Money and then weigh it. Domesd.

Library, Where a Library is erected in any Parish, it shall be preserved for the Uses directed by the Founder: And Incumbents and Ministers of Parishes, &c. are to give Security therefore, and make Catalogues of the Books, &c. None of the Books shall be alienable, without Consent of the Bishop, and then only where there is a Duplicate of such Books: If any Book shall be taken away and detained, a Justice's Warrant may be issued to search for and restore the same: Also Action of Trover may be brought in the Name of the proper Ordinary, &c. And Bishops have Power to make Rules and Orders concerning Librarians, appoint Persons to view their Condition, and inquire of the State of them in their Visitations. Stat. 7 Ann. cap. 14.

Librata terra, Is a Quantity of Land containing four Oxgangs: But some say it is so much Ground only as is worth yearly 20 s. of current Money. Skene. See Fardingdeal.

Licence, (Licentia) Is a Power or Authority given to a Man to do some lawful Act: And is a personal Liberty to the Party to whom given, which cannot be transferred over; but it may be made to a Man, or his Assigns, &c. 12 H. 7. 25. There may be a parcel Licence, as well as by Deed in Writing; but if it be not for a certain Time, it passes no Interest. 2 Nelf. Abr. 1123. And if there be no Time certain in the Licence; as if a Man license another to dig Clay, &c. in his Land, but doth not say for how long, the Licence may be countermanded; though if it be until such a Time, he cannot. Poph. 151. If a Lessor licenses his Lessee (who is restrained by Covenant from aliening without Licence) to alien, and such Lessor dies before he aliens, this is no Countermand of the Licence: So it is if the Lessor grants over his Estate. Cro. Jac. 103. But where a Lord of a Manor for Life granteth a Licence to a Copyhold Tenant to alien, and dieth; the Licence is destroyed, and the Power of Alienation ceaseth. 1 Inst. 52. Copyhold Tenants leasing their Copyhold for a longer Time than one Year, are to have a Licence for it; or they incur a Forfeiture of their Estates. 1 Inst. 63. If any Licence is given to a Person, and he abuses it, he shall be adjudged a Trespasser ab initio. 8-Rep. 146. A grants to B a Way over his Ground, or Licence to go through it to Church, by this none but B. himself may go in it: But if one give me Licence to go over his Land with my Plough, or to cut down a Tree therein, and take it away; by this, I may take what Help is needful to do the same. So if it be to hunt and kill and carry away Deer; not if it be to hunt and kill only. 12 H. 7. 25. 13 H. 7. 8 Co. Rep. 146. By Licence a Man may practice Physick and Surgery in London; and do divers other Things, by Statute 3 H. 8. c. 7. &c.

Licence to alien in Mortmain. Alienations in Mortmain to Ecclesiastical Persons, &c. are restrained by several Statutes; but the King may grant Licences to any Person or Bodies Politick, &c. to alien or hold Lands in Mortmain. 27 Ed. 1. 7 & 8. W. 3. c. 37. See Mortmain.

Licence to arise, (Licentia surgendi) Is a Liberty or Space of Time given by the Court to a Tenant to arise out of his Bed, who is effoined de malo lecti in a real Action: And it is also the Writ thereupon. Bracton. And the Law in this Case is, that the Tenant may not arise or go out of his Chamber, until he hath been viewed by Knights thereto appointed, and hath a Day assigned him to appear: the Reason whereof is, that it may be known, whether he caused himself to be effoined deceitfully, or not; and if the Demandant can prove that he was seen abroad before the View or Licence of the Court, he shall be taken to be deceitfully effoined, and to have made Default. Bracton, lib. 5. Fleta, lib. 6. cap. 10.

Licence to found a Church, granted by the King. See Church.

Licence to go to Election of Bishops is by Congre de' Esire directed to the Dean and Chapter to elect the Person named by the King, &c. Reg. Writs 294. Stat. 25 H. 8. c. 20.

Licence of the King to go beyond Sea, may be revoked before the Time expires, because it concerns the publick Good. Jenk. Cent. See Ne exeat Regnum.

Licence of Marriage. Bishops have Power to grant Licences for the Marrying of Persons; and Parsons marrying any Person without Publishing the Banns of Matrimony, or without Licence, incur a Forfeiture of 100 l. &c. by Statute 7 & 8 W. 3. cap. 35.

Licence to erect a Park, Warren, &c. See Park and Warren.

Licentia concordandi, Is that Licence for which the King's Silver is paid on passing a Fine, mentioned in the Statute 12 Car. 2. c. 12.

Licentia Transfretandi, Is a Writ or Warrant directed to the Keeper of the Port of Dover, or other Sea Port, commanding them to let such Persons pass over Sea, who have obtained the King's Licence thereunto. Reg. Orig. 193.

Isford Law, Is a proverbial Speech, intending as much as to hang a Man first, and judge him afterwards.

Liege, (Ligens) Is used for Liege Lord, and sometimes for Liege Man: Liege Lord is he that acknowledgeth no Superior; and Liege Man is he which oweth Allegiance to his Liege Lord. 34 & 35 H. 8. The King's Subjects are called Liege People, because they owe and are bound to pay Allegiance to him. Stat. 8 H. 6. c. 10. 14 H. 8. c. 2. But in ancient Times, private Persons, as Lords of Manors, &c. had their Lieges. Skene saith, that this Word is derived from the Ital. Liga, a Bond or League; others derive it from Litis, which is a Man wholly at the Command of the Lord. Blount.

Ligeance, (Ligeantia) Is the true and faithful Obedience of a Subject to his Sovereign: And is also applied to the Territory and Dominion of the liege Lord; as Children born out of the Ligeance of the King, &c. Stat. 25 Ed. 3. Co. Litt 129.

Ligeance, (Ligeantia) Is such a Duty or Fealty, as no Man may owe or bear to more than one Lord; and therefore it is used for that Duty and Allegiance, which every good Subject oweth to his liege Lord the King: It has been thus defined, Ligeantia est Vinculum arctius inter Subditum & Regem utroque invicem connectens; hunc ad Protectionem & justum regimen, gimen, illos ad Tributa & debitam subjectionem. As there is a mutual Connection of Dominion and Fidelity between Lords and Tenants, so there is a higher and greater Connection between the King and Subject: For the Subject oweth to the King his faithful Obedience, and ought to prefer the Service of his Prince and Country before the Safety of his Life; and the Sovereign is to protect and defend his Subjects. Forfeiture. See Allegiance.

Lien, (Fr.) Is a Word used in the Law, of two Significations: Personal Lien, such as a Bond, Covenant or Contract; and Real Lien, a Judgment, Statute, Recognizance, which oblige and affect the Land. Terms de Ley 427.

Lieu, Instead or in Place of another Thing. Lit. Dig. And when one Thing doth come in the Place of another, it shall be of the same Nature as that was; as in Case of an Exchange, &c. 2 Step. Abr. 359.

Lieu conus, In Law Proceedings, signifies a Castle, Manor, or other notorious Place, well known and generally taken Notice of by those that dwell about it. 2 Lill. Abr. 641. A Venire facias, for a Jury to appear, may be from a Lieu Conus: And a Fine or Recovery of Lands in a Lieu Conus, is good; but it is said in a Scire fac. to have Execution of such Fine, the Vill or Parish must be named. 2 Cro. 574. 2 Mod. Rep. 48, 49.

Lieutenant, (Locum tenens) Is the King's Deputy, or he that exercises the King's or any Other's Place, and represents his Person; as the Lieutenant of Ireland. Stat. 4 Hen. 4. c. 6. and 2 & 3 Ed. 6. c. 2. The Lieutenant of the Ordnance. 39 Eliz. cap. 7. And the Lieutenant of the Tower, an Officer under the Constable, &c. And the Word Lieutenant is used for a military Officer, next in Command to the Captain.

Life, (Vita) Is common Nature; and the Life of every Man is under the Protection of the Law. Wood's Inst. 11. A Lease made to a Person during Life, is determinable by a civil Death; but if it be to hold during natural Life, it will be otherwise. 2 Rep. 48.

Life-Rent, A Rent which a Man receives for Term of Life, or for Sustainment of it. Skene.

Lighter-men, Are those that carry away by Water, Dung and Rubbish, or Coals, &c. in Lighters, from the City of London. 22 & 23 Car. 2.

Light-house. A useful Light to be placed in a Light house erected on the Edystone, by the Master, Wardens and Assistants of Trinity-house of Leppford-Strond; and Masters of Ships passing by the same, are to pay a certain Tonnage Duty, &c. Stat. 4 & 5 Ann. The like Act concerning the Light-house built by William Treuch, Esq; on the Island or Rock called Sherries, near Holyhead in the County of Anglesea. 3 Geo. 2. cap. 36.

Lights. Stopping Lights of a House is a Nuisance; but stopping a Prospect is not, being only Matter of Delight, not of Necessity: And a Person may have either an Affise of Nuisance against the Person erecting any such Nuisance, or he may stand on his own Ground and abate it. 9 Rep. 58. 1 Mod. 54. If a Man has a vacant Piece of Ground, and builds thereupon a House, with good Lights, which he sells or lets to another; and after he builds upon Ground contiguous, or lets the same to another Person, who builds thereupon to the Nuisance of the Lights of the first House, the Lessee of the first House may have an Action of the Case against such Builder, &c. And though formerly they were to be Lights of an ancient Messuage, that is now altered. Mod. Ca. 116, 314.

Lignagium, Signifies the Right which a Man hath to the cutting of Fuel in Woods; and sometimes it is taken for a Tribute or Payment due for the same.

Lignum Vitæ, An Apothecary's Drug, of great Price. Lignum vita of the Product of the British Plantations in America may be imported free from all Customs and Impositions. Stat. 1 Geo. 1. c. 17.

Ligula, A Copy or Transcript of a Court-Roll or Deed; mentioned by Sir John Maynard in his Mem. in Scaccar. 12 Ed. 1.

Limitation, (Limitatio) Is a certain Time assign'd by Statute, within which an Action must be brought: And Limitation of Time is two-fold, viz. To make Title to an Inheritance by the Common Law; and in Writs, by several Statutes. 1 Inst. 115. There is a Limitation in Real and Personal Actions; and in the former, he that will sue for any Lands or Hereditaments, ought to prove that he or his Ancestors were seized of the Lands sued for by Writ of Affise, or he cannot maintain his Action: And this is called Limitation of Affise. F. N. B. 77. Stat. West. 1. c. 38. The Seisin of one's Ancestor in a Writ of Right, was formerly to be from the Time of King R. 1. In Affise of Novel Disseisin from Hen. 3d's Voyage into Gascoign; and in a Mortdancestor, Writ of Aiel, &c. from the Coronation of King H. 3. by 3 Ed. 1. c. 39. No Person shall have any Writ of Right, or make any Title or Claim to any Lands, &c. of the Possession of his Ancestors, but of a Seisin within sixty Years, next before the Teste of the Writ, &c. In Affise of Mortdancestor, Writ of Entry sur Disseisin, or rather possessory Action, upon the Possession of an Ancestor, it must be within fifty Years; and upon the Party's own Possession, within thirty Years, and the Plaintiff is barred, not proving such Possession, &c. 32 H. 8. c. 2. This Statute extends not to a Writ of Right of Adowson, &c. by Stat. 1 M. c. 5. The 21 Jac. 1. c. 16. ordains, that all Writs of Formedon, &c. for Title to Lands in Essfe, shall be sued and prosecuted within twenty Years after the Title had: But there is a Proviso in the Statutes, to relieve Infants, Feme Coverts, Persons beyond Sea or in Prison, and the Heirs of such Persons, so as they commence their Suits within the Times limited after their Impediments are removed. It has been held, that the Act 32 H. 8. doth not extend to Rent or Services, &c. out of Land: And one that hath been out of Possession for sixty Years, if his Entry is not taken away, may enter and bring his Action for his own Possession. Wood's Inst. 557. If a Man hath been in Possession twenty Years, without Interruption, and afterwards another gets into Possession, he may bring an Ejectment; because twenty Years Possession is a good Title in him to maintain Action of Ejectment, as if he had at that Time been actually possessed: Though if the Plaintiff be out of Possession more than twenty Years, where there is an Actual Disseisin, and not a Disseisin by Perception of Profits, &c. only, he is barred by the Statute of Limitations. 2 Salk. 421, 423. By Statute, Actions of Debt, Actions upon the Case, (except for Words) Actions of Account (except concerning Merchandise) of Detinue, Trover and Trespass, are to be commenced within six Years after the Cause of Action, and not after; Actions of Assault and Battery, wounding and Imprisonment, within four Years; and for Slander within two Years after the Cause of Action, &c. 21 Jac. 1. c. 16. If these personal Actions are not brought in the Time limited by this Statute, they are barred: And the Statute of Limitations is a good Bar to Suit for Seamen's Wages, if it is well pleaded. Mod. Ca. 26. 4 & 5 Ann. c. 16. The Exception in the Statute of Limitations, as to Action of Accounts, extends to Accounts current only between Merchants; for when an Account is stated and balanced, Debt lies, and the Action must be brought within six Years: The Statute is not pleadable to an Account current, but it is to an Account stated. 1 Mod. 70, 268. 2 Saund. 124.

When

When Money is to be paid as a Trust, it is not within the Statute of Limitations. March 151. 2 Ventr. 345. See 2 P. Williams. Where Debt is brought against a Sheriff for Money levied in Execution of a Judgment, it is not within the Statute; because the Action is brought against the Defendant as an Officer, and the Law creates no Contract. 2 Mod. 213. If the Consideration of a Promise is executory, or Money is to be paid on Request, &c. it is not material when the Promise was made, but when the Cause of Action did arise; and the Defendant ought to plead that Causa Actionis non accrevit infra sex annos, &c. 2 Salk. 422. When Words are actionable in themselves, there Damages shall be recovered according as they were first spoken, if the Action be brought within two Years, as required by the Statute of Limitations; and otherwise the Party will be barred by the Statute: But where the Words are actionable only in respect of the special Damages which happen after the Speaking, in such Case, if the Damage is seven Years afterwards, it is no Bar. Sid. 95. An Action barrable by the Statute, a fresh Promise will revive it. By the Opinion of all the Judges of England, a Promise after the six Years limited brings the Matter out of the Statute of Limitations; and that owing of the Debt does not go so far, but is Evidence of a Promise: But if the Declaration be laid of a Promise to the Testator, Evidence of a Promise to the Executor will not maintain it. Micb. 3 Ann.-Mod. Ca. 309, 310. A Conditional Promise amounts to a Waiver of the Statute, and revives the Debt; and a bare Acknowledgment of the Debt within six Years of the Action, will prevent the Statute of Limitations, though no new Promise was made. Cartbew's Rep. 471. 3 Salk. 228. If a Person who is indebted by Note, or owes a Book Debt, and no Demand has been made of it in six Years, doth publish an Advertisement in the News Papers, that all Debts due from him shall be paid, on the Creditors applying to such a Place. By this, although it be general, (and may be intended of legal subsisting Debts only) a Debt barred by the Statute must be paid: But no Interest shall be allowed on any such Note. Preced. Caus. 385. A Latitat, taken out and filed, and continued, is an Avoidance of the Statute; for it is a Demand, and a good Bringing of an Action within the Time mentioned by the Statute of Limitations. 3 Salk. 229. 1 Lill. Abr. 19. If after Proceedings in an inferior Court the six Years expire, and then the Cause is removed into B. R. the Plaintiff may set forth the Suit below, and aver that to be within six Years, &c. and thereby prevent the Bar of the Statute. Sid. 228. 2 Salk. 424. If a Plaintiff is beyond Sea when the Cause of Action doth accrue, he shall have Liberty at his Return to bring it; but if the Defendant is beyond Sea, and the Plaintiff here, he ought to file an Original against the Defendant, and continue it till he returns; and if he do not file an Original, or outlaw the Defendant, the Statute of Limitations will bar him. 2 Salk. 420. This Law is altered by a late Statute; for now when the Defendant is beyond Sea, the Plaintiff may bring his Action against him after his Return, so as he do it within the Time limited by the Statute. 4 & 5 Ann. c. 16. Where one sues an original Writ, a Latitat in B. R. or Clausum fregit in the Common Pleas, and does not return the Writ, it will not avoid the Statute of Limitations; for it must be shewn that the Writ was returned. 2 Ld. Raym. 883. Though it appears by the Plaintiff's Declaration, the Cause of Action accrued more than six Years before, &c. Yet the Statute in that Case, and all others must be pleaded; because it may be the Original was sued within the Time limited, after the Cause of Action, and the Plaintiff should have an Opportunity to reply such Matter. Ibid. 838. A Defendant in an Action of the Case for Goods sold, &c. pleaded Non Assumpsit infra sex Annos: The Plaintiff replied, that from the Time of the Promise to such a Day, the Defendant was a Member of Parliament, and then the Civil Wars began, and continued till such a Day, and that he brought his Action within six Years after the War ended, &c. On a Demurrer, the Replication was adjudged ill; and it was held that the Plaintiff ought to have filed an Original, which is no Breach of Privilege. Cartbew 137. But see Stat. 2 Ann. under Parliament. The King is not within the general Acts of Limitation; nor Ecclesiastical Persons, for Lands belonging to their Churches. 11 Rep. 74.

Limitation of Estate, In a legal Sense, imports how long the Estate shall continue, or is rather a Qualification of a precedent Estate. A Limitation is generally by such Words as Durante Vita, Quamdiu, Dem, &c. And if there be not a Performance according to the Limitation, it shall determine an Estate without Entry or Claim; which a Condition doth not. 10 Rep. 41. 1 Inst. 204. It is taken for the Compass and Time of an Estate: As where one doth give Lands to a Man, to hold to him and his Heirs Male, and to him and the Heirs Female, &c. here the Daughters shall not have any Thing in it, so long as there is a Male, for the Estate to the Heirs Male is first limited. Co. Lit. 3, 13. If a Limitation of an Estate be uncertain, the Limitation is void; and the Estate shall remain as if there had been no such Limitation. Cro. Eliz. 216. But a Thing that is limited in a Will by plain Words, shall not be afterwards made uncertain by general Words which follow it. Hill. 23 Car. B. R. Where a Devise is to the eldest Son, upon Condition that he pays such Legacies; and if he refuses, the Land shall remain to the Legatees: On his Refusal the Legatees may enter by way of Limitation. Noy 51. And in all Cases, where after a Condition, an Interest is granted to a Stranger, it is a Limitation. 1 Leon. 269. Cro. Eliz. 204. It was held by Holt, C. J. that the Statute de Donis 13 Ed. 1. ought not to be taken strictly; but all Limitations within the Meaning of it are to be supported: And therefore Words of an express Condition be not ordinarily construed as a Limitation; yet when an Estate is to remain over for Breach of any Condition, which is by the express Words thereof, it should be intended a Limitation. Trin. 4 Ann. Lands may be given and limited to one in Tail, Remainder to another, Remainder in Fee, &c. Though a Limitation of an Estate cannot begin after the Determination of an absolute Estate in Fee-simple; for that would be to suffer Perpetuities to be made, which the Law abhors. 2 Lill. Abr. 173. Limitations of Estates against Law, creating a new Form of Inheritance, will not be suffered to take Effect. Jenk. Cent. 82.

Limitation of the Crown. The Statutes 1 W. & M. c. 8. 12 W. 3. c. 2. and 1 & 2 Ann. c. 17. 4 Ann. c. 8. &c. are Acts for the Limitation of the Crown, and settling it on Protestant Heirs in the House of Hanover. See Crown.

Lincoln's Inn fields, to be inclosed by Trustees, who may employ Artificers, &c. And Yearly Rates shall be made on all Houses there, not exceeding 2s. 6d. in the Pound: This Square and back Streets are to be a distinct Ward, as to the Scavengers Rates and Watch; and Persons annoying the Fields by Filth, to forfeit 20s. and assembling to use Sports, or breaking Fences, &c. incurs a Forfeiture of 40s. levied by Justice of Peace's Warrant. Stat. 8 Geo. 2. c. 26.

Lindestern,

Lindesfern, A Place often mentioned in our ancient Histories; being formerly a Bishop's See, now Holy Island.

Linen. No Person shall put to Sale any Piece of Doulas Linen, &c. unless the just Length be expressed thereon, on Pain to forfeit the same. 28 H. 8. c. 4. Using Means whereby Linen Cloth shall be made deceitfully, incurs a Forfeiture of the Linen, and a Month's Imprisonment. Stat. 1 Eliz. c. 12. Any Persons may set up Trades of dressing Hemp or Flax, and making Thread for Linen Cloth, &c. 15 Car. 2. c. 15. And Linen of all Sorts made of Flax or Hemp, of the Manufacture of this Kingdom may be exported Duty-free. 3 Geo. 1. c. 7. Linen made in Great Britain and Ireland being much improved, to extend it farther, a Bounty of one Penny for every Yard of such Linens from 6d. to 12d. per Yard, and a Half penny for each Yard, under 6d. Price, is granted on Exporting them; payable out of a Duty laid on foreign Cambricks, by 15 Geo. 2. cap. 29. Stealing of Linen, &c. from Whitening Grounds or Drying Houses, to the Value of 10s. is Felony. See Felony. Stat. 4 Geo. 2. c. 16. By the Stat. 17 Geo. 2. c. 30. Affixing on foreign Linens any Stamp put upon Scotch or Irish Linens, or Affixing a counterfeit Stamp on British or Irish Linens, incurs a Penalty of 5l. By the Stat. 18 Geo. 2. c. 24. for the Exportation of foreign Linens under the Denomination of British or Irish Linens. The Stamp Master is to be sworn to the true Execution of his Office; and Linens to be stamp'd, must be sworn to be the Manufacture of Scotland or Ireland, and a Penalty of 5l. each Piece is laid on false Stamps. And by the Stat. 18 Geo. 2. c. 25. an additional Bounty is allowed on the Exportation of British and Irish Linens of one Half penny per Yard for Linens of the Value of from 5d. to 12d. per Yard, and 1d. per Yard for Linens of the Value of from 12d. to 1s. 6d. per Yard.

Linsced. All Persons may import Linsced into this Kingdom, without paying any Custom for it. Stat. 3 Geo. 1.

Literatura, Ad Literaturam ponere, signifies to put Children out to School; which Liberty was anciently denied to those Parents who were servile Tenants, without the Consent of the Lord: And this Prohibition of educating Sons to Learning, was owing to this Reason; for Fear the Son being bred to Letters might enter into Orders, and so stop or divert the Services which he might otherwise do as Heir to his Father.

Litigious. The Litigiousness of a Church, is where several Persons have or pretend to several Titles to the Patronage, and present several Clerks to the Ordinary; it excuses him for refusing to admit any of them, till a Trial of the Right by Jure Patronatus, or otherwise. Jenk. Cent. 11.

Liberty, (Fr. Liberte, i. e. Insigne Gestamen, or Livree, i. e. Tradere) Hath three Significations. In one Sense, it is used for a Suit of Clothes, Cloak, Gown, Hat, &c. which a Nobleman or Gentleman gives to his Servants or Followers, with Cognisance or without; mentioned in the 1 R. 2. c. 7. and divers other Statutes: And formerly great Men gave Liveries to several who were not of their Family, to engage them in their Quarrels for that Year; but afterwards it was ordained, that no Man of any Condition whatsoever, should give any Livery but to his Domesticks, his Officers, or Counsel learned in the Law. By 1 R. 2. it was prohibited on Pain of Imprisonment; and the 1 Hen. 4. c. 7. made the Offenders liable to Ransom at the King's Will, &c. which Statute was farther confirmed and explained, Anno 2 & 7 Hen. 4. and 8 Hen. 6. c. 4. and yet this Offence was so deeply rooted, that Edw. 4. was obliged to confirm the former Statutes, and further to extend the Meaning of them, adding a Penalty of 5l. on every one that gives such Livery, and the like on every one retained for Maintenance either by Writing, Oath, or Promise, for every Month. 8 Ed. 4. c. 2. But most of the above Statutes are repealed by 3 Car. 1. c. 4. Livery in the second Signification, was a Delivery of Possession to those Tenants which held of the King in Capite, or Knights Service; as the King by his Prerogative hath Primer Seisin of all Lands and Tenements so holden of him. Staundf. Prærog. 12. In the third Use, Livery was the Writ which lay for the Heir of Age, to obtain the Possession or Seisin of his Lands at the King's Hands. F. N. B. 155. By the Statute 12 Car. 2. c. 24. All Wardships, Liveries, &c. are taken away.

Liberty of Seisin, (Liberatio Seisina) is a Delivery of Possession of Lands, Tenements and Hereditaments, unto one that hath Right to the same; being a Ceremony in the Common Law used in the Conveyance of Lands, &c. where an Estate of Fee-simple, Fee tail, or other Freehold passeth. Bract. lib. 2. cap. 18. West. Symb. par. 1. lib. 2. And it is a Testimonial of the willing Departing of him who makes the Livery, from the Thing whereof the Livery is made; and of the willing Acceptance of the other Party receiving the Livery; first invented that the common People might have Knowledge of the passing or Alteration of Estates from Man to Man, and thereby be better able to try in whom the Right of Possession of Lands and Tenements were, if the same should be contested, and they should be impanelled on Juries, or otherwise have to do concerning the same. West. Ibid. This Livery may be made of a House, Lands, or any Thing corporeal; but not of incorporeal Things. Where a House and Lands are conveyed, the House is the principal, and the Lands accessory; and there the Livery must be made, and not upon the Land. 2 Rep. 31. 4 Leon. 374. And of Livery and Seisin there are two Kinds; a Livery in Deed, and Livery in Law: Livery in Deed is when the Feoffor taketh the Ring of the Door, &c. and delivereth the same to the Feoffee, in the Name of Seisin. 1 Inst. 48. 6 Rep. 26. And Livery in Deed may be either by Words, and some solemn Act; or by Words without any solemn Act, if the Feoffor and Feoffee are on the Land. Wood's Inst. 237. Livery in Law is when the Feoffor himself being in View of the House or Land, saith to the Feoffee, after Delivery of the Deed, I give to you yonder Land, &c. to you and your Heirs, go into the same and take Possession accordingly; now if the Feoffee enters on the Land, during the Life-time of the Feoffor, it is a good Feoffment and Livery. 1 Inst. 48, 52. If a Deed of Feoffment be delivered upon the Land, in the Name of Seisin of all the Lands, it will be a good Livery and Seisin; but the bare Delivery of a Deed upon the Land, though it may make the Deed, it shall not amount to Livery and Seisin, without those Words. 1 Inst. 52, 181. If one makes a Feoffment to four Persons, and Seisin is delivered to Three of them, in the Name of All; the Estate is vested in all of Them. 3 Rep. 26. And if Lands lie in divers Places in one County, Livery and Seisin in one Parcel in one Place, in the Name of the Rest is sufficient; though if the Lands lie in several Counties, it is otherwise; for then Livery and Seisin must be in every County. Lit. 61. No Person ought to be in the House, or upon the Land, when Livery is made, but the Feoffor and Feoffee; all others are to be removed from it: If the Lessor Feoffor makes Livery and Seisin, the Lessee being upon the Land contradicting it, the Livery is void. Cro. Eliz. 321. A Lessor enfeoffed a Stranger, and came to make Livery and Seisin, the Lessee's Wife being in the House, the Lessor enters, and by Force turns the Wife into the Backside, which was Part of the Land let, and then he makes Livery in the House, in the Name of all the Lands let; as the Woman was remaining all the while upon the Land, and contradicting the Livery, the Livery was held void: But if she had voluntarily gone out of the House, upon Part of the Land; or the Lessor had turned her into the Street, so that she had not been upon any Part of the Land; it had been good. Dalif. Rep. 94. If a Man agrees with me to make a Feoffment upon Condition, and after makes a Charter of Feoffment without any Condition, and then makes Livery and Seisin secundum formam Chartæ, this is absolute without any Condition; for the Livery is not made according to the Agreement, but according to the Charter. 34 Aff. 1. But if a Person enfeoffs another, as a Security for the Payment of Money, and afterwards makes Livery of Seisin to him and his Heirs generally; the Estate hath been holden to be upon Condition, since the Intent of the Parties was not changed, but continued at the Time of the Livery. 1 Inst. 222. And where a Charter of Feoffment is made, and in the Deed there is no Condition; but when the Feoffor would make Livery of Seisin to the Feoffee by Force of the Deed, he expressing the Estate, makes Livery of Seisin upon Condition, the Feoffment is of Force as if it had not been made. Lit. Seis. 359. 2 Danv. Abr. 13. A Man makes a Lease for Years, Remainder to another for Life, in Tail or in Fee: Here Livery and Seisin in Deed must be made to the Lessee for Years; without which nothing passeth to him in Remainder, it being for the Benefit of him in Remainder, and not the Lessee who hath only a Term: And if the Lessee entrench, before Livery and Seisin, made to him, the Livery will be void. Lit. 60. 1 Inst. 49. Wood's Inst. 238. A Lease for Years is granted to A. B. with Remainder to his right Heirs, whereon Livery is made; the Remainder is void, because there is not any Person in esse, who can presently take by the Livery; and every Livery ought to have its Operation presently. 4 Leon. 67. There was a Lease made to a Man and his Wife, and their Daughter, to hold from Michaelmas next, and the Lessor made Livery after Michaelmas; this was adjudg'd good, being made by the Lessor himself; but it had been otherwise; if it had been to be done by Attorney, or if the Lessor had made Livery before Michaelmas. 2 Roll. Rep. 109. Lease for twenty Years to a Man to commence from a Time past; and after the Expiration of the said Term, then to him and his Wife, and their Son, for their Lives, and the longest Liver of them, with a Letter of Attorney to make Livery and Seisin, &c. It is a good Lease for Years, with Remainder for Life, if Livery and Seisin be made by the Attorney at the Time of executing the Lease; but if the Livery and Seisin be made by the Attorney some Time afterwards, in such Case it is said the Livery is void. Door 14. A Man may make a Letter of Attorney to deliver Seisin by Force of the Deed, which may be contained in the same Deed; and a Letter of Attorney may be likewise made to receive Livery and Seisin. 5 Rep. 91. 1 Inst. 49, 52. The Manner of making Livery of Seisin is thus: The Parties to the Deed, Grantor and Grantee, or the Attornies by them authorized, come to the Door of the House, or some Part of the Land; and there having declared the Cause of their Meeting, in the Presence of Witnesses, they read the Deed or the Contents thereof; and if by Attorney, the Power of Attorney; and then, if it be a House they take the Ring, Latch or Key of the Door, (all the People being out of the House,) or if it be Land, a Clod of Earth, and a Twig or Bough of one of the Trees thereon; and the same Ring or Key, Clod, &c. with the Deed they deliver to the Grantee or his Attorney, saying the usual Words, viz. I A. B. do hereby deliver unto you C. D. Possession and Seisin of this Messuage or Tenement, &c. To hold to you, your Heirs and Assigns; according to the true Intent and Meaning of this Indenture, &c. And afterwards, if it be a House, the Grantee, &c. enters first alone, and shuts to the Door; and then he opens it, and lets in others. Accomp. Convey. 2d Edit. Vol. 1.

If a House or Lands belong to an Office, by Grant of the Office by Deed, the House or Land passeth without Livery: And by a Fine, which is a Feoffment of Record; by a Lease and Release; Bargain and Sale by Deed inrolled; Exchange, &c. a Freehold passeth, without Livery; and so in a Deed of Feoffment to Uses, by Virtue of the Statute of Uses. 1 Inst. 49. Conscience. 3 Jac. 1. c. 15. After the Fire of London, a Judicature was erected for determining Differences relating to Houses burnt; and several Rules were laid down for rebuilding the City, the several Streets, Lanes, &c. The Lord Mayor and Aldermen were to set out Markets; the Number of Parishes and Churches was ascertained, and a Duty granted on Coals for Rebuilding of the Churches, &c. 19 Car. 2. cap. 23. and 22 Car. 2. c. 11. And the Tithes of the Parishes in London, the Churches whereof were burnt, were appointed; none less than 100 l. per Annum, nor above 200 l. per Annum to be assessed, and levied quarterly. 22 & 23 Car. 2. c. 15. The Lord Mayor, &c. is empowered to appoint Persons to set out the Manner of Paving and Pitching the Streets of London; and also of Drains and Sewers, and to impose a Tax upon Houses for Maintenance thereof. 22 & 23 Car. 2. c. 17. Scavengers are to be elected in London, and within the Bills of Mortality, in each Parish, by the Constable, Church wardens, &c. to see that the Streets be kept clean; and House-keepers are to sweep and cleanse the Streets every Wednesday and Saturday, under Penalties, &c. 2 W. & M. Sess. 2. cap. 2. Persons authorized by the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Common Council of London shall have the same Power in London and Liberties thereof, as Commissioners of Sewers have in any other County or Place. 7 Ann. cap. 9. Commissioners are appointed for supplying the City of London with Water, from the River Thames, &c. And casting Filth into Water-courses, incurs 40 s. Penalty. 8 Geo. 1. c. 26. By a late Statute, for regulating Elections within the City, it is ordained, That Elections of Aldermen and Common Council men, are to be by Freemen Householders, paying Scot and Lot, and having Houses of the Value of 10 l. a Year; and none shall vote at Elections of Members of Parliament, but Livery-men that have been Twelve Months on the Livery, and who are not discharged from Payment of Taxes, or those who have received any Alms, &c. And Freemen of London may dispose of their personal Estates as they think fit, notwithstanding the Custom of the City; but the Act mentions such as should be made Free after such a Time, and others before unmarried, &c. 11 Geo. 1. c. 18.

In Trinity Term 35 Car. 2. a Quo Warranto issued against the Lord Mayor and Citizens of London; on which Judgment was given in B. Lord, (Dominus) Is a Word or Title of Honour, diversly used, being attributed not only to those who are noble by Birth or Creation, otherwise called Lords of Parliament, and Peers of the Realm; but to such as called by the Curtesy of England, as all the Sons of a Duke, and the eldest Son of an Earl; and to Persons honourable by Office, as the Lord Chief Justice, &c. and sometimes to a private Person that hath the Fee of a Manor, and consequently the Homage of the Tenants within his Manor; for by his Tenants he is called Lord. In this last Signification, it is most used in our Law Books; where it is divided into Lord Paramount, and Lord Mean; and Very Lord, &c. Old Nat. Br. 79. See Nobility.

Lunatick, Is defined to be a Person who is sometimes of good and sound Memory and Understanding, and sometimes not; aliquando gaudet lucidis intervallis: And so long as he hath not Understanding, he is Non compos mentis. As a Lunatick, without Memory, understands not what he does; in criminal Cases, his Acts shall not be imputed to him; unless he kill or offer to kill the King, when by our old Books he might be guilty of Treason and punished as a Traitor; though this is contradicted by the late Opinions. 1 Inst. 247. 3 Inst. 46. H. P. C. 10, 43: And it is said, if one who has committed a capital Offence, become Lunatick and Non compos before Conviction, he shall not be tried; and if after Conviction, that he shall not be executed. 1 Haw. P. C. 2. Whilst a Man is lunatick, and he doth a criminal Act, 'tis his Madnes, and not his Intention, which is the Cause of the Action, and Abus non facit reum, nisi mens sit rea; and for that Reason, his Punishment could not be an Example to others. Plowd. 19. 1 Inst. 247. But he who incites a Madman or Lunatick to do a Murder or other Crime, is a principal Offender, and as much punishable as if he had done it himself. H. P. C. 43. Keyl. 53. By the ancient Common Law, a dangerous Madman may be kept in Prison, till he recovers his Senses. Bro. Coron. 101. And by a late Statute, Lunaticks, or Madmen wandering may be apprehended by a Justice's Warrant, and locked up and chained if necessary; or be sent to their last legal Settlement; and two Justices by Order may charge their Estates for their Maintenance, &c. Stat. 12. Ann. Sess. 2. cap. 23. A Lunatick cannot lawfully promise or contract for any Thing; and the Grants of Lunaticks and Infants are parallel. 1 Inst. 247. 3 Mod. 301. Every Deed made by a Lunatick, who is Non compos, is voidable; though a Lunatick himself making a Purchase, if he then recovers his Memory, he may agree to it, and afterwards his Heir cannot disagree to it: But otherwise his Deeds may be avoided by his Heir; except he levy a Fine, or do any other Act of Record, &c. Lit. 405, 406. 4 Rep. 126. The Deed of a Lunatick shall not be avoidable by himself; for he shall not at Law be allowed to work his own Disability, by making himself a Madman. 4 Rep. 124. In Equity a Lunatick may be relieved against his own Acts; and where a Purchase has been obtained of him, at an Under-value, or he hath made a Settlement, &c. the Deeds, Fines, &c. in such a Case, have been set aside, on a Bill brought by the Lunatick and his Committee. 2 Vern. 678. Abr. Ca. Eq. 278, 279. If a Lunatick sue an Action, it must be sued in his own Name; and if an Action be brought against a Lunatick, he is to appear by Attorney; if of full Age, and by a Guardian, if under Age. 1 Inst. 135. There are Commissions of Lunacy, issued out of the Chancery, to examine whether the Person be lunatick or not; and to make Inquests of his Lands, &c. Though if Lands are seized by the King, by Virtue of a Commission of Lunacy, and he grants the Custody of the Lunatick sine computo reddendo; if he afterwards is of sound Memory, he shall have an Action of Account for the Profits. Dyer 25. The King hath the Guardianship of the Lands of Lunaticks; but not the sole Interest in granting, and the Custody of their Lands or Bodies; as he hath of Idiots: And the King or other Guardian of a Lunatick, is accountable to him, his Executors, &c. 4 Rep. 124. As a Lunatick may recover his Understanding, and have Discretion enough to dispose and govern his Lands, the King shall not have the Custody of him and his Lands; for after he has recovered his Memory and Understanding, he is to have his Estate at his own Disposal. Dyer 302. 3 Salk. 301. The Stat. 17 Ed. 2. cap. 10. ordains, that the King is to provide that the Lands of Lunaticks be safely kept, and they and their Families maintained by the Profits; and the Residue shall be kept for their Use, and be delivered to them when they come to their right Mind; the King taking nothing to his own Use, &c. A Lunatick found by Inquisition, upon a Commission of Lunacy, whose Person and Estate are committed to particular Trustees, may not marry before he or she be declared of sound Mind, by the Lord Chancellor, &c. If any such do, the Marriage is void, by 15 Geo. 2. c. 30. See 4 Geo. 2. c. 10. and Idiot. By the Stat. 17 Geo. 2. c. 5. Two Justices may by Warrant directed to the Constable, &c. cause such as by Lunacy are so far disordered in their Senses, that they may be dangerous to be permitted to go abroad, to be apprehended and kept safely locked up or sent to their last legal Settlement. The Charges (being proved on Oath) of Removal, keeping and curing such Person, to be paid by Order of two Justices out of the Lunatick's real or personal Estate; but if he has none, or not more than sufficient to maintain his Family, then to be paid by the Parish.

Magister. This Title often found in old Writings, signified that the Person to whom attributed had attained some Degree of Eminency in Scientia aliqua, præsertim literaria; and formerly those who are now called Doctors, were termed Magistri.

Magistrate, (Magistratus) A Ruler, and he is said to be Custos utriusque Tabulæ; the Keeper or Preserver of both Tables of the Law. If any Magistrate, or Minister of Justice, is slain in the Execution of his Office, or keeping of the Peace; it is Murder, for the Contempt and Disobedience to the King and the Laws. 9 Co. Rep.

Magna Billa eligenda, Is a Writ directed to the Sheriff, to summon four lawful Knights before the Justices of Assise, there upon their Oaths to chuse twelve Knights of the Vicinage, &c. to pass upon the Great Assise, between A. B. Plaintiff, and C. D. Defendant, &c. Reg. Orig. 8.

Magna Charta, The great Charter of Liberties granted in the ninth Year of King Hen. 3. It is so called, either for the Excellency of the Laws therein contained, or because there was another Charter called the Charter of the Forest established with it, which was the less of the two; or in Regard of the great Wars and Troubles in the Obtaining it, and the remarkable Solemnity in denouncing Excommunication and Anathema's against the Breakers thereof: And Spelman calls it, Augustissimum Anglicarum Libertatum Diploma & Sacra Anchora. King Edward the Confessor granted to the Church and State several Privileges and Liberties by Charter; and some were granted by the Charter of King Hen. 1. Afterwards King Stephen, and King Hen. 2. confirmed the Charter of Hen. 1. and King Ricb. 1. took an Oath at his Coronation to observe all just Laws, which was an implicate Confirmation of that Charter; and King John took the like Oath: This King likewise, after a Difference between him and the Pope, and being imbroiled in Wars at Home and Abroad, particularly confirmed the aforementioned Charter, with further Privileges, but soon after broke it, and thereupon the Barons took up Arms against him, and his Reign ended in Wars; to whom succeeded King Hen. 3. who in the 37th Year of his Reign, after it had been several Times by him confirmed, and as often broken, came to Westminster-Hall, and in the Presence of the Nobility and Bishops, with lighted Candles in their Hands, Magna Charta was read; the King all that while laying his Hand on his Breast, and at last solemnly swearing faithfully and inviolably to observe all the Things therein contained, as he was a Man, a Christian, a Soldier, and a King: Then the Bishops extinguished the Candles, and threw them on the Ground; and every one said, Tous les bims se extinguissent, and sink in Heil, who violates this Charter: Upon which the Bells were set on Ringing, and all Persons by their Rejoicing approved of what was done. But notwithstanding this very solemn Confirmation of this Charter, the very next Year King Henry invaded the Rights of his People, till the Barons levied War against him; and after various Success, he confirmed this Charter, and the Charter of the Forest, in the Parliament of Marlbridge, and in the 52d Year of his Reign. And his Son King Edward 1. confirming these Charters, in the 25th Year of his Reign made an Explanation of the Liberties therein granted to the People; adding some which are new, called Articuli super Chartas: And Magna Charta was not only then confirmed, but more than thirty Times since. Co. Litt. 81. This excellent Statute, or rather Body of Statute Law at that Time, so beneficial to the Subject, and of such great Equity, is the most ancient written Law of the Land: And it is divided into thirty-eight Chapters; the 1st of which after the solemn Preamble of its being made for the Honour of God, the Exaltation of Holy Church, and Amendment of the Kingdom, &c. ordains, That the Church of England shall be free, and all Ecclesiastical Persons enjoy their Rights and Privileges. The 2d is of the Nobility, Knights-service, Reliefs, &c. The third concerns Heirs, and their being in Ward. The 4th directs Guardians for Heirs within Age, who are not to commit Waste. The 5th relates to the Custody of Lands, &c. of Heirs, and Delivery of them up when the Heirs are of Age. The 6th is concerning the Marriage of Heirs. The 7th appoints Dower to Women, after the Death of their Husbands, a third Part of the Lands, &c. The 8th relates to Sheriffs and their Bailiffs, and requires that they shall not seize Lands for Debts where there are Goods, &c. the Surety not to be distrained, where the Principal is sufficient. The 9th grants to London, and all Cities and Towns, their ancient Liberties. The 10th Orders, that no Distress shall be taken for more Rent than is due, &c. By the 11th the Court of Common Pleas is to be held in a certain Place. The 12th gives Assises for Remedy, on Dissession of Lands, &c. The 13th relates to Assises of Darrein Presentment, brought by Ecclesiasticks. The 14th enacts, that no Freeman shall be amerced for a small Fault, but in Proportion to the Offence; and by the Oaths of lawful Men. The 15th, no Town shall be distrained to make Bridges, &c. but such as of ancient Times have been accustomed. The 16th is for repairing pairing of Sea-Banks and Sewers. The 17th prohibits Sheriffs, Coroners, &c. from holding Pleas of the Crown. The 18th enacts, that the King's Debtor dying, the King shall be first paid his Debt, &c. The 19th directs the Manner of levying Purveyance for the King's House. The 20th concerns Castleward, where a Knight was to be distrained for Money for keeping his Castle, on his Neglect. The 21st forbids Sheriffs, Bailiffs, &c. to take the Horses or Carts of any Person to make Carriage without paying for it. By the 22d the King is to have Lands of Felons a Year and a Day, and afterwards the Lord of the Fee. The 23d requires Wears to be put down on Rivers. The 24th directs the Writ Præcipe in Capite, for Lords against Tenants offering Wrong, &c. The 25th declares that there shall be but one Measure throughout the Land. The 26th, Inquisition of Life and Member, to be granted freely. The 27th relates to Knight's Service, Petit Serjeanty, and other ancient Tenures, (taken away together with Wardship, &c. by 12 Car. 2.) The 28th directs, that no Man shall be put to his Law, on the bare Suggestion of another, but by lawful Witnesses. The 29th, no Freeman shall be disseised of his Freehold, imprisoned and condemned, but by Judgment of his Peers, or by Law. The 30th requires that Merchant Strangers be civilly treated, &c. The 31st relates to Tenures coming to the King by Escheat. By the 32d no Freeman shall sell Land, but so that the Residue may answer the Services. The 33d, Patrons of Abbeys, &c. shall have the Custody of them in the Time of Vacation. The 34th, a Woman to have an Appeal for the Death of her Husband. The 35th directs the Keeping of the County-Court Monthly, and also the Times of holding the Sheriff's Turn, and View of Frankpledge. The 36th makes it unlawful to give Lands to Religious Houses in Mortmain. The 37th relates to Esuage, and Subsidy, to be taken as usual. And the 38th ratifies and confirms every Article of this great Charter of Liberties. By the Stat. 25 Ed. 1. it is ordained, that the great Charter shall be taken as the Common Law. And all Statutes made against Magna Charta, are declared to be void by 43 Ed. 3.

Magna precaria, A great or general Reap-day. And in 21 R. 2. the Lord of the Manor of Harrow on the Hill, in Com. Middlesex, had a Custom, that by Summons of his Bailiff upon a general Reap-day, then called Magna precaria, the Tenants should do a certain Number of Days Work for him; every Tenant that had a Chimney, being obliged to send a Man. Pbil. Purvey. p. 145.

Magnus Portus, The Town and Port of Portsmouth.

Mahomeria, The Temple of Mahomet; and because the Gestures, Noise, and Songs there, were ridiculous to the Christians, therefore they called Antick Dancing, and any Thing of Ridicule, a Momerie. Matt. Paris.

Maids. Taking them away unmarried, without Consent of Father or Mother or their Guardians; is punishable by Stat. 4 & 5 P. & M. c. 8.

Maiden Wives, Is when at any Affises no Person is condemned to die.

Maiden Rents, A Noble paid by every Tenant in the Manor of Builth, in Com. Radnor, at their Marriage; anciently given to the Lord for his omitting the Custom of Marcheta, whereby he was to have the first Night's Lodging with his Tenant's Wife; but it was more probably a Fine for a Licence to marry a Daughter.

Maignagium, (Fr. Maigner, i. e. Faber ærarinus) A Brasier's Shop; though some say it signifies a House. — Idem Hugo tenet unum Maignagium in foro ejusdem ville, &c. Lib. Ramef. Sect. 265.

Maimem or Maimem, (Mabemium from the Fr. Mebaigne, i. e. Membri Mutilationem) Signifies a Maim, Wound, or corporeal Hurt, by which a Man loseth the Use of any Member, that is or might be of any Defence to him: As if a Man's Skull be broke, or any Bone broken in any other Part of the Body; a Foot, Hand, Finger, or Joint of a Foot, or any Member be cut off; if by any Wound, the Sinews be made to shrink; or where any one is castrated; or if an Eye be put out, any Fore-tooth broke, &c. But the cutting off an Ear, or Noie, the breaking of the hinder Teeth, and such like, was held no Maimem; as they were not a Weakening of a Person's Strength, but a Disfiguring and Deformity of the Body. Glanv. lib. 4. c. 7. Biall. lib. 3. tract. 2. Britton, cap. 25. S. P. C. lib. 1. cap. 41. By Statute, if any one on Purpose, by Malice Fore-thought, and lying in Wait, shall cut off the Nose, put out the Eye, disable the Tongue, or cut off or disable any Limb or Member of any of the King's Subjects, with an Intent to maim or disfigure him, the Person Offending, his Aiders, Abettors, &c. are guilty of Felony, without Benefit of Clergy; though no Attainder of such Felony shall corrupt the Blood, or forfeit the Dower of the Wife, Lands or Goods of the Offender. Stat. 22 & 23 Car. 2. cap. 1. In these Cases of Maiming, a voluntary Act the Law judgeth of Malice: And if a Man attack another, of Malice fore-thought in order to murder him with a Bill, or any such like Instrument, which cannot but endanger the Maiming him, and in such Attack, happen not to kill but only to maim him, he may be indicted of Felony on this Statute; and it shall be left to the Jury on the Evidence, whether there were a Design to Murder by Maiming, and consequently a malicious Intent to maim as well as kill, in which Case the Offence is within the Statute. 1 Hawk. P. C. 112. All Maimem by the Common Law was Felony: And it is said that anciently a Maimem by Castration was punished with Death; and other Maimems with the Loss of Member for Member; but afterwards no Maimem was punished in any Case with the Loss of Life or Member, but only by Fine and Imprisonment, and Damages to the Party. 3 Inst. 62, 118. S. P. C. 32. H. P. C. 133. For Maimem, Indictment or an Appeal may be had; or in common Cases Action of Trespass, at the Plaintiff's Election: And Maimem shall be under the Inspection of the Court, to increase Damages given by the Jury, &c. if the Court thinks fit. Sid. 108. Maimem was commonly tried by the Judges inspecting the Party; and if they doubted whether it were a Maimem or not, they used to take the Opinion of some able Chirurgeon in the Point. Homo Mabemiatas, a Man maimed or wounded. See Appeal of Maimem.

Maif Inductio, An ancient Custom for the Priest and People of Country Villages to go in Procession to some adjoining Wood on a May-day Morning; and return in a Kind of Triumph, with a May-pole, Boughs, Flowers, Garlands, and other Tokens of the Spring. This May-game, or Rejoicing at the Coming of the Spring, was for a long Time observed, and still is in some Parts of England; but there was thought to be so much Heathen Vanity in it, that it was condemned and prohibited within the Diocese of Lincoln, by the good old Bishop Grosbead. — Faciunt etiam, ut audivimus, Clerici Ludos quos vocant Inductionem Maii, & Festum Autumni, &c. quod nullo modo vos latere possit: Si vestra prudentia super hiis diligenter Inquireret, &c.

Mail, (Macula,) A Coat of Mail, so called from the Fr. Maille, which signifies a square Figure, or the Hole of a Net: So Maille de Houbergeons was a Coat of Mail, because the Links or Joints in it resemble the Squares of a Net. Mail is likewise used for the Leather Bag wherein Letters are carried by the Post, from Bulga, a Budget.

Maille,

Maile, Anciently a Kind of Money; and Silver Half-pence were termed Mailes. 9 Hen. 5. By Indenture in the Mint, a Pound-weight of old Sterling Silver was to be coined into three hundred and sixty Sterlings or Pennies, or seven hundred and twenty Mailes or Half-pennies, or one thousand four hundred and forty Farthings. Lovind's Eff. on Coin 38.

Mafnad, A false Oath, or Perjury. — Si nolit abjurare, emendet ipsum Mainad. i. e. Perjurium dupliciter. Leg. Inæ, cap. 34.

Mainovre, (from the Fr. Main, i. e. Manus, and ourer, operari) Is Handy-work; or some Trespas committed by a Man's Hand. 7 R. 2. c. 4. Brit. 62.

Mainpernable, That may be let to Bail; and what Persons are mainpernable appears by the Stat. Westm. 1. 3 Ed. 1. c. 15. See Bail.

Mainpernors, (Manucaptors) Are those Persons to whom a Man is delivered out of Custody or Prison, on their becoming bound for his Appearing, &c. which if he do not do, they shall forfeit their Recognizances; and they are called Manucaptors, because they do it as it were Manu capere, & ducere captivum à Custodia vel Prifona.

Mainprife, (Manu captio) from the Fr. Main, i. e. Manus & Pris, captus) Signifies in our Law the Taking or Receiving of a Person into Friendly Custody, who otherwise might be committed to Prison, upon Security given that he shall be forth-coming at a Time and Place assigned; as to let one to Mainprife is to commit him to those that undertake he shall appear at the Day appointed. Old Nat. Br. 42. F. N. B. 249. Manwood makes this Difference between Mainprife and Bail: He that is mainprifed is said to be at large, after the Day he is set to Mainprife, until the Day of his Appearance; but where a Man is let to Bail, by any Judge, &c. until a certain Day, there he is always accounted by the Law to be in their Ward for the Time; and they may, if they will, keep him in Prison, so that he that is so bailed shall not be said to be at large, or at his own Liberty. Manw. p. 167. A Man under Mainprife is supposed to go at large, under no Possibility of being confined by his Sureties or Mainpernors, as in Case of Bail. 4 Inst. 179. Mainprife is an Undertaking in a Sum certain; Bail answers the Condemnation in civil Cases, and in Criminal, Body for Body: Mainprife may be where one is never arrested, or in Prison; but no Man is bailed, but he that is under Arrest, or in Prison; so that Mainprife is more large than Bail. H. P. C. 96. Wood's Inst. 582, 618. Upon a Capias or Exigent awarded against a Man, he shall find Mainprife for his Appearance; and if the Defendant make Default, his Manucaptors are to be amerced, &c. And a Bill of Mainprife, acknowledged and put into Court, is good though it be not enrolled. Jenk. Cent. 129. There is an ancient Writ of Mainprife, whereby those who are bailable, and have been refused the Benefit of it, may be deliver'd out of Prison; as where Persons are imprisoned on Suspicion of Larceny, or indicted of Trespas, before Justices of Peace, &c. Reg. Orig. 269. F. N. B. 250. 2 Harok. P. C. 93. See Manu captio.

Mainport, (In Manu portatum) Is a small Duty, which in some Places Parishioners pay to the Rector of the Parish, in Recompence for certain Tithes: It is commonly of Loaves of Bread; and this Mainport Bread was paid to the Vicar of Blyth, as you may read in the Antiq. of Nottinghamshire, p. 473.

Mainprifon, In the North of England is taken for as much as forsworn. Bretoml. Rep. 4.

Mainprifors, Are those that maintain or second a Cause depending between others, by disbursing Money, or making Friends, for either Party, &c. not being interested in the Suit, or Attornies employed therein. Stat. 19 Hen. 7. cap. 14.

Maintenance, (Mantenentia) Signifies the unlawful Upholding of a Cause or Person, metaphorically drawn from the Succouring a young Child that learns to go by one's Hand; and in Law is taken in the worst Sense. 32 H. 8. c. 9. Also it is used for the Buying or Obtaining of pretended Rights to Lands. Stat. Ibid. And Maintenance is either ruralis, in the Country; as where one assists another in his Pretensions to Lands, by taking or holding the Possession of them for him; or where one stirs up Quarrels or Suits in the Country: Or it is Curialis, in a Court of Justice; where one officiously intermeddles in a Suit depending in any said Court, which no Way belongs to him, and he hath nothing to do with, by assisting the Plaintiff or Defendant with Money or otherwise, in the Prosecution or Defence of any such Suit. Co. Litt. 368. 2 Inst. 213. 2 Roll. Abr. 115. And he, who fears that another will maintain his Adversary, may by Way of Prevention have an original Writ grounded on the Statutes, prohibiting him so to do. 1 Harok. P. C. 225. Reg. Orig. 182. Not only he who lays out his Money to assist another in his Cause, but he that by his Friendship or Interest saves him that Expence which he might otherwise be put to, is guilty of Maintenance. Bro. Mainten. 7, 14, 17, &c. And if any Person officiously give Evidence, or open the Evidence without being called upon to do it; speak in the Cause, as if of Counsel with the Party; retain an Attorney for him, &c. or shall give any publick Countenance to another in Relation to the Suit; as where one of great Power and Interest, says that he will spend 20 Pounds on one Side, &c. or such a Person comes to the Bar with one of the Parties, and stands by him while his Cause is tried, to intimidate the Jury; if a Juror sollicit a Judge to give judgment according to the Verdict, after which he hath nothing more to do, &c. these Acts are Maintenance. 1 Harok. 249, 250. But a Man cannot be guilty of Maintenance, in respect of any Money given by him to another, before any Suit is actually commenced: Nor is it such, to give another Advice, as to what Action is proper to be brought, what Method to be taken, or what Counsellor or Attorney to be employed; or for one Neighbour to go with another to his Counsel, so as he do not give him any Money: And Money may be lawfully given to a poor Man, out of Charity, to carry on his Suit, and be no Maintenance: Attornies may lay out their Money for their Clients, to be repaid again; but not at their own Expence, on Condition of no Purchase no Pay, if they carry the Cause or lose it. Fitzb. Maintenance. 18. 3 Roll. Abr. 118. 2 Inst. 564. It is said that if a Man of great Power, not learned in the Law, tells another who asks his Advice, that he hath a good Title, it is Maintenance. 1 Harok. 250. In Case any Person who is no Lawyer, and that hath no Interest in the Cause, shall take upon him to do the Part of a Lawyer; this will be unlawful Maintenance. And after a Suit is begun, no Man may encourage either of the Parties, or yield them any Aid or Help, by Money, or the like, but he that hath Interest therein: But to lend another Money to maintain his Law-Suit, is no Maintenance 22 H. 6. 6. 19 E. 4. 3. 2 Shep. Abr. 406. If a Person hath any Interest in the Thing in Dispute, though on Contingency only, he may lawfully maintain an Action relating to it; as if Tenant in Tail, or for Life, be impleaded, he in Reversion or Remainder, &c. may maintain the Defence of the Suit, with his own Money; and a Lessor may lawfully maintain his Lessee. 2 Roll. Abr. 115. A Lord may justify maintaining a Tenant, in Defence of his Title; and the Tenant may maintain his Lord: One bound to warrant Lands, may lawfully maintain the Tenant impleaded; and a Man may maintain those who are enfeoff'd of Lands in Trust for him, concerning those Lands, &c. An Heir Heir apparent, or the Husband of such an Heir, may maintain the Ancestor in an Action concerning the Inheritance of the Land whereof he is seised in Fee; a Master maintain his Servant, and assist him with Money, but not in a real Action, unless he hath some of his Wages in his Hands; and a Servant by Reason of Relation may maintain his Master in all Things, except laying out his own Money in the Master's Suit. 1 Hawk. 252, 253. 1 Inst. 368. By the Statutes, none of the King's Officers shall maintain Pleas, or Suits, in the King's Court, for Lands, &c. under Covenant to have Part thereof, or any Profit therein. And Clerks of Justices, are not to take Part in Quarrels, or delay Right, on Pain of treble Damages. 3 Ed. 1. cap. 25. No Persons shall take upon them to maintain Quarrels, to the Let and Disturbance of the Common Law, by themselves or by any other. 1 Ed. 3. cap. 14. and 20 Ed. 3. 4. The King's Counsellors, Officers or Servants, or any other Person whatsoever, shall not sustain Quarrels by Maintenance, upon grievous Pain, Imprisonment, and Ransom. 1 R. 2. c. 4. No Man may obtain or buy any pretended Right or Title to any Land, unless the Seller hath taken the Profits a Year, or been in Possession, on Pain of forfeiting the Value, &c. And none shall unlawfully maintain any Suit concerning Lands, or retain any Person for Maintenance, by Letters, Rewards or Promises, under the Penalty of 10 l. for every Offence, to be divided between the King and the Prosecutor. 32 H. 8. cap. 9. But maintaining Suits in the Spiritual Court, is not within the Statutes relating to Maintenance. Cr. Eliz. 594. Though Maintenance in a Court-Baron, is as much within the Purview of the Stat. 1 R. 2. as Maintenance in a Court of Record. 1 Hawk. 255. A pretended Right to Copyhold Lands sold, is within the Stat. of H. 8. 4 Rep. 26. If A. be Owner of Land in Possession, and another who hath no Right granteth the Land; although the Grant upon it be void, yet the Grantor and Grantee are liable to this Statute. 1 Inst. 369. So where he that hath a pretended Right, and none in Truth, shall get the Possession wrongfully, and then sell the Land, &c. But a Remainder-main in Fee, may obtain the pretended Title of a Stranger. 1 Inst. 369. 3 Inst. 76, 77. And a Person who hath good Right and Title, at the Time of the Bargain or Lease, will not be within the above Statute, although neither he nor his Ancestors have been in Possession thereof, &c. for a Year before. Plow. 47. Dyer 74. The Buying of a Lease for Years, is within the Act: Though if a Person make such Lease to try a Title in Ejectment, unless it be to a great Man; it is out of the Statute. 1 Inst. 369. Dyer 374. A Lessor having good Right to Land, but not in Possession, made a Lease of it, and did not seal it on the Land; it was adjudged within the Stat. 32 Hen. 8. 1 Leon. 166. The Law will not suffer any Thing in Action, Entry, &c. to be granted over; this is to prevent Titles being granted to Men of Substance, to oppress the meaner Sort of People. 1 Inst. 214. And where a Bond was given for Performance of Covenants in a Lease, and after the Covenants being broken, the Lessee assigned both the Lease and Bond to another, and then the Assignee put the Bond in Suit, this was held Maintenance; so it would have been if the Lessee had assigned the Bond and not the Lease, and afterwards the Covenants were broken, and the Bond put in Suit. Godb. 81. 2 Nels. Abr. 1142. By the Common Law, Persons guilty of Maintenance may be prosecuted by Indictment, and be fined and imprisoned; or by Action, &c. And a Court of Record may commit a Man for an Act of Maintenance done in the Face of the Court. Heil. Rep. 79. 1 Inst. 368.

Majority. The only Method of determining the Acts of many, is by a Majority: The major Part of Members of Parliament enact Laws, and the Majority of Electors chuse Members of Parliament; the Act of the major Part of any Corporation, is accounted the Act of the Corporation; and where the Majority is, there by the Law is the whole. Stat. 19 Hen. 7. Stud. Compan. 25.

Manca, Was a square Piece of Gold Coin, commonly valued at thirty Pence; and Mancusa was as much as a Mark of Silver, having its Name from Manrucusa, being coined with the Hand. Leg. Canon. But the Manca and Mancusa were not always of that Value; for sometimes the former was valued at six Shillings, and the latter as used by the English Saxons was equal in Value to our Half-Crown. Manca sex solidis aestimatur. Leg. H. 1. c. 69. Tborn. in his Chronicle tells us, that Mancusa est pondus duorum solidorum & sex denariorum; and with him agrees Du Cange, who says that twenty Manca make fifty Shillings. Manca and Mancusa are promiscuously used in the old Books for the same Money. Spelm.

Manch, Is sixty Shekels of Silver, or seven Pounds and ten Shillings; and one hundred Shekels of Gold, of seventy-five Pounds. Merch. Dist.

Manciple, (Manceps) A Clerk of the Kitchen, or Caterer; and an Officer in the Inner Temple was anciently so called, who is now the Steward there, of whom Chaucer, our ancient Poet, sometime a Student of that House, thus writes:

*A Manciple there was within the Temple,

Mandamus, Is a Writ issuing out of the Court of King's Bench, sent by the King to the Head of some Corporation, commanding them to admit or restore a Person into his Place or Office, &c. 2 Inst. 40. It lies to restore a Mayor, Alderman or Capital Burgeis of a Corporation; a Recorder, Town-Clerk, Attorney turned out of an inferior Court, Steward of a Court, Constable, &c. 11 Rep. 99. Raym. 153. 1 Keb. 549. 2 Nels. Abr. 1148, 1149. By some Opinions it doth not lie to restore a Common Council-Man. 2 Cro. 540. But see 1 Vent. 302. A Mandamus may be had to restore a Freeman; and also to admit one to the Freedom of the City, having served an Apprenticeship. Sid. 107. To restore a Fellow of the College of Physicians, it lies; though not for a Fellow of a College in the Universities, if there is a Visitor. 1 Lev. 19, 23. It hath been resolved, that a Mandamus shall not be granted to restore a Fellow or Member of any College of Scholars or Physick, because these are private Foundations. Cartbew's Rep. 92. And this Writ lieth not for the Deputy of an Office, &c. yet he who hath Power to make such Deputy, may have it. Mod. Ca. 18. 1 Lev. 306. It lies not generally to elect a Man into any Office; nor for a Clerk of a Company, which is a private Office; or to restore a Barrister expelled a Society; a Proctor, &c. 2 Lev. 14, 18. 2 Nels. 1150, 1151. But a Mandamus may lie to remove Persons as well as restore them; by Virtue of any particular Statute, on Breach thereof. 4 Mod. 233. If Justices of Peace refuse to admit one to take the Oaths, to qualify himself for any Place, &c. Mandamus lies: So to a Bishop or Archdeacon, to swear a Church-warden; to grant a Probate of a Will; and to admit an Executor to prove a Will, or an Administrator; to a Rector, Vicar or Church-warden, to restore a Sexton. Wood's Inst.

Inst. 568. Mandamus lieth to admit a Man to take the Oath of Allegiance, &c. and subscribe according to the Act of Toleration, in order to be qualified to be a Dissenting Minister. Mod. Caf. Also a Mandamus will lie to the Bishop, to grant a Licence for a Parson to Preach, where 'tis denied, and he is in Orders for it: And this Writ lies to restore a Person to University Degrees. 2 Ld. Raym. 1206, 1334. But after a Man is restored on a peremptory Mandamus, he may be displaced again, for the same Matters for which he was before removed and others. Ib. 1283. In the Writ of Mandamus, the Words are to admit or restore, vel Causam significare quare, &c. And if a Corporation have Power to disfranchise a Freeman, and they do it accordingly, if a Writ is granted to restore him, vel Causam significare quare, and they certify a sufficient but false Cause, the Court of B. R. cannot restore him, but there lies an Action for a false Return: And if then it be found for him, he shall have a peremptory Mandamus, which is usually granted after the first Writ; or if he be imprisoned, he may bring Action of Trespass and false Imprisonment, &c. 11 Rep. 99. 5 Mod. 254. There is to be Judgment upon the Return of the Writ, before any Action of the Case may be brought for a false Return of a Mandamus. 2 Lev. 238. And Returns upon Writs of Mandamus must be certain for the Court to judge upon. 11 Rep. 99. By Statute, where any Writ of Mandamus shall issue out of B. R. &c. the Persons required by Law are to make their Return to the first Mandamus; and on the Return made thereto, the Person suing out the Writ may plead to and traverse all or any of the material Facts contained in such Return, to which the Person making the Return shall reply, take Issue, &c. And the Parties proceed as if Action had been brought for a false Return; and if Judgment be given for the Plaintiff, he shall have Damages and Costs, as in Action on the Case, &c. 9 Ann. 20. And all the Statutes of Jeofails, shall extend to Writs of Mandamus, and Proceedings thereon. A Person having a Mandamus to be admitted to any Office or Privilege, ought to suggest whatever is necessary to intitle him to be admitted; and if that be not done, or if it is false, it will be good Matter to return on the Mandamus: And on the Return of these Writs, as well as others of this Nature, there are usually great Arguments in Favour of Liberty, &c. Mod. C. 310. It has been held, that several Persons cannot have one Mandamus; nor can several join in an Action on the Case for a false Return. 2 Salk. 433. A Writ of Mandamus may not be directed to one Person, or to a Mayor and Aldermen, &c. to command another to do any Act; it must be directed to those only who are to do the Thing required, and obey the Writ. 2 Salk. 446, 701. This Writ is not to be Tested before granted by the Court; and if the Corporation to which the Mandamus is sent, be above forty Miles from London, there shall be fifteen Days between the Teste and the Return of the first Writ of Mandamus; but if but forty Miles, or under, eight Days only; and the Alias and Pluries may be made returnable immediate: Also at the Return of the Pluries, if no Return be made, and there is Affidavit of the Service, Attachment shall go forth for the Contempt, without hearing Counsel to excuse it. Ibid. 434. A Motion was made for an Attachment, for not returning an Alias Mandamus; and by Holt Ch. Jult. In Case of a Mandamus out of Chancery, no Attachment lies till the Pluries, for that is in Nature of an Action, to recover Damages for the Delay; but upon a Mandamus out of B. R. the first Writ ought to be returned, though an Attachment is not granted without a peremptory Rule to return the Writ, and then it goes for the Contempt, &c. Ibid. 429.

Mandamus, Was also a Writ that lay after the Year and Day, where in the mean Time the Writ, called Diem clausit Extremum, had not been sent out to the Escheator, on the Death of the King's Tenant in Capite, &c. And was likewise a Writ or Charge to the Sheriff, to take into the Hands of the King all the Lands and Tenements of the King's Widow Tenant, who against her Oath married without his Consent. F. N. B. 253. Reg. Orig. 195.

Mandatarij, (Mandatarius) Is he to whom a Command or Charge is given.

Mandate, (Mandatum) Is a Commandment judicial of the King, or his Justices, to have any Thing done for the Dispatch of Justice; of which there is great Diversity. Reg. Judic. And we read of the Bishop's Mandate, to the Sheriff, &c. Stat. 31 Elix. c. 9. A Mandate may be issued by the King's Bench to swear a Church-warden, or Parish-Clerk, &c. when refused to be sworn by the Bishop's Minister. March. Rep. 22, 101.

Mandati dies, Mandie or Mauudy Thursday, the Day before Good Friday, when is commemorated and practised the Command of our Saviour, in washing the Feet of the Poor, &c. And our Kings of England to shew their Humility, long executed the ancient Custom on that Day, of washing the Feet of poor Men, in Number equal to the Years of their Reign, and giving them Shoes, Stockings and Money.

Mancutes, Was anciently used for Tenentes or Tenants; Qui in solo alieno manent: And it was not lawful for them or their Children to depart without Leave of the Lord. Concil. Synodal. apud Clowersfo. Anno 822.

Mangonare, Signifies to buy in the Market. Leg. Æthelred. c. 24.

Mangonus, An Engine of War made to cast Stones; and it differs from a Petrard, as follows, viz.

Interea grossos Petraria mittit ad intus
Affidue Lapides, Mangonellusque Minores.

Manner, (From the Fr. Manier, or Mainer, i. e. Manu trahere.) To be Taken with the Manner, is where a Thief having stolen any Thing, is taken with the same about him, as it were in his Hands; which is called Flagrante delicto. S. P. C. 179. Such a Criminal is not bailable by Law: And anciently if one guilty of Felony or Larceny had been freshly pursued, and taken with the Manner, and the Goods so found upon him had been brought into Court with him, he might be tried immediately, without any Appeal or Indictment, and this is said to have been the proper Method of Proceeding in such Manors which had the Franchise of Infangthefe. H. P. C. 201. S. P. C. 28. 2 Haruk. P. C. 211.

Manning, (Manopera) A Day's Work of a Man; and in ancient Deeds there was sometimes reserved to much Rent, and so many Mannings.

Mandate, Is where one is cited to appear in Court, and stand to Judgment there: It is different from Ban-nire; for though both of them signify a Citation, one is by the adverse Party, and the other by the Judge. Leg. H. 1. c. 10.

Manor, (Manerium, derived from the Fr. Manoir, i. e. Halitatio, or from Manendo, of abiding, because the Lord of it did usually reside there) Is an ancient Royalty or Lordship, formerly called Barony, consisting of Demesnes and Services, and of a Court Baron as incident to it: It is a noble Kind of Fee, granted out partly to Tenants for certain Services

vices to be performed, and partly reserved to the Use of the Lord's Family, with Jurisdiction over his Tenants for their Farms or Estates. And as to the Original of Manors, it is said, that after the Conquest there were certain Circuits of Ground granted by the King or Conqueror to some Barons or Men of like worth, for them and their Heirs to dwell upon, and exercise Jurisdiction, more or less within their Territories, as the King thought fit to grant, performing such Services, and paying such yearly Rent for the same, as he by his Grant required; and that afterwards these great Men allotted Part of their Lands to other meaner Men, reserving again to themselves Rents and Services; and by that Means, as they became Tenants to the King, so the inferior Tenants became Tenants to them. Horn's Mirr. Just. lib. 1. But at this Time a Manor rather signifies the Jurisdiction and Royalty Incorporeal, than the Land; for a Man may have a Manor in Gros, that is the Right and Interest of a Court-Baron, &c. and another enjoy all the Land belonging to it. Kitch. 4. Bract lib. 5. tract. 5. c. 28. A Manor may be compounded of divers Things; as of an House, Arable Land, Meadow, Pasture, Wood, Rents, Advowson, Court Baron, &c. And it comprehends Messuages, Lands, Woods, &c. Mich. 4. Eliz. And it is said a Parsonage may be a Manor, if granted by the Parson, Patron and Ordinary, &c. to be held of the Parson by certain Services. Pasch. 22. Eliz. By a Grant of the Demesnes and Services, the Manor passeth; and by Grant and Render of the Demesnes only, the Manor is destroyed, because the Services and Demesnes are thereby severed by the Act of the Party; though it is otherwise, if by Act of Law, as by Partition. 6 Rep. 63. There are two Comparceners of a Manor; the Demesnes are assigned to one, and the Services to the other, the Manor is gone; but if one die without Issue, and the Manor descends to her who had the Services, the Manor is revived again, for the Severance was by Act in Law. 1 Inst. 122. 8 Rep. 79. 3 Salk. 25, 40. A new Manor may arise and revive by Operation of Law. 1 Leon. 204. A Manor cannot be without a Court-Baron: And it must be Time out of Mind; at this Day a Manor cannot be made, because a Court-Baron cannot now be made. 1 Inst. 58, 108. It may contain one or more Villages or Hamlets; or only great Part of a Village, &c. And there are capital Manors, or Honours, which have other Manors under them, the Lords whereof perform Customs and Services to the superior Lords. 2 Inst. 67. 2 Roll. Abr. 72. There may be also customary Manors granted by Copy of Court-Roll, and held of other Manors. 4 Rep. 26. 11 Rep. 17. But it cannot be a Manor in Law, if it wanteth Freehold Tenants; nor be a Customary Manor, without Copyhold Tenants: If all the Freeholds escheat or come to the Lord by Purchase, the Manor is lost; so if there are no Suitors in a Court-Baron but one, or there be only one Copyholder in a Customary Manor: For there should be two Freeholders, or Suitors at least. 1 Inst. 58. Lit. 73. 2 Roll. Abr. 121. But it is said, if there be but one Freehold Tenant, the Seigniori continues between the Lord and that one Tenant. 1 And. 257. 1 Nels. Abr. 524. The Custom remains, where Tenements are divided from the rest of the Manor, the Tenants paying their Services; and he who hath the Freehold of them, may keep a Court of Survey, &c. Cro. Eliz. 103.

Manse, (Manſa) An Habitation, or Farm and Land. Spelm. See Mansum.

Mansion, (Manſio à Manendo) Among the ancient Romans was a Place appointed for the Lodging of the Prince, or Soldiers in their Journey; and in this Sense we read Primum Mansionem, &c. It is with us most commonly used for the Lord's chief Dwelling-house within his Fee; otherwise called the Capital Messuage, or Manor Place. Shene. Some say it is a Dwelling of one or more Houses without a Neighbour: And Mansion-house is taken in Law for any House of Dwelling of another; in Cases of committing Burglary, &c. 3 Co. Inst. 64. The Latin Word Manſia, according to Sir Edward Coke, seems to be a certain Quantity of Land: Hida vel Manſia, and Manſa, are mentioned in some old Writers and Charters. Fleta, lib. 6. And that which in ancient Latin Authors was termed Hida, was afterwards called Manſus.—Manſio esse poterit constructa ex pluribus Domibus vel una, quæ erit habitatio una & sola sine vicino; etiam & si alia Manſio sit vicinata non erit villa quia villa est ex pluribus Manſionibus vicinata & collata ex pluribus vicinis. Bract. lib. 5. tract. 5. p. 1.

Manslaughter, (Homicidium, from the Sax. Manſlyte) Is the unlawful Killing a Man without any premeditated Malice; as when two Persons meet, and upon some falling out, the one kills the other. It is done in a present Heat, on a sudden Quarrel, and upon a just Provocation; and without any deliberate Intention of doing Mischief: And it differs from Murder only, in that it is not done with foregoing Malice; and from Chancemedley, having a present Intent to kill. Staudf. P. C. lib. 1. cap. 9. This Crime is Felony; but for the first Time admits of Clergy: And there can be no Accessaries to this Offence before the Fact, because it must be done without Premeditation. H. P. C. 217. In the Laws of Canutus, the same Distinction was made between Murder and Manslaughter, as now; for we find, if a Man were killed wilfully and premeditatedly, then the Offender was to be delivered to the Kindred of the Slain, &c. But if on his Trial, the Fact was proved not to be wilful, then he was resigned to the Bishop, &c. Leg. 53. Manslaughter must be upon a sudden Quarrel, where the Party guilty doth not appear to be Master of his Temper, by talking calmly on the Quarrel, or afterwards in other Discourse, whereby the Heat of Blood may be presumed to be cooled. Crompt. 23. Kel. 56. Therefore if two Persons meet together, and in striving for the Wall, one of them kills the other, this is Manslaughter: And so it is if, upon a sudden Occasion, they had gone into the Fields and fought; and one had killed the other; for all is one continued Act of Passion, on the first sudden Occasion. 3 Inst. 51, 55. H. P. C. 48. And if two Persons who have formerly fought on Malice, are afterwards to all Appearance reconciled, and fight again on a fresh Quarrel, and one of them is killed, it shall not be construed that they were moved on the old Grudge, unless it appear by the whole Circumstances of the Fact. 1 Hawk. P. C. 82. If two Men fall out on a sudden and fight, and one breaks his Sword, and a Stranger standing by lends him another, with which he kills his Adversary, it is Manslaughter in both. H. P. C. 56. And where a Stranger to a Person, a Man's Servant, &c. coming suddenly, sees him fighting with another, and sides with him and kills the other; this is only Manslaughter: Also if a Man's Friend is assaulted, and he in Vindication of his Friend, on a sudden takes up a mischievous Instrument, and kills the Enemy of his Friend, this is Manslaughter: So where a Person in rescuing another injuriously restrained of his Liberty, by pretended Preſ-Masters, &c. kills any of them. H. P. C. 57. Plowd. 101. Kel. 46, 136. But if the Person killed were a Bailiff, or other Officer of Justice, resisted by any one in the due Execution of his Duty; it would be Murder. Kelw. 67, 86. If a Master go with Malice to kill a Person, and his Servants being with him know nothing thereof, and then they join in the Assault and Murder; it is but Manslaughter in the Servants: Though if the Master have Malice, and he tells his Servants of it, and that his Intention is to kill the Party, and they go with their Master; if they kill him, it is Murder in both Master and Servants. Dyer 26. 9 Rep. 66. Plowd. 100. There were two Men.

Men in an inner Chamber, quarrelling, and together by the Ears; a Brother of one of them standing at the Door, that could not get in cried to his Brother to make him sure, and presently after he gave the other a mortal Wound; this was held Manslaughter in him that stood at the Door. Trin. 1 Jac. 1. Shep. Abr. 493. Several Persons having forcible Possession of a House, afterwards killed the Person whom they had ejected, as he was endeavouring in the Night forcibly to regain the Possession, and to fire the Houſe; and they were adjudged only guilty of Manslaughter, notwithstanding they did the Fact in Maintenance of a deliberate Injury, because the Party slain was so much in Fault himself: Yet if in such, or any other Quarrel, whether it were sudden or premeditated, a Justice of Peace, Constable, or even a private Person be killed in endeavouring to keep the Peace, he who kills him is guilty of Murder. 1 Hawk. 85. It hath been adjudged, that upon a Killing on a sudden Quarrel, if a Man be so far provoked by another by Words or Gestures, as to make a Push at him with a Sword, or strike at him with any other such Weapon as manifestly endangers his Life, before the other's Sword is drawn, and thereupon a Fight ensues, and he who made such Assault kill the other, it is Murder; for by assaulting the other in such a Manner, without giving him an Opportunity to defend himself, shewed that he intended to kill him: But in Case he who draws upon another in a sudden Quarrel, make no Pass at him till his Sword is drawn, and then fighting with him kill him, he is guilty of Manslaughter only; because by giving the other Time to be on his Guard, he shews his Intent is not so much to kill as to combat with the other, according to the common Notions of Honour. Kel. 61, 131. 1 Hawk. P. C. 81, 82. And as to Provocations, no Trespas, Breach of a Man's Word, or Affront by Words, &c. will be thought a just Provocation to excuse the Killing of another. Ibid. 130. Though if upon ill Words, as giving the Lie, or calling another Son of a Whore, both Parties suddenly fight, and one kills the other, this is Manslaughter: And if one upon angry Words assaults another, by pulling him by the Nose, and he that is assaulted draws his Sword and immediately kills the other, this is but Manslaughter; for an Indignity was offered to the Slayer, from whence he might reasonably apprehend that there might be some further Design upon him. Ibid. 55, 60, 135. There is a Manslaughter punishable as Murder, by Statute: By the 1 Jac. 1. c. 8. If any Person shall stab another, not having then a Weapon drawn, or not stricken first, so that he dies within six Months, although it were not of Malice or Fore-thought, it is Felony without Benefit of Clergy: But this doth not extend to Persons stabbing others Se Defendendo, or by Misfortune, &c. with no Intent to commit Manslaughter; and the Statute relates to the Party only that actually gave the Stroke, or stabbed the other, and not to those that were aiding or abetting. H. P. C. 58. A Blow given, or Weapon drawn at any Time during the Quarrel, before the Thrust or Stab given, is within the Statute; and drawing out a Pistol, and levying it at the Party killing, or throwing a Pot, Bottle, &c. at him, are within the Equity of the Words, having a Weapon drawn. 5 Lev. 255, 256. So if the Party killed have a Cudgel in his Hand; Clergy shall be allowed. Godb. 154. And he that is ousted of Clergy by this Statute must be specially indicted upon it; though even then the Jury may find Manslaughter generally: For the Statute makes no new Offence, but only takes away the Benefit of the Clergy, which was allowed at Common Law. H. P. C. 58, 266. The Statute is but a Declaration of the Common Law; and made to prevent the Compassion of Juries, who oftentimes were persuaded to believe that to be a Provocation to extenuate the Crime of Murder, which in Law was not.

Kel. 55. And on the Statute 1 Jac. 1. of Stabbing, it has been usual to prefer two Indictments, one of Murder, another upon this Statute, and put the Prisoner to plead to both; then to charge the Jury first with the Indictment for Murder, and if they find it not to be that Crime, to inquire on the other Bill, because if convicted of either, the Offender is excluded his Clergy. 1 Hale's Hist. P. C. 468. If a Man is taken in Adultery with another Person's Wife, and the Husband draws his Sword and presently kills the Adulterer; this is a just Provocation, and makes it Manslaughter. 1 Vent. 158. Raym. 212. Two Masters of Defence play at Hand Sword, and one wounds the other, of which he dies, it is only Manslaughter; and it is said not to be Felony where they play by the King's Command, for that they play by Consent to try their Manhood, and may be the better able to do the King Service upon Occasion. 3 Inst. 56, 160. Dalt. 352. Hob. 134. When two Persons play at Foils, and one kills the other, it is Manslaughter. H. P. C. 32, 57. Though if one kill another at Wrestling, or shooting in Bow and Arrow at Butts, &c. this will not be Manslaughter in the Offender. Kelw. 168. These last Cases are without an ill Intent: And if one shoots off a Gun in a Highway, or throws a Stone over a Wall, in a Place where People often meet, and a Person is killed; or at another in Play, and kill him; if done without any evil Intention, it is Manslaughter. 3 Inst. 57. But if an unlawful Act be done with an ill Intent, and the Act is deliberate, if Death happens, it is Murder. H. P. C. 32, 44. 3 Inst. 56. Kel. 112. A Person shoots at the Tame Fowl of another, which is an unlawful Act, and kills a Stander-by, it is Murder: If he be shooting at Hare, Wild Fowl, and not qualified to keep a Gun, or to kill Game, it is Manslaughter: And where he is qualified to keep a Gun, it is only Chancemedley. 3 Inst. 59. Though in Cases of this Nature, it ought to be considered how far the unlawful Act doth tend immediately, or by necessary Consequence to the Injury of another. H. P. C. 31. Kel. 117. A Man drives his Cart carelessly, and it goes over a Child in the Street, if he see the Child and yet drive upon him, it is Murder; but if he saw not the Child, it is Manslaughter. And if a Child run cross the Way, and the Cart runs over him, before it is possible to make a Stop, it is per Infortunium. 1 Hale's Hist. P. C. 476. See Chancemedley and Murder.

Manſum Capitale, The Manor-house or Manſe, or Court of the Lord. Kermer's Antiq. 150.

Manſus Presbyteri, the Manſe or House of Residence of the Parish-Priest; being the Parsonage or Vicarage-house. Paroch. Antiq. 431.

Manualis Obedientia, Is used for sworn Obedience, or Submission upon Oath. Henricus de Teisdale Rector Ecclesie de G. fecit pro illa Domino Johanni Archiepiscopo Ebor. Manualem Obedientiam apud Ebor. 11 Kal. Maii 1295. Ex Registr. Ebor.

Manuaptio, A Writ that lies for a Man taken on Suspicion of Felony, &c. who cannot be admitted to Bail by the Sheriff, or others having Power to let to mainprise. F. N. B. 249.

Manuel,

Manuel, (Manualis) Signifies what is employed or used by the Hand, and whereof a present Profit may be made: As such a Thing in the manual Occupation of one, is where it is actually used or employed by him. Staund. Prerog. 54.

Manufacture, A Commodity produced by the Work of the Hand; as Cloth, &c. Merch. Diſt. By the Stat. 22 Geo. 2. c. 27. Any Person employed in working up any Woollen, Linen, Silk, Leather or Iron Manufacture, who shall purloin, imbezil, secrete, sell, pawn, exchange or unlawfully dispose of any of the Materials, shall be committed to the House of Correction for fourteen Days, and whipped; for a second Offence to be committed for not less than three Weeks, and whipped. The Receiver to forfeit 20*l.* or be whipped; and for a second Offence 40*l.* or be whipped. See Labourers.

Manumission, (Manumissio) Is the Freeing a Vilein or Slave out of Bondage; which was formerly done several Ways: Some were manumitted by Delivery to the Sheriff, and Proclamation in the County, &c. and others by Charter; one Way of Manumission was for the Lord to take the Bondman by the Head, and say, I will that this Man be free, and then showing him forward out of his Hands. And there was a Manumission implied; when the Lord made an Obligation for Payment of Money to the Bondman, or sued him where he might enter without Suit, &c. The Form of manumitting a Person in the Time of Will. 1. called The Conqueror, is thus set down.—Si quis velit servum suum Liberum facere, tradat eum Vicecomiti per Manum dextram, in pleno Comitatu, & quietum illum clamare debet a jugo Servitutis sue per Manumissionem, & ostendat ei liberam portas & vias, & tradat illi libera Arma, scilicet Lanceam & Gladium, & deinde Liber homo efficitur. Lamb Archai. 126.

Manuportus, Signifies a Domestick; Sæpe obvenit in forensi dialecto, pro Famulo & serviente Domestico. Spelm. He shall be culpable as of a Thing done by one of his Family, or by his own Hand.—Erat culpabilis tanquam de Manuportu. Leg. Hen. 1. cap. 66.

Manurt, (Colo, Melioro) To till, plough, or manure Land. Litt. Diſt.

Manus, Was anciently used for an Oath, and for him that took it as a Compurgator. And it often occurs in old Records; Tertia, quarta, &c. Manu Jurare; that is, the Party was to bring so many to swear with him that they believed what he vouched was true: And we read of a Woman accused of Adultery; Mulieri hoc neganti Purgatio Sexta Manu extitit Indiſta, i. e. She was to vindicate her Reputation upon the Testimony of six Compurgators. Rog. Eccl. Christ. Cant. If a Person swore alone, it was propria Manu & Unica. The Use of this Word came probably from its being required at a Person's Hands, to justify himself; or from laying the Hand upon the New Testament, on Taking the Oath.

Manutentia, A Writ so called, used in Cases of Maintenance. Reg. Orig. 182, 189.

Manwoorth, (Sax. Manwoyrd) The Price or Value of a Man's Life or Head, mentioned by Bhant.

Marchers or Lords Marchers, Were those Noblemen that lived on the Marches of Wales or Scot- land; who in Times past (according to Camden) had their Laws, and Potestatem vitæ, &c. like petty Kings; which are abolished by the Stat. 27 H. 8. c. 26. and 1 E. 6. c. 10. In old Records the Lords Marchers of Wales were styled Marchiones de Marchia Wallie. See 1 & 2 P. & M. c. 15.

Marches, (Marchia, from the Germ. March, i. e. Limes, or from the Fr. Marque, viz. Signum, being the notorious Distinction between two Countries or Territories) Are the Limits between England and Wales, or between us and Scotland; which last are divided into West and Middle Marches. 4 Hen. 5. c. 7. 22 Ed. 4. c. 8. 24 H. 8. c. 9. And there was formerly a Court called the Court of the Marches of Wales, where Pleas of Debt or Damages, not above the Value of fifty Pounds, were tried and determined; and if the Council of the Marches held Plea for Debts above that Sum, &c. a Prohibition might be awarded. Hill. 14 Car. 1. Cro. Car. 384.

Marchet, (Marchetum) Consuetudo pecuniaria, in Mancipiorum filiabus Maritandis. Bract. lib. 2. cap. 8. This Custom, with some Variation, is observed in some Parts of England and Wales, as also in Scotland and the Ile of Guernsey: And in the Manor of Divevor in the County of Carmarthen, every Tenant at the Marriage of his Daughter pays 10*s.* to the Lord, which in the British Language is called Gwabr Merched, i. e. a Maid's Fee. The Custom for the Lord to lie the first Night with the Bride of his Tenant was very common in Scotland, and the North of England: But it was abrogated by Malcolme the Third, at the Instance of his Queen; and instead thereof a Mark was paid to the Lord by the Bridegroom, from whence it is denominated Marcheta Mulieris. See Maiden Rents.

Marchum, (Fr. Maret, a Fen or Marsh) Signifies marshy Ground overflowed by the Sea or great Rivers. Co. Litt. 5.

Marinarius, A Mariner or Seaman: And Marinarium Capitaneus was the Admiral or Warden of the Ports; which Offices were commonly united in the same Person; the Word Admiral not coming into Use till the latter End of the Reign of King Edw. 1. before which Time the King's Letters ran thus:—Rex Capitaneus Marinariorum & ejusdem Marinariis Salutem. Paroch. Antiq. 322. The Mariners of a Ship are accountable to the Master; the Master to the Owners; and the Owners to the Merchant, for all Damages by Negligence, or otherwise. Lex Mercat. or Merch. Compan. 66. It has been held, that if Goods are stolen from a Master of a Ship, whilst his Ship is in the River of Thames, he is chargeable; though not when he is gone out of the Realm, for a Robbery committed at Sea: But it was otherwise adjudged, where it was proved there was no Negligence in the Matter. Mich. 22 Car. 2. 1 Mod. Rep. 85. If a Mariner be hired, and he deserts the Service before the Voyage is ended, by the Law Marine, and by the Common Law, he shall lose his Wages: And if a Ship is lost by Tempest, &c. the Mariners lose their Wages as well as the Owners their Freight; and this is to oblige them to use their utmost Endeavours to preserve the Ship. Leg. Oleron. 1 Sid. 179. Where a Mariner is wounded in the Service of a Ship, he is to be provided for at the Charge of the Ship; and if his Illness is very violent, he shall be left ashore with necessary Accommodations, and the Ship is not to stay for him; if he recovers, he is intitled to his full Wages, deducting what the Master expended for him. Leg. Ol. c. 7. The Common Law hath Jurisdiction for Mariners Wages; and in the Admiralty they may all join. 1 Vent. 146. Personating Mariners and Receiving their Wages; and Forging Letters of Attorney, &c. or falsely taking out Letters of Administration, for the Receipt of Seamen's Wages, incurs a Forfeiture of 200*l.* Et. Stat. 9 & 10 W. 3. A late Act hath ordained, That no Master of a Ship shall retain any Seaman or Mariner, without a Contract in Writing for his Wages, on Pain of forfeiting 5*l.* And if a Mariner refuse to proceed afterwards on the Voyage, he shall forfeit his Wages; and on Complaint to a Justice of Peace, he may commit the Offender to the House of Correction, to be kept to hard Labour, not exceeding thirty Days, Et. c. Also Mariners absenting from Ships incur a Forfeiture of two Days Pay, for every Day's Absence, to the Use of Greenwich Hospital; and leaving the same before discharged in Writing, forfeit one Month's Wages: But this shall not debar any Mariner belonging to a Merchant Ship, from entering into the King's Service, Et. c. And on the Arrival of any Ship, the Master is to pay his Men their Wages in thirty Days, or at the Time of their Discharge (deducting the Penalties imposed) on Pain of 20*s.* Stat. 2 Geo. 2. c. 36. No Persons shall pay to any Mariner or common Seaman, for a certain Time, by any Ways or Means whatsoever, nor may any such Mariner take more Wages, than after the Rate of 35*s.* a Month, on Pain of forfeiting treble the Value of the Sum agreed; but this extends not to Seamen hired in Voyages, from any Parts beyond the Seas, to other Parts there, or to Great Britain, by 14 Geo. 2. c. 38. Masters of British and Foreign Ships, trading to the chief Ports of Spain, are to pay a certain Tonnage Duty to Persons there, on the Freight of Goods and Merchandize; as a Contribution for Relief of Seamen shipwrecked, and other distressed Subjects, Et. c. 9 Geo. 2. c. 25. A like Duty to be paid by all Masters of Vessels, Et. c. going from any Part of his Majesty's Dominions to Leghorn, for relieving Mariners that are shipwrecked, and taken in War, by Stat. 10 Geo. 2. c. 14. Mariners serving in Merchant-Ships, exempted from being pressed into the King's Service, for two Years from their first going to Sea, and Apprentices three Years, Et. c. By the Stat. 20 Geo. 2. c. 38. for the Relief and Support of maimed and disabled Seamen, and the Widows and Children of such as shall be killed, slain or drowned in the Merchants Service, reciting that there is no Pension for Seamen disabled, Et. c. in the Merchants Service, and that they are willing to allow Sixpence per Month out of their Wages for the Relief of such as shall be disabled, Et. c. and the Widows and Children of such as shall be killed, Et. c. a Corporation is erected by the Name of the President and Governors for the Relief and Support of, Et. c. who may purchase Lands for building an Hospital, and are to provide for disabled Seamen therein, and to allow Pensions to such as they shall think proper, their Widows and Children. Seamen, who have not served five Years in the Merchants Service, and contributed Sixpence per Month, not to have any Benefit of this Act. Seamen in the Merchants Service to pay 6*d.* per Month, and the Master of the Ship to retain the same out of their Pay, and pay it over to the Receiver of the Corporation. Mariners in the East India Company's Service are exempted from the Duty, and excluded the Benefit of this Act. See 13 Geo. 2. c. 17. And See Navy.

Mariners, Wandering up and down, and who shall not settle themselves to work, or have not a Testimonial under the Hand of a Justice, shewing where they landed, and whither to go, Et. c. Or having such Testimonial, if they exceed the Time limited more than fourteen Days, not being Sick in their Passage home, Et. c. it is Felony by the Statute 39 Eliz. c. 17. But if they cannot work for want thereof, the two next Justices upon their Complaint shall take Order that they may be provided of Work; or otherwise may tax the whole Hundred, till Relief shall be had. Stat. Ibid. And every Parish may be charged for relieving Mariners, as for maimed Sol-

Maritime, (Maritimus) Signifies Sea Affairs; any Thing belonging to the Sea.

Maritima Angliæ, The Profit and Emolument arising to the King from the Sea, which anciently was collected by Sheriffs; but it was afterwards granted to the Lord Admiral. — Richardus de Lucy dicitur habere Maritimam Angliæ. Pat. 8 H. 3. m. 4.

Mark, (Marca, Sax. Mearc) Of Silver is now thirteen Shillings and four Pence: Though in the Reign of King Hen. 1. it was only six Shillings and a Penny in Weight; and some were coined, and some only cut in small Pieces; but those that were coined were worth something more than the others. In former Times, Money was paid, and Things valued oftentimes by the Mark; Assignavimus Regin. pro dote sua mille Marcas Argenti annuatim, 13 s. 4 d. computatis pro Marca. Paten. 3 Job. m. 17. We read of a Mark of Gold of eight Ounces, and of 6*l.* in Silver; or as others write 6*l. 13 s. 4 d.* Stow's Annal. 32. Rot. Mag. Pipe, Ann. 1 Hen. 2.

Mark to Goods, Is what ascertains the Property or Goodness thereof, Et. c. And if one Man shall use the Mark of another, to the Intent to do him Damage, Action upon the Case lieth. 2 Cro. 471. A Penalty is inflicted in this Case, by Stat. 23 Eliz. cap. 8.

Market, (Mercatus, from Mercando, Buying and Selling) Is the Liberty by Grant or Prescription, whereby a Town is enabled to set up and open Shops, Et. c. at a certain Place therein, for Buying, Selling, and better Provision of such Victuals as the Subject wanteth: It is less than a Fair; and usually kept once or twice a Week. Bract. lib. 2. cap. 24. 1 Infl. 220. And according to Bracton, one Market ought to be distant from another Sex leucas (vel Milliar.) & dimidiam, & tertiam partem dimidiam: If one hath a Market by Charter or Prescription, and another obtains a Market near it, to the Nuisance of the former; the Owner of the former may avoid it. 1 Infl. 406. Also where a Man has a Fair or Market, and one erects another to his Prejudice, an Action will lie; and so it is said of a Ferry. 2 Roll. 140. 1 Mod. 69. The Fair or Market is taken for the Place where kept: And formerly it was customary for Fairs and Markets to be kept on Sundays; but by Statute 27 H. 6. c. 5. no Fair or Market shall be kept upon any Sunday, or upon the Feasts of the Ascension, Corpus Christi, Good Friday, All Saints, Et. c. except for necessary Victuals, and in Time of Harvest: And they ought not to be held in Church-yards, by 13 Ed. 1. cap. 6. All Fairs are Markets: And there may be a Market without an Owner; though where there is an Owner, a Butcher cannot prescribe to sell Meat in his own House upon a Market Day; for the Market must be in an open Place, where the Owner may have the Benefit of it. 4 Infl. 272. No Market shall be held out of the City of London within seven Miles: Though all Butchers, Victuallers, Et. c. may hire Stalls and Standings in the Markets there, and sell Meat and Provisions, on four Days in a Week, Et. c. Cit. lib. 101. In the Country, Things sold in the Markets are to be in the usual Place appointed for the Sale: But in London every Shop is a Market Overt, for such Goods as are put there to be sold by the Trade of the Owner; though if the Sale be in a Warehouse, and not publicly in the Shop, the Property is not altered. 5 Rep. 83. Moor 300. Sale upon a Sunday, though in a Fair or Market, will not alter the Property of the Thing sold. 5 Rep. Persons that dwell in the Country, may not sell Wares by Retail in a Market-Town, but in open Fairs: But Countrymen may sell Goods in Gross there. Stat. 1 & 2 P. & M. All Contracts for any Thing vendible in Markets, Et. c. shall be binding, and Sales alter the Property, Property, if made according to the following Rules, viz. 1. The Sale is to be in a Place that is open, so that any one that passeth by may see it, and be in a proper Place for such Goods. 2. It must be an actual Sale for a valuable Consideration. 3. The Buyer is not to know that the Seller hath a wrongful Possession of the Goods sold. 4. The Sale must not be fraudulent betwixt Two, so bar a third Person of his Right. 5. There is to be a Sale and a Contract, by Persons able to contract. 6. The Contract must be originally and wholly in the Market Overt. 7. Toll ought to be paid, where required by Statute, &c. 8. The Sale is not to be in the Night but between Sun and Sun; (though if the Sale be made in the Night it may bind the Parties) A Sale thus made shall bind the Parties, and those that are Strangers, as have a Right. 5 Rep. 83. But it shall not bind the King, for any of his Goods sold in Market Overt; though regularly it bindeth Infants, Feme Coverts, Men beyond Sea, and in Prison, Persons Non compos, &c. 2 Inst. 713. And yet if a Sale be made by an Infant, or Feme Covert, where they appear or are known to be such, (except by a Woman Covert for such Things as she usually trades for, by her Husband's Consent) it bindeth not. 5 Rep. 83. Sale of Goods stolen in London to Brokers, &c. alters not the Property. 1 Jac. 1. c. 21. And the Statutes which ordain, that Toll-takers shall be appointed in Markets and Fairs to enter in their Books the Names of the Buyers, Sellers, Vouchers and Prices of Horses sold, and deliver a Note thereof to the Buyer, &c. secure the Property of stolen Horses to the Owner, although sold in Fair or Market. 2 & 3 P. & M. c. 7. and 31 Eliz. c. 12. Every one that hath a Market shall have Toll for Things sold, which is to be paid by the Buyer, and by ancient Custom may be paid for standing of Things in the Market, though nothing be sold; but not otherwise: A Piepowder Court is incident as well to a Market as a Fair; and Proprietors of Markets ought to have a Pillory and Tumbrel, &c. to punish Offenders. 2 Inst. 231. 4 Inst. 272. 1 Inst. 281. Keeping a Fair or Market, otherwise than it is granted; as by keeping them upon two Days, when one only is granted; or on any other Day than appointed; extorting Toll or Fees, where none are due, &c. are Causes of Forfeiture. Finch 164. And if a Person erects Stalls in a Market, and does not leave Room for the People to stand and sell their Wares, so that they are thereby forced to hire such Stalls, the taking Money for the Use of them, in that Case, is Extortion. 1 Ld. Raym. 149.

Marketzeld, or Marketgeld, Signifies Toll of the Market; the Word Zeld denoting a Payment — Et valent per Ann. le Streteward & le Marketzeld, xviii's in omni Terra pertinens ad Honorem de Haulton. Ex Cod. M. S. in Bibl. Cotton.

Marb-penny, Was a Penny anciently paid at the Town of Malden, by those who had Gutters laid or made out of their Houses into the Streets. Hill. 15 Ed. 1.

Marle, (Marla, from the Sax. Margel, i. e. Madulla) Otherwise called Malin, is a Kind of Earth or Mineral; which in divers Counties of this Kingdom is used to fertilize Land. 17 Ed. 4. cap. 4.

Marlerium, or Marletum, a Marle-pit. — Sciant quod habeant Libertatem in Marleris, &c. Et quod capiant Marlam ad Terram suam Marlend. Chart. Roger. de la Zoub.

Marque, (Fr. i. e. Bonorum detentio) In our ancient Statutes signifies as much as Reprisals; Marque and Reprisal are used as Synonyms, and Letters of Marque in the same Signification. 4 H. 5. cap. 7. And the Word Marque is so called, because the Wrongs whereupon these Letters are granted, are commonly about the Bounds and Limits of every Country. 2 Shep. Abr. 399.

Marquis, or Marquess, (Marchie) Is now a Title of Honour before an Earl, and next to a Duke: And by the Opinion of Hotman, the Name is derived from the German March, signifying originally Custos Limitis, or Comes & praefectus limitis. In the Reign of King Rich. 2. came up first the Title of Marquess, which was a Governor of the Marches; for before that Time those that governed the Marches were called commonly Lords Marches, and not Marquesses, as Judge Doderidge has observed in his Law of Nobility and Peerage. Selden's Mare claus. lib. 2. cap. 19. A Marquis is created by Patent; and anciently by Cincture of Sword, Mantle of State, &c.

Marficus, Is used for Fenny Ground in the Book of Domesday.

Marriage, (Maritagium) Is a civil and Religious Contract, whereby a Man is joined and united to a Woman, for the Ends of Procreation; and signifies not only the lawful Joining of Man and Wife; but also the Interest of bestowing a Ward or Widow in Marriage, in our ancient Law. Magn. Chart. c. 6. And Maritagium is likewise applied to Land given in Marriage; and that Portion which the Husband receives with his Wife. Bras. lib. 2. cap. 34. Glanv. lib. 7. c. 1. In this Sense there are divers Writs De Maritagio, &c. Reg. 171. There's further a Term called Duty of Marriage, signifying an Obligation on Women to Marry; who formerly held Lands charged with personal Services, in order to render them by their Husbands. Cowel. Marriage is generally the Conjunction of Man and Woman in a constant Society and Agreement of Living together; till the Contract is dissolved by Death or Breach of Faith, or some notorious Misbehaviour, destructive of the End for which it was intended. It is one of the Rights of human Nature; and was instituted in a State of Innocence, for Preservation thereof: And nothing more is requisite to a compleat Marriage by the Laws of England, than a full, free, and mutual Consent between Parties, not disabled to enter into that State, by their near Relation to each other, Infancy, Precontract or Impotency; and as to the Solemnization of Marriage, this is regulated by the Laws and Customs of the Nation where we reside; and every State allows such Privileges to the Parties as it deems expedient, and denies legal Advantages to those who refuse to solemnize their Marriage in the Manner the State requires; but they cannot dissolve a Marriage celebrated in another Manner, Marriage being of Divine Institution, to which only a full and free Consent of the Parties is necessary. Before the Time of Pope Innocent III. there was no Solemnization of Marriage in the Church; but the Man came to the House where the Woman inhabited, and led her home to his own House, which was all the Ceremony then used: And it has been since held, that if a Man and a Woman are married by a Priest in a Place which is not a Church or Chapel, and without any Solemnity of the Celebration of Mass, yet it is a good Marriage. Moor's Rep. 170. 1 Rol. Abr. 359. 1 Sid 64. Marriages by Romish Priests, whose Orders are acknowledged by the Church of England, are deemed to have the Effects of a legal Marriage in some Instances; but Marriages ought to be solemnized according to the Rites of the Church of England, to intitle the Privileges attending legal Marriage, as Dower, Thirds, &c. And by Statute, Popish Recusants convicted, married otherwise than according to the Orders of the Church of England, by a Minister lawfully authorized, and in some open Church, &c. shall be disabled, the Man to be Tenant by the Curtesy, and the Woman to claim her Dower, Jointure, or Widow's Estate, &c. 3 Jac. 1. c. 5. Marriage at Common Law is either in Right or in Possession; and a Marriage de Facto, or in Reputation, as among Quakers, &c. is allowed to be sufficient sufficient to give Title to a personal Estate. 1 Leon. 53. Wood's Inst. 59. But in the Case of a Dissenter, married to a Woman by a Minister of the Congregation, who was not in Orders; it was held that when a Husband demands a Right to him as Husband, by the Ecclesiastical Law, he ought to prove himself a Husband by that Law, to intitle him to it: And notwithstanding the Wife, who is the weaker Sex, and the Children of this Marriage, may intitle themselves to a temporal Right by such Marriage; yet the Husband shall not, by the Reputation of the Marriage, unless he hath a substantial Right: And this Marriage is not a meer Nullity, because by the Law of Nature the Contract is binding; for though the positive Law of Man ordains Marriages to be made by a Priest, that Law only makes this Marriage irregular, and not expressly void. 1 Salk. 119. Marriages contracted between lawful Persons, being solemnized in the Face of the Church, and consummated, were declared valid, notwithstanding any Pre-contract, not consummated, by Stat. 32 H. 8. c. 38. But this was repealed by 2 & 3 Ed. 6. c. 23. And all Marriages solemnized by Justices of Peace, during Oliver's Usurpation, were ordained to be good and valid, as if solemnized according to the Rites and Ceremonies of the Church. Stat. 12 Car. 2. c. 33. The Marriages that are made in an ordinary Course, are to be by asking in the Church, and other Ceremonies appointed by the Book of Common Prayer. 23 E. 6. c. 21. By the Ordinances of the Church, when Persons are to be married, the Bans of Matrimony shall be published in the Church where they dwell three several Sundays or Holidays, in the Time of Divine Service; and if at the Day appointed for their Marriage, any Man do alledge any Impediment; as Pre-contract, Consanguinity, or Affinity, Parents not consenting, where under Age, &c. why they should not be married, and become bound with sufficient Sureties to prove his Allegation, then the Solemnization must be deferr'd until such Times as the Truth is tried. Rubrick. And no Minister shall celebrate Matrimony between any Persons without a Faculty or Licence, except the Bans of Marriage have been first published as directed, according to the Book of Common Prayer, on Pain of Suspension per triennium; nor shall any Minister, under the like Penalty, join any Persons in Marriage, who are so licensed, at any unseasonable Times, or in any private Place, &c. Canon 62. Also on the granting of Licences, Bond is to be taken, that there is no Impediment of Precontract, Consanguinity, &c. Nor any Suit or Controversy depending in any Ecclesiastical Court, touching any Contract of Marriage of either of the Parties, with any other; that neither of them are of better Estate, than is suggested; and that the Marriage be openly solemnized in the Parish Church where one of the Parties dwelleth, or the Church mentioned in the Licence, between the Hours of Eight and Twelve in the Morning: Oath is to be likewise made before one of the Doctors of the Commons, that the Man and Woman live at such a Place, are willing to marry, and as to there being no Impediment, &c. Licences to the contrary shall be void; and the Parties marrying are subject to Punishment as for clandestine Marriages. Can. 102. But notwithstanding the Canons aforementioned, Marriages especially of Persons of Quality, are frequently in their own Houses, out of Canonical Hours, in the Evening, and oftentimes solemnized by others in other Churches, than where one of the Parties lives, and out of Time of Divine Service, &c. There are besides some Things disus'd on granting Licences for Marriage; as the Testification of Witnesses of the Consent of Parents, when the Woman is under Age, &c. Though I don't know by what Authority all these Things are dispensed with, except it be in Regard to the Substance of the Marriage, to make the same good without all the Ceremonies. Parsons, Vicars or Curates, marrying any Persons, or employing other Ministers to do it, without publishing the Bans of Matrimony according to Law, or without a Licence for the Marriage first had and obtain'd, shall forfeit 100 l. the Person so married, 10 l. and Parish-Clerks, &c. assisting, knowing it to be so 5 l. Stat. 7 & 8 W. 3. c. 35. And by a subsequent Act, the preceding Statute is confirm'd; and extends to privileged Places, so that if a Parson offending be a Prisoner in any Place, on Conviction he shall be removed to the County Gaol, there to remain in Execution charged with the said Penalty of 100 l. &c. 10 Ann. c. 19. Before these Statutes, an Information was exhibited against certain Persons for Combination, in procuring a clandestine Marriage in the Night, without Bans or Licence, between a Maid-servant and a young Gentleman who was Heir to an Estate, the Person being in Liquor; and they were fined 100 Marks, and ordered to be committed till paid: But it doth not appear that the Marriage could be made void. Cro. Car. 557. Marriages are Prohibited in Lent, and on Fasting Days, because the Mirth attending them is not suitable to the Humiliation and Devotion of those Times; yet Persons may marry with Licences in Lent, although the Bans of Marriage may not then be published. And formerly, in Popish Times, Priests were restrained from Marriage, and their Issue accounted Bastards, &c. But on the Reformation, Laws were made, declaring that the Marriage of Priests should be lawful, and their Children legitimate; though the Preambles to those Statutes set forth, that it would be better for Priests to live chaste, and separate from the Company of Women, that they might with the more Fervency attend the Ministry of the Gospel. 2 & 3, and 5 & 6 Ed. 6. All Persons of the Age of Consent to marry, (viz. A Man at Fourteen, and a Woman at Twelve) who are not prohibited by the Levitical Degrees, or otherwise by God's Law, may lawfully marry: But Marriages made within the Degrees, are incestuous and unlawful. 1 Inst. 24. 2 Inst. 684. Marriage is forbidden to those who are of Kindred lineally; also between such as are Kin in the transverse or collateral Line, until the fourth Degree be past. So in Respect of Affinity, which arises betwixt them that are married and the Kindred of one of them, as between the Husband and the Relations of the Wife; but this prohibits Marriage only to the Persons contracted, &c. for the Cousins of Consanguinity to my Wife, are of Affinity to me only, and not to my Brothers, or Children by a former Wife. 2 Shep. Abr. 414. The Son of a Father by another Wife, and Daughter of a Mother by another Husband, Cousin Germans, &c. may marry with each other: A Man may not marry his Brother's Wife, or Wife's Sister; an Uncle his Niece, an Aunt her Nephew, &c. But if a Man take his Sister to Wife, they are Baron and Feme, and the Issue are not Bastards till a Divorce. Levit. c. 18, 20. 2 Inst. 683. 1 Rel. Abr. 340, 357. 5 Mod. 448. A Libel was exhibited against a Person for marrying his Wife's Sister; the Defendant suggested for a Prohibition, that his Wife was dead, and he had a Son by her, to whom an Estate was descended as Heir to his Mother; yet the Ecclesiastical Court proceeded to annul the Marriage, and to bastardise the Issue: But a Prohibition was granted quoad the Annulling the Marriage, and Bastardising the Issue, and giving Leave to proceed to punish the Incest. 2 Salk. 548. 4 Mod. 182. A Person may not marry his Sister's Daughter: And a Sister's Bastard Daughter is said to be within the Levitical Law of Affinity; it being morally as unlawful to marry a Bastard as one born in Wedlock, and 'tis so in Nature; and if a Bastard doth doth not fall under the Prohibition Ad proximum Sanguinis non accedas, a Mother may marry her Bastard Son. 5 Mod. 168. 2 Nelf. Abr. 1161. There are Persons within the Reason of the Prohibition of Marriage, though not mentioned, and must be prohibited; as the Father from marrying his Daughter, the Grandson from marrying the Grandmother, &c. 2 Nelf. ibid. Vaugh. 321. The Temporal Courts by the Stat. 28 H. 8. c. 7. are to determine what Marriages are within or without the Levitical Degrees; and prohibit the spiritual Courts if they impeach any Persons, for marrying without these Degrees. Vaugb. 206. 2 Ventr. 9. And it is said, were it not for that Statute, we should be under no Obligation to observe the Levitical Degrees. Ibid. When there is a perpetual Impotency; Fear or Imprisonment, so that there can be no Consent; or where Persons are precontracted; a Man or a Woman have a Wife or Husband living, &c. in such Cases the Marriages are to be adjudged void, as prohibited by God's Law. 1 Inst. 235. 2 Inst. 687. The Marriage of a Lunatick, or one not of sound Mind, is also now void. 15 Geo. 2. cap. 30. And although matrimonial Causes have been for a long Time determinable in the Ecclesiastical Courts, they were not so from the Beginning; for as well Causes of Matrimony as Testamentary, were Civil Causes and appertained to the Jurisdiction of the Civil Magistrate, until Kings allow'd the Clergy Cognizance of them. Darvii's Rep. 51. If Persons married are infra annos Nubiles, the Ecclesiastical Judges are to judge as well of the Assent, whether sufficient, &c. as of the first Contract; and where they have Cognizance, the Common Law Judges ought to give Credit to their Sentences, as they do to our Judgments. 7 Rep. 23. Loyalty or Lawfulness of Marriage is always to be tried by the Bishop's Certificate; or Inquisition taken before him, and Examination of Witnesses, &c. Dyer 303. If the Right of the Marriage come naturally in Question, as in Dower, &c. the Lawfulness of Marriage is to be tried by the Bishop's Certificate; but in a Personal Action, where the Right of Marriage is not in Question, it is triable by Jury at Common Law. 1 Lev. 41. Whether a Woman is married, or she is the Wife of such a Person, is triable by a Jury: And in personal Actions it is right to lay the Matter upon the Fact of the Marriage, to make it issuable and triable by a Jury, and not upon the Right of the Marriage as in real Actions and Appeals. 1 Inst. 112. 3 Salk. 64. If the Marriage of the Husband is in Question, Marriage in Right ought to be, and that shall be tried by Certificate. 1 Leon. 53. But if on Covenant to do such a Thing to another upon the Marriage of a Man's Daughter, the Party alleges that he did marry her, &c. This shall be tried per Pais; for the Marriage is only in Issue, and not whether he was lawfully espoused. Cro. Car. 102. Conditions against marrying generally, are void in Law: And if a Condition is annexed to a Legacy; as where Money is given to a Woman, on Condition that she marries with Consent of such a Person, &c. such a Condition is void by the Ecclesiastical Law, because the Marriage ought to be free without Coercion; yet it is said it is not so at the Common Law. 2 Nelf. Abr. 1162. Popb. 58, 59. 2 Lill. 192. A Man contracts to marry with A and after marries B. whereupon A sues him in the spiritual Court, and Sentence is given that he shall espouse A. and cohabit with her, which he doth, and they have Issue, such Issue shall inherit, though there was no Divorce from the Marriage of B. Moor 169. 1 Darv. Abr. 700. If Persons are married before the Age of Consent, they may at that Age disagree and marry again, without any Divorce: Though if they once give Consent when at Age, they cannot afterwards disagree; and where they are married before, there needeth not a new Marriage, if they agree at that Age. 1 Inst. 33. 2 Inst. 182. A Man is at the Age of Consent, and the Woman not; or the Woman of Age, and the Man not; he or she may disagree to the Marriage at the other's coming of Age to consent, as well as the other, for there is a mutual Power of Disagreement. 3 Inst. 88. 6 Rep. 22. 1 Darv. Abr. 699. A Woman cannot disagree within her Age of twelve Years, till which the Marriage continues; and before her Disagreement is void. 1 Darv. 699. Though if a Man marries a Woman under that Age, and afterwards she within her Age of Consent disagrees to the Marriage, and at her Age of twelve Years marries another; now the first Marriage is absolutely dissolved, so that he may take another Wife; for although the Disagreement within the Age of Consent was not sufficient, yet her Taking another Husband at the Age of Consent, and cohabiting with him affirms the Disagreement, and so the first Marriage is avoided. Moor 575, 764. If after Disagreement of the Parties, at the Age of Consent they agree to the Marriage, and live together as Man and Wife, the Marriage hath Continuance, notwithstanding the former Disagreement: But if the Disagreement had been before the Ordinary, they could not afterwards agree again to make it a good Marriage. 1 Darv. Abr. 699. If either Party be under seven Years of Age, Contracts of Marriage are absolutely void: But Marriages of Princes made by the State in their Behalf, at any Age, are held good; though many of those Contracts have been broke through. Swinb. Matrimon. Contr. By the Laws of England, where a mutual Contract of Marriage in Words of present Time can be proved, the Ecclesiastical Courts will compel the Parties to solemnise their Marriage, although either or both of them are married elsewhere, and Children have been the Fruits of it; and the Children of such Marriages are deemed Bastards. Read. Stat. 4 Vol. 192. If the Contract is made in Words of future Time, and this is not carried into Execution by Consummation, &c. and Parties marry elsewhere, the Marriage is good. A Contract of Marriage in the present Time is when it is said, I marry you; You and I are Man and Wife, &c. And such Contract is a Marriage, and not releasable; but a Contract of Marriage in future Time, which is, where it is said, I will marry You, or I Promise to marry You, &c. is releasable. East. Term. 2 Ann. B. R. Holt Ch. Just. held, that if a Contract was in Words of future Time, as I will take thee, &c. and the Man does take her accordingly, and cohabit with her, 'tis a Marriage; and the spiritual Court cannot punish for Fornication. Micb. 5 Ann. 2 Salk. 477, 478. And it has been adjudged on a Promise of future Marriage, if the Parties afterwards lie together, the Contract passes thereby into a real Marriage in Construction of Law. Swinb. I will take, and I do take, are Words of Contract in the future and present Time; and the Words, I will take Thee from henceforth, &c. are as much as I do take Thee, and an absolute Marriage: If it is demanded of a Man, whether he will take the Woman to his Wife, and he answers, I will; and it is demanded of the Woman, if she will take the Man to her Husband, and she answers, I will; by this Marriage, and not Spoufals is said to be contracted. Ibid. It is not necessary in Contracts of Marriage, that both Parties use the same Words or Expressions; for if one Party says I will marry Thee, and the other answers, I am content, &c. hereby Spoufals de futuro are contracted: And if a Man say to a Woman, I Promise to marry Thee, and if thou art content to marry me, Kiss me, or give me thy Hand, if the Woman do Kiss or give her Hand, Spoufals are contracted. Swinb. p. 210. Also if a Ring be solemnly delivered by a Man, and put on the Woman's Fourth Finger; if she accepts and wears it, without any Words, the Parties are presumed to have mutually consented to Marriage. Ibid. And where the Promise of the Man is proved, but no actual Promise on the Woman's Side; if she carry herself as one consenting and approving the Promise of the Man, it is Evidence that the Woman likewise promised. Pascb. 3 Ann. 3 Salk. 16. In Contracts it is not necessarily required, that the Parties contract Matrimony at the same Instant, by Answering one another; but if there be some Distance of Time betwixt the Promise of the one and the other, the Contract may be good, if the Party first promising continues in the same Mind, until the other Party hath promised: But where Persons are under Age to consent, this is not Matrimony, but Spoufals, if it be either, because at their Ages they may dissent; and when Words of the Contract are only conditional on one Side, and on the other absolute; or if the Words are spoken in Jest, they are not obligatory. Swinb. If a Father or Mother promise Marriage for their Child, the Silence of the Child being present and hearing the same, hath been adjudged a Consent to the Contract. Ibid. 69. And Contracts of Marriage may be by absent Parties, by Mediation of their Proctors, or by Messengers or Letters; when by Proxy it is by special Power of Attorney to contract Matrimony or Spoufals for the Party in his Name, with such a Woman, &c. And the Proctor says, I do contract Matrimony with Thee, in the Name of such a One, whose Proctor I am, &c. or that such a Man doth contract Matrimony with Thee by me his Proctor; to which the Woman answers, I do take him to my Husband, by Thee being his Proctor; and both Parties are to continue in the same Mind until the Contract is finished, for before that the Proctor may be revoked, and then the Contract will be void. Swinb. A Promise or Contract of Marriage, by Messenger or Letter is good; unless it appear the Party dissents before the other consents thereto, and the mutual Consent of the other Party ought to be sent immediately, or shortly after, or it will not be good. Ibid.

By Marriage with a Woman, the Husband is intitled to all her Estate real and personal; and the Effects of Marriage are, that the Husband and Wife are accounted one Person, and he hath Power over her Person as well as Estate, &c. 1 Inst. 357. The Marriage of two Persons doth knit them so fast together, that the Husband cannot give any Thing to his Wife by Deed, during the Coverture; but by Will and Devise he may. 2 Ann. 11. But notwithstanding Marriage, in some Cases the Husband and Wife are considered as divers Persons; and so one of them may perform an Act to another: As when they do it in auter droit, where a Feoffment is made to one of them, and Letter of Attorney to the other to give Livery to the Feoffee, &c. Perk. Sect. 169. And it is the same, if the Wife have Power to sell Land by Will; she may sell the same to her Husband; and being an Executrix, may pay a Legacy to him. 1 Inst. 187. All the Goods and Chattels personal of the Wife, are by the Marriage given to the Husband by Law; so that he may dispose of, sell or keep them whilst he lives, and give them away when he dies: And that whether he survive her, or not. 1 Inst. 299. And all the Chattels real, she hath in Possession in her own Right, by the Intermarriage the Man shall have, and these by Act executed in his Life time he may give, grant, &c. and in Case he survives her, he will have them absolutely. 2 Shep. Abr. 419. It is observed, that although all the Husband hath before the Coverture is his own, be it Goods or Lands, and the Wife has immediately nothing therein; yet all that is the Wife's by their Marriage together is made the Husband's. Ibid. The Husband shall be Tenant by the Curtesy of the Wife's Land, after her Death, where he hath Issue by her that might inherit; and the Wife shall have Dower in her Husband's Lands, after the Death of the Husband, &c. Litt. 35, 36. Also as the Wife doth partake of the Name, so of the Nature and Condition of the Husband by the Marriage; for if she be an Earl's Wife, she is a Countess, if a Knight's Wife a Lady; and if he be an Alien and made Denizen, the Wife is so likewise. 39 H. 6. 45. 4 H. 7. 31. Bro. 499. There being divers Advantages by Marriage, to the Man and the Woman; therefore on Promise of Marriage, Damages may be recovered, if either Party refuse to marry; but the Promise must be mutual on both Sides to ground the Action. 1 Salk. 24. And if there be reciprocal Promises of Marriage, as the Woman's Promise to the Man is a good Consideration to make his Obligatory; so his Promise to her is a sufficient Consideration to make hers binding: And though no Time for Marriage be agreed on, if the Plaintiff aver that he offered to marry the Woman, and she refused, Action lies against her, and Damages are recoverable. Cartbaw 467. If a Man and a Woman make mutual Promises of Intermarriage, and the Man gives the Woman 100 l. in Satisfaction of his Promise of Marriage, it is a good Discharge of the Contract. Mod. Caf. 156. By Statute 29 Car. 2. c. 3. no Action shall be brought upon any Agreement on Consideration of Marriage, except it be put in Writing, and sign'd by the Party to be charged, &c. And where an Agreement relating to Marriage must be in Writing after a Year; and when it need not, vide Skinn. 353. A Promise of a Father by Letter to give Money in Marriage with his Daughter is a sufficient Promise in Writing within the Statute. 2 Vent. 361. Where a Person promises to give his Daughter Wedding-Clothes on the Marriage, she shall have two Suits, one for the Wedding-Day, and the other for the Time of Feasting afterwards, according to the Dignity of the Person. Cro. Car. 53. Contracts and Bonds for Money to procure Marriage between others, have been held void in Equity: And where-ever a Parent or Guardian insists upon private Gain, on the Marriage of Children; Covenant or Obligation for it shall be set aside in Chancery, as extorted from the Husband. 3 Lev. 41. 1 Salk. 156. If a Man before Marriage gives Bond and Judgment to the Wife, to leave her worth 1000 l. at his Death, in Consideration of a Marriage Portion, this shall be made good out of the Husband's Estate; and be satisfied before any Debts; provided a Judgment be not obtained against him, with her Consent. An intended Husband in Consideration of a Marriage, covenanted with the intended Wife, that if she would marry him, and she should happen to survive him, he would leave her worth 500 l. The Marriage took Effect, and the Wife survived, and he did not leave her worth that Money; she married a second Husband, and he brought an Action of Debt against the Administrator of the first Husband for the 500 l. To which it was objected, that this being a personal Action, it was suspended by the Marriage, which was a Release in Law, and so extinct; but the Plaintiff had Judgment, for the Action is not suspended, because during the Coverture there was no Cause of Action: Nothing in this Case is due whilst the Coverture takes Place, and the Debt arises by the Death of the Husband. Palm. 99. 2 Sid. 58. A Bond was given by a Man, reciting, he was to marry A. S. and that if the Marriage took Effect, and he did survive her, then within three Months after her Decease, he would pay to the Obligee 300 l. for such Uses as the said A. S. by any Writing under Hand and Seal, subscribed and published in the Presence of two Witnesses, should direct and appoint; this Marriage Bond was adjudged good: 3 Cro. 376: Yelv.

Yelv. 226, 227. A Man and a Woman intending to intermarry, he enters into Articles with her before their Marriage, by which he agreed to settle such Lands upon her, &c. And in Pursuance of those Articles she marries him; if he dies before any Settlement made, the Widow in Equity shall have the Articles executed, and hold the Lands for her Life, &c. 2 Ventr. 243. In Case Articles are enter'd into before Marriage, and afterwards a Settlement is made different therefrom, the Court of Chancery will set up the Articles against it; but where both are finished before the Marriage had, at a Time when all Parties are at Liberty, such Settlement will be taken as a new Agreement between them: This is the general Rule, unless the Deed of Settlement is expressly mentioned to be made in Pursuance of the Marriage Articles, &c. whereby the Intent may still appear to be the same. Talbot's Cas. 20. Articles of Marriage were made for settling Lands on the Husband and Wife, and the Heirs Male and Female of the Body of the Husband by the Wife, &c. and a Settlement was drawn contrary to these Articles, long after which the Husband suffered a Recovery, and devised the Land to others; it was here held to be no Bar to the Heirs Female, who were Decreed to have the Land. 2 Peere Williams 349, 355. Yet it is said, where Relief is to be given in Equity on a Settlement, it must be only to the Persons that claim as Purchasers, as the first and other Sons; and all Remainders after to the Husband's Heirs of his Body, or his Right Heirs, are voluntary and not to be aided. Abr. Cas. Eq. 385. Though a Term to raise Daughters Portions, payable at the Age of Eighteen or Day of Marriage, in a Marriage Settlement is limited in Remainder, to commence after the Death of the Father generally; or if it be in Case he die without Issue Male of his Wife, and she dies first without such Issue, leaving a Daughter, &c. In Equity the Term is saleable during the Life-time of the Father, when the Daughter is eighteen Years old, or married; because every Thing is happened and past which is contingent, for 'tis impossible there should be Issue Male of the Wife when she is dead; and as to the Father's Death, that is not contingent, but certain, by Reason all Men must die: But if there is a Contingency not yet happened, as if the Daughters are to be unmarried, or not provided for at the Time of the Father's Death, &c. it is otherwise. 1 Salk. 159. Upon Marriages, the Settlements generally made of the Estate of the Husband, &c. are to the Husband for Life, after his Death to the Wife for Life for her Jointure, and to their Issue in Remainder, with Limitations to Trustees to support contingent Uses, and Leases to Trustees for Terms of Years, to raise Daughters Portions, &c. And they are made several Ways, by Lease and Release, Fine and Recovery, Covenant to stand seized to Uses, &c. A. comp. Conv. 143. These Settlements the Law is ever careful to preserve, especially that Part of them which relates to the Wife; of which she may not be divested, but by her own Fine: And if a Woman about to marry, to prevent her Husband's Disposal of her Land, conveys it to Friends in Trust, and they with the Husband after Marriage make Sale of the Same; the Court of Chancery will decree the Purchaser to convey to her. Totbil 43. Where a Woman on Marriage, by the Man's Consent makes over her Estate, to be at her own Disposal, the Product or Increase thereof, she can also dispose of: And if the Wife has a separate Maintenance settled on her by the Husband, she may by Writing in the Nature of a Will, give away what she saves, if she dies before the Husband; and shall have the same herself, in Case she outlives him, and it shall not be liable to his Debts. Preced. Canc. 255. 44. But where a Settlement is made on the Wife, in Consideration of her whole Fortune and equivalent to it; here the Wife's Portion, though it be out on Bonds, &c. which upon the Death of the Husband by Law survive to the Wife, shall in Equity be subject to the Husband's Bond Debts, after his Decease, to ease the Real Estate of the Heir. Ibid. 63. And it has been likewise held, that if after the Wife's Death, Debts of her's appear; the Husband shall be answerable for the Debts of the Wife, so far as he had any Money or Estate of hers. Ibid. 256. If a Man in mean Circumstances, marry a Woman of Fortune, upon Suggestion of Lunacy in the Wife by her Friends, the Court will order her Estate to be so settled, that she may not be wrought on by her Husband to give it to him from her Children, by him or any other Husband, &c. Skinn. 110. Marriage is dissolved by the natural Death of the Husband or Wife, or by Divorce; and where a Marriage is dissolved by the Death of the Husband, Dower, &c. survives to the Wife, where no Settlement is made of the Husband's Lands, &c. See Baron and Feme and Chancery.

Form of a Marriage-Deed of Settlement of Lands.

THIS Indenture tripartite, made the Day and Year, &c. Between A. B. of the first Part, C. D. E. F. and G. H. of the second Part, and E. D. Daughter of the said, &c. of the third Part Witnesseth, That the said A. B. for and in Consideration of a Marriage intended (by God's Permission) shortly to be had and solemnized between the said A. B. and the said E. D. and of the Sum of 5000l. to be had and received by the said A. B. as a Marriage Portion with the said E. D. and that a competent Jointure may be had, made, and provided for the said E. D. (in Case the said Marriage shall take Effect) and for the Settling, and Assigning of the Messuages, Lands, Tenements and Hereditaments herein after mentioned, to and upon the several Uses, Intents and Purposes herein after limited and declared, pursuant to the Agreement made upon the Contract of the said intended Marriage; he the said A. B. hath granted, aliened, released and confirmed, and by these Presents doth grant, alien, release and confirm unto the said C. D. E. F. and G. H. (in their actual Possession now being by Virtue of a Bargain and Sale, &c.) and their Heirs, All that Capital Messuage commonly called, &c. and all those Messuages or Tenements, &c. And all other the Messuages, Lands, Tenements and Hereditaments of the said A. B. situate, lying and being in, &c. in the County of, &c. And all Houses, Buildings, Gardens, Orchards, Lands, Tenements, Meadows, Pastures, Feedings, Ways, Waters, Water courses, &c. to the said Messuages and Lands belonging or appertaining, &c. And also the Reversion and Reversions, Remainder and Remainders, &c. And all the Estate, &c. of him the said A. B. of, in, and to the same Premises, and of, in, and to every Part and Parcel thereof, with the Appurtenances: To have and to hold all and singular the said Messuages, Lands, Tenements and Hereditaments above-mentioned, and every Part and Parcel thereof, with the Appurtenances, unto the said C. D. E. F. and G. H. their Heirs and Assigns, to and for the several Uses, Intents, Trusts, and Purposes herein after mentioned, limited, expressed and declared, (that is to say) To the Use and behoof of the said A. B. and his Heirs, until the Marriage between him and the said E. D. his intended Wife, shall be had and solemnized; and from and after the Solemnization thereof, to the Use and behoof of the said A. B. and his Assigns, for and during the Term of his natural Life, without Impairment of Waste; and from and after the Determination of that Estate, by Forfeiture, or otherwise, to the Use and behoof of the said C. D. E. F. and G. H. and their Heirs, for and during the natural Life of the said A. B. In Trust, to preserve and support the contingent Remainders herein after limited from being defeated and destroyed, and for that that Purpose to make Entries, and bring Actions, as the Case shall require; yet nevertheless in Trust to permit and suffer the said A. B. and his Assigns, to receive and take the Rents, Issues, and Profits thereof, to his and their own proper Use and Benefit during his natural Life; and from and after the Decease of the said A. B. to the Use and Beboof of the said E. F. (intended Wife of the said A. B.) and her Assigns, for and during the Term of her natural Life, for her Jointure, and in full Satisfaction and Bar of her Dowry or Thirds, which she may claim to have in any Lands, Tenements or Hereditaments, whereof or where in be the said A. B. shall at any Time during his Life, be seised of any Estate of Inheritance; and from and after the Decease of the Survivor of them the said A. B. and E. his intended Wife, to the Use and Beboof of the Heirs Males of the Body of the said A. B. on the Body of the said E. D. lawfully to be begotten; or to the Use and Beboof of the first Son of the Body of the said A. B. &c. and the Heirs Males of the Body of such first Son lawfully issuing; and for Default of such Issue, then to the Use and Beboof of the second Son, &c. and so to the Third and Fourth; and then to the Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth Son and Sons, and all and every other Son and Sons, severally and successively and in Remainder one after another, as they shall be in Seniority of Age and Priority of Birth, and of the Heirs Male of the Body of all and every such Sons, &c. the elder and the Heirs Male of his Body, always to be preferred, and take before the Younger, &c. And for Default of such Issue, to the Use and Beboof of the said C. D. E. F. and G. H. their Executors, Administrators and Assigns, for and during the Term of 500 Years thence next following, and fully to be compleat and ended, upon the Trusts, and to and for the Ends, Intents and Purposes herein after declared, of and concerning the same Term; and from and after the Expiration, or other sooner Determination of that Term, to the Use and Beboof of the said A. B. his Heirs and Assigns for ever. Provided always, and it is hereby declared and agreed, by and between the said Parties to these Presents, that the said Term of 500 Years so limited to them the said C. D. E. F. and G. H. their Executors, Administrators and Assigns, as aforesaid, is upon this Condition; That if the said A. B. shall happen to die without Issue Male, by him begotten on the Body of the said E. or shall leave Issue Male, and such Issue Male shall die without Issue Male of his or their Body or Bodies begotten; and that in either of the said Cases, there shall happen to be one or more Daughter or Daughters of the said A. B. on the Body of the said E. begotten, that then and in such Case, if the said A. B. his Heirs or Assigns do, and shall well and truly pay or cause to be paid to such Daughter or Daughters respectively, at her and their respective Ages of twenty-one Years or Days of Marriage, the several Portions following, (that is to say) if it shall happen there shall be but one such Daughter, then the Sum of 5000l. for the Portion of such Daughter, to be paid to her at her Age of twenty-one Years, or Day of Marriage, which shall first happen, with Interest in the mean Time after the Rate of 5l. per Cent. per Annum; and if it shall happen that there shall be two or more such Daughters, then the Sum of 6000l. &c. for the Portions of such two or more Daughters, to be equally divided among them, Share and Share alike, and to be paid to them respectively at their respective Ages of twenty-one Years or Days of Marriage, which shall first happen, with Interest therefor in the mean Time, &c. And if any such Daughter or Daughters shall happen to die unmarried, before her or their Portion or Portions shall become payable as aforesaid, then the Portion or Portions of her or them so dying, shall go and be paid to the Survivors or Survivor of them, equally to be divided among them, Share and Share alike, (to be paid at the same Time as the original Portions should or ought to become payable, as aforesaid, in Case they had been living) so as no one such Daughter shall have for her Portion by Survivorship, or otherwise, by Virtue of the said Term of 500 Years, above the Sum of 5000l. And in Case there shall be no such Daughter who shall live to be married, or attain the Age of twenty-one Years, that then, and in either of the said Cases so happening, the said Term shall cease, determine, and be void; any Thing herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding. Provided also, and upon this further Condition, that in Case the said A. B. shall happen to die without such Issue Male as aforesaid, and shall happen to leave one or more Daughter or Daughters, as aforesaid, and such Daughter or Daughters, or either of them, shall happen to marry in the Life time of the said A. B. and E. his intended Wife, or either of them, or in the Life time of the said Trustees, or any or either of them, without the Consent of such of them the said A. B. and E. and of the said Trustees, or the greater Number of them then living, signed and declared under their Hands; that then the Portion and Portions hereby intended for such Daughter and Daughters so marrying respectively, shall go and be paid to such other Daughter or Daughters who shall marry with such Consent as aforesaid; and in Case all such Daughters shall happen to marry without such Consent as aforesaid, that then the said Term of 500 Years shall cease and be void. Provided also, and it is hereby further declared and agreed, that it shall and may be lawful to and for him the said A. B. during his Life, and after his Death for the said E. his intended Wife, during her Life, in Case the said intended Marriage shall take Effect, by any Writing or Writings under his or her Hand and Seal respectively, attested by two or more credible Witnesses, to make any Lease or Leases, Demise or Grant of all or any Part or Parts of the said Messuages and Lands abovementioned to any Person or Persons whatsoever, for the Term of twenty one Years, or for any Term or Number of Years not exceeding twenty one Years, so as such Leases, Demises, or Grants for Years, be made to commence and take Effect in Possession within one Year after the Date thereof; and so as upon all and every such Lease or Leases, Demises, or Grants for Years to be made by the said A. B. and E. his intended Wife respectively, there be reserved payable yearly, during the Continuance thereof, the best and most improved yearly Rents, which at the Time of Making thereof, can or may be gotten for the same; and so that in every such Lease there be contained a Clause of Re-entry for Non-payment of the Rent or Rents thereby reserved; and so as the Lessee and Lessees to whom such Lease and Leases shall be made, do seal and deliver Counterparts of such Lease and Leases. And the said A. B. for himself, his Heirs and Assigns, doth covenant and grant, to and with the said C. D. E. F. and G. H. their Heirs and Assigns, that the said Messuages, Lands and Premises abovementioned, shall and may from henceforth, for ever hereafter, be, remain, and continue, to, for, and upon the several Uses, Intents, Trusts and Purposes, and under and subject to the several Limitations and Agreements beforementioned and expressed concerning the same, according to the true Intent and Meaning of these Presents. And also, that he the said A. B. and his Heirs, and all and every other Person and Persons, and his and their Heirs, any Thing having or claiming in the said Messuages, Lands and Premises abovementioned, or any Part thereof, by, from, or under him, them, or any of them, shall and will at all Times hereafter, upon the reasonable Request of the said C. D. E. F. and G. H. their Heirs and Assigns, make, do and execute, or cause or procure to be made, &c. all and every such further and other lawful and reasonable Grants, Acts and Assurances in the Law whatsoever, for the further, better, and more perfect Granting and Assuring of all and singular the said Messuages, Lands and Premises abovementioned, with the Appurtenances, to and for the several Uses, Intents and Purposes above declared, limited and appointed, pointed, and according to the true Intent and Meaning of these Presents, as by the said C. D. E. F. &c. and their Heirs, or their, or any of their Counsel learned in the Law shall be reasonably devised, or advised and required. And further, it is covenanted, granted, concluded and agreed upon, by and between the said Parties to these Presents, and the true Meaning hereof also is, and it is hereby so declared, that all and every Fine and Fines, and also all and every Recovery and Recoveries, Assurance and Assurances, Conveyance and Conveyances in the Law whatsoever already had, made, levied, suffered, executed or acknowledged, or at any Time hereafter to be had, made, &c. of the said Messuages, Lands and Premises abovementioned, or any Part thereof, either alone or jointly with any other Lands, Tenements or Hereditaments, by or between the said Parties to these Presents, or by or between them or any of them, and any other Person or Persons, as for and concerning all and singular the said Messuages, Lands and Premises abovementioned, and every Part thereof with the Appurtenances, shall be and enure, and shall be adjudg'd, esteem'd and taken to be and enure, to and for the several Uses, Intents and Purposes abovementioned, limited, expressed and declared, according to the true Intent and Meaning of these Presents, and to and for none other Use, Intent or Purpose whatsoever. In Witness, &c.

By Statute, to steal or take away any Woman, having an Estate in Lands or Goods, or that is Heir apparent, against her Will, and marry or defile her, is Felony. 3 H. 7. cap. 2. And if any Persons married, do marry any other Person, the former Husband or Wife being alive, it is Felony: But where a Husband or Wife are abroad beyond Sea, &c. seven Years, the one not knowing the other to be living; or there is a Divorce of the Husband and Wife, &c. they are excepted out of the Act 1 Jac. 1. c. 11. A Husband being absent seven Years in New England or Ireland, this is beyond the Seas, and within the Words of the Exception of the Act, yet in the King's Dominions: And if the Husband or Wife, be abroad seven Years, though the Party marrying here hath Notice, that he or she is alive, 'tis no Felony; but if the Absent Person be living in England, Wales or Scotland, and the other Party have Notice, 'tis Felony by the Statute. 1 Hale's Hist. P. C. 693. And in these Cases, the first and true Wife, is not allowed as a Witness against the Husband, but the second Wife may be admitted to prove the second Marriage; for she is not in Law his Wife. Ibid. If the first Marriage were beyond Sea, and the later in England, the Party may be indicted for it here; the later Marriage making the Crime: Though if the first Marriage be in England, and the later beyond Sea, the Offender can't be indicted there. 1 Sid. 171. Kel. 80. If a married Man pretend himself to be a single Person, and make Love to a single Woman and marry her; for this Injury in the Loss of her Credit, &c. as to the Marriage of any other Man, Action lies. Skinner's Rep. 119. See Forcible Marriage, &c.

Marshall, (Marescallus) Is a French Word, signifying as much as Tribunus militum, with the ancient Romans; and Marescallus may also come from the German Marſchalk, i. e. Equitum Magister, which Hotoman in his Feuds under verb. Marchalcus derives from the old Word March, which signifies a Horse; and others make it of the Sax. Mar, i. e. Equus & Scalch, Præſebus. In France there are Marshals of the Camp, called Marshals of France: And of the Nobility and Diets, in Poland, &c. With us there are several Officers of this Name; the Chief whereof is the Earl Marshal of England, mentioned in the Stat. 1 Hen. 4. c. 7. and 13 R. 2. cap. 2. &c. whose Office consists especially in Matters of War and Arms, as well in this Kingdom as in other Countries; and this Office is very ancient, having formerly greater Power annex'd to it than now; it has been long hereditary in the Family of the Duke of Norfolk. The next is the Marshal of the King's House, otherwise called Knight Marshal; and his Authority is exercised in the King's Palace, in hearing and determining all Pleas of the Crown, and Suits between those of the King's House and other Persons within the Verge, and punishing Faults committed there, &c. 18 Ed. 3. c. 7. 27 Ed. 3. Stat. 2. c. 6. and 2 H. 4. cap. 13. Crompt. Jurisd. 192. Fleta mentions a Marshal of the King's Hall, to whom it belongs, when the Tables are prepared, to call out those of the Household and Strangers, according to their Rank and Quality, and properly place them. Fleta, lib. 2. cap. 15. There are other inferior Officers called Marshal, as Marshal of the Justice in Eyre. Anno 13 Ed. 1. cap. 19. Marshal of the King's Bench, Stat. 5 Ed. 3. c. 8. who hath the Custody of the Prison called the King's Bench Prison in Southwark. This Officer gives Attendance upon the Court, and takes into his Custody all Prisoners committed by the Court; he is finable for his Absence, and Non-attendance is a Forfeiture of his Office. Hill. 21 & 22 Car. 2. There is also a Marshal of the Exchequer, to whom that Court commits the Custody of the King's Debtors, for securing the Debts; he likewise assigns Sheriffs, Customers and Collectors, their Auditors, before whom they shall account. Stat. 51 Hen. 3. 5.

Marshalsey, (Marescallia) Is the Court or Seat of the Marshal of the King's House: And it is used for the Prison in Southwark, which is so called; the Reason whereof may be, because the Marshal was wont to sit there in Judgment. Stat. 28 Ed. 1. c. 3. 13 R. 2. and 2 H. 4. c. 23. Also in the Court of King's Bench, the Forms of Bills and Declarations run: That A. B. complains of C. D. in Custody of the Marshal of the Marshalsey of our Lord the King. 2 Shep. Abr. 395. King Char. 1. by Letters Patent under the Great Seal, erected a Court by the Name of Curia Hospitii Domini Regis, &c. which takes Cognizance more at large of all Causes, than the Marshalsey could; of which the Knight Marshal or his Deputy is Judge. See Court of Marshalsey.

Martial Law, Is the Law of War, that depends upon the just but arbitrary Power and Pleasure of the King, or his Lieutenant; for though the King doth not make any Laws but by common Consent in Parliament, yet in Time of War, by Reason of the Necessity of it to guard against Dangers that often arise, he useth absolute Power, so that his Word is a Law. Smith de Repub. Angl. lib. 2. cap. 4. The Martial Law, according to Chief Justice Hale, is in Reality, not a Law, but something indulged rather than allowed as a Law; and it relates only to Members of the Army, being never intended to be executed upon others, who ought to be ordered and governed by the Laws to which they are subject, though it be a Time of War. Hale's Hist. L. 39. And the Exercise of Martial Law, whereby any Person might lose his Life or Member, or Liberty, may not be permitted, in Time of Peace; when the King's Courts are open for all Persons to receive Justice. Ibid. 40. Alien Enemies invading the Kingdom, &c. shall be dealt with and executed by Martial Law. H. P. C. 10, 15. Also Soldiers are punished for Desertion, &c. in a Court Martial by Statutes 4 & 5 W. & M. 7 Ann. 1 Geo. 1, &c. See Law of Arms.

Martyrology, (Martyrologium) A Book of Martyrs, containing the Lives, &c. of those Men who die for their Religion. Also a Calendar or Register kept in Religious Houses, wherein are set down the Names and Donations of their Benefactors, and the Days of their Death, that upon every Anniversary they may commemorate and pray for them: And several Benefactors have made it a Condition of their Beneficence, to be inserted in the Martyrology. Paroch. Antiq 189.

Mafagium, Anciently used for Messuagium, a Messuage.—Et nunc Mafagium in Villa de M. &c. Pat. 16 R. 2.

Masons. To plot Confederacies amongst Masons, is declared Felony by an old Statute; and such as assemble thereon shall suffer Imprisonment, and make Fine and Ranfom. Stat. 3 H. 6. c. 1.

Masser, A Priest that says Mafs. Blount.

Mafs-Priest. In former Times secular Priests, to distinguish them from the Regulars, were called Mafs-Priests, and they were to officiate at the Mafs, or in the ordinary Service of the Church: Hence Messe-Preost in many of our Saxon Canons, for the Parochial Minister; who was likewise sometimes called Messe-Tbogne, because the Dignity of a Priest in many Cases was thought equal to that of a Thein or lay Lord. But afterwards the Word Mafs-Priest was restrained to Stipendiaries retained in Chantries, or at particular Altars, to say so many Masses for the Souls of the Dead.

Mast, (Glaus, Pessona) The Acorn and Nuts of the Oak, or other large Tree.—Glandis Nomine continentur glaus, castanea, fagina, ficus & nuces, & alia quaeque quae edi & pasci possunt praeter Herbam. Braet. lib. 4. Tempus Pessonae often occurs for Mast-time, or the Season when Mast is ripe; which in Norfolk they call Shacking-time.—Quod habeat decem Porcos in Tempore de Pesson in Bosco meo, &c. Mon. Angl. Tom. 2. pag. 113, 231. There is a Tree called Mast-Tree; and a Mast or Sail of a Ship.

Masser, (Magister) Signifies in general a Governor, Teacher, &c. And also in many Cases an Officer. See Servant.

Master of the Armozy, (Magister Armorum & Armaturae Regis) Is an Officer that hath the Care and Oversight of his Majesty's Arms and Armory, mentioned in the Stat. 39 Eliz. c. 7.

Master of the Ceremonies, (Magister Admissorum) Is one that receives and conducts Ambassadors and other great Persons to Audience of the King, &c. This Office was instituted by King James 1. for the more magnificent Reception of Ambassadors and Strangers of the greatest Quality.

Master of Chancery, (Magister Cancellariae) In the Chancery there are Masters, who are Assistants to the Lord Chancellor, or Lord Keeper, and Master of the Rolls: Of these there are some Ordinary, and some Extraordinary; the Masters in Ordinary are twelve in Number; and some sit in Court every Day, during the Term, and have referred to them interlocutory Orders for stating Accounts, computing Damages, and the like; and they also administer Oaths, take Affidavits, and Acknowledgments of Deeds and Recognizances: The extraordinary Masters are appointed to act in the Country, in the several Counties of England, beyond ten Miles Distance from London; by taking Affidavits, Recognizances, Acknowledgments of Deeds, &c. for the Ease of the Suitors of the Court. By the Stat. 13 Car. 2. a publick Office was ordained to be kept near the Rolls, for the Masters in Chancery; in which they or some of them are constantly to attend, for the Administring of Oaths, Caption of Deeds, and Dispatch of other Business: And their Fees for taking Affidavits, Acknowledgment of Deeds, Exemplifications, Reports, Certificates, &c. are ascertained by that Act; and to take more, incurs Disability for such Master to execute his Office, and a Forfeiture of 100*l.* &c.

Matter in Deed, and Matter of Record, Are often mentioned in Law Proceedings, and differ thus: The first seems to be nothing else but some Truth or Matter of Fact to be proved by some Specialty, and not by any Record; and the latter is that which may be proved by some Record: For Example; If a Man be sued to an Exigent, during the Time he was abroad in the Service of the King, &c. this is Matter in Deed, and he that will alledge it for himself, must come before the Scire facias for Execution be awarded against him; but after that, nothing will serve but Matter of Record, that is, some Error in the Process appearing upon the Record. There is also a Difference between Matter of Record and Matter in Deed, and Nude Matter; the last being a naked Allegation of a Thing done, to be proved only by Witnesses, and not either by Record or Specialty. Old Nat. Br. 19. Kitch. 216.

Maugre, (From the Fr. Mal, and gre, i. e. Animo iniquo) Signifies as much as to say with an unwilling Mind or in Despight of another; as where it is said, that the Wife shall be remitted, Maugre the Husband, that is, whether the Husband will or no. Lit. Sect. 672.

Maum, A soft brittle Stone in some Parts of Oxfordshire; and in Northumberland they use the Word Maum for soft and mellow. Plot's Nat. Hist. Oxfordsh. p. 63.

Maxims in Law, Are the Foundation of it; or certain Rules or Positions, which are the Conclusions of Reason, and ought not at any Time to be impeached. They are Principles and Authorities, and Part of the general Customs or Common Law of the Land; and are of the same Strength as Acts of Parliament, when the Judges are determined what is a Maxim; which belongs to the Judges, and not a Jury. Terms de Ley 438. Doct. & Stud. Dial. 1. c. 8. A Maxim in Law is said to be a Proposition of all Men confessed and granted, without Argument or Discourse. Maxims of the Law are holden for Law; and all other Cases that may be applied to them, shall be taken for granted. 1 Inst. 11. 67. 4 Rep. The Maxims in our Books, which are many and various, are such as the following, viz. It is a Maxim, That Land shall descend from the Father to the Son, &c. That if a Man have two Sons by divers Venters, and the one purchase Lands and dies without Issue, the other shall never be his Heir, &c. That as no Estate can be vested in the King without Matter of Record, so none can be divested out of him but by Matter of Record. That an Obligation, or other Matter in Writing, cannot be dissolved by an Agreement by Word, without Writing. Co. Litt. 11, 141.

Mayor, (Præfatus urbis, anciently Meyr, comes from the Brit. Miret, i. e. Custodire, or from the old English Word Maier, viz. Potestas, and not from the Lat. Major) Is the chief Governor or Magistrate of a City or Town; as the Lord Mayor of London, the Mayor of Southampton, &c. King Rich. 1. Anno 1189. changed the Bailiffs of London into a Mayor; and from that Example King John made the Bailiff of King's Lynn a Mayor, Anno 1204. Though the famous City of Norwich obtained not this Title for its chief Magistrate, till the seventh Year of King H. 5. Anno 1419, since which there are few Towns of Note, but have had a Mayor appointed for Government. Spelm. Gloss. Mayors of Corporations are Justices of Peace pro Tempore, and they are mentioned in several Statutes; but no Person shall bear any Office of Magistracy concerning the Government of any Town, Corporation, &c. that hath not received the Sacrament, according to the Church of England, within one Year before his Election; and who shall not take the Oaths of Supremacy, &c. Stat. 13 Car. 2. cap. 1. And by this Statute, Mayors, &c. were likewise to subscribe a Declaration, that there lay no Obligation upon them from the Oath commonly called the solemn League and Covenant; which is repealed by a late Statute. The 10 Ann. cap. 2. prohibited Mayors and Officers of Corporations from going to Conventicles, under the Penalty of 40 l. &c. But this is altered by 5 Geo. 1. cap. 6 though the Gown, Mace, or other Ensigns of Magistracy, may not be worn or carried to a Conventicle, on Pain of Disability to enjoy any Office, &c. If any one intrudes into, and thereupon executes the Office of Mayor, a Quo Warranto Information may be brought against him; and he shall be ousted and fined, &c. And no Person who hath been or shall be in an Annual Office in any Corporation for one Year, shall be chosen into the same Office the next Year, and obstructing the Choice of a Successor incurs the Penalty of 100 l. Stat. 9 Ann. c. 20. Also if no Mayor be elected in a Corporation, on the Day appointed by Charter, by the proper Officers, the next in Place is to hold a Court, and elect one the next Day following, &c. or in Default thereof, the Court of King's Bench may compel the Electors to chuse one, &c. by Writ of Mandamus, requiring the Members who have a Right to vote, to assemble themselves on a Day prefixed, and proceed to Election, or shew Cause to the contrary; and Mayors, &c. voluntarily absenting on the Day of Election, shall be imprisoned six Months, and be disabled to hold any Office in the Corporation. 11 Geo. 1. cap. 4. The Authority of Mayors is contained in the following Particulars: The Statute 2 Ed. 3. gives Power to Mayors to arrest Persons carrying offensive Weapons in Fairs, Markets, &c. to make Affrays, and the Disturbance of the Peace. By Stat. 23 Hen. 8. Mayors, &c. have Power to set the Price of Ale and Beer: And they are authorized to convict Persons selling Ale without Licence; and also to levy the Penalties on the Offender by Distress, &c. 3 Car. 1. And they are to cause Quart and Pint Pots for the Selling of Ale, to be examined whether they hold their full Measure; and to mark them, under the Penalty of 5 l. 11 & 12 W. 3. Mayors, Bailiffs, and Lords of Leets, are to regulate the Manner of Bread, and examine into the Goodness thereof; and if Bakers make unlawful Bread, they may give it to the Poor, and Pillory the Offenders, &c. 52 Hen. 3. And the 8 Ann. and 1 Geo. 1. direct, that Mayors and Chief Magistrates of Towns, &c. may in the Day-time enter into any House, Shop, Bakehouse or Warehouse, of any Baker or Seller of Bread, to search for, view, and try all or any of the Bread there found; and if the Bread be wanting in Goodness, deficient in Baking, under Weight, or not truly marked; or shall consist of any other Sort than what is allowed, the same Bread shall be seized and distributed to the Poor: And the former Statute imposes a Penalty of 40 s. for want of Weight, or not being marked as appointed, &c. but this is made 5 s. for every Ounce wanting in Weight, and 2 s. 6 d. if under an Ounce, (Complaint being made, and the Bread weighed before a Magistrate within twenty-four Hours) by the 1 Geo. 1. And Bakers selling their large Bread at a higher Price than set by Mayors, &c. shall forfeit 10 s. to the Informer, to be levied by Distress, &c. By Stat. 3 Geo. 2. Mayors, &c. are empowered to make Enquiry into Offences committed against the Stat. 1 Eliz. which requires that the Common Prayer be read in Churches; and that Churchwardens do their Duty in presenting the Names of such Persons as absent themselves from Church on Sundays, &c. Head Officers of Corporations are to appoint and swear Overseers or Searchers to examine into Defects of Northern Cloth, &c. and the Overseers shall fix a Seal of Lead to Cloths, expressing the Length and Breadth; and if they find any faulty, or sealed with a false Seal, &c. they are to present the same at the next Quarter-Sessions: Mayors, &c. neglecting their Duty, are liable to a Penalty of 5 l. 39 Eliz. cap. 20. Mayors may determine whether Coin offered in Payment be counterfeited or not; and tender an Oath to determine any Question relating to it. 9 & 10 W. 3. Chief Magistrates of Ports, where Goods are conveyed away, which are liable to Customs, before Entry made, and the Duties agreed, are to grant their Warrants for the Apprehension of the Offender, &c. 12 Car. 2. By 23 Eliz. Mayors, &c. may call before them and examine Dyers, suspected to use Logwood in Dying; and if they find Cause, may bind them over to the Quarter-Sessions, where on Conviction, they are liable to a Forfeiture of 20 l. But see Stat. 14 Car. 2. c. 11. and the late Act 13 Geo. 1. Mayors and Head Officers of Corporations, are to punish Drunkennes, by imposing a Fine of 5 s. on View, Confession, or Proof by one Witness, or cause the Offender to be put in the Stocks for six Hours. 1, 4 & 21 Jac. 1. And Persons sitting tippling in an Alehouse, Inn, &c. are liable to Punishment by Mayors, who may levy 3 s. 4 d. on such Offenders, for every Offence, for the Use of the Poor, or cause them to be set in the Stocks four Hours; And the Alehouse keepers, &c. suffering Tippling in their Houses, are subject to a Penalty of 10 s. Ibid. Head Officers and Justices of Peace in Corporations, may inquire of Forcible Entries, commit the Offenders, and cause the Tenements to be seized, &c. within their Franchises, in like Manner as Justices of Peace in the County. 8 H. 6. Mayors, &c. shall enquire into unlawful Gaming, against the Stat. 33 Hen. 8. They are to search Places suspected to be Gaming-houses, and levy Penalties, &c. and they have Power to commit Persons playing at unlawful Games. Mayors and Justices of Peace of Corporations, are empowered to execute all the Laws relating to the Highways, by 1 Geo. 1. Horses stolen, found in a Corporation, may be redeemed by the Owner, making Proof before the Head Officer of the Corporation of the Property, &c. 31 Eliz. Mayors and Head Officers in Corporate and Market-Towns, and Lords of Liberties and their Stewards, are to appoint and swear two skilful Persons yearly, to be Searchers and Sealers of Leather; and they are to appoint Triers of insufficient Leather, and of Leather Wares: Searchers not doing their Duty to forfeit 40 s. and Triers 5 l. 1 Jac. 1. cap. 22. Persons robbing Orchards, Hedgebreakers, &c. are punishable by Mayors; and a Person on Conviction by the Oath of one Witness, shall pay to the Person injured such Damage as the Mayor, &c. shall think fit, or be whipped. 43 Eliz. Mayors, &c. on Receipt of Precepts from Sheriffs, (when Writs are issued for Elections) requiring them to chuse Burgesses or Members of Parliament, by the Citizens, &c. are to proceed to Election, and make Returns by Indenture between them and the Electors; and making a false Return, shall forfeit 40 l. to the King, and the like Sum to the Party chosen not returned, &c. 23 H. 6. See the Stat. 2 Geo. 2. In Time of Sickness, a Tax may be laid on Inhabitants of Corporations, for relieving such Persons as have the Plague, by Mayors, &c. who are to appoint Searchers and Buriers of the Dead: And if any infected Persons shall go abroad with Sores upon them, after an Head Officer hath commanded them to keep at Home, it is Felony; and if they have no Sores Sores about them, they are punishable as Vagrants. 1 Jac. 1. The Stat. 43 Eliz. which directs that the Father, Grandfather, Mother, Grandmother, and Children, of every poor Person, shall be assessed towards their Relief by Justices, and which empowers Justices of Peace to order a Poor's Rate or Tax, and Overseers of the Poor, &c. to place forth Apprentices, and sets forth the Office of Overseers; gives the like Authority to Head Officers in Corporate Towns, as Justices of Peace have in their Counties; which said Justices are not to intermeddle in Corporations for the Execution of this Law. Mayors, Bailiffs and other Head Officers of Corporate Towns, &c. are to make Proclamation for Rioters to disperse, as follows: Our Sovereign Lord the King charges and commands all Persons assembled, immediately to disperse themselves, and peaceably depart to their Habitations, upon Pain of Imprisonment, &c. And if the Rioters being twelve in Number, do not disperse within an Hour after, it is Felony without Benefit of Clergy, &c. 1 Geo. 1. Matters relating to Servants, and Apprentices, may be determined by Mayors; who have Power to compel Persons to go to Service, &c. 5 Eliz. Mayors may arrest Soldiers departing without Licence: And they are to be present at Musters; quarter and billet Soldiers, &c. 18 Hen. 6. 13 & 14 W. 3. 1 Geo. 1. Persons using Games on a Sunday forfeit 3 s. 4 d. to the Use of the Poor; Carriers, &c. travelling on that Day 20 s. and Persons doing any worldly Labour thereon 5 s. all leviable by Warrant from Mayors and Head Officers of Corporations, as well as other Justices. 1 & 3 Car. 1. 29 Car. 2. And by 3 Car. 1. c. 4. If any Person shall profanely Swear or Curse in the Presence of a Mayor, &c. or be convicted thereof before him, by the Oaths of two Witnesses, he shall forfeit for every Offence 1 s. to the Use of the Poor, or be set in the Stocks three Hours: But the Statute 6 & 7 W. 3. confines the Forfeiture of 1 s. to Servants, Labourers, &c. other Persons being ordered to pay 2 s. and double, treble, &c. on repeating the Offence. Vagrants, or other idle and disorderly Persons, Blind, Lame, &c. or pretending to be so, begging in Streets, a Mayor or Constable may cause them to be whipped. 12 Ann. By former Statutes, Mayors are empowered to make Passes of Vagrants; and Justices in Liberties and Corporations are to issue Warrants to Constables, &c. to make a Search for and apprehend Vagrants before the Quarter-Sessions. Mayors are to set the Rates and Prices of Coopers Vessels; and appoint Searchers and Gaugers of Vessels for Fish, &c. 11 H. 7. 8 Eliz. In every City, Town, &c. there is to be a common Balance, and sealed Weights, under divers Penalties: There is also to be a common Bushel sealed. 8 & 11 Hen. 6. And Mayors, &c. are to provide a Mark for the Sealing of Weights and Measures, being allowed 1 d. for sealing every Bushel and hundred Weight; and a Half penny for every other Measure and Half hundred Weight, &c. Mayors and Head Officers of Corporations, &c. shall view all Weights and Measures once a Year, and punish Offenders using false Weights; and they may break or burn such Weights and Measures, and inflict Penalties, &c. If they permit Persons to sell by Measures not sealed, they shall forfeit 5 l. Sealing Weights not agreeable to the Standard, is liable to the same Penalty; and refusing to seal Weights and Measures, subjects them to a forfeiture of 40 s. 7 H. 7. Mayors, &c. are to inspect and order the Size of Faggot, Billet, Tale Wood, &c. 43 Eliz. See Corporation.

Meal-Rents, Certain Rents heretofore paid in Meal by the Tenants of the Honour of Clun, to make Meat for the Lord's Hounds; they are now payable in Money.

Meals. The Shelves of Land, or Banks on the Sea-Coasts of Norfolk, are called the Meals and the Males. Cowel.

Mean, (Medius) Signifies the Middle between two Extrems; and that either in Time or Dignity: In Time it is the Interim betwixt one Act and another; and applied to mean Profits of Lands between a Disfeisin and Recovery, &c. As to Dignity, there is a Lord Mean or Meine, that holds of another Lord; and mean Tenant, &c. Stat. 13 Ed. 1. Mesne likewise signifieth a Writ, which lies where there is Lord Mean and Tenant; and the Tenant is distrained by the superior Lord, for the Rent or Service of the Mean, who ought to acquit him to the other Lord, then the Tenant shall have his Writ of Mesne; and if the Mean Lord appear not, he shall lose the Service of the Tenant, and be forejudged of his Seignior, and the Tenant shall immediately become Tenant to the chief Lord. Terms de Ley. Also in such Case, the Tenant by Writ may recover Damages if he be distrained; and the Mean Lord be compelled to pay the Rent, and do the Services. F. N. B. 135. If a Man bring a Writ of Mesne where he is not distrained, yet it is maintainable, but then he shall not have Damages; for it is brought only to be acquitted, &c. And Tenant for Term of Life, where the Remainder is over in Fee, shall have this Writ against the Mesne. 7 H. 4. 12. 15 H. 6. New Nat. Br. 330. One brought a Writ of Mesne against a Man because he did not acquit the Plaintiff of a Rent charge demanded, &c. when he by his Deed bound himself and his Heirs to warrant and acquit him; and it was held good: And if a Man have Judgment to recover in this Writ, if he be not afterwards acquitted, he may have a Distringas ad acquietandum against the Mesne; and Scire facias against the Lord. Stat. Westm. 2. c. 9. 14 Ed. 3.

Form of a Writ of Mesne.

GEORGE the Second, &c. to the Sheriff of S. Command A. B. that justly, &c. he acquit C. D. of the Service which E. F. exacts from him, of his Freehold that he holds of the said A. Mease, A Messuage or Dwelling-house. Stat. 14 H. 3. Also a Measure of Herrings, containing five Hundred; the Half of a Thousand is called Mease or Mese. Merch. Dict.

Measure, (Mensura) Is a certain Quantity or Proportion of any Thing sold; and in many Parts of England, is one Bushel. The Statute of Magna Charta, c. 25. ordains, that there shall be but one Measure throughout England, according to the Standard in the Exchequer: Which Standard, was formerly kept in the King's Palace, and in all Cities, Market-Towns and Villages, it was kept in the Churches. 4 Inst. 273. By 17 Car. 1. c. 19. there is to be one Weight and Measure, and one Yard according to the King's Standard; and whosoever shall keep any other Weight or Measure, whereby any Thing is bought or sold, shall forfeit for every Offence 5 s. And by 22 Car. 2. c. 8. Water Measure, as to Corn or Grain, or Salt, is declared to be within the Stat. 17 Car. 1. And if any sell Grain, or Salt, &c. by any other Bushel, or Measure than what is agreeable to the Standard in the Exchequer, commonly called Winchester Measure; he shall forfeit 40 s. &c. Notwithstanding these Statutes in many Places and Counties, there are different Measures of Corn and Grain; and the Bushel in one Place is larger than in another; but the Lawfulness of it is not well to be accounted for, since Custom or Prescription is not allowed to be good against a Statute. Dalt. 250. And we have three different Measures, viz. one for Wine, one for Ale and Beer, and one for Corn: In the Measure of Wine, eight Pints make a Gallon, eight Gallons a Firkin, sixteen Gallons a Kilderkin, Half Barrel or Rundlet, four Firkins a Barrel, two Barrels a Hoghead, two Hogheads a Pipe, and two Pipes make a Tun. 15 R. 2. cap. 4. 11 H. 7. c. 4. 12 H. 7. c. 5. In Measure of Corn eight Pounds or Pints of Wheat make the Gallon, two Gallons a Peck, four Pecks a Bushel, four Bushels a Sack, and eight Bushels a Quarter, &c. Stat. 51 E. 1. 31 Ed. 3. And in other Measures; three Barley Corns in length make an Inch, twelve Inches a Foot, three Foot a Yard, three Foot and nine Inches an Ell, and five Yards and a half, which is sixteen Foot and half, make the Perch, Pole or Rod. 27 Ed. 3. c. 10. Selling by false Measures, being an Offence by the Common Law, may be punished by Fine, &c. upon an Indictment at Common Law, as well as by Statute. See the Stat. 11 Hen. 7. cap. 4. which inflicts particular Fines for Offences, Pillory, &c.

Measurer, or Meeter of Woollen Cloth, and of Coals, &c. is an Officer in the City of London; the latter of great Account. Chart. Jac. 1. See Alnager.

Meadria, Is a Mead House, or Place where Mead or Metheglin is made. Cartular. Abb. Glasf. MS. fol. 29.

Meefee, A Bribe or Reward; and used for a Compensation where Things exchanged are not of equal Value: It is said to come from the Word Mead, which signifies Merit.

Mediæ & infimæ manus Homines, Men of a mean and base Condition, of the lower Sort. Blount.

Medianus, Is a Word used for middle Size; Medianus Homo, A Man of middle Fortune.

Mediators of Questions, Were six Persons authorized by Statute, who upon any Question arising among Merchants relating to unmercatale Wool, or undue Packing, &c. might before the Mayor and Officers of the Staple upon their Oath certify and settle the same; to whose Order and Determination therein, the Parties concerned were to give entire Credence and submit. 27 Ed. 3. Stat. 2. c. 24.

Medietas Linguae, Signifies a Jury or Inquest impanelled, whereof the one Half consists of Natives, and the other Strangers; and is used in Pleas wherein the one Party is a Stranger, the other a Denizen: And this Manner of Trial was first given by the Stat. 27 Ed. 3. cap. 8. Before which, this was wont to be obtained by the King's Grant. Stauf. P. C. lib. 3. cap. 7. He that will have the Advantage of Trial per Medietatem Linguae, must pray it; for it is said he cannot have the Benefit of it by Way of Challenge. S. P. C. 158. 3 Inst. 127. In Petit Treason, Murder and Felony, Medietas Linguae is allowed; but for High Treason, an Alien shall be tried by the Common Law, and not per Medietatem Linguae. H. P. C. 261. And a Grand Jury ought not to be de Medietate Linguae, in any Case. Wood's Inst. 623. Egyptians are excluded from this Trial, by 1 & 2 P. & M. c. 4. But we read, That Solomon de Stanford a Jew, had a Cause tried before the Sheriff of Norwich, by a Jury of Sex probos & legales Homines, & sex legales Judæos de Civitate Norwici, &c. Pasch. 9 Ed. 1.

Medio acquietando, Is a Judicial Writ to distrain a Lord for the Acquitting of a Mean Lord from a Rent, which he formerly acknowledged in Court not to belong to him. Reg. Judic. 129.

Mediterranean, Is that which passed through the Midst of the Earth; and hence the Sea which stretcheth itself from West to East, dividing Europe, Asia and Africa, is called the Mediterranean Sea; mentioned in the Statute 12 Car. 2. cap. 24. The Counterfeiting of Mediterranean Passes for Ships to the Coast of Barbary, &c. or the Seal of the Admiralty Office to such Passes, is Felony without Benefit of Clergy. Stat. 4 Geo. 2. c. 18.

Medelete, (from the Fr. Mesler) Is that which Bracton calls Medletum, and signifies Quarrelling or Brawling. Bract. lib. 3. tract. 2. cap. 35.

Melius Inquirendum, Is a Writ that lieth for a second Inquiry, where partial Dealing is suspected; and particularly of what Lands or Tenements a Man died seized, on finding an Office for the King. F. N. B. 255. It had been held, that where an Office is found against the King, and a Melius Inquirendum is awarded, and upon that Melius, &c. it is found for the King, if the Writ be void for Repugnancy, or otherwise, a new Melius Inquirendum shall be had: But if upon the first Melius, it had been found against the King, in such Case he could not have a new Melius, &c. for then there would be no End of these Writs: And if an Office be found for the King, the Party grieved may traverse it; and if the Traverse be found against him, there is an End of that Cause; and if for him, it is conclusive. 8 Rep. 169. 2 Nesf. 1608. If there is any Defect in the Points which are found in an Inquisition, there may not be a Melius Inquirendum; but if the Inquisition finds some Parts well, and nothing is found as to others, that may be supplied by a Melius Inquirendum. 2 Salk. 469. A Melius Inquirendum shall be awarded out of B. R. where a Coroner is guilty of corrupt Practices; directed to special Commissioners. 1 Vent. 181.

Met or Mer, Where Places begin or end with these Syllables, they signify a Fenny Country.

Merchant, (Mercator) Is one that buys and trades in any Thing: And as Merchandise includes all Goods and Wares exposed to Sale in Fairs or Markets; so the Word Merchant formerly extended to all Sorts of Traders, Buyers and Sellers. But every one that buys and sells is not at this Day under the Denomination of a Merchant; only those who traffick in the Way of Commerce, by Importation or Exportation, or carry on Business by Way of Emption, Vendition, Barter, Permutation or Exchange, and which make it their Living to buy and sell, by a continued Assiduity, or frequent Negotiation, in the Mystery of Merchandising, are esteemed Merchants. Those that buy Goods, to reduce them by their own Art or Industry, into other Forms than they are of, and then to sell them, are Artificers and not Merchants: Bankers, and such as deal by Exchange, are properly called Merchants. Lex Mercat. or Merch. Comp. 23. Merchants were always particularly regarded by the Common Law; though the municipal Laws of England, or indeed of any one Realm, are not sufficient for the ordering and determining the Affairs of Traffick, and Matters relating to Commerce; Merchandise being so universal and extensive that it is impossible; therefore the Law Merchant, (so called from its universal Concern) all Nations take special Knowledge of; and the Common and Statute Laws of this Kingdom leave the Causes of Merchants in many Cases to their own peculiar Law. Ibid. In the Reign of King Ed. 4. a Merchant Stranger made Suit before the King's Privy Council, for several Bales of Silk feloniously taken from him, wherein it was moved, that this Matter should be determined at Common Law; but it was answered by the Lord Chancellor, that as this Suit was brought by a Merchant, he was not bound to sue according to the Law of the Land. 13 Ed. 4. In former Times it was conceived, that those Laws that were prohibitory against Foreign Goods, did not bind a Merchant Stranger: But it has been a long Time since ruled otherwise; for in the Leagues that are now established between Nation and Nation, the Laws of either Kingdom are excepted; so that as the English in France or any other Foreign Country in Amity are subject to the Laws of that Country where they reside; so must the People of France, or any other Kingdom, be subject to the Laws of England when resident here. 19 Hen. 7. English Merchants are not restrained to depart the Kingdom without Licence, as all other Subjects are; they may depart, and live out of the Realm, and the King's Obedience, and the same is no Contempt, they being excepted out of the Statute 5 R. 2. c. 2. And by the Common Law, they might pass the Seas without Licence; though not to merchandise. Mich. 12 & 13 Eliz. Dyer 206. By Magna Charta it is enacted, that all Merchant Strangers in Amity, not publickly prohibited, shall have safe Conduct to come into, depart out of, and remain in England, and to travel by Water or Land in and through the same, to buy and sell, &c. 9 Hen. 3. c. 30. And if any Disturbance or Abuse be offered them, or any other Merchant in a Corporation, and the Head Officer there do not provide a Remedy, the Franchise shall be seized; and the Disturber shall answer double Damages, and suffer one Year's Imprisonment, &c. by Stat. 9 Ed. 3. c. 1. All Merchants (except Enemies) may safely come into England with their Goods and Merchandise. 14 Ed. 3. Merchant Strangers may come into this Realm, and depart at their Pleasure; and they are to be friendly entertained. 5 R. 2. c. 1. And Merchants alien shall be used in this Kingdom, as Denizens are in others, by the Statute 5 Hen. 4. cap. 7. No Merchant shall be impleaded for another's Debt, whereof he is not Debtor, &c. And if a Difference arise between the King and any Foreign State, Alien Merchants are to have forty Days Notice, or longer Time, to sell their Effects and leave the Kingdom. 27 Ed. 3. cap. 17. All Merchants may buy Merchandises of the Staple: And any Merchant may deal in more Merchandises than one; he may buy, sell and transport all Kinds of Merchandise. 27 Ed. 3. c. 3. and 38 Ed. 3. c. 2. Merchant Strangers are to find Sureties that they shall not carry out the Merchandise which they bring into England. 18 Ed. 2. cap. 21. And when they bring in any Merchandise into the Realm, and sell the same for Money, they are to bestow it upon other Merchandises of England, without exporting any Gold or Silver in Coin, Plate, &c. on Pain of Forfeiture. 4 Hen. 4. cap. 15. 5 Hen. 4. cap. 9. The same extend as well to Denizens as Strangers; and in Strictness of Law, they ought not to receive any Gold in Payment. 8 H. 6. c. 24. 3 H. 7. c. 8. And the Reasons of these Laws were, to preserve and keep the Gold and Silver within the Realm; and at the same Time increase our Manufactures, by encouraging their Exportation abroad. Foreign Merchants are to sell their Merchandise at the Port where they land, in Gross and not by Retail. 1 R. 3. c. 9. And Merchandise is to be laden and unladen at certain Ports, and in the Day-time under Penalties. 1 Eliz. cap. 11. All the King's Subjects are to have a free Trade to and from France, Spain and Portugal. 3 Jac. 1. c. 6. It shall be lawful for Merchants to transport Iron, Armour, Pistols, Muskets, Saddles, Swords, Bridles, &c. Stat. 12 Car. 2. c. 4. Merchants, &c. corrupting or adulterating Wine, or selling the same adulterated, are liable to Penalties, by 1 W. & M. Sess. 1. c. 34. On Importation of Tobacco, Merchants have an Allowance of 8 per Cent. &c. 12 Ann. cap. 8. Vide Custom of Merchants.

There are Companies of Merchants in London for carrying on considerable Joint Trades to foreign Parts, viz. The Merchants Adventurers, the Company established in England for the Improvement of Commerce; which was erected by Patent by King Ed. 1. merely for the Exportation of Wool, &c. before we knew the Value of that Commodity, and at a Time we were in a great Measure Strangers to Trade. The next Company was that of the Barbary Merchants, incorporated in the Reign of King Hen. 7. A Company of Merchants trading to the North, called the Muscovy or Russia Company, was established by King E. 6. and encouraged with additional Privileges, by Queen Mary, Queen Elizabeth, &c. The Barbary Merchants decaying towards the latter End of Queen Elizabeth's Reign, out of their Ruins arose the Levant or Turkey Company; who first trading with Venice, and then with Turkey, furnished England that Way with the East India Commodities: This Company hath very considerable Factories, at Constantinople, Smyrna, Aleppo, &c. From the flourishing State of the Levant or Turkey Company, in the Reign likewise of Queen Eliz. sprung the Old East-India Company, who having fitted out Ships of Force, brought from thence at the best Hand, the Indian Commodities, formerly sold to England by distant Europeans; and they having obtained divers Charters and Grants from the Crown, in their Favour, were sole Masters of that advantageous Traffick; until at last a New Company was incorporated by King Will. Anno 9 W. 3. on their lending the Government Two Millions of Money; and both these Companies after the Expiration of a certain Term, were by Articles united. In the 21st Year of Queen Elizabeth, the Eastland Company of Merchants was erected; and in King Charles the Second's Time, that Company was confirmed, with full Power to trade in Norway, Sweden, Poland, and other Eastland Countries. The Royal African Company had their Charter granted granted them in the 14th Year of King Car. 2. And by 9 & 10 W. 3. they are to maintain all Forts, &c. King Charles 2. also by Commission under the Great Seal of England, constituted his Royal Highness James Duke of York, (afterwards King Jam. 2.) Edward Earl of Clarendon, and others, to be a Council for the Royal Filbery of England, and declared himself to be the Protector of it; and in the 29th Year of his Reign, he incorporated them into a Company. King Will. 3. in the fourth Year of his Reign, established a Greenland Company. By Stat. 9 Ann. to pay the Debts of the Army and Navy, &c. amounting to near Ten Millions, the South Sea Company of Merchants was erected; who having advanced that Money, the Duties upon Wines, Vinegar, Tobacco, &c. were appropriated as a Fund for Payment of the Interest, after the Rate of 6*l. per Cent.* &c. The Company is to have the sole Trade to the South-Seas; and others trading thither shall forfeit their Ships and Goods, and double Value: And the Corporation is to continue for ever; but the Funds are subject to Redemption by Parliament. This Company had their Capital Stock very much enlarged in the Reign of King Geo. 1. And to raise Money lent, were empowered to make Calls or take in Subscriptions, &c. as they thought fit; and on this Foundation, the late South-Sea Scheme was executed: But to retrieve Credit, afterwards Part of the Stock of the South Sea Company was ingrafted into the Capital Stock of the East India Company and the Bank of England; and after that, Half the Stock was converted into Annuities at 4*l. per Cent.* Since which a farther Reduction thereof hath been made.

This short History of our Companies of Merchants, which have ever had many and great Privileges, and are at length become of double Use, i. e. to enlarge Commerce, and supply the Necessities of the State, sufficiently shews the Progress and Increase of our Trade, and the Wealth of the Nation: Though I must nevertheless observe that they are a Kind of Monopolies erected by Law; and if the Power granted them is abused, are of fatal Consequence; for which I need only instance the ever memorable Year 1720, when the Sub-Governor and Directors of the South-Sea Company incurred a Forfeiture of their Estates by Statute, and were disabled to hold any Offices, &c. for their vile Conduct, which tended to the Ruin of the Publick. Over and above these Companies, there are the Dutch Merchants; those that trade to the West-Indies; the Canary Merchants; Italian Merchants, which trade to Leghorn, Venice, Sicily, &c. The French and Spanish Merchants, &c.

Merchandise, (Merciorum Lex) Was the Law of the People here called the Mercians. Camden in his Britannia says, That in the Year 1016, this Kingdom was divided into three Parts; whereof the West Saxons had one, governing it by the Laws called West Saxon-lage, which contained these nine Shires, viz Kent, Sussex, Surrey, Berks, Hamshire, Wilts, Somerset, Dorset and Devon: The Danes had the second, containing fifteen Shires, i. e. York, Derby, Nottingham, Liecester, Lincoln, Northampton, Bedford, Bucks, Hertford, Essex, Middlesex, Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridge and Huntindon; which was governed by the Laws called Danelage: And the Third Part was in the Possession of the Mercians, whose Law was called Merchenlage; and contained eight Shires, Gloucester, Worcester, Hereford, Warwick, Oxford, Chester, Salop and Stafford: From which three, King Will. 1. chose the best, and with other Laws ordained them to be the Laws of the Kingdom. Camd. Brit. pag. 94. See Molmutian Laws.

Mercimoniatus Angliæ, Was of old Time used for the Impost of England upon Merchandise

Mercuries, Or Venders of printed Books or Papers. Vide Hawkers.

Merger, Is where a lesser Estate in Lands, &c. is drowned in the greater: As if the Fee comes to Tenant for Years, or Life, the particular Estates are merged in the Fee: But an Estate-tail cannot be merged in an Estate in Fee; for no Estate in Tail can be extinct, by the Accession of a greater Estate to it. 2 Co. Rep. 60, 61. If a Lessor, who hath the Fee, marries with the Lessee for Years; this is no Merger, because he hath the Inheritance in his own, and the Lease in Right of his Wife, 2 Plowd. 418. And where a Man hath a Term in his own Right, and the Inheritance descends to his Wife, so as he hath a Freehold in her Right, the Term is not merged or drowned. Cro. Car. 275.

Mercum. Maneria, Molendina, Merca & Marisca. Ingulph. p. 861.

Messenger, Is a Carrier of Messages, particularly employed by the Secretaries of State, &c. and to these Commitments may be made of State Prisoners; for though regularly no one can justify the Detaining a Person in Custody out of the Common Gaol, unless there be some particular Reason for it; as if the Party be so dangerously sick, that it would hazard his Life to send him thither, &c. yet it is the constant Practice to make Commitments to Messengers; but it is said, it shall be intended only in Order to the carrying the Offenders to Gaol. 1 Salk 347. 2 Hawk. P. C. 118. An Offender may be committed to a Messenger, in order to be examined before committed to Prison; and though such Commitment to a Messenger is irregular, it is not void; and a Person charged with Treason, escaping from the Messenger, is guilty of Treason, &c. Skin. Rep. 599.

Messengers of the Exchequer, Are Officers attending that Court; they are four in Number, and in Nature of Pursuivants to the Lord Treasurer.

Messuage, (Messuagium) Is a Dwelling-house with some Land adjoining assigned to the Use thereof. West. Symb. par. 2. And by the Name of a Messuage, may pass a Curtilage, Garden, Orchard, a Dove-house, Mill, Cottage, Toft, Shop, Chamber, &c. Bra. lib. 5. c. 28. Plowd. 169. One Messuage cannot be appurtenant to another Messuage; because a Messuage is an entire Thing of itself, and therefore may not be appurtenant to another Thing. Mich. 24 Car. 1. B. R. But by the Grant of a Messuage cum pertinentiis, the Stables, Barns, Out-houses, Gardens, and Curtilages do pass. 2 Lill. Abr. 197. A Præcipe lies not de Domo; but it doth de Messuagio. Co. Litt.

Messuagium in Scotland, signifies the principal Place or Dwelling-house within a Barony; which we call a Manor-house, or the Site of a Manor. Skene.

Metcgavel, (Sax. Cibi galum, seu viçigal) A Tribute or Rent paid in Victuals; which was a Thing usual in this Kingdom, as well with the King's Tenants as others, till the Reign of King Hen. 1.

Meter of Coals in London, &c. (from Metior) to mete or measure a Thing. Vide Measur.

Metheglin,

Metheglin, (Brit. Meddiglin) An old British Drink made of Honey, &c. and still continues in Repute in England; it is mentioned in the Statute 15 Car. 2. cap. 9.

Mettelshp, Mettenschep, Was an Acknowledgment paid in a certain Measure of Corn; or a Fine or Penalty imposed on Tenants, for their Defaults in not doing their customary Services of cutting the Lord's Corn. Paroch. Antiq. 495.

Micum & Tuum, Are Latin Words used for the proper Guides of Right; and which being misunderstood, have been the Ground of many Controversies.

Meya, A Mey or Mow of Corn, as anciently used; and in some Parts of England, they still say mey the Corn, i. e. put it on an Heap in the Barn—Cariabunt Bladum per unum Diem cum una Carrea & invenient unum Hominem ad faciendum Meyas in granio. Blount Ten 130.

Micel Gemotes. The great Councils and general Assemblies, in the Times of the Saxons, of the King and Noblemen, &c. were first called Witena Gemotes, and afterwards Micel Gemotes.

Milbernitz, A kind of Canvas, of which Sail-Cloths of Ships are made. 1 Jac. cap. 14.

Mile, (Milliare) In the Measure of a Country, is the Distance or Length of a Thousand Paces; otherwise described to contain eight Furlongs, every Furlong being forty Poles, and every Pole sixteen Foot and a Half. Stat. 35 Eliz. c. 6.

Mites, A Knight; and Militars, to be knighted. Mat. Westm. p. 118.

Militia, (Lat) The being a Soldier; and applied to the Trained Bands, under the Direction of the Lieutenantancy. The Stat. 13 Car. 2. cap. 6. is declarative of the King's Right to the supreme Government of the Militia, and of all Forces by Sea and Land, &c. And by the 13 and 14 Car. 2. c. 3. the King may issue Commissions of Lieutenantancy for the several Counties and Cities, &c. And such Lieutenants have Power to give Commissions to Colonels, Captains, and other inferior Officers; and to call Persons together, and arm and form them into Companies, and command them to Places to suppress Rebellions, or resist Invasions; and upon Invasions or Rebellions, the Persons charged shall provide a Month's Pay, &c. which is to be paid out of the Publick Revenue; and the Officers shall likewise be paid out of the publick Revenue at such Times. And by this Act, Persons having an Estate of 50*l.* a Year in Lands, or a personal Estate in Goods, &c. to the Value of 600*l.* shall be charged by the Lieutenants of Counties, or Deputy-Lieutenants, to provide a Man in the Foot-Service, and allow him 1*s.* per Diem; and he which hath 100*l.* per Annum, or under 200*l.* per Annum, or who is worth 1200*l.* in personal Estate, and under 2400*l.* may be charged with either Foot or Horse: But a Person ought to have in Possession 500*l.* per Annum, or a personal Estate to the Value of 6000*l.* to furnish a Horse; and none is to contribute towards a Horse who hath not 100*l.* a Year, or a personal Estate of 1200*l.* A Horseman shall be allowed 2*s.* 6*d.* per Diem, and must carry with him Powder and Bullet, of each a Quarter of a Pound. The Arms and Furniture of Horsemen by this Statute, were to be a Sword, and Case of Pistols 14 Inches in the Barrel, a great Saddle with Burs and Straps, a Bit Bridle, &c. And the Foot or Musqueteers were to have a Musket three Foot in the Barrel, the Bore whereof to bear a Bullet of 12 or 14 to the Pound, a Collar of Bandaliers, and a Sword; and to carry with them Powder and Ball, of each half a Pound. If any Person liable to furnish Horse, &c. shall not send out such Horse, or shall neglect to pay the Money towards the Provision of Man and Horse; the Lord Lieutenant of the County, or three Deputies, may fine him not exceeding 20*l.* to be levied by Warrant under their Hands and Seals; but commissioned Officers of Foot in the Militia, are excused from finding Soldiers or Arms for their Estates, if charged but with one Horse or less, &c. in respect of the Expence of their Employments. And the Lieutenants or Deputies may inflict a Penalty of 5*l.* on Persons refusing to provide a Foot-Soldier; and if they live out of the County, their Tenants are to do it on Notice: On whose Neglect, the Lieutenant, &c. may appoint Constables to provide for them: And by the 8 W. 3. the Lieutenantancy are to find Persons for Papists, charging them with 8*l.* a Year for a Horseman, and 30*s.* a Foot Soldier, to be levied by Distress, &c. If a Soldier neglects to appear, two Deputy Lieutenants may commit him for five Days, or fine him; if a Horseman 20*s.* if a Footman 10*s.* &c. None are obliged to serve in Person; but the Persons provided by others are to be approved by the Captain, and their Names and Places of Abode must be given in to two Deputy Lieutenants at the next Muster, when they are listed; and if they desert after Listing, they shall forfeit 20*l.* and shall not be discharged without Leave of two Deputy Lieutenants, or the Captain, under the like Penalty, to be levied by Distress; and if no Distress, to be committed, not exceeding three Months. And the Lieutenantancy may imprison Mutineers; charge Carriages at 6*d.* per Mile, &c. There shall be a general Muster of the Militia but once a Year; and then not to continue above four Days without special Direction: For training single Companies, Musters may be four Times a Year. And once a Year every Horseman is to pay to the Muster-Master 1*s.* and every Footman 6*d.* by Order of three Deputy Lieutenants; and if the same be not paid, it may be levied on the Goods of the Persons charged. 13 & 14 Car. 2. cap. 3. and 15 Car. 2. cap. 4. In the Year 1660, the Lords and Commons passed an Ordinance for assessing 70,000*l.* per Month, for three Months, on the several Counties in England and Wales, towards Payment of the Army and Militia, &c. In Pursuance of which Ordinance, the Counties were assessed as follows, viz.

The fourth Part of every of these Sums may be raised yearly for Trophy Money, and no more; except in the City of London, where the whole Month's Assessment may be annually collected. And Money levied for Trophy Money is to be accounted for by Collectors before Justices of the Peace at the Quarter Sessions, within one Year after received; and the Balance to be paid to the Treasurers appointed to receive the same, or the Collectors shall forfeit treble the Sum unaccounted for, by Stat. 1 Geo. 1. The 10 Ann. requires Persons in Dorsetshire to account for Money received for raising the Militia on King William's Landing in the West, undisposed of. During the Reigns of K. Will. 3. Queen Anne, and King Geo. 1. Acts were annually made for raising the Militia, although the Month's Pay formerly advanced by the Country be not repaid; and by the 1 Geo. 1. c. 14. Lords Lieutenants, &c. of Counties, when necessary and signified by the King, are to draw out the Militia into actual Service; and Persons charged must provide each Soldier with Pay in Hand, not exceeding one Month; and also furnish every Horseman with a Broad-Sword, a Case of Pistols twelve Inches in the Barrel, and a Carabine with Belt and Bucket, a great Saddle or Pad, with Burs and Straps, a Bit and Bridle with Pectoral and Crupper; and for every Footman, a Musket five Foot long in the Barrel, the Gage of the Bore for Bullets of twelve to the Pound, with a Bayonet to fix on the Muzzle, a Cartouch Box and a Sword; under the same Penalties as by any former Acts: But this Statute shall not extend to make any Person chargeable to the Militia, not chargeable by Law; or to enlarge the Power of the Lieutenant beyond the Authority given them by the Acts of the 13, 14 & 15 Car. 2 but only in Cases expressly provided for by this Act: And these Statutes shall not be construed to give any Power for the transporting any of the Subjects of this Realm, or the Compelling them to march out of this Kingdom, otherwise than according to the Laws of England. By Stat. 7 Geo. 2. c. 23. When his Majesty shall think it necessary for the Safety of the Kingdom, and it shall be declared to the Lieutenants of Counties, &c. the Persons empowered are to raise, draw out and march such Part of the Militia of any City, Town or County, as they shall judge most proper and convenient; and the Pay advanced by the Persons chargeable, is to be repaid and made good to them in six Months, by Assessment throughout the whole County, City, &c. The Militia of Horse and Foot are computed to be about the Number of two hundred Thousand, in England and Wales.

Mill, (Molendinum) Is a House or Engine to grind Corn; and either a Water-mill, Wind-mill, Horse-mill, Hand-mill, &c. And besides Corn and Grift-mills, there are Paper-mills, Fulling or Tucking-mills, Iron-mills, Oil-mills, &c. 2 Inst. 621.

Mina, A Corn-measure of different Quantity, according to the Things measured by it: And Mintage was a Toll or Duty paid for felling Corn by this Measure. Cowel. According to Littleton, it is a Measure of Ground, containing one hundred and twenty Foot in Length, and as many in Breadth; also it is taken both for a Coin and a Weight. Litt. Dist.

Minare, To mine or dig Mines. — Minator a Miner. Record 16 Ed. 1.

Mineral, Is any Thing that grows in Mines, and contains Metals. Skep. Epit.

Mineral Courts, (Curia Minerale) Are Courts peculiar for regulating the Concerns of Lead Mines; as Stannary Courts are for Tin. See Bergmote.

Mine-Adventurers, A Company established by Statute, governed by the Duke of Leeds, &c. Vide 9 Ann. c. 24.

Mines, (Mineria) Quarries or Places whereout any Thing is digged; and are likewise the hidden Treasure dug out of the Earth. The King by his Prerogative hath all Mines of Gold and Silver to make Money; and where Gold and Silver in Mines is of the greater Value, which are called Royal Mines. Plowd. Com. But by Statute, no Mine of Copper or Tin shall be adjudged a Royal Mine, though Silver be extracted. 1 W. & M. c. 30. And Persons having Mines of Copper, Tin, Lead, &c. shall enjoy the same, although claimed to be Royal Mines; but the King may have the Oar, (except in Devon and Cornwall) paying to the Owners of the Mines, within thirty Days after it shall be raised, and before removed, 16*l.* per Tun for Copper Oar, wash'd and made merchantable; for Lead Oar, 9*l.* per Tun; Tin or Iron 40*s.* &c. Stat. 5 W. & M. c. 6. If a Man hath Lands where there are some Mines open and others not, and he lets the Land with the Mines therein, for Life or Years, the Lessee may dig in the open Mines only, which is sufficient to satisfy the Words in the Lease; and hath no Power to dig the Mines unopened: But if there be no open Mine, and the Lease is made of the Lands, together with all Mines therein, there the Lessee may dig for Mines and enjoy the Benefit thereof; otherwise those Words would be void. 1 Inst. 54. 5 Co. Rep. 12. 2 Lev. 184. To dig Mines is Waste, where Lessees are not authorised by their Leases: Though a Mine is not properly so called till it is opened; being but a Vein of Iron or Coals, &c. before. 1 Co. Inst. 54. If any Person maliciously set on Fire any Mine, or Pit of Coal, he shall suffer Death as a Felon, by Stat. 10 Geo. 2. c. 32. And damaging such Mines, or any Coal-works, by conveying Water thereinto, or obstructing Sewers for Draining them, &c. shall forfeit treble Damages. 13 Geo. 2. cap. 21.

Mines, In another Signification are Caves or Trenches dug under Ground, whereby to undermine the Walls of a City or Fortification.

Muniments, or Muniments, (Munimenta, from Munio, to defend) Are the Evidences and Writings concerning a Man's Possession or Inheritance, whereby he is enabled to defend the Title of his Estate: And this Word includes all Manner of Evidences; Deeds.

Deeds, Charters, &c. Terms de Ley 451. Stat. 5 R. 2. c. 8. and 35 H. 6. c. 37.

Mintsters. If a Minister is disturbed in the Execution of his Office in the Church; the Punishment upon Conviction is a Fine of 10 l. And upon Non-payment three Months Imprisonment, &c. 2 & 3 Ed. 6. c. 1. And disturbing a licensed Minister, incurs a Forfeiture of 20 l. by 1 W. & M. c. 11.

Ministri Regis, Extend to the Judges of the Realm; as well as to those that have Ministerial Offices in the Government. 2 Inst. 208.

Mintz, One under Age; and more properly an Heir Male or Female, before they come to the Age of twenty one Years; during which Minority they are generally incapable to act for themselves.

Minors, Priars Minorites, of the Order of St. Francis, that had no Prior; they wash'd each other's Feet, and increased very much in the Year 1207. Mat. Westm.

Minstrel, (Minstrellus, from the Fr. Menestrier) A Musician, Fidler, or Piper; mentioned in the Stat. 4 H. 4. c. 27. There was formerly a King of Minstrels; and it was usual for these Minstrels, not only to divert Princes and the Nobility, with musical Instruments and flattering Songs in Praise of them and their Ancestors, but also with various Sports, &c. In the County of Chester, the ancient Family of the Duttons have the Licensing of Minstrels; and those are excepted out of the Vagrant Act, 39 Eliz. c. 4. &c.

Mint, (Officina Monetaria, Monctarium) Is the Place where the King's Money is coined; which is at present and long hath been in the Tower of London, though it appears by divers Statutes, that in ancient Times the Mint has also been at Calis, and other Places. 2 R. 2. c. 16. and 9 H. 5. c. 5. The Mint-master is to keep his Allay, and receive Silver at the true Value, &c. 2 H. 6. c. 12. And Gold and Silver delivered into the Mint is to be assay'd, coin'd, and given out, according to the Order and Time of bringing in; and Persons shall receive the same Weight of Coin, or so much as shall be finer or coarser than the Standard, &c. Stat. 18 Car. 2. c. 5. All Silver and Gold extracted by melting and refining of Metals, shall be employed for the Increase of Monies, and be sent to the Mint, where the Value is to be paid. 1 W. & M. c. 30. By the Stat. 18 Car. 2. 3000 l. a Year was granted out of certain Duties on Wine, Beer, &c. imported, to defray the Expence of the Mint: But this was increased by the Stat. 4 & 5 Ann. c. 22. and much augmented by 1 Geo. 1. c. 43. by which Statute it may be a Sum not exceeding 15000 l. per Ann. for England and Scotland, &c. The Officers belonging to the Mint have not always been alike: They are now the following. viz. The Warden, who is the Chief of the Rest, and is by his Office to receive the Silver and Bullion of the Goldsmiths to be coined, and take Care thereof, and he hath the Overseeing of all the other Officers. The Master Worker receives the Silver from the Warden, and causes it to be melted, when he delivers it to the Moniers, and taketh it from them again after made into Money. The Comptroller, who is to see that the Money be made to the just Assize, and controul the Officers if the Money be not made as it ought. The Master of the Assay, that weigheth the Silver, and examineth whether it be according to the Standard. The Auditor takes Accounts of the Silver, &c. The Surveyor of the Melting, who is to see the Silver cast out, and that it be not altered after the Assay-Master hath made Trial of it, and it is delivered to the Melters. The Clerk of the Irons, that seeth that the Irons be clean and fit for Working. The Graver, whose Office is to engrave the Stamps for the Money. The Melters, that melt down the Bullion, &c. The Blanchers do anneal and cleanse the Money. The Moniers, who are some to shear the Money, others to forge and beat it broad, some to round, and some to Stamp or coin it. The Provost to provide for all the Moniers, and to oversee them, &c. Vide Coin.

Mint, A pretended Place of Privilege in Southwark, near the King's Bench, put down by Statute. If any Persons within the Limits of the Mint shall obstruct any Officer in the serving of any Writ or Process, &c. or assault any Person therein, so as he receive any bodily Hurt, the Offenders shall be guilty of Felony, and transported to the Plantations, &c. Stat. 9 Geo. 1. See Privileged Places.

Minute Tithes, (Minores Decime) Small Tithes of Wool, Lambs, Pigs, Butter, Cheese, Herbs, Seeds, Eggs, &c. such as usually belong to the Vicar. Vide Tithes.

Minutis, Blood-letting; which was a common old Practice, among the Regulars and Secular Priests or Canons of Churches, who were the most confined and sedentary Men. Stat. Cathed. E. cl. Sti. Paul. London.

Miracula, A superstitious Play, practised by the Popish Clergy.

Mis. This Syllable added to another Word, signifies some Fault or Defect: As Misprison of a Crime; Misdecere, i. e. to scandalize any one; Misdocere, to teach amiss. — Si Presbyter populum suum misdocent.

Misadventure, (Fr. Mejadventure, i. e. Infortunium) Has an especial Signification for the Killing a Man, partly by Negligence and partly by Chance. S. P. C. lib. 1. c. 8. And Britton distinguishes between Adventure and Misadventure; the first he makes to be meer Chance; as if a Man, being upon or near the Water, be taken with some sudden Sickness, and so fall in and is drowned; or into the Fire, and is burnt; Misadventure he says is, where a Person comes to his Death by some outward Violence, as the Fall of a Tree, the Running of a Cart-wheel, Stroke of a Horse, or such like. Brit. c. 7. Staundford concludes Misadventure more largely than Britton understands it; and says, it is where one thinking no Harm carelessly throws a Stone, wherewith he kills another, &c. West defines Misadventure to be, when a Man is slain by meer Fortune, against the Mind of the Killer; and he calls it Homicide by Chance mix'd, when the Killer's Ignorance or Negligence is join'd with the Chance. West. Symb. Sec. 48, 49. See Chancemedley.

Miscognifant, Ignorant or not knowing. In the Stat. 32 Hen. 8. cap. 9. against Champerty and Maintenance, it is ordained that Proclamation shall be made twice in the Year of that Act, to the Intent no Person should be ignorant or miscognifant of the Penalties therein contained, &c.

Miscomputing, In Covenant for Payment of Rent, the Miscasting of the Sum due doth not make it ill; and if more be laid, it shall be abated as Surplus: But it is otherwise in Debt for Rent. Dyer 55.

Miscontinuance, Signifies the same with Discontinuance. Kitch. 231. Though 'tis generally said to be, where a Continuance is made by undue Process. Jenk. Cent. 57.

Misse, (A French Word, written in Latin Missum, and sometimes Missa) Is a Law Term signifying Expences, and it is so commonly used in the Entries of judgments in personal Actions; as when the Plaintiff recovers, that Recuperet Damna sua to such a Value, and pro Missis & Custagiis, for Costs and Charge; so much, &c. This Word hath also another Signification in the Use made of it by Law; which is where it is taken for a Word of Art, appropriated to a Writ of Right, so called because both Parties have put themselves upon the meer Right, to be tried upon the Grand Assize; so as that which in all other Actions is called an Issue, in a Writ of Right is termed a Mise: But if in the Writ of Right a collateral Point be tried, there it is called an Issue. To join the Mise upon the Meer is as much as to say, to join the Mise upon the clear Right, i. e. to join upon this Point, whether has the more Right, the Tenant or Demandant. 1 Inst. 294. 37 Ed. 3. c. 16.

Mises, Are taken for Taxes or Tallages, &c. An honorary Gift or customary Present, from the People of Wales to every new King and Prince of Wales, anciently given in Cattle, Wine and Corn, but now in Money, being 5000 l. or more, is denominated a Mise: So was the usual Tribute or Fine of 3000 Marks, paid by the Inhabitants of the County Palatine of Chester, at the Change of every Owner of the said Earldom, for the enjoying of their Liberties. And at Chester they have a Mise-book, wherein every Town and Village in the County is rated what to pay towards the Mise. The 27 Hen. 8. c. 26. ordains, that Lords shall have all such Mises and Profits of their Lands as they had in Times past, &c. And Mise is sometimes corruptly used for Mease, in Law French Mees, a Messuage; as a Mise Place in some Manors is such a Messuage or Tenement as answers the Lord a Heriot at the Death of its Owner. 2 Inst. 528.

Mise-Money, Was Money given by Way of Contract or Composition to purchase any Liberty, &c. Blount. Ten. 162.

Miserere, The Name and first Word of one of the Penitential Psalms, and is most commonly that which the Ordinary gives to such guilty Malefactors as are admitted to the Benefit of the Clergy; being therefore called the Psalm of Mercy.

Misericordia, Is in Law used for an arbitrary or discretionary Amerciament imposed on any Person for an Offence; and where the Plaintiff or Defendant in any Action is amerced, the Entry is Ideo in Misericordia, &c. Bract. lib. 4. tract. 5. cap. 6. Kitch. 78. It is called Misericordia, because it ought to be but small, and rather less than the Offence, according to Magna Charta, c. 14. Sometimes Misericordia is to be quit of all Manner of Amerciaments. Crompt. Jurisd. 196. See Amerciament.

Misericordia communis, Signifies where a Fine is set on the whole County or Hundred. ———. Ac de communi Misericordia quando contigerit, videlicet Comitatus & Hundredi coram nobis vel aliquibus Justiciariis nostris, &c.

Misericordia in Cibis & potu, Is used for any Portion of Meat and Drink, given to the Religious in Convents beyond their ordinary Allowance. Matt. Paris. And in some Convents they had a stated Allowance of these Over-commons upon extraordinary Days; which were called Misericordiae Regulares. Mon. Angl. Tom. 1. pag. 149.

Miseventire, Is where a Man accused of a Crime, fails in his Defence or Purgation; when he is said to succeed ill. Leg. Canut. 78.

Misfeasance, A Misdeed or Trespas. ——— The Jury shall inquire of all Purprestures and Misfeasances. Cro. Car. 498.

Misfeasor, Is a Trespasser. 2 Inst. 200.
Miskenning, (Miskenninga) Is derived from Mis, and Sax. Cennan, i. e. citare. Leg. H. 1. c. 12. Iniqua vel injusta in jus vocatio; inconstanter Loqui in Curia, vel invariare. It is mentioned among the Privileges granted and confirmed to the Monastery of Ramsay by S. Edward the Confessor. Mon. Angl. Tom. 1. pag. 237. Et in Civitate London. in nullo Placito Milkenningium. Chart. H. 2.

Misketing. Hoc est quietus pro querelis coram quibuscuque in transumptione probata. MS. LL. in Bibl. Cotton. fol. 262.

Misnomer, (Compounded of the Fr. Mes, signifying amiss, and Nomer, i. e. Nominare) Is the Using one Name for another, a Misnaming. Nomen est quasi rei notamen, and was invented to make a Distinction between Person and Person; and where a Person is described, so that he may be certainly distinguished and known from other Persons, the Omission or in some Cases the Mistake of the Name shall not avoid the Grant. 11 Rep. 20, 21. And if the Name of a Party is mistaken; the Judges ought to mould a small Mistake therein, to make good a Contract, &c. and so as to support the Act of the Party by the Law. Hob. 125. But the Christian Name ought always to be perfect; and the Law is not so precise as to Surnames, as it is of Christian Names. Popb. 57. 2 Lill. Abr. 199. Misprisions of Clerks in Names are amendable: And Peter and Piers, have been adjudged one and the same Name. 2 Cro. 67, 425. 1 Leon. 146. And so Saunders and Alexander; and Garret and Gerald, are but one Name: But Ranulph and Randolph; Isabel and Sybil, &c. are several Names, and must be named Right. 1 Rol. Abr. 135. 1 And. 211. Where a Christian Name is quite mistaken, as John for Thomas, &c. it may be pleaded, that there was no such Man in rerum Natura. Dyer 349. If a Person pleads, that he was never called by such a Name, it is ill; for this may be true, and yet he might be of that Name of Baptism. 1 Salk. 6. One whose Name is Edmund is bound in a Bond by the Name of Edward; though he subscribes his true Name, that is no Part of the Bond. 2 Cro. 640. Dyer 279. A Man cannot have two Names of Baptism: But if a Person be bound by the Name of W. R. he may be sued by the Name of W. R. alias dictus W. B. his true Name; not W. B. alias dictus W. R. 3 Salk. 238. If a Person be indicted by two Christian and Surnames, it will be quashed; for he cannot have two such Names. 1 Ld. Raym. 562. A Lady, Wife to a private Person, ought to be named according to the Name of her Husband, or the Writ shall abate; so if the Son of an Earl, &c. be sued as a Lord, and not as a private Person by the Name of his Family. Dyer 76. 2 Salk. 451. Where a Man's Title is mistaken in a Writ, &c. it shall abate, and he must be arrested again. 1 Vent. 154. And the Plaintiff is to confess the Misnomer, and pray an Abatement of his Writ before he proceeds to a new one. Trin. 2 Ann. 1 Salk. 129. But if a Person's Title of Lord, &c. be mistaken in a Lease or Demise, on Not guilty pleaded, the Issue is not, whether the Person making the Lease is a Lord, or not; so that it is sufficient if 'tis the same Person who demised, though misnamed. Allen 58. 2 Nels. Abr. 1172. Misnomer of Corporations may be pleaded in Abatement. 1 Leon. 159. 5 Mod. 327. 2 Salk. 451. And if there be any Mistake in the Name of a Corporation, that is material in their Leases and Grants; they will be void. 2 Bendl. 1. Anderf. 196. A Defendant may avoid an Outlawry, by Pleading a Misnomer of Name of Baptism or Surname; or Misnomer as to Additions of Estate, of the Town, &c. 2 Hawk. P. C. 460. Though Misnomer of a Surname may not be pleaded on an Indictment; in an Appeal it may: And any other Misnomers, and defective Additions, are as fatal in an Indictment as an Appeal. Ibid. 130. A Misnomer must be pleaded by the Party himself who is misnamed. 1 Lutw. 35. If a Man is taken upon a Cap. Excom. who is not of the Name in the Writ, he has no Day in the Court to plead this Matter to be discharged; but must bring an Action of false Imprisonment. 1 Mod. 70. See Abatement and Addition.

Misprision, (Mispriso, from the Fr. Mespris, Contemptus) Signifies a Neglect or Oversight: As for Example; Misprision of Treason, is a Negligence in not revealing Treason where a Person knows it to be committed. Staundf. P. C. lib. 1. cap. 19. If a Man knoweth of any Treason or Felony and conceals the

the same, it is Misprison: In a larger Sense, Misprison is taken for many great Offences, which are neither Treason nor Felony, or Capital, but very near them; and every great Misdemeanor, which hath no certain Name appointed by the Law, is sometimes called Misprison. 3 Inst. 36. H. P. C. 127. Wood 406, 408. When one knows that another hath committed Treason, and doth not reveal it to the King or his Privy Council, or some Magistrate, that the Offender may be secured and brought to Justice, it is High Treason by the ancient Common Law; for the Delay in Discovering the Treason was deemed an Assent to it, and consequently High Treason: But there must now be an actual Assent to some outward Act to make it Treason. Bracon 118. S. P. C. 37. 3 Inst. 138, 140. And by Stat. 1 & 2 P. & M. c. 10. a bare Concealment of any High Treason, shall be only Misprison of Treason. A Person having Notice of a Meeting of Conspirators against the Government, goes into their Company and hears their treasonable Consultation, and conceals it, this is Treason; and so where one has been accidentally in such Company, and heard such Discourse, if he meets such Company a second Time; for in these Cases the Concealment is attended with Circumstances which shew an Approbation thereof. H. P. C. 127. Kel. 17, 21. And a Man that hath Knowledge of a Treason cannot secure himself by discovering generally that there will be a Rising, without disclosing the Persons intending to rise; nor can he do it by discovering these to a private Person, who is no Magistrate. S. P. C. H. P. C. 127. But where one is told in general, that there will be a Rising or Rebellion, and doth not know the Persons concerned in it, or the Place where, &c. this uncertain Knowledge may be concealed, and it shall not be Treason or Misprison. Kel. 22. 1 H. P. C. 36. If High Treason is discovered to a Clergyman in Confession, he ought to reveal it; but not in Case of Felony. 2 Inst. 629. Concealers of Bulls of Absolution from Rome are guilty of Misprison of Treason. 13 Eliz. c. 2. There is a Misprison of Treason in counterfeiting the Great Seal; forging and uttering counterfeit Money brought from another Kingdom, &c. 14 Eliz. c. 3. And Misprison being included in every Treason or Felony; where a Man hath committed Treason or Felony, the King may cause him to be indicted and arraigned of Misprison only, if he please. S. P. C. 32. But if a Person is indicted of Misprison as for Treason; though he be found Guilty, the Judges shall not give Judgment thereon, he not being indicted of the Misprison. Jenk. Cent. 217. Information will not lie for Misprison of Treason, &c. but Indictment, as for capital Crimes: And there must be two Witnesses upon Indictments, as well as Trials of Misprison of Treason, by the Statute 7 W. 3. 2 Hawk. P. C. 258, 260. In all Cases of Misprison of Treason, the Offender shall be imprisoned for Life; and forfeit all his Goods and Chattels, and the Profits of his Lands during Life. H. P. C. 128. 3 Inst. 36, 218.

Misprison of Felony, Is not only where a Man knows of any Felony committed, and concealeth or procures the Concealment thereof; but under this Title of Misprison, that of Theft may be reduced; which is where one knowing of a Felony, takes his own Goods again, or rather Amends for the same. 3 Inst. 134, 139. H. F. C. 130. Though the bare Taking one's Goods again which have been stolen is no Offence, unless some Favour be shewn the Thief. 1 Hawk. P. C. 125. The Stat. 3 H. 7. c. 1. provides against Concealments of Felonies by Sheriffs, Coroners and Bailiffs, &c. And for Misprison of Felony, the Offenders shall be punished by Fine and Imprisonment, and remain in Prison till the Fines are paid. S. P. C.

Misprisons at large, Are when Persons contemn the King's Prerogative, by refusing to assist the King according to Law; or by Speaking or Writing against his Person or Government; receiving a Pension from a Foreign Prince, without his Leave; refusing to take the Oaths of Allegiance and Supremacy; and Contempts against the King's Palace; or the Courts of Justice, &c. H. P. C. 3 Inst. 139, 149.

Misprisons of Clerks, Relate to their Neglects in Writing, or keeping of Records: And here Misprison signifies a Mistaking. 14 Ed. 3. c. 6.

Misrecital of Deeds or Conveyances, will sometimes hurt a Deed, and sometimes not. Hob. 18, 19, 129. See Lease.

Missa, The Mass, at first used for the Dismission or sending away of the People: And hence it came to signify the whole Church Service or Common Prayer; but more particularly the Communion Service, and the Office of the Sacrament, after those who did not receive it were dismissed. Litt. Dig.

Missal, Missale, The Mass-Book, containing all Things to be daily said in the Mass. Lindw. Provincial. lib. 3. cap. 2.

Mist Presbyter, Signifies a Priest in Orders. Blount.

Mistura, Singing the Nunc Dimittis, and performing the many other Ceremonies to recommend and dismiss a dying Person. And in the Statutes of the Church of St. Paul in London, collected by Ralph Baldock, Dean about the Year 1295. in the Chapter de Frateria, of the Fraternity or Brotherhood, who were obliged to a mutual Communication of all Religious Offices, it is ordained—Ut fiat commendatio & Mistura & sepultura omnibus sociis coadunantibus & absentibus. Liber Stat. Eccles. Paulinæ, M.S. fol. 25.

Misturium, Is a Dish for serving up Meat to a Table; whence a Messe, or Portion of any Diet; —But Vossius tells us 'tis called Mels, quia dono Mitti soleat a principibus. Thorn's Chron. pag. 1762.

Mistrial, A false or erroneous Trial; where it is in a wrong County, &c. 3 Cro. 284. And Consent of Parties cannot help such a Trial, when it is past. Hob. 5. See Trial.

Misuser, Is an Abuse of any Liberty or Benefit; as he shall make Fine for his Misuser. Old Nat. Br. 149. By Misuser, a Charter of a Corporation may be forfeited: So also an Office, &c.

Mitted Abbots, Were those Governors of Religious Houses, who had obtained from the Pope the Privilege of wearing the Mitre, Ring, Gloves, and Crozier of a Bishop. The Mitted Abbots, says Cowell, were not the same with the conventual Prelates, who were summoned to Parliament as Spiritual Lords, though it hath been commonly so held; for the Summons to Parliament did not any Way depend on their Mitres, but upon their receiving their Temporals from the Hands of the King. See Abbot.

Mitta, (From the Sax. Mitten, Mensura) An ancient Saxon Measure; its Quantity doth not certainly appear, but it is said to be a Measure of ten Bushels. Domesday. Tit. Wireshire. Mon. Angl. Tom. 2. p. 262. And Mitta, or Mitcha, besides being a Sort of Measure for Salt and Corn, is used for the Place where the Caldrons were put to boil Salt — Calderias quoque ad Sal conficiendum cum propriis sedibus quæ vulgo Mitchæ vocantur. Gale's Hist. Brit. 767.

Mittendo manuscriptum pedis finis, Was a Writ judicial directed to the Treasurer and Chamberlains of the Exchequer, to search for and transmit the Foot of a Fine, acknowledged before Justices in Eyre, into the Common Pleas, &c. Reg. Orig. 14.

Mittimus, Is a Writ for removing and transferring of Records from one Court to another; as out of the King's Bench into the Exchequer, and sometimes by Certiorari into the Chancery, and from thence into another Court: But the Lord Chancellor may deliver such Record with his own Hand. Stat. 5 R. 2. c. 15. 28 & 29 H. 8. Dyer 29, 32. Mittimus is also a Precept in Writing, under the Hand and Seal of a Justice of Peace directed to the Gaoler, for the Receiving and safe Keeping of an Offender, until he is delivered by Law. 2 Inst. 590 One must be committed by lawful Mittimus; or Breach of Prison will not be Felony, &c.

Mittre a large, is generally to set or put at Liberty. Law Fr. Di. And there is a Mittre le Estate, and de Droit, mentioned by Littleton; in Case of Releases of Lands by Jointenants, &c. which may sometimes pass a Fee, without Words of Inheritance. 1 Inst. 273, 274.

Mixed Tithes, Are those of Cheese, Milk, and of young Beasts, &c. 2 Co. Inst. 649. See Tithes.

Mochados, Stuffs made in England, and other Countries; mentioned in the Stat. 23 Eliz. cap. 9.

Moderata Misericordia, A Writ that lies for him who is amerced in a Court-Baron, or other Court not of Record, for any Transgression, beyond the Quality or Quantity of the Offence: It is directed to the Lord of the Court or his Bailiff, commanding them to take a moderate Amerciament of the Party, and is founded upon Magna Charta. If a Man be amerced in a Court-Baron, on Presentment by the Jury, where he did not any Trespas, he shall not have this Writ, unless the Amerciament be excessive and outrageous: And if the Steward of the Court of his own Head, will amerce any Tenant or other Person without Cause, the Party ought not to sue for his Writ of Moderata Misericordia, if he be distrained for that Amerciament; but he shall have Action of Trespas. New Nat. Br. 167. When the Amerciament which is set on a Person is assessed by his Peers, this Writ of Moderata Misericordia doth not lie; for then it is according to the Statute 10 Ed. 2.

Modiatio, Was a certain Duty paid for every Tierce of Wine. Mon. Angl. Tom. 2. p. 994.

Modius, A Measure, usually a Bushel; but various according to the Customs of several Countries.

Modius Terræ vel Agrî. This Phrase was much used in the ancient Charters of the British Kings, and probably signified the same Quantity of Ground as with the Romans, viz. One hundred Foot long, and as many broad. — Sciendum est quod dedit Ilias pedum quatuor Modiorum Agrî cum omni censu suo, &c. Mon. Angl. Tom. 3. p. 200.

Modo & forma, Are Words of Art in Law Pleadings, &c. and particularly used in the Answer of a Defendant, whereby he denies to have done the Thing laid to his Charge, Modo & forma declarata. Kitch. 232. And Modo & forma are of the Substance of the Issue and material, when a collateral Point in Pleading is traversed; but not where the Issue taken goes directly to the Point of the Writ or Action, for they then are only Words of Form or of Course. Co. Litt. 281.

Modus Decimandi, Is when Lands, Tenements, or some annual certain Sum, or other Profit, hath been given Time out of Mind to a Parson and his Successors, in full Satisfaction and Discharge of all Tithes in Kind, in such a Place. 2 Co. Rep. 47. And it may be paid in Cities and Towns, as in London, for Houses, in lieu of the Tithe of the Lands on which the Houses were built: And there may be a Modus Decimandi for personal Tithes. 2 Inst. 657, 659. A Modus ought to be for the Benefit and Advantage of the Parson; and is supposed to be of the full Value of the Tithes, at the Time of the original Composition; and if it doth not now come up to that Value, it shall be intended that the Tithes are improved, or that Money is become of less Value than it was at the Time of the Modus agreed on. 13 Rep. 152. Hob. 40. But one Tithe must not be paid in Consideration of another; it is to be something different from the Thing that is due, where the Tithes are due of common Right; and not by Custom only; and it must be something as certain and durable as the Tithe: All which are necessary to make a good Prescription. 1 Roll. Abr. 650. 1 Cro. 276, 446, 475. Hob. 40. A Modus arises either by Composition, Custom or Prescription; a Composition is an Agreement entered into by Deed, executed under Hand and Seal, that such and such Lands shall be discharged of Tithes, paying some annual Payment, or doing something for the Benefit and Advantage of the Parson, &c. which is a legal Exemption from Payment of Tithes for ever, if made before the Stat. 13 Eliz. c. 10. Custom is what gives a Right to a whole County, City, Town or Parish, and must be common to all within the Limits where it is averred to be; and Prescription is that which gives a Right to some particular Person, with respect to some particular House, Farm, &c. And the Ecclesiastical Laws allow forty Years to make a good Custom and Prescription; but by the Common Law, it must be beyond the Memory of Man. 1 Roll. Abr. 653. Comm. Parl. Compan. 159. A Layman, Lord of a Manor, may prescribe De modo Decimandi, for himself and Tenants; also a private Person for his own Lands, or Part thereof, &c. Though in Cases of Prescription, 'tis only to be discharged of a particular Sort of Tithes; for a Prescription De non Decimando generally, would undo the Clergy, and therefore it is not good where there is not sufficient left for their Maintenance; as it may be where there is a competent Livelihood for the Parson. 2 Rep. 47. 1 Cro. 784. 1 Roll. Abr. 653. A Layman cannot prescribe by the Common Law De non Decimando; but he may be discharged of Tithes for Lands in his own Hands, by Grant from Parson, Patron and Ordinary. 2 Rep. 44. A Parish, &c. may not prescribe de non Decimando, though it may prescribe De modo Decimandi. 1 Roll. Abr. 653. But Tithes due by Custom only, are not within the Rule against Prescription in non Decimando by Laymen; for by the like Custom Persons may be discharged from the Payment of such Tithes. Wood's Inst. 179. And spiritual Persons and Corporations may prescribe De non Decimando, to be discharged absolutely of Tithes, and pay nothing in lieu thereof; so also may their Tenants. 2 Rep. 44. 1 Roll. Abr. 653, 654. 1 Cro. 512. A Parson may sue in the Spiritual Court for a Modus Decimandi, or Rate Tithe; but if the Modus is denied, or a Custom is to be tried, it must be tried in the Common Law Courts: And where a Modus is pleaded in the Spiritual Court to a Demand of Tithes in Kind, a Prohibition lies upon Supposition that the Spiritual Court will not admit of any Plea against Tithes. 2 & 3 Ed. 6. c. 13. Wood 178. Where Land is converted to other Uses, as Hay Ground to Tillage, &c. or the Thing is altered or destroyed; as when a Fulling Mill is made a Corn-Mill, or a Corn-Mill is come to Ruin, &c. a Modus made on good Consideration may be discharged, and then Tithes shall be paid in Kind. 1 Darv. Abr. 607, 608. So by Nonpayment of the Consideration; or by Payment of Tithes in Kind, for so long Time, that the Prescription for a Modus Decimandi cannot be proved: Though a short Interruption 'tis said shall not destroy it. 1 Roll. 932. Hob. 43. A Payment of different Sums, is Evidence that there is no Modus.

Moiety, (Medietas, Fr. Moitie, i. e. coaque vel Media pars) Is the Half of any Thing; and to hold by Moieties, is mentioned in our Books, in Case of Jointenants, &c. Litt. 125.

Molendinum, A Mill of divers Kinds. See Mill. Molendum, Molendum, Signifies Corn sent to a Mill, a Grift. Chart. Abbat. de Rading, MS. fol. 116.

Molitura, Was commonly taken for the Toll or Moulture paid for grinding Corn at a Mill, and sometimes called Molta, Fr. Moulta, Molitura libera, free Grinding or Liberty of a Mill, without paying Toll; a Privilege which the Lord generally reserved to his own Family. — Salva mihi & heredibus meis Molitura libera familie nostrae quæta in dicto Molendino. Paroch. Antiq. 236.

Molman, A Man subject to do Service; applied to the Servants of a Monastery. Prior. Lewes, p. 21. Spelm. Gloss.

Molmutian, or Molmutin Laws. These were the Laws of Dunwallo Molmutius, sixteenth King of the Britains, who begun his Reign above four hundred Years before the Birth of our Saviour, and they were famous in this Land till the Time of William the 1st, called the Conqueror. This King was the first who published Laws in Britain; and his Laws, with those of Queen Mercia, were translated by Gildas out of the British into the Latin Tongue. Usher's Primord. 126.

Monasteries and Abbeys, &c. dissolved by K. H. 8. See 27 H. 8. c. 28. and Abbot.

Monetarium, Signified a certain Tribute paid by Tenants to their Lord every third Year, that he should not change the Money which he had coined, formerly when it was lawful for great Men to coin Money current in their Territories; but not of Silver and Gold: It was abrogated by the Stat. 1 Hen. 1. c. 2. The Word Monetarium is likewise used for a Mintage, and the Right of coining or minting Money: Jus & Artificium cadendi Monetas.

Money, (Moneta) Is that Metal, be it Gold or Silver, that receives Authority by the Prince's Impress to be current; for as Wax is not a Seal without a Print, so Metal is not Money without Impression. Co. Litt. 207. Money is said to be the common Measure of all Commerce, through the World, and consists principally of three Parts; the Material whereof it is made, being Silver or Gold; the Denomination or extrinsec Value, given by the King, by Virtue of his Prerogative; and the King's Stamp thereon. 1 Hale's Hist. P. C. 188. It belongs to the King only to put a Value, as well as the Impression on Money; which being done, the Money is current for so much as the King hath limited. 2 Inst. 575. Any Piece of Money coined is of Value as it bears a Proportion to other current Money, and that without Proclamation: And though there is no Act of Parliament, or Order of State for Guineas, as they are taken; yet being coined at the Mint, and having the King's Insignia on them, they are lawful Money, and current at the Value they were coined and uttered at the Mint. 2 Salk. 446. But it has been observed, that Guineas were originally coined for 20s. according to the twenty Shilling Pieces of Money, and that legally, no more ought to be demanded for them: Also that in legal Proceedings, they should be mentioned as pecias Auri, vocat. Guineas, valoris, &c. 5 Mod. Rep. 7. If an Action is brought for Damages, the Value of Guineas may be given in Evidence to the Jury: But if the Action be for so many Guineas, the Value ought to be set forth in the Declaration, to ascertain the Debt. Cartbew 255. Gold and Silver Coin, &c. is not to be exported without Licence, on Pain of Forfeiture. Stat. 9 Ed. 3. cap. 1. And Money of Silver melted down, is to be forfeited, and double Value. 13 & 14 Car. 2. c. 31. But by old Statutes, foreign Money may be melted down; and no Money shall be current but the King's own, &c. 27 Ed. 3. cap. 14. 17 R. 2. c. 1. See Coin and Exchange.

Money, lending it abroad. The King by Proclamation may at any Time prohibit all his Subjects, not exceeding one Year, to lend or advance Money to any foreign Prince or State, without Licence under the Great or Privy Seal; and if any Person knowingly offend in the Premises, he shall forfeit treble the Value of the Money lent, &c. two Thirds to the King, and the other to the Informer: But Persons may deal in foreign Stocks, or be interested in any Bank abroad, established before issuing his Majesty's Proclamation. Stat. 3 Geo. 2. c. 5.

Money in Court. In Law Proceedings, Money demanded is oftentimes brought into the Court, either by a Rule of Court, or by pleading a Profert in Curiam of the Money; and then if the Money is not paid into Court, the Plea will not be received. The Money must be brought into Court, upon the Plea of a Tender: And the Defendant may at any Time, pending an Action on Bond with a Penalty, bring the Money and Costs into Court, and it shall be a good Satisfaction and Discharge, by Stat. 4 & 5 Ann. c. 16. If a Defendant pay Money, or Part, into Court, and it is struck out of the Declaration, though the Plaintiff is Nonsuit, he shall take the Money out of Court, for by paying into Court, the Defendant admitted that so much was due; but if the Defendant brings Money into Court upon a Tender and uncare priff, and the Plaintiff takes Issue upon the Tender, and it is found against him, then the Defendant shall have the Money out of Court. 2 Salk. 597. Money may be brought into Court upon an Action of Debt for Rent: In Replevin, when the Defendant avows for so much Rent arrear, the Plaintiff hath been admitted to bring it into Court: And in Covenant, &c. where a Breach is assigned for Non-payment of Rent, the Defendant may bring the Money due into Court. Ibid. In a Quantum Meruit it hath been denied; though it was granted in such Case, Pascb. 5 Ann. And it is said, where an Action is brought by an Executor or Administrator, the Defendant cannot bring the Money into Court. 2 Salk. 596.

Moneyers, (Monetarii) Are taken for Bankers or those that make it their Trade and Business to turn and return Money; also Officers of the Mint, mentioned in the Stat. 1 Ed. 6. c. 15.

Monger, A little Sea Vessel which Fishermen use. Stat. 13 Eliz. c. 11. And when a Word ends with Monger, as Ironmonger, &c. it signifies Merchant, from the Sax. Manger, i. e. Mercator.

Monks, (Monachus) From the Gr. Μόνος, solus, qu. soli, i. e. Separati ab aliorum consortio vivunt, because the first Monks lived alone in the Wilderness. They were after divided into three Ranks; Cœnobitarum, i. e. a Society living in common in a Monastery, &c. under the Government of a single Person; and these were under certain Rules, and afterwards called Regulars, Anachoretæ or Eremitæ, those Monks who lived in the Wilderness on Bread and Water. And Sarabaitæ, Monks living under no Rule, that wandered in the World. St. Jerom tells us, that of the Anachoretæ Paulus fuit Auctor, Antonius illustrator, Johannes Baptista princeps.

Monkery, The Profession of a Monk, mentioned in Whitlock's Readings upon the Stat. 21 H. 8. c. 13.

Monks Cloths, Made of a certain Kind of coarse Cloth. Vide 20 H. 6.

Monopoly, (From Μόνος, unus & πωλιω vendo) Is an Allowance of the King by his Grant, Commission or otherwise, to any Person or Persons, for the sole Buying, Selling, Making, Working or Using of any Thing, by which other Persons are restrained of any Freedom or Liberty that they had before, or hindered in their lawful Trade. 3 Inst. 181. It is defined to be where the Power of Selling any Thing is in one Man alone; or when one shall ingross and get into his Hands such a Merchandise, &c. as none may sell or gain by them but himself. 11 Rep. 86. And a Monopoly hath three Incidents mischievous to the Publick: 1. The Raising of the Price. 2. The Commodity will not be so good. 3. The Impoverishing of poor Artificers.

Artificers. Ibid. All Monopolies are against the ancient and fundamental Laws of the Realm: A By-Law, which makes a Monopoly, is void; and so is a Prescription for a Sole Trade to any one Person or Persons, exclusive of all others. Moor 591. Monopolies by the Common Law are void, as being against the Freedom of Trade, and discouraging Labour and Industry; and putting it in the Power of particular Persons to set what Prices they please on a Commodity. 1 Hawk. P. C. 231. Upon this Ground it hath been held, that the King's Grant to any Corporation of the sole Importation of any Merchandise, is void. 2 Roll. Abr. 214. 3 Inst. 182. The Grant of the sole Making, Importing and Selling of Playing Cards, was adjudged void. 11 Rep. 84. Moor 671. And the King's Grant of the sole Making and Writing of Bills, Pleas, and Writs in a Court of Law, to any particular Person, hath been resolved to be void. 1 Jones 231. 3 Mod. 75. The King may grant to particular Persons the sole Printing of the Holy Scriptures, and Law Books. 1 Hawk. 231. All Matters of this Nature ought to be tried by the Common Law, and not at the Council-Table, or any other Court of that Kind; and the Making use of or procuring any unlawful Monopoly, is punishable by Fine and Imprisonment at Common Law. 3 Inst. 181, 182. By Statute, all Monopolies, Grants, Letters Patent and Licences, for the sole Buying, Selling and Making of Goods and Manufactures, are declared void, except in some particular Cases; and Persons grieved by putting them in use, shall recover treble Damages and double Costs, by Action on the Statute; and delaying such Action, before Judgment, by Colour of any Order, Warrant, &c. or delaying Execution after, incurs a Premunire: But this does not extend to any Grant or Privilege granted by Act of Parliament; nor to any Grant or Charter to Corporations or Cities, &c. Grants to Companies or Societies of Merchants, for Enlargement of Trade; or to Inventors of New Manufactures, who have Patents for the Term of fourteen Years; Grants or Privileges for Printing; or making Gun powder, casting Ordnance, &c. 21 Jac. 1. c. 3. As to Inventors of New Manufactures, &c. it has been adjudged on this Statute, that a Manufacture must be substantially New, and not barely an additional Improvement of any old one, to be within the Statute; it must be such as none other used at the Granting the Letters Patent; and no old Manufacture in Use before, can be prohibited in any Grant of the sole Use of any such new Invention. 3 Inst. 184. Yet a Grant of a Monopoly may be to the first Inventor, by the Stat. 21 Jac. notwithstanding the same Thing was practised before beyond Sea; because the Statute mentions new Manufactures within the Realm, and intended to encourage new Devices useful here, and it is the same Thing whether acquired by Experience or Travel abroad, or by Study at Home. 2 Salk. 447. It is said, a new Invention to do as much Work in a Day by an Engine as formerly used to employ many Hands, is contrary to the Statute; by Reason it is inconvenient, in turning so many Men to Idleness. 3 Inst. 184.

Monster, One that hath not human Shape, and yet is born in lawful Wedlock: And such may not purchase or retain Lands; but a Person may be an Heir to his Ancestor's Land, though he have some Deformity in any Part of his Body. Co. Litt. 7.

Monstrans de Droit, Is a Shewing of Right, and signifies a Writ out of the Chancery to be restored to Lands and Tenements that are a Man's in Right, though by some Office found to be in the Possession of one lately dead; by which Office the King would be entitled to the said Lands, &c. It is given by the Stat. 34 Ed. 3. c. 14. and 36 Ed. 3. 13. Staurdf. Prærog. c. 21. 4 Co. Rep. 54.

Monstrans de faits, Shewing or Producing of the Deeds in open Court, when an Action is brought upon any Deed; and the Difference between Monstrans de fait and Oyer de faits, is this: He that pleads any Deed or Record, or declares upon it, ought to shew the same; and the other, against whom such Deed or Record is pleaded, may demand Oyer thereof. Where a Man pleads a Deed, which is the Substance of his Plea or Declaration, if he doth not plead it with a Profert in Curia, his Plea or Declaration is naught upon a special Demurrer, shewing it for Cause: And if he doth plead it with a Profert in Curia, if the other Party demands a Sight of it, he cannot proceed till he hath shewn it; and when the Defendant hath had a Sight of it, if he demands a Copy of the same, the Plaintiff may not proceed until a Copy is delivered unto him. Stat. 4 & 5 Ann. c. 16. 2 Lill. Abr. 201, 202. Vide Profert in Curia.

Monstraverunt, Is a Writ that lies for Tenants in Antient Demesne, who hold Land by free Charter, when they are distrained to do unto their Lords other Services and Customs than they or their Ancestors used to do: Also it lieth where such Tenants are distrained for the Payment of Toll, &c. contrary to their Liberty, which they do or should enjoy. F. N. B. 14. 4 Inst. 269. This Writ is directed to the Sheriff to charge the Lord that he do not distrain them for such unusual Services, &c. And if the Lord nevertheless distrains his Tenants for other Services than of Right they ought to do, the Sheriff may command the Neighbours who dwell next the Manor, or take the Power of the County, to resist the Lord, &c. And the Tenants in such Case may likewise sue an Attachment against their Lord, returnable in C. B. or B. R. to answer the Contempt and recover Damages. New Nat. Br. 32. But the Lord shall not be put to answer the Writ of Attachment sued against him upon the Monstraverunt, before the Court is certified by the Treasurer and Chamberlains of the Exchequer, from the Book of Domesday, whether the Manor be Ancient Demesne; so that it is requisite that the Plaintiff in the Monstraverunt do sue forth a special Writ for the certifying of the same. Ibid. 35. The Writ of Monstraverunt may be sued for many of the Tenants, without naming any of them by their proper Names, but generally Monstraverunt nobis homines de, &c. But in the Attachment against the Lord, the Tenants ought to be named; though one Tenant may sue it in his own Name, and the Name of the other Tenants by general Words, Et Homines, &c. 2 H. 6. 26. See Ne injuste Vexes.

Monstrum, Is sometimes taken for the Box in which Relicks are kept: Item unum Monstrum cum Offibus S. Petri, &c. Mon. Ang. Tom. 3. pag. 173.

Month, or Moneth, Sax. Monath, (Menfis à Mensione, Lunæ cuius) Signifies the Time the Sun goes through one Sign of the Zodiac, and the Moon through all twelve; properly the Time from the New Moon to its Change, or the Course or Period of the Moon, whence 'tis called Month from the Moon. Litt. Di. A Month is a Space of Time containing by the Week twenty-eight Days; by the Kalendar sometimes thirty, and sometimes thirty-one Days: And Julius Cæsar divided the Year into twelve Months, each Month into four Weeks, and each Week into seven Days. The Month by the Common Law is but twenty-eight Days; and in Case of a Condition for Rent, the Month shall be computed at twenty-eight Days; so in the Case of Inrollments of Deeds, and generally in all Cases where a Statute speaks of Months: But when the Statute accounteth by the Year, Half Year, or Quarter of a Year, then it is to be reckoned according to the Kalendar. 1 Inst. 135. 6 Rep. 62. Cro. Jac. 167. A Twelvemonth, in the singular Number, includes the whole Year, according to the Kalendar: But twelve Months, six Months, &c. in the plural Number, shall be accounted after twenty-eight Days to every Month; except in Case of Presentations to Benefices to avoid Lapse, &c. which shall be in six Kalendar Months. 6 Rep. 61. Cro. Jac. 141. And if an Agreement is to pay 50 s. for the Interest of 100 l. at the End of six Months, it is said the Computation must be by Kalendar Months; because if it was by Lunar Months the Interest would exceed the Rate allowed by the Statute. Wood's Inst. 433. Though in common Cases of Loans and Forbearance of Money, the Months according to some shall be reckoned, at twenty-eight Days, and according to others by the Kalendar. 1 Leon. 96.

Benefices

Monument. An Heir may bring an Action against one that injures the Monument, &c. of his Ancestor: And the Coffin and Shroud of a deceased Person belong to the Executors or Administrators; but the dead Body belongeth to none. 3 Inst. 202, 203.

Moor, In the Isle of Man, who summon the Courts for the several Sittings, are the Lord's Bailiffs, called by that Name; and every Moor has the like Office with our Bailiff of the Hundred. King's Descrip. Isle of Man.

Moot, (From the Sax. Motian, placitare, to treat or handle) Is a Term well understood in the Inns of Court, and signifies that Exercise or Arguing of Cases which young Barristers and Students perform at certain Times, the better to enable them for Practice and Defence of Clients Causes. The Place where Moot-Cases were argued, was anciently called the Moot-Hall: And in the Inns of Court there is a Bailiff of the Moot yearly chosen by the Benchers, to appoint the Mootmen for the Inns of Chancery; and keep Accounts of the Performances of Exercises, both there and in the House. Orig. Juridical. 212.

Mootmen, Are those that argue the Readers Cases, called Moot-Cases, in the Inns of Chancery, in Term-Time, and in Vacations. 3 Rep.

Moor, A Moor, or barren and unprofitable Ground, derived from the Sax. Mor, signifying alto Marshland. Mon. Ang. Tom. 2. pag. 50. 1 Inst. 5. By Fleta, it is used for Heath. Fleta, lib. 2. cap. 71.

Moor musta, A watery or boggy Moor; and such in Lancashire they call Mosses; Morassa is used in the same Sense. Mon. Ang. Tom. 2. pag. 306.

Mortatur in Rege, Is the same with Demoratur, and signifies as much as be demurs; because the Party goes not forward in pleading, but rests or abides upon the Judgment of the Court in a certain Point, as to the Sufficiency in Law of the Declaration or Plea of the adverse Party, who deliberate and take Time to argue and advise thereupon, and then determine it. Co. Litt. 71. See Demurrer.

Mortetum, A Sort of brown Cloth, with which Caps were formerly made. Mat. Paris. Anno 1258.

Mortgangina, (From the Sax. Morgen, i. e. Aurora, and Gifan or Givan, dare) Is that Gift which the Husband presents to his Wife on the Wedding day, which we now call Dowry Money, and was usually among the Lombards the fourth Part of his personal Estate. It signifies literally Donum Matutinale; and in some Books it is writ Morgangiba; in others Morgangiva, Morgangisa. Leg. Hen. 1. c. 70. Leg. Canut. c. 99.

Mort-dancestoz, A Writ now seldom used, mentioned in the Statutes 53 H. 3. & 6 Ed. 1. See Affise of Mort-dancestoz.

Mortgage, (Mortgagium, vel Mortuum vadium, from the Fr. Mort, i. e. Mors, and Gage, Pignus) Is a Pawn of Lands or Tenements, &c. for Money borrowed, to be the Creditor's for ever, if the Money be not repaid on the Day agreed: And it is called a Mortgage, because it is a dead Pledge, until the Money is paid; or for that if the Money is not paid at the Day, the Land Mortuar to the Debtor, and is forfeited to the Creditor. Lit. 332. It is usually made by Lease for a long Term of Years, Lease and Release, Assignment, &c. And the Creditor holding the Land upon this Agreement, is in the mean Time called Tenant in Mortgage, and holdeth the Estate upon the Condition in the Deed: But generally till Failure is made of Payment, the Mortgagor holds the Land; and if Failure be made, and the Mortgagee doth enter into the Lands, the Mortgagor hath an Equity of Redemption in the Court of Chancery, and may call the Mortgagee to an Account for the Profits, &c. Litt. 332. 1 Inst. 205. In a Mortgage is contained a Proviso, that if the Money be paid at the Day, the Deed shall be void: And on the Mortgagor's paying the Interest of the Money, Mortgages are continued a long Time without disturbing the Possession or Parties. Law Securit 103. A Feoffment in Fee, or a Lease for Life or Years, &c. may be made with a Proviso or Condition, that if the Feoffor or Grantor, or their Heirs or Executors, pay the Feoffee or Grantee, &c. such Sum of Money at a certain Day, then the Feoffor, &c. may re-enter; and this hath been a common Condition in a Mortgage, or of Estates upon Condition in a Deed: In the former Case of Mortgages, the Mortgagor keeps Possession till Failure; but here the Mortgagee has the Possession presently, and till Payment. Lit. 332, 333. But as by these ancient Kind of Mortgages, if the Money were not paid on the Day, the Estate became absolute, and was subject to the Dower of the Wife of the Feoffee, as also all other his real Charges and Incumbrances, &c. on this Account the Courts of Equity have maintained the Right of Redemption, against all Persons that come in under the Feoffee; because the Payment of the Money does put the Feoffor in his former State, and since the Lands were only a Pledge for the Money. 1 Inst. 221. Cro. Car. 190. A Mortgagee is answerable in Chancery, when he comes into Possession of the Land, for all the Profits he made thereof, and not for what he might have made; unless there were Fraud: No Allowance shall be given to the Mortgagee for his Pains and Trouble, who manages the Estate himself; but if he employs a skilful Person, and gives him so much a Year, that must be allowed, for no Person is bound to be his own Bailiff. Totb. 133. 1 Vern. 316, 476. Where a Man makes a Mortgage for Years to another, he may without entering on the Premises, or the Mortgagor's joining, assign the Mortgage; and the Mortgagor by the Covenant to enjoy till Default of Payment, is but Tenant at Will to the Mortgagee. 1 Salk. 246. Though if one who is Mortgagee in Possession, assigns over his Mortgage, without the Assent of the Mortgagor, he shall Answer the Profit of the Land, before and after Assignment, though it be assigned only for his own Debt; he being under a Trust for that Purpose. 3 Chan. Caf. 3. An old Mortgage assigned to another, ought to be taken as a new Mortgage from the Time of the Assignment: And as a Mortgagee, where the Mortgage is forfeited, shall have Interest for his Interest; so shall an Assignee for all Interest Interest due from the Time the Mortgage was assigned. 1 Chanc. Rep. 218, 258. For where a Mortgagor assigns the Mortgage, all Money paid by the Assignee, if due at that Time, shall be accounted Principal as to the Mortgagor, whenever he comes to redeem. Ibid. 68. But an Agreement made at the Time of a Mortgage, will not make future Interest Principal, before any Interest is grown due; the Interest must be first due before an Agreement concerning it may make the same Principal. 2 Salk. 449. If a Man mortgage his Land, upon Condition that if the Mortgagor and J. S. pay twenty Pounds such a Day to the Mortgagee, that then he shall re-enter, &c. and the Mortgagor die before the Day; in this Case J. S. alone may pay the Money: But it is otherwise so long as the Mortgagor lives, for during that Time J. S. may not tender the Money without him; if he do, it will be no Performance of the Condition. Co. Litt. 219. Not only the Mortgagor, but his Heir, being interested in the Condition, may pay the Mortgage Money to prevent the Forfeiture; and so may the Executors or Administrators of the Mortgagor: Though if no Time be limited for Payment of the Money, and the Mortgagor having Time during Life to pay it do not pay the same; his Heirs or Executors, &c. shall not in such Case be received to pay the Money after his Death. 1 Inst. 206. Executors of the Mortgagee shall have Money due on Mortgages, where a Mortgagee in Fee dies before the Day of Payment, unless the Heir be particularly named: And where the Heir is named, if the Day of Payment be past, it is as much as if no Person had been appointed, and then the Law appoints it to the Executor; as the Money first came out of the Personal Estate, and the Executor more represents the Testator than the Heir. 1 Inst. 210. 2 Ventr. 348. Chanc. Rep. 284. If Heirs and Executors are named, it may be paid to either. A Man mortgaged Lands for Payment of such a Sum to the Mortgagee, his Heirs, Executors or Assigns; his Mortgagee died, and made the Heir within Age his Executor, and the Mortgagor paid the Money at the Day to the Heir; it was held, that the Heir had not the Money as Heir, but that it should be Assets in his Hands as Executor. 3 Leon. 59. But it hath been adjudged, that upon a Mortgage of Land in Fee, with Condition to pay to the Heirs or Assigns of the Mortgagee, the Heirs and not the Executors shall have the Money. Chanc. Rep. 88. When the Heir of the Mortgagee is to reconvey the Estate mortgaged, and there is no Defect of Assets in the Hands of the Executors, the Mortgage Money shall be paid to the Heir, if the Condition was to pay it to him; or if it was to pay it to the Mortgagee, his Heirs or Assigns, or to his Heirs or Executors: But it is otherwise if it was to be paid to the Executors only. Chanc. Rep. 83. 3 Salk. 241. Mortgages have been looked upon as Part of the Personal Estate, except a Mortgagee in Fee otherwise declare the same. Chanc. Rep. 286. The Personal Estate of the Mortgagor shall also in Favour of the Heir, be applied to discharge the Mortgage; if there be personal Assets to pay all Legacies. 2 Salk. 450. And though such personal Estate be Devised away by Will among Relations, 'tis held to be the same, because the Mortgage Money is a Debt payable out of it. Preced. Canc. 61. An Heir of a Mortgagor, received Money for a Release of the Equity of Redemption; it was held to be no Assets in Law, to satisfy a Judgment acknowledged by the Mortgagor, after the Mortgage and before the Release, for it is but a bare Right: And the Release not being by Fraud, therefore it was not Assets in Equity. 3 Keb. 307. It has been decreed, that where a Mortgagee lends more Money upon Bond to the Mortgagor, he shall not redeem, unless he pay the Money due on the Bond as well as on the Mortgage: Though if he mortgage the Equity of Redemption to another, the second Mortgagee shall not be affected by this Bond, because 'tis but a personal Charge upon the Mortgagor. 3 Salk. 220. See

Preced. Chanc. 407. In Equity it is allowed, that if Lands are thrice mortgaged, the third Mortgagee may buy in the first Incumbrance to protect his own Mortgage; and he shall hold against the second Mortgagee, if such second Mortgagee do not satisfy him the Money he paid on the first, and also his own Money which he lent on the last Mortgage. 2 Ventr. 338. And a Purchaser upon valuable Consideration, purchasing a precedent Incumbrance, shall protect his Estate against any Person that hath a Mortgage subsequent, &c. A Mortgagee without Notice of a former Incumbrance, buys in an Incumbrance precedent to that Incumbrance, which precedes his Mortgage; he shall not be impeached in Equity, but upon Payment of all that is due to him on both Estates. Chanc. Rep. 149. 2 Lill. Abr. 206. If a Mortgagor retaining the Possession levies a Fine to another Mortgagee, this shall not bar the first Mortgagee. 1 Lev. 272. But in a late Case, a second Mortgagee, with the Title Deeds may be paid in Equity before a first Mortgage without the Deeds. In Case a first Mortgagee be a Witness to a second Mortgage of the Land, &c. though there is no Proof of his knowing the Contents thereof, yet as the Presumption is that he might be acquainted with it, this shall give a Preference to the second Mortgagee. 1 P. Williams 394. And if a Person being about to lend Money on Mortgage, inquires of a prior Mortgagee, whether he has any Incumbrance on the Estate, and he does not own the same, it shall postpone him. 2 Vern. 554. By Stat. 4 & 5 W. & M. c. 16. where Mortgagors make second Mortgages, and do not discover the first, the second Mortgagee may redeem, &c. A Jointress of mortgaged Lands was decreed to pay the Mortgage Money for Redemption, and hold over, till she and her Executors should be paid with Interest. Chanc. Rep. 27. And where a Devise of Land mortgaged, was to one for Life, and Remainder to another in Fee; it was adjudged, That Tenant for Life should pay one third, and he in Remainder two thirds, to redeem. Ibid. But 'tis otherwise Preced. Canc. 44. The Interest in Lands mortgaged is in Law in the Mortgagee before Forfeiture; he hath purchased the Land as it were upon valuable Consideration, as the Law will intend: And though the Mortgagor may redeem, yet it is not certainly known whether he will or no; and if he do not, the Estate is absolute in the Mortgagee. A Mortgagee is esteemed in Possession on executing the Mortgage; and if the Mortgage Money be not paid, whereby the Land is forfeited, he may bring Ejectment without actual Entry; but where a Condition is to be defeated, it must be by actual Entry. 2 Lill. Abr. 203. After twenty Years, (the Time of Entry limited by Stat. 21 Jac. c.) when no Demand has been made of the Money, or Interest paid, &c. Mortgages are not relievable in Chancery, unless there be extraordinary Circumstances to induce it, as in Case of Feme Coverts, Infants, &c. 2 Ventr. 340. It has been however held, that Mortgages of Lands are not within the Statute of Limitations; though that Act may be a proper Direction to go by: Indeed sometimes Equity has allowed Length of Time to be pleaded in Bar; where the mortgaged Estate has descended as a Fee, without Claim by the Mortgagor; and the Mortgagee would be intangled with a long Account. 1 Chan. Cas. 102. Abr. Cas. Eq. 313. Infants seized of Estates in Fee, in Mortgage, &c. may make Conveyances of such Estates, by Order of the Court of Chancery. Stat. 7 Ann. c. 19. Vide Chancery. By a late Act, where an Action of Ejectment shall be brought by a Mortgagee, for Recovery of Possession of mortgaged Lands, and no Suit is depending in any Court of Equity for foreclosing or redeeming such Lands; if the Person who hath Right to redeem, shall pending the Action pay to the Mortgagee, or bring into Court, all the principal Money

Money and Interest due, and the Costs, it shall be a full Satisfaction and Discharge of the Mortgage: And the Mortgagee shall reconvey the Land, and deliver up all Deeds, &c. 7 Geo. 2. c. 20. And on a Bill in Equity to compel the Mortgagor to pay the Mortgage Money, or on Default to be foreclosed, &c. the Court on the Defendant's Application, may make any Order therein, before the Cause is brought to Hearing, &c. so as the Right of Redemption be not controverted. Ibid. Where a Mortgagor Covenants after Default to make further Assurance, for the absolute sure making, &c. this Assurance to be made must be absolute, because the Estate is to be so: But it shall not, without special Words, oblige him to release his Equity of Redemption; nor is a Warranty to be inserted in such further Assurance on the bare Covenant. Comber. 318. See Equity of Redemption, and vide Fine.

Form of a common Mortgage of Lands.

THIS Indenture made, &c. Between A. B. of, &c. of the one Part, and C. D. of, &c. of the other Part, Witnesseth, That the said A. B. for and in Consideration of the Sum of, &c. to him in Hand paid by the said C. D. the Receipt whereof he doth hereby confess and acknowledge, he the said A. B. hath granted, bargained and sold, and by these Presents doth grant, bargain and sell unto the said C. D. All that Messuage or Tenement, and all those Lands, &c. situate, lying and being in, &c. And also the Reversion and Reversions, Remainder and Remainders, Rents and Services of the said Premises, and of every Part and Parcel thereof with the Appurtenances; To have and to hold the said Messuage or Tenement, Lands and Premises above-mentioned, and every Part and Parcel thereof, with the Appurtenances, unto the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, for and during the Term of five hundred Years next and immediately ensuing and following, and fully to be completed and ended; Yielding and paying therefore yearly during the said Term, one Pepper-Corn in and upon the Feast of St. Michael the Archangel, if demanded; Provided always and upon Condition, that if the said A. B. his Heirs or Assigns, do or shall well and truly pay or cause to be paid unto the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators or Assigns, the full Sum of, &c. in and upon the Day, &c. next coming, (or which will be in the Year, &c.) without any Deduction or Abatement for Taxes, Assessments, or any other Impositions whatsoever, either ordinary or extraordinary, that then and from thenceforth these Presents and every Thing herein contained, shall cease, determine and be void; any Thing herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding. And the said A. B. for himself, his Heirs and Assigns, doth covenant and grant to and with the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, that he the said A. B. his Heirs or Assigns, shall and will well and truly pay or cause to be paid unto the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators or Assigns, the said full Sum of, &c. in and upon the said, &c. without any Deduction as aforesaid, according to the true Intent and Meaning of these Presents. And also that he the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, shall and may at all Times, after Default shall be made in Performance of the Proviso or Condition herein contained, peaceably and quietly enter into, have, hold, occupy, possess and enjoy all and singular the said Messuage or Tenement, Lands and Premises above-mentioned, and every Part and Parcel thereof, with the Appurtenances, for and during the Residue and Remainder of the said Term of five hundred Years hereby granted, which shall be then to come and unexpired, without the Let, Trouble, Hindrance, Molestation, Interruption and Denial of him the said A. B. his Heirs and Assigns, and of all and every other Person and Persons whatsoever. And farther, that he the said A. B. and his Heirs, and all and every other Person and Persons, and his and their Heirs, any Thing having or claiming in the said Messuage or Tenement and Premises above-mentioned, or any Part thereof, shall and will at any Time or Times, after Default shall be made in Performance of the Proviso or Condition herein contained, make, do and execute, or cause or procure to be done, made and executed, all and every such further and other lawful and reasonable Grants, Acts and Assurances in the Law whatsoever, for the further, better and more perfect Granting and Assuring of all and singular the said Premises above-mentioned, with the Appurtenances unto the said C. D. To hold to him his Executors, Administrators and Assigns, for and during all the Rest and Residue of the said Term of five hundred Years above granted, which shall be then to come and unexpired, as by the said C. D. his Executors, Administrators or Assigns, or his or their Counsel learned in the Law shall be reasonably devised or advised and required. And lastly, it is covenanted, granted, concluded and agreed upon, by and between the said Parties to these Presents, and the true Meaning hereof also is, and it is hereby so declared, that until Default shall be made in Performance of the Proviso or Condition herein contained, he the said A. B. his Heirs and Assigns, shall and may hold and enjoy all and singular the said Premises above-mentioned, and receive and take the Rents, Issues and Profits thereof, to his and their own proper Use and Benefit; any Thing herein contained to the contrary thereof notwithstanding. In Witness, &c.

Mortgagee, Is he that mortgages or pawns the Lands; and he to whom the Mortgage is made is called the Mortgagor.

Murder, (Sax.) Signifies Murder, Morthlaga, a Murderer or Manslayer.

Mortmain, (Manus Mortua, i. e. Dead Hand, from the Fr. Mort, viz. Mors, and Main, Mannus) is where Lands and Tenements are given or aliened to any House of Religion or Corporation, sole or aggregate, Ecclesiastical and Temporal, and their Successors, &c. which may not be done without Licence from the King: And the Reason of the Name proceeds from this, that the Services and other Profits due for such Lands, should not without such Licence come into Hands as it were dead, and be so dedicated to pious Uses as to be abstractedly different from other Lands, and never to revert to the Donor, or any temporal or common Use. And because the Lords had nothing from the Alienees; for by Alienation in Mortmain they lost their Fecheats, and many Services which were heretofore due to them, as Bodies Politick never die, nor can perform personal Service, commit Treason or Felony, &c. This occasioned the Statutes of Mortmain, by Virtue whereof the King or other Lord of whom the Land is holden, may enter into Lands so aliened. 1 Inst. 2. 2 Inst. 75. The Foundation of all the Statutes of Mortmain was Magna Charta. By the 9 H. 3. c. 36. it is declared, that it shall not be lawful for any to give his Lands to any Religious House, and to take the same Land again to hold of the same House, &c. upon Pain that the Gift shall be void, and the Land shall accrue to the Lord of the Fee. This Statute is interpreted to extend to Lands, which a Religious House kept in their own Hands, though they gave them not back again to hold of the same House. 2 Inst. 75. But Ecclesiastical Persons found Means to creep out of the Statute, by purchasing Lands holden of themselves, or by making Leases for a long Term of Years, &c. wherefore by 7 Ed. 1. commonly called the Statute of Mortmain, or de Religiosis, no Persons religious, or others whatsoever, shall buy or sell any Lands or Tenements, or under the Colour of any any Gift or Lease, or by Reason of any other Title, receive the same, or by any other Craft shall appropriate Lands in any wise to come into Mortmain, on Pain of Forfeiture; and within a Year after the Alienation, the Lord of the Fee may enter; and if he do not, then the next immediate Lord, from Time to Time may enter in Half a Year; and for Default of all the Lords entring, the King shall have the Lands so alienated for ever, and may enfeoff others by certain Services, &c. As this Statute extended only to Gifts, Alienations, &c. made between Ecclesiasticks and others, they found out an Evasion also of this Statute; for pretending a Title to the Land, which they meant to gain, they brought a feigned Action against the Tenant of the Land, and he by Consent and Collusion was to make Default, and thereupon they recovered the Land, and entered by Judgment of Law: So that the Stat. West. 2. 13 Ed. 1. c. 32. was thought necessary; by which it is to be inquired by the Country whether the Demandant had a just Title to the Land; and if so, then he shall recover Seisin; but if otherwise, the Lord of the Fee shall enter, &c. And by 34 Ed. 1. Lands shall not be alienated in Mortmain, where there are mean Lords, without their Consent declared under Hand and Seal; nor shall any Thing pass where the Donor reserves nothing to himself. Notwithstanding all these Statutes, Ecclesiastical Persons (not being able to get Lands by Purchase, Gift, Lease, or Recovery) procured Lands to be conveyed by Feoffment, or in other Manner, to divers Persons and their Heirs, to the Use of them and their Successors, whereby they took the Profits. 2 Inst. 75. To bar this, the Stat. 15 R. 2. c. 5. was made, which Statute enacts, that no Feoffment, &c. of any Lands and Tenements, Advowsons or other Possessions, to the Use of any Spiritual Persons, or whereof they shall take the Profits, shall be made without Licence of the King, and of the Lords, &c. upon Pain of Forfeiture. And by 23 H. 8. c. 10. against superstitious Uses, Forfeitures, Fines, Recoveries, Grants, Devises, &c. of Lands, in Trust to the Use of any Parish Church, or to have perpetual Obits, or continual Service of a Priest for ever, or for sixty Years, &c. to the Prejudice of the King and other Lords, as in Case of Lands aliened in Mortmain, shall be void: Though this last Statute extends not to Corporations, where there is a Custom to devise Lands in Mortmain; as in London, a Freeman that pays Scot and Lot, may devise all his Lands in the City in Mortmain, without Licence. 1 Roll. Abr. 556. And notwithstanding this, or any of the aforesaid Statutes, any Man at this Day may give Lands, Tenements, &c. to any Persons and their Heirs, for finding a Preacher, Maintenance of a School, Reparation of Churches, Relief of the Poor, &c. or for any like charitable Uses: Though it is good Policy on every such Estate to reserve a small Rent to the Feoffor and his Heirs, when the Feoffees shall be seized to their own Use, and not to the Use of the Feoffor; or if a Consideration of a small Sum be expressed, the 23 H. 8. cannot by any Pretence make void the Use. 1 Rep. 24. 1 R. 70. Wood's Inst. 303. By the Statute 39 Eliz. cap. 5. the Gift of Lands, &c. to Hospitals is permitted without obtaining Licences of Mortmain. Owners of Improvements may annex them to the Parsonage or Vicarage where they lie, or settle them in Trust for the Curates, where the Parsonage is impropriate, and no Vicarage endowed, without Licence of Mortmain: And if the settled Maintenance of any Benefice with Cure shall not amount to 100 l. per Annum, the Incumbent may purchase to him and his Successors, &c. without Licence in Mortmain. 17 Car. 2. c. 7. By ancient Statutes, the King's Licence may be had for authorizing of Lands, and the Writ of Ad quod Damnum is to issue out of Chancery to inquire concerning the same. 27 Ed. 1. Prelates, Clerks, &c. shall not be impeached for purchasing Lands in Mortmain, on producing the King's Charter of Licence. 18 E. 3. And it is declared lawful for the King to grant to any Person, Body Politick or Corporate, their Heirs and Successors, Licence to alien in Mortmain; and purchase and hold in Mortmain in Perpetuity, &c. without incurring any Forfeiture, by Stat. 7 & 8 W. 3. c. 37. A Grant of an Advowson in Fee, or an Appropriation of an Advowson, hath been adjudged a Mortmain; but an Appropriation of Tithes, which are Things meerly Spiritual, or a Grant of an Annuity, that chargeth the Person only, cannot be Mortmain, to be forfeited. 1 Inst. 2. 304. 2 Inst. 361. 5 Rep. 56. 9 Rep. 96. A late Statute hath ordained, that no Manors, Lands, &c. shall be given, granted to, or settled on any Persons, Bodies Politick or Corporate, for any Estate whatsoever, or charged in Trust for charitable Uses, unless done by Deed indented, and sealed at least twelve Months before the Death of the Donor or Grantor, and enrolled in Chancery within six Months after executed, &c. and except the same be to take Effect in Possession immediately; and without any Power of Revocation, &c. And if otherwise made, shall be void: But not to extend to Purchases for a valuable Consideration; nor to the two Universities, or Colleges of Eaton, Winchester, &c. Statute of Mortmain, 9 Geo. 2. c. 36.

Mortuary, (Mortuarium) Is defined to be a Gift left by a Man at his Death to his Parish Church, in Recompence of personal Tithes omitted to be paid in his Life-time: Or it is that Beast or other Cattle moveable, which, after the Death of the Owner, by the Custom of some Place is due to the Parson, Vicar, or Priest of the Parish, in lieu of Tithes or Offerings forgot, or not well and truly paid by him that is dead. Terms de Ley 449. Mr. Selden tells us, that the Usage anciently was to bring the Mortuary along with the Corps when it came to be buried, and to offer it to the Church as a Satisfaction for the supposed Negligence and Omission the deceased had been guilty of in not paying his personal Tithes; and from thence it was called a Corse present. Seld. Hist. Tithes 287. A Mortuary is not properly due to an Ecclesiastical Incumbent from any but those only of his own Parish, to whom he ministers spiritual Instruction, and hath Right to their Tithes; but by Custom in some Places they are paid to the Incumbent of other Parishes, when the Corps of dead Bodies pass through them: And the Bishops of Bangor, Landaff, St. David's, &c. formerly had Mortuaries of Priests, till taken away by a late Statute, 12 Ann. c. 6. In the Diocese of Chester-shire, it is said to be a Custom for the Bishop to have a Mortuary on the Death of every Priest dying within the Archdeaconry of Chester, of his best Beast, Saddle and Bridle, and best Gown or Cloak, Hat, and upper Garment under the Gown, &c. Cre. Car. 172. Before the Stat. 21 H. 8. Mortuaries were payable in Beasts; the best to the Lord for a Heriot, the second best for a Mortuary; nor was it only De meliori Averio, sed de meliori re: And Mortuarium (says Linwood) sic dictum est quia relinquitur Ecclesie pro Anima Defuncti It hath been held, that such a Right was vested in the Parson to have the second best Beast for a Mortuary, (where by Custom it was due) that he might seize it wherever he could find it; but they are now settled to be paid in Money. 2 Inst. 491. Clergym. Law 474. No Mortuary is originally due by Law, but by Custom only: And Custom did so prevail, that Mortuaries were held as due Debts, and the Payment of them was enjoined as well by the Statute De Circumspicis agatis, 13 Ed. 1. as by several Constitutions, &c. And by the 21 H. 8. cap. 6. Mortuaries are to be paid as follows, viz. He that dies possessed of moveable Goods to the Value of 40 l. or above, (his Debts first paid) is to pay 10 s. He that dieth possessed of Goods of 30 l. Value and under 40 l. is to pay 6 s. 8 d. And dying possessed of Goods to the Value of 6 l. 13 s. 4 d. and under 30 l. to pay 3 s. 4 d. But if the Goods are under 6 l. 13 s. 4 d. Value, no Mortuary is to be paid; and no Mortuary is to be paid by any Feme Covert or Child, Persons not keeping Hoofe, &c. If one happens to die in a Place where he does not reside, by this Statute the Mortuary shall be paid in the Place where he had his most Abode; no Person shall pay Mortuaries in more Places than one, or more than one Mortuary; and no Mortuary shall be demanded of any but in such Places where Mortuaries are due by Custom, and have used to have been paid: Also there is a Proviso in the Statute, that in Places where Mortuaries have been of less Value than as aforesaid, no Person shall pay any more than has been accustomed. If a Parson, Vicar, &c. take or demand more than is allowed by the Statute for a Mortuary, he shall forfeit all he takes beyond it, and 40 s. more to the Party grieved, to be recovered by Action of Debt, &c. Stat. Ibid. Since this Statute, whereby Mortuaries are reduced to a Certainty, an Action of Debt will lie upon the said Statute in the Courts of Common Law, for Recovery of the Sum due for a Mortuary, being by Custom as aforesaid, although before that Statute they were recoverable only in the Spiritual Court: But as such Actions have never been brought, it is said, they are still recoverable in that Court only. Watf. Clergyman. Law 475. Count. Parf. Compan. 140. Where by Custom a Mortuary hath not been usually paid, if a Person be libelled in the Spiritual Court, he shall have a Prohibition by Virtue of the Statute 21 H. 8. And upon a Prohibition the Custom may be tried, &c. 2 Lutw 1066. 3 Mod. 268.

Hence Burgemote, Curia vel Convventus Burgi; Swaingemote, Curia Ministror. Forester, &c. Also Mota was sometimes taken for a Fortrefs; as Turris de London, & Mota de Windsor, the Tower of London and Fortrefs of Windsor. Chart. K. Steppen. It likewise signifies a standing Water to keep Fish; or a great Ditch encompassing a Castle or Dwelling House. — *Hæc Indentura, &c. testatur quod prædicti Rogerus tradidit præfato Thomæ tria Stagna & unam Motam Piscariam existentem intra Manerium, &c. Mote-bell, or Mot-bell, the Bell so called, which was used by the English Saxons to call People together to the Court. Leg. Edw. Confess. cap. 35. See Fokemote.

Moteer, A customary Service or Payment at the Mote or Court of the Lord: From which some Persons were exempted by Charter of Privilege. Rot. Chart. 5 Joh. m. 9.

Mothering, Is a Custom of visiting Parents on Middlent Sunday. See Lactare Jerusalem.

Motibillis, One that may be removed or displaced, or rather a Vagrant. — In Carcere detenti, Canonici vel alii Religiosi, Motibiles, Farijsi, &c. convenire non poterunt, i. e. in Jure convenire non possunt. Fleta, lib. 6. cap. 6.

Motion in Court. In the Courts of Chancery, King's Bench, &c. Motions are made by Barristers and Counsellors at Law, for what concerns their Clients Causes: And where any Motion is made in Chancery, that is not of Course, generally an Affidavit of the Facts alledged must be read in Court: And if Motions are founded on the general Rules or Usage of the Court, and are not of Course, but granted or denied as the Court thinks fit, on hearing Counsel on both Sides, Notice is to be given in Writing to the Solicitor of the other Party, or his Clerk in Court, expressing every Thing moved for, which must be served two Days at least before the Day on which the Motion is to be made, whereof Affidavit must also be made. Prætic. Solic. 17. In B. R. one ought not to move the Court for a Rule for a Thing to be done, which by the common Rules of Practice may be done without moving the Court for it: Nor shall the Court be moved for the doing what is against the Practice of the Court: One ought not to move for several Things in one Motion; and where a Motion hath been denied, the same Matter may not be moved again by another Counsel, without acquainting the Court thereof, and having their Leave for the same: But every Person who makes a solemn Argument at the Bar, is allowed by the Court a Motion for his Argument. 2 Lill. Abr. 209, 210. If there be divers Rules of Court made in a Cause, and the Party intends to move thereon, he must produce the Rule that was last made in the Cause, and move upon that: But it is necessary to have all the Rules and Copies of the Affidavits, to satisfy the Court how the Cause hath been proceeded in, and how it stands in Court; though the last Rule is the most material: And where a Motion is made to set aside a Rule grounded on an Affidavit, a Copy of the Affidavit must be produced, that the Court may be informed upon what Grounds the Rule was made, and judge whether there be Cause shewn upon the Motion sufficient to set aside the Rule. Pasch. 13 Car. B. R. Hill. 1649. If any Thing be moved to the Court upon a Record, the Record is to be in Court, or the Court will make no Rule upon such Motion. Hill. 22 Car. B. R. One Party ought not to surprize another by a Motion in Court, but to move in convenient Time, that the other Party may have Time to be heard. Pasch. 23 Car. It is against the Practice of the Court to move for an Attachment, or any Matters in Law, upon the last Day of the Term, except the Case is peremptory. Monday is a special Day for Motions in B. R. by the ancient Course; but they are made upon any Day, as the Business of the Court will permit: The three or two last Days of the Term are Days appointed to hear Motions, and Crown-Office Causes; and the last Day chiefly for Motions to prepare Business against the next Term or Assizes. 2 Lill. 208, 210. In the Chancery, during the Term, every Thursday is a Day for Sealing, and Motions; and Tuesdays and Saturdays are Days for Motions, as are the first and last Days of the Term: In Vacation, only Seal-Days appointed by the Lord Chancellor, are Days of Motion. Prætic. Solic. 17.

Moult, Is an old English Word for a Mow of Corn, or Hay; Mullo farni, &c. Paroch. Antiq. 401.

Moultree, An Alarm or Outcry, to mount and make some speedy Expedition, mentioned in the Statutes Hen. 5.

Muffulz, Winter Gloves made of Ram-Skins. Leg. Hen. 1. cap. 70.

Mulf, (Multra) A Fine of Money set upon one, for some Fault or Misdemeanor; and Fines laid on Ships or Goods by a Company of Trade, to raise Money for the Maintenance of Consuls, &c. are called Mulf. Merch. Diſt.

Mulier, As used in our Law, seems to be a Word corrupted from Melior, or the Fr. Meliour; and signifies the lawful Issue, born in Wedlock, (though begotten before) preferred before an elder Brother born out of Matrimony. 9 Hen. 6. cap. 11. Smith's Republ. Angl. lib. 3. cap. 6. But by Glanvil, the lawful Issue are said to be Mulier, not from Melior, but because begotten à Muliere, and not ex Concubina; for he calls such Issue Filios Mulieratos, opposing them to Bastards. Glanv. lib. 7. cap. 1. It appears to be thus used in Scotland also; Skene saying, Mulieratus filius is a lawful Son, begotten of a lawful Wife. If a Man hath a Son by a Woman, before Marriage, which is a Bastard and unlawful, and after he marries the Mother of the Bastard, and they have another Son, this second Son is Mulier and lawful, and shall be Heir to his Father, but the other cannot be Heir to any Man; and they are distinguished in our old Books with this Addition, Bastard eigne, and Mulier puiſne. Co. Litt. 170, 243. Where a Man has Issue by a Woman, if he afterwards marries her, the Issue is Mulier by the Civil Law; though not by the Laws of England. 2 Inst. 99. 5 Rep. 416. Of ancient Time, Mulier was taken for a Wife, as it is commonly used for a Woman, particularly one that is not a Maid; and sometimes for a Widow; but it has been held, that a Virgin is included under the Name of Mulier. 1 Inst. 243.

Muliertry, (Fr. Muillerie) The Being or Condition of a Mulier, or lawful Issue. Co. Lit. 352

Multa Episcopii, (From Multra) A Fine or Satisfaction given to the King by the Bishops, that they might have Power to make their Last Wills and Testaments, and also to have the Probate of other Men's, and the Granting of Administration. 2 Inst. 491.

Multiplication of Gold and Silver, Was prohibited and declared to be Felony by Statute 5 Hen. 4. cap. 4. Which Statute was made on a Presumption that Persons skilful in Chymistry, could multiply or augment these Metals, by changing other Metals into Gold or Silver; and the Endeavours of some Persons in making Use of extraordinary Methods for the producing of Gold and Silver, and finding out the Philosopher's Stone, were found to be so prejudicial to the Publick, from the lavish Waste of many valuable Materials, and the Ruin of many Families by such useless Expences, that they occasioned the Statute 5 Hen. 4. But the Restraint thereby having no other Effect, from the unaccountable Vanity of those who fancied those Attempts practicable, than to send them beyond Sea to try their Experiments with Impunity in other Countries, the 5 Hen. 4. was at last repealed by 1 W. & M. cap. 30. Dyer 88. 1 Hawk. P. C. 47.

Multitude, (Multitudo) According to some Authors, must be ten Persons or more: But Sir Edw. Coke says, he could never find it restrained by the Common Law to any certain Number. Co. Lit. 257.

Multo fortiori, Or a Minore ad Majus. See Fortiori.

Multo, Molto, or Mutto, A Mutton or Sheep; a Wether. Brit. Cartular. Glasgou. 39.

Muttones Turi, An old obsolete Coin of Gold, having an Agnus Dei, Sheep or Lamb on the one Side, and from that Impression called Muttones:

This Coin was most common in France, and sometimes current in England. Patent 33 Edw. 1. cited by the learned Spelman.

Multure, Multura, The same with Molitura.

Mumming, (From the Teuton. Mummien, to mimic) Antick Diversions in the Christmas Holidays, to get Money or good Cheer.

Mundbrech, (Is derived from the Sax. Mund, i. e. Munitio, Defensio, & Brice, fractio) And is mentioned among divers Crimes, as Pacis fractio, Lesio Majestatis, &c. Spelm. Gloss. Some would have Mundbrech to signify an Infringement of Privileges; though of later Times it is expounded Clausuram fractionem, a Breach of Mounds, by which Name Ditches and Fences are called in many Parts of England: And we say, when Lands are fenced in and hedged, that they are mounded.

Munde, Is Peace, and Mundbrece a Breach of it. Leg. H. 1. cap. 37.

Muniments, (Munimenta) Episcopus itaque cum Munimentorum inspectionem habere non potuit. Matt. Paris. fol. 311. See Miniments.

Muniment House. In Cathedral and Collegiate Churches, Colleges, or such like, is a House or little Room of Strength, purposely made for keeping the Seal, Evidences, Charters, &c. of the Church or College, called by the Name of Muniment House; such Evidences being termed Muniments, corruptly Miniments. 3 Inst. 170.

Munimenta, Are the Grants or Charters of Kings to Churches; so called, because cum eis muniantur against all Persons who would deprive them of those Privileges. Blount.

Munus Ecclesiasticum, Signifies the consecrated Bread, out of which a little Piece is taken for a Communicant. — Insuper & omne sacrificium quod nos dicimus Munus Ecclesiasticum, &c. Mon. Angl. Tom. 2. p. 838.

Mutage, (Muragium) Is a reasonable Toll, to be taken of every Cart and Horse coming laden through a City or Town, for the Building or Repairing the publick Walls thereof, due either by Grant or Prescription: And it seems to be a Liberty granted to a Town by the King, for the Collecting of Money towards the Walling of the same. 3 Edw. 1. c. 30. 2 Inst. 222. The Service of Work and Labour done by Inhabitants and adjoining Tenants in Building or Repairing the Walls of a City or Castle, was called Murorum operatio; and when this personal Duty was commuted into Money, the Tax so gathered was called Murage. Paroch. Antiq. 114. And in the City of Chester, there are two ancient Officers called Murangers, being two of the principal Aldermen yearly chosen to see the Walls kept in good Repair; for the Maintenance of which they receive certain Tolls and Customs.

Muratio, A Town or Borough, surrounded with Walls. Brompt. Vit. K. Stepb.

Murder, (Murdrum, from the Sax. Morth, whence, as it is said, comes the barbarous Latin Mordrum & Murdrum; in French Meurdre, though I think the Word Murdrare, evidently comes from the Latin Morti dare) Is a Word in Use long before the Reign of King Canutus, which some would have to signify a violent Death; and sometimes the Saxons expressed it by Morthdæd & Morthwæorc, a deadly Work: But I cannot find that the Sax. Morth relates to a violent Death, but generally Mors. Anciently Murder signified only the private Killing of a Man, as appears by the Laws of King Hen. 1. And it was not Murder, except the Party slain was an Englishman, and no Foreigner; though by the Stat. 14 Edw. 3. c. 4. the Killing of any Englishman or Foreigner, living under the King's Protection, through Malice

Malice prepenſe, and whether committed openly or ſecretly, is declared to be Murder. S. P. C. lib. 1. cap. 1. And doubtleſs the Makers of the Statute of 23 H. 8. c. 1. which excludes all wilful Murder from the Benefit of the Clergy, intended to include open, as well as private Homicide within the Word Murder. 1 Hawk. P. C. 78. By Murder at this Day, we underſtand the wilful and felonious Killing of any Man whatſoever, upon Malice forethought; ſo as the Party wounded or hurt die within a Year and a Day after the Fact: And if one dies in that Time, through diſorderly Living, it ſhall be no Excufe, the Wound will be judged the principal Cauſe of his Death; but if one wounded die after that Time, the Law will preſume he died a natural Death. 3 Inſt. 53. H. P. C. 55. Kel. 26. If a Man receives a Wound, that is not mortal; but either for want of Help, or by the Neglect thereof, it turns to a Fever, &c. which cauſes the Party's Death, it is Murder: And ſo it is, where a Man has ſome Diſeaſe, which poſſibly would terminate his Life in half a Year, and another wounds him, that it haſtens his End, &c. But if by ill Applications of the Party, or thoſe about him, of unwholeſome Medicines, the wounded Perſon dies; if this plainly appears, it is not Murder, by Hale Ch. Juſt. Hiſt. P. C. 428. Murder may be committed in divers Manners; as by Weapon, Poiſon, Cruſhing, Bruifing, Smothering, Strangling, Starving, &c. And where a Perſon having Malice to another, ſtrikes or ſhoots at him, but miſſeth him and kills one not intended; or if one lays Poiſon to kill a Perſon, and another takes it, and dies, theſe are Murder: Alſo if a ſick Man be laid in the Cold, whereof he dieth, or an Infant is laid under Leaves or Trees, &c. and ſuffered to be deſtroyed by Vermin, they are Killing. 3 Inſt. 51. 9 Rep. 81. If a Perſon ſtir up a Dog accuſtomed to bite, knowing it to be ſuch, and it kill a Perſon; and if a Man have an Ox, or Horſe, which he knows to be miſchievous, by being uſed to gore or ſtrike at thoſe who come near them, and do not tie them up, if they kill a Man, according to ſome Opinions, the Owner may be indicted, as having himſelf feloniously killed him. Pult. 122. H. P. C. 53. 1 Hawk. P. C. 79. Anciently it was holden that the cauſing an Abortion, by giving a Potion to, or ſtriking a Woman big with Child, was Murder: But now it is ſaid to be a great Miſprifion only, and not Murder, unleſs the Child be born alive, and die thereof. 1 Hawk. 80. If the Death of a Baſtard Child newly born be concealed, it ſhall be ſuppoſed to be murdered; if the Mother doth not prove it was born dead. Stat. 21 Jac. 1. c. 27. And if one by Dureſs of Imprifonment compel a Man to accuſe an innocent Perſon, who on his Evidence is condemned and executed; in Judgment of Law it is the Killing of the Compellor, &c. S. P. C. 36. 3 Inſt. 91. All the above Caſes ſhew Malice; ſo where a Priſoner, by the Dureſs of the Gaoler, comes to an untimely End; if one is executed contrary to the Direction of the Law; or if a Perſon kill a Man that is adjudged to Death; or one who hath no Authority ſhall execute the Judgment; if a Perſon ſentenced to be whipped, is whipped with that Rigour that he dieth of it, &c. But one under the Age of Diſcretion, or Non Compos Mentis, cannot be guilty of Murder; though if it appears by Circumſtances that the Infant did hide the Body, &c. it is Felony. H. P. C. 43. 3 Inſt. 4, 6, 54. If an Infant under twelve Years old, hath an extraordinary Wit, that it may be preſumed he knows what he does, and he kill another, it may be Felony and Murder; otherwiſe it ſhall not. 3 H. 7. 13. Plowd. 191. It is Malice makes the Crime of Murder, which is either expreſs or implied; it is expreſs, when it may be evidently proved there was formerly ſome ill Will, and the Killing is with a ſedate Mind, and formed Deſign of doing it: And implied, where one kills another ſuddenly, having nothing to defend himſelf; as going over a Stile, or the like. 3 Inſt. 51. H. P. C. 47. Such Murder as is occaſioned through an expreſs Purpoſe to do ſome personal Injury to him who is ſlain, is properly ſaid to be of expreſs Malice: And ſuch as happens in the Execution of an unlawful Action, principally intended for ſome other Purpoſe, and not expreſs in its Nature to do a personal Injury to him in particular that is killed, is moſt properly Malice implied. Kel. 129, 130. He that doth a cruel and voluntary Act, whereby Death enſues, doth it of Malice prepenſed in the Eſteem of the Law: And if a Perſon in cool Blood, maliciously and deliberately beats another in ſuch a Manner, beyond any apparent Intent of Chaiſement, that he dieth, it is Murder by expreſs Malice, although he did not deſign to kill him. H. P. C. 49, 50. Kel. 64, 127, 135. But if a Perſon on any Provocation beat another ſo, that it might plainly appear he meant not to kill, but only to chaſtiſe him; or if he reſtrains himſelf till the other hath put himſelf on his Guard, and then in fighting with him killeth him, he will not be guilty of Murder but Manſlaughter. 1 Hawk. P. C. 82. When one executes his Revenge, upon a ſudden Provocation, in ſuch a cruel Manner, with a dangerous Weapon, as ſhews a malicious Intention to do Miſchief; and Death enſues, it is expreſs Malice and Murder from the Nature of the Fact. Kel. 55, 61, 65, 130. A Man chided his Servant, and upon ſome croſs Anſwer given, he having a hot Iron in his Hand, ran it into the Servant's Belly, of which he died, this was adjudged Murder. Kel. 64. If a Perſon is trespaffing upon another, by breaking his Hedges, &c. and the Owner upon Sight thereof take up a Hedge Stake, and give him a Stroke on the Head, whereof he dies, this is Murder, becauſe it is a violent Act beyond the Proportion of the Provocation. H. P. C. And where a Boy was upon a Tree in a Park cutting of Wood, and the Keeper bid him come down, which he did; and then the Keeper ſtruck him ſeveral Blows with a Cudgel, and afterwards with a Rope tied him to his Horſe's Tail, and the Horſe ran away with him and killed him; this was held to be Murder out of Malice, the Boy having come down at the Keeper's Command. Cro. Car. 139. H. P. C. A Man's Son was beaten, and complaining of it to his Father, the Father in Anger beat the other Boy with a Cudgel whereof he died; the Law ſhall adjudge it to be upon that ſudden Occaſion, and ſtirring of Blood, that he made the Assault, and not upon Malice, unleſs it be found; and if the Diſtance of the Place where his Son complained was a Mile, it is not material, being all upon one Paſſion. Cro. Jac. 296. And it is the ſame in Caſe of a Brother, Couſin, Servant, &c. it is only Manſlaughter, not Murder. 2 Lill. 211. If two having Malice fight, and the Servant of one of them, not knowing of the Malice, killeth the other, this is Murder in the Maſter, and but Manſlaughter in the Servant: Though if there be a Conſpiracy to kill a Man, but no Malice againſt his Servant; if the Servant be ſlain, the Malice againſt the Maſter ſhall be conſtrued to extend to his Servant; and the Killing the Servant is Murder. Dyer 128. 1 Mar. If two Perſons meet and fight in cool Blood, on a precedent Quarrel, and one is killed: Or if a Perſon in a ſudden Quarrel appears to be Maſter of his Temper, and kills another, it is Murder. 1 Hawk. P. C. 81. For where two Perſons fight after a former Quarrel, it may be preſumed to be out of Malice; and when two Men fall out in the Morning, and meet and fight in the Afternoon, if one of them is killed, this is Murder; their After-Meeting is of Malice. Plowd. 474. If a Man upon a Quarrel with another, tells ſuch other that he will not ſtrike him, but will give him a Pot of Ale to ſtrike him, and thereupon the other ſtrikes him, and he kills the other, he is guilty of Murder; this being only a Cover to his malicious Intention. H. P. C. 48. And where a Person kills another, it shall be intended of Malice; if he prove not the contrary. Kel. 27. A Man assaults another Person with Malice, although he be afterwards driven by the other to the Wall, and kill him there in his own Defence, he is guilty of Murder, in respect of his first Intent. H. P. C. 47. Kel. 58, 129. But if the Party assaulted flee to the Wall, and being still pursued, kills the other, it is only Manslaughter in his own Defence. Brañ. 3 Ed. 3. If one resolves to kill the next Man he meets, and doth kill him, it is Murder; here Malice is implied against all Mankind. Kel. 27. By poisoning, and where one killeth another without Provocation, Malice is implied; as where any Magistrate or Minister of Justice is killed in the Execution of his Office; a Sheriff, Constable or Watchman, doing their Duty; or any other that comes in Aid of the King's Officer; and if a Watchman be killed in slaying of Night-walkers, it is said to be Murder. 3 Inst. 51. Cro. Jac. 280. Kel. 60, 128. In these Cases, it is a very high Contempt of the Laws, for a Person to execute his Revenge against those who have no Way offended him but by doing their Duty; and he cannot come off by alledging that what he did was in a sudden Affray, &c. 1 Hawk. P. C. 84. And if a Bailiff is killed in executing a lawful Warrant, &c. it is Murder: Nor is it any Excuse to the Person, that the Process was erroneous; or that the Arrest was in the Night; that the Officer did not tell him for what Cause he arrested him; or that he did not shew his Warrant, &c. being a Bailiff commonly known. 9 Rep. 68, 69. Cro. Jac. 280, 486. But if a Bailiff who is not executing his Office is killed, it is not Murder; for he ought to be duly executing his Office, by serving the Process of the Law, wherein he is assisted cum Potestate Regis & Legis. Cro. Car. 537. 2 Lill. Abr. 212. Therefore where the Warrant by which he acts gives him no Authority to arrest the Party; as where a Bailiff arrests a wrong Person, or J. S. a Baronet, by Force of a Warrant to arrest J. S. Knight; or if a good Warrant is executed in an unlawful Manner; as if a Bailiff be killed in breaking open a Door, or Window to arrest a Man; or perhaps if he arrest one on a Sunday; since the Stat. 29 Car. 2. c. 7. by which all such Arrests are made unlawful, and he is slain; Malice shall not be implied to make it Murder, but the same shall be Manslaughter only. H. P. C. 46. Cro. Car. 372. 12 Rep. 49. 1 Hawk. 86. If Bailiffs come to a House to arrest a Person, and the House being locked they attempt to break in, whereupon the Son of the Person intended to be arrested, shoots and kills one of them, it is not Murder. Jones 429. A Person was arrested, and another not knowing the Cause of the Struggle, but seeing Swords drawn, and to prevent Mischief, came and defended the Party arrested, and in the Scuffle the Bailiff was killed; it was resolved to be no Murder in the Person doing it, but that all that were present and assisting, knowing of the Arrest, were principal Murderers. Kel. 86. Though it has been held in such a Case, that the Person offending is Guilty of Murder, whether he knew that the Person slain were an Officer or not; for all Fighting is unlawful, and he who seeing Persons engaged in it, takes Part with one Side, and fights in the Quarrel, without knowing the Cause of it, especially where the Fight is begun in Opposition to the Justice of the Nation, shews a Readiness to break through the Laws on a small Occasion, and must at his Peril take heed what he doth. 1 Sid. 160. Noy 50. 1 Hawk. 85. If one attack another to rob him, and by the Resistance of the Party kills him, this is Murder. 3 Inst. 52. Dalt. 344. A Person stands by, and encourages or commands another to murder a Man; or if he come with others on purpose to kill him, and stand by while the other Persons commit the Fact: It will be Murder in them all. Plowd. 98. 11 Rep. 5. And if two or more Persons come together to do an unlawful Act, as to beat a Man, rob a Park, &c. and one of them kills a Person, this is Murder in all that are present, aiding or assisting, or that were ready to aid and assist: All will be said to intend the Murder. 3 Inst. 56. Dalt. 347. H. P. C. 31. And such Persons will be judged to be present that are in the same House, though in another Room, or in the same Park, although half a Mile off, &c. H. P. C. 47. Kel. 87, 116, 127. Several Persons having conspired to enter the King's Park, and to hunt and carry away Deer, with Design of killing any one that should oppose them; though the Keeper's Servant began the Assault, and required them first to stand, whereupon they fled, and one of the Keeper's Men discharged a Piece at them, and they continued their Flight until he laid violent Hands upon one of the Offenders, and then, and not before, they killed one of the Keeper's Servants, this was held to be Murder; as they were doing an unlawful Act, the Law implies Malice, and they ought not to have fled, but to have surrendered themselves. Roll. Rep. 20. By Statute, Murder shall not be adjudged where it is found by Misadventure, but when it is done with a felonious Intent. 52 H. 3. c. 25. Offenders for Murder and Accessories being indicted, may be arraigned at any Time within the Year, at the King's Suit, and if the Principal or Accessary be acquit, yet the Justices shall not suffer them to go at large, but either remand them to Prison, or let them be bailed, until the Year and Day be out, allowed for an Appeal. 3 H. 7. c. 1. All Trials for Murder must be in the County where the Fact was committed, by the Common Law. Cro. Car. 247. But if a Person be wounded by a Stroke given in one County, and he dieth in another County, the Indictment may be found in the County where the Party dies, which shall be as well as if the Stroke had been given in the same County. Statute 2 Ed. 6. c. 24. The Killing must be in some County; for if the Murder be done out of the Realm, it cannot be determined by the Common Law, but must be determined by the Constable and Marshal, &c. 3 Inst. 48. H. P. C. 54. But see the Statute 2 Geo. 2. cap. 21. And Murder is to be expressly found, not by Intendment, &c. And where the Matters on the finding of the Jury, are no more than weak Evidence thereof, the Court ought not to give Judgment on that, but upon the Facts arising from it. Fitzgib. 187. Mich. 4 Geo. 2 When one is murdered in the Day-Time, and the Murderer escapes untaken, the Township that suffers it, shall be amerced. 3 H. 7. If one who sees a Murder done, does not his best Endeavours to apprehend the Murderer: Or if where two are fighting, and others looking on do not endeavour to part them, if one is killed, the Lookers on may be indicted and fined. 3 Inst. 53. Noy 50. And killing any Person endeavouring to part others fighting, though without any evil Intention against him, is Murder. See Duelling, Manslaughter, &c. See also Trial.

Cover

Form of an Indictment for Murder.

Wilts, ff. THE Jurors for our Sovereign Lord the King, upon their Oath present, that A. B. late of M. in the said County, Yeoman, not having God before his Eyes, but being moved and seduced by the Instigation of the Devil, on the Day of, &c. in the Year of the Reign of, &c. about the Hour, &c. in the Evening of the same Day, at M. aforesaid in the said County, with Force and Arms made an Assault in and upon one C. D. then and there being in the Peace of God, and of our said Lord the King; and that the said A. B. at M. aforesaid in the said County, did feloniously, willfully and of his Malice forethought strike and wound the said C. D. with a Sword, of the Value of three Shillings, which the said said A. B. had and held then and there drawn in his Right Hand, and did feloniously and of his Malice forethought, at M. aforesaid in the said County, give to the said C. D. one mortal Wound with the Sword aforesaid, in and upon the right Part of his Thigh, of the Length of three Inches, and of the Depth of two Inches, of which said mortal Wound the said C. D. at M. aforesaid in the said County, instantly died; and so the said Jurors upon their Oath aforesaid say, that the said A. B. on the said Day of, &c. in the Year above-mentioned, at M. aforesaid in the said County, did feloniously, wilfully, and of his Malice forethought, kill and murder the said C. D. in Manner and Form aforesaid, against the Peace of our said Sovereign Lord the King, his Crown and Dignity.

Murder, or Homicide justifiable. There is a Killing that is justifiable; as if a Person attempts to commit Murder, Robbery, or other Felony, a Man or any of his Servants may lawfully kill him. 2 Inst. 316. See Statute 24 H. 8. c. 5. If a Person in Defence of the Possession of a Room in a publick House kill another who attempts to turn him out of it, the Killing the Assailant hath been holden to be justifiable. Kel. 51. 1 Hawk. 83. In the Defence of the Possession of a Man's Goods, against him that would wrongfully take them away, Killing cannot be justified; except he be a Thief. Wood's Inst. 361. If a Woman kills a Man attempting to ravish her, it is justifiable. H. P. C. 39. Those who are engaged in a Riot, or forcible Entry, &c. standing in Opposition to a Justice's Command, or lawful Warrant: Or if Trespassers in a Forest or Park, will not surrender, but defend themselves: If a Felon will not suffer himself to be arrested, and refusing to obey any Arrest on lawful Warrant, defends himself; or if one either with or without a Warrant, pursues a Felon upon Hue and Cry, and he flies for it: If a Prisoner assaults those that conduct him to Gaol, or his Gaoler, in endeavouring to escape; or a Person arrested, resist the Sheriff, &c. the Killing these is justifiable; but a Sheriff cannot kill one that flies from the Execution of a Civil Process: And as no private Person hath this Authority, upon an Arrest in a Civil Matter, as he hath upon an Arrest for Felony; so neither hath the Sheriff this Power in Criminal Cases, but upon a Necessity; as when an Offender cannot be taken without killing, &c. for if he might be taken without killing him, it will be esteemed Murder. 3 Inst. 56 221. H. P. C. 37. Dalt. 150, 355. Kel. 28. When one in Danger of drowning, thrusts another from a Plank, whereby he is drowned; this is justifiable. Bac. Max. 25. And there is a Homicide or Killing excusable, where a Man kills another merely in his own Defence, called se Defendendo.
